PREFACE.

THE one half of our Undertaking upon the New Teſtament, is here by the Aſſiſtance of divine Grace finiſhed, and preſented to the Reader, who, 'tis (hoped, the Lord working with it) may hereby be ſomewhat help'd in underſtanding and improving this Sacred Hiſtory of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, and making it (as certainly it is) the beſt Expoſition of our Creed, in which theſe inſpired Writers are ſumm'd up; which is intimated by the Evangeliſt, that calls his Goſpel a Declaration of thoſe Things which are moſt ſurely believed among us, Luke 1. 1.

And as there is no Part of Scripture which it concerns us more to be well eſtabliſhed in the Belief of, ſo there is none which the generality of Chriſtians are more converſant with, or ſpeak of more frequently: It is therefore our Duty by conſtant Pains in Meditation and Prayer, to come to an intimate Acquaintance with the true Intent and Meaning of theſe Narratives, what our Concern is in them, and what we are to build upon them, and draw from them; that we may not reſt in ſuch a Knowledge of them, as that we had, when in our Childhood, we were taught to read Engliſh out of the Tranſlation, and Greek out of the Originals of theſe Books; we ought to know them as the Phyſician doth his Diſpenſatory, the Lawyer his Books of Reports, and the Sailor his Card and Compaſs; that is, to know how to make uſe of them in that which we apply ourſelves to as our Buſineſs in this World, which is to ſerve God here, and enjoy him hereafter, and both in Chriſt the Mediator.

The great Deſigns of the Chriſtian Inſtitutes (which theſe Books are the Fountains and Foundations of) were to reduce the Children of Men to the Fear and Love of God, as the commanding active Principles of their Obſervance of him, and Obedience to him; to ſhew them the way of their Reconciliation to him, and Acceptance with him, and to bring them under Obligations to Jeſus Chriſt as Mediator, and by them to engage them to all Inſtances of Devotion towards God, and Juſtice and Charity towards all Men, in Conformity to the Example of Chriſt, in Obedience to his Law, and in purſuance of his great Intentions. What therefore I have endeavoured here has been with this View, to make theſe Writings ſerviceable to the Faith, Holineſs, and Comfort of good Chriſtians.

Now that theſe Writings thus made uſe of to ſerve theſe great and noble Deſigns may have their due Influence upon us, it concerns us to be well eſtabliſh'd in our Belief of their divine Original. And here we have to do with two ſorts of People, ſome that embrace the Old Teſtament, but ſet that up in Oppoſition to the New; pleading, that if that be right, this is wrong, and theſe are the Jews. Others, that tho' they live in a Chriſtian Nation, and by Baptiſm wear the Chriſtian Name, yet under pretence of a freedom of Thought, deſpiſe Chriſtianity, and conſequently reject the New Teſtament, and therefore the Old of courſe.

I confeſs it ſtrange, that any now who receive the Old Teſtament, ſhould reject the New, ſince beſides all the particular Proofs of the divine Authority of the New Teſtament, there is ſuch an admirable Harmony between it and the Old. It agrees with the Old in all the main Intentions of it, refers to it, builds upon it, ſhews the Accompliſhment of its Types and Propheſies, and thereby is the Perfection and Crown of it. Nay, if it be not true, the Old Teſtament muſt be falſe, and all the glorious Promiſes which ſhine ſo bright in it, and the Performance of which was limited within certain Periods of Time, muſt be a great Deluſion; which we are ſure they are not, and therefore muſt embrace the New Teſtament, to ſupport the Reputation of the Old.

That in the Old Teſtament, which the New Teſtament lays aſide, is the Peculiarity of the Jewiſh Nation, and the Obſervances of the Ceremonial Law; both which certainly were of divine Appointment; and yet the New Teſtament doth not at all claſh with the Old; for,

1. They were always deſign'd to be laid aſide in the Fulneſs of Time. No other is to be expected, but that the Morning-Star ſhould diſappear when the Sun riſeth, and the latter Parts of the Old Teſtament often ſpeak of the laying aſide of thoſe Things, and of the calling in of the Gentiles.

2. They were very honourably laid aſide, and rather exchanged for that which was more noble and excellent, more divine and heavenly. The Jewiſh Church was ſwallowed up in the Chriſtian, the Moſaick Ritual in Evangelical Inſtitutions. So that the New Teſtament is no more the undoing of the Old, than the ſending of a Youth to the Univerſity is the undoing of his Education in the Grammar-School.

3. Providence ſoon determined this Controverſy (which is the only thing that ſeem'd a Controverſy between the Old Teſtament and the New) by the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, the Deſolations of the Temple, the Diſſolution of the Temple-Service, and the total Diſperſion of all the Remains of the Jewiſh Nation, with a judicial Defeat of all their Attempts to incorporate again, now for above ſixteen hundred Years, and this according to the expreſs Predictions of Chriſt a little before his Death. And as Chriſt would not have the Doctrine of his being the Meſſiah much inſiſted on, till the great concluſive Proof of it was given by his Reſurrection from the Dead; ſo the Repeal of the Ceremonial Law, as to the Jews, was not much inſiſted on, but their keeping up the Obſervation of it was conniv'd at, till the great concluſive Proof of its Repeal was given by the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which made the Obſervation of it for ever impracticable. And the manifeſt Tokens of divine Wrath, which the Jews, conſidered as a People, even notwithſtanding the Proſperity of particular Perſons among them, continue under to this Day, is a Proof, not only of the Truth of Chriſt's Predictions concerning them, but that they lie under a greater Guilt than that of Idolatry, for which they lay under a Deſolation of 70 Years; and that can be no other but crucifying Chriſt, and rejecting his Goſpel.

Thus evident it is, that in our expounding the New Teſtament we are not undoing what we did in expounding the Old, ſo far from that, that we may appeal to the Law and the Prophets for the Confirmation of the great Truth which the Goſpels are written to prove, that our Lord Jeſus is the Meſſiah promiſed to the Fathers, who ſhould come, and we are to look for no other. For tho' his Appearing did not anſwer the Expectation of the carnal Jews, who look'd for a Meſſiah in external Pomp and Power, yet it exactly anſwer'd all the Types, Propheſies and Promiſes of the Old Teſtament, which all had their Accompliſhment in him; and even his ignominious Sufferings, which are the greateſt Stumbling-block to the Jews, were foretold concerning the Meſſiah; ſo that if he had not ſubmitted to them we had fail'd in our Proof; ſo far it is from being weaken'd by them. Biſhop Kidder's Demonſtration of the Chriſtian's Meſſiah has abundantly made out this Truth, and anſwer'd the Cavils (for ſo they are rather than Arguments) of the Jews againſt it, above any in our Language.

But we live in an Age, when Chriſtianity and the New Teſtament are more virulently and daringly attack'd by ſome within their own Bowels, than by thoſe upon their Borders; never was Moſes and his Writings ſo arraign'd and ridicul'd by any Jews, or Mahomet and his Alcoran, by any Muſſulmen, as Chriſt and his Goſpel, by Men that are baptiz'd, and call'd Chriſtians; and this not under Colour of any other divine Revelation, but in Contempt and Defiance of all divine Revelation; and not by way of Complaint, that they meet with that which ſhocks their Faith, and which thro' their own Weakneſs they cannot get over, and therefore deſire to be inſtructed in, and help'd in the underſtanding of, and the reconciling of them to the Truth which they have receiv'd; but by way of reſolute Oppoſition, as if they look'd upon it as their Enemy, and were reſolv'd by all Means poſſible to be the Ruin of it; tho' they cannot ſay what Evil it has done to the World, or to them. If the Pretence of it has tranſported many in the Church of Rome into ſuch Corruptions of Worſhip, and Cruelties of Government, as are indeed the Scandal of the human Nature, yet inſtead of being thereby prejudic'd againſt pure Chriſtianity, they ſhould the rather appear more vigorouſly in Defence of it, when they ſee ſo excellent an Inſtitution, as that is in itſelf, ſo baſely abuſed and miſrepreſented.

They pretend to a Liberty of Thought in their Oppoſition to Chriſtianity, and would be diſtinguiſh'd by the Name of Free-thinkers. I will not here go about to produce the Arguments, which to all that are not wilfully ignorant and prejudic'd againſt the Truth, are ſufficient to prove the divine Original and Authority of the Doctrine of Chriſt. The Learned find much Satisfaction in reading the Apologies of the Antients for the Chriſtian Religion, when it was ſtrugling with the Polythiſm and Adultery of the Gentiles. Juſtin Martyr and Tertullian, Lactantius and Minutius Felix, wrote admirably in Defence of Chriſtianity, when it was further ſeal'd to by the Blood of the Martyrs.

But its Patrons and Advocates in the preſent Day have another ſort of Enemies to deal with. The Antiquity of the Pagan Theology, its univerſal Prevalency, the Edicts of Princes, and the Traditions and Uſages of the Country, are not now objected to Chriſtianity; but I know not what imaginary freedom of Thought, and an unheard of Privilege of the human Nature is trump'd up, not to be bound by any divine Revelation whatſoever.

Now it is eaſy to make out,

1. That thoſe who would be thought thus to maintain a Liberty of thinking, as one of the Privileges of the human Nature, and in Defence of which they will take up Arms againſt God himſelf, yet themſelves do not think freely, nor give others leave to do ſo. In ſome of them a reſolute Indulgence of themſelves in thoſe vicious Courſes, which they know the Goſpel, if they admit it, will make very uneaſy to them, and a ſecret Enmity to a holy, heavenly Mind and Life, forbids them all free Thought; for ſo ſtrong a Prejudice have their Luſts and Paſſions laid them under againſt the Laws of Chriſt, that they find themſelves under a Neceſſity of oppoſing the Truths of Chriſt, upon which theſe Laws are founded. Perit Judicium quando res tranſit in affectum. Right or wrong Chriſt's Bonds muſt be broken, and his Cords caſt from them; and therefore how evident ſoever the Premiſes be, the Concluſion muſt be denied, if it tend to faſten theſe Bands and Cords upon them; and where is the Freedom of Thought then? While they promiſe themſelves Liberty, they themſelves are the Servants of Corruption; for of whom a Man is overcome, of the ſame is he brought in Bondage.

In others of them a reigning Pride, and Affectation of Singularity, and a Spirit of Contradiction, thoſe Luſts of the Mind, which are as impetuous and imperious as any of the Luſts of the Fleſh and of the World are, forbid a Freedom of thinking, and enſlave the Soul in all its Enquiries after Religion. Thoſe can no more think freely that reſolve they will think by themſelves, than thoſe can that reſolve they will think with their Neighbours.

Nor will they give others liberty to think freely; for it is not by Reaſon and Argument that they go about to convince us, but by Jeſt and Banter, and expoſing Chriſtianity and its ſerious Profeſſors to Contempt; now conſidering how natural it is to moſt Men to be jealous for their Reputation, this is as great an Impoſition as can poſſibly be; and the Unthinking are as much kept from free thinking, by the fear of being ridicul'd in the Club of thoſe that ſet up for Oracles in Reaſon, as by the fear of being curs'd, excommunicated, and anathematiz'd by the Council of thoſe that ſet up for Oracles in Religion; and where's the free-thinking then?

2. That thoſe who will indeed allow themſelves a true Liberty of thinking, and will think ſeriouſly, cannot but embrace all Chriſt's Sayings, as faithful, and well worthy of all Acceptation. Let the corrupt Biaſs of the carnal Heart towards the World, and the Fleſh, and Self (the moſt preſumptuous Idol of the three) be taken out, and let the Doctrine of Chriſt be propoſed firſt in its true Colours, as Chriſt and his Apoſtles have given it us, and then in its true Light, with all its proper Evidence intrinſick and extrinſick, and then let the capable Soul freely uſe its rational Powers and Faculties, and by the Operation of the Spirit of Grace, who alone works Faith in all that believe, even the high Thought, when once it becomes a free Thought, freed from the Bondage of Sin and Corruption, will by a pleaſing and happy Power be captivated, and brought into Obedience to Chriſt; and when he thus makes it free, it will be free indeed.

Let any one that will give himſelf leave to think impartially, and be at the pains to think cloſely, read Mr. Baxter's Reaſons for the Chriſtian Religion, and he will find both that it goes to the bottom, and lays the Foundation deep and firm, and alſo that it brings forth the top-ſtone in a Believer's Conſent to God in Chriſt, to the Satisfaction of any that are truly concern'd about their Souls and another World. The Proofs of the Truth of the Goſpel have been excellently well methodiz'd and enforc'd likewiſe by Biſhop Stillingfleet in his Origines Sacræ, Grotius in his Book of the Truth of Chriſtian Religion, Dr. Whitby in his general Preface to his Commentary on the New Teſtament, and of late by Mr. Ditton, very argumentatively in his Diſcourſe concerning the Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt; and many others have herein done worthily; and I will not believe any Man who rejects the New Teſtament, and the Chriſtian Religion, to have thought freely upon the Subject, unleſs he has with Humility, and Seriouſneſs, and Prayer to God for Direction, read theſe, or the like Books, which 'tis certain were written both with Liberty and Clearneſs of Thought.

For my own part, if my Thoughts were worth any ones Notice, I do declare I have thought of this great Concern with all the Liberty that a reaſonable Soul can pretend to or deſire; and the Reſult is, that the more I think, and the more freely I think, the more fully I am ſatisfied that the Chriſtian Religion is the true Religion, and what, if I ſubmit my Soul ſincerely to, I may venture my Soul confidently upon.

For when I think freely,

1. I cannot but think that the God that made Man a reaſonable Creature by his Power, has a Right to rule him by his Law, and to oblige him to keep his inferior Faculties of Appetite and Paſſion, together with the Capacities of Thought and Speech, in due Subjection to the ſuperior Powers of Reaſon and Conſcience; and when I look into my own Heart, I cannot but think that this was it which my Maker deſign'd in the Order and Frame of my Soul, and that herein he intended to ſupport his own Dominion in me.

2. I cannot but think that my Happineſs is bound up in the Favour of God, and that his Favour will be or not be towards me according as I do or do not comply with the Laws and Ends of my Creation; that I am accountable to this God, and that from him my Judgment proceeds, not only for this World, but for my everlaſting State.

3. I cannot but think that my Nature is very unlike what the Nature of Man was as it came out of the Creator's Hands, that it is degenerated from its primitive Purity and Rectitude; I find in myſelf a natural Averſion to my Duty, and to ſpiritual and divine Exerciſes, and a Propenſion to that which is evil, ſuch an Inclination towards the World and the Fleſh as amounts to a Bent to backſlide from the living God.

4. I cannot but think that I am therefore by Nature thrown out of the Favour of God; for tho' I think he is a gracious and merciful God, yet I think he is alſo a juſt and holy God, and that I am become by Sin both odious to his Holineſs and obnoxious to his Juſtice; I ſhould not think freely, but very partially, if I ſhould think otherwiſe; I think I am guilty before God, have ſinned, and come ſhort of glorifying him, and of being glorified with him.

5. I cannot but think, that without ſome ſpecial Diſcovery of God's Will concerning me, and Good-will to me, I cannot poſſibly recover his Favour, be reconcil'd to him, or be ſo far reſtor'd to my primitive Rectitude, as to be capable of ſerving my Creator, and anſwering the Ends of my Creation, and being fit for another World; for the Bounties of Providence to me in common with the inferior Creatures cannot ſerve either as Aſſurances that God is reconcil'd to me, or Means to reconcile me to God.

6. I cannot but think that the Way of Salvation, both from the Guilt, and from the Power of Sin by Jeſus Chriſt, and his Mediation between God and Man, as it is reveal'd in the New Teſtament, is admirably well fitted to all the Exigences of my Caſe, to reſtore me, both to the Favour of God, and to the Government and Enjoyment of myſelf; here I ſee a proper Method for the removing of the Guilt of Sin, that I may not die by the Sentence of the Law, by the all-ſufficient Merit and Righteouſneſs of the Son of God in our Nature; and for the breaking of the Power of Sin, that I may not die by my own Diſeaſe, by the all-ſufficient Influence and Operation of the Spirit of God upon our Nature; every Malady has herein its Remedy, every Grievance is hereby redreſs'd, and in ſuch a way as advances the Honour of all the divine Attributes, and is ſuited and accommodated to the human Nature.

7. I cannot but think, that what I find in myſelf of Natural Religion, doth evidently bear Teſtimony to the Chriſtian Religion; for all that Truth which is diſcover'd to me by the Light of Nature, is confirm'd, and more clearly diſcover'd by the Goſpel; the very ſame thing which the Light of Nature gives me a confuſed Sight of, like the Sight of Men, as Trees walking, the New Teſtament gives me a clear and diſtinct Sight of; and all that Good which is preſs'd upon me by the Law of Nature, is more fully diſcover'd to me, and I find myſelf much more ſtrongly bound to by the Goſpel of Chriſt, the Engagements it lays upon me to my Duty, and the Encouragements and Aſſiſtances it gives me in my Duty; and this is further confirming to me, that there, juſt there, where natural Light leaves me at a loſs and unſatisfied, tells me hitherto it can carry me, but no further;

ther; the Goſpel takes me up, helps me out, and gives me all the Satisfaction I can deſire, and that is eſpecially in the great Buſineſs of the ſatisfying of God's Juſtice for the Sin of Man. My own Conſcience asks, Wherewithal ſhall I come before the Lord, and bow myſelf before the moſt high God? Will he be pleaſed with thouſands of Rams? But I am ſtill at a loſs, I cannot frame a Righteouſneſs from any thing I am, or have in myſelf, or any thing I can do for God, or preſent to God, wherein I dare appear before him; but the Goſpel comes and tells me that Jeſus Chriſt has made his Soul an Offering for Sin, and God has declar'd himſelf well pleaſed with all Believers in him, and this makes me eaſy.

8. I cannot but think that the Proofs by which God has atteſted the Truth of the Goſpel, are the moſt proper that could be given in a Caſe of this nature. That the Power and Authority of the Redeemer in the Kingdom of Grace ſhould be exemplified to the World, not by the higheſt Degree of the Pomp and Authority of the Kings of the Earth, as the Jews expected, but by the Evidences of his Dominion in the Kingdom of Nature, which is a much greater Dignity and Authority than any of the Kings of the Earth ever pretended to, and is no leſs than divine; and his Miracles being generally wrought upon Men, not only upon their Bodies, as moſtly they were when Chriſt was here upon Earth, but, which is more, upon their Minds, as moſtly they were after the pouring out of the Spirit in the Gift of Tongues, and other ſupernatural Endowments, were the moſt proper Confirmations poſſible of the Truth of the Goſpel, which was deſign'd for the making of Men holy and happy.

9. I cannot but think that the Methods taken for the propagating of this Goſpel, and the wonderful Succeſs of thoſe Methods, which are purely ſpiritual and heavenly, and deſtitute of all ſecular Advantages and Supports, plainly ſhew it was of God, for God was with it; and it could never have ſpread as it did, in the Face of ſo much Oppoſition, if it had not been accompanied with a Power from on high; and the Preſervation of Chriſtianity in the World to this Day, notwithſtanding the Difficulties it has ſtruggled with, is to me a ſtanding Miracle for the Proof of it.

Laſtly, I cannot but think that the Goſpel of Chriſt has had ſome Influence upon my Soul, has had ſuch a Command over me, and been ſuch a Comfort to me, as is a Demonſtration to myſelf, tho' it cannot be ſo to another, that it is of God; I have taſted in it that the Lord is gracious, and the moſt ſubtil Diſputant cannot convince one who has taſted Honey, that it is not ſweet.

And now I appeal to him who knows the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart, that in all this I think freely (if it be poſſible for a Man to know that he doth ſo) and not under the power of any Biaſs. Whether we have reaſon to think that thoſe, who without any Colour of Reaſon, not only uſurp, but monopolize the Character of Free-thinkers do ſo, let thoſe judge, who eaſily obſerve that they do not ſpeak ſincerely, but induſtriouſly diſſemble their Notions; and one Inſtance I cannot but take notice of, their unfair Dealing with their Readers, that when for the diminiſhing of the Authority of the New Teſtament, they urge the various Readings of the Original, and quote an Acknowledgment of Mr. Gregory of Chriſtchurch, in his Preface to his Works, That no profane Author whatſoever, &c. and yet ſuppreſs what immediately follows, as the Senſe of that learned Man upon it, that this is an invincible Reaſon for the Scriptures part, &c.

We then receive the Books of the New Teſtament as our Oracles, for it is evident that that excellent Notion of Dr. Henry More's is true, that they have a direct Tendency to take us off from the animal Life, and to bring us to the divine Life.

But while we are thus maintaining the divine Original and Authority of the New Teſtament, as it has been receiv'd thro' all the Ages of the Church, we find our Cauſe not only attack'd by the Enemies we ſpeak of, but in effect betray'd by one that makes our New Teſtament almoſt double to what really it is, adding the Conſtitutions of the Apoſtles to it, put together by Clement, together with the Apoſtolical Canons, and making thoſe to be of equal Authority with the Writings of the Evangeliſts, and preferable to the Epiſtles; by enlarging the Lines of Defence thus, without either Cauſe or Precedent, he gives great Advantage to the Invaders.

Thoſe Conſtitutions of the Apoſtles have many Things in them very good, and may be of uſe, as other human Compoſers; but to pretend that they were compoſed, as they profeſs themſelves to be, by the twelve Apoſtles in Conſort at Jeruſalem, I Peter ſaying this, I Andrew ſaying that, &c. is the greateſt Impoſition that can be upon the Credulity of the Simple.

1. It is certain there were a great many ſpurious Writings that in the early Days of the Church went under the Name of the Apoſtles and Apoſtolical Men, ſo that it has always been complain'd of as impoſſible to find out any thing but the Canon of Scripture that would with any Aſſurance be attributed to them. Baronius himſelf acknowledgeth it, Cum Apoſtolorum nomine tam facta quam dicta reperiantur eſſe ſuppoſititia; nec ſe quid de illis à veris ſinceriſque Scriptoribus narratum ſit integrum & incorruptum remanſerit in deſperationem plane quandam animum dejiciunt poſſe unquam aſſequi quod verum certumque ſubſiſtat. Ad An. Chriſt. 44. Sect. 42. &c. There were Acts under the Names of Andrew the Apoſtle, Philip, Peter, Thomas; a Goſpel under the Name of Thaddeus, another of Barnabas, another of Bartholomew; a Book concerning the Infancy of our Saviour, another concerning his Nativity, and many the like, which were all rejected as Forgeries.

2. Theſe Conſtitutions and Canons among the reſt were condemned in the primitive Church as apocryphal, and therefore juſtly rejected, becauſe, tho' otherwiſe good, they pretended to be what really they were not, dictated by the twelve Apoſtles themſelves as received from Chriſt. If Jeſus Chriſt gave them in ſuch Inſtructions, and they gave them in ſuch a ſolemn manner to the Church as is pretended, 'tis unaccountable that there is not the leaſt notice taken of any ſuch thing done or deſign'd in the Goſpels, the Acts, or any of the Epiſtles.

They that have judged the moſt favourably of thoſe Canons and Conſtitutions, have concluded that they were compiled by ſome officious Hands under the Name of Clement, towards the End of the ſecond Century, above 150 Years after Chriſt's Aſcenſion, out of the common Practice of the Churches, that is, that which the Compilers were moſt acquainted with, or had reſpect for; when at the ſame time we have reaſon to think, that the far greater Number of Chriſtian Churches, which by that time were planted, had Conſtitutions of their own, which, if they had had the Happineſs to be tranſmitted to Poſterity, would have recommended themſelves as well as theſe, or better. But as the Legiſlators of old put a Reputation upon their Laws, by pretending to have received them from ſome Deity or other, ſo Church Governors ſtudied to gain Reputation to their Sees, by placing ſome Apoſtolical Man or other at the Head of their Catalogue of Biſhops. (See Biſhop Stillingfleet's Irenic. p. 302.) and Reputation to their Canons and Conſtitutions, by fathering them upon the Apoſtles.

But how can it be imagin'd that the Apoſtles ſhould be altogether at Jeruſalem to compoſe this Book of Canons with ſo much Solemnity, when we know that their Commiſſion was to go into all the World, and preach the Goſpel to every Creature; and accordingly Euſebius tells us that Thomas went into Parthia, Andrew into Scythia, John into the leſſer Aſia; and we have reaſon to think, that after their Diſperſion they never came together again, any more than the Planters of the Nations did, after the moſt High had ſeparated the Sons of Adam.

And I think any one that will compare theſe Conſtitutions with the Writings, that we are ſure were given by Inſpiration of God, will eaſily diſcern a vaſt difference in the Stile and Spirit; what is the Chaff to the Wheat?

Edit. Joan. Cler. p. 245.

Where are Miniſters in the Stile of the true Apoſtles called Prieſts, High-Prieſts? Where do we find in the Apoſtolical Age, that Age of Suffering, of the placing of the Biſhop in his Throne? Or of Readers, Singers, and Porters in the Church?

I fear the Collector and Compiler of thoſe Conſtitutions under the Name of Clement, was conſcious to himſelf of Diſhoneſty in it, in that he would not have them publiſh'd before all, becauſe of the Myſteries contained in them; nor were they known or publiſhed till the middle of the fourth Century, when the Forgery could not be ſo well diſproved. I cannot ſee any Myſteries in them, that they ſhould be concealed, if they had been genuine; but am ſure Chriſt bids his Apoſtles publiſh the Myſteries of the Kingdom of God upon the Houſe-tops. And St. Paul, tho' there are Myſteries in his Epiſtles, much more ſublime than any of theſe Conſtitutions, chargeth, that they ſhould be read to all the holy Brethren: Nay, theſe Conſtitutions are ſo wholly in a manner taken up, either with moral Precepts or Rules of Practice in the Church, that if they had been what they pretend, they had been moſt fit to be publiſhed before all. And tho' the Apocalypſe is ſo full of Myſteries, yet a Bleſſing is pronounced upon the Readers and Hearers of that Prophecy. We muſt therefore conclude, that whenever they were written, by declining the Light, they own'd themſelves to be apocriphal, i. e. hidden, or concealed, that durſt not mingle themſelves with what was given by divine Inſpiration, to allude to what is ſaid of the Miniſters, Acts 5. 13. of the reſt durſt no Man join himſelf to the Apoſtles, for the People magnified them.

So that even by their own Confeſſion they were not delivered to the Churches with the other Writings, when the New Teſtament Canon was ſolemnly ſealed up with that dreadful Sentence paſt on thoſe that add unto theſe Things.

And as we have thus had Attempts made of late upon the Purity and Sufficiency of our New Teſtament, by Additions to it, ſo we have likewiſe had from another Quarter a great Contempt put upon it by the Papal Power. The Occaſion this:

One Father Queſnel a French Papiſt, but a Janſeniſt, near thirty Years ago publiſhed the New Teſtament in French, in ſeveral ſmall Volumes, with moral Reflections on every Verſe, to render the reading of it more profitable, and Meditation upon it more eaſy; 'twas much taken to in France for the ſake of the Piety and Devotion that appeared in it, and it had ſeveral Impreſſions; the Jeſuits were much diſguſted, and ſollicited the Pope for the Condemnation of it, tho' the Author of it was a Papiſt, and many Things in it countenance Popiſh Superſtition.

After much ſtruggling in the Court of Rome about it, a Bull was at length obtained at the Requeſt of the French King from the then Pope Clement XI. bearing Date September 8, 1713, by which the ſaid Book, with what Title, or in what Language ſoever it is printed, is prohibited and condemned, both the New Teſtament itſelf, becauſe in many things varying from the vulgar Latin, and the Annotations, as containing divers Propoſitions (above a hundred are enumerated) ſcandalous and pernicious, injurious to the Church and its Cuſtoms, impious, blaſphemous, ſavouring of Hereſy; and the Propoſitions are ſuch as theſe, that the Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt is the effectual Principle of all manner of Good, is neceſſary for every good Action, for without it nothing is done, nay nothing can be done; that it is a ſovereign Grace, and is an Operation of the Almighty Hand of God; that when God accompanies his Word with the internal Power of his Grace, it operates in the Soul the Obedience which it demands; that Faith is the firſt Grace, and the Fountain of all others; that it is in vain for us to call God our Father, if we do not cry to him with a Spirit of Love; that there is no God nor Religion where there is no Charity; that the Catholick Church comprehends the Angels, and all the Elect, and juſt Men of the Earth, of all Ages; that it has the Word incarnate for its Head, and all the Saints for its Members; that it is profitable, and neceſſary at all Times, in all Places, and for all ſorts of Perſons to know the holy Scriptures; and that the holy Obſcurity of the Word of God is no reaſon for the Laity not reading it; and that the Lord's Day ought to be ſanctified by reading Books of Piety, eſpecially the holy Scriptures; and that to forbid Chriſtians from reading the Scriptures, is to prohibit the Uſe of Light to the Children of Light. Many ſuch Poſitions as theſe, which the Spirit of every good Chriſtian cannot but reliſh as true and good, are condemn'd by the Pope's Bull as impious and blaſphemous; and this Bull, tho' ſtrenuouſly oppoſed by a great Number of the Biſhops in France, who were well affected to the Notions of Father their Queſnel, yet was received and confirmed by the French King's Letters Patents, bearing Date at Verſailles, February 14, 1714, which forbid all manner of Perſons, upon pain of exemplary Puniſhment, ſo much as to keep any of thoſe Books in their Houſes, and adjudgeth any that ſhould hereafter write in Defence of the Propoſitions condemned by the Pope as Diſturbers of the Peace; it was regiſter'd the Day following, February 15, by the Parliament of Paris, but with divers Proviſo's and Limitations.

By this it appears that Popery is ſtill the ſame thing that ever it was, an Enemy to the Knowledge of the Scriptures, and to the Honour of divine Grace; and what reaſon we have to bleſs God that we have Liberty to read the Scriptures, and have Helps to underſtand and improve them, which we are concerned diligently to make a good Uſe of, that we may not provoke God to give us up into the Hands of thoſe Powers, who would uſe us in like manner.

I am willing to hope that thoſe to whom the reading of the Expoſitions of the Old Teſtament was pleaſant, will find this yet more pleaſant, for this is that Part of Scripture which doth moſt plainly teſtify of Chriſt, and in which that Goſpel Grace which appears to all Men, bringing Salvation, ſhines moſt clear; this is the New Teſtament Milk for Babes, the reſt is ſtrong Meat for ſtrong Men; by theſe therefore let us be nouriſhed and ſtrengthened, that we may be preſſing on towards Perfection; and that having laid the Foundation in the Hiſtory of our bleſſed Saviour's Life, Death, and Reſurrection, and the firſt preaching of his Goſpel, we may build upon it, by an Acquaintance with the Myſteries of Godlineſs, which we ſhall be further let into in the Epiſtles.

I deſire I may be read with a candid, and not a critical Eye; I pretend not to gratify the Curious, the top of my Ambition is to aſſiſt thoſe that are truly ſerious in ſearching the Scriptures daily; I am ſure it is deſigned, and hope it is calculated to promote Piety towards God, and Charity towards our Brethren; and that there is not only ſomething in it which may edify, but nothing which may juſtly offend any good Chriſtian.

If any receive ſpiritual Benefit by my poor Endeavours, it will be a Comfort to me, but let God have all the Glory; and that free Grace of his which has employ'd one that is utterly unworthy of ſuch an Honour, and enabled one thus far to go on in it, is utterly inſufficient for ſuch a Service.

Having obtained Help of God, I continue hitherto in it, and humbly depend upon the ſame good Hand of my God to carry me on in that which remains, to gird my Loins with needful Strength, and to make my Way perfect, and for this I humbly deſire the Prayers of my Friends. One Volume more, I hope, will include what is yet to be done, and I will both go about it, and go on with it, as God ſhall enable me, with all convenient Speed, but it is that Part of the Scripture which of all other requires the moſt Care and Pains in expounding it; but I truſt that as the Day ſo ſhall the Strength be.

THat which has been offer'd juſt before to the Reader, was the Reverend Author's firſt Draught of a Preface to this Volume; he intended to reviſe it, if God had allow'd him a Return Home from his late Journey; but tho' by the afflicting Stroke of his ſudden Death it wants the Advantage of his laſt Hand, yet ſerious Readers will be well pleaſed to have his firſt Sentiments on thoſe important Heads which come there under his Conſideration, eſpecially ſince it contains his dying Teſtimony to the Chriſtian Religion, the Canon of the New Teſtament, and the general Uſefulneſs of the ſacred Scriptures, on occaſion of thoſe Debates which have been lately ſtarted, and have made the moſt conſiderable Noiſe in the World.

The Expoſition itſelf, as far as this Volume goes, was entirely committed to the Preſs before he left the City; the Reader will perceive his Intentions for the reſt of the holy Bible; but the Sovereign Providence of God, in whoſe Hands our Times are, has called this faithful and diligent Servant to reſt from his Labours, and finiſh well himſelf, before he could finiſh this, and ſeveral other great and pious Deſigns he had for the Service of God and his Church.

However, it may be acceptable to ſuch as have often entertained themſelves and their Families with what is already extant, to let them know that we are not without Hopes yet of ſeeing Mr. Henry's Expoſition of the Remainder, tho' it cannot be expected to be altogether ſo copious and compleat as that which he prepared himſelf for the Publick. He drew up ſeveral Years ago an Expoſition of the Epiſtle to the Romans, which he had deſign'd to tranſcribe with little Alteration for the beginning of his next Volume, and was earneſtly ſollicited to print it by itſelf, before he had Thoughts of writing upon the whole Bible; for the reſt, there are Copies of his Expoſitions, both in publick and private, taken from him by judicious Writers, wherein, tho' they may not be of equal Length, yet Mr. Henry was uſed to expreſs himſelf with like Propriety, the ſame pious Spirit, and uncommon Skill in the Scriptures. There is Encouragement to hope that the reviſing and preparing of theſe for the Preſs will be undertaken (if God give Life and Health) by an intimate Friend of the excellent Author, whoſe long Acquaintance with his Spirit and Way make him the moſt proper Perſon for that Service, and his endear'd Affection will incline him to take the Pains neceſſary for uſhering them into the World; this Courſe is apprehended much better, than either to leave ſuch a Work unfiniſh'd, when 'tis already advanced ſo far, or to attempt the Continuation of the Deſign with a quite different Set of Thoughts, and another ſort of Stile and Method, that it may be as much Mr. Henry's as poſſible; but a reaſonable Time muſt be allow'd before this can be expected; I pray God long to ſpare the valuable Life of that dear Friend of the Author's, and every way furniſh him for this good Work, and all others he may undertake for the Good of God's Church.

AN
OF THE
WITH PRACTICAL OBSERVATIONS.

We have now before us, 1. The New Teſtament of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt; ſo this ſecond Part of the holy Bible is entitled, The New Covenant; ſo it might as well be render'd; the Word ſignifies both: But when it is (as here) ſpoken of, as Chriſt's Act and Deed, 'tis moſt properly render'd a Teſtament, for he is the Teſtator, and it becomes of Force by his Death, Heb. 4. 16, 17. Nor is there, as in Covenants, a previous Treaty between the Parties; but what is granted, tho' an Eſtate upon Condition, is owing to the Will, the Free-will, the Good-will of the Teſtator; ſo is all the Grace contained in this Book owing to Jeſus Chriſt, as our Lord and Saviour; and unleſs we conſent to him as our Lord, we cannot expect any Benefit by him as our Saviour. This is called a New Teſtament to diſtinguiſh it from that which was given by Moſes, and was now antiquated, and to ſignify that it ſhould be always new, and ſhould never wax old, and grow out of date. Theſe Books contain not only a full Diſcovery of that Grace which has appeared to all Men, bringing Salvation, but a legal Inſtrument, by which it is conveyed to and ſettled upon all Believers. How carefully do we preſerve, and with what Attention and Pleaſure do we read the laſt Will and Teſtament of a Friend that has by it left us a fair Eſtate, and with it high Expreſſions of his Love to us! How precious then ſhould this Teſtament of our bleſſed Saviour be to us, which ſecures to us all his unſearchable Riches! 'Tis his Teſtament; for tho', as is uſual, 'twas written by others (we have nothing upon Record that was of Chriſt's own writing) yet he dictated it; and the Night before he died, in the Inſtitution of his Supper, ſign'd, ſeal'd, and publiſh'd it, in the Preſence of twelve Witneſſes: For tho' theſe Books were not written of ſome Years after, for the Benefit of Poſterity, in perpetuam Rei memoriam, yet the New Teſtament of our Lord Jeſus was ſettled, confirmed, and declared from the Time of his Death, as a nuncupative Will, with with which theſe Records exactly agree. The Things which St. Luke wrote were Things which were moſt ſurely believed, and therefore well known before he wrote them; but when they were written, the Oral Tradition was ſuperſeded and ſet aſide, and theſe Writings were the Repoſitory of that New Teſtament. And this is intimated by the Title which is prefix'd to many Greek Copies, Τὰ καινῆς Διαθήκης Ἅπαντα, The Whole of the New Teſtament, or all the Things of it; in it is declared the whole Counſel of God concerning our Salvation, Acts 20. 27. As the Law of the Lord is perfect, ſo is the Goſpel of Chriſt, and nothing is to be added to it; we have it all, and are to look for no more.

2. We have before us the four Goſpels: Goſpel ſignifies good News, or glad Tidings; and this Hiſtory of Chriſt's coming into the World to ſave Sinners is without doubt the beſt News that ever came from Heaven to Earth; the Angel gave it this Title, Luke 2. 10. Εὐαγγελίζομαι ὑμῖν, I bring you good Tidings. I bring the Goſpel to you. And the Prophet foretold it, Iſa. 52. 7.---61. 1. where 'tis foretold, that in the Days of the Meſſiah good Tidings ſhould be preached. Goſpel is an old Saxon Word, 'tis God's Spell, or Word; and God is ſo called becauſe he is good, Deus optimus, and therefore it may be a good Spell or Word. And if we take Spell in its more proper Signification, for a Charm (Carmen) and take that in a good Senſe for what is moving and affecting, which is apt (lenire dolorem) to calm the Spirits, or to raiſe them in Admiration or Love, as that which is very amiable we call charming, 'tis applicable to the Goſpel, for in it the Charmer charmeth wiſely, tho' to deaf Adders, Pſal. 58. 4, 5. Nor (one would think) can any Charms be ſo powerful as thoſe of the Beauty and Love of our Redeemer. The whole New Teſtament is the Goſpel: St. Paul calls it his Goſpel, becauſe he was one of the Preachers of it. Oh, that we may each of us make it ours, by our cordial Acceptance of it, and Subjection to it! But the four Books which contain the Hiſtory of the Redeemer, we commonly call the four Goſpels, and the inſpired Penmen of them, Evangeliſts, or Goſpel-writers, but not very properly, becauſe that Title belongs to a particular Order of Miniſters that were Aſſiſtants to the Apoſtles, Eph. 4. 11. He gave ſome Apoſtles, and ſome Evangeliſts. It was requiſite that the Doctrine of Chriſt ſhould be interwoven with and founded upon the Narrative of his Birth, Life, Miracles, Death and Reſurrection, for then it appears in its cleareſt and ſtrongeſt Light. As in Nature, ſo in Grace, the moſt happy Diſcoveries are thoſe which take Riſe from the certain Repreſentations of Matters of Fact: Natural Hiſtory is the beſt Philoſophy, and ſo is the ſacred Hiſtory, both of the Old and New Teſtament, the moſt proper and grateful Vehicle of ſacred Truth. Theſe four Goſpels were early and conſtantly received by the primitive Church, and read in Chriſtian Aſſemblies, as appears by the Writings of Juſtin Martyr and Irenæus, who lived little more than an hundred Years after the Aſcenſion of Chriſt; they declare there were neither more nor fewer than four received by the Church: And there was a Harmony of theſe four Evangeliſts compiled by Tatianus about that Time, which he called Τὸ διὰ τεσσάρων, the Goſpel out of the four. In the third and fourth Centuries there were Goſpels forged by divers Sects and publiſhed, one under the Name of St. Peter, another of St. Thomas, another of St. Philip, &c. but they were never own'd by the Church, nor any Credit given to them, as the learned Dr. Whitby ſhews; and he gives this good Reaſon why we ſhould adhere to theſe written Records, becauſe, whatever the Pretences of Tradition may be, it is not ſufficient to preſerve Things with any Certainty, as appears by Experience; for whereas Chriſt ſaid and did many Things memorable which were not written, John 20. 30.—21. 25. Tradition has not preſerved any one of them to us, but all is loſt, except what was written; that therefore is it we muſt abide by, and bleſſed be God that we have it to abide by; 'tis the ſure Word of Hiſtory.

3. We have before us the Goſpel according to St. Matthew. The Penman was by Birth a Jew, by Calling a Publican, till Chriſt commanded his Attendance, and then he left the Receipt of Cuſtom to follow him, and was one of thoſe that accompanied him all the Time that the Lord Jeſus went in and out, beginning from the Baptiſm of John, unto the Day that he was taken up, Acts 1. 21, 22. and was therefore a competent Witneſs of what he has here recorded; he is ſaid to have written this Hiſtory about eight Years after Chriſt's Aſcenſion; many of the Ancients ſay he wrote it in the Hebrew or Syriack Language, but the Tradition is ſufficiently diſproved by Dr. Whitby; doubtleſs it was written in Greek, as the other Parts of the New Teſtament were, not in that Language which was peculiar to the Jews, whoſe Church and State were near a Period, but that which was common to the World, and in which the Knowledge of Chriſt would be moſt effectually tranſmitted to the Nations of the Earth; yet 'tis probable there might be an Edition of it in Hebrew, publiſhed by St. Matthew himſelf, at the ſame time that he wrote it in Greek, the former for the Jews, the latter for the Gentiles, when he left Judea to go preach among the Gentiles; let us bleſs God that we have it, and have it in a Language we underſtand.

CHAP. I.

This Evangeliſt begins with the Account of Chriſt's Parentage and Birth, his Anceſtors from whom he deſcended, and the Manner of his Entry into the World, to make it appear that he was indeed the Meſſiah promiſed; for it was foretold that he ſhould be the Son of David, and ſhould be born of a Virgin; and that he was ſo is here plainly ſhewn. For here is (1.) His Pedigree from Abraham, in forty-two Generations, three Fourteens, v. 1.–17. (2.) An Account of the Circumſtances of his Birth, ſo far as was requiſite to ſhew that he was born of a Virgin, v. 18.—25. Thus methodically is the Life of our bleſſed Saviour written, as Lives ſhould be written, for the clearer propoſing of the Example of them.

THE Book of the generation of Jeſus Chriſt, the ſon of David, the ſon of Abraham. 2 Abraham begat Iſaac, and Iſaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat Judas and his brethren. 3 And Judas begat Pharez and Zara of Thamar, and Pharez begat Eſrom, and Eſrom begat Aram. 4 And Aram begat Aminadab, and Aminadab begat Naaſſon, and Naaſſon begat Salmon. 5 And Salmon begat Booz of Rachab, and Booz begat Obed of Ruth, and Obed begat Jeſſe. 6 And Jeſſe begat David the King, and David the King begat Solomon of her that had been the wife of Urias. 7 And Solomon begat Roboam, and Roboam begat Abia, and Abia begat Aſa. 8 And Aſa begat Joſaphat, and Joſaphat begat Joram, and Joram begat Ozias. 9 And Ozias begat Joatham, and Joatham begat Achaz, and Achaz begat Ezekias. 10 And Ezekias begat Manaſſes, and Manaſſes begat Amon, and Amon begat Joſias. 11 And Joſias begat Jechonias and his brethren, about the time they were carried away to Babylon. 12 And after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiel, and Salathiel begat Zorobabel. 13 And Zorobabel begat Abiud, and Abiud begat Eliakim, and Eliakim begat Azor. 14 And Azor begat Sadoc, and Sadoc begat Achim, and Achim begat Eliud. 15 And Eliud begat Eleazar, and Eleazar begat Matthan, and Matthan begat Jacob. 16 And Jacob begat Joſeph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jeſus, who was called Chriſt. 17 So all the generations from Abraham to David, are fourteen generations: and from David until the carrying away into Babylon, are fourteen generations: and from the carrying away into Babylon unto Chriſt, are fourteen generations.

Concerning this Genealogy of our Saviour, obſerve,

1. The Title of it; it is the Book, (or, the Account, as the Hebrew Word Sepher, a Book, ſometimes ſignifies) of the Generation of Jeſus Chriſt, of his Anceſtors according to the Fleſh; or, it is the Narrative of his Birth; 'tis Βιϐλος Γενέσεως, a Book of Geneſis. The Old Teſtament begins with the Book of the Generation of the World, and it is its Glory that it doth ſo; but the Glory of the New Teſtament herein excelleth, that it begins with the Book of the Generation of him that made the World. As God, his Out-goings were of old from everlaſting, Mic. 5. 2. and none can declare that Generation. But as Man, he was ſent forth in the Fulneſs of Time, born of a Woman, and it is that Generation which is here declared.

2. The principal Intention of it. 'Tis not an endleſs or needleſs Genealogy; 'tis not a vain-glorious one, as thoſe of great Men commonly are. Stemmata quid faciunt? 'Tis like a Pedigree given in Evidence to prove a Title, and make out a Claim; the Deſign is to make it out that our Lord Jeſus is the Son of David, and the Son of Abraham, and therefore of that Nation and Family, out of which the Meſſiah was to ariſe. Abraham and David were in their Day the great Truſtees of the Promiſe relating to the Meſſiah; the Promiſe of the Bleſſing was made to Abraham and his Seed, of the Dominion to David and his Seed. And thoſe that will have an Intereſt in Chriſt as the Son of Abraham, in whom all the Families of the Earth are to be bleſſed, muſt be faithful loyal Subjects to him as the Son of David, by whom all the Families of the Earth are to be ruled. 'Twas promiſed to Abraham that Chriſt ſhould deſcend from him, Gen. 12. 3.—22. 18. And to David that he ſhould deſcend from him, 2 Sam. 7. 12. Pſal. 89. 3, &c. — 132. 11. And therefore unleſs it can be proved that Jeſus is a Son of David, and a Son of Abraham, we cannot admit him to be the Meſſiah. Now this is here proved from the authentick Records of the Heralds Offices. The Jews were very exact in preſerving their Pedigrees, and there was a Providence in it, for the clearing up of the Deſcent of the Meſſiah from the Fathers; and ſince his coming that Nation is ſo diſperſed and confounded, that 'tis a Queſtion whether any Perſon in the World can legally prove himſelf to be a Son of Abraham; however 'tis certain there's none can prove himſelf to be either a Son of Aaron or a Son of David, ſo that the Prieſtly and Kingly Office muſt be either given up as loſt for ever, or be lodged in the Hands of our Lord Jeſus. Chriſt is here firſt called the Son of David, becauſe under that Title he was commonly ſpoken of and expected among the Jews. Thoſe that own'd him to be the Chriſt call'd him the Son of David, Matt. 15. 22. 20. 31.—21. 15. This therefore the Evangeliſt undertakes to make out, that he is not only a Son of David, but that Son of David, on whoſe Shoulders the Government was to be; not only a Son of Abraham, but that Son of Abraham that was to be the Father of many Nations.

In calling Chriſt the Son of David, and the Son of Abraham, he ſhews, that God is faithful to his Promiſe, and will make good every Word that he hath ſpoken. And this (1.) tho' the Performance be long deferr'd. When God promiſed Abraham a Son that ſhould be the great Bleſſing of the World, perhaps he expected it ſhould be his immediate Son, but it proved to be one at the diſtance of forty two Generations, and about two thouſand Years; ſo long before can God foretel what ſhall be done, and ſo long after ſometimes doth God fulfil what has been promiſed. Note, Delays of promiſed Mercies, tho' they exerciſe our Patience, do not weaken God's Promiſe. (2.) tho' it begin to be deſpair'd of. This Son of David, and Son of Abraham, that was to be the Glory of his Father's Houſe, was born then, when the Seed of Abraham was a deſpiſed People, newly become Tributaries to the Roman Yoke, and the Houſe of David buried in Obſcurity; for Chriſt was to be a Root out of a dry Ground. Note, God's Time for the Performance of his Promiſes is when it labours under the greateſt Improbabilities.

3. The particular Series of it, drawn in a direct line from Abraham downwards, according to the Genealogies recorded in the Beginning of the Books of Chronicles, as far as thoſe go, and which here we ſee the Uſe of.

Some Particulars we may obſerve in this Genealogy.

1. Among the Anceſtors of Chriſt that had Brethren, generally he deſcended from a younger Brother; ſo Abraham himſelf was, and Jacob, and Judah, and David, and Nathan, and Rheſa, to ſhew, that the Preheminence of Chriſt came not as that of earthly Princes from the Primogeniture of his Anceſtors, but from the Will of God, who according to the Method of his Providence, exalteth them of low Degree, and puts more abundant Honour upon that part which lacked.

2. Among the Sons of Jacob, beſides Judah, from whom Shiloh came, here's notice taken of his Brethren; Judas and his Brethren: No mention is made of Iſhmael the Son of Abraham, or of Eſau the Son of Iſaac, becauſe they were ſhut out of the Church; whereas all the Children of Jacob were taken in, and tho' not Fathers of Chriſt, yet were Patriarchs of the Church, Acts 7. 8. and therefore are mentioned in this Genealogy for the Encouragement of the twelve Tribes that were ſcatter'd abroad, intimating to them that they have an Intereſt in Chriſt, and ſtand in Relation to him as well as Judah.

3. Pharez and Zara, the Twin-ſons of Judah, are likewiſe both nam'd, tho' Pharez only was Chriſt's Anceſtor, for the ſame reaſon that the Brethren of Judah are taken notice of; and ſome think, becauſe the Birth of Pharez and Zara had ſomething of Allegory in it; Zara put out his Hand firſt, as the firſt-born, but drawing it in, Pharez got the Birthright. The Jewiſh Church, like Zara, reach'd firſt at the Birthright, but thro' Unbelief withdrawing the Hand, the Gentile Church, like Pharez, broke forth, and went away with the Birthright; and thus Blindneſs is in part happen'd unto Iſrael, till the Fulneſs of the Gentiles be come in, and then Zara ſhall be born, all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, Rom. 11. 25, 26.

4. There are four Women, and but four, named in this Genealogy; two of them were originally Strangers to the Commonwealth of Iſrael, Rahab a Canaaniteſs, and a Harlot beſides, and Ruth the Moabiteſs; for in Jeſus Chriſt there is neither Greek nor Jew: Thoſe that are Strangers and Foreigners are welcome in Chriſt to the Citizenſhip of the Saints. The other two were Adultereſſes, Tamar and Bathſheba, which was a further Mark of Humiliation put upon our Lord Jeſus, that not only he deſcended from ſuch, but that his Deſcent from them is particularly remark'd in his Genealogy, and no Veil drawn over it. He took upon him the Likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. and takes even great Sinners, upon their Repentance, into the neareſt Relations to himſelf. Note, We ought not to upbraid People with the Scandals of their Anceſtors, 'tis what they cannot help, and has been the Lot of the beſt, even our Maſter himſelf. David's begetting Solomon of her that had been the Wife of Uriah is taken notice of (ſaith Dr. Whitby) to ſhew, that that Crime of David being repented of, was ſo far from hindering the Promiſe made to him, that it pleaſed God by this very Woman to fulfil it.

5. Tho' divers Kings are here named, yet none is expreſly called a King but David, v. 6. David the King, becauſe with him the Covenant of Royalty was made, and to him the Promiſe of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah was given, who is therefore ſaid to inherit the Throne of his Father David, Luke 1. 32.

6. In the Pedigree of the Kings of Judah, between Joram and Ozias, v. 8. there are three left out, viz. Ahaziah, Joaſh, and Amaziah; and therefore when it is ſaid, Joram begat Ozias, 'tis meant, according to the Uſage of the Hebrew Tongue, that Ozias was lineally deſcended from him, as 'tis ſaid to Hezekiah, that the Sons which he ſhould beget ſhould be carried to Babylon, whereas they were removed ſeveral Generations from him. It was not thro' Miſtake or Forgetfulneſs that theſe three were omitted, but probably they were omitted in the Genealogical Tables that the Evangeliſt conſulted, which yet were admitted for authentick. Some give this reaſon for it: It being Matthew's Deſign for Memory's ſake to reduce the Number of Chriſt's Anceſtors to 3 fourteens, it was requiſite that in this Period three ſhould be left out, and none more fit than they who were the immediate Progeny of curſed Athaliah, who introduc'd the Idolatry of Ahab into the Houſe of David, for which this Brand is ſet upon the Family, and the Iniquity thus viſited to the third and fourth Generation. Two of theſe three were Apoſtates, and ſuch God commonly ſets a Mark of his Diſpleaſure upon in this World; they all three had their Heads brought to the Grave with Blood.

7. Some obſerve what a Mixture there was of Good and Bad in the Succeſſion of theſe Kings; as for Inſtance, v. 7, 8. wicked Rehoboam begat wicked Abia, wicked Abia begat good Aſa, good Aſa begat good Jehoſaphat, good Jehoſaphat begat wicked Joram. Grace doth not run in a Blood, nor reigning Sin neither. God's Grace is his own, and he gives or with-holds it as he pleaſeth.

8. The Captivity in Babylon is mention'd as a remarkable Period in this Line, v. 11, 12. All things conſidered, it was a Wonder the Jews were not loſt in that Captivity, as other Nations were: But this intimates the reaſon why the Streams of that People were kept to run pure thro' that dead Sea, becauſe from them, as concerning the Fleſh, Chriſt was to come; deſtroy it not, for a Bleſſing is in it, even that Bleſſing of Bleſſings, Chriſt himſelf, Iſa. 65. 8, 9. 'Twas with an eye to him that they were reſtored, and the Deſolations of the Sanctuary were look'd upon with Favour for the Lord's ſake, Dan. 9. 17.

9. Joſias is here ſaid to beget Jechonias and his Brethren, v. 11. where by Jechonias is meant Jehoiakim, who was the Firſt-born of Joſias; but when it is ſaid, v. 12. that Jechonias begat Salathiel, that Jechonias was the Son of that Jehoiakim who was carried into Babylon, and there begat Salathiel, as Dr. Whitby ſhews. And when Jechonias is ſaid to have been written childleſs, Jer. 22. 30. 'tis explained thus, No Man of his Seed ſhall proſper. Salathiel is ſaid here to beget Zerubbabel, whereas Salathiel begat Pedaiah, and he begat Zerubbabel, 1 Chron. 3. 19. but, as before, the Grandſon is often called the Son; Pedaiah 'tis likely died in his Father's Life-time, and ſo his Son Zerubbabel was called the Son of Salathiel.

10. The Line is brought down, not to Mary the Mother of our Lord, but to Joſeph, the Husband of Mary, v. 16. for the Jews always reckoned their Genealogies by the Males; yet Mary was of the ſame Tribe and Family with Joſeph, ſo that both by the Mother, and by his ſuppoſed Father, he was of the Houſe of David; yet his Intereſt in that Dignity is derived by Joſeph, to whom really, according to the Fleſh, he had no Relation, to ſhew that the Kingdom of the Meſſias is not founded in a natural Deſcent from David.

11. The Center, in whom all theſe Lines meet, is Jeſus, who is called Chriſt, v. 16. this is he that was ſo importunately deſired, ſo impatiently expected, and whom the Patriarchs had an eye to when they were ſo deſirous of Children, that they might have the Honour of coming into the ſacred Line. Bleſſed be God we are not now in ſuch a dark and cloudy State of Expectation as they were then in, but ſee clearly what theſe Prophets and Kings ſaw as thorough a Glaſs darkly. And we may have, if it be not our own fault, a greater Honour than that of which they were ſo ambitious; for they that do the Will of God are in a more honourable Relation to Chriſt, than thoſe that were a-kin to him according to the Fleſh, Matt. 12. 50. Jeſus is called Chriſt, that is, the Anointed, the ſame with the Hebrew Name Meſſias. He is called Meſſiah the Prince, Dan. 4. 25. and often God's Anointed, Pſal. 2. 2. Under this Character he was expected: Art thou the Chriſt? the anointed One. David the King was anointed, 1 Sam. 16. 13. ſo was Aaron the Prieſt, Lev. 8. 12. and Eliſha the Prophet, 1 Kings 19. 16. and Iſaiah the Prophet, Iſa. 61. 1. Chriſt being appointed to and qualified for all theſe Offices, he is therefore called the Anointed, anointed with the Oil of Gladneſs above his Fellows. And from this Name of his, which is as Ointment poured forth, all his Followers are called Chriſtians, for they alſo have received the Anointing.

Laſtly, The general Summary of all this Genealogy we have, v. 17 where it is ſumm'd up in three Fourteens, ſignalized by remarkable Periods. In the firſt Fourteen we have the Family of David riſing, and looking forth as the Morning; in the ſecond we have it flouriſhing in its meridian Luſtre; in the third we have it declining, and growing leſs and leſs, dwindled into the Family of a poor Carpenter, and then Chriſt ſhines forth out of it, the Glory of his People Iſrael.

18 Now the birth of Jeſus Chriſt was on this wiſe: When as his mother Mary was eſpouſed to Joſeph, before they came together, ſhe was found with child of the holy Ghoſt. 19 Then Joſeph her husband being a juſt man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily. 20 But while he thought on theſe things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, ſaying, Joſeph, thou Son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her, is of the holy Ghoſt. 21 And ſhe ſhall bring forth a ſon, and thou ſhalt call his name Jeſus: for he ſhall ſave his people from their ſins. 22 (Now all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the prophet, ſaying, 23 Behold, a virgin ſhall be with child, and ſhall bring forth a ſon, and they ſhall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted, is God with us.) 24 Then Joſeph being raiſed from ſleep, did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife: 25 And knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her firſt-born ſon; and he called his name Jeſus.

The Myſtery of Chriſt's Incarnation is to be ador'd, not pry'd into; if we know not the way of the Spirit in the Formation of common Perſons, nor how the Bones are form'd in the Womb of any one that is with Child (Eccl. 11. 5.) much leſs do we know how the bleſſed Jeſus was formed in the Womb of the bleſſed Virgin. When David admires how he himſelf was made in ſecret and curiouſly wrought, Pſal. 139. 13, 14, 15, 16. perhaps he ſpeaks in Spirit of Chriſt's Incarnation. Some Circumſtances attending the Birth of Chriſt we find here that are not in Luke, tho' 'tis more largely recorded there. Here's

1. Mary's Eſpouſals to Joſeph. Mary the Mother of our Lord was eſpouſed to Joſeph, not compleatly married, but contracted; a Purpoſe of Marriage ſolemnly declared in Words de futuro, and a Promiſe of it made, if God permit. We read of a Man that has betrothed a Wife, and has not taken her, Deut. 20. 5. Chriſt was born of a Virgin, but a contracted Virgin, (1.) To put Reſpect upon the marry'd State, and to recommend it as honorable among all, againſt that Doctrine of Devils, which forbiddeth to marry, and placeth Perfection in the ſingle State. Who more highly favour'd than Mary was in her Eſpouſals? (2.) To ſave the Credit of the bleſſed Virgin, which otherwiſe would have been expoſed? 'Twas fit her Conception ſhould be protected by a Marriage,and ſo juſtified in the Eye of the World. One of the Ancients ſaith, 'Twas better it ſhould be ask'd, Is not this the Son of a Carpenter? than, Is not this the Son of a Harlot? (3.) That the bleſſed Virgin might have one to be the Guide of her Youth, the Companion of her Solitudes and Travels, a Partner in her Cares, and a Help-meet for her. Some think Joſeph was now a Widower, and that thoſe who are call'd the Brethren of Chriſt, Matt. 13. 55. were Joſeph's Children by a former Wife. This is the Conjecture of many of the Ancients. Joſeph was a juſt Man, ſhe a virtuous Woman. Thoſe that are Believers ſhould not be unequally yoked with Unbelievers; but let thoſe that are religious chuſe to marry with thoſe that are ſo, as they expect the Comfort of the Relation, and God's Bleſſing upon them in it. We may alſo learn from this Example, that it is good to enter into the married State with Deliberation, and not haſtily; to preface the Nuptials with a Contract: 'Tis better take Time to conſider before, than find Time to repent after.

2. Her Pregnancy of the promiſed Seed. Before they came together ſhe was found with Child, which really was of the Holy Ghoſt. The Marriage was deferr'd ſo long after the Contract, that ſhe appear'd to be with Child before the Time came for the ſolemnizing of the Marriage, tho' ſhe was contracted before ſhe conceived. Probably 'twas after her Return from her Couſin Elizabeth, with whom ſhe continued three Months, (Luke 1. 56.) that ſhe was perceived by Joſeph to be with Child, and did not herſelf deny it. Note, Thoſe in whom Chriſt is form'd will ſhew it: It will be found to be a Work of God, which he will own. Now we may well imagine what a Perplexity this might juſtly be an Occaſion of to the bleſſed Virgin: She herſelf knew the divine Original of this Conception; but how could ſhe prove it? She would be dealt with as with a Harlot. Note, After great and high Advancements, leſt we ſhould be puffed up with them, we muſt expect ſomething or other to humble us; ſome Reproach as a Thorn in the Fleſh, nay, as a Sword in the Bones. Never was any Daughter of Eve ſo dignified as the Virgin Mary was, and yet in danger of falling under the Imputation of one of the worſt of Crimes; yet we find not that ſhe tormented herſelf about it, but being conſcious of her own Innocency, kept her Mind calm and eaſy, and committed her Cauſe to him that judgeth righteouſly. Note, Thoſe who take care to keep a good Conſcience, may chearfully truſt God with the keeping of their good Names, and have reaſon to hope that he will clear up, not only their Integrity, but their Honour as the Sun at Noon-day.

3. Joſeph's Perplexity, and his Care what to do in this Caſe. We may well imagine what a great Trouble and Diſappointment it was to him, to find one he had ſuch an Opinion of, and Value for, come under the Suſpicion of ſuch a heinous Crime. Is this Mary? He began to think, how may we be deceiv'd in thoſe we think beſt of! How may we be diſappointed in that we expect moſt from! He is loth to believe ſo ill a thing of one he believ'd ſo good a Woman; and yet the Matter, as it is too bad to be excus'd, ſo 'tis too plain to be denied. What a Struggle doth this occaſion in his Breaſt, between that Jealouſy, which is the Rage of Man, and is cruel as the Grave, on one hand; and that Affection which he has for Mary, on the other hand.

Obſerve 1. The Extremity which he ſtudied to avoid: He was not willing to make her a publick Example. He might have done it; for by the Law a betrothed Virgin, if ſhe play the Harlot, was to be ſtoned to death, Deut. 22. 23, 24. But he was not willing to take the Advantage of the Law againſt her; if ſhe be guilty, yet it is not known, nor ſhall it be known for him. How unlike was the Spirit of Joſeph here to that of Judah, who in ſuch a Caſe haſtily paſſed that ſevere Sentence, Bring her forth and let her be burnt, Gen. 38. 24. How good is it to think on Things, as Joſeph did here. Were there more of Deliberation in our Cenſures and Judgments, there would be more of Mercy and Moderation in them. Bringing her to Puniſhment is here called making her a publick Example; which ſhews what is the End to be aimed at in Puniſhments, which is, the giving of Warning to others; 'tis in terrorem, that all about may hear and fear. Smite the Scorner, and the Simple will beware.

Some that have Rigour in their Temper would blame Joſeph for his Clemency, but it is here ſpoken of to his Praiſe; becauſe he was a juſt Man, therefore he was not willing to expoſe her. He was a religious good Man, and therefore inclined to be merciful as God is, and to forgive as one that was forgiven. In the Caſe of a betrothed Damſel, if ſhe were lain with in the Field, the Law charitably ſuppoſed that ſhe cried out, Deut. 22. 26. and ſhe was not to be puniſhed. And ſome charitable Conſtruction or other Joſeph will put upon this Matter, and herein he is a juſt Man, tender of the good Name of one that never before had done any thing to blemiſh it. Note, It becomes us in many Caſes to be gentle towards thoſe that come under Suſpicion of having offended, to hope the beſt concerning them, and make the beſt of that which at firſt appears bad, in hopes it may prove better. Summam Jus is ſometimes ſumma Injuria. That Court of Conſcience which moderates the Rigour of the Law, we call a Court of Equity: Thoſe that are found faulty, perhaps were overtaken in the Fault, and therefore to be reſtored with the Spirit of Meekneſs; and Threatning when juſt muſt be moderated.

2. The Expedient he found out for the avoiding of his Extremity. He was minded to put her away privily, i. e. to give her a Bill of Divorce into her Hand, before two Witneſſes, and ſo to huſh up the Matter among themſelves. Being a juſt Man, i. e. a ſtrict Obſerver of the Law, he would not proceed to marry her, but reſolved to put her away, and yet in Tenderneſs for her, he determined to do it with all the Privacy that might be. Note, The neceſſary Cenſures of thoſe that have offended ought to be managed without Noiſe. The Words of the Wiſe are heard in quiet. Chriſt himſelf ſhall not ſtrive or cry. Chriſtian Love and Chriſtian Prudence will hide a Multitude of Sins, and great ones, as far as may be done without having Fellowſhip with them.

4. Joſeph's Diſcharge from this Perplexity by an Expreſs ſent from Heaven, v. 20, 21. While he thought on theſe things, and knew not what to determine, God graciouſly directed him what to do, and made him eaſy. Note, Thoſe that would have Direction from God, muſt think on things themſelves, and conſult with themſelves. They are the thoughtful, not the unthinking, that God will guide. When he was at a loſs, and had carried the Matter as far as he could in his own Thoughts, then God came in with Advice. Note, God's Time to come in with Inſtruction to his People, is when they are non-plus'd, and at a Plunge in themſelves. God's Comforts moſt delight the Soul in the Multitude of its perplexed Thoughts.

The Meſſage was ſent to Joſeph by an Angel of the Lord; probably the ſame Angel that brought to Mary the Tidings of the Conception, the Angel Gabriel. Now the Commerce with Heaven by Angels, which the Patriarchs had been dignified with, but had been long diſuſed, begins to be revived; for when the Firſt-begotten is to be brought into the World, the Angels are order'd to attend his Motions. How far God may now in an inviſible way make uſe of the Miniſtration of Angels, for the extricating of his People out of their Straits, we cannot ſay, but this we are ſure of, they are all miniſtring Spirits for their Good. This Angel appeared to Joſeph in a Dream, when he was aſleep, as God ſometimes ſpake unto the Fathers. When we are moſt quiet and compos'd we are in the beſt Frame to receive the Notices of the divine Will. The Spirit moveth on the calm Waters. This Dream no doubt carried its own Evidence along with it, that it was of God, and not the Product of a vain Fancy.

Now (1.) Joſeph is here directed to proceed in his intended Marriage. The Angel calls him, Joſeph, thou Son of David; puts him in mind of his Relation to David, that he might be prepared to receive this ſurpriſing Intelligence of his Relation to the Meſſiah, who every one knew was to be a Deſcendant from David. Sometimes when great Honours devolve upon thoſe that have ſmall Eſtates, they care not for accepting them, but are willing to drop them; 'twas therefore requiſite to put this poor Carpenter in mind of his high Birth. Value thyſelf, Joſeph, thou art that Son of David thro' whom the Line of the Meſſiah is to be drawn. We may thus ſay to every true Believer, Fear not, thou Son of Abraham, thou Child of God; forget not the Dignity of thy Birth, thy new Birth. Fear not to take Mary for thy Wife; ſo it may be read. Joſeph ſuſpecting ſhe was with Child by Whoredom, was afraid of taking her, leſt he ſhould bring upon himſelf either Guilt or Reproach: No, ſaith God, fear not; the Matter is not ſo. Perhaps Mary had told him that ſhe was with Child by the Holy Ghoſt, and he might have heard what Elizabeth ſaid to her, Luke 1. 47. when ſhe called her the Mother of her Lord; and if this were ſo, he was afraid of Preſumption in marrying one ſo much above him: But whenceſoever his Fears aroſe, they were all ſilenc'd with this Word, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy Wife. Note, It is a great Mercy to be delivered from ones Fears, and to have our Doubts reſolved, ſo as to proceed in our Affairs with Satisfaction.

(2.) He is here informed concerning that holy Thing which his eſpouſed Wife was now with Child of. That which is conceived in her is of a divine Original. He is ſo far from being in danger of ſharing in any Impunity by marrying her, that he will thereby ſhare in the higheſt Dignity he is capable of. Two things he is told,

1. That ſhe had conceived by the Power of the Holy Ghoſt, not by the Power of Nature. The holy Spirit that produced the World, now produced the Saviour of the World, and prepared him a Body, as was promiſed him, when he ſaid, Lo I come, Heb. 10. 5. Hence he is ſaid to be made of a Woman, Gal. 4. 4. and yet to be that ſecond Adam that is the Lord from Heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 47. He is the Son of God, and yet ſo far partakes of the Subſtance of his Mother, as to be called the Fruit of her Womb, Luke 1. 42. 'Twas requiſite that his Conception ſhould be otherwiſe than by ordinary Generation, that ſo tho' he did participate of the human Nature, yet he might eſcape the Corruption and Pollution of it, and not be conceived and ſhapen in Iniquity. Hiſtories tell us of ſome who vainly pretended to have conceived by a divine Power, as the Mother of Alexander, but never any really did ſo, before the Mother of our Lord. His Name in this, as in other things, is Wonderful. We do not read that the Virgin Mary did herſelf proclaim the Honour done her, but hid it in her Heart, and therefore God ſent an Angel to atteſt it. Thoſe that ſeek not their own Glory, ſhall have the Honour that comes from God; 'tis reſerved for the Humble.

2. That ſhe ſhould bring forth the Saviour of the World, v. 21. She ſhall bring forth a Son; what he ſhall be is intimated. 1. In the Name that ſhould be given to her Son, Thou ſhalt call his Name Jeſus, a Saviour. Jeſus is the ſame Name with Joſhua, the Termination only made more pliable to the Greek. Joſhua is called Jeſus, Acts 7. 25. Heb. 4. 8. from the Seventy. There were two of that Name under the Old Teſtament, that were both of them illuſtrious Types of Chriſt; Joſhua that was Iſrae'ls Captain at their firſt Settlement in Canaan, and Joſhua that was their High-prieſt at their ſecond Settlement after the Captivity, Zech. 6. 11, 12. Chriſt is our Joſhua, both the Captain of our Salvation, and the High-preiſt of our Porfeſſion, and in both our Saviour; a Joſhua that comes in the ſtead of Moſes, and doth that for us which the Law could not do, in that it was weak. Joſhua had been call'd Hoſhea, but Moſes prefix'd the firſt Syllable of the Name Jehovah, and ſo made it Jehoſhua, Num. 13 16. to intimate that the Meſſiah, who was to bear that Name, ſhould be Jehovah; he is therefore able to ſave to the uttermoſt, neither is their Salvation in any other.

2. In the Reaſon of that Name; for he ſhall ſave his People from their Sins; not the Nation of the Jews only, he came to his own, and they received him not; but all that were given him by the Father's Choice, and all that have given themſelves to him by their own. He is a King that protects his Subjects, and as the Judges of Iſrael of old, works Salvation for them. Note, thoſe whom Chriſt ſaves he ſaves from their Sins; from the Guilt of Sin by the Merit of his Death, from the Dominion of Sin by the Spirit of his Grace. In ſaving them from Sin he ſaves them from Wrath and the Curſe, and all Miſery here and hereafter. Chriſt came not to ſave his People in their Sins, but from their Sins, to purchaſe for them, not a Liberty to ſin, but a Liberty from Sins, to redeem them from all Iniquity, Tit. 2. 14. and ſo to redeem them from among Men, Rev. 14. 4. to himſelf, who is ſeparate from Sinners. So that thoſe who leave their Sins, and give up themſelves to Chriſt as his People, are intereſted in the Saviour, and the great Salvation he has wrought out, Rom. 11. 26.

5. The fulfilling of the Scripture in all this. This Evangeliſt writing among the Jews doth more frequently obſerve this than any other of the Evangeliſts. Here the Old Teſtament Prophecies had their Accompliſhment in our Lord Jeſus; by which it appears this was he that ſhould come, and we are to look for no other, for this was he to whom all the Prophets bare witneſs. Now the Scripture that was fulfilled in the Birth of Chriſt, was that Promiſe of a Sign which God gave to King Ahaz, Iſa. 7. 14. Behold a Virgin ſhall conceive, where the Prophet encouraging the People of God to hope for the promiſed Deliverance from Sennacherib's Invaſion, directs them to look forward to the Meſſiah who was to come of the People of the Jews, and the Houſe of David; from whence it was eaſy to infer, that tho' that was then an afflicted People, that then a diſtreſſed Houſe, yet neither the one nor the other could be abandon'd to Ruin as long as God had ſuch an Honour, ſuch a Bleſſing in reſerve for them. The Deliverances God wrought for the Old Teſtament Church were Types and Figures of the great Salvation by Chriſt, and if God will do the greater, he will not fail to do the leſſer.

The Prephecy here quoted is juſtly uſher'd in with a Behold, which commands both Attention and Admiration; for we have here the Miſtery of Godlineſs which is without Controverſy great, that God was manifeſted in the Fleſh,

1. The Sign given is, that the Meſſiah ſhall be born of a Virgin. A Virgin ſhall conceive, and by her he ſhall be manifeſted in the Fleſh. The Word Almah ſignifies a Virgin in the ſtricteſt Senſe, ſuch as Mary profeſſeth her ſelf to be, Luke 1. 34. I know not a Man, nor had it been any ſuch wonderful Sign as it was intended for, if it had been otherwiſe. It was intimated from the beginning that the Meſſiah ſhould be born of a Virgin, when it was ſaid that he ſhould be the Seed of the Woman; ſo the Seed of the Woman, as not to be the Seed of any Man. Chriſt was born of a Virgin, not only becauſe his Birth was to be Supernatural, and altogether extraordinary, but becauſe it was to be Spotleſs, and Pure, without any Stain of Sin. Chriſt would be born not of an Empreſs or Queen, for he appear'd not in outward Pomp or Splendor, but of a Virgin, to teach us Spiritual Purity, to dye to all the Delights of Senſe, and ſo to keep our ſelves unſpotted from the World and the Fleſh, as that we may be preſented chaſt Virgins to Chriſt.

2. The Truth prov'd by this Sign is, that he is the Son of God, and the Mediater between God and Man, for they ſhall call his Name Emmanuel; that is, he ſhall be Emmanuel; as when it is ſaid he ſhall be call'd, 'tis meant he ſhall be the Lord our Righteouſneſs. Emmanuel ſignifies God with us; a myſterious Name, but very precious; God incarnate among us, and ſo God Reconcileable to us, at Peace with us, and taking us into Covenant and Communion with himſelf. The People of the Jews had God with them, in Types and Shadows, dwelling between the Cherubims, but never ſo as when the Word was made Fleſh, that was the bleſſed Shechinah. What a happy ſtep is hereby taken towards ſetling of a Peace and Correſpondence between God and Man, that the two Natures are thus brought together in the Perſon of the Mediator; by this he became an unacceptionable Referee, a Days-Man fit to lay his Hand upon them both, ſince he partakes of the Nature of both. Behold in this the deepeſt Myſtery, and the richeſt Mercy that ever was. By the Light of Nature we ſee God as God above us, by the Light of the Law we ſee him a God againſt us, but by the Light of the Goſpel we ſee him Emmanuel, God with us, in our own Nature, and (which is more) in our Intereſts.. Herein the Redeemer commended his Love. With Chriſt's Name Emmanuel, we may compare the Name given to the Goſpel-Church, Ezek. 48. 35. Jehovah Shammah, the Lord is there, the Lord of Hoſts is with us.

Nor is it improper to ſay, that the Prophecy which foretold that he ſhould be called Emmanuel, was fulfill'd in the Deſign and Intention of it, when he was call'd Jeſus; for if he had not been Emmanuel, God with us, he could not have been Jeſus, a Saviour; and herein conſiſts the Salvation he wrought out in the bringing of God and Man together; this was it he deſign'd, to bring God to be with us, which is our great Happineſs, and to bring us to be with God, which is our great Duty.

6. Joſeph's Obedience to the Divine Precept, v. 24. being raiſed from ſleep by the Impreſſions which the Dream made upon him, did as the Angel of the Lord had bidden him, tho' it was contrary to his former Sentiments and Intentions; he took unto him his Wife. He did it ſpeedily, without delay, and chearfully, without diſpute; he was not Diſobedient to the Heavenly Viſion. Extraordinary Direction like this here, we are not now to expect; but God hath ſtill ways of making known his Mind in doubtful Caſes, by Hints of Providence, Debates of Conſcience, and Advice of faithful Friends; each of theſe applying the general Rules of the written Word, we ſhould therefore in all the Steps of our Life, particularly the great Turns of it, ſuch as this of Joſeph's, take Direction from God, and we ſhall find it ſafe and comfortable to do as he bids us.

7. The Accompliſhment of the Divine Promiſe, v. 25. ſhe brought forth her firſt-born Son. The Circumſtances of it are more largely related, Luke 21. Note, That which is conceived of the Holy Ghoſt never proves abortive, but will certainly be brought forth in its Seaſon. What is of the will of the Fleſh, and of the will of Man, often miſcarries, but if Chriſt be formed in the Soul, God himſelf has begun the good work, which he will perform; what is conceiv'd in Grace will no doubt be brought forth in Glory.

It is here further obſerv'd, (1.) That Joſeph, tho' he Solemniz'd the Marriage with Mary his eſpouſed Wife, yet he kept at a humble diſtance from her while ſhe was with Child of this Holy Thing, he knew her not till ſhe had brought him forth. A mighty Rout has been made concerning the perpetual Virginity of the Mother of our Lord; Jerom was very angry with Helvidius for denying it. 'Tis certain it cannot be proved from Scripture; Dr. Whitby inclines to think, that it being ſaid, Joſeph knew her not till ſhe had brought forth her Firſt-born, 'tis intimated that afterwards the Reaſon ceaſing, he did the Duty of a Huſband to her according to the Law, Exod. 21. 10. (2.) That Chriſt was the Firſt-born, and ſo he might be call'd, tho' his Mother had not any other Children after him, according to the Language of Scripture. Nor was it without a Myſtery that Chriſt is call'd her Firſt-born, for he is the Firſt-born of every Creature, that is, the Heir of all things, and he is the Firſt-born among many Brethren, that in all things he may have the Preheminence. (3.) That Joſeph called his Name Jeſus, according to the Direction given him. God having appointed him to be the Saviour, which was intimated in his giving him the Name Jeſus, we muſt accept of him to be our Saviour, and in concurrence with that Appointment we muſt call him Jeſus our Saviour.

CHAP. II.

In this Chapter we have the Hiſtory of our Saviour's Infancy, where we find how early he began to ſuffer, and that in him the Word of Righteouſneſs was fulfill'd before he himſelf began to fulfil all Righteouſneſs. Here's (1.) The Wiſe Mens ſollicitous Enquiry after Chriſt, v. 1.—8. (2.) Their devout Attendance on him when they found out were he was, v. 9.——12 (3.) Chriſt's flight into Egypt to avoid the Cruelty of Herod, v. 13.–15. (4.) The barbarous Murder of the Infants of Bethlehem, v. 16——18. (5.) Chriſt's Return out of Egypt into the Land of Iſrael again, v. 19—23

NOW when Jeſus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wiſe men from the eaſt to Jeruſalem, 2 Saying, Where is he that is born king of the Jews? for we have ſeen his ſtar in the eaſt, and are come to worſhip him. 3 When Herod the king had heard theſe things, he was troubled, and all Jeruſalem with him. 4 And when he had gathered all the chief prieſts and ſcribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Chriſt ſhould be born. 5 And they ſaid unto him, in Bethlehem of Judea: for thus it is written by the prophet; 6 And thou Bethlehem in the land of Juda, art not the leaſt among the princes of Juda: for out of thee ſhall come a Governour that ſhall rule my people Iſrael. 7 Then Herod when he had privily called the wiſe men, enquired of them diligently what time the ſtar appeared. 8 And he ſent them to Bethlehem, and ſaid, Go, and ſearch diligently for the young child, and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worſhip him alſo.

It was a Mark of Humiliation put upon the Lord Jeſus, that tho' he was the Deſire of all Nations, yet his coming into the World was ſo little obſerv'd and taken notice of, his Birth obſcure and unregarded; herein he emptied himſelf, and made himſelf of no Reputation. If the Son of God muſt be brought into the World, one might juſtly expect he ſhould be receiv'd with all the Ceremony poſſible; that Crowns and Scepters ſhould immediately have been laid at his Feet, and the high and Mighty Princes of the World ſhould have been his humble Servants; ſuch a Meſſiah as this the Jews expected, but we ſee none of all this; he came into the World, and the World knew him not; nay, he came to his own, and and his own received him not; for having undertaken to make Satisfaction to his Father for the Wrong done him in his Honour by the Sin of Man, he did it by denying himſelf in, and deſpoiling himſelf of the Honour undoubtedly due to an Incarnate Deity, yet as afterwards, ſo in his Birth, there were ſome Rays of Glory darted forth in the midſt of the greateſt Inſtances of his Abaſements. Tho' there was the hiding of his Power, yet he had Beams coming out of his Hand, Hab. 3. 4. enough to condemn the World, and the Jews eſpecially for their Stupidity.

The firſt we find that took notice of Chriſt after his Birth were the Sheperds, Luke 2. 15, &c. who ſaw and heard glorious things concerning him, and made them known abroad, to the Amazement of all that heard them, v. 17, 18. After that Simeon and Anna ſpake of him by the Spirit to all that were diſpos'd to heed what they ſaid, Luke 2. 28. Now one would think theſe Hints ſhould have been taken by the Men of Judah, and the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and that they ſhould with both Arms have embrac'd the long look'd for Meſſiah; but for ought appears he continued near two Years after at Bethlehem, and no further notice was taken of him till theſe wiſe Men came. Note, Nothing will awaken thoſe that are reſolv'd to be regardleſs. O the amazing Stupidity of theſe Jews! And no leſs that of many who are called Chriſtians. Obſerve.

1. when this Enquiry was made concerning Chriſt, it was in the Days of Herod the King. This Herod was an Edomite, made King of Judea by Auguſtus and Antonius, the then chief Rulers of the Roman State, a Man made up with Falſhood and Cruelty; yet he was complemented with the Title of Herod the Great. Chriſt was born in the 35th Year of his Reign, and notice was taken of this, to ſhew that the Sceptre was now departed from Judah, and the Lawgiver from between his feet; and therefore now was the time for Shiloh to come, and to him ſhall the gathering of the People be, witneſs theſe wiſe Men, Gen. 49, 10.

2. Who and what theſe wiſe Men were; they are here call'd Μάγοι, Magicians; ſome take it in a good Senſe, the Magi among the Perſians were their Philoſophers, and their Prieſts; nor would they admit any for their King that had not firſt been enroll'd among the Magi; others think they dealt in unlawful Arts, the word is us'd of Simon the Sorcerer, Acts 8. 9, 11. and of Elymas the Sorcerer, Acts 13. 6 nor doth the Scripture uſe it in any other Senſe; and then it was an early Inſtance and Preſage of Chriſt's Victory over the Devil, when thoſe that had been ſo much his Devotees, became the early Adorers, even of the Infant Jeſus; ſo ſoon were Trophies of his Victory over the Powers of Darkneſs erected. Well, whatever ſort of Wiſe Men they were before, now they began to be Wiſe Men indeed when they ſet themſelves to enquire after Chriſt.

This we are ſure of (1.) That they were Gentiles, and not belonging to the Commonwealth of Iſrael. The Jews regarded not Chriſt, but theſe Gentiles enquired him out. Note, Many times thoſe that are neareſt to the Means, are furtheſt from the End. See Matt. 8. 11, 12. The Reſpect paid to Chriſt by theſe Gentiles was a happy Preſage and Specimen of what would follow, when thoſe that were afar off ſhould be made nigh by Chriſt. (2.) That they were Scholars, they dealt in Arts, curious Arts; good Scholars ſhould be good Chriſtans, and then they compleat their Learning, when they learn Chriſt. (3.) That they were Men of the Eaſt, who were noted for their Sooth-ſaying, Iſa. 2. 6. Arabia is call'd the Land of the Eaſt, Gen. 25 .6. And the Arabians Men of the Eaſt, Jud. 6. 3. The Preſents they brought were the Products of that Country; the Arabians had done Homage to David and Solomon as Types of Chriſt. Jethro and Job were of that Country. More than this we have not to ſay of them. The Traditions of the Romiſh Church are frivolous, that they were in number three, (tho' one of the Ancients ſay they were fourteen) that they were Kings, and that they lie buried in Colen, thence call'd the three Kings of Colen; we covet not to be Wiſe above what is written.

3. What induc'd them to make this Enquiry. They in their Country, which lay Eaſt, had ſeen an extraordinary Star, ſuch as they had not ſeen before, which they took to be an Indication of an extraordinary Perſon born in the Land of Judea, over which Land this Star was ſeen to hover, in the nature of a Comet, or a Meteor rather in the lower Regions of the Air; this differ'd ſo much from any thing that was common, that they concluded it to ſignifie ſomething uncommon. Note, Extraordinary Appearances of God in the Creatures ſhould put us upon enquiring after his Mind and Will therein; Chriſt foretold Signs in the Heavens. The Birth of Chriſt was notify'd to the Jewiſh Shepherds by an Angel, to the Gentile Philoſophers by a Star; to each God ſpoke in their own Language, and in the way they were beſt acquainted with. Some think that very Light which the Shepherds ſaw ſhining round about them the Night after Chriſt was born, was the very ſame which to the wiſe Men who liv'd at ſuch a diſtance appear'd as a Star; which we cannot eaſily admit, becauſe the ſame Star they had ſeen in the Eaſt, they ſaw a great while after leading them to the Houſe where Chriſt lay; it was a Candle ſet up on purpoſe to guide them to Chriſt. The Idolaters worſhip'd the Stars as the Hoſt of Heaven, eſpecially the Eaſtern Nations, whence the Planets have their Names, of their Idol-gods; we read of a particular Star they had in Veneration, Amos 5. 26. Thus the Stars that had been miſus'd came to be put to the right uſe, to lead Men to Chriſt; the Gods of the Heathen became his Servants. Some think this Star put them in mind of Balaam's Prophecy, that a Star ſhould come out of Jacob, pointing at a Sceptre that ſhall riſe out of Iſrael, ſee Numb. 24. 17. And Balaam came from the Mountains of the Eaſt, and was one of their wiſe Men. Others impute their Enquiry to the general Expectation, that was at that time in thoſe Eaſtern Parts of ſome great Prince to appear; Tacitus in his Hiſtory, Lib. 5. takes notice of it; Pluribus Perſuaſio inerat, antiquis Sacerdotum literis contineir, eo ipſo tempore fore ut valeſceret oriens, profectique Judæa rerum potirentur. Suetonius in the Life of Veſpaſian ſpeaks of it; ſo that this extraordinary Phænomenon was conſtrued as pointing at that King; and we may ſuppoſe a divine Impreſſion made upon their Minds, enabling them to interpret this Star as a Signal given by Heaven of the Birth of Chriſt.

4. How they proſecuted this Enquiry, they came from the Eaſt to Jeruſalem in further Queſt of this Prince; whether ſhould they come to enquite for the King of the Jews but to Jeruſalem, the Mother City, whither the Tribes go up, the Tribes of the Lord. They might have ſaid, If there were ſuch a Prince born, they ſhould hear of him ſhortly in their own Countrey, and it would be time enough then to pay their Homage to him; but ſo impatient are they to be better acquainted with him, that they took a long Journey on purpoſe to enquire after him. Note, Thoſe who truly deſire to know Chriſt, and find him, will not ſtick at Pains or Perils in ſeeking after him, then ſhall we know if we follow on to know the Lord.

Their Queſtion is, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? They do not ask, whether there were ſuch an one born, they are ſure of that, and ſpeak of it with Aſſurance, ſo ſtrongly was it ſet home upon their Hearts; but where is he born? Note, Thoſe who know ſomething of Chriſt, cannot but covet to know more of him. They call Chriſt the King of the Jews, for ſo the Meſſiah was expected to be, and he is Protector and Ruler of all the Spiritual Iſrael, he is born a King.

To this Queſtion they doubted not but to have a ready Anſwer, and to find all Jeruſalem worſhipping at the Feet of this new King; but they come from Door to Door with this Queſtion, and no Man can give them any Information. Note, There is more groſs Ignorance in the World, and in the Church too, than we are aware of. Many that we think ſhould direct us to Chriſt, are themſelves ſtrangers to him; they ask, as the Spouſe of the Daughters of Jeruſalem, Saw ye him whom my Soul loveth? but are never the wiſer. However, like the Spouſe they purſue the Enquiry, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? Are they ask'd why they make this Enquiry? 'Tis becauſe they have ſeen his Star in the Eaſt. Are they ask'd what Buſineſs they have with him? What have the Men of the Eaſt to do with the King of the Jews? they have their Anſwer ready, we are come to Worſhip him. They conclude he will in proceſs of Time be their King, and therefore they will betimes ingratiate themſelves with him, and with thoſe about him. Note, Thoſe in whoſe Hearts the Day-ſtar is riſen to give them any thing of the Knowledge of Chriſt, muſt make it their Buſineſs to Worſhip him. Have we ſeen Chriſt's Star? ſtudy to give him Honour.

5. How this Enquiry was reſented at Jeruſalem. News of it at laſt came to Court, and when Herod heard it he was troubled, v. 3. He could not be a ſtranger to the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament concerning the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, and the times fix'd for his appearing by Daniel's Weeks; but having himſelf reign'd ſo long, and ſo ſucceſsfully, he began to hope that thoſe Promiſes ſhould for ever fail, and that his Kingdom, ſhould be eſtabliſh'd and perpetuated in ſpite of them; what a mighty damp therefore muſt it needs be upon him to here talk of this King born, now when the Time fix'd for his appearing was come! Note, Carnal wicked Hearts dread nothing ſo much as the fulfilling of the Scripture.

But tho' Herod an Edomite was troubled, one would have thought Jeruſalem ſhould rejoyce greatly to hear that her King comes; yet it ſeems all Jeruſalem, except the few there that waited for the Conſolation of Iſrael were troubled with Herod, and were apprehenſive of I know not what ill Conſequences of the Birth of this new King; that it would involve them in a War, or reſtrain their Luſts; they for their parts deſir'd no King but Herod, no, not the Meſſiah himſelf. Note, The Slavery of Sin is fooliſhly prefer'd by many before the glorious Liberties of the Children of God, only becauſe they apprehend ſome preſent Difficulties attending that neceſſary Revolution of the Government in the Soul. Herod and Jeruſalem were thus troubled from a miſtaken Notion that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah would claſh and interfere with the Secular Powers; whereas the Star that proclaim'd him King, plainly intimated that his Kingdom was Heavenly, and not of this lower World. Note, The reaſon why the Kings of the Earth, and the People oppoſe the Kingdom of Chriſt, is becauſe they do not know it, but err concerning it.

6. What Aſſiſtance they met with in this Enquiry from the Scribes and the Prieſts, v. 4, 5, 6. No body can pretend to tell where the King of the Jews is, but Herod enquires where it was expected he ſhould be born. The Perſons he conſults are the Chief Prieſts, who were Teachers by Office, and the Scribes, who made it their Buſineſs to ſtudy the Law; their Lips muſt keep Knowledge, but then the People muſt enquire the Law at their Mouth, Mal. 2. 7. It was generally known that Chriſt ſhould be born at Bethlehem, John 7. 42. But Herod would have Counſel's Opinion upon it, and therefore applies himſelf to the proper Perſons, and that he might be the better ſatisfied, he hath them altogether, all the Chief Prieſts and all the Scribes, and demands of them what was the Place, according to the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, where Chriſt ſhould be born? Many a good Queſtion is put with an ill Deſign, ſo was this by Herod.

The Prieſts and Scribes need not take any long time to give an Anſwer to this Query, nor do they differ in their Opinion, but all agree that the Meſſiah muſt be born in Bethlehem, the City of David, here call'd Bethlehem of Judea, to diſtinguiſh it from another City of the ſame Name, in the land of Zebulun. Joſh. 19. 15. Bethlehem ſignifies the Houſe of Bread, the fitteſt place for him to be born in, who is the true Manna, the Bread which came down from Heaven, that was given for the Life of the World. The Proof they produce is taken from Mic. 5. 2. where 'tis foretold, that tho' Bethlehem be little among the Thouſands of Judah; ſo it is in Micah, no very populous Place, yet it ſhall be found not the leaſt among the Princes of Judah, ſo it is here; for Bethlehem's Honour lay not as that of other Cities, in the Multitude of the People, but in the Magnificence of the Princes it produc'd. Tho' upon ſome accounts Bethlehem was little, yet herein it had the Preheminence above all the Cities of Iſrael, that the Lord ſhall count when he writes up the People, that this Man, even the Man Chriſt Jeſus, was born there, Pſal. 87. 6. Out of thee ſhall come a Governour, the King of the Jews. Note, Chriſt will be a Saviour to thoſe only that are willing to take him for their Governour. Bethlehem was the City of David, and David the Glory of Bethlehem; there therefore muſt David's Son and Succeſſor be be born. There was a famous Well at Bethlehem by the Gate, which David long'd to drink of, 2 Sam. 23. 15. In Chriſt we have not only Bread enough, and to ſpare, but may come and take alſo of the Water of Life freely. Obſerve here, how Jews and Gentiles compare Notes about Jeſus Chriſt; the Gentiles know the Time of it by a Star, the Jews knew the Place of it by the Scriptures, and ſo they are capable of informing one another. Note, It would contribute much to the Increaſe of Knowledge, if we did thus mutually communicate what we know; Men grow rich by bartering and exchanging, ſo if we have Knowledge to Communicate to others, they will be ready to Communicate to us; thus many ſhall diſcourſe, ſhall run to and fro, and Knowledge ſhall be increaſed.

7. The Bloody Project and Deſign of Herod occaſion'd by this Enquiry, v. 7, 8. Herod was now an old Man, had Reign'd 35 Years; this King was but newly born, and not likely to enterprize any thing conſiderable of many Years, yet Herod is jealous of him; Crown'd Heads cannot endure to think of Succeſſors, much leſs of Rivals, and therefore nothing leſs than the Blood of this Infant King will ſatisfy him, and he will not give himſelf liberty to think, that if this new-born Child ſhould be indeed the Meſſiah, in oppoſing him, or making any Attempts upon him, he would be found fighting againſt God, than which nothing more vain, nothing more dangerous; Paſſion has got the Maſtery of Reaſon and Conſcience.

Now, 1. See how cunningly he laid the Project, v. 7, 8. He privily called the wiſe Men to talk with them about this matter. He would not openly own his Fears and Jealouſies, 'twould be his Diſgrace to let the wiſe Men know them, and dangerous to let the People know them. Sinners are often tormented with ſecret Fears which they keep to themſelves. Herod learns of the Wiſe Men the Time when the Star appear'd, that he might take his Meaſures accordingly, and then employs them to enquire further, and bids them bring him an account. All this might look ſuſpicious, if he had not cover'd it with a Shew of Religion; That I may come and Worſhip him alſo. Note' The greateſt Wickedneſs often conceals it ſelf under a Maſk of Piety; Abſalom clokes his rebellious Project with a Vow.

2. See how ſtrangely he was Befool'd and Infatuated in this, that he truſted it with the wiſe Men, and did not chuſe ſome other Managers that would have been true to his Intereſts. 'Twas but ſeven Miles from Jeruſalem; how eaſily might he have ſent Spies to dog the Wiſe Men, that ſhould have been as ſoon there to deſtroy the Child, as they to Worſhip him. Note, God can hide from the Eyes of the Church's Enemies, thoſe Methods by which they might eaſily deſtroy the Church; when he intends to lead Princes away ſpoiled, his way is to make the Judges Fools.

9 When they had heard the King, they departed, and lo, the ſtar which they ſaw in the eaſt, went before them, till it came and ſtood over where the young child was. 10 When they ſaw the ſtar, they rejoyced with exceeding great joy. 11 And when they were come into the houſe, they ſaw the young child with Mary his Mother, and fell down and worſhipped him: and when they had opened their treaſures, they preſented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincenſe, and myrrh. 12 And being warned of God in a dream, that they ſhould not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

We have here the wiſe Mens humble Attendance upon this new born King of the Jews, and the Honours they paid him. From Jeruſalem they went to Bethlehem, reſolving to ſeek till they find; but 'tis very ſtrange they went alone, that not one Perſon of the Court, Church, or City ſhould accompany them, if not in Conſcience, yet in Civility to them, or touch'd with a Curioſity to ſee this young Prince. As the Queen of the South, ſo the wiſe Men of the Eaſt will riſe up in Judgment againſt the Men of that Generation, and of this too, and will condemn them, for they came from a far Country to Worſhip Chriſt, while the Jews his kinſmen would not ſtir a ſtep, would not go to the next Town to bid him welcome. It might have been a diſcouragement to theſe wiſe Men to find him whom they ſought thus neglected at home: Are we come ſo far to honour the King of the Jews, and do the Jews themſelves put ſuch a Slight upon him and us? yet they perſiſt in their Reſolution. Note, We muſt continue our Attendances upon Chriſt, tho' we be alone in them; whatever others do we muſt ſerve the Lord; if they will not go to Heaven with us, yet we muſt not go to Hell with them.

Now 1. See how they found Chriſt out, by the ſame Star that they had ſeen in their own Country, v. 9, 10. And there obſerve, (1.) How graciouſly God directed them; by the firſt Appearance of the Star, they were given to underſtand where they might enquire for this King, and then it diſappear'd, and they were left to take the uſual Methods for ſuch an Enquiry. Note, Extraordinary Helps are not to be expected where ordinary Means are to be had. Well, they had traced the Matter as far as they could, they were upon their Journey to Bethlehem, but that's a populous Town, where ſhall they find him when they come thither; here they were at a loſs, at their Wit's-end but not at their Faith's-end; they believed God that had brought them thither by his Word, would not leave them there; nor did he, for behold the Star which they ſaw in the Eaſt went before them. Note, If we go on as far as we can in the way of our Duty, God will direct and enable us to do that which of our ſelves we cannot do; up and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee. Vigilantibus non dormientibus ſuccourit Lex. The Star had left them a great while, yet now returns. They that follow God in the Dark, ſhall find that Light is ſown, is reſerv'd for them. Iſrael was led by a Pillar of Fire to the promiſed Land; the Wiſe Men by a Star to the promiſed Seed, who is himſelf the bright and morning Star, Rev. 22. 16. God would rather create a new thing, than leave thoſe at a loſs that diligently and faithfully ſought him. This Star was the Token of God's Preſence with them, for he is Light, and goes before his People as their Guide. Note, if we by Faith eye God in all our Ways, we may ſee our ſelves under his Conduct; he guides with his Eye, Pſal. 32. 8. and ſaith to them, This is the way, walk in it; and there is a Day-Star that ariſeth in the Hearts of thoſe that enquire after Chriſt, 2 Pet. 1. 19. (2.) Obſerve how joyfully they follow'd God's Direction, v. 10. When they ſaw the Star, they rejoyced with exceeding great Joy. Now they ſaw they were not deceiv'd, and had not taken this long Journey in vain; when the Deſire cometh it is a Tree of Life. Now they were ſure that God was with them, and the Tokens of his Preſence and Favour cannot but fill the Souls of thoſe that know how to value them with Joy unſpeakable. Now they could laugh at the Jews in Jeruſalem, who probably had laugh'd at them, as coming on a Fool's Errand. The Watchmen can give the Spouſe no Tidings of her Beloved, but it is but a little that ſhe paſſeth from them, and ſhe finds him, Cant. 3. 3, 4. We cannot expect too little from Man, nor too much from God. What a Tranſport of Joy theſe wiſe Men were in upon this ſight of the Star none know ſo well as thoſe, who after a long and melancholy Night of Temptation and Deſertion, under the Power of a Spirit of Bondage, at length receive the Spirit of Adoption, witneſſing with their Spirits, that they are the Children of God; this is Light out of Darkneſs, 'tis Life from the Dead. Now they had reaſon to hope for ſight of the Lord's Chriſt preſently; of the Sun of Righteouſneſs, for they ſee the Morning-ſtar. Note We ſhould be glad of every thing that will ſhew us the way to Chriſt. This Star was ſent to meet the wiſe Men, and to conduct them into the Preſence-chamber of the King; by this Maſter of the Ceremonies they were introduced to have their Audience. Now God fulfils his Promiſe of meeting thoſe that are diſpos'd to rejoyce and work Righteouſneſs, Iſa. 64. 5. And they fulfil his Precept; let the Hearts of thoſe rejoyce that ſeek the Lord, Pſal. 105. 3. Note, God is pleaſed ſometimes to favour young Converts with ſuch Tokens of his Love as are very encouraging to them in reference to the Difficulties they meet with at their ſetting out in the Ways of God.

2. See how they made their Addreſs to him when they had found him, ver. 11. We may well imagine their Expectations were rais'd to find this Royal Babe, tho' ſlighted by the Nation, yet honourably attended at home, and what a Diſappointment it was to them when they found a Cottage was his Palace, and his own poor Mother all the Retinue he had. Is this the Saviour of the World? Is this the King of the Jews, nay, and the Prince of the Kings of the Earth? Yes, this is he, who tho' he was rich, yet for our ſakes became thus poor. However theſe wiſe Men were ſo wiſe as to ſee through this Veil, and in this deſpiſed Babe to diſcern the Glory, as of the only begotten of the Father; they did not think themſelves balk'd or baffled in their Enquiry, but as having found the King they ſought, they preſented Themſelves firſt, and then their Gifts to him.

(1.) They preſented Themſelves to him, they fell down and Worſhipped him. We do not read that they gave ſuch Honour to Herod, tho' he was in the height of his Royal Grandeur, but to this Babe they gave this Honour; not only as to a King, then they would have done the ſame to Herod, but as to a God. Note, All that have found Chriſt, fall down before him; they adore him, and ſubmit themſelves to him. He is thy Lord, Worſhip thou him. 'Twill be the Wiſdom of the wiſeſt of Men, and by this it will appear they know Chriſt, and underſtand themſelves and their true Intereſts, if they be the humble faithful Worſhippers of the Lord Jeſus.

(2.) They preſented their Gifts to him. In the Eaſtern Nations, when they did Homage to their Kings, they made them a Preſent; thus the Subjection of the Kings of Sheba to Chriſt is ſpoken of, Pſal. 72. 10. They ſhall bring Preſents, and offer Gifts. See Iſa. 60. 6. Note, With our ſelves, we muſt give up all that we have to Jeſus Chriſt, and if we be ſincere in the ſurrender of our ſelves to him, we will not ſtick at parting with what is deareſt to us, and moſt valuable, to him, and for him; nor are our Gifts accepted, unleſs we firſt preſent our ſelves to him living Sacrifices; God had reſpect to Abel, and then to his Offering. The Gifts they preſented were Gold, Frankincenſe and Myrrh, Money, and Monies-worth. Providence ſent this for a ſeaſonable Relief to Joſeph and Mary, in their preſent poor Condition. Theſe were the Products of their own Country; what God favours us with, we muſt honour him with. Some think there was a ſignificancy in their Gifts; they offer'd him Gold as a King, paying him Tribute; to Cæſar the things that are Cæſar's; Frankincenſe as God, for they honour'd God with the Smoke of Incenſe, and Myrrh, as a Man that ſhould dye, for Myrrh was us'd in Imbalming dead Bodies.

3. See how they left him when they had made their Addreſs to him, v. 12. Herod appointed them to bring him word what Diſcoveries they had made, and 'tis probable they would have done ſo, if they had not been countermanded, not ſuſpecting their being thus made his Tools in a wicked Deſign. Thoſe that mean honeſtly and well themſelves, are eaſily made to believe that others do ſo too, and cannot think the World is ſo bad as really it is. But the Lord knows how to deliver the Godly out of Temptation. We do not find that the wiſe Men promiſed to come back to Herod, and if they had it muſt be with the uſual Proviſo, if God permit; and God did not permit them, and ſo prevented the Miſchief Herod deſign'd to the Child Jeſus, and the trouble it would have been to the wiſe Men to have been made involuntarily acceſſary to it. They were warned of God; χρηματισθέντες, Oraculo vel Reſponſo accepto: ſome think it intimates, that they ask'd Counſel of God, and this was the Anſwer. Note, Thoſe that act cautiouſly, and are afraid of Sin and Snares, if they apply themſelves to God for Direction, may expect to be led in the right way. They were warn'd not to to return to Herod, or to Jeruſalem; theſe were unworthy to have Reports brought them concerning Chriſt, that might have ſeen with their own Eyes, and would not. They departed into their own Country another way, to bring the Tidings to their Country-men; but 'tis ſtrange we never hear any more of them, and that they or theirs did not afterwards attend him in the Temple, whom they had worſhipped in the Cradle. However, the Direction they had from God in their Return, would be a further Confirmation of their Faith in this Child. as the Lord from Heaven.

13 And when they were departed, behold the angel of the Lord appeared to Joſeph in a dream, ſaying, Ariſe, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will ſeek the young child to deſtroy him. 14 When he aroſe, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt: 15 And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken of the Lord by the prophet, ſaying, Out of Egypt have I called my ſon.

We have here Chriſt's Flight into Egypt, to avoid the Cruelty of Herod, and this was the effect of the wiſe Men's Enquiry after him, for before that the obſcurity he lay in was his Protection. It was but little Reſpect (compared with what ſhould have been) that was paid to Chriſt in his Infancy, yet even that inſtead of honouring him among his People, did but expoſe him.

Now here obſerve,

1. The Command given to Joſeph concerning it, v. 13. Joſeph knew neither the Danger the Child was in, nor how to eſcape it, but God by an Angel tells him both in a Dream; as before he directed him in like manner what to do, Chap. 1. 20. Joſeph before his Alliance to Chriſt, had not been wont to converſe with Angels, as now. Note, Thoſe that are Spiritually related to Chriſt by Faith, have that Communion and Correſpondence with Heaven, which before they were Strangers to.

(1.) Joſeph is here told what their Danger was, Herod will ſeek the young Child to deſtroy him. Note God is acquainted with all the cruel Projects and Purpoſes of the Enemies of his Church. I know thy Rage againſt me, ſaith God to Sennacherib, Iſa. 37. 28. How early was the Bleſſed Jeſus involv'd in Trouble! Uſually even thoſe whoſe ripers Years are attended with Toils and Perils, yet have a peaceable and quiet Infancy, but it was not ſo with the Bleſſed Jeſus; his Life and Sufferings began together. He was born a Man ſtriven with, as Jeremiah was Jer. 15. 10. who was Sanctified from the Womb, Jer. 1. 5. Both Chriſt the Head, and the Church his Body agree, in ſaying, Many a time have they afflicted me from my Youth up. Pharaoh's Cruelty faſtens upon the Hebrews Children, and the great red Dragon ſtands ready to devour the Man-child, as ſoon as it ſhould be born, Rev. 12. 4.

(2.) He is directed what to do to eſcape the Danger; Take the young Child and flee into Egypt. Thus early muſt Chriſt give an Example to his own Rule, Mat. 10. 23. When they Perſecute you in one City, flee to another. He that came to die for us, when his Hour was not yet come, fled for his own Safety. Self-preſervation being a Branch of the Law of Nature, is eminently a part of the Law of God. Flee, but why into Egypt? Egypt was infamous for Idolatry, Tyranny, and Enmity to the People of God; it had been a Houſe of Bondage to Iſrael, and particularly cruel to the Infants of Iſrael; in Egypt, as much as in Ramah, Rachel had been weeping for her Children, yet that's appointed to be a Place of Refuge to the Holy Child Jeſus. Note, God when he pleaſes can make the worſt of Places ſerve the beſt of Purpoſes; for the Earth is the Lord's, he makes what uſe he pleaſes of it; ſometimes the Earth helps the Woman, Rev. 12. 16. God that made Moab a Shelter to his Out-caſts, makes Egypt a Refuge for his Son. This may be conſider'd,

(1.) As a Trial of the Faith of Joſep and Mary; they might be tempted to think, if this Child be the Son of God, as we are told he is, has he no other way to ſecure himſelf from a Man that is a Worm, but by ſuch a mean and inglorious Retreat as this? Cannot he ſummon Legions of Angels to be his Life-guard, or Cherubims with Flaming-ſwords to keep this Tree of Life? Cannot he ſtrike Herod dead, or wither the Hand that is ſtretch'd out againſt him, and ſo ſave us the trouble of this Remove? They had been lately told that he ſhould be the Glory of his People Iſrael, and is the Land of Iſrael ſo ſoon become too hot for him? But we find not that they made any ſuch Objections; their Faith being tried, was found firm, and they believe this is the Son of God, tho' they ſee no Miracle wrought for his Preſervation, but they are put to the uſe of ordinary Means: Joſeph had great Honour put upon him in being the Huſband of the Bleſſed Virgin, but that Honour has Trouble attending it, as all Honours have in this World; Joſeph muſt take the young Child and carry him into Egypt; and now it appear'd how well God had provided for the young Child and his Mother, in appointing Joſeph into Relation to them; now the Gold which the wiſe Men brought would ſtand them in ſtead to bear their Charges. God foreſees his People's Diſtreſſes, and provides againſt them before hand. God intimates the continuance of his Care and Conduct, when he ſaith, Be thou there until I bring thee word; ſo that he muſt expect to hear from God again, and not ſtir without freſh Orders. Thus God will keep his People ſtill in a Dependance upon him.

(2.) As an Inſtance of the Humiliation of our Lord Jeſus. As there was no room for him in the Inn at Bethlehem, ſo there was no quiet room for him in the Land of Judea. Thus was he baniſh'd from the Earthly Canaan, that we, who for Sin were baniſh'd from the Heavenly Canaan, might not be for ever expell'd. If we and our Infants be at any time in Straits, let us remember the Straits Chriſt in his Infancy was brought into, and be reconcil'd to them

(3.) As a Token of God's Diſpleaſure againſt the Jews, who took ſo little notice of him; juſtly doth he leave thoſe who had ſlighted him: and as an Earneſt of his Favour to the Gentiles, to whom the Apoſtles were to bring the Goſpel when the Jews rejected it. If Egypt entertain Chriſt when he is forc'd out of Judea, it will be long e'er it be ſaid, Bleſſed be Egypt my People, Iſa. 19. 25.

(2.) Joſeph's Obedience to this Command, v. 14. The Journey would be inconvenient and perilous, both to the young Child and to his Mother, they were but poorly provided for it, and were likely to meet with cold Entertainment in Egypt, yet Joſeph was not Diſobedient to the heavenly Viſion, made no Objection, nor was dilatory in his Obedience. As ſoon as he had receiv'd his Orders, he immediately aroſe and went away by Night, the ſame Night, as it ſhould ſeem, that he receiv'd Orders: Note, Thoſe that would make ſure work of their Obedience muſt make quick work of it. Now Joſeph went out, as his Father Abraham did, with an implicit Dependance upon God, not knowing whither he went, Heb. 11. 8. Joſeph and his Wife having little, had little to take care of in this Remove: An abundance incumbers a neceſſary Flight. If rich People have the advantage of the Poor while they poſſeſs what they have, the Poor have the advantage of the Rich when they are call'd to part with it.

Joſeph took the young Child and his Mother. Some obſerve that the young Child is put firſt as the principal Perſon, and Mary is call'd not the Wife of Joſeph, but which was her greater Dignity, the Mother of the young Child. This was not the firſt Joſeph that was driven from Canaan to Egypt for a Shelter from the Anger of his Brethren; this Joſeph ought to be welcome there for the ſake of that.

If we may credit Tradition at their Entrance into Egypt, happening into a Temple, all the Images of their gods were overthrown by an inviſible Power, and fell like Dagon before the Ark, according to that Prophecy, The Lord ſhall come into Egypt, and the Idols of Egypt ſhall be moved at his Preſence, Iſa. 19. 1. They continued in Egypt till the Death of Herod, which ſome think was ſeven Years, others think not ſo many Months. There they were at a diſtance from the Temple, and the Service of it, and in the midſt of Idolaters, but God ſent them thither, and will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice. Tho' they were far from the Temple of the Lord, they had with them the Lord of the Temple. A forced Abſence from Gods Ordinances, and a forced Preſence with wicked People may be the Lot, is not the Sin, yet cannot but be the Grief of good People.

3. The fulfilling of the Scripture in all this, that Scripture, Hoſ. 11. 1. Out of Egypt have I called my Son. Of all the Evangeliſts, Matthew takes moſt notice of the fulfilling of the Scripture in what concern'd Chriſt, becauſe his Goſpel was firſt Publiſh'd among the Jews, with whom that would add much ſtrength and luſtre to it. Now this Word of the Prophet undoubtedly referr'd to the Deliverance of Iſrael out of Egypt, in which God own'd them for his Son, his Firſt-born, Exod. 4. 22. but it is here apply'd by way of Analogy to Chriſt, the Head of the Church. Note, the Scripture has many Accompliſhments, ſo full and copious is it, and ſo well order'd in all things, God is every Day fulfilling the Scripture. Scripture is not of private Interpretaiton, we muſt give it its full Latitude. When Iſrael was a Child, then I loved him; aud though I loved him, I ſuffer'd him to be a great while in Egypt, but becauſe I loved him, in due time I called him out of Egypt. They that read this, muſt in their Thoughts, not only look back, but look forward; that which has been ſhall be again, Eccl. 1. 9. and the Manner of Expreſſion intimates this; for it is ſaid, not I called him, but called my Son out of Egypt. Note, 'Tis no new thing for God's Sons to be in Egypt, in a ſtrange Land, in a Houſe of Bondage; but they ſhall be fetch'd out: They may be hid in Egypt, but they ſhall not be left there. All the Elect of God, being by Nature Children of Wrath, are born in a ſpiritual Egypt, and in Converſion are effectually called out. It might be objected againſt Chriſt, that he had been in Egypt; Muſt the Sun of Righteouſneſs ariſe out of that Land of Darkneſs? But this ſhews that to be no ſuch ſtrange thing; Iſrael was brought out of Egypt to be advanced to the higheſt Honours, and this is but the doing of the ſame thing again.

16 Then Herod when he ſaw that he was mocked of the wiſe men, was exceeding wroth, and ſent forth and ſlew all the Children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coaſts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently enquired of the wiſe-men. 17 Then was fulfilled that which was ſpoken by Jeremy the Prophet, ſaying, 18 In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, becauſe they are not.

Here's 1. Herod's Reſentment of the Departure of the Wiſe Men. He waited long for their Return, hopes though they be ſlow, they will be ſure, and he ſhall cruſh his Rival at his firſt Appearing; but hears upon Enquiry, that they are gone off another way, which increaſeth his Jealouſy, and makes him ſuſpect they are in the Intereſt of this new King; which made him exceeding wroth, and he is the more deſperate and outragious for his being diſappointed. Note, Inveterate Corruption ſwells the higher for the Obſtructions it meets with in a ſinful purſuit.

2. His politick Contrivance, notwithſtanding this, to take off him that is born King of the Jews. If he could not reach him by a particular Execution, he doubted not but to involve him in a general Stroke, which like the Sword of War, ſhould devour one as well as another. This would be ſure Work; and thus thoſe that would deſtroy their own Iniquity, muſt be ſure to deſtroy all their Iniquities. Herod was an Edomite; Enmity to Iſrael was bred in the Bone with him; Doeg was an Edomite, who for David's ſake ſlew all the Prieſts of the Lord. 'Twas ſtrange that Herod could find any ſo inhumane, as to be employ'd in ſuch a bloody and barbarous Piece of Work; but wicked Hands never want wicked Tools to work with. Little Children have been always taken under the ſpecial Protection, not only of human Laws, but of human Nature, yet theſe are ſacrificed to the Rage of this Tyrant, under whom, as under Nero, Innocence is the leaſt Security. Herod was throughout his Reign a bloody Man: 'Twas not long before, that he deſtroy'd the whole Sanhedrim, or Bench of Judges. But Blood to the Blood-thirſty, is like Drink to thoſe in a Dropſy; Quo plus ſunt potæ, plus ſitiuntur Aquæ. Herod was now about Seventy Years old, ſo that an Infant at this time under Two Years old, was not likely ever to give him any Diſturbance. Nor was he a Man over fond of his own Children, or of their Preferment; having formerly ſlain two of his own Sons, Alexander and Ariſtobulus, and his Son Antipater after this, but five Days before he dy'd: So that it was purely to gratify his brutiſh Luſts of Pride and Cruelty, that he did this. All is Fiſh that comes to his Net.

Obſerve what large Meaſures he took, (1.) As to Time; he ſlew all from two Years old and under. 'Tis probable the Bleſſed Jeſus was at this Time not a Year old: Yet Herod took in all the Infants under two Years old, that he might be ſure not to miſs of his Prey. He cares not how many Heads fall, whom he allows to be innocent; provided that eſcape not, whom he ſuppoſeth to be guilty. (2.) As to Place; he kills all the Male-Children, not only in Bethlehem, but in all the Coaſts thereof, in all the Villages of that City. This was being overmuch wicked, Eccl. 7. 17. Note, An unbridled Wrath arm'd with an unlawful Power, often tranſports Men to the moſt abſurd and unreaſonable Inſtances of Cruelty. It was no unrighteous thing with God to permit this: Every Life is forfeited to his Juſtice, as ſoon as it commenceth. That Sin which enter'd by one Man's Diſobedience introduc'd Death with it; and we are not to ſuppoſe any thing more than that common guilt, or that theſe Children were Sinners above all that were in Iſrael, becauſe they ſuffer'd ſuch things. God's Judgments are a great Deep. The Diſeaſes and Deaths of little Children are Proofs of Original Sin. But we muſt look upon this Murder of the Infants, under another Character: It was their Martyrdom. How early did Perſecution commence againſt Chriſt and his Kingom! Think ye that he came to ſend Peace on the Earth, no, but a Sword, ſuch a Sword as this, Matt. 10. 34, 35. A Paſſive Teſtimony was hereby given to the Lord Jeſus. As when he was in the Womb, he was witneſſed to by a Child's leaping in the Womb, for Joy at his Approach; ſo now at two Yeasr old, he had Contemporary Witneſſes to him of the ſame Age: They ſhed their Blood for him, who afterwards ſhed his for them. Theſe were the Infantry of the Noble Army of Martyrs. If theſe Infants were thus baptiz'd with Blood, though it were their own, into the Church Triumphant, it could not be ſaid, but that with what they got in Heaven, they were abundantly recompenſed for what they loſt on Earth. Out of the Mouths of theſe Babes and Sucklings God did perfect Praiſe, otherwiſe it is not good to the Almighty that he ſhould thus afflict.

The Tradition of the Greek Church (and we have it in the Æthiopick Miſſal) is, That the Number of the Children ſlain was Fourteen Thouſand; but that is very abſurd: I believe if the Births of the Male Children in the Weekly Bills were computed, there would not be found ſo many under two Years old in one of the moſt populous Cities in the World, much leſs in Bethlehem, a ſmall Town, that was not near a fortieth part of it: But 'tis an Inſtance of the Vanity of Tradition. It is ſtrange that Joſephus doth not relate this Story; but he wrote long after St. Matthew, and 'twas probable he therefore would not relate it becauſe he would not ſo far countenance the Chriſtian Hiſtory, for he was a zealous Jew: But to be ſure, if it had not been true, and well atteſted, he would have conteſted it. Macrobius, a Heathen Writer, tells us, that when Auguſtus Cæſar heard, that Herod, among the Children he ordered to be ſlain under two Years old, among the reſt ſlew his own Son, he pas'd this Jeſt upon him, That it was better be Herod's Swine than his Son. The Uſage of the Country forbad him to kill a Swine, but nothing could reſtrain him from killing his Son. Some think he had a young Child at Nurſe in Bethlehem; others think, that through Miſtake two Events are confounded, the Murder of the Infants, and the Murder of his Son Antipater. But for the Church of Rome to put the Holy Innocents, as they call them, into their Calendar, and obſerve a day in Memory of them; while they have ſo often by their barbarous Maſſacres juſtified, and even out-done Herod; is but to do as their Predeceſſors did, who built the Tombs of the Prophet, while they themſelves fill'd up the ſame Meaſure.

Some obſerve another Deſign of Providence in the Murder of the Infants: By all the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, it appears that Bethlehem was the Place, and this the Time of the Meſſiah's Nativity; now all the Children of Bethlehem, born at this Time, being murder'd, and Jeſus only eſcaping, none but he could pretend to be the Meſſiah. Herod now thought he had baffled all the Old Teſtament Prophecies, had defeated the Indications of the Star, and the Devotions of the wiſe Men, by ridding the Country of this new King; having burnt the Hive, he concludes he had killed the Maſter-bee, but God in Heaven laughs at him, and has him in Deriſion. Whatever crafty cruel Devices are in Men's Hearts, the Counſel of the Lord ſhall ſtand.

3. The Fulfilling of the Scripture in this, v. 17, 18. Then was fulfilled that Prophecy, Jer. 31. 15. a Voice was heard in Ramah. See and adore the Fulneſs of the Scripture: That Prediction was accompliſhed in Jeremiah's Time, when Nebuzaradon, after he had deſtroy'd Jeruſalem, brought all his Priſoners to Ramah, Jer. 40. 1. and there diſpos'd of them as he pleaſed, for the Sword, or for Captivity: Then was the Cry in Ramah heard to Bethlehem (for thoſe two Cities, the one in Judah's Lot, and the other in Benjamin's, were not far aſunder.) But now the Prophecy is again fulfilled in the great Sorrow that was for the Death of theſe Infants. The Scripture was fulfill'd.

1. In the Place of this Mourning: The Noiſe of it was heard from Bethlehem to Ramah; for Herod's Cruelty extended it ſelf to all the Coaſts of Bethlehem, even into the Lot of Benjamin, among the Children of Rachel. Some think the Country about Bethlehem was called Rachel, becauſe there ſhe died and was buried; Rachel's Sepulchre was hard by Bethlehem, Gen. 35. 16, 19. compare 1 Sam. 10. 2. Rachel had her Heart much ſet upon Children; the Son ſhe died in Travel of, ſhe called Benoni, the Son of her Sorrow: Theſe Mothers were like Rachel, liv'd near Rachel's Grave, and many of them deſcended from Rachel, and therefore their Lamentations are elegantly repreſented by Rachel's Weeping.

2. In the Degree of this Mourning: 'Twas Lamentation, and Weeping, and great Mourning; all little enough to expreſs the Senſe they had of this aggravated Calamity. There was a great Cry in Egypt, when the Firſt-born were ſlain, and ſo there was here when the Youngeſt were ſlain; for whom we naturally have a particular Tenderneſs. Here was a Repreſentation of this World we live in: We hear in it, Lamentation, and Weeping, and Mourning, and ſee the Tears of the Oppreſſed, ſome upon one Account, and ſome upon another. Our Way lies through a Vale of Tears. This Sorrow was ſo great that they would not be comforted. They hardned themſelves in it, and took a Pleaſure in their Grief. Bleſſed be God, there is no Occaſion of Grief in this World, no not Sin it ſelf that will juſtify us in refuſing to be comforted. They would not be comforted, becauſe they are not, i. e. they are not in the Land of the Living, are not as they were in their Mothers Embraces; if indeed they were not, there might be ſome Excuſe for Sorrowing, as though we had no hope; but we know they are not loſt, but gone before; if we forget that they are, we loſe the beſt Ground of our Comfort, 1 Theſ. 4. 13. Some make this great Grief of the Bethlemites, to be a juſt Judgment upon them, for their Contempt of Chriſt: They that would not rejoyce for the Birth of the Son of God, are juſtly made to weep for the Death of their own Sons; for they only wondered at the Tidings the Shepherds brought them, but did not welcome them.

The Quoting of this Prophecy might ſerve to obviate an Objection, which ſome would make againſt Chriſt upon this ſad Providence; Can the Meſſiah, who is to be the Conſolation of Iſrael, be introduc'd with all this Lamentation? Yes, for ſo it was foretold, and the Scripture muſt be accompliſhed. And beſides, if we look further into that Prophecy we ſhall find, that the bitter Weeping in Ramah was but a Prologue to the greateſt Joy, for it follows, thy Work ſhall be rewarded, and there is Hope in thy End. The worſe things are, the ſooner they will mend: Unto them a Child was born, ſufficient to repair their Loſſes.

19 But when Herod was dead, behold an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Joſeph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Ariſe, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Iſrael: for they are dead which ſought the young childs life. 21 And he aroſe, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Iſrael. 22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judea, in the room of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: notwithſtanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aſide into the parts of Galilee: 23 And he came and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the prophets, He ſhall be called a Nazarene.

We have here Chriſt's Return out of Egypt into the Land of Iſrael again: Egypt may ſerve to ſojourn in, or take ſhelter in for a while but not to abide in; Chriſt was ſent to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, and therefore to them he muſt return. Obſerve,

1. What it was that made way for his Return, the Death of Herod, which happen'd not long after the Murder of the Infants; ſome think not above three Months: ſuch quick Work did Divine Vengeance make. Note, Herods muſt dye; proud Tyrants that were the Terror of the Mighty, and the Oppreſſors of the Godly in the Land of the Living, their Day muſt come to fall, and down to the Pit they muſt go. Who art thou then that thou ſhouldſt be afraid of a Man that ſhall dye? Iſa. 51. 12, 13. eſpecially conſidering that at Death, not only their Envy and Hatred are periſhed, Eccl. 9. 6. and they ceaſe from troubling, Job. 3. 17. but they are puniſhed. Of all Sins the Guilt of innocent Blood fills the Meaſure ſooneſt. 'Tis a Dreadful Account which Joſephus gives of the Death of this ſame Herod, Antiq. Jud. lib. 17. cap 8, 9, 10. that he was ſeized with a Diſeaſe, which burn'd him inwardly with an inexpreſſible Torture, that he was inſatiably greedy of Meat, had the Cholick, and Gout, and Dropſy; ſuch an intolerable Stink attended his Diſeaſe, that none could come near him, and ſo paſſionate and impatient, that he was a Torment to himſelf, and a Terror to all that attended him; his innate Cruelty being thus exaſperated made him more barbarous than ever. Having order'd his own Son to be put to Death, he impriſon'd many of the Nobility and Gentry, and order'd, that as ſoon as he was dead they ſhould be kill'd; but that Execution was prevented. See what kind of Men have been the Enemies and Perſecutors of Chriſt and his Followers: Few have oppoſed Chriſtianity, but what have firſt diveſted themſelves of Humanity, as Nero and Domitian.

2. The Orders given from Heaven concerning their Return, and Joſeph's Obedience to thoſe Orders, *v.*19, 20, 21. God had ſent Joſeph into Egypt, and there he ſtaid till the ſame that brought him thither order'd him thence. Note, In all our Removes it is good to ſee our Way plain, and God going before us; we ſhould not move either one Way or other, without Order. Theſe Orders were ſent him by an Angel. Note, Our Intercourſe with God, if it be kept up on our Part, ſhall be kept up on his, whatever we are. No place can exclude God's gracious Viſits: Angels come to Joſeph in Egypt, to Ezekiel in Babylon, and to John in Patmos. Now (1.) The Angel informs him of the Death of Herod, and his Accomplices: They are dead which ſought the young Child's Life. They are dead, but the young Child lives: Perſecuted Saints ſometimes live to tread upon the Graves of their Perſecutors. Thus did the Church's King weather this Storm, and many a one has the Church in like manner weather'd. They are dead, to wit, Herod and his Son Antipater, who though there were mutual Jealouſies between them, yet probably concurred in ſeeking the Deſtruction of this new King. If Herod firſt kill Antipater, and then dye himſelf, the Coaſts are clear'd, and the Lord is known by the Judgments which he executeth, when one wicked Inſtrument is the Ruin of another. (2.) He directs him what to do; He muſt go and return to the Land of Iſrael; and he did ſo without Delay, not pleading the tolerable good Settlement he had in Egypt, or the Inconveniences of the Journey, eſpecially if, as is ſuppoſed, 'twas in the Beginning of Winter that Herod died. God's People follow his Conduct wherever he leads them, wherever he lodges them. Did we but look upon the World, as our Egypt, the Place of our Bondage and Baniſhment, and Heaven only as our Canaan, our Home, our Reſt, we ſhould as readily ariſe and depart thither when we are call'd for, as Joſeph did out of Egypt.

3. The further Direction he had from God, which Way to ſteer, and where to fix in the Land of Iſrael, v. 22, 23. God could have given him theſe Inſtructions with the former, but God reveals his Mind to his People by Degrees, to keep them ſtill waiting on him, and expecting to hear further from him. Theſe Orders Joſeph received in a Dream, probably as thoſe before, by the Miniſtration of an Angel. God could have ſignified his Will to Joſeph by the Child Jeſus, but we do not find that in thoſe Removes, he either takes notice or gives notice of any thing that occurred; ſurely it was becauſe in all things it behoved him to be made like his Brethren; being a Child, he ſpake as a Child, and did as a Child, and drew a veil over his infinite Knowledge, and Power as a Child he increaſed in Wiſdom.

Now the Direction given this holy Royal Family is, (1.) That it might not ſettle in Judea, v. 22. Joſeph might think, that Jeſus being born in Bethlehem muſt be brought up there; yet is prudently afraid for the young Child, becauſe he heard that Archelaus reigns in Herod's ſtead, not over all the Kingdom as his Father did, but only over Judea, the other Provinces being put into other Hands. See what a Succeſſion of Enemies there is to fight againſt Chriſt and his Church. If one drop off another preſently appears, to keep up the old Enmity. But for this Reaſon Joſeph muſt not take the young Child into Judea. Note, God will not thruſt his Children into the Mouth of Danger, but when it is for his own Glory and their Tryal; for precious in the ſight of the Lord is the Life and Death of his Saints, precious is their Blood to him.

(2.) That it muſt ſettle in Galilee, v. 22. There Philip now rul'd, who was a mild quiet Man. Note, The Providence of God commonly ſo orders it, that his People ſhall not want a quiet Retreat from the Storm and from the Tempeſt; when one Climate becomes hot and ſcorching, another ſhall be kept more cool and temperate. Galilee lay far North, Samaria lay between it and Judea; thither they were ſent, to Nazareth, a City upon a Hill, in the Centre of the Lot of Zebulun; there the Mother of our Lord lived, when ſhe conceived that Holy Thing, and probably Joſeph liv'd there too, Luke 1. 26, 26. Thither they were ſent, for there they were well known, and were among their Relations; the moſt proper place for them to be in. There they continued, and from thence our Saviour was called Jeſus of Nazareth, which was to the Jews a ſtumbling-block, for can any good thing come out of Nazareth?

In this is ſaid to be fulfilled what was ſpoken by the Prophets, He ſhall be called a Nazarene; which may be looked upon (1.) As a Name of Honour and Dignity, though primarily it ſignifies no more but a Man of Nazareth, yet there is an Alluſion or Myſtery in it, ſpeaking Chriſt to be, (1.) The Man, the Branch ſpoken of, Iſa. 11. 1. Where the Word is Netſar, which ſignifies, either a Branch, or the City of Nazareth; in being denominated from that City, he is declared to be that Branch. (2.) It ſpeaks him to be the great Nazarite of whom the legal Nazarites were a Type and Figure, eſpecially Sampſon, Jud. 13. 5. and Joſeph who is call'd a Nazarite among his Brethren, Gen. 49. 26. And to whom that which was preſcrib'd concerning the Nazarites has Reference, Num. 6. 2. &c. not that Chriſt was ſtrictly a Nazarite, for he drank Wine, and touch'd dead Bodies; but he was eminently ſo, both as he was ſingularly holy, and as he was by a ſolemn Deſignation and Dedication ſet apart to Honour of God in the Work of our Redemption, as Sampſon was to ſave Iſrael: And 'tis a Name we have all Reaſon to rejoyce in, and to know him by.

Or 2. As a Name of Reproach and Contempt. To be called a Nazarene was to be called a deſpicable Man, a Man from whom no Good was to be expected, and to whom no Reſpect was to be paid. The Devil firſt faſten'd this Name upon Chriſt, to render him mean, and to prejudice People againſt him, and it ſtuck a Nick-Name to him and his Followers. Now this was not particularly foretold by any one Prophet, but in general it was ſpoken by the Prophets, that he ſhould be deſpiſed and rejected of Man, Iſa. 53. 2, 3. a Worm and no Man, Pſal. 22. 6, 7. that he ſhould be an Alien to his Brethren, Pſal. 69. 9, 10. Let no Name of Reproach for Religion's ſake ſeem hard to us, when our Maſter was himſelf call'd a Nazarene

CHAP. III.

At the Story of this Chapter, concerning the Baptiſm of John, begins the Goſpel, Mark 1. 1. what went before is but Preface, or Introduction; this is the Beginning of the Goſpel of Jeſus Chriſt. And Peter obſerves the ſame Date, Acts 1. 22. beginning from the Baptiſm of John, for then Chriſt began firſt to appear in him, and then to appear to him, and by him to the World. Here's 1. The glorious Riſing of the Morning-Star, John the Baptiſt, v. 1. (1.) The Doctrine he preached, v. 2. (2.) The fulfilling of the Scripture in him, v. 3. (3.) His Manner of Life, v. 4. (4.) The Reſort of Multitudes to him, and their Submiſſion to his Baptiſm, v. 5, 6. (5.) His Sermon that he Preached to the Phariſees and Sadduces, wherein he endeavours to bring them to Repentance, v. 7.–10. and ſo to bring them to Chriſt, v. 11, 12. 2. The more Glorious Shining forth of the Sun of Righteouſneſs immediately after; where we have (1.) The Honour done by him to the Baptiſm of John, v. 13.–15. (2.) The Honour done to him, by the Deſcent of the Spirit upon him, and a Voice from Heaven, v. 16, 17.

IN thoſe days came John the Baptiſt, preaching in the wilderneſs of Judea, 2 And ſaying, Repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand. 3 For this is he that was ſpoken of by the prophet Eſaias, ſaying, The voice of one crying in the wilderneſs, prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths ſtraight. 4 And the ſame John had his raiment of camels hair, and a leathern girdle about his loyns; and his meat was locuſts and wild honey. 5 Then went out to him Jeruſalem, and all Judea, and all the region round about Jordan. 6 And were baptized of him in Jordan, confeſſing their ſins.

We have here an Account of the Preaching and Baptiſm of John, which was the Dawning of the Goſpel Day. Obſerve,

1. The Time when he appear'd: In thoſe days, v. 1. or after thoſe Days, long after what was recorded in the foregoing Chapter, which left the Child Jeſus in his Infancy. In thoſe Days, i. e. in the Time appointed of the Father for the Beginning of the Goſpel, when the Fulneſs of Time was come, which was often thus ſpoken of in the Old Teſtament, in thoſe Days. Now the laſt of Daniel's Weeks began, or rather the latter half of the laſt Week, when the Meſſiah was to confirm the Covenant with many, Dan. 9. 27. Chriſt's Appearances are all in their Seaſons. Glorious Thing were ſpoken both of John and Jeſus, at, and before their Births, which would have given Occaſion to expect ſome extraordinary Appearances of a Divine Preſence and Power with them when they were very young; but 'tis quite otherwiſe. Except Chriſt's diſputing with the Doctors at Twelve Years old, nothing appears remarkable concerning either of them, till they were about thirty Years old. Nothing is recorded of their Childhood and Youth, but the greateſt part of their Life is Tempus ἄδηλον, 'tis wrapt up in Darkneſs and Obſcurity: Theſe Children differ little in outward Appearance from other Children, as the Heir while he is under Age differs nothing from a Servant, though he be Lord of all. And this was to ſhew (1.) That even then when God is acting as the God of Iſrael, the Saviour, yet verily he is a God that hideth himſelf, Iſa. 45. 15. The Lord is in this place, and I knew it not, Gen. 28. 16. Our Beloved ſtands behind the Wall long before he looks forth at the Windows, Cant. 2. 9. (2.) That our Faith muſt principally have an eye to Chriſt in his Office and Underaking, for there is the Diſplay of his Power; but in his Perſon is the hiding of his Power. All this while Chriſt was God-Man, yet we are not told, what he ſaid or did, till he appear'd as a Prophet, and then hear ye him. (3.) That Young Men, though well qualified, ſhould not be forward to put forth themſelves in publick Service, but be humble and modeſt, and ſelf-diffident, ſwift to hear, and ſlow to ſpeak.

Matthew ſaith nothing of Conception and Birth of John the Baptiſt, which is largely related by St. Luke, but finds him at full Age, as if dropt from the Clouds to preach in the Wilderneſs. For above three Hundred Years the Church had been without Prophets; thoſe Lights had been long put out, that he might be the more deſir'd, who was to be the great Prophet. After Malachi there was no Prophet, nor any Pretender to Prophecy, till John the Baptiſt, to whom therefore the Prophet Malachi points more directly, than any of the Old Teſtament Prophets had done, Mal. 3. 1. I ſend my Meſſenger.

2. The Place where he appear'd firſt: In the Wilderneſs of Judea. 'Twas not an uninhabited Deſart, but a Part of the Country not ſo thick Peopled, nor ſo much incloſed into Fields and Vineyards, as other Parts were; it was ſuch a Wilderneſs as had 6 Cities and their Villages in it, which are nam'd, Joſh. 15. 61. 62. In theſe Cities and Villages John preach'd, for thereabouts he had hitherto liv'd being born hard by in Hebron. The Scenes of his Action began there, where he had long ſpent his Time in Contemplation, and even when he ſhew'd himſelf to Iſrael, he ſhew'd how well he lov'd Retirement, as far as would conſiſt with his Buſineſs. The Word of the Lord found John here in a Wilderneſs. Note, No Place is ſo remote as to ſhut us out from the Viſits of Divine Grace; nay, commonly the ſweeteſt Intercourſe the Saints have with Heaven is, when they are withdrawn furtheſt from the Noiſe of this World. It was in this Wilderneſs of Judah, that David penn'd the 63*d Pſalm*, which ſpeaks ſo much of the ſweet Communion he then had with God, Hoſ. 2. 14. In a Wilderneſs the Law was given, and as the Old Teſtament, ſo the New Teſtament-Iſrael was firſt found in a Deſart Land, and there God led him about and inſtructed him, 1 Deut. 32. 10. John Baptiſt was a Prieſt of the Order of Aaron, yet we find him preaching in a Wilderneſs, and never officiating in the Temple; but Chriſt who was not a Son of Aaron, yet is often found in the Temple, and ſitting there as one having Authority; ſo it was foretold, Mat. 3. 1. The Lord whom ye ſeek ſhall ſuddenly come to his Temple, not the Meſſenger that was to prepare his Way. This intimated that the Prieſthood of Chriſt was to thruſt out that of Aaron, and drive it into a Wilderneſs.

The Beginning of the Goſpel in a Wilderneſs, ſpeaks Comfort to the Deſarts of the Gentile World. Now muſt the Prophecies be fulfilled, I will plant in the Wilderneſs the Cedar, Iſa. 41. 18, 19. The Wilderneſs ſhall be a fruitful Field, Iſa. 32. 15. And the Deſart ſhall rejoyce, Iſa. 32. 1, 2. which the Septuagint read, the Deſarts of Jordan, the very Wilderneſs in which John preach'd. In the Romiſh Church there are thoſe who call themſelves Hermites, and pretend to follow John, but when they ſay of Chriſt, Behold he is in the Deſart, go not forth, Mat. 24. 26. There was a Seducer that led his Followers into the Wilderneſs, Heb. 21. 3.

3. His Preaching. This he made his Buſineſs: He came not fighting, not diſputing, but preaching, v. 1. for by the fooliſhneſs of Preaching Chriſt's Kingdom muſt be ſet up.

(1.) The Doctrine he preach'd, was that of Repentance, v. 2. Repent ye. He preach'd this in Judea, among thoſe that were called Jews, and made a Profeſſion of Religion; for even they need Repentance. He preached it not in Jeruſalem, but in the Wilderneſs of Judea, among the plain Country People; for even thoſe that think themſelves moſt out of the Way of Temptation, and furtheſt from the Vanities and Vices of the Town, yet cannot waſh their Hands in Innocency, but muſt do it in Repentance. John Baptiſt's Buſineſs was to call Men to repent of their Sins; μετανοεῖτε, bethink your ſelves, admit a ſecond Thought to correct the Errors of the firſt; an After-Thought: conſider your Ways, change your Minds; you have thought amiſs, think again, and think aright. Note, True Penitents have other Thoughs of God and Chriſt, and Sin and Holineſs, and this World and the other, than they have had, and ſtand otherwiſe affected towards them. The Change of the Mind produceth a Change of the Way. Thoſe who are truly ſorry for what they have done amiſs, will be careful to do ſo no more. This Repentance is a neceſſary Duty in Obedience to the Command of God, Acts 17. 30. and a neceſſary Preparative and Qualification for the Comforts of the Goſpel of Chriſt. If the Heart of Man had continued upright and unſtained, Divine Conſolations might have been receiv'd without this painful Operation proceeding, but being ſinful, it muſt be firſt pain'd before it can be laid at eaſe; muſt labour before it can be at reſt, The Sore muſt be ſearch'd, or it cannot be cur'd. I wound, and I heal.

(2.) The Argument us'd to enforce this Call was, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. The Prophets of the Old Teſtament call'd People to repent, for the obtaining and ſecuring of temporal National Mercies, and for the preventing and removing of temporal National Judgments: but now though the Duty preſſed is the ſame, the Reaſon is new, and purely Evangelical. Men are now conſider'd in their perſonal Capacity, and not ſo much as then in a ſocial and political one. Now, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, i. e. the Goſpel Diſpenſation of the Covenant of Grace, the opening of the Kingdom of Heaven to all Believers, by the Death and Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt. 'Tis a Kingdom which Chriſt is the Sovereign of, and we muſt be the willing loyal Subjects of. 'Tis a Kingdom of Heaven, not of this World, a ſpiritual Kingdom; its Original from Heaven, its Tendency to Heaven. John preached this at hand, then it was at the Door; to us it is come, by the pouring out of the Spirt, and the full exhibiting of the Riches of Goſpel Grace. Now (1.) This is a great Inducement to us to repent: Nothing like the Conſideration of divine Grace to break the Heart, both for Sin, and from Sin. That's Evangelical Repentance that flows from a ſight of Chriſt, from a Senſe of his Love, and the Hopes of Pardon and Forgiveneſs thro' him. Kindneſs is conquering, abuſed Kindneſs humbling and melting. What a Wretch was I to ſin againſt ſuch Grace! againſt the Law and Love of ſuch a Kingdom! (2.) It is a great Encouragement to us to repent; Repent, for your Sins ſhall be pardon'd upon your Repentance. Return to God in a Way of Duty, and he will through Chriſt return to you in a Way of Mercy. The Proclamation of Pardon diſcovers and fetcheth in the Malefactor that before fled and abſconded. Thus are we drawn to it with the Cords of a Man, and the Bands of Love.

4. The Prophecy that was fulfilled in him, v. 3. This is he that was ſpoken of in the Beginning of that part of the Prophecy of Eſaias, which is moſtly Evangelical, and which points at Goſpel Times, and Goſpel Grace, Iſa. 40. 3, 4. John is here ſpoken of,

(1.) As the Voice of one crying in the Wilderneſs. John own'd it himſelf, John 1. 23. I am the Voice, and that's all; God is the Speaker, who maketh known his mind by John, as a Man doth by his Voice. The Word of God muſt be received as ſuch, 1 Theſſ. 2. 13. What elſe is Paul, and what is Apollos, but the Voice? John is called the Voice, Φωνὴ βοῶντος, the Voice of one crying aloud, which is ſtartling and awakening; Chriſt is called the Word, which being diſtinct and articulate, is more inſtructive: John as the Voice rous'd Men, and then Chriſt as the Word taught them; as we find, Rev. 14. 2. The Voice of many Waters, and of a great Thunder, make way for the melodious Voice of Harpers, and the New Song, v. 3. Some obſerve, that as Sampſon's Mother muſt drink no Strong Drink, yet he was deſign'd to be a ſtrong Man, ſo John Baptiſt's Father was ſtruck dumb, and yet he was deſign'd to be the Voice of one crying. When the Cryer's Voice is begotten of a dumb Father, it ſhews the Excellency of the Power to be of God, and not of Man.

(2.) As one whoſe Buſineſs it was to prepare the Way of the Lord, and to make his Path ſtrait; ſo it was ſaid of him before he was born, that he ſhould make ready a People prepared for the Lord, Luke 1. 17. As Chriſt's Harbinger and Forerunner, and ſuch a one as intimated the Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom, for he came not in the gaudy Dreſs of a Herald at Arms, but the homely one of a Hermit. Officers are ſent before great Men to clear the Way, ſo John prepares the Way of the Lord. (1.) He himſelf did ſo among the Men of that Generation. In the Jewiſh Church and Nation at that time all was out of Courſe; there was a great Decay of Piety, the Vitals of Religion were Corrupted and eaten out by the Traditions and Injunctions of the Elders. The Scribes and Phariſees, that is, the greateſt Hypocrites in the World, had the Key of Knowledge, and the Key of Government at their Girdle. The People were generally extreme proud of their Privileges, confident of Juſtification by their own Righteouſneſs, unſenſible of Sin, and though now under the moſt humbling Providences, being lately made a Province of the Roman Empire, yet were unhumbled: They were much in the ſame Temper that they were in in Malachi's Time, inſolent and haughty, and ready to contradict the Word of God: Now John was ſent to level theſe Mountains, to take down their high Opinion of themſelves, and to ſhew them their Sins, that the Doctrine of Chriſt muſt be the more acceptable and effectual. (2.) His Doctrine of Repentance and Humiliations, is ſtill as neceſſary as it was then to prepare the Way of the Lord. Note, There is a great deal to be done to make way for Chriſt into a Soul, to bow the Heart for the Reception of the Son of David, 2 Sam. 19. 14. and nothing more needful, in order to this, than the Diſcovery of Sin, and a Conviction of the Inſufficiency of our own Righteouſneſs. That which letteth will lett, until it be taken out of the way; Prejudices muſt be remov'd, high Thoughts brought down, and captivated to the Obedience of Chriſt. Gates of Braſs muſt be broken, and Bars of Iron cut aſunder, e'er the everlaſting Doors be open'd for the King of Glory to come in. The way of Sin and Satan is a crooked way; to prepare a Way for Chriſt, the Paths muſt be made ſtrait, Heb. 12. 13.

5. The Garb in which he appear'd, the Figure he made, and the manner of Life he liv'd, v, 4. They that expected the Meſſiah as a temporal Prince, would think his Forerunner muſt come in great Pomp and Splendor, that his Equipage ſhould be very magnificent and gay, but it proves quite contrary, he ſhall be great in the ſight of the Lord, but mean in the Eye of the World; and as Chriſt himſelf having no Form or Comelineſs, to intimate betimes, that the Glory of Chriſt's Kingdom was to be ſpiritual, and the Subjects of it ſuch as ordinarily were, either found by it, or made by it poor and deſpis'd, and had their Honours, Pleaſures, and Riches deriv'd from another World.

1. His Dreſs was plain. This ſame John had his Raiment of Camel's Hair, and a leathern Girdle about his Loins; he did not go in long Clothing, as the Scribes, or ſoft Clothing, as the Courtiers, but in the Clothing of a Country-huſbandman, for he liv'd in a Country-place, and ſuited his Habit to his Habitation. Note, It is good for us to accommodate ourſelves to the Place and Condition, which God in his Providence has put us in. John appear'd in this Dreſs, (1.) to ſhew that, like Jacob, he was a plain Man, and mortified to this World, and the Delights and Gaities of it. Behold an Iſraelite indeed. Thoſe that are lowly in Heart, ſhould ſhew it by a holy Negligence, and Indifference in their Attire, and not make the putting on of Apparel their Adorning, nor value others by their Attire. (2.) To ſhew that he was a Prophet, for Prophets wore rough Garments, as mortified men, Zech. 13. 4. And eſpecially to ſhew that he was the Elias promis'd, for particular notice is taken of Elias, that he was a hairy Man (which ſome think is meant of the hairy Garments he wore) and that he was girt with a Girdle of Leather about his Loins, 2 Kings 1. 18. John Baptiſt appears no way inferior to him in Mortification; this therefore is that Elias that was to come. (3.) To ſhew that he was a Man of Reſolution; his Girdle was not fine, ſuch as were then commonly worn, but it was ſtrong, 'twas a leathern Girdle; and bleſſed is that Servant, whom his Lord, when he comes, finds with his Loins girt, Luke 12. 35. 1 Pet. 1. 13.

2. His Diet was plain, his Meat was Locuſts and wild Honey; not as if he never eat any thing elſe, but theſe he frequently fed upon, and made many a Meals-meat of when he retired into ſolitary Places, and continued long there for Contemplation; Locuſts were a ſort of flying Inſect, very good for Food, and allow'd as clean, Lev. 11. 22. it requir'd little Dreſſing, and was light and eaſy of Digeſtion, whence it is reckon'd among the Infirmities of old Age, that the Graſshopper or Locuſt is then a Burthen to the Stomach, Eccl. 12. 5. Wild Honey was that which Canaan flow'd with, 1 Sam. 14. 26. Either it was gather'd immediately as it fell in the Dew, or rather as it was found in the hollows of Trees and Rocks, where Bees built that were not as thoſe in Hives, under the Care and Inſpection of Men. This intimates that he eat ſparingly, a little ſerv'd his turn; a Man would be long e'er he fill'd his Belly with Locuſts and wild Honey, John Baptiſt came neither Eating nor Drinking, Mat. 11. 18. Not with that Curioſity, Formality, and Familiarity that other People do. He was ſo intirely taken up with Spiritual Things, that he could ſeldom find time for a ſet Meal. Now (1.) This agreed with the Doctrine he Preached of Repentance, and Fruits meet for Repentance. Note, Thoſe whoſe buſineſs it is to call others to mourn for Sin, and to mortifie it, ought themſelves to live a ſerious Life, a Life of ſelf-denial, Mortification, and Contempt of the World. John Baptiſt thus ſhew'd the deep Senſe he had of the badneſs of the Time and Place he liv'd in, which made the Preaching of Repentance needful; every Day was a Faſt-day with him. (2.) This agreed with his Office as Chriſt's Forerunner; by this Practice he ſhew'd that he knew what the Kingdom of Heaven was, and had experienc'd the Powers of it. Note, Thoſe that are acquainted with Divine and Spiritual Pleaſures, cannot but look upon all the Delights and Ornaments of Senſe with a holy Indifferency, they know better things. By giving others this Example, he made way for Chriſt. Note, A Conviction of the Vanity of the World, and every thing in it, is the beſt Preparative for the Entertainment of the Kingdom of Heaven in the Heart. Bleſſed are the Poor in Spirit.

6. The People that attended upon him, and flock'd after him, v. 5 Then went out to him Jeruſalem, and all Judea. Great Multitudes came to him from the City, and from all parts of the Country; ſome of all ſorts, Men and Women, Young and Old, Rich and Poor, Phariſees and Publicans, they went out to him as ſoon as they heard of his Preaching the Kingdom of Heaven, that they might hear what they heard ſo much of. Now (1.) This was a great Honour put upon John, that ſo many attended him, and with ſo much Reſpect. Note, Many times thoſe have moſt real Honour done them, that leaſt court the Shadow of it. Thoſe that live a mortified Life, that are Humble and Self-denying, and dead to the World, command Reſpect, and Men have a ſecret Value and Reverence for them, more than one would imagine. (2.) This gave John a great Opportunity of doing Good, and was an Evidence that God was with him. Now People begin to crowd and preſs into the Kingdom of Heaven, Luke 16. 16. and a bleſſed ſight it was to ſee the Dew of the Youth dropping from the Womb of the Goſpel-Morning, Pſal. 110. 3. To ſee the Net caſt were there were ſo many Fiſh. (3.) This was an Evidence, that now was a Time of great expectation; it was generally thought that the Kingdom of God ſhould preſently appear, Luke 19. 11. And therefore when John ſhew'd himſelf to Iſrael, liv'd and preach'd at this rate, ſo very different from the Scribes and Phariſees, they were ready to ſay of him, that he was the Chriſt, Luke 3. 15. And this occaſion'd ſuch a Confluence of People about him. (4.) Thoſe that would have the Benefit of John's Miniſtry, muſt go out to him to the Wilderneſs, ſharing in his Reproach. Note, They who truly deſire the Sincere Milk of the Word, if it be not brought to them, will go ſeek out for it. And they who would learn the Doctrine of Repentance, muſt go out from the Hurry of this World, and be ſtill. (5.) It appears by the Iſſue, that of the many that came to John's Baptiſm, there were but few that ſtuck to it; witneſs the cold Reception Chriſt had in Judea, and about Jeruſalem. Note. There may be a Multitude of forward Hearers, where there are but a few true Believers, Curioſity, Affectation of Novelty and Variety, may bring many to attend upon good Preaching, and to be affected with it for a while, who yet are never ſubject to the Power of it, Ezek. 33. 31, 32.

7. The Rite or Ceremony by which he admitted Diſciples, v. 6. Thoſe that receiv'd his Doctrine, and ſubmitted to his Diſcipline, were Baptized of him in Jordan, thereby profeſſing their Repentance, and their Belief, that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah was at hand. (1.) They teſtified their Repentance by confeſſing their Sins; a general Confeſſion, 'tis probable they made to John, that they were Sinners, that they were polluted by Sin, and needed cleanſing, but to God they made a Confeſſion of particular Sins, for he is the Party offended. The Jews had been taught to juſtifie themſelves, but John teacheth them to accuſe themſelves, and not reſt, as they us'd to do, in the general Confeſſion of Sin, made for all Iſrael once a Year upon the Day of Atonement, but to make a particular Acknowledgment, every one, of the Plague of his own Heart. Note, A penitent Confeſſion of Sin is requir'd, in order to Peace and Pardon; and thoſe only are ready to receive Jeſus Chriſt as their Righteouſneſs, who are brought with Sorrow and Shame to own their Guilt, 1 John 1. 8. (2.) The Benefits of the Kingdom of Heaven now at hand, were thereupon ſeal'd to them by Baptiſm. He waſh'd them with Water in token of this, that from all their Iniquities God would cleanſe them. It was uſual with the Jews to baptize thoſe whom they admitted Proſelytes to their Religion, eſpecially thoſe who were only Proſelytes of the Gate, and were not Circumcis'd as the Proſelytes of Righteouſneſs were. Some think it was likewiſe a Cuſtom for Perſons of eminent Religion, that ſet up for Leaders, by Baptiſm to admit Pupils and Diſciples. Chriſt's Queſtion concerning John's Baptiſm, was it from Heaven or of Men imply'd that there were Baptiſms of Men, who pretended not to a Divine Miſſion; with this Uſage John complied, but his was from Heaven, and was diſtinguiſh'd from all others, with this Character, 'twas the Baptiſm of Repentance, Acts 19. 4. All Iſrael were Baptized into Moſes, 1 Cor. 10. 2. The Ceremonial Law conſiſting in divers Waſhings, or Baptiſms, Heb. 9. 10. But John's Baptiſm refers to the remedial Law, the Law of Repentance, and Faith. He is ſaid to Baptize them in Jordan, that River which was famous for Iſrael's Paſſage through it, and Naaman's Cure, yet 'tis probable, John did not Baptize in that River at firſt, but afterwards, when the People that came to his Baptiſm were numerous, he removed to Jordan. By Baptiſm he obliged them to live a holy Life, according to the Profeſſion they took upon themſelves. Note, Confeſſion of Sin muſt always be accompanied with holy Reſolutions in the Strength of Divine Grace, not to return to it again.

7 But when he ſaw many of the Phariſees and Sad-duces come to his baptiſm, he ſaid unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come? 8 Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance. 9 And think not to ſay within yourſelves, We have Abraham to our father: for I ſay unto you, that God is able of theſe ſtones to raiſe up children unto Abraham. 10 And now alſo the ax is laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth fruit, is hewn down and caſt into the fire. 11 I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but he that cometh after me, is mightier then I, whoſe ſhoes I am not worthy to bear:
he ſhall baptize you with the holy Ghoſt, and with fire.
12 Whoſe fan is in his hand, and he will throughly purge his floor, and gather his wheat into the garner:
but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.

The Doctrine John Preach'd, was that of Repentance, in conſideration of the Kingdom of Heaven, at hand; now here we have the Uſe of that Doctrine. Application is the Life of Preaching, ſo it was of John's Preaching.

Obſerve, 1. To whom he applyed it; to the Phariſees and Sadduces that came to his Baptiſm, v. 7. To others, he thought it enough to ſay, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; but when he ſaw theſe Phariſees and Sadduces come about him, he found it neceſſary to explain himſelf, and deal more cloſely. Theſe were two of the three noted Sects among the Jews at that time; the third was that of the Eſſenes, whom we never read of in the Goſpels, for they affected Retirement, and declin'd buſying themſelves in publick Action. The Phariſees were Zealots for the Ceremonies, for the Power of the Church, and the Traditions of the Elders; the Sadduces run into the other Extreme, and were little better than Deiſts, denying the Exiſtence of Spirits, and a future State, 'Twas ſtrange that they came to John's Baptiſm, but their Curioſity brought them to be Hearers; and ſome of them, 'tis probable, ſubmitted to be baptiz'd, but 'tis certain the generality of them did not; for Chriſt ſaith, Luke 7. 29, 30. That when the Publicans juſtified God, and were Baptized of John, the Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Council of God againſt themſelves, and being not Baptized of him. Note, Many come to Ordinances that come not under the Power of them. Now to them John here addreſſeth himſelf with all Faithfulneſs, and what he ſaid to them, he ſaid to the Multitude, Luke 3. 7. for they were all concern'd in what he ſaid. 2. What the Application was, 'tis plain and home, and directed to their Conſciences; he ſpeaks as one that came not to Preach before them, but to Preach to them. Tho' this Education was private, he was not baſhful when he appear'd in Publick, nor fear'd the Face of Man, for he was full of the Holy Ghoſt, and of Power.

1. Here's a Word of Conviction and Awakening. He begins harſhly, calls them not Rabbi, gives them not the Titles, much leſs the Applauſes they had been us'd to. (1.) The Title he gives them is, O Generation of Vipers! Chriſt gave them the ſame Title, Mat. 12. 34. 23. 33. They were as Vipers, tho' ſpecious, yet venomous and poiſonous, and full of Malice and Enmity to every thing that was good; they were a Viperous Brood, the Seed and Off-ſpring of ſuch as had been of the ſame Spirit, 'twas bred in the Bone with them. They gloried in it, that they were the Seed of Abraham, but John ſhew'd them, that they were the Srepent's Seed; compare Gen. 3. 15. of their Father the Devil, John 8. 44. They were a Viperous Gang, they were all alike; tho' Enemies to one another, yet Confederate in Miſchief. Note, A wicked Generation is a Generation of Vipers, and they ought to be told ſo; it becomes the Miniſters of Chriſt to be bold in ſhewing Sinners their true Character.

(2.) The Alarm he gives them is, Who has warned you to flee from the Wrath to come? This intimates that they were in danger of the Wrath to come, and that their Caſe was ſo near to deſperate, and their Hearts ſo hardned in Sin, the Phariſees by their Shews of Religion, and the Sadduces by their Arguments againſt Religion, that it was next to a Miracle to ſee any hopes of them: What brings you hither? Who thought of ſeeing you here? What Fright have you been put into, that you enquire after the Kingdom of Heaven? Note, 1. There is a Wrath to come, beſides preſent Wrath, the Vials of which are pour'd out now; there's future Wrath, the Stores of which are treaſur'd up for hereafter. 2. It is the great Concern of every one of us to flee from that Wrath. 3. It is wonderful Mercy that we are fairly warn'd to flee from this Wrath; think, who has warned us? God has warn'd us, who delights not in our Ruin; he warns by the written Word, by Miniſters, by Conſcience. 4. Theſe Warnings ſometimes ſtartle thoſe that ſeemed to have been very much hardened in their Security, and good Opinion of themſelves.

2. Here's a Word of Exhortation and Direction, v. 8. Bring forth therefore Fruits meet for Repentance. Therefore, becauſe you are warn'd to flee from the Wrath to come, let the Terrors of the Lord perſwade you to a holy Life. Or, therefore, becauſe you profeſs Repentance, and attend upon the Doctrine, and Baptiſm of Repentance, evidence that you are true Penitents; Repentance is ſeated in the Heart. There it is as a Root; but in vain do we pretend to have it there, if we do not bring forth the Fruits of it in a univerſal Reformation, forſaking all Sin, and cleaving to that which is good; theſe are Fruits ἀξίους τῆς μετανοίας, worthy of Repentance. Note, Thoſe are not worthy the Name of Penitents, nor their Privileges, who ſay they are ſorry for their Sins, and yet prefiſt in them. They that profeſs Repentance, as all that are Baptized do, muſt be, and act as becomes Penitents, and never do any thing unbecoming a Penitent Sinner, It becomes Penitents to be humble, and low in their own Eyes, to be thankful for the leaſt Mercy, patient under the greateſt Affliction, to be watchful againſt all Appearances of Sin, and Approaches towards it, to abound in every Duty, and to be charitable in judging others.

3. Here's a Word of Caution, not to truſt to their external Privileges, ſo as with them to ſhift off theſe Calls to Repentance, v. 9. Think not to ſay within your ſelves, we have Abraham to our Father. Note, There is a great deal which carnal Hearts are apt to ſay within themſelves, to put by the convincing commanding Power of the Word of God, which Miniſters ſhould labour to meet with, and anticipate; vain Thoughts which lodge within thoſe who are call'd to waſh their Hearts, Jer. 4. 14. Μὴ δόξητε Pretend not, preſume not to ſay within our ſelves; be not of the Opinion, that this will ſave you, harbour not ſuch a Conceit. Pleaſe not your ſelves with ſaying this; ſo ſome read it; rock not your ſelves a-ſleep with this, nor flatter your ſelves into a Fool's Paradiſe. Note, God takes notice what we ſay within our ſelves, which we dare not ſpeak out, and is acquainted with all the falſe Reſts of the Soul, and the Fallacies with which it deludes it ſelf, but will not diſcover them, leſt it ſhould be undeceiv'd. Many hide the Lye that runs them in their Right-hand, and roll it under their Tongue, becauſe they are aſham'd to own it; they keep in the Devil's Intereſt, by keeping the Devil's Councel. Now John ſhews them.

1. What their Pretence was; We have Abraham to our Father; we are not Sinners of the Gentiles, it is fit indeed they ſhould be call'd to Repent; but we are Jews, a holy Nation, a peculiar People, what is this to us? Note, The World doth us no good, when we will not take it as ſpoken to us, and belonging to us; think not that becauſe you are the Seed of Abraham, therefore (1.) you need not Repent, you have nothing to Repent of; your Relation to Abraham, and your Intereſt in the Covenant made with him, denominates you ſo Holy, that there's no occaſion for you to change your Mind or Way. (2.) That therefore you ſhall fare well enough, tho' you do not Repent; think not that this will bring you off in the Judgments, and ſecure you from the Wrath to come; that God will connive at your Impenitency, becauſe you are Abraham's Seed. Note, It is vain Preſumption, to think that our having good Relations will ſave us, tho' we be not good our ſelves. What tho' we be deſcended from pious Anceſtors, have been bleſs'd with a Religious Education, have our Lot caſt in Families where the Fear of God is uppermoſt, and have good Friends that Adviſe us, and Pray for us, what will all this avail us, if we do not Repent, and live a Life of Repentance? We have Abraham to our Father, and therefore are entitled to the Privileges of the Covenant made with him, being his Seed, we are Sons of the Church, the Temple of the Lord, Jer. 7. 4. Note, Multitudes by reſting in the Honours and Advantages of the viſible Church-memberſhip, take up ſhort of Heaven.

2. How fooliſh and groundleſs this Pretence was; they thought that being the Seed of Abraham, they were the only People God had in the World, and therefore if they were cut off, he would be at a loſs for a Church; but John ſhews them the Folly of this Conceit, I ſay unto you (whatever you ſay within your ſelves) that God is able of theſe Stones to raiſe up Children unto Abraham. He was now Baptizing in Jordan at Bethabara, John 1. 28. The Houſe of Paſſage, where the Children of Iſrael paſſed over, and there were the twelve Stones, one for each Tribe, which Joſhua ſet up for a Memorial, Joſh. 4. 20. 'Tis not unlikely that he pointed to thoſe Stones, which God could make to be more than in Repreſentation the twelve Tribes of Iſrael. Or, perhaps, he refers to Iſa. 51. 12. where Abraham is call'd the Rock, out of which they were hewn. That God who rais'd Iſaac out of ſuch a Rock, can, if there be occaſion, do as much again, for with him nothing is impoſſible. Some think he pointed to thoſe Heathen-Soldiers that were preſent, telling the Jews that God would raiſe up a Church for himſelf among the Gentiles, and entail the Bleſſing of Abraham upon them. Thus when our firſt Parents fell, God could have left them to periſh, and out of Stones have rais'd up another Adam, and another Eve: Or take it thus; Stones themſelves ſhall be own'd as Abraham's Seed, rather than ſuch hard, dry, barren Sinners as you are. Note, As it is lowering to the Confidence of the Sinners in Zion, ſo it is encouraging to the Fears of the Sons of Zion, that whatever comes of the preſent Generation, God will never want a Church in the World; if the Jews fall off, the Gentiles ſhall be grafted in, Mat. 21. 43. Rom. 11. 12.

4. Here's a Word of Terror to the Careleſs and Secure Phariſees and Sadduces, and other the Jews, that knew not the Signs of the Times, nor the Day of their Viſitation, v. 10. Now look about you, now the Kingdom of God is at hand, and be made ſenſible.

1. How ſtrict and ſhort your Tryal is; now the Axe is carried before you, now it is laid to the Root of the Tree, now you are upon your good Behaviour and are to be ſo but a while; now you are mark'd for Ruin, and cannot avoid it but by a ſpeedy and ſincere Repentance. Now you muſt expect that God will make quicker work with you by his Judgments than he did formerly, and that they will begin at the Houſe of God: where God allows more Means, he allows leſs Time. Behold, I come quickly. Now they were put upon their laſt Tryal: Now, or Never.

2. How ſore and ſevere your Doom will be, if you do not improve this. 'Tis now declar'd, with the Axe at the Root, to ſhew that God is in earneſt in the Declaration, that every Tree tho' never ſo high in Gifts and Honours, tho' never ſo green in External Profeſſions and Performances, if it bring not forth good Fruit, the Fruits meet for Repentance, it is hewn down, diſown'd as a Tree in God's Vineyard, unworthy to have a Room there, and is caſt into the Fire of God's Wrath. The fitteſt place for barren Trees; what elſe are they good for? If not fit for Fruit, they are fit for Fuel. Probably, this refers to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Romans, which was not as other Judgments had been, like the lopping off of the Branches, or cutting down the Body of the Tree, leaving the Root to bud again, but it would be the total, final, and irrecoverable Extirpation of that People, in which all thoſe ſhould periſh that continued Impenitent. Now God will make a full End, Wrath was coming on them to the utmoſt.

5. A Word of Inſtruction concerning Jeſus Chriſt, in whom all John's Preaching center'd; Chriſt's Miniſters Preach not themſelves, but him. Here's

1. The Dignity and Preheminence of Chriſt above John. See how meanly he ſpeaks of himſelf, that he might magnify Chriſt, v. 11. I indeed Baptize you with Water, that's the utmoſt I can do. Note, Sacraments derive not their Efficacy from thoſe that Adminiſter them, they can only apply the Sign, 'tis Chriſt's Prerogative to give the thing ſignified, 1 Cor. 3. 6. 2 Kings 4. 31. But he that comes after me is mightier than I. Tho' John had much Power, for he came in the Spirit and Power of Elias, Chriſt had more; tho' John was truly Great, great in the ſight of the Lord, not a greater born of Women, yet he thinks himſelf unworthy to be in the meaneſt Place of Attendance upon Chriſt, whoſe Shoes I am not worthy to bear. He ſees (1.) How Mighty Chriſt is in compariſon with him. Note, It is a great Comfort to faithful Miniſters, to think that Jeſus Chriſt is Mightier than they, can do that for them, and that by them, which they cannot do; his Strength is perfected in their Weakneſs. (2.) How mean he is, in compariſion of Chriſt, not worthy to carry his Shoes after him. Note, Thoſe whom God puts Honour upon, are thereby made very humble and low in their own Eyes; willing to be abaſed, ſo that Chriſt may be magnified, to be any thing, to be nothing, ſo that Chriſt may be All.

2. The Deſign and Intention of Chriſt's Appearing, which they were now ſpeedily to expect; when it was Propheſied, that John ſhould be ſent as Chriſt's Forerunner, Mal. 3. 1, 2. It immediately follows, The Lord whom ye ſeek ſhall ſuddenly come, and ſhall ſit as a Refiner, v. 3. And after the coming of Elijah, the Day comes that ſhall burn as an Oven, Mal. 4: 13. To which the Baptiſm ſeems here to refer; Chriſt will come to make a Diſtinction.

1. By the powerful working of his Grace, he ſhall Baptize you, i. e. ſome of you with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Fire. Note, 1. It is Chriſt's Prerogative to Baptize with the Holy Ghoſt. This he did in the extraordinary Gifts of the Spirit conferr'd upon the Apoſtles; to which Chriſt himſelf applies theſe words of John, Acts 1. 5. This he doth in the Graces and Comforts of the Spirit, given to them that aſk him, Luke 11. 13. John 7. 38. 39. See Acts 11. 16. 2. Thoſe that are Baptiz'd with the Holy Ghoſt, are Baptiz'd as with Fire; the ſeven Spirits of God appear as ſeven Lamps of Fire, Rev. 4. 5. Is Fire enlightening? ſo the Spirit is a Spirit of Illumination? Is it warming? And do not their Hearts burn within them? Is it conſuming? And doth not the Spirit of Judgment, as a Spirit of burning, conſume the Droſs of their Corruptions? Doth Fire make all it ſeizeth like it ſelf? And doth it move upwards? ſo doth the Spirit make the Soul Holy, like it ſelf, and its Tendency is Heaven-wards. Chriſt ſaith, I am come to ſend Fire, Luke 12. 49.

2. By the final Determinations of his Judgment, v. 12. Whoſe Fan is in his Hand. His Ability to diſtinguiſh, as the Eternal Wiſdom of the Father, who ſees all by a true Light, and his Authority to diſtinguiſh, as the Perſon to whom all Judgment is committed, is the Fan that is in his Hand, Jer. 15. 7. Now he ſits as a Refiner. Obſerve here, (1.) That the viſible Church is Chriſt's Floor; O my threſhing the Corn of my Floor, Iſa. 21. 10. The Temple, a Type of the Church, was built upon a Threſhing-floor. (2.) In this Floor there is a mixture of Wheat and Chaff; true Believers are as Wheat, ſubſtantial, uſeful, and valuable; Hypocrites are as Chaff, light and empty, uſeleſs and worthleſs, and carried about with every Wind; theſe are now mix'd, good and bad under the ſame external Profeſſion, and in the ſame viſible Communion. (3.) There is a Day coming, when the Floor ſhall be purged, and the Wheat and Chaff ſhall be ſeparated. Something of this kind is often done in this World, when God calls his People out of Babylon, Rev. 18. 4. But 'tis the Day of the laſt Judgment, that will be the great winnowing diſtinguiſhing day, which will infallibly determine concerning Doctrines and Works, 1 Cor. 3. 13. And concerning Perſons, Matt. 25. 32, 33. when Saints and Sinners ſhall be parted for ever. (4.) Heaven is the Garner, into which Jeſus Chriſt will ſhortly gather all his Wheat, and not a Grain of it ſhall be loſt. He will gather them as the ripe Fruits were gathered in. Death's Scythe is made uſe of to gather them to their People. In Heaven the Saints are brought together, and no longer ſcatter'd; they are ſafe, and no longer expos'd; ſeparated from corrupt Neighbours without, and corrupt Affections within, and there is no Chaff among them. They are not only gather'd into the Barn, Mat. 13. 30. but into the Garner, where they are throughly purified. (5.) Hell is the unquenchable Fire, which will burn up the Chaff, which will certainly be the Portion, and Puniſhment, and everlaſting Deſtruction of Hypocrites and Unbelievers; ſo that here is Life and Death, Good and Evil ſet before us; according as we now are in the Field, we ſhall be then in the Floor.

13 Then cometh Jeſus from Galilee to Jordan unto John to be baptized of him. 14 But John forbad him, ſaying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comeſt thou to me? 15 And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid unto him, Suffer it to be ſo now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteouſneſs. Then he ſuffered him. 16 And Jeſus, when he was baptized, went up ſtraitway out of the water: and lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he ſaw the ſpirit of God deſcending like a dove, and lighting upon him. 17 And lo, a voice from heaven, ſaying, This is my beloved ſon, in whom I am well pleaſed.

Our Lord Jeſus from his Childhood till now, when he was almoſt 30 Years of Age, had lain hid in Galilee, buried alive; but now after a long and dark Night, behold the Sun of Righteouſneſs riſes in Glory. The Fulneſs of Time was come that Chriſt ſhould enter upon his prophetical Office, and he chuſeth to do it, not at Jeruſalem, tho' 'tis probable he went thither at the three yearly Feaſts, as others did, but there where John was baptizing; for to him reſorted thoſe that waited for the Conſolation of Iſrael, to whom alone he would be welcome. John the Baptiſt was ſix Months elder than our Saviour, and it is ſuppoſed he began to preach and baptize about 6 Months before Chriſt appear'd; ſo long he was employ'd in preparing his Way in the Region round about Jordan; and more was done towards it in theſe ſix Months than had been done of ſome Ages before. Chriſt's coming from Galilee to Jordan to be baptized, teacheth us not to ſtick at Pains and Travel that we may have an Opportunity of drawing nigh to God in an Ordinance; we ſhould be willing to go far rather than come ſhort of Communion with God. Thoſe that will find muſt ſeek.

Now in this Story of Chriſt's Baptiſm we may obſerve,

1. How hardly John was perſuaded to admit of it, v. 14, 15. It was an Inſtance of Chriſt's great Humility that he would offer himſelf to be baptized of John; that he who knew no Sin would ſubmit to the Baptiſm of Repentance. Note, As ſoon as ever Chriſt began to preach, he preach'd Humility, preach'd it by his Example, preach'd it to all, eſpecially to young Miniſters. Chriſt was deſign'd for the higheſt Honours, yet in his firſt Step he thus abaſeth himſelf. Note, Thoſe that would riſe high muſt begin low; before Honour is Humility. It was a great Piece of Reſpect done to John for Chriſt thus to come to him, and it was a Return for the Service he did him in giving Notice of his Approach. Note, Thoſe that honour God, he will honour. Now here we have,

(1.) The Objection that John made againſt baptizing Jeſus, v. 14. John forbad him, as Peter did, when Chriſt went about to waſh his Feet, John 13. 6, 8. Note, Chriſt's gracious Condeſcenſions are ſo ſurprizing, as to appear at firſt incredible to the ſtrongeſt Believers; ſo deep and myſterious, that even thoſe who know his Mind well, cannot ſoon find out the Meaning of them, but by reaſon of Darkneſs, ſtart Objections againſt the Will of Chriſt. John's Modeſty thinks this an Honour too great for him to receive; and he expreſſeth himſelf to Chriſt juſt as his Mother had done to Chriſt's Mother, Luke 1. 43. Whence is this to me that the Mother of my Lord ſhould come to me? John had now won a great Name, and was univerſally reſpected, yet ſee how humble he is ſtill. Note, God has further Honours in reſerve for thoſe whoſe Spirits continue low when their Reputation riſeth.

1. John thinks it neceſſary that he ſhould be baptized by Chriſt; I have need to be baptized of thee, with the Baptiſm of the Holy Ghoſt, as of Fire, for that was Chriſt's Baptiſm, v. 11. (1.) Tho' John was filled with the Holy Ghoſt from the Womb, Luke 1. 15. yet he acknowledges he had need to be baptized with that Baptiſm. Note, Thoſe that have much of the Spirit of God, yet while they are here in this imperfect State ſee they have need of more, and need to apply themſelves to Chriſt for more. (2.) John has need to be baptized tho' he was the greateſt that ever was born of Woman, yet being born of Woman he is polluted, as others of Adam's Seed are, and owns he has need of cleanſing. Note, The pureſt Souls are moſt ſenſible of their own remaining Impurity, and ſeek moſt earneſtly for ſpiritual Waſhing. (3.) He has need to be baptized of Chriſt, who can do that for us which none elſe can, and which muſt be done for us or we are undone. Note, The beſt and holieſt Men have need of Chriſt, and the better they are the more they ſee of that Need. (4.) This was ſaid before the Multitude, who had a great Veneration for John, and were ready to embrace him for the Meſſiah, yet he publickly owns he had need to be baptized of Chriſt. Note, 'Tis no Diſparagement to the greateſt of Men to confeſs that they are undone without Chriſt and his Grace. (5.) John was Chriſt's Forerunner, and yet owns he had need to be baptized of him. Note, Even thoſe that were before Chriſt in Time, yet depended on him, received from him, and had an eye to him. (6.) While John was dealing with others about their Souls, obſerve how feelingly he ſpeaks of the Caſe of his own Soul, I have need to be baptized of thee. Note, Miniſters who preach to others, and baptize others, are concerned to look to it that they preach to themſelves, and be themſelves baptized with the Holy Ghoſt; take heed to thyſelf firſt, ſave thyſelf, 1 Tim. 4. 16.

2. He therefore thinks it very prepoſterous and abſurd that Chriſt ſhould be baptized by him. Comeſt thou to me? Doth the holy Jeſus, that is ſeparated from Sinners, come to be baptized by a Sinner, as a Sinner, and among Sinners? How can this be? Or what Account can we give of it? Note, Chriſt's coming to us may well be wonder'd at.

(2.) The over-ruling of this Objection, v. 15. Jeſus ſaid, Suffer it to be ſo now. Chriſt accepted his Humility, but not his Refuſal; he would have the thing done, and it is fit Chriſt ſhould take his own Method, tho' we do not underſtand it, nor can give a Reaſon for it. See,

1. How Chriſt inſiſts upon it; it muſt be ſo now. He doth not deny but that John had need to be baptized of him, yet he will now be baptized of John, Ἄφες ἄρτι, let it be yet ſo, ſuffer it to be ſo now. Note, Every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon. But why now? why yet? (1.) Chriſt is now in a State of Humiliation, he has emptied himſelf, and made himſelf of no Reputation. He is not only found in faſhion as a Man, but is made in the Likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, and therefore now let him be baptized of John; as if he needed to be waſh'd, tho' he be perfectly pure; and thus he was made Sin for us, tho' he knew no Sin. (2.) John's Baptiſm is now in Reputation, that's it by which God is now doing his Work, that's the preſent Diſpenſation, and therefore Jeſus will now be baptized with Water, but his baptizing with the Holy Ghoſt is reſerved for hereafter, many Days hence, Acts 1. 5. John's Baptiſm has now its Day, and therefore Honour muſt now be put upon that, and thoſe that attend upon it muſt be encourag'd. Note, Thoſe that are of greateſt Attainments in Gifts and Graces, ſhould yet in their Place bear their Teſtimony to inſtituted Ordinances, by a humble and diligent Attendance on them, that they may give a good Example to others. What we ſee God owns, and while we ſee he doth ſo, we muſt own. John was now increaſing, and therefore it muſt be thus yet; ſhortly he will decreaſe, and then it will be otherwiſe. (3.) It muſt be ſo now, becauſe now is the time for Chriſt's appearing in publick, and this will be a fair Opportunity for it. See John 1. 31, 32, 33, 34. Thus he muſt be made manifeſt to Iſrael, and be ſignaliz'd by Wonders from Heaven, in that Act of his own, which was moſt condeſcending, and ſelf-abaſing.

2. The reaſon he gives for it; thus it becomes us to fulfil all Righteouſneſs. Note, 1. That there was a Becomingneſs in every thing that Chriſt did for us; 'twas all graceful, Heb. 2. 10.—7. 26. And we muſt ſtudy to do, not only that which behoves us, but that which becomes us; not only that which is indiſpenſably neceſſary, but that which is lovely, and of good Report. 2. Our Lord Jeſus look'd upon it as a thing well becoming him to fulfil all Righteouſneſs, i. e. (as Dr. Whitby explains it) to own every divine Inſtitution, and to ſhew his readineſs to comply with all God's righteous Precepts; thus it becomes him to juſtify God, and approve his Wiſdom, in ſending John to prepare his Way by the Baptiſm of Repentance. Thus it becometh us to countenance and encourage every thing that is good, by Pattern as well as Precept. Chriſt often mentioned John and his Baptiſm with Honour, which that he might do the better, he was himſelf baptized. Thus Jeſus began firſt to do, and then to teach, and his Miniſters muſt take the ſame Method. Thus Chriſt filled up the Righteouſneſs of the ceremonial Law, which conſiſted in divers Waſhings; thus he recommended the Goſpel Ordinance of Baptiſm to his Church, put Honour upon it, and ſhewed what Virtue he deſigned to put into it. It became Chriſt to ſubmit to John's Waſhing with Water, becauſe it was a divine Appointment; but it became him to oppoſe the Phariſees waſhing with Water, becauſe it was a human Invention and Impoſition, and he juſtified his Diſciples in refuſing to comply with it.

With the Will of Chriſt, and this Reaſon for it, John was entirely ſatisfied, and then he ſuffered him. The ſame Modeſty which made him at firſt decline the Honour Chriſt offered him, now made him do the Service Chriſt enjoin'd him. Note, No Pretence of Humility muſt keep us off from our Duty.

2. How ſolemnly Heaven was pleaſed to grace the Baptiſm of Chriſt with a ſpecial Diſplay of Glory, v. 16, 17. Jeſus when he was baptized went up ſtraitway out of the Water. Others that were baptized ſtaid to confeſs their Sins, v. 6. But Chriſt having no Sins to confeſs went up immediately out of the Water, ſo we read it, but not right, for it is ἀπὸ τοῦ ὕδατος, from the Water, from the Brink of the River to which he went down to be waſhed with Water, i. e. to have his Head or Face waſh'd (John 13. 9.) for here is no mention of the putting off or putting on of his Clothes, which Circumſtance would not have been omitted if he had been baptized naked. He went up ſtraitway, as one that enter'd upon his Work with the utmoſt Chearfulneſs and Reſolution, he would loſe no Time; how was he ſtraitned till 'twas accompliſhed.

Now when he was coming up out of the Water, and all the Company had their Eye upon him,

1. Lo, the Heavens were opened unto him, ſo as to diſcover ſomething above and beyond the ſtarry Firmament, at leaſt to him. This was (1.) to encourage him to go on in his Undertaking, with the Proſpect of the Glory and Joy that were ſet before him; Heaven is open'd to receive him when he has finiſh'd the Work he was now entring upon. (2.) To encourage us to receive him and ſubmit to him. Note, In and thro' Jeſus Chriſt the Heavens are opened to the Children of Men. Sin ſhut up Heaven, put a Stop to all friendly Intercourſe between God and Man; but now Chriſt has open'd the Kingdom of Heaven to all Believers. Divine Light and Love are darted down upon the Children of Men, and we have Boldneſs to enter into the Holieſt. We have Receipts of Mercy from God, we make Returns of Duty to God, and all by Jeſus Chriſt, who is the Ladder that has the Foot on Earth and the Top in Heaven, by whom alone it is that we have any comfortable Correſpondence with God, or any hope of getting to Heaven at laſt. The Heavens were open'd when Chriſt was baptized, to teach us, that when we duly attend on God's Ordinances, we may expect Communion with him, and Communications from him.

2. He ſaw the Spirit of God deſcending like a Dove, or as a Dove, and coming, or lighting upon him. Chriſt ſaw it, Mark 1. 10. and John ſaw it, John 1. 33. and 'tis probable all the Standers-by ſaw it, for this was intended to be his publick Inauguration. Obſerve,

(1.) The Spirit of God deſcended and lighted on him. In the beginning of the old World the Spirit of God moved upon the Face of the Waters, Gen. 1. 2. hover'd as a Bird upon the Neſt; ſo here in the beginning of this new World Chriſt as God needed not to receive the Holy Ghoſt, but it was foretold that the Spirit of the Lord ſhould reſt upon him, Iſa. 11. 1.—61. 1. And here he did ſo, for (1.) He was to be a Prophet, and Prophets always ſpoke by the Spirit of God, who came upon them: Chriſt was to execute the prophetick Office, not by his divine Nature (ſaith Dr. Whitby) but by the Afflatus of the holy Spirit. (2.) He was to be the Head of the Church, and the Spirit deſcended upon him, by him to be derived to all Believers, in his Gifts, Graces, and Comforts. The Ointment on the Head ran down to the Skirts; Chriſt received Gifts for Men, that he might give Gifts to Men.

(2.) He deſcended on him like a Dove; whether it was a real living Dove, or, as was uſual in Viſions, the Repreſentation or Similitude of a Dove, is uncertain. If there muſt be a bodily Shape (Luke 3. 22.) it muſt not be that of a Man, for the being ſeen in faſhion as a Man was peculiar to the ſecond Perſon, none therefore more fit than the ſhape of one of the Fowls of Heaven. Heaven being now opened, and of all Fowl none ſo ſignificant as the Dove. (1.) The Spirit of Chriſt is a Dove-like Spirit, not like a ſilly Dove without Heart, Hoſ. 7. 11. but like an innocent Dove without Gall. The Spirit deſcended, not in the ſhape of an Eagle, which is, tho' a royal Bird, yet a Bird of Prey, but in the ſhape of a Dove, than which no Creature more harmleſs and inoffenſive; ſuch was the Spirit of Chriſt, he ſhall not ſtrive nor cry, ſuch muſt Chriſtians be, harmleſs as Doves. The Dove is remarkable for her Eyes; we find that both the Eyes of Chriſt, Cant. 5. 12. and the Eyes of the Church, Cant. 1. 15.—4. 1. are compared to Doves Eyes, for they have the ſame Spirit. The Dove mourns much, Iſa. 38. 14. Chriſt wept oft, and penitent Souls are compared to Doves of the Vallies. (2.) The Dove was the only Fowl that was offered in Sacrifice, Lev. 1. 14. And Chriſt by the Spirit, the eternal Spirit, offered himſelf without Spot to God. (3.) The Tidings of the decreaſe of Noah's Flood were brought by a Dove with an Olive Leaf in her Mouth; fitly therefore is the glad Tidings of Peace with God brought by the Spirit as a Dove, it ſpeaks God's Good-will towards Men, that his Thoughts towards us are Thoughts of Good, and not of Evil. By the Voice of the Turtle heard in our Land, Cant. 2. 12. the Chaldee Paraphraſt underſtand the Voice of the holy Spirit. That God is in Chriſt, reconciling the World unto himſelf, is a joyful Meſſage that comes to us upon the Wing, the Wings of a Dove, Pſal. 68. 13.

3. To explain and compleat this Solemnity, there came a Voice from Heaven, which we have reaſon to think was heard by all that were preſent. The holy Spirit manifeſted himſelf in the Likeneſs of a Dove, but God the Father by a Voice; for when the Law was given they ſaw no manner of Similitude, only they heard a Voice, Deut. 4. 12. and ſo this Goſpel came, and Goſpel indeed it is, the beſt News that ever came from Heaven to Earth, for it ſpeaks plainly and fully God's Favour to Chriſt, and us in him.

1. See here how God owns our Lord Jeſus; this is my beloved Son. Obſerve (1.) The Relation he ſtood in to him; he is my Son. Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of God by eternal Generation, as he was begotten of the Father before all Worlds, Col. 1. 15. Heb. 1. 3. and by ſupernatural Conception; he was therefore called the Son of God, becauſe he was conceived by the Power of the Holy Ghoſt, Luke 1. 35. yet this is not all, he is the Son of God by ſpecial Deſignation to the Work and Office of the World's Redeemer. He was ſanctified and ſealed, and ſent upon that Errand, brought up with the Father for it, Prov. 8. 30. appointed to it. I will make him my Firſt-born, Pſal. 89. 26. (2.) The Affection the Father had for him; he is my beloved Son, his dear Son, the Son of his Love, Col. 1. 13. He had lain in his Boſom from all Eternity, John 1. 18. had been always his Delight, Prov. 8. 30. But particularly as Mediator, and undertaking the Work of Man's Salvation, he was his beloved Son. He is mine Elect, in whom my Soul delighteth, ſee Iſa. 42. 1. Becauſe he conſented to the Covenant of Redemption, and delighted to do that Will of God, therefore the Father loved him, John 10. 17.—3. 35. Behold then, behold and wonder, what manner of Love the Father has beſtowed upon us, that he ſhould deliver up him that was the Son of his Love to ſuffer and die for thoſe that were the Generation of his Wrath; nay, and therefore love him, becauſe he laid down his Life for the Sheep. Now know we that he loved us, ſeeing he has not withheld his Son, his only Son, his Iſaac whom he loved, but gave him to be a Sacrifice for our Sin.

2. See here how ready he is to own us in him. He is my beloved Son, not only with whom, but in whom I am well pleaſed; he is pleaſed with all that are in him, and are united to him by Faith. Hitherto God had been diſpleaſed with the Children of Men, but now his Anger is turned away, and he hath made us accepted in the Beloved, Eph. 1. 6. Let all the World take notice that this is the Peacemaker, the Days-man, that has laid his Hand upon us both, and there's no coming to God as a Father but by him as Mediator, John 14. 6. In him our ſpiritual Sacrifices are acceptable, for he is the Altar that ſanctifies every Gift, 1 Pet. 2. 5. Out of Chriſt God is a conſuming Fire, but in Chriſt a reconciled Father. This is the Sum of the whole Goſpel, 'tis a faithful Saying, and worthy of all Acceptation, that God has declared by a Voice from Heaven, that Jeſus Chrſt is his beloved Son, in whom he is well pleaſed, with which we muſt by Faith chearfully concur, and ſay, that he is our beloved Saviour, in whom we are well pleaſed.

CHAP. IV.

John Baptiſt ſaid concerning Chriſt, he muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe, and ſo it proved; for after John had baptized Chriſt, and born his Teſtimony to him, we hear little more of his Miniſtry, he had done what he came to do, and thence forward there's as much Talk of Jeſus as ever there had been of John; as the riſing Sun advanceth the Morning Star diſappears. Concerning Jeſus Chriſt we have in this Chapter (1.) The Temptation he underwent, the triple Aſſault the Tempter made upon him, and the Repulſe he gave to each Aſſault, v. 1. 11. (2.) The teaching Work he undertook, the Places he preach'd in, v. 12. 16. and the Subject he preach'd on, v. 17. (3.) His calling of Diſciples, Peter and Andrew, James and John, v. 18, 22.

(4.) His curing of Diſeaſes, v. 23, 24. and the great Reſort of People to him, both to be taught and to be healed.

THen was Jeſus led up of the Spirit into the wilderneſs, to be tempted of the devil. 2 And when he had faſted forty days and forty nights, he was afterwards an hungred. 3 And when the tempter came to him, he ſaid, If thou be the Son of God command that theſe ſtones be made Bread. 4 But he anſwered and ſaid, It is written, Man ſhall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the Mouth of God. 5 Then the Devil taketh him up into the holy city, and ſetteth him on a pinnacle of the temple. 6 And ſaith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, caſt thy ſelf down: for it is written, He ſhall give his angels charge concerning thee, and in their hands they ſhall bear thee up, leaſt at any time thou daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone. 7 Jeſus ſaid unto him, it is written again, Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God. 8 Again the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and ſheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them: 9 And ſaith unto him, All theſe things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worſhip me. 10 Then ſaith Jeſus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and him only ſhalt thou ſerve: 11 Then the devil leaveth him, and behold angels came and miniſtred unto him.

We have here the Story of a famous Duel fought hand to hand, between Michael and the Dragon, the Seed of the Woman, and the Seed of the Serpent, nay, the Serpent himſelf, in which the Seed of the Woman ſuffers being tempted, and ſo has his Heel bruiſed; but the Serpent is quite baffled in his Temptations, and ſo has his Head broke, and our Lord Jeſus comes off a Conqueror, and ſo ſecures not only Comfort, but Conqueſt at laſt to all his faithful Followers. Concerning Chriſt's Temptation obſerve, 1. The Time when it was: Then there's an Emphaſis laid upon that. Immediately after the Heavens were opened to him, and the Spirit deſcended on him, and he was declar'd to be the Son of God, and the Saviour of the World, the next News we hear of him is, he is tempted, for then he is beſt able to grapple with the Temptation. Note, (1.) Great Privileges and ſpecial Tokens of divine Favour will not ſecure us from being tempted. Nay (2.) After great Honours put upon us we muſt expect ſomething that is humbling, as Paul had a Meſſenger of Satan ſent to buffet him after he had been in the third Heavens. (3.) God uſeth to prepare his People for Temptation before he calls them to it, he gives ſtrength according to the day, and before a ſharp Trial gives more than ordinary Comfort. (4.) The Aſſurance of our Sonſhip is the beſt Preparative for Temptation; if the good Spirit witneſſeth to our Adoption, that will furniſh us with an Anſwer to all the Suggeſtions of the evil Spirit, deſigned either to debauch or diſquiet us.

Then when he was newly come from a ſolemn Ordinance, when he was baptized, then he was tempted. Note, After we have been admitted into Communion with God we muſt expect to be ſet upon by Satan. The enriched Soul muſt double its Guard; when thou haſt eaten, and art full, then beware. Then, when he began to ſhew himſelf publickly to Iſrael, then he was tempted, ſo as he never had been while he lived in Privacy. Note, The Devil has a particular Spite at uſeful Perſons, that not only are good, but given to do Good, eſpecially at their firſt ſetting out. 'Tis the Advice of the Son of Sirach, Ecclus. 2. 1. My Son, if thou come to ſerve the Lord, prepare thyſelf for Temptation. Let young Miniſters know what to expect, and arm accordingly.

2. The Place where it was, in the Wilderneſs, probably in the great Wilderneſs of Sinai, where Moſes and Elijah faſted forty Days, for no Part of the Wilderneſs of Judea was ſo abandoned to wild Beaſts as this is ſaid to have been, Mark 1. 13. When Chriſt was baptized, he did not go to Jeruſalem, there to publiſh the Glories that had been put upon him, but retired into a Wilderneſs. After Communion with God 'tis good to be private a while, leſt we loſe what we have received, in the Crowd and Hurry of worldly Buſineſs. Chriſt withdrew into the Wilderneſs, (1.) To gain Advantage to himſelf; Retirement gives an Opportunity for Meditation and Communion with God, even thoſe that are called to the moſt active Life, muſt yet have their contemplative Hours, and muſt find Time to be alone with God. Thoſe are not fit to ſpeak of the Things of God in publick to others, that have not firſt converſed with thoſe Things in ſecret by themſelves. When Chriſt would appear as a Teacher come from God, it ſhall not be ſaid of him, he is newly come from travelling, he has been abroad, and has ſeen the World, but he is newly come out of a Deſart, he has been alone, converſing with God and his own Heart. (2.) To give Advantage to the Tempter, that he might have a readier Acceſs to him than he could have had in Company. Note, Tho' Solitude is a Friend to a good Heart, yet Satan knows how to improve it againſt us: Wo to him that is alone. Thoſe that under pretence of Sanctity and Devotion retire into Dens and Deſarts, find they are not out of the reach of their ſpiritual Enemies, and that there they want the Benefit of the Communion of Saints. Chriſt retired, (1.) That Satan might have leave to do his worſt. To make his Victory the more illuſtrious, he gave the Enemy Sun and Wind on his ſide, and yet baffled him. He might give the Devil Advantage, for the Prince of this World had nothing in him; but he hath in us, and therefore we muſt pray not to be led into Temptation, and muſt keep out of Harm's-way. (2.) That he might have Opportunity to do his beſt himſelf, that he might be exalted in his ownſtrength, for ſo it was written, I have trod the Wine-preſs alone, and of the People there was none with me. Chriſt enter'd the Liſts without a Second.

3. The Preparatives for it, which were two.

1. He was directed to the Combat. He did not wilfully thruſt himſelf upon it, but he was led up of the Spirit to be tempted of the Devil. The Spirit, that deſcended upon him like a Dove, made him meek, and yet made him bold. Note, Our Care muſt be not to enter into Temptation, but if God by his Providence order us into Circumſtances of Temptation for our Trial, we muſt not think it ſtrange, but double our Guard, be ſtrong in the Lord, reſiſt ſtedfaſt in the Faith, and all ſhall be well. If we preſume upon our own Strength, and tempt the Devil to tempt us, we provoke God to leave us to ourſelves, but whitherſoever God leads us, we may hope he will go along with us, and bring us off more than Conquerors.

Chriſt was led to be tempted of the Devil, and of him only. Others are tempted when they are drawn aſide of their own Luſt, and enticed, Jam. 1. 14. the Devil takes hold of that Handle, and ploughs with that Heifer, but our Lord Jeſus had no corrupt Nature, and therefore he was led ſecurely, without any Fear or Trembling, as a Champion into the Field, to be tempted purely by the Devil.

Now Chriſt's Temptation is, (1.) An Inſtance of his own Condeſcenſion and Humiliation. Temptations are fiery Darts, Thorns in the Fleſh, Buffetings, Siftings, Wreſtlings, Combats, all which note Hardſhip and Suffering, therefore Chriſt ſubmitted to them, becauſe he would humble himſelf in all things to be made like unto his Brethren. Thus he gave his Back to the Smiters. (2.) It was an Occaſion of Satan's Confuſion. There's no Conqueſt without a Combat, Chriſt was tempted that he might overcome the Tempter; Satan tempted the firſt Adam, and triumph'd over him, but he ſhall not ever triumph, the ſecond Adam ſhall overcome him, and lead Captivity captive. (3.) It is Matter of Comfort to all the Saints. In the Temptation of Chriſt it appears that our Enemy is ſubtil, ſpiteful, and very daring in his Temptations, but it appears withal that he is not invincible; tho' he is a ſtrong Man arm'd, yet the Captain of our Salvation is ſtronger than he. It is ſome Comfort to us to think that Chriſt ſuffered being tempted, for then Temptations, if they are not yielded to, are not Sins; they are Afflictions only, and ſuch as may be the Lot of thoſe with whom God is well pleaſed; and we have an High-Prieſt that knows by Experience what it is to be tempted, and therefore is the more tenderly touch'd with the feeling of our Infirmities in an Hour of Temptation, Heb. 2. 18.—4. 15. But it is much more a Comfort to think that Chriſt conquered being tempted, and conquered for us, not only that the Enemy we grapple with is a conquered, baffled, diſarmed Enemy, but that we are intereſted in Chriſt's Victory over him, and thro' him are more than Conquerors.

2. He was dieted for the Combat, as Wreſtlers uſe to be, who are temperate in all things, 1 Cor. 9. 25. but Chriſt beyond any other, for he faſted 40 Days and 40 Nights, in compliance with the Type and Example of Moſes the great Lawgiver, and of Elias, the great Reformer of the Old Teſtament. John Baptiſt came as Elias in thoſe things that were moral, but not in ſuch things as were miraculous, Joh. 10. 41. that Honour was reſerved for Chriſt. Chriſt needed not to faſt for Mortification, he had no corrupt Deſires to be ſubdued, yet he faſted (1.) That herein he might humble himſelf, and might ſeem as one abandon'd, whom no Man ſeeketh after. (2.) That he might give Satan both Occaſion and Advantage againſt him, and ſo make his Victory over him the more illuſtrious. (3.) That he might ſanctify and recommend Faſting to us, when God in his Providence calls to it, or when we are reduced to Straits, and are deſtitute of daily Food, or when it is requiſite for the keeping up of the Body, or the quickning of Prayer, and that's a good Preparative for Temptation. If good People are brought low, if they want Friends and Succours, this may comfort them, that their Maſter himſelf was in like manner exercis'd. A Man may want Bread and yet be a favorite of Heaven and under the Conduct of the Spirit. The Reference which the Papiſts make of their Lent-Faſt to this Faſting of Chriſt 40 Days, is a Piece of Foppery and Superſtition, which the Law of our Land witneſſeth againſt, Stat. 5^{c}. Eliz. Chap. 5. Sect. 39, 40. When he faſted 40 Days he was never hungry: Converſe with Heaven was inſtead of Meat and Drink to him, but he was afterwards an hungred, to ſhew that he was really and truly Man; and he took upon him our natural Infirmities, that he might atone for us. Man fell by eating, and that way we often ſin, and therefore Chriſt was an hungred.

4. The Temptations themſelves. That which Satan drove at in all his Temptations, was to bring him to ſin againſt God, and ſo to render him for ever uncapable to be a Sacrifice for the Sin of others. Now whatever the Colours were, that which he aim'd at was to bring him (1.) To deſpair of his Father's Goodneſs. (2.) To preſume upon his Father's Power. 3. To alienate his Father's Honour, by giving it to Satan. In the two former, that which he tempted him to, ſeemed innocent, and therein appear'd the Subtlety of the Tempter: In the laſt, that which he tempted him with, ſeem'd deſirable. The two former are ſly Temptations, which there was need of great Wiſdom to diſcern; the laſt was a ſtrong Temptation, which there was need of great Reſolution to reſiſt; yet he was baffled in them all.

(1.) He tempted him to deſpair of his Father's Goodneſs, and to diſtruſt his Father's Care concerning him.

1. See how the Temptation was manag'd, v. 3. The Tempter came to him. Note, The Devil is the Tempter, and therefore he is Satan, an Adverſary; for thoſe are our worſt Enemies that entice us to Sin, and are Satan's Agents, are doing his Work, and carrying on his Deſigns; he is call'd emphatically the Tempter, becauſe he was ſo to our firſt Parents, and ſtill is ſo, and all other Tempters are ſet on work by him. The Tempter came to Chriſt in a viſible Appearance, not terrible and affrighting, as afterwards in his Agony in the Garden, no, if ever the Devil transform'd himſelf into an Angel of Light, he did it now, and pretends to be a good Genius, a Guardian Angel.

Obſerve the Subtilty of the Tempter in tacking this firſt Temptation to what went before, to make it the ſtronger. 1. Chriſt began to be hungry, and therefore the Motion ſeem'd very proper to turn Stones into Bread, for his neceſſary Support. Note, It is one of the Wiles of Satan to take advantage of our outward Condition, in that to plant the Battery of his Temptations; he is an Adverſary no leſs watchful than ſpiteful, and the more ingenious he is to take advantage againſt us, the more induſtrious we muſt be to give him none; when he began to be hungry, and that in a Wilderneſs, where there was nothing to be had, then the Devil aſſaulted him. Note, Want and Poverty is a great Temptation to Diſcontent and Unbelief, and the uſe of unlawful Means for our Relief, under pretence that Neceſſity has no Law, and 'tis excus'd with this, that Hunger will break thro' Stone-walls, which yet is no Excuſe, for the Law of God ought to be ſtronger to us than Stone-walls. Agur prays againſt Poverty, not becauſe it is an Affliction and Reproach, but becauſe it is a Temptation, leſt I be poor and ſteal; thoſe therefore who are reduc'd to Straits have need to double their Guard; 'tis better ſtarve to death than live and grow fat by Sin.

2. Chriſt was lately declared to be the Son of God, and here the Devil tempts him to doubt of that; if thou be the Son of God. Had not the Devil known that the Son of God was to come into the World he would not have ſaid this, and had he not ſuſpected that this was he, he would not have ſaid it to him; nor durſt he have ſaid it if Chriſt had not now drawn a Veil over his Glory, and if the Devil had not now put on an impudent Face.

1. Thou haſt now an occaſion to queſtion whether thou be the Son of God or no, for can it be that the Son of God, who is Heir of all things, ſhould be reduced to ſuch Straits? If God were thy Father he would not ſee the ſtarve, for all the Beaſts of the Foreſt are his, Pſal. 50. 10, 12. 'Tis true there was a Voice from Heaven, This is my beloved Son, but ſure it was Deluſion, and thou waſt impoſed upon by it; for either God is not thy Father, or he is a very unkind one. Note, 1. The great thing Satan aims at in tempting good People is, to overthrow their Relation to God as a Father, and ſo to cut off their Dependance on him, their Duty to him, and their Communion with him; the good Spirit, as the Comforter of the Brethren, witneſſeth that they are the Children of God; the evil Spirit, as the Accuſer of the Brethren, doth all he can to ſhake that Teſtimony. 2. That outward Afflictions, Wants and Burthens, are the great Arguments Satan uſeth to make the People of God queſtion their Sonſhip; as if Afflictions could not conſiſt with, when really they proceed from God's Fatherly Love. Thoſe know how to anſwer this Temptation who can ſay with holy Job, tho' he ſlay me, tho' he ſtarve me, yet will I truſt in him, and love him as a Friend, even when he ſeems to come forth againſt me as an Enemy. 3. The Devil aims to ſhake our Faith in the Word of God, and bring us to queſtion the Truth of that; thus he began with our firſt Parents; yea, hath God ſaid ſo and ſo? ſure he has not. So here, Hath God ſaid that thou art his beloved Son? ſure he did not ſay ſo, or if he did, it is not true. We then give place to the Devil when we queſtion the Truth of any Word that God hath ſaid, for his Buſineſs, as the Father of Lies, is to oppoſe the true Sayings of God. 4. The Devil carries on his Deſigns very much by poſſeſſing People with hard Thoughts of God, as if he were unkind or unfaithful, and had forſaken or forgotten thoſe who have ventur'd their All with him. He endeavour'd to beget in our firſt Parents a Notion that God forbid them the Tree of Knowledge, becauſe he grudg'd them the Benefit of it; and ſo here he inſinuates to our Saviour that his Father had caſt him off, and left him to ſhift for himſelf. But ſee how unreaſonable this Suggeſtion was, and how eaſily anſwered: If Chriſt ſeem'd to be a meer Man now, becauſe he was hungry, why was he not confeſſed to be more than a Man, even the Son of God, when for forty Days he faſted, and was not an hungry?

(2.) Thou haſt now an Opportunity to ſhew that thou art the Son of God. If thou art the Son of God, prove it by this, Command that theſe Stones (a Heap of which probably lay now before him) be made Bread, v. 3. John Baptiſt ſaid but t'other day, that God can out of Stones raiſe up Children to Abraham, a divine Power therefore can, no doubt, out of Stones make Bread for thoſe Children; if therefore thou haſt that Power, exert it now in a time of Need for thyſelf; he doth not ſay, pray to thy Father, that he would turn them into Bread, but command it to be done; thy Father hath forſaken thee, ſet up for thyſelf, and be not beholden to him. The Devil is for nothing that's humbling, but every thing that's aſſuming, and gains his Point if he can but bring Men off from their Dependance upon God, and poſſeſs them with an Opinion of their Self-ſufficiency.

2. See how this Temptation was reſiſted and overcome.

1. Chriſt refuſed to comply with it. He would not command theſe Stones to be made Bread, not becauſe he could not, his Power that ſoon after this turn'd Water into Wine, could have turn'd Stones into Bread, but he would not: And why would he not? At firſt view the thing appears juſtifiable enough, and the Truth is, the more plauſible a Temptation is, and the greater Appearance there is of Good in it, the more dangerous it is. This Matter would bear a Diſpute, but Chriſt was ſoon aware of the Snake in the Graſs, and would not do any thing (1.) that look'd like queſtioning the Truth of the Voice he heard from Heaven, or putting that upon a new Trial which was already ſettled; (2.) that look'd like diſtruſting his Father's Care of him, or limiting him to one particular way of providing for him; (3.) that look'd like ſetting up for himſelf, and being his own Carver; or (4.) that look'd like gratifying Satan, by doing a thing at his Motion. Some would have ſaid, to give the Devil his Due, this was good Counſel; but for thoſe that wait upon God, to conſult him, is more than his Due; 'tis like enquiring of the God of Ekron, when there is a God in Iſrael.

2. He was ready to reply to it, v. 4. He anſwered and ſaid, It is written. This is obſervable, that Chriſt anſwered and baffled all the Temptations of Satan with It is written. He is himſelf the eternal Word, and could have produc'd the Mind of God, without having recourſe to the Writings of Moſes, but he put Honour upon the Scripture, and to ſet us an Example, he appeal'd to what was written in the Law; and he ſaith this to Satan, taking it for granted that he knew well enough what was written. It is poſſible that thoſe who are the Devil's Children may yet know very well what's written in God's Book; the Devils believe and tremble. This Method we muſt take when at any time we are tempted to ſin, reſiſt and repel the Temptation with It is written. The Word of God is the Sword of the Spirit, the only offenſive Weapon in all the Chriſtian Armory, Eph. 6. 17. And we may ſay of it, as David of Goliah's Sword, None like that in our ſpiritual Conflicts.

This Anſwer, as all the reſt, is taken out of the Book of Deuteronomy, which ſignifies the ſecond Law, and in which there is very little ceremonial; the Levitical Sacrifices and Purifications could not drive away Satan, tho' of divine Inſtitution, much leſs holy Water and the Sign of the Croſs, which are of human Invention; but moral Precepts and evangelical Promiſes mix'd with Faith, theſe are mighty thro' God for the vanquiſhing of Satan. This is here quoted from Deut. 8. 3. where the reaſon given why God fed the Iſraelites with Manna is, becauſe he would teach them that Man ſhall not live by Bread alone; this Chriſt applies to his own Caſe; Iſrael was God's Son, whom he called out of Egypt, Hoſ. 11. 1. ſo was Chriſt, Mat. 2. 15. Iſrael was then in a Wilderneſs, Chriſt was ſo now, perhaps the ſame Wilderneſs. Now (1.) the Devil would have him queſtion his Sonſhip, becauſe he was in Straits; no, ſaith he, Iſrael was God's Son, and a Son he was very tender of, and whoſe Manners he bore, Acts 13. 18. and yet he brought them into Straits, and it follows there, Deut. 4. 5. as a Man chaſteneth his Son, ſo the Lord thy God chaſteneth thee. Chriſt being a Son thus learns Obedience. (2.) The Devil would have him to diſtruſt his Father's Love and Care; no, ſaith he, that would be to do as Iſrael did, who, when they were in Want, ſaid, Is the Lord among us? and can he furniſh a Table in the Wilderneſs? Can he give Bread? (3.) The Devil would have him, as ſoon as he began to be hungry, preſently to look out for Supply, whereas God, for wiſe and holy Ends, ſuffered Iſrael to hunger before he fed them, to humble them, and prove them. God will have Children, when they want, not only to wait on him, but to wait for him. (4.) The Devil would have him to ſupply himſelf with Bread; no, ſaith Chriſt, what needs that? it is a Point long ſince ſettled, and unconteſtably prov'd, that Man may live without Bread, as Iſrael in the Wilderneſs liv'd 40 Years upon Manna. 'Tis true God in his Providence ordinarily maintains Men by Bread out of the Earth, Job 28. 5. but he can, if he pleaſeth, make uſe of other Means to keep Men alive; any Word proceeding out of the Mouth of God, i. e. any thing that God ſhall order and appoint for that End, will be as good a Livelihood for Man as Bread, and will maintain him as well. As we may have Bread, and yet not be nouriſhed, if God deny his Bleſſing, Hag. 1. 6, 9. Mic. 6. 14. for tho' Bread is the Staff of Life, 'tis God's Bleſſing that is the Staff of Bread; ſo we may want Bread, and yet be nouriſhed ſome other way. God ſuſtained Moſes and Elias without Bread, and Chriſt himſelf juſt now for 40 Days; he ſuſtained Iſrael with Bread from Heaven, Angels Food; Elijah with Bread ſent miraculouſly by Ravens, and another time by the Widow's Meal, miraculouſly multiplied; therefore Chriſt needs not turn Stones into Bread, but truſt God to keep him alive ſome other way now he is hungry, as he had done 40 Days before he hungred. Note, As in our greateſt Abundance we muſt not think to live without God, ſo in our greateſt Straits we muſt learn to live upon God; and when the Fig-tree doth not bloſſom, and the Field yields no Meat, when all ordinary Means of Succour and Support are cut off, yet then we muſt rejoice in the Lord; then we muſt not think to command what we will, tho' contrary to his Command, but muſt humbly pray for what he thinks fit to give us, and be thankful for the Bread of our Allowance, tho' it be a ſhort Allowance. Let us learn of Chriſt here to be at God's Finding rather than at our own, and not to take any irregular Courſes for our Supply, when our Wants are never ſo preſſing. Pſal. 37. 3. Jehovah Jireth, ſome way or other the Lord will provide. 'Tis better live poorly upon the Fruits of God's Goodneſs, than live plentifully upon the Products of our own Sin, (2.) He tempted him to preſume upon his Father's Power and Protection; ſee what a reſtleſs, unwearied Adverſary the Devil is, if he fail in one Aſſault he trys another.

Now in this ſecond Attempt we may obſerve,

1. What the Temptation was, and how it was manag'd. In general, finding Chriſt ſo confident of his Father's Care of him, in point of Nouriſhment, he endeavours to draw him to preſume upon that Care, in point of Safety. Note, We are in danger of miſſing our Way, both on the Right-hand, and on the Left, and therefore muſt take heed, leſt when we avoid one Extreme, we be brought by the Artifices of Satan to run into another, leſt by overcoming our Prodigality we fall into Covetouſneſs; nor are any Extremes more dangerous than thoſe of Deſpair and Preſumption, eſpecially in the Affairs of our Souls. Some that have obtained a Perſuaſion that Chriſt is able and willing to ſave them from their Sins, are then tempted to preſume that he will ſave them in their Sins. Thus when People begin to be zealous in Religion, Satan hurries them into Bigotry and intemperate Heats.

Now in this Temptation we may obſerve,

1. How he made way for it. He took Chriſt, not by Force, and againſt his Will, but mov'd him to go, and went along with him to Jeruſalem. Whether Chriſt went upon the Ground, and ſo went up the Stairs to the top of the Temple, or whether he went in the Air, is uncertain; but ſo it was, that he was ſet upon a Pinacle or Spire upon the Fane (ſo ſome) upon the Battlements (ſo others) upon the Wing, ſo the Word is, of the Temple. Now obſerve (1.) how ſubmiſſive Chriſt was in ſuffering himſelf to be hurried thus, that he might let Satan do his worſt, and yet conquer him. The Patience of Chriſt here, as afterwards in his Sufferings and Death, is more wonderful than the Power of Satan or his Inſtruments, for neither he nor they could have any Power againſt Chriſt, but what was given them from above. How comfortable is it, that Chriſt, who let looſe this Power of Satan againſt himſelf, doth not in like manner let it looſe againſt us, but reſtrains it, for he knows our Frame. (2.) How ſubtil the Devil was in the choice of the Place for his Temptations. Intending to ſollicit Chriſt to an Oſtentation of his own Power, and a vain-glorious Preſumption upon God's Providence, he fixes him on a publick place, in Jeruſalem, a populous City, and the Joy of the whole Earth, in the Temple, one of the Wonders of the World, continually gaz'd upon with Admiration by ſome one or other, there he might make himſelf remarkable, and be taken notice of by every Body, and prove himſelf the Son of God, not as he was urg'd in the former Temptation, in the Obſcurities of a Wilderneſs, but before Multitudes, upon the moſt eminent Stage of Action.

Obſerve (1.) That Jeruſalem is here called the holy City, for ſo it was in Name and Profeſſion, and there was in it a holy Seed, that was the Subſtance thereof. Note, There is no City on Earth ſo holy as to exempt and ſecure us from the Devil and his Temptations. The firſt Adam was tempted in the holy Garden, the ſecond in the holy City; let us not therefore in any Place be off our Watch; nay, the holy City is the Place where he doth with the greateſt Advantage and Succeſs tempt Men to Pride and Preſumption; but bleſſed be God, into the Jeruſalem above, that holy City, no unclean thing ſhall enter, there we ſhall be for ever out of Temptation. (2.) That he ſet him upon a Pinnacle of the Temple, which, as Joſephus deſcribes it (Antiq. lib. 15. cap. 14.) was ſo very high, that it would make a Man's Head giddy to look down to the bottom. Note, Pinnacles of the Temple are Places of Temptation, I mean (1.) High Places are ſo, they are ſlippery Places; Advancement in the World makes a Man a fair Mark for Satan to ſhoot his fiery Darts at. God caſts down that he may raiſe up, the Devil raiſeth up that he may caſt down; therefore thoſe that would take heed of falling, muſt take heed of climbing. (2.) High Places in the Church are in a ſpecial manner dangerous; thoſe that excel in Gifts, are in eminent Stations, and have gained a great Reputation, have need to keep humble, for Satan will be ſure to aim at them, to puff them up with Pride, and ſo they fall into the Condemnation of the Devil; thoſe that ſtand high are concerned to ſtand faſt.

2. How he mov'd it. If thou be the Son of God, now ſhew thy ſelf to the World, and prove thy ſelf to be ſo, caſt thy ſelf down, and then (1.) thou wilt be admir'd as under the ſpecial Protection of Heaven, when they ſee thee receive no Hurt by a Fall from ſuch a Precipice, they will ſay as the barbarous People did of Paul, that thou art a God. Tradition ſaith that Simon Magus by this very thing attempted to prove himſelf a God, but his Pretenſions were diſprov'd, for he fell down, and was miſerably bruiſed. Nay, (2.) Thou wilt be received, as coming with a ſpecial Commiſſion from Heaven. All Jeruſalem will ſee and acknowledge, not only that thou art more than a Man, but that thou art that Meſſenger, that Angel of the Covenant, that ſhould ſuddenly come to the Temple, Mal. 3. 1. and from thence deſcend into the Streets of the holy City, and thus the Work of convincing the Jews will be cut ſhort, and ſoon done.

Obſerve, The Devil ſaid, Caſt thyſelf down; the Devil could not caſt him down, tho' a little thing would have done it from the top of a Spire. Note, The Power of Satan is a limited Power. Hitherto he ſhall come, and no further. Yet if the Devil had caſt him down, he had not gain'd his Point, that had been his Suffering only, not his Sin. Note, Whatever real Miſchief is done us, it is of our own doing; the Devil can but perſuade, he cannot compel; he can but ſay, Caſt thyſelf down, he cannot caſt us down; Every Man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own Luſt, and not forced, but enticed; therefore let us not hurt ourſelves, and then, bleſſed be God, no one elſe can hurt us, Prov. 9. 12.

3. How he back'd this Motion with a Scripture, for it is written He ſhall give his Angels Charge concerning thee. But is Saul alſo among the Prophets? Is Satan ſo well vers'd in Scripture as to be able to quote it ſo readily? It ſeems he is. Note, It is poſſible a Man may have his Head full of Scripture Notions, and his Mouth full of Scripture Expreſſions, and yet his Heart full of reigning Enmity to God and all Goodneſs. The Knowledge which the Devils have of the Scripture increaſeth both their Miſchievouſneſs and their Torment; never did the Devil ſpeak with more Vexation to himſelf, than when he ſaid to Chriſt, I know thee who thou art. The Devil would perſuade Chriſt to throw himſelf down, in hopes he will be his own Murderer, and there would be an End of him and his Undertaking, which he look'd upon with a jealous Eye, and to encourage him to do it, tells him there was no Danger, the good Angels would protect him, for ſo was the Promiſe, Pſal. 91. 11. He ſhall give his Angels Charge over thee. Now in this Quotation,

1. There was ſomething right; it is true there is ſuch a Promiſe of the Miniſtration of the Angels for the Protection of the Saints; the Devil knows it by Experience, for he finds his Attempts againſt them fruitleſs, and he frets and rages at it, as he did at the Hedge about Job, which he ſpeaks of ſo ſenſibly, Job 1. 10. He was alſo right in applying it to Chriſt, for to him all the Promiſes of the Protection of the Saints primarily and eminently belong, and to them in and thro' him. That Promiſe that not a Bone of theirs ſhall be broken, Pſal. 34. 20. was fulfilled in Chriſt, John 19. 36. The Angels guard the Saints for Chriſt's ſake, Rev. 5. 6, 11.

2. There was a great deal wrong in it, and perhaps the Devil had a particular Spite to this Promiſe, and perverted it, becauſe it often ſtood in his way, and baffled his miſchievous Deſigns againſt the Saints. See here,

1. How he miſquoted it, and that was bad; the Promiſe is, they ſhall keep thee, but how? in all thy Ways, not otherwiſe; if we go out of our Way, out of the way of our Duty, we forfeit the Promiſe, and put ourſelves out of God's Protection. Now this Word made againſt the Tempter, and therefore he induſtriouſly left it out; if Chriſt had caſt himſelf down he had been out of his Way, for he had no Call ſo to expoſe himſelf. It is good for us upon all Occaſions to conſult the Scriptures themſelves, and not to take Things upon Truſt, that we may not be impoſed upon by thoſe that maim and mangle the Word of God; we muſt do as the noble Bereans, that ſearched the Scriptures daily.

2. How he miſapplied it, and that was worſe. Scripture is abus'd when it is preſſed to patronize Sin, and when Men thus wreſt it to their own Temptation, they do it to their own Deſtruction, 2 Pet 3. 16. This Promiſe is firm, and ſtands good, but the Devil made an ill Uſe of it, when he us'd it as an Encouragement to preſume upon the divine Care. Note, It is no new thing for the Grace of God to be turned into Wantonneſs, and for Men to take Encouragement in Sin from the Diſcoveries of God's Good-will to Sinners; but ſhall we continue in Sin that Grace may abound? throw ourſelves down that the Angels may bear us up? God forbid.

2. How Chriſt overcame this Temptation; he reſiſted and overcame it as he did the former, with It is written. The Devil's abuſing Scripture did not prevent Chriſt from uſing it, but he preſently urgeth, Deut. 6. 16. Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God. The meaning of this is not, therefore thou muſt not tempt me, but therefore I muſt not tempt my Father. In the Place whence it is quoted 'tis in the Plural Number, Ye ſhall not tempt; here 'tis Singular, Thou ſhalt not. Note, We are then likely to get good by the Word of God, when we hear and receive general Promiſes, as ſpeaking to us in particular. Satan ſaid, It is written; Chriſt ſaith, It is written; not that one Scripture contradicts another, God is one, and his Word one, and in one Mind; but that's a Promiſe, this is a Precept, and therefore that's to be explain'd and applied by this; for Scripture is the beſt Interpreter of Scripture; and thoſe that propheſy, that expound Scripture, muſt do it according to the Proportion of Faith, Rom. 12. 6. in conſiſtence with practical Godlineſs.

If Chriſt ſhould caſt himſelf down, it would be the tempting of God, (1.) As it would be requiring a further Confirmation of that which was ſo well confirmed. Chriſt was abundantly ſatisfied that God was already his Father, and took Care of him, and gave his Angels a Charge concerning him, and therefore to put it upon a new Experiment would be to tempt him; as the Phariſees tempted Chriſt, when they had ſo many Signs on Earth, they demanded a Sign from Heaven; this is limiting the holy One of Iſrael. (2.) As it would be requiring a ſpecial Preſervation of him in doing that which he had no Call to. If we expect, that becauſe God has promiſed not to forſake us, therefore he ſhould follow us out of the way of our Duty; that becauſe he has promiſed to ſupply our Wants, therefore he ſhould humour us, and pleaſe our Fancies; that becauſe he has promiſed to keep us, we may wilfully thruſt ourſelves into Danger, and may expect the deſired End without uſing the appointed Means; this is Preſumption, this is tempting God; and it is an Aggravation of the Sin, that he is the Lord our God; 'tis an Abuſe of the Privilege we have in having him for our God; he has thereby encouraged us to truſt him, but we are very ungrateful if therefore we tempt him; 'tis contrary to our Duty to him as our God; this is to affront him whom we ought to honour. Note, We muſt never promiſe ourſelves any more than God has promiſed us.

(3.) He tempted him to the moſt black and horrid Idolatry, with the Proffer of the Kingdoms of the World, and the Glory of them. And here we may obſerve,

1. How the Devil made this Puſh at our Saviour, v. 8, 9. The worſt Temptation was reſerv'd for the laſt .Note, Sometimes the Saints laſt Encounter is with the Sons of Anak, and the parting blow is the ſoreſt; therefore whatever Temptation we have been aſſaulted by, ſtill we muſt prepare for worſe; muſt be arm'd for all Attacks with the Armour of Righteouſneſs, on the right-hand, and on the left.

In this Temptarion we may obſerve,

1. What he ſhew'd him, all the Kingdoms of the World; in order to this he took him to an exceeding high Mountain, in hopes of prevailing, as Balak with Balaam, he changeth his Ground. The Pinacle of the Temple is not high enough, the Prince of the Power of the Air muſt have him further up into his Territories. Some think this high Mountain was on the other ſide Jordan, becauſe there we find Chriſt next after the Temptation, John 1. 28, 29. Perhaps it was Mount Piſgah, from whence Moſes, in communion with God, had all the Kingdoms of Canaan ſhew'd him. Hither the Bleſſed Jeſus was carried for the advantage of a Proſpect; as if the Devil could ſhew him more of the World than he knew already, who made and govern'd it. From thence he might diſcover ſome of the Kingdoms that lay about Judea, tho' not the Glory of them; but there was doubtleſs a Juggle, and a Deluſion of Satan's in it; 'tis likely that which he ſhew'd him was but a Landſkip, an airy Repreſentation in a Cloud, ſuch as that great Deceiver could eaſily frame, and put together; ſetting forth in proper and lively Colours, the Glorious and ſplendid Appearances of Princes, and their Robes and Crowns, their Retinue, Equipage, and Life-guards, the Pomps of Thrones and Courts, and ſtately Palaces, the ſumptuous Buildings in Cities, the Gardens and Fields about the Country-ſeats, with the various Inſtances of their Wealth, Pleaſure, and Gaiety; ſo as might be moſt likely to ſtrike the Fancy, and excite the Admiration and Affection: ſuch was this Shew, and his taking him up into a high Mountain, was but to humour the thing, and to colour the Deluſion; in which yet the Bleſſed Jeſus did not ſuffer himſelf to be impos'd upon, but ſaw through the Cheat, only permitted Satan to take his own way, that his Victory over him might be the more Illuſtrious. Hence obſerve concerning Satan's Temptations, that (1.) they often come in at the Eye, that's blinded to the things it ſhould ſee, and dazzled with the Vanities it ſhould be turn'd from, The firſt Sin began in the Eye, Gen. 3. 6. We have therefore need to make a Covenant with our Eyes, and to pray that God would turn them away from beholding Vanity, (2.) That Temptations commonly take riſe from the World, and the things of it, The Luſt of the Fleſh, and of the Eye, with the Pride of Life, are the Tropicks from which the Devil fetcheth moſt of his Arguments, (3.) That it is a great Cheat which the Devil puts upon poor Souls in his Temptations, He deceives, and ſo deſtroys; he impoſes upon Men with Shadows, and falſe Colours; ſhews the World, and the Glory of it, and hides from Mens Eyes that Sin, and Sorrow, and Death which ſtains the Pride of all this Glory; the Cares and Calamities that attend great Poſſeſſions, and the Thorns which Crowns themſelves are lin'd with. (4.) That the Glory of the World is the moſt charming Temptation to the Thinking and Unwary, and that by which Men are moſt impos'd upon, Laban's Sons grudge Jacob all this Glory; the Pride of Life is the moſt dangerous Snare.

2. What he ſaid to him, v. 9. All theſe things will I give thee if thou wilt fall down and worſhip me. See

1. How vain the Promiſe was. All theſe things will I give thee. He ſeems to take it for granted, that in the former Temptations he had in part gain'd his point, and prov'd that Chriſt was not the Son of God, becauſe he had not given him thoſe Evidences of it which he demanded; ſo that here he looks upon him as a meer Man: Come, ſaith he, it ſeems the God, whoſe Son thou thinkeſt thy ſelf to be, deſerts thee, and ſtarves thee, a ſign he is not thy Father, but if thou wilt be rul'd by me, I'll provide better for the than ſo; own me for thy Father, and aſk me Bleſſing, and all this will I give thee. Note, Satan makes an eaſy Prey of Men, when he can perſwade, them to think themſelves abandon'd of God. The Fallacy of this Promiſe lies in that, All this will I give thee. And what was all that, it was but a Map, a Picture, a meer Phantaſm, that had nothing in it real, or ſolid, and this he would give him; a goodly Prize, yet ſuch are Satan's Proffers. Note, Multitudes loſe the ſight of that which is, by ſetting their Eyes on that which is not. The Devil's Baits are all a Sham, they are Shows and Shadows, with which he deceives them, or rather they deceive themſelves. The Nations of the Earth had been long before promiſed to the Meſſiah, if he be the Son of God they belong to him; Satan pretends now to be a good Angel, probably one of thoſe that was ſet over Kingdoms, and to have receiv'd a commiſſion to deliver poſſeſſion to him according to promiſe. Note, We muſt take heed of receiving, even that which God hath promis'd out of the Devils hand; we do ſo when we precipitate the Performance, by catching at it in a ſinful way.

3. How vile the Condition was: if thou wilt fall down and Worſhip me. Note, The Devil is fond to be worſhipped. All the Worſhip which the Heathens perform'd to their gods was directed to the Devil, Deut. 32, 17. who is therefore call'd the god of this World, 2 Cor. 4. 4. 1 Cor. 10. 20. And fain would he draw Chriſt into his Intereſts, and perſuade him now he ſet up for a Teacher, to preach up the Gentile Idolatry, and to introduce it again among the Jews, and then the Nations of the Earth would ſoon flock in to him. What Temptations could be more hideous, more Black? Note, 'Tis poſſible the beſt of Saints may be tempted to the worſt of Sins; eſpecially when they are under the Power of Melancholly, as to Atheiſm, Blaſphemy, Murder, Self-murder, and what not? It is their Affliction; but while there's no conſent to it, nor approbation of it, it is not their Sin; Chriſt was tempted to worſhip Satan.

2. See how Chriſt put by the Thruſt, baffled the Aſſault, and came off a Conqueror. He rejected the Propoſal,

1. With an Abhorrence and Deteſtation, Get thee hence, Satan. The two former Temptations had ſomething of Colour which would admit of a Conſideration, but this was ſo groſs as not to bear a Parley; it appeats abominable at the firſt ſight, and therefore is immediately rejected. If the beſt Friend we have in the World ſhould ſuggeſt ſuch a thing as this to us, Go ſerve other Gods, he muſt not be heard with Patience, Deut. 13. 6, 8. Some Temptations have their Wickedneſs written in their Forehead, they are open before-hand, that are not to be diſputed with, but rejected: Get thee hence, Satan, away with it, I cannot bear the thought of it. While Satan tempted Chriſt to do himſelf a miſchief, by caſting himſelf down, tho' he yielded not, yet he heard it; but now the Temptation flies in the Face of God, he cannot bear it; Get thee hence, Satan. Note, It is a juſt Indignation which riſeth at the propoſal of any thing that reflects on the Honour of God, and ſtrikes at his Crown. Nay, whatever is an abominable thing, which we are ſure the Lord hates, we muſt thus abominate it; far be it from us that we ſhould have any thing to do with it. Note, It is good to be peremptory in reſiſting Temptation, and to ſtop our Ears to Satan's Charms.

2. With an Argument fetch'd from Scripture. Note, In order to the ſtrengthening of our Reſolutions againſt Sin, 'tis good to ſee what a great deal of Reaſon there is for thoſe Reſolutions. The Argument is very pat, and to the purpoſe, taken from Deut. 6. 13. and 10. 20. Thou ſhalt Worſhip the Lord thy God, and him only ſhalt thou ſerve, Chriſt doth not diſpute whether he were an Angel of Light, as he pretended, or no; but tho' he were, yet he muſt not be worſhipped, becauſe that's an Honour due to God only. Note, 'Tis good to make our Anſwers to Temptation as full and as brief as may be, ſo as not to leave room for objections. Our Saviour has recourſe to the fundamental Law in this Caſe, which is indiſpenſable, and univerſally obliging. Note, Religious Worſhip is due to God only, and muſt not be given to any Creature; 'tis a Flower of the Crown which cannot be alienated, a Branch of God's Glory, which he will not give to another, and which he would not give to his own Son, by obliging all Men to Honour the Son, even as they Honour the Father, if he had not been God, equal to him, and one with him. Chriſt quotes this Law concerning Religious Worſhip, and quotes it with Application to himſelf: (1.) To ſhew that in his Eſtate of Humiliation, he was himſelf made under this Law; tho' as God he was worſhipped, yet as Man he did Worſhip God, both publickly and privately. He obligeth us to no more than what he was firſt pleas'd to oblige himſelf to. Thus it became him to fulfil all Righteouſneſs. (2.) To ſhew that the Law of Religious Worſhip is of Eternal Obligation; and tho' he abrogated and alter'd many Inſtitutions of Worſhip, yet this fundamental Law of Nature, that God only is to be Worſhipped, he came to ratify and confirm, and enforce upon us.

Laſtly, We have here the end and Iſſue of this Combat, v. 11, Tho' the Children of God may be exercis'd with many and great Temptations, yet God will not ſuffer them to be tempted above the Strength which either they have, or he will put into them. 1 Cor. 10. 13. 'Tis but for a Seaſon that they are in heavineſs through manifold Temptations.

Now the Iſſue was glorious, and much to Chriſt's Honour, for

1. The Devil was baffled, and quitted the Field. Then the Devil leaveth him, forc'd to do ſo by the Power that went along with that Word of Command, Get thee hence, Satan. He made a ſhameful and inglorious Retreat, and came off with Diſgrace; and the more daring his Attempts had been, the more mortifying was the Foil that was given him. Magnes tamen excidit Auſis. Then when he had done his worſt, had Tempted him with all the Kingdoms of the World, and the Glory of them, and found that he was not influenc'd by that Bait, that he could not prevail with that Temptation, with which he has overthrown ſo many Thouſands of the Children of Men, then he leaves him; then he gives him over as more than a Man: Since this did not move him, he deſpairs of moving him, and begins to conclude that he is the Son of God, and 'tis in vain to tempt him any further, Note, If we reſiſt the Devil, he will flee from us, he will yield, if we keep our Ground; as when Naomi ſaw that Ruth was ſtedfaſtly reſolv'd, ſhe left off ſpeaking to her. When the Devil left our Saviour, he own'd himſelf fairly beaten; his Head was broken by the Attempt he made to bruiſe Chriſt's Heel. He left him becauſe he had nothing in him, nothing to take hold of; he ſaw it was to no purpoſe, and ſo gave off. Note, The Devil, tho' he is an Enemy to all the Saints, he is a conquer'd Enemy. The Captain of our Salvation has defeated and diſarm'd him, we have nothing to do but to purſue the Victory,

2. The holy Angels came and attended upon our Victorious Redeemer, Behold Angels came and Miniſter'd unto him. They came in a viſible Appearance, as the Devil had done in the Temptation, While the Devil was making his Aſſaults upon our Saviour, the Angels ſtood at a diſtance, and their immediate Attendance and Miniſtration was ſuſpended, that it might appear he vanquiſh'd Satan in his own Strength, and his Victory might be the more Illuſtrious; And that afterwards, when Michael makes uſe of his Angels in fighting with the Dragon and his Angels, it is not becauſe he needs them, or could not do his Work without them, but becauſe he is pleas'd to honour them ſo far as to employ them. One Angel might have ſerv'd to bring him Food, but here are many attending him, to teſtify their Reſpect to him, and their readineſs to receive his Commands, Behold this, 'tis worth taking Notice of; (1.) That as there is a world of wicked malicious Spirits that fight againſt Chriſt and his Church, and all particular Believers, ſo there is a world of holy bleſſed Spirits engag'd and employ'd for them. In reference to our War with Devils we may take abundance of comfort from our Communion with Angels. (2.) That Chriſt's Victories are the Angels Triumphs. The Angels came to congratulate Chriſt's Succeſs, to rejoyce with him, and to give him the Glory due to his Name; for what was ſung with a loud Voice in Heaven, when the great Dragon was caſt out, Rev. 12. 9, 10. Now is come Salvation and Strength. (3.) That the Angels Miniſter'd to the Lord Jeſus, not only Food, but whatever elſe he wanted after this great Fatigue. See how the Inſtances of Chriſt's Condeſcenſion and Humiliation were ballanc'd with Tokens of his Glory. As when he was Crucified im Weakneſs, yet he liv'd by the Power of God; ſo when in Weakneſs he was tempted, was hungry and weary, yet by his divine Power he commanded the Miniſtration of Angels. Thus the Son of Man did eat Angels Food, and like Elias, is fed by an Angel in the Wilderneſs, 1 Kings 19. 4, 7. Note, Tho' God may ſuffer his People to be brought into wants and Straits, yet he will take effectual Care for their Supply, will rather ſend Angels to feed them, than ſee them periſh. Truſt in the Lord, and verily thou ſhalt be fed, Pſal. 37. 3.

Chriſt was thus ſuccour'd after the Temptation, (1.) for his encouragement to go on in his Undertaking, that he might ſee the Powers of Heaven ſiding with him, when he ſaw the Powers of Hell ſet againſt him. (2.) For our encouragement to truſt in him; for as he knew by experience what it was to ſuffer, being tempted, and how hard that was, ſo he knew what it was to be ſuccour'd, being tempted, and how comfortable that was; and therefore we may expect, not only that he will ſympathize with his tempted People, but that he will come in with ſeaſonable Relief to them; as our great Melchizedek, who met Abraham when he returned from the Battel, and as the Angels here Miniſter'd to him.

Laſtly, Chriſt having been thus ſignaliz'd, and made great in the inviſible World by the Voice of the Father, the Deſcent of the Spirit, his Victory over Devils, and his Dominion over Angels, he was doubtleſs qualified to appear in the viſible World as the Mediator between God and Man; for conſider how great this Man was.

12 Now when Jeſus had heard that John was caſt into priſon, he departed into Galilee. 13 And leaving Nazareth, he came and dwelt in Capernaum which is upon the ſea coaſt, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim: 14 That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by Eſaias the Prophet, ſaying, 15 The Land of Zabulon, and the Land of Nephthalim, by the way of the ſea beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles: 16 The People which ſat in darkneſs ſaw great light: and to them which ſat in the region and ſhadow of death, light is ſprung up. 17 From that time Jeſus began to preach and to ſay, Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

We have here an account of Chriſt's preaching in the Synagogues of Galilee, for he came into the World to be a Preacher; the great Salvation which he wrought out, he himſelf began to Publiſh, Heb. 2. 3. to ſhew how much his Heart was upon it, and ours ſhould be.

Several Paſſages in the other Goſpels, eſpecially that of St. John, are ſuppos'd in the order of the Story of Chriſt's Life, to intervene between his Temptation and his Preaching in Galilee: his firſt Appearance after his Temptation, was when John Baptiſt pointed to him, ſaying, Behold the Lamb of God, John 1. 29. After that he went up to Jeruſalem to the Paſſover, John 2. diſcours'd with Nicodemus, John 3. with the Woman of Samaria, John 4. and then return'd into Galilee, and preach'd there. But Matthew having had his Reſidence in Galilee, begins his Story of Chriſt's publick Miniſtry, with his Preaching there, which here we have an account of. Obſerve

1. The Time; when Jeſus had heard that John was caſt into Priſon, then he went into Galilee, v. 12. Note, The Cry of the Saints Sufferings comes up into the Ears of the Lord Jeſus. If John be caſt into Priſon, Jeſus hears it, takes cognizance of it, and ſteers his Courſe accordingly; he remembers the Bonds and Afflictions that abide his People. Obſerve, (1.) Chriſt did not go into the Country, till he heard of John's Impriſonment; for he muſt have Time given him to prepare the Way of the Lord, before the Lord himſelf appear. Providence wiſely order'd it, that John ſhould be eclips'd before Chriſt ſhone forth; otherwiſe the Minds of People would have been diſtracted between the two; one would have ſaid, I am of John, and another, I am of Jeſus. John muſt be Chriſt's Harbinger, but not his Rival. Moon and Stars are loſt when the Sun riſeth. John had done his Work by the Baptiſm of Repentance, and then he is laid aſide. The Witneſſes were ſlain when they had finiſhed their Teſtimony, and not before, Rev. 11. 7. (2.) He did go into the Country as ſoon as he heard of John's Impriſonment; not only to ſhift for his own Saftey, knowing that the Phariſees in Judea were as much Enemies to him as Herod was to John, but to ſupply the want of John Baptiſt, and to build upon the good Foundation he had laid. Note, God will not leave himſelf without Witneſs, nor his Church without Guides; when he removes one uſeful Inſtrument, he can raiſe up another, for he has the reſidue of the Spirit, and he will do it, if he has Work to do. Moſes my Servant is dead, John is caſt into Priſon; now therefore Joſhua ariſe, Jeſus ariſe.

2. The Place where he Preach'd; in Galilee, a remote part of the Country, that lay fartheſt from Jeruſalem, and was there look'd upon with Contempt, as Rude and Booriſh. The Inhabitants of that Country were reckon'd ſtout Men, cut out for Soldiers, but not polite Men, or cut out for Scholars. Thither Chriſt went, there he ſet up the Standard of his Goſpel; and in this, as in other things, he humbled himſelf. Obſerve,

(1.) The particular City he choſe for his Reſidence; not Nazareth, where he had been bred up, no, he left Nazareth, particular notice is taken of that, v. 13. And with good Reaſon did he leave Nazareth; for the Men of that City thruſt him out from among them, Luke 4. 29. He made them his firſt, and a very fair Offer of his Service, but they rejected him and his Doctrine, and were filled with Indignation at him and it, and therefore he left Nazareth, and ſhook off the Duſt of his Feet for a Teſtimony againſt them there, that would not have him to Teach them. Nazareth was the firſt place that refuſed Chriſt, and was therefore refuſed by him. Note, It is juſt with God to take the Goſpel, and the Means of Grace from thoſe that ſlight them, and thruſt them away. Chriſt will not ſtay long where he is not welcome. Unhappy Nazareth! If thou hadſt known in this thy Day the things that belong to thy Peace, how well had it been for thee! But now they are hid from thine Eyes.

But he came and dwelt at Capernaum, which was a City of Galilee, but many Miles diſtance from Nazareth, a great City and of ſo much reſort. It is ſaid here to be on the Sea-coaſt, not the great Sea, but the Sea of Tiberias, an Inland-water, call'd alſo, the Lake of Genneſaret. Cloſe by the falling of Jordan into this Sea ſtood Capernaum, in the Tribe of Nepthali, but bordering unto Zebulon; hither Chriſt came, and here he dwelt; ſome think his Father Joſeph had a Habitation here, others, that he took a Houſe, or Lodgings at leaſt; and ſome think it more than probable, that he dwelt in the Houſe of Simon Peter; however, here he fix'd not conſtantly, for he went about doing Good; but this was for ſome time his head Quarters, what little Reſt he had was here; here he had a Place, tho' not a Place of his own to lay his Head on. And at Capernaum, it ſhould ſeem he was welcome, and met with better Entertainment than he had at Nazareth. Note, If ſome reject Chriſt, yet others will receive him, and bid him welcome. Capernaum is glad of Nazareth's Leavings: If Chriſt's own Countrymen be not gather'd, yet he will be Glorious. And thou Capernaum haſt now a Day of it; thou art now lifted up to Heaven, be wiſe for thy ſelf, and know the Time of thy Viſitation.

(2.) The Prophecy that was fulfill'd in this, v. 14, 15, 16. It is quoted out of Iſa. 9. 1, 2. but with ſome variation. The Prophet in that place is foretelling a greater Darkneſs of Affliction to befal the Contemners of Immanuel, than befel the Countries there mention'd, either in their firſt Captivity under Benhadad, which was but light, 1 Kings 15. 20. or their ſecond Captivity under the Aſſyrian, which was much heavier. 2 Kings 15. 29. The Puniſhment of the Jewiſh Nation for rejecting the Goſpel ſhould be ſorer than either; ſee Iſa. 8. 21, 22. for thoſe captiv'd Places had ſome reviving in their Bondage, and ſaw a great Light again, Chap. 9. 2. This is Iſaiah's Senſe; but the Scripture has many fulfillings, and the Evangeliſt here takes only the latter Clauſe, which ſpeaks of the return of the Light of Liberty, and Proſperity to thoſe Countries that had been in the Darkneſs of Captivity, and applies it to the appearing of the Goſpel among them.

The Places are ſpoken of, v. 15. The Land of Zebulon is rightly ſaid to be by the Sea-coaſt, for Zebulon was a Haven of Ships, and rejoiced in her going out, Gen. 49. 13. Deut. 33. 18. Of Nephthali, it had been ſaid, that he ſhould give goodly words, Gen. 49. 21 and ſhould be ſatisfied with favour. Deut 33. 23. for from him began the Goſpel; goodly words indeed, and ſuch as bring to a Soul God's ſatisfying Favour. The Country beyond Jordan is mention'd likewiſe, for there we ſometimes find Chriſt Preaching; and Galilee of the Gentiles, the upper Galilee to which the Gentiles reſorted for Traffick, and were mingled with the Jews; which intimates a Kindneſs in reſerve for the poor Gentiles. When Chriſt came to Capernaum, the Goſpel came to all thoſe Places round about, ſuch diffuſive Influences did the Sun of Righteouſneſs caſt.

Now concerning the Inhabitants of theſe Places, obſerve (1.) the Poſture they were in before the Goſpel came among them, v. 16. They were in Darkneſs. Note, Thoſe that are without Chriſt, are in the Dark, nay, they are Darkneſs it ſelf; as the Darkneſs that was upon the face of the Deep. Nay, they were in the Region and Shadow of Death, which notes not only great Darkneſs, as the Grave is a Land of Darkneſs, but great Danger: A Man that's deſperately ſick, and not likely to recover, is in the Valley of the Shadow of Death, tho' not quite dead, ſo the poor People were in the Borders of Damnation, tho' not yet damn'd, dead in Law. And which is worſt of all, they were ſitting in this Condition. Sitting is a continuing Poſture; where we ſit, we mean to ſtay; they were in the Dark, and likely to be ſo, deſpairing to find the way out: And it is a contented Poſture; they were in the Dark, and they lov'd Darkneſs, they choſe it rather than Light; they were willingly ignorant. Their Condition was ſad; 'tis ſtill the condition of many great and mighty Nations that are to be thought of, and pray'd for with Pity. But their Condition is more ſad who ſit in Darkneſs in the midſt of Goſpel-Light. He that's in the Dark becauſe 'tis Night, may be ſure the Sun will ſhortly ariſe; but he that's in the Dark becauſe he is blind, will not ſo ſoon have his Eyes open'd. We have the Light, but what will that avail us, if we be not Light in the Lord.

(2.) The Privilege they enjoy'd when Chriſt and his Goſpel came among them, as great a reviving as ever it was to a benighted Traveller. Note, When the Goſpel comes, Light comes; when it comes to any Place, when it comes to any Soul, it makes Day there, John 3. 19. Luke 1. 78, 79. Light is diſcovering, 'tis directing, ſo is the Goſpel.

It is a great Light, noting the Clearneſs and Evidence of Goſpel-Revelations; not like the Light of a Candle; but the Light of the Sun, when he goes forth in his Strength. Great in compariſon with the Light of the Law, the Shadows of which were now done away. 'Tis a great Light, for it diſcovers great things, and of vaſt conſequence; 'twill laſt long, and ſpread far. And it is a growing Light, intimated in that Word, 'tis ſprung up. It was but Spring of Day with them; now the Day dawn'd, which afterwards ſhone more and more. The Goſpel-Kingdom, like a Grain of Muſtard-Seed, or the Morning-light, was ſmall in its Beginnings, gradual in its Growth, but great in its Perfection.

Obſerve, The Light ſprung up to them; they did not go to ſeek it, but were prevented with the Bleſſings of this Goodneſs. It came upon them e'er they were aware, at the time appointed; by the Diſpoſal of him who commandeth the Morning, and cauſeth the Day-ſpring to know its Place, that it may take hold of the Ends of the Earth, Job 38. 12, 13.

The Text he Preach'd upon, v. 17. from that time, i. e. from the time of his coming into Galilee, into the Land of Zebulun and Nephthali, from that time he began to Preach. He had been Preaching before this in Judea, and had made and Baptized many Diſciples, John 4. 1. But his Preaching was not ſo publick and conſtant as now it began to be. The Work of the Miniſtry is ſo great and awful, that 'tis fit to be enter'd upon by Steps, and gradual Advances.

The Subject Chriſt dwelt upon now in his Preaching, and it was indeed the Sum and Subſtance of all his Preaching, was the very ſame that John had Preach'd upon Chap. 3. 2. Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; for the Goſpel is the ſame for Subſtance, under various Diſpenſations; the Commands the ſame, and the Reaſons to inforce them the ſame; an Angel from Heaven dare not Preach any other Goſpel, Gal. 1. 8. and will Preach this; for it is the Everlaſting Goſpel. Fear God, and by Repentance give Honour to him, Rev. 14. 6, 7. Chriſt put a great Reſpect upon John's Miniſtry, when he Preach'd to the ſame purpoſe that he had Preach'd before him. By this he ſhewed that John was his Meſſenger, and Ambaſſador, for when he brought the Errand himſelf, 'twas the ſame that he had ſent by him, Thus did God Confirm the Word of his Meſſengers, Iſa. 44. 26. The Son came on the ſame Errand that the Servants came on, Matt. 21. 37. to ſeek Fruit; Fruits meet for Repentance. Chriſt had lain in the Boſom of the Father, and could have preach'd ſublime Notions of divine and Heavenly Things, that ſhould have alarm'd and amuz'd the learned World, but he pitcheth upon this old plain Text, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. (1.) This he Preach'd firſt upon; he began with this: Miniſters muſt not be ambitious of broaching new Opinions, framing new Schemes, or coining new Expreſſions, but muſt content themſelves with plain practical things; with the Word that is nigh us, even in our Mouth, and in our Heart; we need not go up to Heaven, or down to the Deep, for Matter or Language in our Preaching. As John prepar'd Chriſt's Way, ſo Chriſt prepar'd his own, and made way for the further Diſcoveries he deſign'd with the Doctrine of Repentance. If any Man will do this part of his Will, he ſhall know more of his Doctrine, John 7. 17. (2.) This he preach'd often upon; wherever he went this was his Subject, and neither he nor his Followers ever reckon'd it worn threadbare, as thoſe would have done that have itching Ears, and are fond of Novelty and Variety, more than that which is truly edifying. Note, That which has been Preach'd and heard before, may yet very profitably be Preach'd and heard again; but then it ſhould be Preach'd and heard better, and with new Affections; what Paul had ſaid before, he ſaid again weeping, Phil. 3. 1, 18. (3.) This he Preach'd as Goſpel; Repent, review your Ways, and return to your ſelves. Note, The Doctrine of Repentance is right Goſpel-doctrine. It was not only the auſtere Baptiſt that was look'd upon as a melancholly moroſe Man, but the ſweet and gracious Jeſus, whoſe Lips dropt as a Honey-comb that Preach'd Repentance; for it is an unſpeakable Privilege that room is left for Repentance. (4.) The Reaſon is ſtill the ſame. The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; for it was not reckon'd to be fully come till the pouring out of the Spirit after Chriſt's Aſcenſion. John had Preach'd the Kingdom of Heaven at hand, above a Year before this; but now it was ſo much nearer, the Argument was ſo much the ſtronger; now is the Salvation nearer, Rom. 13. 11. We ſhould be ſo much the more quicken'd to our Duty, as we ſee the Day approaching, Heb. 10. 25.

18 And Jeſus walking by the ſea of Galilee, ſaw two brethren, Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother, caſting a net into the Sea: (for they were fiſhers) 19 And he ſaith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fiſhers of men. 20 And they ſtraightway left their nets, and followed him. 21 And going from thence, he ſaw other two brethren, James the ſon of Zebedee, and John his brother in a ſhip with Zebedee their father, mending their nets: and he called them. 22 And they immediately left the ſhip and their father, and followed him.

When Chriſt began to Preach, he began to gather Diſciples, that ſhould now be the Hearers, and hereafter the Preachers of his Doctrine, that ſhould now be Witneſſes of his Miracles, and hereafter concerning them. Now in theſe Verſes we have an Account of the firſt Diſciples that he call'd into Fellowſhip with himſelf.

And this was an Inſtance (1.) of effectual Calling to Chriſt. In all his Preaching he gave a common Call to all the Country, but in this he gave a ſpecial and particular Call to thoſe that were given him by the Father. Let us ſee and admire the Power of Chriſt's Grace, own his Word to be the Rod of his Strength, and wait upon him for thoſe powerful Influences which are neceſſary to the Efficacy of the Goſpel-call, thoſe diſtinguiſhing Influences. All the Country was call'd; but thoſe were call'd out, were Redeemed from among Men: Chriſt was ſo manifeſted to them, as he was not manifeſted unto the World. (2.) It was an Inſtance of Ordination, and Appointment to the Work of the Miniſtry. When Chriſt as a Teacher ſet up his great School, one of his firſt Works was to appoint Uſhers, or Under-maſters to be employ'd in teaching Work. Now he began to give Gifts unto Men, to put the Treaſure into Earthen-Veſſels. 'Twas an early Inſtance of his Care for his Church.

Now we may obſerve here,

1. Where they were called, by the Sea of Galilee where Jeſus was walking, Capernaum ſtanding near that Sea. Concerning this Sea of Tiberias, the Jews have a Saying, That of all the ſeven Seas that God made, he made Choice of none but this Sea of Genneſaret, which is very applicable to Chriſt's Chocie of it, to honour it, as he ofteh did with his Preſence and Miracles. Here on the Banks of the Sea Chriſt was walking for Contemplation, as Iſaac in the Field, hither he went to call Diſciples; not to Herod's Court, for few Mighty or Noble are call'd; not to Jeruſalem, among the chief Prieſts, and the Elders, but to the Sea of Galilee; ſurely Chriſt ſees not as Man ſees. Not but that the ſame Power which effectually called Peter and Andrew, would have wrought upon Annas and Caiaphas, for with God nothing is impoſſible, but as in other things, ſo in his Converſe and Attendanc he would humble himſelf, and ſhew that God hath choſen the Poor of this World. Galilee was a remote Part of the Nation, the Inhabitants were leſs cultivated and refin'd, their very Language was broad and uncouth to the curious, their Speech betray'd them: Thoſe that were pick'd up at the Sea of Galilee had not the Advantages and Improvements, no, not of the more poliſh'd Galileans, yet thither Chriſt went to call his Apoſtles that were to be the prime Miniſters of State in his Kingdom, for he chuſeth the fooliſh things of the World to confound the Wiſe.

2. Who they were. Two pair of Brothers we have an account of the Call of in theſe Verſes, Peter and Andrew, James and John; the two former, and probably the two latter alſo had had Acquaintance with Chriſt before, John 1. 40, 41. but were not till now call'd into a cloſe and conſtant Attendance upon him. Note, Chriſt brings poor Souls by degrees into fellowſhip with himſelf. They had been Diſciples of John, and ſo were the better diſpos'd to follow Chriſt. Note, Thoſe that have ſubmitted to the Diſcipline of Repentanc ſhall be welcome to the Joys of Faith. We may obſerve concerning them,

(1.) That they were Brothers. Note, It is a bleſſed thing, when thoſe that are Kinſmen according to the Fleſh (as the Apoſtle ſpeaks Rom. 9. 3.) are brought together in to a ſpiritual Alliance to Jeſus Chriſt. 'Tis the Honour and Comfort of a Houſe, when thoſe that are of the ſame Family are of God's Family.

(2.) That they were Fiſhers. And being Fiſhers, (1.) they were poor Men; if they had had Eſtates, or any conſiderable Stock in Trade, they would not have made it their Trade, however they might have made this their Recreation. Note, Chriſt doth not deſpiſe the Poor, and therefore we muſt not; the Poor are Evangeliz'd, and the Fountain of Honour ſometimes gives more abundant Honour to that part which moſt lack'd. (2.) They were unlearned Men, not bred up to Books, or Literature, as Moſes was, who was converſant with all the Learning of the Egyptians. Note, Chriſt ſometimes chuſeth to endow thoſe with the Gifts of Grace that have leaſt to ſhew of the Gifts of Nature. Yet this will not juſtify the bold Intruſion of ignorant and unqualified Men upon the Work of the Miniſtry; extraordinary Gifts of Knowledge and Utterance are not now to be expected, but requiſite Abilities muſt be obtain'd in an ordinary way, and without a competent meaſure of theſe, none are to be admitted to that Service. (3.) They were Men of Buſineſs, that thad been bred up to Labour. Note, Diligence in an honeſt Calling is pleaſing to Chriſt, and no hindrance to a holy Life. Moſes was call'd from keeping Sheep, and David from followiug the Ewes, to eminent Employments. Idle People lie open more to the Temptations of Satan, than to the Calls of God. (4.) They were Men that were accuſtom'd to Hardſhips and Hazards; the Fiſhers Trade, more than any other, is Laborious and Perilous: Fiſhermen muſt be often wet and cold, they muſt watch, and wait, and toil, and be often in Peril by Waters. Note, Thoſe that have learn'd to bear Hardſhips, and to run Hazards, are beſt prepar'd for the Fellowſhip and Diſcipleſhip of Jeſus Chriſt. Good Soldiers of Chriſt muſt endure Hardneſs.

3. What they were doing. Peter and Andrew were then uſing their Nets, they were Fiſhing, and James and John were mending their Nets. Which was and Inſtance of their Induſtry, and their good Huſbandry; they did not go to their Father for Money to buy new Nets, but took pains to mend their old ones. What we have, 'tis commendable, mendable to make it go as far, and laſt as long as may be. James and John were with their Father Zebedee, ready to aſſiſt him, and make his Buſineſs eaſy to him. Note, It is a happy and hopeful Preſage to ſee Children careful of their Parents, and dutiful to them. Obſerve, They were all employ’d, all very buſy, and none idle. Note, When Chriſt comes, ’tis good to be fonnd doing. Am I in Chriſt? is a very needful Queſtion for us to aſk our ſelves, and next to that, Am I in my Calling? (2.) They were differently employ’d; two of them were Fiſhing, and two of them mending their Nets. Note, Miniſters ſhould be always employ’d, either in Teaching or Studying; they may always find themſelves ſomething to do, if it be not their own Fault. And mending their Nets is in its Seaſon, as neceſſary Work as Fiſhing.

4. What the Call was, v. 19. Follow me, and I will make you Fiſhers of Men. They had follow’d Chriſt before as ordinary Diſciples, Joh. 1. 37. but ſo they might follow Chriſt, and follow their Calling too; therefore they were call’d to a more cloſe and conſtant Attendance, and muſt leave their Calling. Note, Even thoſe that have been call’d to follow Chriſt, yet have need to be call’d to follow on, and to follow nearer, eſpecially when they are deſign’d for the Work of the Miniſtry. Obſerve,

(1.) What Chriſt intended them for. I will make you Fiſhers of Men; this alludes to their former Calling. Let them not be proud of the new Honour deſign’d them, they are ſtill but Fiſhers; let them not be afraid of the new Work cut out for them, for they have been us’d to Fiſhing, and Fiſhers they are ſtill. ’Twas uſual with Chriſt to ſpeak of Spiritual and Heavenly Things under ſuch Alluſions, and in ſuch expreſſions as took riſe from common things that offer’d themſelves to his view. David was call’d from feeding Sheep, to feed God’s Iſrael, and when he is a King, is a Shepherd. Note, 1. Miniſters are Fiſhers of Men, not to deſtroy them, but to ſave them, by bringing them into another Element. They muſt fiſh not for Wrath, Wealth, Honour and Preferment, to gain them to themſelves, but for Souls, to gain them to Chriſt. They watch for your Souls, Heb. 13. 17. and ſeek not yours, but you, 2 Cor. 12. 14, 16. (2.) It is Jeſus Chriſt that makes them ſo, I will make you Fiſhers of Men. ’Tis he that qualifies Men for this Work, calls them to it, authorizeth them in it, and gives them Succeſs in it, gives them Commiſſion to fiſh for Souls, and Wiſdom to win them. Thoſe Miniſters are likely to have Comfort in their Work that are thus made by Jeſus Chriſt.

(2.) What they muſt do in order to this. Follow me. They muſt ſeparate themſelves to a diligent Attendance on him, and ſet themſelves to a humble Imitation of him, muſt follow him as their Leader. Note, 1. Thoſe whom Chriſt employs in any Service for him, ’tis requiſite they be firſt fitted and qualified for it. 2. Thoſe that would preach Chriſt, muſt firſt learn Chriſt, and learn of him. How can we expect to bring others to the Knowledge of Chriſt, if we do not know him well ourſelves. 3. Thoſe that would get an Acquaintance with Chriſt, muſt be diligent and conſtant in their Attendance on him. The Apoſtles were prepar’d for their Work by companying with Chriſt all the time that he went in and out among them, Acts 1. 21. There’s no Learning comparable to that which is got by following Chriſt. Joſhua by miniſtring to Moſes is fitted to be his Succeſſor. (4.) Thoſe that are to fiſh for Men, muſt therein follow Chriſt and do it as he did, with Diligence, Faithfulneſs, and Tenderneſs, Chriſt is the great Pattern for Preachers, and they ought to be workers together with him.

5. What was the Succeſs of this Call? Peter and Andrew ſtraitway left their Nets, v. 20. and James and John immediately left the Ship, and their Father, v. 22. and they all followed him, Note, Thoſe that would follow Chriſt aright, muſt leave all to follow him. Every Chriſtian muſt leave all in Affection, ſit looſe to all, muſt hate Father and Mother, Luke 14. 26. muſt love them leſs than Chriſt; muſt be ready to part with his Intereſt in them, rather than with his Intereſt in Jeſus Chriſt; but thoſe that are devoted to the Work of the Miniſtry, are in a ſpecial manner concern’d to diſentangle themſelves from all the Affairs of this Life, that they may give themſelves wholly to that Work which requires the whole Man. Now

1. This Inſtance of the Power of the Lord Jeſus, gives us a good Encouragement to depend upon the Sufficiency of his Grace. How ſtrong and effectual is his Word! he ſpeaks and it is done. The ſame Power goes along with this Word of Chriſt, Follow me, that went along with that Word, Lazarus, come forth; a Power to make willing, Pſal. 110. 3.

2. This Inſtance of the Pliableneſs of the Diſciples, gives us a good Example of Obedience to the Command of Chriſt. Note, It is the good Property of all Chriſt’s faithful Servants, to come when they are call’d, and to follow their Maſter wherever he leads them. They objected not their preſent Employments, their Engagements to their Families, the Difficulties of the Service they were call’d to, or their own unfitneſs for it, but being call’d, they obey’d, and, like Abraham, went out, not knowing whither they went, but knowing very well whom they followed. James and John left their Father, ’tis not ſaid what came of him; their Mother Salome was a conſtant follower of Chriſt. No doubt their Father Zebedee was a Believer, but the Call to follow Chriſt faſtned on the young ones; Youth is the learning Age, and the labouring Age. The Prieſts miniſter’d in the prime of their Time.

23 And Jeſus went about all Galilee, teaching in their ſynagogues, and preaching the goſpel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of ſickneſs, and all manner of diſeaſe among the people. 24 And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all ſick people that were taken with divers diſeaſes and torments, and thoſe which were poſſeſſed with devils, and thoſe which were lunatick, and thoſe that had the palſie; and he healed them. 25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jeruſalem, and from Judea, and from beyond Jordan.

See here, 1. What an induſtrious Preacher Chriſt was; he went about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, and Preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom. Obſerve (1.) what Chriſt Preach’d, the Goſpel of the Kingdom. The Kingdom of Heaven, that is, of Grace and Glory, is emphatically the Kingdom, the Kingdom that was now to come; that Kingdom that ſhall ſurvive, as it doth ſurpaſs all the Kingdoms of the Earth. The Goſpel is the Charter of that Kingdom, containing the King’s Coronation Oath, by which he hath graciouſly oblig’d himſelf to pardon, protect, and ſave the Subjects of that Kingdom; and their Oath of Allegiance, by which they oblige themſelves to obſerve his Statutes, and ſeek his Honour; this is the Goſpel of the Kingdom, this Chriſt was himſelf the Preacher of, that our Faith in it might be confirm’d. (2.) Where he Preach’d, in the Synagogues; not there only, but there chiefly, becauſe thoſe were the Places of Concourſe, where Wiſdom was to lift up her Voice, Prov. 1. 21. Becauſe they were Places of Concourſe for Religious Worſhip, and there it was to be hoped People’s Minds would be prepar’d to receive the Goſpel. And there the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament were read, the Expoſition of which would eaſily introduce the Goſpel of the Kingdom. (3.) What Pains he took in Preaching; he went about all Galilee Teaching. He might have iſſued out a Proclamation, to Summon all to come in to him, but to ſhew his Humility, and the Condeſcentions of his Grace, he goes to them; for he waits to be gracious, and comes to ſeek and ſave. Joſephus ſaith, there were above two hundred Cities and Towns in Galilee, and all or moſt of them Chriſt viſited. He went about doing Good. Never was there ſuch an itinerant Preacher, ſuch an indefatigable one as Chriſt was; he went a begging from Town to Town to beſeech poor Sinners to be reconcil’d to God. This is an Example to Miniſters to lay out to do Good, and to be inſtant and conſtant, in Seaſon, and out of Seaſon, to preach the Word.

2. What a powerful Phyſician Chriſt was. He went about, not only Teaching, but Healing, and both with his Word, that he might magnify that above all his Name. He ſent his Word and heal’d them. Now, obſerve,

1. What Diſeaſes he cur’d, all, without exception. He healed all manner of Sickneſs, and all manner of Diſeaſe. They are Diſeaſes that are call’d the Reproach of Phyſicians, that are obſtinate to all the Methods they can preſcribe, but even thoſe were the Glory of this Phyſician, for he heal’d them all, tho’ never ſo inveterate. His Word was the true Panpharmacon, All-Heal.

Three general Words are here us’d to intimate this; he heal’d every Sickneſs, Νόσον, as Blindneſs, Lameneſs, Fever, Dropſy; every Diſeaſe, or Languiſhing, Μαλακίαν, as Fluxes, and Conſumptions, and all Torments, Βασάνοις, Gout, Stone, Convulſions, and ſuch like torturing Diſtempers; wether the Diſeaſe was Acute, or Chronical; whether it was a racking, or a waſting Diſeaſe, none was too bad, none too hard, for Chriſt to heal with a Word’s ſpeaking.

Three particular Diſeaſes are inſtanc’d in it; the Palſy, which is the greateſt Weakneſs of the Body, Lunacy, which is the greateſt Malady of the Mind, and Poſſeſſion of the Devil, which is the greateſt Miſery and Calamity of both; yet Chriſt heal’d all, for he is the Sovereign Phyſician both of Soul and Body, and has command of all Diſeaſes.

2. What Patients he had. Such a Phyſician, that was ſo eaſie of Acceſs, ſo ſure of Succeſs, that cur’d immediately, without either a painful Suſpence and Expectation, or ſuch painful Remedies as are worſe than the Diſeaſe; that cur’d gratis, and took no Fees, could not but have abundance of Patients: See here what flocking there was to him from all Parts; great Multitudes of People came, not only from Galilee, and the Country about, but even from Jeruſalem, and from Judea, that lay a great way off, for his Fame went throughout all Syria; not only among all the People of the Jews, but among the neighbour Nations, which by the Report that now ſpread far and near concerning him, would be prepar’d to receive his Goſpel, when afterwards it ſhould be brought them. This is given as the Reaſon why ſuch Multitudes came to him, becauſe his Fame ſpread ſo as it did. Note, What we hear of Chriſt from others ſhould invite us to him. The Queen of Sheba was brought by the Fame of Solomon to give him a Viſit. The Voice of Fame is, Come and See. Chriſt both Taught and Heal’d; thoſe that came for Cures, met with Inſtructions concerning the things that belong’d to their Peace. It’s well if any thing will bring People to Chriſt, and thoſe that come to him, will find more with him than they expected. Theſe Syrians like Naaman the Syrian, coming to be heal’d of their Diſeaſes, many of them became Converts, 2 Kings 5. 15, 17. They ſought Health for the Body, and obtain’d the Salvation of the Soul; like Saul, that ſought the Aſſes, and found the Kingdom. Yet it appear’d by the Iſſue that many of them who rejoyc’d in Chriſt as a Healer, forgot him as a Teacher.

Now concerning the Cures which Chriſt wrought, let us once for all obſerve the Miracle, the Mercy, and the Myſtery of them.

1. The Miracle of them; they were wrought in ſuch a manner as plainly ſpoke them the immediate Products of a divine and ſupernatural Power, and they were God's Seal to his Commiſſion. Nature could not do theſe things, it was the God of Nature; the Cures were many, of Diſeaſes incurable by the Art of the Phyſician, of Perſons that were Strangers, of all Ages and Conditions; the Cures were wrought openly, before many Witneſſes, in mixt Companies of Perſons that would have deny'd the Matter of Fact, if they could have had any Colour for it: No Cure ever failed, or was afterwards call'd in queſtion; they were wrought ſpeedily, and not (as Cures by natural Cauſes) gradually; they were perfect Cures, and wrought with a Word ſpeaking: All which proves him a Teacher come from God, for otherwiſe none could have done the Works that he did, John 3. 2. He appeals to theſe as Credentials, Mat. 11. 4, 5. John 5. 36. It was expected that the Meſſiah ſhould work Miracles, John 7. 31. Miracles of this nature, Iſa. 35. 5, 6. And we have this Proof beyond diſpute, of his being the Meſſiah; never was any Man that did thus. And therefore his Healing and his Preaching generally went together, for the former confirm'd the latter; thus here he began to do and to teach, Acts 1. 1.

2. The Mercy of them. The Miracles that Moſes wrought to prove his Miſſion, were moſt of them Plagues and Judgments, to intimate the Terror of that Diſpenſation, tho' from God; but the Miracles that Chriſt wrought were moſt of them Cures, and all of them (except the Curſing of the barren Figtree) Bleſſings and Favours; for the Goſpel-Diſpenſation is founded and built up in Love, and Grace, and Sweetneſs; and the Management, ſuch as tends not to affright, but allure us to Obedience. Chriſt deſign'd by his Cures to win upon People, and to ingratiate himſelf and his Doctrine into their Minds, and ſo to draw them with the Bands of Love, Hoſ. 11. 4. The Miracle of them prov'd his Doctrine a faithful Saying, and convinc'd Men's Judgments; the Mercy of them prov'd it worthy of all Acceptation, and wrought upon their Affections. They were not only great Works, but good Works that he ſhew'd them from his Father, John 10. 32. And this Goodneſs was intended to lead Men to Repentance, Rom. 2. 4. As alſo to ſhew, that Kindneſs, and Beneficence, and doing Good to all to the utmoſt of our Power and Opportunity, is an eſſential Branch of that holy Religion which Chriſt came into the World to Eſtabliſh.

3. The Myſtery of them. Chriſt by curing bodily Diſeaſes, intended to ſhew that his great Errand into the World was to cure ſpiritual Maladies. He is the Sun of Righteouſneſs that ariſeth with this Healing under his Wings. As the Converter of Sinners, he is the Phyſician of Souls, and has taught us to call him ſo, Mat. 9. 12, 13. Sin is the Sickneſs, Diſeaſe and Torment of the Soul; Chriſt came to take away Sin, and ſo to heal theſe. And the particular Stories of the Cures Chriſt wrought, may not only be apply'd ſpiritually by way of Alluſion and Illuſtration, but I believe are very much intended to reveal to us ſpiritual Things, and to ſet before us the Way and Method of Chriſt's dealing with Souls in their Converſion and Sanctification; and thoſe Cures are recorded that were moſt ſignificant and inſtructive this way; and they are therefore ſo to be explain'd, and improv'd to the Honour and Praiſe of that Glorious Redeemer, who forgiveth all our Iniquities, and ſo healeth all our Diſeaſes.

CHAP. V.

This Chapter, and the two that follow it are a Sermon, a famous Sermon, the Sermon upon the Mount; 'tis the longeſt, and fulleſt continued Diſcourſe of our Saviour's that we have upon Record in all the Goſpels. 'Tis a practical Diſcourſe, there is not much of the Credenda of Chriſtianity in it, the things to be believ'd, but it is wholly taken up with the Agenda, the things to be done: theſe Chriſt began with in his Preaching, for if any Man will do his Will, he ſhall know of the Doctrine, whether it be of God. The Circumſtances of the Sermon being accounted for, v. 1, 2. follows the Sermon it ſelf, the Scope of which is not to fill our Heads with Notions, but to guide and regulate our Practice. (1.) He propoſeth Bleſſedneſs as the End, and gives us the Character of thoſe who are entitled to Bleſſedneſs, very different from the Sentiments of a vain World, in eight Beatitudes, which may juſtly be called Paradoxes, v. 3.—12. (2.) He preſcribes Duty as the Way, and gives us ſtanding Rules of that Duty. He directs his Diſciples, (1.) to underſtand what they are, the Salt of the Earth, and the Lights of the World, v. 13.—16. (2.) To underſtand what they have to do; they are to be Govern'd by the Moral Law. Here is (1.) a general Ratification of the Law, and a Recommendation of it to us as our Rule, v. 17—20. (2.) A particular Rectification of divers Miſtakes, or rather a Reformation of divers wilful groſs Corruptions, which the Scribes and Phariſees had introduc'd in their Expoſition of the Law, and an authentick Explication of divers Branches that moſt needed to be explain'd and vindicated, v. 20. Particularly here is an Explication (1.) of the Sixth Commandment, which forbids Murder, v. 21.—26. (2.) Of the Seventh Commandment, againſt Adultery, v. 27.—32. (3.) Of the Third Commandment, v. 33.—37. (4.) Of the Law of Retaliation, v. 38.—42. (5.) Of the Law of Brotherly Love, v. 43.—48. And the Scope of all this is to ſhew that the Law is Spiritual.

AND ſeeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was ſet, his diſciples came unto him. 2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, ſaying,

We have here a general account of this Sermon.

1. The Preacher was our Lord Jeſus, the Prince of Preachers, the great Prophet of his Church, who came into the World to be the Light of the World. The Prophets, and John had done virtuouſly in preaching, but Chriſt excelled them all. He is the Eternal Wiſdom, that lay in the Boſom of the Father before all Worlds, and perfectly knew his Will, John 1. 18. And he is the Eternal Word, by whom he has in theſe laſt Days ſpoken to us. The many miraculous Cures Chriſt wrought in Galilee, which we read of in the cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, were intended to make way for this Sermon, and to diſpoſe People to receive Inſtructions from one, in whom there appear'd ſo much of a divine Power and Goodneſs. And probably, this Sermon was the Summary or Rehearſal of what he had preach'd up and down in the Synagogues of Galilee. His Text was, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. This is a Sermon upon the former part of that Text, ſhewing, what it is to Repent, it is to Reform, both in Judgment and Practice; and he here tells us wherein, in anſwer to that Queſtion, Mal. 3. 7. Wherein ſhall we return? He afterwards Preach'd upon the latter part of the Text, when in divers Parables he ſhew'd what the Kingdom of Heaven is like, Mat. 13.

2. The Place was a Mountain in Galilee. As in other things, ſo in this our Lord Jeſus was but ill accommodated; he had no convenient Place to preach in, no more than to lay his Head on. While the Scribes and Phariſees had Moſes's Chair to ſit in, with all the Eaſe, Honour, and State that might be, and there corrupted the Law, our Lord Jeſus, the great Teacher of Truth is driven out to the Deſart, and finds no better a Pulpit than a Mountain can afford him. And not one of the holy Mountains neither, not one of the Mountains of Zion, but a common Mountain, by which Chriſt would intimate, that there is no ſuch diſtinguiſhing Holineſs of Places now under the Goſpel, as there was under the Law; but 'tis the Will of God that Men ſhould Pray, and Preach every where, any where, provided it be decent and convenient. Chriſt Preach'd this Sermon, which was an Expoſition of the Law, upon a Mountain, becauſe upon a Mountain the Law was given. And this was alſo a ſolemn Promulgation of the Chriſtian Law; but obſerve the difference, when the Law was given, the Lord came down upon the Mountain, now the Lord went up; then he ſpoke in Thunder and Lightning, now in a ſtill, ſmall Voice; Then the People were bid to keep their Diſtance, now they are invited to draw near; a bleſſed Change! If God's Grace and Goodneſs be (as certainly it is) his Glory, then the Glory of the Goſpel is the Glory that excelleth, for Grace and Truth came by Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Cor. 3. 7. Heb. 12. 18. 'Twas foretold of Zebulun and Iſſachar, two of the Tribes of Galilee, (Deu. 33. 19) that they ſhall call the People to the Mountain; to this Mountain we are call'd, to learn to Offer the Sacrifices of Righteouſneſs. Now was this the Mountain of the Lord, where he taught us his Ways, Iſa. 2. 2, 3. Mic. 4. 1, 2.

3. The Auditors were his Diſciples, who came unto him, came at his Call, as appears by comparing Mark 3. 13. Luke 6. 13. To them he directed his Speech, becauſe they follow'd him for Love and Learning, while others attended him only for Cures. He taught them, becauſe they were willing to be taught; the Meek will he teach his Way: And becauſe they would underſtand what he taught, which to others were Fooliſhneſs, and becauſe they were to teach others; and it was therefore requiſite they ſhould have a clear and diſtinct Knowledge of theſe things themſelves. The Duties preſcrib'd in this Sermon were to be conſcientiouſly perform'd by all thoſe that would enter into that Kingdom of Heaven they were ſent to ſet up, with hope to have the benefit of it. But tho' this Diſcourſe be directed to the Diſciples, 'twas in the hearing of the Multitude; for it is ſaid, Chap. 7. 28. the People were aſtoniſhed. Here were no Bounds ſet about this Mountain to keep the People off, as were about Mount Sinai, Exod. 19. 12. For through Chriſt we have Acceſs to God, not only to ſpeak to him, but to hear from him. Nay, he had an eye to the Multitude in preaching this Morning. When the Fame of his Miracles had brought a vaſt Croud together, he took the Opportunity of ſo great a Confluence of People to inſtruct them. Note, It is an encouragement to a faithful Miniſter to caſt the Net of the Goſpel where there are a great many Fiſh, in hopes ſome will be caught. The ſight of a Multitude puts Life into a Preacher, which yet muſt ariſe from a Deſire of their Profit, not his own Praiſe.

4. The Solemnity of his Sermon is intimated in that word when he was ſet. Chriſt preached many times occaſionally, and by interlocutory Diſcourſes, but this was a ſet Sermon, καθίσαντος αὐτοῦ, when he had placed himſelf ſo as to be beſt heard. He ſat down as a Judge, or Lawgiver. It intimates with what Sedateneſs and Compoſure of Mind the things of God ſhould be ſpoken and heard of. He ſat that the Scriptures might be fulfilled, Mal. 3. 3. He ſhall ſit as a Refiner, to purge away the Droſs, the corrupt Doctrines of the Sons of Levi. He ſat as in the Throne, judging right. Pſal. 9. 4. for the Word he ſpake ſhall judge us. That Phraſe, He opened his Mouth, is only a Hebrew Periphraſis of ſpeaking, as John 3. 1. yet ſome think it notes the Solemnity of this Diſcourſe; the Congregation being large he raiſed his Voice, and ſpoke louder than uſual. He had ſpoken long by his Servants the Prophets, and open'd their Mouths, Ezek. 3. 27.—24. 27.—33. 22. But now he opened his own, and ſpoke with freedom, as one having Authority. One of the Ancients has this Remark upon it, Chriſt taught much without opening his Mouth, viz. by his holy and exemplary Life; nay, he taught when being led as a Lamb to the Slaughter, he opened not his Mouth; but now he open'd his Mouth and taught, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd, Prov. 8. 1, 2, 6. Doth not Wiſdom cry? Cry on the top of high Places? and the opening of Her Lips ſhall be right thigns. He taught them according to the Promiſe, Iſa. 54. 13. All thy Children ſhall be taught of the Lord, for this purpoſe he had the Tongue of the Learned, Iſa. 53. 4. And the Spirit of the Lord, Iſa. 61. 1. He taught them what was the Evil they ſhould abhor, and what the Good they ſhould abide and abound in; for Chriſtianity is not a Matter of Speculation, but is deſign'd to regulate the Temper of our Minds, and the Tenor cf our Converſations; Goſpel-time is a Time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. and by the Goſpel we muſt be reform'd, muſt be made good (muſt be made better.) The Truth, as it is in Jeſus is the Truth which is according to Godlineſs, Tit. 1. 1.

3 Bleſſed are the poor in ſpirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 4 Bleſſed are they that mourn: for they ſhall be comforted. 5 Bleſſed are the meek: for they ſhall inherit the earth. 6 Bleſſed are they which do hunger and thirſt after righteouſneſs: for they ſhall be filled. 7 Bleſſed are the merciful: for they ſhall obtain mercy. 8 Bleſſed are the pure in heart: for they ſhall ſee God. 9 Bleſſed are the peace-makers: for they ſhall be called the children of God. 10 Bleſſed are they which are perſecuted for righteouſneſs ſake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. 11 Bleſſed are ye when men ſhall revile you, and perſecute you, and ſhall ſay all manner of evil againſt you falſly for my ſake. 12 Rejoyce and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for ſo perſecuted they the Prophets which were before you.

Chriſt begins his Sermon with Bleſſings, for he came into the World to bleſs us, Acts 3. 26. as the great High-Prieſt of our Profeſſion, as the bleſſed Melchizedek, as he in whom all the Families of the Earth ſhould be bleſſed, Gen. 12. 3. He came not only to purchaſe Bleſſings for us, but to pour out and pronounce Bleſſings on us; and here he doth it as one having Authority, as one that can command the Bleſſing, even Life for evermore, and that's the Bleſſing here again and again promis'd to the Good; his ſpeaking them happy makes them ſo; for thoſe whom he Bleſſeth, they are Bleſſed indeed. The Old Teſtament ended with a Curſe, Mal. 4. 6. The Goſpel begins with a Bleſſing, for hereunto are we call'd that we ſhould inherit the Bleſſing. Each of theſe Bleſſings Chriſt here pronounceth hath a double Intendment. (1.) To ſhew who they are that are to be accounted truly happy, and what their Characters are. (2.) What that is wherein true Happineſs doth conſiſt; in the Promiſes made to thoſe of ſuch and ſuch Characters, the Performance of which will make them happy.

Now 1. this is deſign'd to rectifie the ruining Miſtakes of a blind and carnal World. Bleſſedneſs is the thing which Men pretend to purſue, who will make us to ſee Good? Pſal. 4. 6. but moſt miſtake the End, and form a wrong Notion of Happineſs, and then, no wonder they miſs the way; they chuſe their own Deluſions, and court a Shadow. The general Opinion is, Bleſſed and happy are they that are rich, and great, and honourable in the World, that ſpend their Days in Mirth, and their Years in Pleaſure, that eat the Fat, and drink the Sweet, and carry all before them with a high Hand, and have every Sheaf bowing to their Sheaf; happy the People that is in ſuch a caſe, and their Deſigns, Aims, and Purpoſes are accordingly; they bleſs the Covetous, Pſal. 10. 3. they will be rich. Now our Lord Jeſus comes to correct this fundamental Error, to advance a new Hypotheſis. And to give us quite another Notion of Bleſſedneſs, and bleſſed People; which however to thoſe that are prejudic'd, it may appear a Paradox, yet is in it ſelf, and is evident to all that are ſavingly enlightned to be a Rule and Doctrine of Eternal Truth and Certainty, by which we muſt ſhortly be judged. If this therefore be the the beginning of Chriſt's Doctrine, the beginning of a Chriſtian's Practice muſt be to take his Meaſures of Happineſs from thoſe Maxims, and direct his Purſuits accordingly.

2. It is deſign'd to remove the Diſcouragements of the Weak and Poor that receive the Goſpel, by aſſuring them that his Goſpel did not make thoſe only happy that were eminent in Gifts, Graces, Comforts, and Uſefulneſs, but even the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven, whoſe Heart was upright with God, was happy in the Honours and Privileges of that Kingdom.

3. It is deſign'd to invite Souls to Chriſt, and to make Way for his Law into them; Chriſt's pronouncing theſe Bleſſings, not at the end of his Sermon, to diſmiſs the People, but at the Beginning of it, to prepare them for what he had further to ſay to them, may mind us of Mount Gerizzim, and Mount Ebal, on which the Bleſſings and Curſings of the Law were read, Deut. 27. 12, &c. There the Curſes are expreſſed, and the Bleſſings only implied; here the Bleſſings are expreſſed, and the Curſes implied; in both, Life and Death are ſet before us, but the Law appear'd more as a Miniſtration of Death, to frighten us from Sin; the Goſpel as a Diſpenſation of Life, to allure us to Chriſt, in whom alone all Good is to be had. And they who had ſeen the gracious Cures wrought by his Hand, Chap. 4. 23, 24. and now heard the gracious Words proceeding out of his Mouth, would ſay, he was all of a piece, made up of Love and Sweetneſs.

4. It is deſigned to ſettle and ſum up the Articles of Agreement between God and Man. The Scope of the divine Revelation is to let us know, what God expects from us, and what we may then expect from him; and no where is this more fully ſet forth in a few Words than here, nor with a more exact Reference to each other; and this is that Goſpel which we are required to believe; for what is Faith but a Conformity to theſe Characters, and a Dependance upon theſe Promiſes. The Way to Happineſs is here opened and made a High-way, Iſa. 35. 8. and this coming from the Mouth of Jeſus Chriſt, 'tis intimated, that from him and by him, we are to receive both the Seed and the Fruit, both the Grace requir'd, and the Glory promis'd. Nothing paſſeth between God and fallen Man, but thro' his Hand. Some of the wiſer Heathens had Notions of Bleſſedneſs, different from the reſt of Mankind, and looking towards this of our Saviour, Seneca undertaking to deſcribe a Bleſſed Man, makes it out, that 'tis only an honeſt good Man that is to be ſo call'd; de Vita beata, c. 4. Cui nullum Bonum Malumque ſit, niſi bonus malusque Animus.——Quem nec extollant Fortuita, nec frangant.——Cui vera Voluptas erit Voluptatum Contemptio.———Cui unum Bonum Honeſtas, unum Malum Turpitudo.

Our Saviour here gives us eight Characters of bleſſed People, which repreſent to us the principle Graces of a Chriſtian: On each of them a preſent Bleſſing is pronounc'd, Bleſſed are they, and to each a future Bleſſedneſs is promis'd, which is variouſly expreſs'd ſo as to ſuit the Nature of the Grace or Duty recommended.

Do we aſk then who are happy; it is anſwer'd,

1. The poor in Spirit are happy, v. 3. There is a poor Spiritedneſs, that is ſo far from making Men bleſſed, that it is a Sin and a Snare. Cowardice and baſe Fear, and a willing Subjection to the Luſts of Men. But this Poverty of Spirit is a gracious Diſpoſition of Soul, by which we are emptied of ſelf, in order to our being filled with Jeſus Chriſt. To be poor in Spirit is (1.) To be contentedly poor, willing to be empty of worldly Wealth, if God orders that to be our Lot; to bring our Mind to our Condition, when it is a low Condition. Many are poor in the World, but high in Spirit, poor and proud, murmuring and complaining, and blaming their Lot, but we muſt accommodate ourſelves to our Poverty, muſt know how to be abaſed, Phil. 4. 12. Acknowledging the Wiſdom of God in appointing us to Poverty, we muſt be eaſy in it, patiently bear the Inconveniencies of it, be thankful for what we have, and make the beſt of that which is. 'Tis to ſit looſe to all worldly Wealth, and not ſet our Hearts upon it, but chearfully to bear Loſſes and Diſappointments, which may befal us in the moſt proſperous State. It is not in Pride or Pretence to make ourſelves poor, by throwing away what God hath given us, eſpecially as thoſe in the Church of Rome, who vow Poverty, and yet engroſs the Wealth of Nations; but if we be rich in the World, we muſt be poor in Spirit, i. e. we muſt condeſcend to the poor, and ſympathize with them, as being touched with the Feeling of their Infirmities: we muſt expect and prepare for Poverty; muſt not inordinately fear to ſhun it, but muſt bid it welcome eſpecially when it comes upon us for keeping a good Conſcience as they, Heb. 10. 34. Job was poor in Spirit, when he bleſſed God in taking away, as well as giving.

2. 'Tis to be humble and low in our own Eyes; to be poor in Spirit, is to think meanly of ourſelves, of what we are and have to do. The Poor are often taken in the Old Teſtament, for the humble and ſelf-denying, as oppos'd to thoſe that are at Eaſe, and the Proud. Tis to be as little Children in our Opinion of ourſelves, weak and fooliſh, and inſignificant, Mat. 18. 4. — 19. 14. Laodicea was poor in Spirituals, wretchedly and miſerably poor, and yet rich in Spirit, ſo well increaſed with goods, as to have need of nothing, Rev. 3. 17. On the other hand, Paul was rich in Spirituals, excelling moſt in Gifts and Graces, and yet poor in Spirit, the leaſt of the Apoſtles, leſs than the leaſt of all Saints, and nothing in his own Account. 'Tis to look with a holy Contempt upon ourſelves, to value others, and undervalue ourſelves in Compariſon of them. 'Tis to be willing to make ourſelves cheap and mean and little, to do good; to become all things to all Men. 'Tis to acknowledge that God is great and we are mean, he is Holy, and we are Sinful, he is All, we are nothing, leſs than nothing, worſe than nothing; and to humble ourſelves before him, and under his mighty Hand.

(3.) 'Tis to come off from all Confidence in our own Righteouſneſs and Strength, that we may depend only upon the Merit of Chriſt for our Juſtification, and the Spirit and Grace of Chriſt for our Sanctification. That broken and Contrite Spirit, with which the Publican cry'd for mercy to a poor Sinner, is this Poverty of Spirit. We muſt call ourſelves poor, becauſe always in want of God's Grace, always begging at God's Door, always hanging on in his Houſe

Now 1. This Poverty in Spirit is put firſt among the Chriſtian Graces; the Philoſophers did not reckon Humility among their moral Virtues, but Chriſt puts it firſt. Self-denial is the firſt Leſſon to be learn'd in his School, and Poverty of Spirit entitled to the firſt Beatitude. The Foundation of all other Graces is laid in Humility; thoſe that would build high muſt begin low. And it is an excellent Preparative for the entrance of the Goſpel Grace into the Soul; it fits the Soil to receive the Seed. Thoſe that are weary and heavy laden are the poor in Spirit, and they ſhall find reſt with Chriſt.

2. They are Bleſſed, now they are ſo in this World; God looks graciouſly upon them, they are his little ones, and have their Angels. To them he gives more Grace, they live the moſt comfortable Lives, and are eaſie to themſelves, and all about them, and nothing comes amiſs to them, while high Spirits are always uneaſie.

3. Theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. The Kingdom of Grace is compos'd of ſuch; they only are fit to be Members of Chriſt's Church, which is call'd the Congregation of the Poor, Pſal. 74. 19. The Kingdom of Glory is prepar'd for them. Thoſe that thus humble themſelves, and comply with God when he humbles them, ſhall be thus exalted. The great high Spirits go away with the Glory of the Kingdoms of the Earth, but the humble, mild, and yielding Souls obtain the Glory of the Kingdom of Heaven. We are ready to think, thoſe that are rich, and do good with their Riches, no doubt but theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven, for they can thus lay up in ſtore a good Security for the time to come. But what ſhall the Poor do that have not wherewithal to do good? Why, the ſame Happineſs is promis'd to thoſe who are contentedly Poor, as to thoſe who are uſefully Rich. If I am not able to ſpend chearfully for his ſake, if I can but want chearfully for his ſake, even that ſhall be recompens'd; and do not we ſerve a good Maſter then?

2. They that mourn are happy, v. 4. Bleſſed are they that mourn. This is another ſtrange Bleſſing, and fitly follows the former, the Poor uſe to mourn, the graciouſly Poor mourn graciouſly. We uſe to think, Bleſſed are the merry; but Chriſt that was himſelf a great Mourner, ſaith, Bleſſed are the Mourners. There is a ſinful Mourning that is an Enemy to Bleſſedneſs, the Sorrow of the World, deſpairing Melancholy upon a ſpiritual Account, and diſconſolate Grief upon a temporal Account: There is a natural Mourning which may prove a Friend to Bleſſedneſs, by the Grace of God working with it, and ſanctifying the Afflictions to us, for which we mourn. But there is a gracious Mourning that qualifies for Bleſſedneſs; an habitual Seriouſneſs, the Mind mortified to Mirth, and an actual Sorrow. (1.) A penitential Mourning for our own Sins, this is godly Sorrow, a Sorrow according to God; Sorrow for Sin with an Eye to Chriſt, Zech. 12. 10. Thoſe are God's Mourners that live a Life of Repentance, that lament the Corruption of their Nature, and their many actual Tranſgreſſions, and God's withdrawings from them, and out of a regard to God's Honour, mourn alſo for the Sins of others, and ſigh and cry for their Abominations, Ezek. 9. 4. (2.) A ſympathizing Mourning for the Afflictions of others, that weep with them that weep, are ſorrowful for the ſolemn Aſſemblies, for the Deſolations of Zion, Zeph. 3. 18. Pſal. 137. 1. Eſpecially that look with Compaſſion on periſhing Souls, and weep over them, as Chriſt over Jeruſalem.

Now theſe gracious Mourners, (1.) they are bleſſed; as in vain and ſinful Laughter the Hearr is ſorrowful, ſo in gracious Mourning the Heart hath a ſerious Joy, a ſecret Satisfaction, which a ſtranger doth not intermeddle with. They are bleſſed, for they are like theLord Jeſus, who was a Man of Sorrows, and of whom we never read that he laugh'd, but often that he wept. They are arm'd againſt the many Temptations that attend vain Mirth, and are prepar'd for the Comforts of a ſealed Pardon, and a ſettled Peace. (2.) They ſhall be comforted, tho' perhaps they are not preſently comforted, yet plentiful Proviſion is made for their Comfort; Light is ſown for them. And in Heaven, 'tis certain they ſhall be comforted, as Lazarus, Luke 16. 25. Note, The Happineſs of Heaven lies in being perfectly and eternally comforted, and the wiping away of all Tears from their Eyes. 'Tis the Joy of our Lord, a fulneſs of Joy, and Pleaſures for evermore; which will be doubly ſweet to thoſe that have been prepar'd for them by this Godly Sorrow. Heaven will be Heaven indeed to thoſe that go mourning thither; 'twill be a Harveſt of Joy, the return of a Seedneſs of Tears, Pſal. 126. 5, 6. A Mountain of Joy, to which our way lies thro' a Vale of Tears. See Iſa. 66. 10

3. The Meek are happy, v. 5. Bleſſed are the Meek. The Meek are thoſe that quietly ſubmit themſelves to God, to his Word, and to his Rod, that follow his Conduct, and comply with his Deſigns, and that are gentle towards all Men, Tit. 3. 2. That can bear Povocation without being inflam'd by it, are either ſilent, or return a ſoft Anſwer; and that can ſhew their Diſpleaſure, when there is occaſion for it, without being tranſported into any Indecencies; that can be cool when others are hot, and in their Patience keep poſſeſſion of their own Souls, when they can ſcarce keep poſſeſſion of any thing elſe. They are the Meek that are rarely and hardly provok'd, but quickly and eaſily pacified, and would rather forgive twenty Injuries than revenge one; having the Rule of their own Spirits.

Now theſe meek ones are here repreſented as happy, even in this World. (1.) They are Bleſſed, for they are like the Bleſſed Jeſus, in that wherein particularly they are to learn of him, Matt. 11. 29. They are like the Bleſſed God himſelf, who is Lord of his Anger, and in whom Fury is not; they are Bleſſed, for they have the moſt comfortable undiſturb'd Enjoyment of Themſelves, their Friends, their God; they are fit for any Relation, any Condition, any Company, fit to live, and fit to dye. (2.) They ſhall inherit the Earth, 'tis quoted from Pſal. 37. 11. and it is almoſt the only expreſs temporal Promiſe in all the New Teſtament. Not that they ſhall always have much of the Earth, much leſs that they ſhall be put off with that only, but this Branch of Godlineſs hath in a ſpecial manner the Promiſe of the Life that now is. Meekneſs however ridicul'd and run down, hath a real tendency to our Health, Wealth, Comfort, and Safety, even in this World. The Meek and Quiet are obſerv'd to live the moſt eaſie Lives, compar'd with the Froward and Turbulent. Or, they ſhall inherit the Land, ſo it may be read; the Land of Canaan, a Type of Heaven. So that all the Bleſſedneſs of Heaven above, and all the Bleſſings of Earth beneath are the meek Man's Portion.

4. They that hunger and thirſt after Righteouſneſs are happy, v. 6. Some underſtand this as a further Inſtance of outward Poverty, and a low Condition in this World, which not only expoſeth Men to Injury and Wrong, but makes it vain for them to ſeek to have Juſtice done them; they hunger and thirſt after it, but ſuch is the Power on the ſide of their Opreſſors, that they cannot have it. They deſire only that which is juſt and equal, but it is deny'd them by thoſe that neither fear God, nor regard Man: This is a melancholy Caſe; yet Bleſſed are they if they ſuffer theſe Hardſhips for, and with a good Conſcience; let them hope in God, who will ſee Juſtice done, Right take Place, and will deliver the Poor form their Oppreſſors, Pſal. 103. 6. Thoſe that contentedly bear Oppreſſion, and quietly refer themſelves to God to plead their Cauſe, ſhall in due time be ſatisfied, abundantly ſatisfied in the Wiſdom and Kindneſs that ſhall appear in his Appearances for them. But 'tis certainly to be underſtod Spiritually, of ſuch a Deſire as being terminated on ſuch an Object is Gracious, and the Work of God's Grace in the Soul, and qualifies for the Gifts of the divine Favour. (1.) Righteouſneſs is here put for all Spiritual Bleſſings; ſee Pſal. 24. 5. Matt. 6. 33. They are purchas'd for us by theRighteouſneſs ofChriſt, convey'd and ſecur'd by the Imputation of that Righteouſneſs to us, and confirm'd by the Faithfulneſs of God. To have Chriſt made of God to us Righteouſneſs, and to be made the Righteouſneſs of God in him, to have the whole Man renew'd in Righteouſneſs, ſo as to become a new Man, and to bear the Image ofGod; to have an Intereſt in Chriſt, and the Promiſes, this is Righteouſneſs. (2.) Theſe we muſt hunger and thirſt after. We muſt truly and really deſire them, as one that's hungry and thirſty, deſires Meat and Drink, and will not be ſatisfied with any thing but Meat and Drink, and will be ſatisfied with them, tho' other things be wanting, Our Deſires of Spiritual Bleſſings muſt be earneſt and importunate; Give me theſe, or elſe I die, every thing elſe is Droſs and Chaff, unſatisfying; give me theſe, and I have enough, tho' I had nothing elſe. Hunger and Thirſt are Appetites that return frequently, and call for freſh Satisfactions, ſo theſe holy Deſires reſt not in any thing attain'd, but are carried out towards renewed Pardons, and daily freſh Supplies of Grace. The quickned Soul calls for conſtant Meals of Righteouſneſs, Grace to do the Work of every day in its Day, as duly as the living Body calls for Food. They that hunger and thirſt will labour for Supplies; ſo we muſt not only deſire ſpiritual Bleſſings, but take pains for them in the uſe of the appointed Means. Dr. Hammond in his Practical Catechiſm, diſtinguiſheth between the Hunger and Thirſt; Hunger is a Deſire of Food to ſuſtain, ſuch is ſanctifying Righteouſneſs: Thirſt is the Deſire of Drink to refreſh; ſuch is juſtifying Righteouſneſs, and the Senſe of our Pardon.

Now thoſe who thus Hunger and Thirſt after ſpiritual Bleſſings, they are Bleſſed in thoſe Deſires, and ſhall be filled with thoſe Bleſſings. (1.) They are Bleſſed in thoſe Deſires. Tho' all Deſires of Grace are not Grace, feigned, fainty Deſires are not, yet ſuch a Deſire as this is; 'tis an Evidence of ſomething Good, and an Earneſt of ſomething better. 'Tis a Deſire of God's own raiſing, and he will not forſake the Work of his own Hands. Something or other the Soul will be hungring and thirſting after, therefore they are bleſſed who faſten upon the right Object, which is ſatisfying, and not deceiving, and do not pant after the Duſt of the Earth, Amos 2. 7. Iſa. 55. 2. (2.) They ſhall be filled with thoſe Bleſſings. God will give them what they deſire to their compleat Satisfaction. 'Tis God only who can fill a Soul, whoſe Grace and Favour is adæquate to its juſt Deſires, and he will fill thoſe with Grace for Grace, that in a Senſe of their own Emptineſs have recourſe to his Fulneſs. He filleth the Hungry. Luke 1. 53. Satiates them, Jer 31. 25. The Happineſs of Heaven will certainly fill the Soul; there Righteouſneſs ſhall be compleat, the Favour of God, and his Image, both in their full Perfection.

5. The Merciful are happy, v. 7. This, like the reſt, is a Paradox; for the Merciful are not taken to be the wiſeſt, nor are likely to be the richeſt, yet Chriſt pronounceth them Bleſſed. Thoſe are the Merciful who are Piouſly and Charitably inclin'd to Pity, Help, and Succour thoſe that are in Miſery. A Man may be truly Merciful, that has not wherewithal to be Bountiful, or Liberal, and then God accepts the willing Mind; we muſt not only bear our own Afflictions patiently, but we muſt by Chriſtian Sympathy partake of the Afflictions of our Brethren, Pity muſt be ſhew'd, Job 6. 14. and Bowels of Mercy put on, Col. 3. 12. and being put on, they muſt put forth themſelves in contributing all we can for the Aſſiſtance of thoſe that are any way in Miſery. We muſt have Compaſſion on the Souls of others, and help them; pity the Ignorant, and inſtruct them, the Careleſs, and Warn them; thoſe that are in a State of Sin, and ſnatch them, as Brands out of the Burning. We muſt have Compaſſion on thoſe that are Melancholy, and in Sorrow, and Comfort them, Job 16. 5. on thoſe that we have Advantage againſt, and not be rigorous and Severe with them; on thoſe that are in Want, and ſupply them; which, if we deny to do, whatever we pretend, we ſhut up the Bowels of our Compaſſion, James 2. 15, 16. 1 John 3. 17, 18. Draw out thy Soul by dealing thy Bread to the Hungry, Iſa. 58. 7, 10. Nay, a good Man is merciful to his Beaſt.

Now thoſe that are merciful, (1.) They are bleſſed; ſo it was ſaid in the Old Teſtament, Bleſſed is he that conſiders the Poor, Pſal. 41. 1. Herein they reſemble God, whoſe Goodneſs is his Glory; in being Merciful, as he is Merciful, we are in our meaſure Perfect, as he is Perfect. 'Tis an Evidence of Love to God, 'twill be a Satisfaction to ourſelves to be any way inſtrumental for the benefit of others. One of the pureſt and moſt refined Delights in this World, is that of doing Good. In this Word, Bleſſed are the Merciful, is included that Saying of Chriſt, which otherwiſe we find not in the Goſpels, it is more bleſſed to give than to receive, Acts 20. 35. (2.) They ſhall obtain Mercy. Mercy with Men, when they need it; he that watereth, ſhall be watered alſo himſelf. We know not how ſoon we may ſtand in need of Kindneſs, and therefore ſhould be kind; but eſpecially Mercy with God, for with the Merciful, he will ſhew himſelf Merciful, Pſal. 18. 25. The moſt Merciful and Charitable cannot pretend to Merit, but muſt fly to Mercy. The Merciful ſhall find with God ſparing Mercy, Mat. 6. 14. ſupplying Mercy, Prov. 19. 17. ſuſtaining Mercy, Pſal. 41. 2. Mercy in that Day, 2 Tim. 1. 18. Nay, they ſhall inherit the Kingdom prepared for them, Mat. 25. 34, 35. Whereas they ſhall have Judgment without Mercy, which can be nothing ſhort of Hell-fire, that have ſhew'd no Mercy.

6. The pure in Heart are happy, v. 8. Bleſſed are the pure in Heart, for they ſhall ſee God. This is the moſt comprehenſive of all the Beatitudes; here's Holineſs, and Happineſs fully diſcrib'd and put together.

1. Here's the moſt comprehenſive Character of the Bleſſed; they are the pure in Heart. Note, True Religion conſiſts in Heart-purity. Thoſe that are inwardly pure, ſhew themſelves to be under the Power of pure and undefiled Religion. True Chriſtianity lies in the Heart, in the Purity of the Heart; the waſhing of that from Wickedneſs, Jer. 4. 14. We muſt lift up to God, not only clean Hands, but a pure Heart, Pſal. 24. 4, 5. 1 Tim. 1. 5. The Heart muſt be pure in oppoſition to mixture, an honeſt Heart, that aims well, and pure in oppoſition to Pollution and Defilement; as Wine unmix'd, as Water unmuddy'd. The Heart muſt be kept pure from fleſhly Luſts; all unchaſte Thoughts and Deſires, and from worldly Luſts; Covetouſneſs is call'd filthy Lucre; from all Filthineſs of Fleſh and Spirit, all that which comes out of the Heart and Defiles the Man. The Heart muſt be purified by Faith, and entire for God, muſt be preſented, and preſerved a chaſte Virgin to Chriſt. Create in me ſuch a clean Heart, O God.

2. Here's the moſt comprehenſive Comfort of the Bleſſed, They ſhall ſee God. Note, 1. It is the Perfection of the Soul's Happineſs to ſee God; ſeeing him, as we may by Faith in our preſent State, is a Heaven upon Earth; and ſeeing him as we ſhall in the future State, is the Heaven of Heaven; to ſee him as he is, Face to Face, and no longer through a Glaſs darkly, to ſee him as ours, and to ſee him and enjoy him; to ſee him, and be like him, and be ſatisfied with that Likeneſs, Pſal 17. 15. and to ſee him for ever, and never loſe the ſight of him; this is Heaven's Happineſs. (2.) the Happineſs of ſeeing God is promis'd to thoſe, and thoſe only that are pure in Heart. None but the pure are capable of ſeeing God, nor would it be a Felicity to the Impure; what pleaſure could an unſanctified Soul take in the Viſion of a holy God? as he cannot endure to look upon their Iniquity, ſo they cannot endure to look upon his Purity; nor ſhall any unclean thing enter into the New Jeruſalem; but all that are pure in Heart, all that are truly ſanctified, have Deſires wrought in them, which nothing but the ſight of God will ſatisfie, and divine Grace will not leave thoſe Deſires unſatisfied.

7, The Peace-makers are happy, v. 9. The Wiſdom that is from above is firſt pure, and then Peaceable; the bleſſed ones pure towards God, and Peaceable towards Men; for with reference to both, Conſcience muſt be kept void of Offence. The Peace-makers are thoſe that have (1.) a Peaceable Diſpoſition; as to make a Lye, is to be given and addicted to Lying; ſo to make Peace, is to have a ſtrong and hearty Affection to Peace. I am for Peace, Pſal. 120. 7. 'Tis to love and deſire, and delight in Peace, to be in it as in our Element, and to ſtudy to be quiet. (2.) A Peaceable Converſation; induſtriouſly, as far as we can to preſerve the Peace that it be not broken, and to recover it when it is broken; to hearken to Propoſals of Peace ourſelves, and to be ready to make them to others. Where diſtance is among Brethren and Neighbours, to do all we can to accommodate it, and to be Repairers of Breaches. The making Peace is ſometimes a thankleſs Office, and 'tis the lot of him that parts a Fray to have Blows on both ſides, yet it is a good Office, and we muſt be forward to it. Some think this is intended, eſpecially as a Leſſon for Miniſters, who ſhould do all they can to reconcile thoſe that are at Variance, and to promote Chriſtian Love among thoſe under their Charge.

Now thoſe that are ſo, (1.) they are Bleſſed; for they have the ſatisfaction of enjoying themſelves by keeping the Peace, and of being truly ſerviceable to others by diſpoſing them to Peace. They are working together with Chriſt, who came into the World to ſlay all Enmities, and to proclaim Peace on Earth. (2.) They ſhall be called the Children of God; it will be an evidence to themſelves that they are ſo; God will own them as ſuch, and herein they will reſemble him. He is the God of Peace, the Son of God is the Prince of Peace, the Spirit of Adoption is a Spirit of Peace. Since God has declar'd himſelf Reconcileable to us all, he will not own thoſe for his Children that are implacable in their Enmity to one another; for if Bleſſed are the Peace-makers, woe to the Peace-breakers. Now by this it appears, that Chriſt never intended to have this Religion propagated by Fire and Sword, or Penal Laws, nor to own Bigotry, or intemperate Zeal, as the Marks of his Diſciples. The Children of this World love to fiſh in troubled Waters, but the Children of God are the Peace-makers, the Quiet in the Land.

8. Thoſe that are Perſecuted for Righteouſneſs ſake are happy. This is the greateſt Paradox of all, and peculiar to Chriſtianity, and therefore 'tis put laſt, and more largely inſiſted upon than any of the reſt, v. 10, 11, 12. This Beatitude, like Pharaoh's Dream, is doubled, becauſe hardly credited, and yet the thing is certain; and in the latter part there's a change of the Perſon, Bleſſed are ye; ye my Diſciples, and immediate Followers. This is that, which you that excel in Virtue, are more immediately concern'd in, for you muſt count upon Hardſhips and Troubles more than other Men. Obſerve here,

1. The Caſe of ſuffering Saints deſcrib'd, and it is a hard Caſe, and a very pitious one.

(1.) They are Perſecuted, hunted, purſued, run down, as noxious Beaſts are, that are ſought for to be deſtroy'd; as if a Chriſtian did, Caput gerere lupinum, as an Outlaw is ſaid to do, any one that finds him may ſlay him; they are abandon'd as the Off-ſcouring of all things; Fin'd, Impriſon'd, Baniſh'd, ſtrip'd of their Eſtates, excluded from all Places of Profit and Truſt; Scourg'd, Rack'd, Tortur'd, always deliver'd to Death, and accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter. This has been the effect of the Enmity of the Serpent's Seed againſt the holy Seed ever ſince, Gen. 3. 15. from the Blood of Righteous Abel. 'Twas ſo in Old Teſtament Times, as we find, Heb. 11. 35, &c. Chriſt has told us it would much more be ſo with the Chriſtian Church, and we are not to think it ſtrange, 1 John 3. 13. he has left us an Example.

(2.) They are Revil'd, and have all manner of Evil ſaid againſt them falſly, Nick-names, and Names of Reproach are faſten'd upon them, upon particular Perſons, and upon the Generation of the Righteous, in the groſs, to render them odious; ſometimes to make them deſpicable. that they may be trampled upon, ſometimes to make them formidable, that they may be run upon; things laid to their charge that they knew not, Pſal. 35. 20. Jer. 20. 18. Acts 17. 6, 7. Thoſe that have not had Power in their Hands to do them any other Miſchief, yet could do this; and thoſe that have had Power to perſecute, have found it neceſſary to do this too, to juſtify themſelves in their barbarous uſage of them; they could not have baited them, if they had not dreſt them in Bears-Skins, nor have given them the worſt of Treatment, if they had not firſt repreſented them as the worſt of Men; they will revile you, and perſecute you. Note, Reviling the Saints is perſecuting them, and will be found ſo ſhortly, when hard Speeches muſt be accounted for, Jude 15. and cruel Mockings, Heb. 11. 36. They will ſay all manner of Evil of you falſly, ſometimes before the Seat of Judgment, as Witneſſes, ſometimes in the Seat of the Scornful, with hypocritical Mockers at Feaſts; they are the Song of the Drunkards; ſometimes to their Faces, as Shimei curſed David; ſometimes behind their Backs, as the Enemies of Jeremiah did. Note, There is no Evil ſo black and horrid, but one time or other it has been ſaid falſly of Chriſt's Diſciples and Followers.

(3.) All this is for Righteouſneſs ſake, v. 10. for my ſake, v. 11. If for Righteouſneſs ſake, then for Chriſt's ſake, for he is nearly intereſted in the Work of Righteouſneſs; Enemies to Righteouſneſs are Enemies to Chriſt. This precludes thoſe from this Bleſſedneſs that ſuffer juſtly, and are evil ſpoken of truly for their real Crimes, let ſuch be aſhamed and confounded, 'tis part of their Puniſhment; 'tis not the Suffering, but the Cauſe that makes the Martyr. Thoſe ſuffer for Righteouſneſs ſake, that ſuffer becauſe they will not ſin againſt their Conſciences, and that ſuffer for doing that which is good. Whatever Pretence Perſecutors have, 'tis the Power of Godlineſs that they have an Enmity to; 'tis really Chriſt and his Righteouſneſs that is malign'd, hated, and perſecuted; for thy ſake I have born Reproach, Pſal. 69. 9. Rom. 8. 36.

2. The Comforts of ſuffering Saints laid down.

1. They are Bleſſed, for they now in their Life-time receive their evil things, Luke 16. 25. and receive them upon a good account. They are Bleſſed, for it is an Honour to them, Acts 5. 41. 'tis an opportunity of glorifying Chriſt, and doing Good, and of experiencing ſpecial Comforts, and Viſits of Grace, and Tokens of his Preſence, 2 Cor. 1. 5. Dan. 3. 24. Rom. 8. 29.

2. They ſhall be recompenſed, theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven. They have at preſent a ſure Title to it, and ſweet foretaſtes of it, and ſhall e'er long be in poſſeſſion of it. Tho' there be nothing in thoſe Sufferings that can in ſtrictneſs merit of God, for the Sins of the beſt deſerve the worſt, yet this is here promis'd as a Reward; v. 12. Great is your Reward in Heaven; ſo great as far to tranſcend the Service. 'Tis in Heaven, future, and out of ſight, but well ſecur'd, out of the reach of Chance, Fraud, and Violence. Note, God will provide, that thoſe who loſe for him, tho' it be Life itſelf, ſhall not loſe by him in the End. Heaven at laſt will be an abundant Recompence for all the Difficulties we meet with in our Way. This is that which has born up the ſuffering Saints in all Ages, this Joy ſet before them.

3. So perſecuted they the Prophets that were before you, v. 12. They were before you in Excellency, above what you are yet arriv'd to, they were before you in time, that they might be Examples to you of ſuffering Affliction, and of Patience, James 5. 10. They were in like manner Perſecuted and Abus'd, and can you expect to go to Heaven in a way by yourſelves? Was not Iſaiah mock'd for his Line upon Line? Eliſha for his bald Head? Were not all the Prophets thus treated? therefore marvel not at it as a ſtrange thing, murmur not at it as a hard thing; 'tis a Comfort to ſee the way of ſuffering a beaten Road, and an Honour to follow ſuch Leaders. That Grace that was ſufficient for them to carry them thro' their Sufferings, ſhall not be deficient to us. Thoſe that are your Enemies, are the Seed and Succeſſors of them that of old mocked the Meſſengers of the Lord, 2 Chr. 36. 16. Matt. 23. 25. Acts 7. 52.

4. Therefore rejoyce, and be exceeding glad, v. 12. 'Tis not enough to be patient and content under theſe Sufferings, as under common Afflictions, and not to render Railing for Railing, but we muſt rejoyce, becauſe the Honour and Dignity, the Pleaſure and Advantage of Suffering for Chriſt, is much more conſiderable than the Pain, or Shame of it. Not that we muſt take a Pride in our Sufferings, that ſpoils all, but we muſt take a pleaſure in them, as Paul, 2 Cor. 12. 10. As knowing Chriſt is herein before-hand with us, and he will not be behind-hand with us, 1 Pet. 4. 12, 13.

13 Ye are the ſalt of the Earth: but if the ſalt have loſt his ſavour, wherewith ſhall it be ſalted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be caſt out, and to be trodden under foot of men. 14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is ſet on a hill cannot be hid. 15 Neither do Men light a candle, and put it under a buſhel: but on a candleſtick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the Houſe. 16 Let your light ſo ſhine before men, that they may ſee your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

Chriſt had lately call'd his Diſciples, and told them they ſhould be Fiſhers of Men; here he tells them further what he deſign'd them to be, The Salt of the Earth, and Lights of the World, that they might be indeed what 'twas expected they ſhould be.

1. Ye are the Salt of the Earth. This would encourage and ſupport them under their Sufferings, that tho' they ſhould be treated with Contempt, yet they ſhall really be Bleſſings to the World, and the more ſo for their ſuffering thus. The Prophets that went before them were the Salt of the Land of Canaan, but the Apoſtles were the Salt of the whole Earth, for they muſt go into all the World, to Preach the Goſpel. 'Twas a diſcouragement to them that they were ſo few, and ſo weak; what could they do in ſo large a province as the whole Earth? Nothing, if they were to work by force of Arms, and dint of Sword, but being to work ſilently as Salt, one handful of that Salt would diffuſe its Savour far and wide, would go a great way, and work inſenſibly, and irreſiſtably, as Leaven, Mat 13. 33. The Doctrine of the Goſpel is as Salt, 'tis penetrating, quick, and powerful, Heb. 4. 12. pricks to the Heart, Acts 2. 37. 'Tis cleanſing, 'tis reliſhing, and preſerves from Rottenneſs and Putrefaction; we read of the Savour of the Knowledge of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 2. 14. for all other Learning is inſipid without that. An Everlaſting Covenant is call'd a Covenant of Salt, Numb. 18. 19. and the Goſpel is an Everlaſting Goſpel. Salt was requir'd in all the Sacrifices, Lev. 2. 13. in Ezekiel's Myſtical Temple, Ezek. 43. 24. Now Chriſt's Diſciples having themſelves learn'd the Doctrine of the Goſpel, and being employ'd to teach it to others, were as Salt. Note, Chriſtians and eſpecially Miniſters, are the Salt of the Earth.

(1.) If they be ſuch as they ſhould be, they are as good Salt, white and ſmall, and broken into many Grains, but very uſeful and neceſſary. Pliny ſaith, Sine Sale Vita Humana non poteſt degere. See in this (1.) what they are to be in themſelves ſeaſon'd with the Goſpel, with the Salt of Grace; Thoughts and Affections, Words and Actions, all ſeaſon'd with Grace, Col 4. 6. Have Salt in your ſelves, elſe you cannot diffuſe it to others, Mark 9. 50. (2.) What they are to be to others; they muſt not only be good, but do good; muſt inſinuate themſelves into the Minds of People, not to ſerve any ſecular Intereſts of their own, but that they may transform them into the Taſte and Reliſh of the Goſpel. (3.) What great Bleſſings they are to the World. Mankind lying in Ignorance and Wickedneſs, was great heap of unſavoury ſtuff, ready to putrify; but Chriſt ſent forth his Diſciples, by their Lives and Doctrines, to ſeaſon it with Knowledge and Grace, and ſo to render it acceptable to God, to the Angels, and to all that reliſh divine Things. (4.) How they muſt expect to be diſpos'd of, not laid on a heap, they muſt not continue always together at Jeruſalem, but muſt be ſcatter'd as Salt upon the Meat, here a Grain, and there a Grain, as the Levites were diſpers'd in Iſrael, that wherever they live they may communicate their Savour. Some have obſerv'd, That whereas 'tis fooliſhly call'd an ill Omen, to have the Salt fall towards us, it is really an ill Omen to have this Salt fall from us.

(1.) If they be not, they are as Salt that has loſt its Savour. If you that ſhould ſeaſon others, are yourſelves unſavoury, void of Spiritual Life, Reliſh and Vigor. If a Chriſtian be ſo, eſpecially if a Miniſter be ſo, his Condition is very ſad, for (1.) he is irrecoverable; wherewith ſhall it be ſalted? Salt is a remedy for unſavoury Meat, but there is no remedy for unſavoury Salt. Chriſtianity will give a Man a reliſh, but if a Man can take up and continue the Profeſſion of that, and yet remain flat, and fooliſh, and graceleſs, and inſipid; there's no other Doctrine, no other means that can be applied to make him ſavoury. If Chriſtianity do not do it, nothing will. (2.) He is unprofitable. It is thenceforth good for nothing; what uſe can it be put to, in which it will not do more Hurt than Good? As a Man without Reaſon, ſo is a Chriſtian without Grace. A wicked Man is the worſt of Creatures, a wicked Chriſtian is the worſt of Men, and a wicked Miniſter is the worſt of Chriſtians. (3.) He is doom'd to Ruin and Rejection. He ſhall be caſt out, expell'd the Church, and the Communion of the Faithful, to which he is a Blot and a Burthen; and he ſhall be trodden under foot of Men. Let God be glorified in the Shame and Rejection of thoſe by whom he has been reproach'd, and who have made themſelves fit for nothing but to be trampled upon.

2. Ye are the Light of the World, v. 14. This alſo ſpeaks them uſeful as the former, (Sole & Sale nihil utilius,) but more glorious. All Chriſtians are Light in the Lord, Eph. 5. 8. and muſt ſhine as Lights, Phil. 2. 15. But Miniſters in a ſpecial Manner. Chriſt calls himſelf the Light of the World, John 8. 12. and they are workers together with him, and have ſome of his Honour put upon them. Truly, the Light is ſweet, 'tis welcome; the Light of the firſt Day of the World was ſo, when it ſhone out of Dakneſs, ſo is the Morning-Light of every Day. So was the Goſpel, and thoſe that ſpread it to all ſenſible People. The World ſate in Darkneſs, Chriſt rais'd up his Diſciples to ſhine in it, and that they may do ſo, from him they borrow and derive their Light.

This Similitude is here explain'd in two things.

1. As the Lights of the World, they are Illuſtrious and Conſpicuous, and have many Eyes upon them. A City that is ſet on a Hill cannot be hid. The Diſciples of Chriſt, eſpecially thoſe that are forward and zealous in his Service, become remarkable, and are taken notice of as Beacons. They are for Signs, Iſa. 8. 18. Men wonder'd at, Zech. 3. 8. all their Neighbours have an eye upon them. Some admire them, commend them, rejoyce in them, and ſtudy to imitate them; others envy them, hate them, cenſure them, and ſtudy to blaſt them. They are concern'd therefore to walk circumſpectly, becauſe of their Obſervers; they are a Spectacle to the World, and muſt take heed of every thing that looks ill, becauſe they are ſo much look'd at. The Diſciples of Chriſt were obſcure Men before he call'd them, but the Character he put upon them dignified them, and as Preachers of the Goſpel they made a Figure; and tho' they were reproach'd for it by ſome, they were reſpected for it by others, advanc'd to Thrones, and made Judges, Luke 22. 30. for Chriſt will honour thoſe that honour him.

2. As the Lights of the World, they are intended to illuminate and give Light to others, v. 15. and therefore,

1. They ſhall be ſet up as Lights. Chriſt having lighted theſe Candles, they ſhall not be put under a Buſhel, not confin'd always as they are now to the Cities of Galilee, or the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, but they ſhall be ſent into all the World. The Churches are the Candleſticks, the golden Candleſticks, in which theſe Lights are placed, that their Light may be diffuſed; and the Goſpel is ſo ſtrong a Light, and carries with it ſo much of its own Evidence, that like a City on a Hill it cannot be hid, it cannot but appear to be from God, to all thoſe that do not wilfully ſhut their Eyss againſt it. It will give Light to all that are in the Houſe, to all that will draw near to it, and come where it is: Thoſe to whom it doth not give Light, muſt thank themſelves, they will not be in the Houſe with it, will not make a diligent and impartial Enquiry into it, but are prejudic'd againſt it.

2. They muſt ſhine as Lights, (1.) by their good Preaching. The Knowledge they have they muſt communicate for the good of others, not put it under a Buſhel, but ſpread it. The Talent muſt not be buried in a Napkin, but traded with. The Diſciples of Chriſt muſt not muffle themſelves up in Privacy and Obſcurity, under pretence of Contemplation, Modeſty, or Self-preſervation, but as they have received the Gift, muſt Miniſter the ſame. See Luke 12. 3. (2) By their good Living. They muſt be burning and ſhining Lights, John 5. 35. muſt evidence in their whole Converſation, that they are indeed the Followers of Chriſt, James 3. 13. They muſt be to others for Inſtruction, Direction, Quickning, Comfort, Job 29. 11.

See here 1. how our Light muſt ſhine, by doing ſuch good Works as Men may ſee, and may approve of; ſuch Works as are of good Report among them that are without, and which will therefore give them cauſe to think well of Chriſtianity. We muſt do good Works that may be ſeen, to the Edification of others, but not that they may be ſeen, to our own Oſtentation; we are bid to pray in ſecret, and what lies between God and our Souls muſt be kept to ourſelves; but that which is of itſelf open and obvious to the ſight of Men, we muſt ſtudy to make congruous to our Profeſſion, and Praiſe-worthy, Phil. 4. 8. Thoſe about us muſt not only hear our good Words, but ſee our good Works, that they may be convinc'd Religion is more than a bare Name, and that we do not only make a Profeſſion of it, but abide under the Power of it.

2. For what End our Light muſt thus ſhine. That thoſe who ſee your good Works may be brought, not to Glorify you, which was the thing the Phariſees aim'd at, and it ſpoil'd the Acceptance of all their Performances, but to Glorify your Father which is in Heaven. Note, The Glory of God is the great Thing we muſt aim at in every thing we do in Religion, 1 Pet. 4. 11. In this Centre the Lines of all our Actions muſt meet. We muſt not only endeavour to glorify God ourſelves, but we muſt do all we can to bring others to glorify him. The ſight of our good Works will do this, by furniſhing them (1.) with Matter for Praiſe. Let them ſee your good Works, that they may ſee the Power of God's Grace in you, and may thank him for it, and give him the Glory of it, who has given ſuch Power unto Men. (2.) With Motives to Piety. Let them ſee your good Works, that they may be convinc'd of the Truth and Excellency of the Chriſtian Religion, may be provok'd by a holy Emulation to imitate your good Works, and ſo may Glorify God. Note, The Holy, Regular, and Exemplary Converſation of the Saints may do much towards the Converſion of Sinners; thoſe that are unacquainted with Religion, may hereby be brought to know what it is; Examples teach; and thoſe that are prejudic'd againſt it, may hereby be brought in love with it, and thus there is a winning Virtue in a Godly Converſation.

17 Think not that I am come to deſtroy the law or the prophets: I am not come to deſtroy, but to fulfil. 18 For verily I ſay unto you, Till heaven and earth paſs, one jot or one tittle ſhall in no wiſe paſs from the law, till all be fulfilled. 19 Whoſoever therefore ſhall break one of theſe leaſt Commandments, and ſhall teach men ſo, he ſhall be called the leaſt in the kingdom of heaven: but whoſoever ſhall do, and teach them, the ſame ſhall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. 20 For I ſay unto you, That except your Righteouſneſs ſhall exceed the Righteouſneſs of the ſcribes and phariſees, ye ſhall in no caſe enter into the kingdom of heaven.

Thoſe to whom Chriſt Preach'd, and for whoſe uſe he gave theſe Inſtructions to his Diſciples, were ſuch as in their Religion had an Eye (1.) to the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament as their Rule, and therein Chriſt here ſhews them they were in the right: (2.) To the Scribes and Phariſees, as their Example, and therein Chriſt here ſhews them they were in the wrong; for,

1. The Rule Chriſt came to Eſtabliſh, exactly agreed with the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, here call'd the Law and the Prophets; the Prophets were Commentators upon the Law, and both together made up that Rule of Faith and Practice which Chriſt found upon Throne in the Jewiſh Church, and here he keeps it on the Throne.

(1) He proteſts againſt the thought of cancelling and weakning the Old Teſtamemt, Think not that I am come to deſtroy the Law and the Prophets. (1.) Let not the pious Jews that have an Affection for the Law and the Prophets, fear that I come to deſtroy them. Let not them be prejudic'd againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine, from a jealouſie that this Kingdom he came to ſet up would derogate from the Honour of the Scriptures they had embraced as coming from God, and had experienc'd the Power and Purity of; no, let them be ſatisfied Chriſt has no ill deſign upon the Law and the Prophets. (2.) Let not the profane Jews that have a Diſaffection to the Law and the Prophets, and are weary of that Yoke, hope that I am come to deſtroy them. Let not carnal Libertines imagine that the Meſſiah is come to diſcharge them from the Obligation of divine Precepts, and yet to ſecure to them divine Promiſes to make them happy, and yet give them leave to live as they liſt. Chriſt commands nothing new that was forbidden, either the Law of Nature, or the Moral Law, nor forbids any thing which thoſe Laws had enjoin'd; 'tis a great Miſtake to think that he doth, and he here takes care to rectify the Miſtake. I am not come to deſtroy. The Saviour of Souls is the Deſtroyer of nothing but the Works of the Devil, of nothing that comes from God, much leſs of theſe excellent Dictates which we have from Moſes and the Prophets. No, he came to fulfil them. That is, (1.) to obey the Commands of the Law, for he was made under the Law, Gal. 4. 4. He in all reſpects yielded obedience to the Law, Honour'd his Parents, Sanctified the Sabbath, Pray'd, gave Alms, &c. and did that which never any one elſe did, Obey'd perfectly, and never broke the Law in any thing. (2) To make good the Promiſes of the Law, and the Predictions of the Prophets, which did all bear witneſs to him. The Covenant of Grace is for Subſtance the ſame now that it was then, and Chriſt the Mediator of it. (3.) To anſwer the Types of the Law; thus, as (Biſhop Tillotſon expreſſeth it) he did not make void, but make good the Ceremonial Law, and manifeſted himſelf to be the Subſtance of all thoſe Shadows. (4.) To fill up the Defects of it, and ſo to compleat and perfect it. Thus the word πληρῶσαι properly ſignifies; as a Veſſel that had ſome Water in it before, Chriſt did not come to pour that out, but to fill it up to the brim; or as a Picture that is firſt rough drawn, ſome Shadows only of the Piece intended, which are afterwards fill'd up; ſo Chriſt made an improvement of the Law and the Prophets, by his Additions and Explications. (5.) To carry on the ſame Deſign; the Chriſtian Inſtitutes are ſo far from thwarting and contradicting that which was the main deſign of the Jewiſh Religion, that they promote it to the higheſt degree. The Goſpel is the Time of Reformation, Heb. 1. 10. not the Repeal of the Law, but the Amendment of it, and conſequenly its Eſtabliſhment.

(2.) He aſſerts the perpetuity of it; that not only he deſigned not the Abrogation of it, but it never ſhould be abrogated, v. 18. Verily I ſay unto you, I the Amen, the faithful Witneſs ſolemnly declare it, that till Heaven and Earth paſs, when Time ſhall be no more, and the unchangeable State of Recompenſes ſhall ſuperſede all Laws, one Jot or one Tittle, the leaſt, and moſt minute Circumſtance ſhall in no wiſe paſs from the Law till all be fulfill'd; for what is it that God is doing in all the Operations, both of Providence and Grace, but fulfilling the Scripture? Heaven and Earth ſhall come together, and all the Fulneſs thereof be wrapt up in Ruin and Confuſion, rather than any Word of God ſhall fall to the Ground, or be in vain. The Word of the Lord endures for ever, both that of the Law, and that of the Goſpel. Obſerve, The Care of God concerning his Law, extends itſelf, even to thoſe things that ſeem to be of leaſt account in it; the Iotas and the Tittles; for whatever belongs to God, and bears his Stamp, be it never ſo little, ſhall be preſerv'd. The Laws of Men are conſcious to themſelves of ſo much Imperfection, that they allow it for a Maxim, Apices Juris non ſunt Jura, but God will ſtand by and maintain every Iota and Tittle of his Law.

(3.) He gives it in charge to his Diſciples, carefully to preſerve the Law, and ſhews them the Danger of the Neglect and contempt of it, v. 19. Whoſoever therefore ſhall break one of the leaſt Commandments of the Law of Moſes, much more any of the greater, as the Phariſees did who neglected the weightier Matters of the Law, and ſhall teach Men ſo, as they did, who made void the Commandment of God with their Traditions, Mat. 15. 3. He ſhall be called the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven: tho' the Phariſees be cry'd up for ſuch Teachers as ſhould be, they ſhall not be employ'd as Teachers in Chriſt's Kingdom; but whoſoever ſhall do and teach them, as Chriſt's Diſciples, would, and thereby prove themſelves better Friends to the Old Teſtament, than the Phariſees were, they, tho' deſpiſed by Men, ſhall be called great in the Kingdom of Heaven. Note, (1.) Among the Commands of God there are ſome leſs than others; none abſolutely little, but comparatively ſo. The Jews reckon the leaſt of the Commandments of the Law to be that of the Birds Neſt, Deut. 22. 6. 7. yet even that had a Significancy and an Intention very great and conſiderable. (2.) It is a dangerous thing in Doctrine or Practice, to diſannul the leaſt of God's Commands, to break them, i. e. to go about either to contract the Extent, or weaken the Obligation of them; whoever doth ſo will find it is at his Peril. Thus to vacate any of the Ten Commandments, is too bold a ſtroke for the jealous God to paſs by. 'Tis ſomething more than Tranſgreſſing the Law, 'tis making void the Law, Pſal. 119. 126. (3.) That the further ſuch Corruptions as theſe ſpread, the worſe they are. 'Tis impudence enough to break the Command, but 'tis a greater degree of it to teach Men ſo. This plainly refers to thoſe who at this time ſat in Moſes's Seat, and by their Comments corrupted and perverted the Text. Opinions that tend to the deſtruction of ſerious Godlineſs, and the Vitals of Religion, by corrupt Gloſſes on the Scripture, are bad when they are held, but worſe when they are propagated, and taught as the Word of God. He that doth ſo, ſhall be called leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven; in the Kingdom of Glory, he ſhall never come thither, but be eternally excluded; or rather in the Kingdom of the Goſpel-Church. He is ſo far from deſerving the Dignity of a Teacher in it, that he ſhall not ſo much as be accounted a Member of it. The Prophet that teacheth theſe Lies, he ſhall be the Tail in that Kingdom, Iſa. 9. 15. when Truth ſhall appear in its own Evidence, ſuch corrupt Teachers, tho' cry'd up as the Phariſees, ſhall be of no account with the Wiſe and Good. Nothing makes Miniſters more Contemptible and Baſe than corrupting the Law, Mal. 2. 8, 11. Thoſe that extenuate and encourage Sin, and diſcountenance and put Contempt upon Strictneſs in Religion, and ſerious Devotion, they are the Dregs of the Church. But on the other hand, (1.) thoſe are truly Honourable, and of great Account in the Church of Chriſt, that lay out themſelves by their Life and Doctrine, to promote the Purity and Strictneſs of Practical Religion; that both do and teach that which is good; for thoſe who do not as they teach, pull down with one hand what they build up with the other; and give themſelves the Lye, and tempt Men to think all Religion is a Sham; but thoſe who ſpeak from Experience, who live up to what they Preach, they are truly Great, they honour Cod, and God will honour them, 1 Sam. 2. 10. and hereafter they ſhall ſhine as the Stars in the Kingdom of our Father.

2. The Righteouſneſs Chriſt came to Eſtabliſh by this Rule, muſt exceed that of the Scribes and Phariſees, v. 20. This was ſtrange Doctrine to thoſe who look'd upon the Scribes and Phariſees to have arriv'd at the higheſt pitch of Religion. The Scribes were the moſt noted Teachers of the Law, and the Phariſees the moſt celebrated Profeſſors of it, and they both ſat in Moſes's Chair Mat. 23. 2. and had ſuch a Reputation among the People, that they were look'd upon Super-conformable to the Law, and People did not think themſelves oblig'd to be as good as they; it was therefore a great ſurprize to them, to hear that they muſt be better than they, or they ſhould not go to Heaven; and therefore Chriſt here avers it with Solemnity, I ſay unto you, it is ſo. The Scribes and Phariſees were Enemies to Chriſt and his Doctrine, and were great Oppreſſors; and yet it muſt be own'd there was ſomething commendable in them: They were much in Faſting and Prayer, and giving of Alms, were punctual in obſerving the Ceremonial Appointments, and made it their Buſineſs to teach others: They had ſuch an Intereſt in the People, that they thought, if but two Men went to Heaven, one would be a Phariſee; and yet our Lord Jeſus here tells his Diſciples, that the Religion he came to eſtabliſh, did not only exclude the Badneſs, but excel the Goodneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees. We muſt do more than they, and better than they, or we ſhall come ſhort of Heaven. They were partial in the Law, and laid more ſtreſs upon the ritual part of it, but we muſt be univerſal, and not think it enough to give the Prieſt his Tythe, but muſt give God our Hearts. They minded only the outſide, but we muſt make Conſcience of inſide Godlineſs: They aim'd at the Praiſe and Applauſe of Men, but we muſt aim at Acceptance with God; they were proud of what they did in Religion, and truſted to it as a Righteouſneſs; but we, when we have done all, muſt deny ourſelves, and ſay, we are unprofitable Servants, and truſt only to the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt; and thus we may go beyond the Scribes and Phariſees.

21 Ye have heard that it was ſaid by them of old time, Thou ſhalt not kill: and whoſoever ſhall kill, ſhall be in danger of the Judgment. 22 But I ſay unto you, that whoſoever is angry with his brother without a cauſe, ſhall be in danger of the Judgment: and whoſoever ſhall ſay to his brother Raca, ſhall be in danger of the counſel: but whoſoever ſhall ſay, Thou fool, ſhall be in danger of hell-fire. 23 Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there remembreſt that thy brother have ought againſt thee; 24 Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way, firſt be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. 25 Agree with thine adverſary quickly, whilſt thou art in the way with him, leſt at any time the adverſary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be caſt into priſon. 26 Verily I ſay unto thee, Thou ſhalt by no means come out thence, 'till thou haſt paid the uttermoſt farthing.

Chriſt having laid down theſe Principles, that Moſes and the Prophets were ſtill to be their Rulers, but the Scribes and Phariſees were to be no longer their Rulers; proceeds to Expound the Law in ſome particular Inſtances, and to vindicate it from the corrupt Gloſſes which thoſe Expoſitors had put upon it. He adds not any thing new, only limits and reſtrains ſome Permiſſions which had been abus'd; and as to the Precepts, ſhews the Breadth, Strictneſs, and ſpiritual Nature of them, adding ſuch explanatory Statutes as made them more clear, and tended much towards the perfecting of our Obedience to them. In theſe Verſes he explains the Law of the Sixth Commandment, according to the true Intent, and full Extent of it.

1. Here's the Command it ſelf laid down, v. 12. We have heard it, and remember it; he ſpeaks to them that know the Law, that had Moſes read to them in their Synagogues every Sabbath-day; you have heard that it was ſaid by them, or rather, as 'tis in the Margin, to them of old Time; to your Fore-fathers the Jews, Thou ſhalt not kill. Note, the Laws of God are not novel upſtart Laws, but were deliver'd to them of old Time; they are ancient Laws, but of that nature as never to be Antiquated, or grow Obſolete. The moral Law agrees with the Law of Nature, and the Eternal Rules and Reaſons of Good and Evil, that is, the Rectitude of the Eternal Mind. Killing is here forbidden, killing our ſelves, killing any other, directly or indirectly; or being any way acceſſary to it. The Law of God, the God of Life is a Hedge of Protection about our Lives. 'Twas one of the Precepts of Noah, Gen. 9. 5, 6.

2. The Expoſition of this Command which the Jewiſh Teachers contented themſelves with; their Comment upon it was, Whoſoever ſhall kill, ſhall be in danger of the Judgment: This was all they had to ſay upon it, that wilful Murtherers were liable to the Sword of Juſtice, and caſual ones to the Judgment of the City of Refuge. The Courts of Judgment ſate in the Gate of their principal Cities, the Judges ordinarily in Number, Twenty-three; theſe Try'd Condemned, and Executed Murtherers; ſo that whoever kill'd was in danger of their Judgment. Now this Gloſs of theirs upon this Commandment was faulty, for it intimated, (1.) That the Law of the Sixth Commandment was only External, and forbad no more but the Act of Murther, and laid no reſtraint upon the inward Luſts, from which Wars and Fightings come. This was indeed the πρῶτον ψεῦδος, the fundamental Error of the Jewiſh Teachers, that the divine Law prohibited only the ſinful Act, not the ſinful Thought; they did hærere in cortice, reſted in the Letter of the Law, and never enquired into the ſpiritual Meaning of it; Paul while a Phariſee did not, till by the Key of the Tenth Commandment, divine Grace let him into the Knowledge of the ſpiritual Nature of all the reſt, Rom. 7. 7, 14. (2.) Another Miſtake of theirs was, That this Law was meerly Political and Municipal given for them, and intended as a Directory for their Courts, and no more; as if they only were the People, and the Wiſdom of the Law muſt dye with them.

3. The Expoſition which Chriſt gave of this Commandment, and we are ſure, that according to his Expoſition of it we muſt be judg'd hereafter, and therefore ought to be rul'd now. The Commandment is exceeding broad, and not to be limited by the Will of the Fleſh, or the Will of Men.

(1.) Chriſt tells them, That Raſh Anger is Heart-murther, v. 22. Whoſoever is angry with his Brother without a Cauſe, breaks the ſixth Commandment. By our Brother, here we are to underſtand any Perſon, tho' never ſo much our Inferior, a Child, a Servant, for we are all made of one Blood. Anger is a natural Paſſion, there are Caſes in which it is Lawful and Laudable, but it is then Sinful when we are angry without Cauſe. The Word is εἰκῆ, which ſignifies both ſine cauſa, ſine effectu, & ſine modo; ſo that the Anger is then ſinful, (1.) When it is without any juſt Provocation given, either for no Cauſe, or no good Cauſe, or no great and proportionable Cauſe. When we are angry at Children or Servants for that which could not be help'd, which was only a piece of Forgetfulneſs, or Miſtake, that we our ſelves might eaſily have been guilty of, and for which we would not have been angry at our ſelves. When we are angry upon groundleſs Surmizes, or for trivial Affronts, not worth ſpeaking of. (2.) When it is without any good End aim'd at, meerly to ſhew our Authority, to gratifie a brutiſh Paſſion, to let People know our Reſentments, and excite our ſelves to revenge, then 'tis in vain, 'tis to do hurt; whereas if we are at any time angry, it ſhould be to awaken the Offender to Repentance, and prevent his doing ſo again, to clear ourſelves, 2 Cor. 7. 11. and to give Warning to others. (3.) When it exceeds due Bounds, when we are hardy and headſtrong in our Anger, violent and vehement, outrageous and miſchievous, and ſeek the Hurt of thoſe we are diſpleaſed at; this is a Breach of the ſixth Commandment, for he that is thus angry would kill if he could and durſt, he has taken the firſt Step towards it. Cain's killing his Brother began in Anger, he is a Murderer in the Account of God, who knows his Heart, whence Murthers proceed, Mat. 15. 19.

(2.) He tells them, that giving opprobrious Language to our Brother is Tongue-murther, calling him Raca, and thou Fool; when this is done with Mildneſs, and for a good End, to convince others of their Vanity and Folly, it is not ſinful. Thus James ſaith, O vain Man; and Paul, thou Fool; and Chriſt himſelf, O Fools, and ſlow of Heart. But when it proceeds from Anger and Malice within, it is the Smoke of that Fire which is kindled from Hell, and falls under the ſame Character. (1.) Raca is a ſcornful Word, and comes from Pride; thou empty Fellow. 'Tis the Language of that which Solomon calls proud Wrath, Prov. 21. 24. which tramples upon our Brother, diſdains to ſet him even with the Dogs of our Flock. This People which knows not the Law is curſed, is ſuch Language, John 7. 44. (2.) Thou Fool is a ſpiteful Word, and comes from Hatred, looking upon him not only as mean, and not to be honour'd, but as vile, and not to be lov'd. Thou wicked Man, thou Reprobate; the former ſpeaks a Man without Wit, this (in Scripture Language) ſpeaks a Man without Grace; the more the Reproach toucheth his ſpiritual Condition, the worſer it is; the former is a haughty taunting of our Brother, this is a malicious cenſuring and condemning him, as abandon'd of God; now this is a Breach of the ſixth Commandment; malicious Slanders and Cenſures are Poiſon under the Tongue, that kills ſecretly and ſlowly; bitter Words are as Arrows that wound ſuddenly, Pſal. 64. 3. or as a Sword in the Bones; the good Name of our Neighbour, which is better than Life, is thereby ſtabb'd and murther'd, and it is an Evidence of ſuch an Ill-will to our Neighbour, as would ſtrike at his Life if it were in our Power.

(3.) He tells them, that how light ſoever they made of theſe Sins, they will certainly be reckon'd for; he that is angry with his Brother ſhall be in danger of the Judgment and Anger of God; he that calls him Raca ſhall be in danger of the Council, i. e. of being puniſhed by the Sanhedrim, for reviling an Iſraelite; but whoſoever ſaith, thou Fool, thou profane Perſon, thou Child of Hell, ſhall be in danger of Hell-fire, to which he condemns his Brother; ſo the learned Dr. Whitby. Some think in Alluſion to the Penalties uſed in the ſeveral Courts of Judgment among the Jews, Chriſt ſhews that the Sin of raſh Anger expoſes Men to lower or higher Puniſhments, according to the degrees of its Proceeding. The Jews had three capital Puniſhments, each worſe than other; beheading, which was inflicted by the Judgment; ſtoning, by the Council, or chief Sanhedrim; and burning in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, which was uſed only in extraordinary Caſes; it ſignifies therefore that raſh Anger and reproachful Language are damning Sins. But ſome are more ſinful than others, and accordingly there is a greater Damnation, and a ſorer Puniſhment reſerv'd for them. Chriſt would thus ſhew which Sin was moſt ſinful, by ſhewing which was it, the Puniſhment whereof was moſt dreadful.

4. From all this it is here inferr'd, that we ought carefully to preſerve Chriſtian Love and Peace with all our Brethren, and if at any time a Breach happens, to labour for a Reconciliation, by confeſſing our Fault, humbling ourſelves to our Brother, begging his Pardon, and making Reſtitution, or offering Satisfaction for Wrong done in Word or Deed, according as the Nature of the Thing is, and to do this quickly, for two Reaſons.

1. Becauſe till this be done we are utterly unfit for Communion with God in holy Ordinances, v. 23, 24. The Caſe ſuppoſed is, that thy Brother have ſomewhat againſt thee, that thou haſt injur'd and offended him, either really, or in his Apprehenſion. If thou art the Party offended there needs not this Delay; if thou have ought againſt thy Brother, make a ſhort Work of it, no more is to be done but to forgive him, Mat. 11. 25. and forgive the Injury; but if the Quarrel begun on thy ſide, and the Fault was either at firſt or afterwards thine, ſo that thy Brother has a Controverſy with thee, go and be reconciled to him before thou offer thy Gift at the Altar, before thou approach ſolemnly to God in the Goſpel Services of Prayer and Praiſe, hearing the Word, or the Sacraments. Note, (1.) When we are addreſſing ourſelves to any religious Exerciſes, it is good for us to take that occaſion of ſerious Reflection and Self-examination; there are many things to be remember'd when we bring our Gift to the Altar, and this among the reſt, whether our Brother hath ought againſt us; then, if ever we are diſpoſed to be ſerious, and therefore ſhould then call ourſelves to an Account. (2.) Religious Exerciſes are not acceptable to God if they be done when we are in Wrath; Envy, Malice, and Uncharitableneſs, are Sins ſo diſpleaſing to God, that nothing pleaſes him which comes from a Heart wherein thoſe are predominant, 1 Tim. 2. 8. Prayers made in Wrath are written in Gall, Iſa. 1. 15.—58. 4. (3.) Love and Charity is ſo much better than all Burnt-Offerings and Sacrifice, that God will have Reconciliation made with an offended Brother before the Gift be offered; he is content to ſtay for the Gift, rather than have it offered while we are under Guilt, and engag'd in a Quarrel. (4.) Tho' we are diſfitted for Communion with God by a continual Quarrel with a Brother, yet that can be no Excuſe for the Omiſ-ſion or Neglect of our Duty. Leave there thy Gift before the Altar, leſt otherwiſe, when thou art gone away, thou be tempted not to come again. Many give this as a reaſon why they do not come to Church, or to the Communion, becauſe they are at variance with ſome Neighbour; and whoſe Fault is that? One Sin will never excuſe another, but will rather double the Guilt; want of Charity cannot juſtify the want of Piety; the Difficulty is eaſily got over, thoſe who have wrong'd us we muſt forgive, and thoſe whom we have wrong'd we muſt make Satisfaction to, or at leaſt make a Tender of it, and deſire a renewing of the Friendſhip, ſo that if Reconciliation be not made it may not be our Fault; and then come, come and welcome, come and offer thy Gift, and it ſhall be accepted; therefore we muſt not let the Sun go down upon our Wrath any Day, becauſe we muſt go to Prayer before we go to ſleep, much leſs let the Sun riſe upon our Wrath on a Sabbath Day, becauſe it is a Day of Prayer.

2. Becauſe till this be done we lie expoſed to much Danger, v. 25, 26. It is at our Peril if we do not labour an Agreement, and that quickly, upon two Accounts.

1. Upon a temporal Account: If the Offence we have done to our Brother in his Body, Goods, or good Name, be ſuch as will bear an Action, in which he may recover conſiderable Damages, it is our Wiſdom, and 'tis Duty to our Family, to prevent that by a humble Submiſſion, and a juſt and peaceable Satisfaction, leſt otherwiſe he recover it by Law, and put us to the Extremity of a Priſon; in ſuch a Caſe 'tis better compound, and make the beſt Terms we can, than to ſtand it out, for it's in vain to contend with the Law, and there's danger of our being cruſh'd by it; many ruin their Eſtates by an obſtinate perſiſting in the Offences they have given, which would ſoon have been pacified by a little yielding at firſt. Solomon's Advice in Caſe of Suretiſhip is, Go humble thyſelf, and ſo ſecure and deliver thyſelf, Prov. 6. 1.–5. 'tis good to agree, for the Law is coſtly. Tho' we muſt be merciful to thoſe we have Advantage againſt, yet we muſt be juſt to thoſe that have Advantage againſt us, as far as we are able. Agree and compound with thine Adverſary quickly, leſt he be exaſperated by thy Stubbornneſs, and provok'd to inſiſt upon the utmoſt Demand, and will not make thee the Abatement which at firſt he would have made. A Priſon is an uncomfortable Place to thoſe who are brought to it by their own Pride and Prodigality, their own Wilfulneſs and Folly.

2. Upon a ſpiritual Account. Go and be reconciled to thy Brother, be juſt to him, be Friends with him, becauſe while the Quarrel continues, as thou art unfit to bring thy Gift to the Altar, unfit to come to the Table of the Lord, ſo thou art unfit to die; if thou perſiſt in this Sin there's danger leſt thou be ſuddenly ſnatch'd away by the Wrath of God, whoſe Judgment thou canſt not eſcape, or except againſt; and if that Iniquity be laid to thy Charge thou art undone for ever. Hell is a Priſon for all that live and die in Malice and Uncharitableneſs, for all that are contentious, Rom. 2. 8. and out of that Priſon there is no Reſcue, no Redemption, no Eſcape to Eternity.

This is very applicable to the great Buſineſs of our Reconciliation to God thro' Chriſt; Agree with him quickly, while thou art in the way. Note, (1.) The great God is an Adverſary to all Sinners, Ἀντίδικος, a Law-Adverſary, he has a Controverſy with them, an Action againſt them. (2.) It is our Concern to agree with him, to acquaint ourſelves with him, that we may be at Peace, John 22. 21. 2 Cor. 5. 20. (3.) 'Tis our Wiſdom to do this quickly, while we are in the way; while we are alive we are in the way, after Death 'twill be too late to do it, therefore give not Sleep to thine Eyes till it be done. (4.) Thoſe that continue in a State of Enmity to God are continually expoſed to the Arreſts of his Juſtice, and the moſt dreadful Inſtances of his Wrath. Chriſt is the Judge, to whom impenitent Sinners will be delivered; for all Judgment is committed to the Son. He that was rejected as a Saviour cannot be eſcaped as a Judge, Rev. 6. 16, 17. 'Tis a fearful thing to be thus turned over to the Lord Jeſus, when the Lamb ſhall become a Lion. Angels are the Officers, to whom Chriſt will deliver them, Matt. 13. 41, 42. Devils are ſo too, having the Power of Death, as Executioners to all Unbelievers, Heb. 2. 14. Hell is the Priſon into which thoſe will be caſt that continued in a State of Enmity to God, 2 Pet. 2. 4. (5.) Damned Sinners muſt lie by it to Eternity, they ſhall not depart till they have paid the uttermoſt Farthing, and that will not be to the utmoſt Ages of Eternity; divine Juſtice will be for ever in the ſatisfying, but never ſatisfied.

27 Ye have heard that it was ſaid by them of old time, Thou ſhalt not commit adultery. 28 But I ſay unto you, That whoſoever looketh on a woman to luſt after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. 29 And if thy right eye offend thee pluck it out, and caſt it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members ſhould periſh, and not that thy whole body ſhould be caſt into hell. 30 And if thy right hand offend thee cut it off, and caſt it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members ſhould periſh, and not that thy whole body ſhould be caſt into hell. 31 It hath been ſaid, Whoſoever ſhall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement. 32 But I ſay unto you, That whoſoever ſhall put away his wife, ſaving, for the cauſe of fornication, cauſeth her to commit adultery: and whoſoever ſhall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery.

We have here an Expoſition of the Seventh Commandment, given us by the ſame Hand that made the Law, and therefore was fitteſt to be the Interpreter of it. 'Tis the Law againſt Uncleanneſs which fitly follows upon the former, that laid Reſtraint upon ſinful Paſſions, this upon ſinful Appetites, both which ought always to be under the Government of Reaſon and Conſcience, and if indulg'd, are equally pernicious.

The Command is here laid down, v. 17. Thou ſhalt not commit Adultery; which includes a Prohibition of all other Acts of Uncleanneſs, and the Deſire of them. But the Phariſees, in their Expoſitions of this Command, made it to extend no further than the Act of Adultery; ſuggeſting, if the Iniquity was only regarded in the Heart, and went no further, God could not hear it, would not regard it, (Pſal. 66. 18.) and therefore they thought it enough to be able to ſay, they were no Adulterers, Luke 18. 11.

2. It is here explain'd in the Strictneſs of it, in three things, which would ſeem new and ſtrange to thoſe who had been always govern'd by the Tradition of the Elders, and took all for Oracle that they taught.

1. We are here taught, That there is ſuch a thing as Heart Adultery, adulterous Thoughts and Diſpoſitions, which never proceed to the Act of Adultery and Fornication. And perhaps the Defilement which theſe give to the Soul, that's here ſo clearly aſſerted, was not only included in the Seventh Commandment, but was ſignified and intended in many of thoſe Ceremonial Pollutions under the Law, for which they were to waſh their Cloaths, and bath their Fleſh in Water. V. 28. Whoſoever looketh on a Woman, not only another Man's Wife, as ſome would have it, but any Woman, to luſt after her, has committed Adultery with her in his Heart. This Command forbids not only the Acts of Fornication or Adultery, but (1.) all Appetites to them, all luſting after the forbidden Object. This is the Beginning of the Sin, Luſt conceiving, Jam. 1. 15. 'tis an ill Step towards the Sin, and where the Luſt is dwelt upon and approved, and the wanton Deſire is roll'd under the Tongue as a ſweet Morſel, it is the Commiſſion of the Sin, as far as the Heart can do it, there wants nothing but a convenient Opportunity for the Sin it ſelf. Adultera Mens eſt, Ovid. Luſt is Conſcience baffled, or biaſs'd; biaſs'd, if it ſay nothing againſt the Sin, baffled, if it prevail not in what it ſaith. (2.) All Approaches towards them, feeding the Eye with the Sight of the forbidden Fruit: Not only looking for that End, that I may luſt, but looking till I do luſt, or looking to gratify the Luſt, where further Satisfaction cannot be obtain'd. The Eye is both the Inlet and the Outlet of a great deal of Wickedneſs of this Kind; witneſs Joſeph's Miſtreſs, Gen. 39. 7. Sampſon, Jud. 16. 1. David, 2 Sam. 11. 2. We read of Eyes full of Adultery, that cannot ceaſe from this Sin, 2 Pet. 2. 14. what need have we therefore with holy Job, to make a Covenant with our Eyes, to make this Bargain with them, that they ſhould have the Pleaſure of beholding the Light of the Sun, and the Works of God, provided they would never faſten or dwell upon any thing that might occaſion impure Imaginations or Deſires, and under this Penalty, that if they did, they muſt ſmart for it in penitential Tears, Job 31. 1. What have we the Covering of the Eyes for, but to reſtrain corrupt Glances, and keep out their defiling Impreſſions. This forbids alſo the uſing of any other of our Senſes to ſtir up Luſt. If enſnaring Looks are forbidden Fruit, much more unclean Diſcourſes and wanton Dalliances, the Fuel and Bellows of this Helliſh Fire. Theſe Precepts are Hedges about the Law of Heart-purity, v. 8. And if Looking be Luſt, they who dreſs, and deck, and expoſe themſelves with Deſign to be looked at, and luſted after, (like Jezebel, that painted her Face, and tired her Head, and looked out at the Window) are no leſs guilty. Men ſit, but Devils tempt to Sin.

2. That ſuch Looks and ſuch Dalliances are ſo very dangerous and deſtructive to the Soul, that it is better to loſe the Eye and the Hand, that thus offend, than give Way to the Sin, and periſh eternally in it. This Leſſon is here taught us, v. 29, 30. Corrupt Nature would ſoon object againſt the Prohibition of Heart-Adultery, that it is impoſſible to be govern'd by it; 'tis a hard Saying, who can bear it? Fleſh and Blood cannot but look with Pleaſure upon a beautiful Woman, and 'tis impoſſible to forbear luſting after and dallying with ſuch an Object. Such Pretences as theſe will ſcarce be overcome by Reaſon, and therefore muſt be argued againſt with the Terrors of the Lord, and ſo they are here argued againſt.

(1.) It is a ſevere Operation that is here preſcribed for the preventing of theſe fleſhly Luſts. If thy right Eye offend thee, or cauſe thee to offend, by wanton Glances or wanton Gazings upon forbidden Objects; if thy right Hand offend thee, or cauſe thee to offend, by wanton Dalliances; and if it were indeed impoſſible, as is pretended, to govern the Eye and the Hand, and they have been ſo accuſtomed to theſe wicked Practices that they will not be withheld from them; yet if there were no other way to reſtrain them (which, bleſſed be God, thro' his Grace there is) it were better for us, and leſs hurtful, to pluck out the Eye, and cut off the Hand, tho' the Right Eye and Right Hand the more honourable and uſeful, than indulge them in Sin, to the Ruin of the Soul; and if this muſt be ſubmitted to, at the thought of which Nature ſtartles, much more muſt we reſolve to keep under the Body, and to bring it into Subjection, to live a Life of Mortification and Self-denial, to keep a conſtant Watch over our own Hearts, and to ſuppreſs the firſt riſing of Luſt and Corruption there, to avoid the Occaſions of Sin, to reſiſt the Beginnings of it, and to decline the Company of ſuch who will be a Snare to us, tho' never ſo pleaſing; to keep out of Harm's-way, and abridge ourſelves in the uſe of lawful things, when we find them Temptations to us; and to ſeek unto God for his Grace, and depend upon that Grace daily, and ſo to walk in the Spirit, as that we may not fulfil the Luſt of the Fleſh: And this will be as effectual as cutting of a right Hand, or pulling out a right Eye, and perhaps as much againſt the Grain to Fleſh and Blood; 'tis the Deſtruction of the Old Man.

(2.) It is a ſtartling Argument that is made uſe of to enforce this Preſcription, v. 29. and it is repeated in the ſame Words, v. 30. becauſe we are loth to hear ſuch rough things Iſa. 30. 10. it is profitable for thee that one of thy Members ſhould periſh, tho' it be an Eye or an Hand, which can be worſt ſpared, and not that thy whole Body ſhould be caſt into Hell. Note, 1. It is not unbecoming a Miniſter of the Goſpel to preach of Hell and Damnation, nay, he muſt do it, for Chriſt himſelf did it, and we are unfaithful to our Truſt if we give not Warning of the Wrath to come. 2. There are ſome Sins from which we need to be ſav'd with Fear, particularly fleſhly Luſts, which are ſuch natural brute Beaſts, as cannot be check'd but by being frighten'd, cannot be kept from a forbidden Tree, but by a Cherubim with a flaming Sword. 3. When we are tempted to think it hard to deny our ſelves, and to crucify fleſhly Luſts, we ought to conſider how much harder it will be to lie for ever in the Lake that burns with Fire and Brimſtone: Thoſe do not know, or do not believe, what Hell is, that will rather venture their Eternal Ruin in thoſe Flames, than deny themſelves the Gratification of a baſe and brutiſh Luſt. 4. in Hell there will be Torments for the Body; the whole Body will be caſt into Hell, and there will be Torment in every part of it; ſo that if we have any care of our own Bodies, we will poſſeſs them in Sanctification and Honour, and not in the Luſts of Uncleanneſs. 5. Even thoſe Duties that are moſt diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood, yet are profitable for us, and our Maſter requires nothing from us, but what he knows to be for our Advantage.

3. That Men's divorcing their Wives upon Diſlike, or for any other Cauſe, except Adultery, however tolerated and practis'd among the Jews, was a Violation of the ſeventh Commandment, as it open'd a Door to Adultery, v. 31. 32. Here obſerve,

1. How the Matter now ſtood in Reference to Divorce. It has been ſaid (he doth not ſay, as before, It hath been ſaid to them of old time, becauſe this was not a Precept, as thoſe were, tho' the Phariſees were willing ſo to underſtand it, chap. 19. 7. but only a Permiſſion.) Whoſoever ſhall put away his Wife, let him give her a Bill of Divorce; let him not think to do it by Word of Mouth, when he is in a Paſſion, but let him do it deliberately, by a legal Inſtrument in Writing atteſted by Witneſſes; if he will diſſolve the Matrimonial Bond, let him do it ſolemnly. Thus the Law had prevented raſh and haſty Divorces; and perhaps at firſt, when Writing was not ſo common among the Jews, that made Divorces rare things; but in Proceſs of time they became very common, and this Direction how to do it, when there was juſt Cauſe for it, was conſtrued a Permiſſion of it, for any Cauſe, Mat. 19. 3.

2. How this Matter was rectified and amended by our Saviour. He reduced the Ordinance of Marriage to its primitive Inſtitution; they two ſhall be one Fleſh, not to be eaſily ſeparated, and therefore a Divorce is not to be allow'd, except in Caſe of Adultery, which breaks the Marriage Covenant. But he that puts away his Wife upon any other Pretence, cauſeth her to commit Adultery, and him alſo, that ſhall marry her when ſhe is thus devorced. Note, Thoſe who lead others into Temptation to Sin, or leave them in it, or expoſe them to it, make themſelves guilty of their Sin, and will be accountable for it. This is one way of being partaker with Adulterers, Pſal. 50. 18.

33 Again ye have heard that it hath been ſaid by them of old time, Thou ſhalt not forſwear thy ſelf, but ſhalt perform unto the Lord thine oath. 34 But I ſay unto you, Swear not at all; neither by the heaven, for it is God's throne; 35 Nor by the Earth, for it is his footſtool: neither by Jeruſalem, for it is the city of the great King. 36 Neither ſhalt thou ſwear by thy head, becauſe thou canſt not make one hair white or black. 37 But let your Communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatſoever is more than theſe cometh of evil.

We have here an Expoſition of the third Commandment, which we are the more concern'd righly to underſtand, becauſe 'tis particularly ſaid, that God will not hold him guiltleſs, however they may hold themſelves, who break this Commandment, by taking the Name of the Lord their God in vain. Now as to this Command,

1. It is agreed on all hands, that this Commandment forbids Perjury, Forſwearing, and the Violation of Oaths, and Vows, v. 33. This was ſaid to them of old time, and is the true Intent and Meaning of the third Commandment, Thou ſhalt not uſe, or take up the Name of God (as we do by an Oath) in vain, or unto Vanity, or a Lye. He hath not lift up his Soul unto Vanity, is expounded in the next Words, nor ſworn deceitfully, Pſal. 24. 4. Perjury is a Sin condemned by the Light of Nature, as a Complication of Impiety towards God, and Injuſtice towards Man, and rendring a Man highly obvious to the divine Wrath, which was always judged to follow ſo infallibly upon that Sin, that the Forms of Swearing were commonly turn'd into Execrations or Imprecations; as that, God do ſo to me, and more alſo; and with us, So help me God, wiſhing I may never have any help from God, if I ſwear falſly. Thus by the Conſent of Nations have Men curſed themſelves, not doubting but that God would curſe them, if they ly'd againſt the Truth then when they ſolemnly call'd God to witneſs to it.

It is added from ſome other Scriptures, but ſhalt perform unto the Lord thine Oaths, Numb. 30. 2. which may be meant either (1.) of thoſe Promiſes to which God is a Party, Vows made to God, theſe muſt be punctally paid, Eccl. 5. 4, 5. Or (2.) of thoſe Promiſes made to our Brethren, to which God was a Witneſs, he being appealed to concerning our Sincerity; theſe muſt be perform'd to the Lord, with an Eye to him, and for his ſake, for to him, by ratifying the Promiſe with an Oath, we have made ourſelves Debtors, and if we break a Promiſe ſo ratified, we have not lied unto Men only, but unto God.

2. It is here added, that the Commandment doth not only forbid falſe Swearing, but all raſh unneceſſary Swearing. Swear not at all, v. 34. compare Jam. 5. 17. Not that all Swearing is ſinful, ſo far from that, that if rightly done, it is a part of religious Worſhip, and we in it give unto God the Glory due to his Name, See Deut. 6. 13.–10. 20. Iſa. 45. 23. Jer. 4. 2. We find Paul confirming what he ſaid by ſuch Solemnities. 2 Cor. 1. 23. when there was a Neceſſity for it. In Swearing we pawn the Truth of ſomething known, to confirm the Truth of ſomething doubtful or unknown, we appeal to a greater Knowledge, to a higher Court, and imprecate the Vengeance of a righteous Judge, if we ſwear deceitfully.

Now the Mind of Chriſt in this Matter is,

1. That we muſt not ſwear at all, but when we are duly call'd to it, and Juſtice or Charity to our Brother, or reſpect to the Commonwealth, make it neceſſary for the End of Strife, Heb. 6. 16. of which Neceſſity the Civil Magiſtrate is ordinarily to be the Judge. We may be ſworn, but we muſt not ſwear; we may be adjur'd, and ſo obliged to it, but we muſt not thruſt our ſelves upon it for our own worlcly Advantage.

2. That we muſt not ſwear lightly and irreverently, in common Diſcourſe: 'Tis a very great Sin, a ludicrous Appeal to the glorious Majeſty of Heaven, which being a ſacred thing ought always to be very ſerious. 'Tis a groſs Profanation of God's holy Name, and of one of the holy things, which the Children of Iſrael ſanctify to the Lord. 'Tis a Sin that has no Cloke, no Excuſe for it, and therefore a Sign of a graceleſs Heart, in which Enmity to God reigns, Thine Enemies take thy Name in vain.

3. That we muſt in a ſpecial manner avoid promiſſory Oaths; of which Chriſt more particularly ſpeaks here, for they are Oaths that are to be perform'd. The Influence of an aſſertory Oath immediately ceaſeth, when we have faithfully diſcover'd the Truth, and the whole Truth, the Peril is over; but a promiſſory Oath binds ſo long, and may be ſo many ways broken, by the Surprize, as well as Strength of a Temptation, and therefore it is not to be us'd, but upon great Neceſſity. The frequent requiring and uſing of them is a Reflection upon Chriſtians, who ſhould be of ſuch acknowledg'd Fidelity, as that their ſober Words ſhould be as ſacred as their ſolemn Oaths.

4. That we muſt not ſwear by any Creature. It ſhould ſeem there were ſome, who in Civility (as they thought) to the Name of God, would not make uſe of that in ſwearing, but would ſwear by Heaven or Earth, &c. This Chriſt forbids here, v. 34. and ſhews there is nothing we can Swear by, but it is ſome way or other related to God, who is the Fountain of all Beings and therefore 'tis as dangerous to ſwear by them, as it is to ſwear by God himſelf. 'Tis the Verity of the Creature that is laid at Stake, now that cannot be an Inſtrument of Teſtimony, but as it has regard to God, who is the Summum Verum. As for Inſtance,

(1.) Swear not by the Heaven; as ſure as there is a Heaven, this is true; for it is God's Throne, where he reſides, and in a particular Manner manifeſts his Glory, as a Prince upon his Throne: This being the inſeparable Dignity of the upper World, you cannot ſwear by Heaven, but you ſwear by God himſelf.

(2.) Nor by the Earth; for it is his Footſtool. He governs the Motions of this lower World; as he rules in Heaven, ſo he rules over the Earth, and tho' under his Feet, yet withal under his Eyes and Care, and ſtands in Relation to him as his, Pſal. 24. 1. The Earth is the Lord's; ſo that in ſwearing by it, you ſwear by its Owner.

(3.) Neither by Jeruſalem, a Place which the Jews had ſuch a Veneration for, that they could not ſpeak of any thing more ſacred, to ſwear by. But beſides the common Reference Jeruſalem has to God, as Part of the Earth, it is in ſpecial Relation to him, for it is the City of the great King, Pſal. 48. 2. the City of God, Pſal. 46. 4. he is therefore intereſted in it, and in every Oath taken by it.

(4.) Neither ſhalt thou ſwear by thy Head: Tho' it be near thee, and an eſſential Part of thee, yet it is more God's than thine; for he made it, and form'd all the Springs and Powers of it; whereas thou thy ſelf canſt not from any natural intrinſick Influence, change the Colour of one Hair, ſo as to make it white or black. So that thou canſt not ſwear by thy Head, but thou ſweareſt by him, who is the Life of thy Head, and the Lifter up of it, Pſal. 3. 3.

5. That therefore in all our Communication we muſt content our ſelves with yea, yea, and nay, nay, v. 37. In ordinary Diſcourſe, if we affirm a Thing, let us only ſay, Yea it is ſo; and if need be, to evidence our Aſſurance of a Thing, we may double it, and ſay, yea, yea, indeed it is ſo; verily verily, was our Saviour's yea, yea; ſo if we deny a Thing, let it ſuffice to ſay, no; or, if it be requiſite, to repeat the Denial, and ſay, no, no. And if our Fidelity be known, that will ſuffice to gain us Credit: And if it be queſtion'd, to back what we ſay with Swearing and Curſing, is but to render it more ſuſpicious; they that can ſwallow a prophane Oath, will not ſtrain at a Lye. 'Tis Pity, that this which Chriſt puts in the Mouths of all his Diſciples, ſhould be faſten'd as a Name of Reproach, upon a Sect faulty enough other ways, when (as Dr. Hammond ſaith) we are not only forbidden any more than yea and nay, but are in a manner directed to the Uſe of that.

The Reaſon is obſervable, for whatſoever is more than theſe cometh of Evil, tho' it do not amount to the Iniquity of an Oath. It comes ἐκ τȣ̃ Διαβόλȣ; ſo an ancient Copy has it: It comes from the Devil, the evil one; it comes from the Corruption of Mens Nature. from Paſſion and Vehemence, and a reigning Vanity in the Mind, and a Contempt of ſacred Things. It comes from that Deceitfulneſs which is in Men, all Men are Liars; therefore Men uſe their Proteſtations, becauſe they are diſtruſtful one of another, and think they cannot be believed without them. Note, Chriſtians ſhould for the Credit of their Religion avoid, not only that which is in it ſelf Evil, but that which cometh of Evil, and has the Appearance of it. That may be ſuſpected as an ill Thing, which comes from an ill Cauſe. An Oath is Phyſick, which ſuppoſeth a Diſeaſe.

38 Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. 39 But I ſay unto you, that ye reſiſt not evil: but whoſoever ſhall ſmite thee on the right cheek, turn to him the other alſo. 40 And if any man will ſue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke alſo.
41 And whoſoever ſhall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. 42 Give to him that asketh of thee, and from him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away.

In theſe Verſes the Law of Retaliation is expounded, and in a manner repeal'd. Obſerve, Firſt, What the Old Teſtament Permiſſion was, in Caſe of Injury. And here the Expreſſion is only, Ye have heard that it has been ſaid, not as before concerning the Commands of the Decalouge, that it has been ſaid, by or to them of old time. It was not a Command, that every one ſhould of Neceſſity require ſuch Satisfaction, but they might lawfully inſiſt upon it, if they pleas'd; an Eye for an Eye and a Tooth for a Tooth. This we find, Exod. 21. 24. Lev. 24. 20. Deut. 19. 21. In all which Places 'tis appointed to be done by the Magiſtrate, who bears not the Sword in vain, but is the Miniſter of God, an Avenger to execute Wrath, Rom 13. 4. 'Twas a Direction, to the Judges of the Jewiſh Nation, what Puniſhments to inflict in Caſe of Maimes, for Terrour to ſuch as would do miſchief on the one Hand, and for a Reſtraint to ſuch as have Miſchief done them on the other Hand, that they may not inſiſt on a greater Puniſhment than is fitting. 'Tis not a Life for an Eye, or a Limb for a Tooth, but obſerve a Proportion. And it is intimated, Numb. 35. 31. that the Forfeiture in this Caſe might be redeemed with Money; for when it is provided, that no Ranſom ſhall be taken for the Life of a Murtherer, it is ſuppos'd, that for Maimes a pecuniary Satisfaction was allowed.

But ſome of the Jewiſh Teachers, who were not the moſt compaſſionate Men in the World, inſiſted upon it as neceſſary, that ſuch Revenges ſhould be taken, even by private Perſons themſelves, and there was no room left for Remiſſion, or the Acceptance of Satisfaction: Even now when they were under the Government of the Roman Magiſtrates, and conſequently the Judicial Law fell to the Ground of Courſe, yet they were ſtill zealous for any thing that look'd harſh and ſevere.

Now ſo far this is in force with us, as a Direction to Magiſtrates, to uſe the Sword of Juſtice, according to the good and wholeſome Laws of the Land; for the Terrour of Evil Doers, and the Vindication of the Oppreſſed. That Judge neither feared God, nor regarded Man, who would not avenge the poor Widow of her Adverſary, Luke 18. 2, 3. And as a Rule to Lawgivers, to provide accordingly, and wiſely to apportion Puniſhments to Crimes, for the Reſtraint of Rapine and Violence, and the Protection of Innocency.

Secondly, What the New Teſtament Precept is. As to the complainant himſelf, his Duty is, to forgive the Injury as done to himſelf, and no further to inſiſt upon the Puniſhment of it, than is neceſſary to the Publick Good. And this Precept is conſonant to the Meekneſs of Chriſt and the Gentlenſs of his Yoke.

Two Things Chriſt teacheth us here.

1. We muſt not be revengeful, v. 39. I ſay unto you that ye reſiſt not evil; the evil Perſon that is injurious to you. The Reſiſting of any ill Attempt upon us, is here as generally and expreſly forbidden, as the Reſiſting of the higher Powers is, Rom. 13. 2. And yet this doth not repeal the Law of Self-preſervation, and the Care we are to take of our Families. We may avoid Evil, and may reſiſt it ſo far as is neceſſary to our own Security; but we muſt not render Evil for Evil, muſt not bear a Grudge, or avenge ourſelves; not ſtudy to be even with thoſe that have done us a Diſkindneſs; but to go beyond them by forgiving them. Prov. 20. 22.—24. 29.—25. 21. 22. Rom. 12. 17. The Law of Retaliation muſt be made to conſiſt with the Law of Love: Nor if any have injur'd us, is our Amends in our own Hands, but in the Hands of God, to whoſe Wrath we muſt give place; and ſometimes in the Hands of his Vicegerents, where 'tis neceſſary for the Preſervation of the publick Peace. But it will not juſtify us in hurting our Brother, to ſay, that he began, for it is the ſecond Blow that makes the Quarrel; and when we were injur'd, we had an Opportunity not to juſtify our injuring him, but to ſhew ourſelves the true Diſciples of Chriſt, by forgiving him.

Three Things our Saviour inſtanceth in, to ſhew that Chriſtians muſt patiently yield to thoſe who bear hard upon them, rather than contend; and theſe include others.

1. A Blow on the Cheek, which is an Injury to me in my Body. Whoſoever ſhall ſmite thee on thy right Cheek, which is not only a Hurt, but an Affront and Indignity, 2 Cor. 11. 20. If a Man in Anger or Scorn thus abuſe thee, turn to him the other Cheek; that is, inſtead of avenging that Injury, prepare for another, and bear it patiently. Give not the rude Man as good as he brings, do not challenge him, or enter an Action againſt him; if it be neceſſary to the Publick Peace, that he be bound to his good Behaviour, leave that to the Magiſtrate; but for thy own Part, it will ordinarily be the wiſeſt Courſe, to paſs it by, and take no further notice of it: There's no Bones broke, no great Harm done, forgive it and forget it, and if proud Fools think the worſe of thee, and laugh at thee for it, all wiſe Men will value and honour thee for it, as a Follower of the bleſſed Jeſus, who tho' he was the Judge of Iſrael, did not ſmite thoſe who ſmote him on the Cheek, Mic. 5. 2. Tho' this may perhaps with ſome baſe Spirits expoſe us to the like Affront another time, and ſo 'tis in effect to turn the other Cheek; yet let not that diſturb us, but let us truſt God and his Providence to protect us in the Way of our Duty. Perhaps the forgiving of one Injury may prevent another, when the avenging of it would but draw another; ſome will be overcome by Submiſſion, who by Reſiſtance would but be the more exaſperated, Prov. 25. 22. However our Amends is in Chriſt's Hands, who will recompence us with Eternal Glory, for the Shame we thus patiently endure; and tho' it be not directly inflicted, if it be quietly born, for Conſcience ſake, and in Conformity to Chriſt's Example, it ſhall be put upon the Score of Suffering for Chriſt.

2. The Loſs of a Coat, which is a Wrong to me in my Eſtate, v. 40. If any Man will ſue thee at the Law, and take away thy Coat, it's a hard Caſe. Note, It is common for legal Proceſſes to be made uſe of for the doing of the greateſt Injuries. Though Judges be juſt and circumſpect, yet 'tis poſſible for ill Men, that make no Conſcience of Oaths and Forgeries, by Courſe of Law to recover the Coat off a Man's back. Marvel not at the matter, Eccl. 5. 8. but in ſuch a Caſe, rather than go to Law by way of Revenge, rather than exhibit a croſs Bill, or ſtand out to the utmoſt in Defence of that which is thy undoubted right, let him e'en take thy Cloke alſo. If the matter be ſmall, which we may part with without any conſiderable Damage to our Families, 'tis good to quit it for Peace ſake. It will not coſt thee ſo much to buy another Cloke, but it will coſt thee a great deal more by Courſe of Law to recover that; and therefore unleſs thou canſt get it again by fair means, 'tis better let him take it.

3. The going of a Mile by Conſtraint, which is a wrong to me in my Liberty, v. 41. Whoſoever ſhall compel thee to go a Mile, to run of an Errand for him, or to wait upon him, grudge not at it, but go with him two Miles, rather than fall out with him. Say not, I would do it, if I were not compell'd to it, but I hate to be forc'd; rather ſay, therefore I will do it; for otherwiſe there will be a Quarrel; and it's better ſerve him, than ſerve thy own Luſt of Pride and Revenge. Some give this Senſe of it: The Jews taught, that the Diſciples of the Wiſe and Students of the Law, were not to be preſs'd, as others might by the King's Officers, to travel upon the publick Service; but Chriſt will not have his Diſciples to inſiſt upon this Privilege, but to comply, rather than offend the Government. The Sum of all is, That Chriſtians muſt not be litigious; ſmall Injuries muſt be put up, and no notice taken of them: And if the Injury be ſuch, as requires we ſhould ſeek for Reparation, it muſt be for a good End, and without Thought of Revenge. Tho' we muſt not invite Injuries, yet we muſt meet them chearfully in the Way of Duty, and make the beſt of them. If any ſay, Fleſh and Blood cannot paſs by ſuch an Affront, let them remember, that Fleſh and Blood ſhall not inherit the Kingdom of God.

2. We muſt be Charitable, and Beneficent, v. 42. muſt not only do no hurt to our Neighbours, but labour to do them all the Good we can. (1.) We muſt be ready to give. Give to him that aſketh thee. If thou haſt an Ability, look upon the Requeſt of the Poor as giving thee Opportunity for the Duty of Alms-giving. When a real Object of Charity preſents it ſelf, we ſhould give at the firſt word, give a Portion to ſeven, and alſo to eight; yet the Affairs of our Charity muſt be guided with Diſcretion, Pſal. 112. 5. leſt we give that to the Idle and Unworthy, which ſhould be given to thoſe that are neceſſitous, and deſerve well. What God ſaith to us, we ſhould be ready to ſay to our poor Brethren, Aſk, and it ſhall be given you. (2.) We muſt be ready to Lend. This is ſometimes as great a piece of Charity as Giving; as it not only relieveth the preſent Exigence, but obligeth the Borrower to Providence, Induſtry, and Honeſty, and therefore from him that would borrow of thee ſomething to live on, or ſomething to trade on, turn not thou away. Shun not thoſe that thou knoweſt have ſuch a Requeſt to thee; nor contrive Excuſes to ſhake them off. Be eaſy of Acceſs to him that would Borrow. Tho' he be Baſhful, and hath not Confidence to make known his Caſe, and beg the Favour, yet thou knoweſt both his Need, and his Deſire, and therefore offer him the Kindneſs. Exorabor antequam rogor; Honeſtis precibus occuram. Seneca de Vit. Beat. It becomes us to be thus forward in Acts of Kindneſs, for before we call, God hears us, and preſents us with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs.

43 Ye have heard that it hath been ſaid, thou ſhalt love thy neighbour and hate thine enemy: 44 But I ſay unto you, Love your enemies, bleſs them that curſe you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that deſpitefully uſe you, and perſecute you: 45 That ye may be the Children of your Father which is in heaven, for he maketh his Sun to riſe on the evil and on the good, and ſendeth rain on the juſt and on the unjuſt. 46 For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the ſame? 47 And if you ſalute your brethren only, what do you more than others? do not even the publicans ſo? 48 Be ye therefore perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect

We have here, (laſtly) an Expoſition of that great Fundamental Law of the Second Table, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour, which was the fulfilling of the Law.

1. See here how this Law was corrupted by the Comments of the Jewiſh Teachers, v. 43. God ſaid, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour; and by Neighbour, they underſtood thoſe only of their own Country, Nation, and Religion, and thoſe only that they were pleas'd to look upon as their Friends. Yet this was not the worſt; from this Command, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour, they were willing to infer what God never deſign'd, Thou ſhalt hate thine Enemy: and they look'd upon whom they pleas'd as their Enemies, thus making void that great Command of God by their Traditions; tho' there were expreſs Laws to the Contrary, Exod 23. 4, 5. Deut. 23. 7. Thou ſhalt not abhor an Edomite, or an Egyptian, tho' theſe Nations had been as much Enemies to Iſrael, as any whatſoever, 'Twas true, God appointed them to deſtroy the ſeven devoted Nations of Canaan, and not to make Leagues with them. But there was a particular Reaſon for it, to make room for Iſrael, and that they might not be Snares to them, but it was very ill-natur'd, from hence to infer, that they muſt hate all their Enemies; yet the Moral Philoſophy of the Heathen allow'd this: 'Tis Cicero's Rule, Nemini nocere niſi prius laceſſitum injuria. Offic. See how willing corrupt Paſſions are to fetch Countenance from the Word of God, and to take Occaſion by the Commandment to juſtify themſelves.

2. See how it is clear'd by the Commandment of the Lord Jeſus, who teacheth us another Leſſon, But I ſay unto you, I, who come to be the great Peace-maker, the general Reconciler, who loved you when you were Strangers and Enemies; I ſay, Love your Enemies, v. 44, Tho' Men are never ſo bad themſelves, and carry it never ſo baſely towards us, yet that doth not diſcharge us from the great Debt we owe them, of Love to our Kind, Love to our Kin. We cannot but find ourſelves very prone to wiſh the Hurt, or at leaſt very coldly to deſire the Good of thoſe that hate us, and have been abuſive to us: But that which is at the Bottom hereof, is a Root of Bitterneſs, which muſt be pluck'd up, and a Remnant of corrupt Nature, which Grace muſt conquer. Note, It is the great Duty of Chriſtians to love their Enemies; we cannot have Complacency in one that is openly Wicked and Prophane; nor put a Confidence in one that we know to be deceitful, nor are we to love all alike; but we muſt pay Reſpect to the human Nature, and ſo far honour all Men: We muſt take notice with pleaſure, of that even in our Enemies which is amiable, and commendable, Ingenuity, good Temper, Learning, moral Virtue, Kindneſs to others, profeſſion of Religion, &c. and love that, tho' they are our Enemies. We muſt have Compaſſion for them, and a good Will towards them: We are here told,

1. That we muſt ſpeak well of them; Bleſs them that Curſe you. When we ſpeak to them, we muſt anſwer their Revilings with courteous and friendly Words, and not render Railing for Railing; behind their backs we muſt commend that in them which is commendable, and when we have ſaid all the Good we can of tham, not be forward to ſay any more. See 1 Pet. 3. 9. They in whoſe Tongues is the Law of Kindneſs, can give good Words to thoſe who give ill Words to them.

2. That we muſt do well to them; do Good to them that hate you, and that will be a better Proof of Love than good Words. Be ready to do them all the real Kindneſs that may be, and glad of an Opportunity to do it, in their Bodies, Eſtates, Names, Families, and eſpecially to do good to their Souls. It was ſaid of Archbiſhop Cranmer, That the way to make him one's Friend, was to do him an ill Turn, ſo many did he ſerve that had diſobliged him.

3. We muſt Pray well for them. Pray for them that deſpitefully uſe you, and Perſecute you. Note, 1. It is no new thing for the moſt excellent Saints to be hated and curs'd, and perſecuted, and deſpitefully us'd by wicked People; Chriſt himſelf was ſo treated. 2. That when at any time we meet with ſuch uſage, we have an opportunity of ſhewing our Conformity, both to the Precept and to the Example of Chriſt, by Praying for them who thus abuſe us. If we cannot otherwiſe teſtify our Love to them, yet this way we may, without Oſtentation, and 'tis ſuch a way as ſurely we durſt not diſſemble in. We muſt pray that God will forgive them, that they may never fare the worſe for any thing they have done againſt us, and that he would make them to be at Peace with us, and this is one way of making them ſo. Plutarch in his Laconick Apophthegms has this of Ariſto; when one commended Cleomenes's Saying, who being aſk'd, What a good King ſhould do? Reply'd, Τοὺς μὲν φίλους εὐεργετεῖν τοὺς δὲ ἐχθροὺς κακῶς ποιεῖν, Good Turns to his Friends, and Evil to his Enemies: He ſaid, How much better is it τοὺς μὲν φίλους εὐεργετεῖν τοὺς δὲ ἐχθροὺς φίλους ποιεῖν, to do good to our Friends, and make Friends of our Enemies. This is heaping Coals of Fire on their Head.

Two Reaſons are here given to enforce this Command (which ſounds ſo harſh) of loving our Enemies. We muſt do it,

1. That we may be like God our Father; that ye may be, i. e. may approve yourſelves to be the Children of your Father which is in Heaven. Can we write after a better Copy? 'Tis a Copy in which Love to the worſt of Enemies is reconcil'd to and conſiſtent with infinite Purity and Holineſs. God maketh his Sun to riſe, and ſendeth Rain on the Juſt and Unjuſt, v. 45. Note, 1. Sunſhine and Rain are great Bleſſings to the World, and they come from God. 'Tis his Sun that ſhines, and the Rain is ſent by him. They do not come of Courſe, or by Chance, but from God. 2. Common Mercies muſt be valued as Inſtances and Proofs of the Goodneſs of God, who in them ſhews himſelf a bountiful Benefactor to the World of Mankind, who would be very miſerable without theſe Favours, and are utterly unworthy of the leaſt of them. 3. Theſe Gifts of common Providence are diſpens'd indifferently to Good and Evil, Juſt and Unjuſt; ſo that we cannot know Love and Hatred by what is before us, but what is within us, not by the ſhining of the Sun on our Heads, but by the riſing of the Sun of Righteouſneſs in our Hearts. 4. The worſt of Men partake of the Comforts of this Life in common with others, tho' they abuſe them, and fight againſt God with his own Weapons; which is an amazing Inſtance of God's Patience and Bounty. It was but once that God forbid his Sun to ſhine on the Egyptians, when the Iſraelites had Light in their Dwellings; God could make ſuch a Diſtinction every Day. 5. The Gifts of God's Bounty to wicked Men that are in Rebellion againſt him, teach us to do good to thoſe that hate us; eſpecially conſidering, that tho' there is in us a carnal Mind, which is Enmity to God, yet we ſhare in his Bounty. 6. Thoſe only will be accepted as the Children of God that ſtudy to reſemble him, particularly in his Goodneſs.

2. That we may herein do more than others, v. 46. 47. 1. Publicans love their Friends, Nature inclines them to it, Intereſt directs them to it. To do good to them which do good to us is a common piece of Humanity, which even thoſe whom the Jews hated and deſpis'd, could give as good Proofs of as the beſt of them. The Publicans were Men of no great Fame, yet they were grateful to ſuch as had help'd them to their Places, and Courteous to thoſe they had a Dependance upon; and ſhall we be no better than they? In doing this we ſerve ourſelves, and conſult our own Advantage, and what Reward can we expect for that, unleſs a regard to God, and Senſe of Duty carry us further than our natural Inclinations and worldly Intereſt. 2. We muſt therefore love our Enemies that we may exceed them. If we muſt go beyond Scribes and Phariſees, much more beyond Publicans. Note, Chriſtianity is ſomething more than Humanity. It is a ſerious Queſtion, which we ſhould frequently put to ourſelves, What do we more than others? What excelling thing do we do? We know more than others, we talk more of the things of God than others; we profeſs, and have promiſed more than others; God has done more for us, and therefore juſtly expects more from us than from others: the glory of God is more concern'd in us than in others But what do we more than others? Wherein do we live above the rate of the Children of this World? Are we not Carnal, and do we not walk as Men below the Character of Chriſtians? In this eſpecially we muſt do more than others, that while every one will render Good for Good, we muſt render Good for Evil; and this will ſpeak a nobler Principle, and is conſonant to a higher Rule than the moſt of Men act by. Others Salute their Brethren, they hug thoſe of their own Party, and Way, and Opinion, but we muſt not ſo confine our Reſpect, but love our Enemies, otherwiſe what Reward have we? We cannot expect the Reward of Chriſtians, if we riſe no higher than the Virtue of Publicans. Note, Thoſe that promiſe themſelves a Reward above others, muſt ſtudy to do more than others.

Laſtly, Our Saviour concludes this Subject with this Exhortation, v. 48. Be ye therefore perfect as your Father which is in Heaven is perfect. Which may be underſtood (1.) in general, including all thoſe things wherein we muſt be followers of God as dear Children. Note, It is the Duty of Chriſtians to deſire and aim at, and preſs towards a Perfection in Grace and Holineſs, Phil. 3. 12, 13, 14. And therein we muſt ſtudy to conform ourſelves to the Example of our heavenly Father, 1 Pet. 1. 15, 16. Or, (2.) in this particular before-mention'd, of doing good to our Enemies; ſee Luke 6. 36. 'Tis God's Perfection to forgive injuries, and to entertain Strangers, and to do good to the Evil and Unthankful, and it will be ours to be like him. We that owe ſo much, that owe our All to the Divine Bounty, ought to copy it out as well as we can.

CHAP. VI.

Chriſt having in the former Chapter arm'd his Diſciples againſt the Corrupt Doctrines and Opinions of the Scribes and Phariſees, eſpecially in their Expoſitions of the Law (that was call'd their Leaven, Mat. 16. 12.) comes in this Chapter to warn them againſt their corrupt Practices, againſt the two Sins, which tho' in their Doctrine they did not juſtify, yet in their Converſations they were notoriouſly guilty of, and ſo as even to recommend them to their Admirers; thoſe were Hypocriſy, and Worldly-mindedneſs, Sins, which of all others the Profeſſors of Religion need to guard againſt, as Sins that moſt eaſily beſet thoſe who have eſcaped the groſſer Pollutions that are in the World through Luſt, and are therefore highly dangerous. We are here caution'd (1.) againſt Hypocriſy, we muſt not be as the Hypocrites are, nor do as the Hypocrites do (1.) in giving of Alms, v. 1.–4. (2.) In Prayer, v. 5.–8. and here taught what to pray for, and how to Pray, v. 9.–13. And to forgive in Prayer, v. 14, 15. (3.) In Faſting, v. 16.—18. (2.) Againſt Worldly-mindedneſs. (1.) In our Choice, which is the deſtroying Sin of Hypocrites, v. 19.–24. (2.) In our Cares, which is the diſquieting Sin of many good Chriſtians, v. 25.–34.

TAke heed that you do not your alms before men, to be ſeen of them: otherwiſe ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. 2 Therefore when thou doeſt thine alms, do not ſound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do, in the ſynagogues, and in the ſtreets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I ſay unto you, they have their reward. 3 But when thou doſt alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doth: 4 that thine alms may be in ſecret: and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret himſelf ſhall reward thee openly.

As we muſt do better than the Scribes and Phariſees in avoiding Heart-ſins, Heart-adultery, and Heart-murther, ſo likewiſe in maintaining and keeping up Heart-religion, doing what we do from an inward vital Principle, that we may be approv'd of God, not that we may be applauded of Men; that is, we muſt watch againſt Hypocriſy, which was the Leaven of the Phariſees, as well as their Doctrine, Luke 12. 1. Alms-giving, Prayer, and Faſting, are three great Chriſtian Duties, the three Foundations of the Law, ſay the Arabians, by them we do Homage and Service to God with our three principal Intereſts; by Prayer with our Souls, by Faſting with our Bodies, by Alms-giving with our Eſtates. Thus we muſt not only depart from Evil, but do Good, and do it well, and ſo dwell for evermore.

Now in theſe Verſes we are caution'd againſt Hypocriſy in giving Alms. Take heed of it. Our being bid to take heed of it, intimates 'tis a Sin (1.) we are in great danger of; 'tis a ſubtle Sin, Vain-glory inſinuates itſelf into what we do, e'er we are aware. The Diſciples would be tempted to it by the Power they had to do many wondrous Works, and their living with ſome that admir'd them, and others that deſpis'd them, both which Temptations to covet to make a fair ſhew in the Fleſh. (2.) 'Tis a Sin we are in great danger by. Take heed of Hypocriſy, for if it reigns in you, 'twill ruin you. 'Tis the dead Fly that ſpoils the whole Box of precious Ointment.

Two things are here ſuppos'd.

1. The giving of Alms is a great Duty, and a Duty which all the Diſciples of Chriſt, according to their Ability, muſt abound in. 'Tis preſcrib'd by the Law of Nature, and of Moſes, and great ſtreſs laid upon it by the Prophets. Divers ancient Copies here for τὴν ἐλεημοσύνην, your Alms, read τὴν δικαιοσύνην, your Righteouſneſs, for Alms are Righteouſneſs, Pſal. 112. 9. Prov. 10. 2. The Jews call'd the Poor's Box, the Box of Righteouſneſs. That which is given to the Poor is ſaid to be their due, Prov. 3. 27. The Duty is never the leſs neceſſary and excellent for its being abus'd by Hypocrites to ſerve their Pride. If Superſtitious Papiſts have plac'd a Merit in Works of Charity, that will not be an excuſe for covetous Proteſtants that are barren in ſuch good Works. 'Tis true our Alms-deeds do not deſerve Heaven, but 'tis as true, we cannot go to Heaven without them. 'Tis pure Religion, Jam. 1. 27. and will be the Teſt at the Great Day; Chriſt here takes it for granted, that his Diſciples give Alms, nor will he own thoſe that do not.

2. That it is ſuch a Duty as hath a great Reward attending it, which is loſt if it be done in Hypocriſy. 'Tis ſometimes rewarded in Temporal things, with Plenty, Prov. 11. 24, 25.–19. 17. Security from want, Prov. 28. 27. Pſal. 27. 21, 25. Succour in Diſtreſs Pſal. 41. 1. 2. Honour and a good Name, which follows thoſe moſt that leaſt covet it, Pſal. 112. 9. However it ſhall be recompens'd in the Reſurrection of the Juſt, Luke 14. 4. In Eternal Riches.

Quas dederis, ſolas ſemper habebis, Opes. Martial.

This being ſuppos'd, obſerve now

1. What was the Practice of the Hypocrites about this Duty. They did it indeed, but not from any Principle of Obedience to God, or Love to Man, but in Pride and Vain-glory, not in Compaſſion to the Poor, but purely for Oſtentation, that they might be cry'd up for good Men, and ſo might gain an Intereſt in the Eſteem of the People, with which they knew how to ſerve their own turn, and to get a great deal more than they gave. Purſuant to this Intention, they choſe to give their Alms in the Synagogues, and in the Streets, where there was the greateſt Concourſe of People to obſerve them, who applauded their Liberality, becauſe they ſhar'd in it, but were ſo ignorant as not to diſcern their abominable Pride. Probably they had Collections for the Poor in the Synagogues, and the common Beggars haunted the Streets and High-ways, and upon theſe publick Occaſions they choſe to give their Alms. Not that it is unlawful to give Alms when Men ſee us; we may do it, we muſt do it, but not that Men may ſee us; we ſhould rather chuſe thoſe Objects of Charity that are leſs obſerv'd. The Hypocrites, if they give Alms at their own Houſes, ſounded a Trumpet, under Pretence of calling the Poor together to be ſerv'd, but really to proclaim their Charity, and to have that taken notice of, and made the Subject of Diſcourſe.

Now the Doom that Chriſt paſſeth upon this, is very obſervable: Verily, I ſay unto you, they have their Reward. At firſt view this ſeems a Promiſe, if they have their Reward they have enough, but two words in it make it a Threatning.

(1.) It is a Reward, but it is their Reward; not the Reward which God promiſeth to them that do Good, but the Reward which they promiſe themſelves, and a poor Reward it is; they did it to be ſeen of Men, and they are ſeen of Men; they choſe their own Deluſions, with which they cheated themſelves, and they ſhall have what they choſe. Carnal Profeſſors indent with God for Preferment, Honour, Wealth, and they ſhall have their Bellies fill'd with thoſe things, Pſal 17. 14. but let them expect no more, theſe are their Conſolations, Luke 6. 24. their good things, Luke 16. 25. and they ſhall be put off with theſe. Didſt not thou agree with me for a Penny? 'Tis the Bargain thou art like to abide by.

(2.) It is a Reward, but it is a preſent Reward, they have it; and there's none reſerv'd for them in the future State. They now have all that they are likely to have from God; they have their Reward here, and have none to hope for hereafter. ἀπέχουσι τὸν μισθόν. It ſignifies a Receipt in full. What Rewards the Godly have in this Life 'tis but in part of Payment, there's more behind, much more; but Hypocrites have their All in this World, ſo ſhall their Doom be; themſelves have decided it. The World is but for Proviſion to the Saints, 'tis their ſpending Money, but it is Pay to Hypocrites, 'tis their Portion.

2. What is the Precept of our Lord Jeſus about it, v. 3, 4. He that was himſelf ſuch an Example of Humility, preſs'd it upon his Diſciples as abſolutely neceſſary to the Acceptance of their Performances. Let not thy left hand know what thy right-hand doth when thou giveſt Alms. Perhaps it alludes to the placing of the Corban, the Poor Man's Box, or the Cheſt, into which they caſt their Free-will Offering, on the right hand of the Paſſage into the Temple; ſo that they put their Gift into it with the right-hand. Or the giving of Alms with the right-hand, intimates readineſs to it, and reſolution in it; do it dexterouſly, not awkardly, or with a ſiniſter Intention. The right-hand may be us'd in helping the Poor, lifting them up, Writing for them, Dreſſing their Sores, and other ways beſides giving to them; but whatever Kindneſs thy right-hand doth to the Poor, let not thy left hand know it, i. e. conceal it as much as poſſible; induſtriouſly keep it private. Do it becauſe it is a good Work, not becauſe it will get thee a good Name. In omnibus Factis, Re, non Teſte moveamur. Cic. de Fin. 'Tis intimated (1.) That we muſt not let others know what we do, no, not thoſe that ſtand at our left hand, that are very near us. Inſtead of acquainting them with it, keep it from them, if poſſible; however appear ſo deſirous to keep it from them, as that in Civility they may ſeem not to take notice of it, and keep it to themſelves, and let it go no further. (2.) That we muſt not obſerve it too much ourſelves, the left-hand is part of ourſelves; we muſt not within ourſelves take notice too much of the good we do, muſt not applaud and admire ourſelves. Self-conceit, and Self-complacency, and an adoring of our own Shadow, are Branches of Pride, as dangerous as Vain-glory and Oſtentation before Men. We find thoſe had their good Works remember'd to their Honour, who had themſelves forgotten them, when ſaw we thee a hungry, or a thirſt?

3. What is the Promiſe of thoſe who are thus ſincere and humble in their Alms-giving. Let thine Alms be in ſecret, and then thy Father which ſees in ſecret will obſerve them. Note, When we take leaſt notice of our good deeds ourſelves, God takes moſt notice of them. As God hears the Wrongs done to us, when we do not hear them, Pſal. 38. 14, 15. ſo he ſees the good done by us, when we do not ſee it. As 'tis a Terror to Hypocrites, ſo it is a Comfort to ſincere Chriſtians that God ſees in ſecret. But this is not all, not only the Obſervation and Praiſe, but the Recompence is of God, himſelf ſhall reward thee openly. Note, Thoſe that in their Alms-giving ſtudy to approve themſelves to God, only turn themſelves over to him for their Pay-maſter. The Hypocrite catches at the Shadow, but the upright Man makes ſure the Subſtance. Obſerve how emphatically 'tis expreſs'd; Himſelf ſhall Reward, he will himſelf be the Rewarder, Heb. 11. 6. Let him alone to make it up in Kind, or Kindneſs; nay, he will himſelf be the Reward, Gen. 15. 1. thine exceeding great Reward. He will reward thee as thy Father, not as a Maſter, who gives his Servant juſt what he earns, and no more, but as a Father, who gives abundantly more, and without ſtint to his Son that ſerves him. Nay, he ſhall reward thee openly, if not in the preſent Day, yet in the Great Day; then ſhall every Man have Praiſe of God, open Praiſe; thou ſhalt be confeſs'd before Men. If the Work be not open, the Reward ſhall, and that's better.

5 And when thou prayeſt, thou ſhalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to ſtand praying in the ſynagogues, and in the corners of the ſtreets, that they may be ſeen of men, Verily, I ſay unto you, they have their Reward. 6 But thou when thou prayeſt, enter into thy cloſet, and when thou haſt ſhut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in ſecret, and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret ſhall reward thee openly. 7 But when ye pray, uſe not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they ſhall be heard for their much ſpeaking. 8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

In Prayer we have more immediately to do with God than in giving Alms, and therefore are yet more concern'd to be ſincere, which is what we are here directed to. When thou Prayeſt, v. 5. it is taken for granted that all the Diſciples of Chriſt Pray. As ſoon as ever Paul was Converted, behold he Prayeth. You may as ſoon find a living Man that doth not breath, as a living Chriſtian that doth not Pray. For this ſhall every one that is Godly Pray, If Prayerleſs, then Graceleſs. Now, when thou Prayeſt, thou ſhalt not be as the Hypocrites are, nor do as they do, v. 2. Note, Thoſe who would not do as the Hypocrites do in their Way and Actions, muſt not be as the Hypocrites are in their Frame and Temper. He names no-body, but it appears by Mat. 23. 13. that by the Hypocrites here he means eſpecially the Scribes and Phariſees.

Now there were two great Faults they were guilty of in Prayer, againſt each of which we are here caution'd, Vain-glory, v. 5, 6. and vain Repetitions, v. 7, 8.

I. We muſt not be Proud and Vain-glorious in Prayer, nor aim at the Praiſe of Men. And here obſerve,

1. What was the Way and Practice of the Hypocrites. In all their Exerciſes of Devotion, 'twas plain the chief thing they aim'd at was to be commended by their Neighbours, and thereby, to make an Intereſt for themſelves, When they ſeem'd to ſoar upwards in Prayer, (and if it be right, 'tis the Soul's Aſcent towards God) yet even then their Eyes were downwards upon this as their Prey. Obſerve, (1.) What the Places were which they choſe for their Devotion; they Pray'd in the Synagogues, which were indeed proper Places for Publick Prayer, but not for Perſonal. They pretended hereby to do Honour to the Place of their Aſſemblies, but intended to do Honour to themſelves. They Pray'd in the corners of the Streets, the broad Streets, (ſo the word ſignifies) which were moſt frequented. They withdrew thither, as if they were under a pious Impulſe, which would not admit Delay, but really 'twas to make themſelves to be taken notice of. There were two Streets met, they were not only within ken of both, but every Paſſenger turning cloſe upon them would obſerve them, and hear what they ſaid,

(2.) The Poſture they us'd in Prayer, they Pray ſtanding; this is a lawful and Proper Poſture for Prayer, Mark 11. 25. When ye ſtand Praying, but kneeling being the more humble and reverent Geſture, (Luke 22. 41. Acts 7. 60. Eph. 3. 15.) their ſtanding ſeem'd to ſavour of Pride and Confidence in themſelves, Luke 18. 11. The Phariſee ſtood and Pray'd.

(3.) Their Pride in chuſing thoſe publick Places, which is expreſs'd in two things: (1.) They love to Pray there. They did not love Prayer for its own ſake, but they lov'd it when it gave them an Opportunity of making themſelves taken notice of. Circumſtances may be ſuch that our good Deeds muſt needs be done openly, ſo as to fall under the Obſervation of others, and be commended by them, but the Sin and Danger is, when we love it, and are pleas'd with it, becauſe it feeds the proud Humour. (2.) It is that they may be ſeen of Men; not that God might accept them, but that Men might admire and applaud them; and that they might eaſily get the Eſtates of Widows and Orphans into their hands (who would not truſt ſuch devout praying Men?) and when they had them, might devour 'em without being ſuſpected, Mat. 23. 14. and effectually carry on their publick Deſigns to enſlave the People.

(4.) The Product of all this, they have their Reward; they have all the Recompence they muſt ever expect from God for their Service, and a poor Recompence it is. What will it avail us to have the good Word of our Fellow-ſervants, if our Maſter do not ſay, Well done. But if in ſo great a Tranſaction as is between us and God, when we are at Prayer we can take in ſo poor a Conſideration as the Praiſe of Men is, 'tis juſt that that ſhould be all our Reward. They did it to be ſeen of Men, and they are ſo; and much good may it do them. Note, Thoſe that would approve themſelves to God in their Integrity in their Religion, muſt have no regard to the Praiſe of Men; 'tis not to Men that we Pray, nor from them that we expect an Anſwer; they are not to be our Judges, they are Duſt and Aſhes, like ourſelves, and therefore we muſt not have our Eye to them; what paſſeth between God and our own Souls muſt be out of ſight. In our Synagogue-worſhip we muſt avoid every thing that tends to make our perſonal Devotion remarkable, as they that caus'd their Voice to be heard on high, Iſa. 58. 4. Nor are publick Places proper for private ſolemn Prayer.

2. What is the Will of Jeſus Chriſt in oppoſition to this. Humility and Sincerity are the two great Leſſons that Chriſt teacheth us; Thou when thou Prayeſt, do ſo and ſo, v. 6. thou in particular, by thyſelf, and for thyſelf. Perſonal Prayer is here ſuppos'd to be the Duty and Practice of all Chriſt's Diſciples: Obſerve,

1. The Directions here given about it.

(1.) Inſtead of Praying in the Synagogues, and in the corners of the Streets, enter into thy Cloſet, i. e. into ſome Place of Privacy and Retirement; Iſaac went into the Field, Gen. 24. 63. Chriſt to a Mountain, Peter to the Houſe-top: No place amiſs in point of Ceremony, if it do but anſwer the End. Note, Secret Prayer is to be perform'd ſecretly, that we may be unobſerv'd, and ſo may avoid Oſtentation; undiſturb'd, and ſo may avoid Diſtraction; unheard, and ſo may uſe the greater Freedom; yet if the Circumſtances be ſuch that we cannot poſſible avoid being taken notice of, we muſt not therefore neglect the Duty, leſt the Omiſſion be a greater Scandal than the Obſervation of it.

(2.) Inſtead of doing it to be ſeen of Men, pray to thy Father which is in ſecret; to me, even to me, Zech. 7. 5. 6. The Phariſees Pray'd rather to Men than to God; whatever was the Form of their Prayer, the Scope of it was to beg the Applauſe of Men, and court their Favours. Well do thou Pray to God, and let that be enough for thee. Pray to him as a Father, as thy Father, ready to hear and anſwer; graciouſly inclin'd to Pity, Help, and Succour thee. Pray to thy Father which is in ſecret. Note, In ſecret Prayer we muſt have an eye to God, as preſent in all Places; he is there, in thy Cloſet, when no one elſe is there; there eſpecially, nigh to thee in what thou calleſt upon him for. By ſecret Prayer we give God the Glory of his univerſal Preſence, Acts 17. 25. and may take to ourſelves the Comfort of it.

2. The Encouragements here given us to it.

1. Thy Father ſees in ſecret; his Eye is upon thee to accept thee, when the Eye of no Man is upon thee to applaud thee; under the Fig-tree I ſaw thee, ſaid Chriſt to Nathaniel, John 1. 48. He ſaw Paul at Prayer in ſuch a Street, at ſuch a Houſe, Acts 9. 11. There is not a ſecret ſudden breathing after God but he obſerves it,

2. He will reward thee openly, they have their Reward that do it openly, and thou ſhalt not loſe thine for doing it in ſecret. 'Tis call'd a Reward, but it is of Grace, not of Debt; what merit can there be in Begging? The Reward will be open, they ſhall not only have it, but have it honourably; the open Reward is that which Hypocrites are fond of, but they have not Patience to ſtay for it; 'tis that which the Sincere are dead to, and they ſhall have it over and above. Sometimes ſecret Prayers are rewarded openly in this World by ſignal Anſwers to them, which manifeſt God's Praying People in the Conſciences of their Adverſaries; however at the Great Day there will be an open Reward, when all Praying People ſhall appear in Glory with the great Interceſſor. The Phariſees had their Reward before all the Town, and it was a meer Flaſh and Shadow, true Chriſtians ſhall have theirs before all the World, Angels and Men, and it ſhall be a Weight of Glory.

II. We muſt not uſe vain Repetitions in Prayer, v. 7. 8. Tho' the Life of Prayer lies in lifting up the Soul, and pouring out the Heart, yet there is ſome Intereſt which Words have in Prayer, eſpecially in Joynt-Prayer; for in that words are neceſſary, and it ſhould ſeem that our Saviour ſpeaks here eſpecially of that; for before he ſaid, when thou Prayeſt, here, when ye Pray; and the Lord's-Prayer which follows is a Joynt-Prayer, and in that he that is the Mouth of others is moſt tempted to an Oſtentation of Language and Expreſſion, againſt which we are here warn'd; uſe not vain Repetitions, either alone, or with others; the Phariſees affected this, they made long Prayers, Mat. 23. 14. all their care was to make them long. Now obſerve

1. What the Fault is that is here reprov'd and condemn'd, 'tis making a meer Lip-labour of the Duty of Prayer, the Service of the Tongue, when it is not the Service of the Soul. This is expreſs'd here by two words Βαττολογία, Πολυλογία, (1.) Vain Repetitions. Tautology, Battology, idle babbling over the ſame words again and again, to no purpoſe, like Battus, Sub illis montibus erant, erant ſub montibus illis; like that Imitation of the Wordineſs of a Fool, Eccl. 10. 14. A Man cannot tell what ſhall be, and what ſhall be after him, who can tell? which is indecent and nauſeous in any Diſcourſe, much more in ſpeaking to God. 'Tis not all Repetition in Prayer that is here condemn,d, but vain Repetitions. Chriſt himſelf Pray'd, ſaying the ſame words, Mat. 26. 44. out of a more than ordinary Fervour and Zeal, Luke 22. 44. So Daniel, Chap. 9. 18, 19. And there is a very elegant Repetition of the ſame words, Pſal. 136. it may be of uſe both to expreſs our own Affection, and ſo to excite the Affections of others. But the Superſtitious rehearſing of a Tale of Words, without regard to the Senſe of them, as the Papiſts ſaying by their Beads ſo many Ave Mary's and Pater-Noſters; or the barren and dry going over of the ſame things again and again, meerly to drill out the Prayer to ſuch a length, and to make a ſhew of Affection, when really there is none, theſe are the vain Repetitions here condemn'd. When we would fain ſay much, but cannot ſay much to the Purpoſe; this is diſpleaſing to God, and all wiſe Men. (2.) Much ſpeaking, i. e. an Affectation of Prolixity in Prayer, either out of Pride or Superſtition, or an Opinion that God needs either to be inform'd, or argu'd with by us, or out of meer Folly and Impertinence, becauſe Men love to hear themſelves talk. Not that all long Prayers are forbidden; Chriſt Pray'd all Night, Luke 6. 12. Solomon's was a long Prayer; there is ſometimes need of long Prayers, when our Errands and our Affections are extraordinary; but meerly to prolong the Prayer, as if that would make it more pleaſing, or more prevailing with God, is that which is here condemn'd; it is not much Praying that is condemn'd, no, we are bid to Pray always, but much ſpeaking; the danger of this Error is when we only ſay our Prayers, not when we pray them. This Caution is explain'd by that of Solomon, Eccl. 5. 2. Let thy Words be few, i. e. conſiderate and well weigh'd. Take with you Words, Hoſ. 14. 2. Chuſe out Words, Job 4. 14. and do not ſay every thing that comes uppermoſt

2. What Reaſons are given againſt this.

1. This is the Way of the Heathen, as the Heathen do; and it ill becomes Chriſtians to Worſhip their God as the Gentiles Worſhip theirs. The Heathen were taught by the Light of Nature to Worſhip God, but becoming vain in their Imaginations concerning the Object of their Worſhip, no wonder they became ſo concerning the manner of it, and particularly in this Inſtance, thinking God altogether ſuch a one as themſelves, they thought he needed many Words to make him underſtand what was ſaid to him, or to bring him to comply with their Requeſts; as if he were Weak and Ignorant, and hard to be intreated. Thus Baal's Prieſts were hard at it from Morning till almoſt Night, with their vain Repetitions. O Baal hear us, O Baal hear us, and vain Petitions they were, but Elijah in a grave compoſed Frame, with a very ſhort conciſe Prayer, prevail'd for Fire from Heaven firſt, and then Water, 1 Kings 18. 26, 36. Lip-Labour in Prayer, tho' never ſo well labour'd, if that be all, is but loſt Labour.

2. It needs not be your Way, for your Father in Heaven knows what things you have need of before you aſk him, and therefore there's no occaſion for ſuch abundance of Words. It doth not follow that therefore you need not Pray, for God requires you by Prayer to own your Need of him, and Dependance on him, and to put his Promiſes in Suit; but therefore you are to open your Caſe, and pour out your Hearts before him, and then leave it with him. Conſider, (1.) The God we pray to is our Father, by Creation, by Covenant, and therefore our Addreſſes to him ſhould be eaſy, natural, and unaffected; Children do not uſe to make long Speeches to their Parents, when they want any thing, 'tis enough to ſay, My Head, my Head. Let us come to him with the Diſpoſition of Children, with Love, Reverence, and Dependance; and then thoſe need not ſay many Words that are taught by the Spirit of Adoption to ſay that one aright, Abba, Father. (2.) He is a Father that knows our Caſe, and knows our Wants better than we do ourſelves. He knows what things we have need of, his Eyes run to and fro thro' the Earth to obſerve the Neceſſities of his People, 2 Chron. 16. 9. and he often gives before we call, Iſa. 65. 24. and more than we aſk for, Eph. 3. 20. and if he do not give his People what they aſk, 'tis becauſe he knows they do not need it, nor is it for their Good; and of that he is fitter to judge for us than we for ourſelves. We need not be long, or uſe many Words in repreſenting our Caſe, God knows it better than we can tell him, only he will know it from us, what will ye that I ſhould do unto you? and when we have told him what it is, we muſt refer our ſelves to him, Lord, all my Deſire is before thee, Pſal. 38. 9. So far is God from being wrought upon by the Length or Language of our Prayers, that the moſt Powerful Interceſſions are thoſe which are made with Groanings that cannot be utter'd, Rom. 8. 27. We are not to preſcribe, but ſubſcribe to God.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. 10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. 11 Give us this day our daily bread. 12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. 13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen. 14 For if ye forgive men their treſpaſſes, your heavenly Father will alſo forgive you. 15 But if ye forgive not men their treſpaſſes, neither will your Father forgive your treſpaſſes.

When Chriſt had condemn'd what was amiſs, he directs to do better; for his are Reproofs of Inſtruction. Becauſe we know not what to Pray for as we ought, he here helps our Infirmities, by putting words into our Mouths, After this manner therefore Pray ye, v. 9. So many were the Corruptions that were crept into this Duty of Prayer among the Jews, that Chriſt ſaw it needful to give a new Directory for Prayer, to ſhew his Diſciples what muſt ordinarily be the Matter and Method of their Prayer, which he gives in Words that may very well be us'd as a Form; as the Summary or Contents of the ſeveral Particulars of our Prayers. Not that we are ty'd up to the uſe of this Form only, or of this always, as if this were neceſſary to the conſecrating of our other Prayers; we are here bid to pray after this manner, with theſe Words, or to this effect. That in Luke differs from this; we do not find it us'd by the Apoſtles, we are not here taught to Pray in the Name of Chriſt, as we are afterwards; we are here taught to Pray, that that Kingdom might come which did come when the Spirit was pour'd out; yet, without doubt it is very good to uſe it as a Form, and it is a Pledge of the Communion of Saints, it having been us'd by the Church in all Ages, at leaſt, (ſaith Dr. Whitby) from the third Century. It is our Lord's Prayer, 'tis of his Compoſing, of his Appointing; 'tis very compendious, yet very comprehenſive, in Compaſſion to our Praying Infirmities. The Matter is choice and neceſſary, the Method Inſtructive, and the Expreſſions very conciſe. It has much in a little, and it is requiſite that we acquaint ourſelves with the Senſe and Meaning of it, for it is us'd acceptably, no further than 'tis us'd underſtandingly, and without vain Repetition.

The Lord's Prayer, (as indeed every Prayer) is a Letter ſent from Earth to Heaven. Here's the Inſcription of the Letter, the Perſon to whom 'tis directed, our Father; the Place where, in Heaven; the Contents of it, in ſeveral Errands of Requeſt; the cloſe, for thine is the Kingdom; the Seal, Amen; and if you will the Date too, this Day.

Plainly thus; there are three parts of the Prayer.

1. The Preface, Our Father which art in Heaven. Before we come to our Buſineſs, there muſt be a Solemn Addreſs to him with whom our Buſineſs lies; Our Father. Intimating, that we muſt pray, not only alone, and for ourſelves, but with, and for others; for we are Members one of another, and are call'd into Fellowſhip with each other. We are here taught to whom to Pray, to God only, and not to Saints and Angels, for they are ignorant of us, are not to have the Honours we give in Prayer, nor can give the Favours we expect. We are taught how to addreſs ourſelves to God, and what Title to give him, that which ſpeaks him rather Beneficent than Magnificent, for we are to come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

(1.) We muſt addreſs ourſelves to him as our Father, and muſt call him ſo. He is a common Father to all Mankind, by Creation, Mal. 2. 10. Acts 17. 28. He is in a ſpecial manner a Father to the Saints by Adoption and Regeneration, Eph. 1. 5. Gal. 4. 6. and an unſpeakable Privilege it is. Thus we muſt eye him in Prayer, keep up good Thoughts of him, ſuch as are encouraging, and not affrighting; nothing more pleaſing to God, or pleaſant to ourſelves, than to call God Father. Chriſt in Prayer moſtly call'd God Father. If he be our Father, he will pity us under our Weakneſſes and Infirmities, Pſal. 103. 13. will ſpare us, Mal. 3. 17. will make the beſt of our Performances, tho' very defective, will deny us nothing that is good for us, Luke 11. 11, 13. We have Acceſs with boldneſs to him, as to a Father, and have an Advocate with the Father, and the Spirit of Adoption. When we come repenting of our Sins, we muſt eye God as a Father, as the Prodigal did, Luke 15. 18. Jer. 3. 19. when we come begging for Grace, and Peace, and the Inheritance and Bleſſings of Sons, 'tis an encouragement that we come to God, not as an unreconciled avenging Judge, but as a loving, gracious reconciled Father in Chriſt, Jer. 3. 4.

(2.) As our Father in Heaven; ſo in Heaven as to be every where elſe, for the Heaven cannot contain him, yet ſo in Heaven as there to manifeſt his Glory, for it is his Throne, Pſal. 103. 19. and it is to Believers a Throne of Grace, thitherward we muſt direct our Prayers, for Chriſt the Mediator is now in Heaven, Heb. 8. 1. Heaven is out of ſight, and a World of Spirits, therefore our Converſe with God in Prayer muſt be Spiritual; 'tis on high, therefore in Prayer we muſt be rais'd above the World, and lift up our Hearts, Pſal. 5. 1. Heaven is a Place of perfect Purity, and we muſt therefore lift up pure Hands, muſt ſtudy to Sanctify his Name, who is the holy One, and dwells in that holy Place, Lev. 10. 3. From Heaven God beholds the Children of Men, Pſal. 33. 13, 14. And we muſt in Prayer ſee his Eye upon us; thence he has a full and clear view of all our Wants, and Burthens, and Deſires, and all our Infirmities. 'Tis the Firmament of his Power likewiſe, as well as of his Proſpect, Pſal. 150. 1. He is not only as a Father, willing to help us, but as a Heavenly Father, able to help us, able to do great things for us, more than we can aſk or think; he has wherewithal to ſupply our Needs, for every good Gift is from above. He is a Father, and therefore we may come to him with Boldneſs, but a Father in Heaven, and therefore we muſt come with Reverence, Eccl. 5. 2. Thus all our Prayers ſhould correſpond with that which is our great Aim as Chriſtians, and that is, to be with God in Heaven. God and Heaven, the End of our whole Converſation muſt be particularly ey'd in every Prayer, there's the Centre to which we are all tending. By Prayer we ſend before us thither, where we profeſs to be going.

2. The Petitions, and thoſe are ſix, the three firſt relating more immediately to God and his Honour, the three laſt to our own Concerns, both Temporal and Spiritual; as in the Ten Commandments, the four firſt teach us our Duty towards God, and the ſix laſt our Duty towards our Neighbour. The Method of this Prayer teacheth us to ſeek firſt the Kingdom of God, and his Righteouſneſs, and then to hope that other things ſhall be added

1. Hallowed be thy Name. 'Tis the ſame word that in other places is tranſlated Sanctified. But here the old word Hallow'd is retain'd, only becauſe People were us'd to it in the Lord's-Prayer. In theſe words (1.) we give Glory to God; it may be taken, not as a Petition, but as an Adoration; as that, the Lord be Magnified, or Glorified, for God's Holineſs is the Greatneſs and Glory of all his Perfections; we muſt begin our Prayers with Praiſing God, and 'tis very fit he ſhould be firſt ſerv'd, and that we ſhould give Glory to God, before we expect to receive Mercy and Grace from him. Let him have the Praiſe of his Perfections, and then let us have the Benefit of them. (2.) We fix our End, and it is the right End to be aim'd at, and ought to be our chief and ultimate End in all our Petitions, that God may be Glorified; all our other Requeſts, muſt be in Subordination to this, and in purſuance of it. Father, Glorifie thy ſelf in giving me my daily Bread, and pardoning my Sins, &c. Since all is of him, and thro' him, all muſt be to him, and for him. In Prayer our Thoughts and Affections ſhould be carried out moſt to the Glory of God. The Phariſees made their own Name the chief End of their Prayers, v. 5. to be ſeen of Men, in oppoſition to which we are directed to make the Name of God our chief End; let all our Petitions center in this, and be regulated by it. Do ſo and ſo for me, for the Glory of thy Name, and as far as is for the Glory of it. (3.) We deſire and pray that the Name of God, that is, God himſelf in all that whereby he has made himſelf known, may be ſanctified and glorified both by us and others, and eſpecially by himſelf. Father, let thy Name be glorified as a Father, and a Father in Heaven; glorify thy Goodneſs and thy Highneſs, thy Majeſty and Mercy. Let thy Name be ſanctified, for it is a holy Name; no matter what becomes of our polluted Names, but Lord, What wilt thou do to thy great Name? When we pray that God's Name may be glorified, (1.) we make a Virtue of Neceſſity, for God will ſanctify his own Name whether we deſire it or no; I will be exalted among the Heathen, Pſal. 46. 10. (2.) We ask for that which we are ſure ſhall be granted; for when our Saviour pray'd, Father, glorify thy Name, 'twas immediately anſwered, I have glorified it, and will glorify it yet again.

2. Thy Kingdom come. This Petition has plainly a reference to the Doctrine which Chriſt preach'd at this time, which John Baptiſt had preach'd before, and which he afterwards ſent his Apoſtles out to preach, The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. The Kingdom of your Father which is in Heaven, the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, this is at hand. pray that it may come. Note, We ſhould turn the Word we hear into Prayer, our Heart ſhould eccho to it; doth Chriſt promiſe, ſurely I come quickly, our Hearts ſhould anſwer, Even ſo, come. Miniſters ſhould pray over the Word; when they preach the Kingdom of God is at hand, they ſhould pray, Father, thy Kingdom come. What God has promiſed we muſt pray for; for Promiſes are given, not to ſuperſede, but to quicken and encourage Prayer; and when the Accompliſhment of a Promiſe is near, and at the door, when the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, we ſhould then pray for it the more earneſtly, thy Kingdom come. As Daniel ſet his Face to pray for the Deliverance of Iſrael, when he underſtood that the time of it was at hand, Dan. 9. 2. See Luke 19. 11. It was the Jews daily Prayer to God, Let him make his Kingdom reign, let his Redemption flouriſh, and let his Meſſiah come and deliver his People. Dr. Whitby, ex Vitringa. Let thy Kingdom come, i. e. let the Goſpel be preach'd to all, and embraced by all; let all be brought to ſubſcribe to the Record God has given in his Word concerning his Son, and to embrace him as their Saviour and Sovereign. Let the Bounds of the Goſpel-Church be enlarg'd, the Kingdom of the World be made Chriſt's Kingdom, and all Men become Subjects to it, and live as becomes their Character.

3. Thy Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. We pray that God's Kingdom being come, we and others may be brought into Obedience to all the Laws and Ordinances of it. By this let it appear that Chriſt's Kingdom is come, let God's Will be done; and by this let it appear that it is come as a Kingdom of Heaven, let it introduce a Heaven upon Earth. We make Chriſt but a titular Prince, if we call him King, and do not do his Will; having pray'd that he may rule us, we pray that we may in every thing be rul'd by him. Obſerve, (1.) The Thing pray'd for, Thy Will be done; Lord, do what thou pleaſeſt with me and mine, 1 Sam. 3. 18. I refer myſelf to thee, and am well ſatisfied that all thy Council concerning me ſhould be performed; in this Senſe Chriſt pray'd, Not my Will, but thine be done; and enable me to do what is pleaſing to thee; give me that Grace that is neceſſary to the right Knowledge of thy Will, and an acceptable Obedience to it. Let thy Will be done conſcientiouſly by me and others, not our own Wills, the Wills of the Fleſh, or the Mind, not the Wills of Men, 1 Pet. 4. 2. much leſs Satan's Will, John 8. 44. that we may neither diſpleaſe God in any thing we do (ut nihil noſtrum diſpliceat Deo) nor be diſpleaſed at any thing God did, ut nihil Dei diſpliceat nobis. (2.) The Pattern or Samplar of it, that it may be done on Earth, in this place of our Trial and Probation, where our Work muſt be done, or 'twill never be done, as it is done in Heaven, that Place of Reſt and Joy, that that may at length be our State. We pray that Earth may be made more like to Heaven by the Obſervance of God's Will, which thro' the Prevalency of Satan's Will is become ſo near a-kin to Hell; and that Saints may be made more like to the holy Angels in their Devotion and Obedience. We are on Earth, bleſſed be God, not yet under the Earth; we pray for the Living only, not for the Dead, that are gone down into Silence.

4. Give us this Day our daily Bread. Becauſe our natural Being is neceſſary to our ſpiritual Well-being in this World, therefore after the things of God's Glory, Kingdom and Will, we pray for the neceſſary Supports and Comforts of this preſent Life, which are the Gift of God, and muſt be ask'd of him, τὸν ἄρτον ἐπιούσιον, Bread for the Day approaching, i. e. for all the remainder of our Lives, Bread for the time to come, or Bread for our Being and Subſiſtence, that which is agreeable to our Condition in the World, Prov. 30. 8. Food convenient for us and our Families, according to our Rank and Station.

Every Word here hath a Leſſon in it. (1.) We ask for Bread, that teacheth us Sobriety and Temperance; we ask for Bread, not Dainties, nor Superfluities, that which is wholſome, tho' it be not nice. (2.) We ask for our Bread, that teacheth us Honeſty and Induſtry; we do not ask for the Bread out of other Peoples Mouths, not the Bread of Deceit, Prov. 20. 13. not the Bread of Idleneſs, Prov. 31. 27. but the Bread honeſtly got. (3.) We ask for our daily Bread, which teacheth us not to take thought for the Morrow, Mat. 6. 34. but conſtantly to depend upon divine Providence, as thoſe that live from Hand to Mouth. (4.) We beg of God to give it us, not ſell it us, or lend us, but give it. The greateſt of Men muſt be beholden to the Mercy of God for their daily Bread. (5.) We pray, give it to us, not to me only, but to others in common with me; this teacheth us Charity, and a compaſſionate Concern for the Poor and Needy; it intimates alſo that we ought to pray with our Families, we and our Houſholds eat together, and therefore ought to pray together. (6.) We pray that God would give it us this Day, which teacheth us to renew the Deſires of our Souls towards God, as the Wants of our Bodies are renewed; as duly as the Day comes we muſt pray to our heavenly Father, and reckon we could as well go a Day without Meat as without Prayer.

5. And forgive us our Debts as we forgive our Debtors. This is connected to the former; and forgive, intimating, that unleſs our Sins be pardoned we can have no Comfort in Life, and the Supports of it; our daily Bread doth but feed us as Lambs for the Slaughter if our Sins be not pardoned; it intimates likewiſe that we muſt pray for daily Pardon as duly as we pray for daily Bread. He that is waſhed, needeth to waſh his Feet. Here we have,

(1) A Petition. Father in Heaven, forgive us our Debts, our Debts to thee. Note, 1. Our Sins are our Debts. There is a Debt of Duty, which, as Creatures, we owe to our Creator; we do not pray to be diſcharg'd from that; but upon the Non-payment of that, there ariſeth a Debt of Puniſhment. In Default of obedience to the Will of God, we become obnoxious to the Wrath of God; and for not obſerving the Precept of the Law, we ſtand obliged to the Penalty. A Debtor is liable to Proceſs; ſo are we: A Malefactor is a Debtor to the Law, ſo are we. 2. Our Heart's Deſire and Prayer to our heavenly Father every Day ſhould be, that he would forgive us our Debts; that the Obligation to Puniſhment may be cancell'd and vacated, that we may not come into Condemnation; that we may be diſcharg'd, and have the Comfort of it. In ſuing out the Pardon of our Sins, the great Plea we have to rely upon, is the Satisfaction that was made to the Juſtice of God for the Sin of Man, by the dying of the Lord Jeſus, our Surety, or rather Bail to the Action, that undertook our Diſcharge.

(2.) An Argument to enforce this Petition; as we forgive our Debtors. This is not a Plea of Merit, but a Plea of Grace. Note, Thoſe that come to God for the Forgiveneſs of their Sins againſt him, muſt make Conſcience of forgiving thoſe who have offended them; elſe they Curſe themſelves when they ſay the Lord's Prayer. Our Duty is to forgive our Debtors; as to Debts of Money, we muſt not be rigorous and ſevere in exacting them from thoſe that cannot pay them without ruining themſelves and their Families: But this means Debts of Injury. Our Debtors are thoſe that treſpaſs againſt us, that ſmite us, chap. 5. 39, 40. and in Strictneſs of Law, might be proſecuted for it; we muſt forbear, and forgive, and forget the Affronts put upon us, and the Wrongs done us: And this is a Moral Qualification for Pardon and Peace. It encourageth to hope, that God will forgive us, for if there be in us this graceful Diſpoſition, 'tis wrought of God, and therefore is a Perfection eminently and tranſcendently in himſelf; it will be an Evidence to us, that he has forgiven us, having wrought in us the Condition of Forgiveneſs.

6. And lead us not into Temptation, but deliver us from Evil. This Petition is expreſs'd,

1. Negatively; Lead us not into Temptation. Having pray'd that the Guilt of Sin may be remov'd, we pray, as is fit, that we may never return again to Folly; that we may not be tempted to it. 'Tis not as if God tempted any to Sin; but Lord do not let Satan looſe upon us; chain up that roaring Lion, for he is ſubtle and ſpiteful; Lord do not leave us to our ſelves, Pſal. 19. 13. for we are very weak; Lord do not lay Stumbling-Blocks and Snares before us, nor put us into ſuch Circumſtances, as may be an Occaſion of falling. Temptations are to be pray'd againſt, both becauſe of the Diſcomfort and Trouble of them, and becauſe of the Danger we are in of being overcome by them, and the Guilt and Grief that then follows.

2. Poſitively; But deliver us from evil, ἀπὸ τοῦ πονηροῦ, from the evil one, i. e. the Devil, the Tempter; keep us, that either we may not be aſſaulted by him, or we may not be overcome by thoſe Aſſaults. Or from the evil thing, that is, Sin, the worſt of Evils; an Evil, an only Evil; that evil Thing which God hates, and which Satan tempts Men to, and deſtroys them by. Lord deliver us from the Evil of the World, the Corruption that is in the World through Luſt, from the Evil of every Condition in the World; from the Evil of Death, from the Sting of Death, which is Sin. Deliver us from our ſelves; from our own evil Hearts: Deliver us from evil Men, that they may not be a Snare to us, nor we a Prey to them.

3. The Concluſion. For thine is the Kingdom, and the Power, and the the Glory, for ever, Amen. Some refer this to David's Doxology, 1 Chron. 24. 11. Thine O Lord, is the Greatneſs. It is,

1. A Form of Plea, to enforce the foregoing Petitions. It is our Duty to plead with God in Prayer, to fill our Mouth with Arguments, Job 23. 4. not to move God, but to affect ourſelves, to encourage our Faith, to excite our Fervency, and to evidence both. Now the beſt Pleas in Prayer, are thoſe that are taken from God himſelf and from that which he hath made known of himſelf. We muſt wreſtle with God in his own Strength, both as to the Matter of our Pleas, and the urging of them. The Plea here has ſpecial Reference to the three firſt Petitions; Father in Heaven, Thy Kingdom come, for thine is the Kingdom; Thy Will be done, for thine is the Power; Hallowed be thy Name, for thine is the Glory. And as to our own particular Errands, theſe are encouraging; Thine is the Kingdom, thou haſt the Government of the World, and the Protection of the Saints, thy willing Subjects in it: God gives and ſaves like a King. Thine is the Power, to maintain and ſupport that Kingdom, and to make good all thine Engagements to thy People. Thine is the Glory, as the End of all that, which is given to, and done for the Saints, in Anſwer to their Prayers; for their Praiſe waiteth for him. This is matter of Comfort and holy Confidence in Prayer.

2. 'Tis a Form of Praiſe and Thankſgiving. The beſt Pleading with God is Praiſing of him; 'tis the Way to obtain further Mercy, as it qualifies us to receive it. In all our Addreſſes to God, 'tis fit that Praiſe ſhould have a conſiderable Share, for Praiſe becometh the Saints; they are to be to our God, for a Name, and for a Praiſe: 'Tis juſt and equal; we praiſe God, and give him Glory, not becauſe he needs it, he is praiſed by a World of Angels, but becauſe he deſerves it; and it is our Duty to give him Glory, in Compliance with his Deſign in revealing himſelf to us. Praiſe is the Work and Happineſs of Heaven, and all that would go to Heaven hereafter, muſt begin their Heaven now. Obſerve, how full this Doxology is, the Kingdom, and the Power, and the Glory; 'tis all thine, Note, it becomes us to be copious in praſing God. A true Saint never thinks he can ſpeak honourably enough of God: Here there ſhould be a gracious Fluency, and this for ever. Aſcribing Glory to God for ever, intimates an Acknowledgment, that it is eternally due, and an earneſt Deſire to be eternally doing it, with Angels and Saints above, Pſal. 71. 14.

Laſtly, To all this we are taught to affix our Amen; So be it. God's Amen is a Grant; his Fiat is, It ſhall be ſo: Our Amen is only a Summary Deſire; our Fiat is, Let it be ſo. 'Tis in Token of our Deſire and Aſſurance to be heard, that we ſay, Amen. Amen refers to every Petition going before; and thus in Compaſſion to our Infirmities, we are taught to knit up the whole in one Word, and ſo to gather up in the general, what we have loſt and let ſlip in the particulars. It is good to conclude Religious Duties with ſome Warmth and Vigour, that we may go from them with a ſweet Savour upon our Spirits. It was of old the Practice of good People, to ſay Amen audibly at the End of every Prayer; and it is a commendable practice, provided it be done underſtandingly, as the Apoſtle directs, 1 Cor. 14. 16. and uprightly, with Life and Livelineſs, and inward Impreſſions anſwerable to that outward Expreſſion of Deſire and Confidence.

Moſt of the Petitions in the Lords Prayer, had been commonly us'd by the Jews, in their Devotions, or Words to the ſame effect, but that Clauſe in the fifth Petition, As we forgive our Debtors, was perfectly new; and therefore our Saviour here ſhews, for what Reaſon he added it; not with any perſonal Reflections upon the Peeviſhneſs, Litigiouſneſs, and Ill-nature of the Men of that Generation, though there was Cauſe enough for it, but only from the Neceſſity and Importance of the thing itſelf. God in forgiving us hath a peculiar Reſpect to our forgiving thoſe that have Injur'd us, and therefore, when we pray for Pardon, we muſt mention our making Conſcience of that Duty, not only to mind ourſelves of it, but to bind ourſelves to it. See that Parable, Matt. 18. 23.–35. Selfiſh Nature is loth to comply with this, and therefore 'tis here inculcated, v. 14. 15.

1. In a Promiſe. If ye forgive, your heavenly Father will alſo forgive. Not as if this were the only Condition requir'd, there muſt be Repentance, and Faith, and new Obedience; but as were other Graces are in Truth, there will be this, ſo this will be a good Evidence of the Sincerity of our other Graces. He that relents towards his Brother, thereby ſhews that he repents towards his God. Thoſe which in the Prayer are call'd Debts, are here call'd Treſpaſſes, Debts of Injury; Wrongs done us in our Bodies, Goods, or good Names, Treſpaſſes; 'tis an extenuating Term for Offences; παραπτώματα, Stumbles, Slips, Falls. Note, It is a good Evidence and a good Help of our forgiving others, to call the Injuries done us by a mollifying, excuſing Name. Call them not Treaſons, but Treſpaſſes, not wilful Injuries, but caſual Inadvertencies; peradventure it was an Overſight, Gen. 43. 12. therefore make the beſt of it. We muſt forgive, as we hope to be forgiven; and therefore muſt not only bear no Malice, nor meditate Revenge, but muſt not upbraid our Brother with the Injuries he has done us, nor rejoice in any Hurt that befalls him; but muſt be ready to help him, and do him good, and if he repent, and deſire to be Friends again, we muſt be free and familiar with him, as before.

2. In a Threatning. But if you forgive not thoſe that have injur'd you, that's a bad Sign you have not the other requiſite Conditions, but are altogether unqualify'd for Pardon, and therefore your Father, whom you call Father, and who as a Father, offers you his Grace upon ſeaſonable Terms, will nevertheleſs not forgive you. And if other Graces be ſincere, and yet you be defective greatly in forgiving, you cannot expect the Comfort of your Pardon, but to have your Spirits brought down by ſome Affliction or other, to comply with this Duty. Note, Thoſe that would find Mercy with God, muſt ſhew Mercy to their Brethren; nor can we expect that he ſhould ſtretch out the Hands of his Favour to us, unleſs we lift up to him pure Hands, without Wrath, 1 Tim. 2. 8. If we pray in Anger we have reaſon to fear, God will anſwer in Anger. It has been ſaid, Prayers made in Wrath, are written in Gall. What Reaſon is it that God ſhould forgive us the Talents we are indebted to him, if we forgive not our Brethren the Pence they are indebted to us. Chriſt came into the World, as the great Peace-maker, not only to reconcile us to God, but one to another, and in this we muſt comply with him. 'Tis great Preſumption, and of dangerous Conſequence, for any to make a light Matter of that which Chriſt here lays ſuch a Streſs upon. Men's Paſſions ſhall not fruſtrate God's Word.

16 Moreover when ye faſt, be not as the hypocrites of a ſad Countenance; for they diſfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to faſt. Verily, I ſay unto you, they have their reward. 17 But thou when thou faſteſt, anoint thine head, and waſh thy Face: 18 That thou appear not unto men to faſt, but to thy Father which is in ſecret: and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly.

We are here caution'd againſt Hypocriſy in Faſting, as before in Alms-giving and in Prayer.

1. It is here ſuppos'd, that Religious Faſting is a Duty requir'd of the Diſciples of Chriſt, when God in his Providence calls to it, and when the Caſe of their own Souls upon any Account calls for it; when the Bridegroom is taken away, then ſhall they faſt, Matt. 9. 15. Faſting is here put laſt, becauſe it is not ſo much a Duty for its own Sake, as a Means to diſpoſe us for other Duties. Prayer comes in between Alms-giving and Faſting, as being the Life and Soul of both. Chriſt here ſpeaks eſpecially of private Faſts, ſuch as particular Perſons preſcribe to themſelves, as Free-will Offerings, commonly us'd among the pious Jews; ſome faſted one Day, ſome two, every Week, others ſeldomer, as they ſaw Cauſe: On thoſe Days they did not eat till Sun-ſet, and then very ſparingly. 'Twas not the Phariſee's Faſting twice in the Week, but his Boaſting of it, that Chriſt condemned, Luke 18. 12. 'Tis a laudable Practice, and we have reaſon to lament it, that it is ſo generally neglected among Chriſtians. Anna was much in Faſting, Luke 2. 37. Cornelius faſted and prayed, Acts 10. 30. The Primitive Chriſtians were much in it, ſee Acts 1. 14.–13. 3.–14. 23. Private Faſting is ſuppoſed, 1 Cor. 7. 5. 'Tis an Act of Self-denyal, and Mortification of the Fleſh, a holy Revenge upon ourſelves, and Humiliation under the Hand of God; the moſt grown Chriſtians muſt hereby own, they are ſo far from having any thing to be proud of, that they are unworthy of their daily Bread: 'Tis a Means to curb the Fleſh, and the Deſires of it, and to make us more lively in Religious Exerciſes, as Fulneſs of Bread is apt to make us drowſy. Paul was in Faſting often, and ſo he kept under his Body, and brought it into Subjection.

2. We are caution'd not to do this as the Hypocrites did it, leſt we loſe the Reward of it; and the more Difficulty attends the Duty, the greater Loſs it is to loſe the Reward of it.

Now (1.) the Hypocrites pretended Faſting, when there was nothing of that Contrition and Humiliation of Soul in them, which is the Life and Soul of the Duty. Theirs were Mock-faſts, the Show and Shadow without the Subſtance: They took on them to be more humbled than really they were, and ſo endeavoured to put a Cheat upon God, than which they could not put a greater affront upon him. The Faſt that God hath choſen is a Day to afflict the Soul, not to hang down the Head like a Bulruſh, or for a Man to ſpread Sackcloth and Aſhes under him; we are quite miſtaken, if we call this a Faſt, Iſa. 58. 5. Bodily Exerciſe, if that be all, profits little, that's not faſting to God, even to him.

(2.) They proclaimed their Faſting, and manag'd it ſo as that all who ſaw them might take notice that it was a Faſting-day with them. Even on theſe Days they appear'd in the Streets, whereas they ſhould have been in their Cloſets; and they affected a Down-look, a melancholy Countenance, a ſlow and ſolemn Pace; and perfectly diſigur'd themſelves, that Men might ſee how oft they faſted, and might cry them up for devout mortifi'd Men. Note, It is ſad that Men, who have in ſome Meaſure maſter'd their Pleaſure, which is ſenſual Wickedneſs, ſhould be ruin'd by their Pride, which is ſpiritual Wickedneſs, and no leſs dangerous. Here alſo they have their Reward, that Praiſe and Applauſe of Men, which they court and covet ſo much, they have it, and it is their All.

3. We are directed how to manage a private Faſt, we muſt keep it private, v. 17, 18. He doth not tell us how often me muſt faſt, Circumſtances vary, and Wiſdom is profitable therein to direct: The Spirit in the Word has left that to the Spirit in the Heart; but take this for a Rule, whenever you undertake this Duty, ſtudy therein to approve yourſelves to God, and not to recommend yourſelves to the good Opinions of Men. Humility muſt evermore attend upon our Humiliation. Chriſt doth not direct to abate any thing of the Reality of the Faſt, not take a little Meat, or a little Drink, or a little Cordial, no, let the Body ſuffer, but to lay aſide the Shew and Appearance of it; appear with thy ordinary Countenance, Guiſe, and Habit, and while thou denieſt thyſelf bodily Refreſhments, do it ſo as that it may not be taken notice of, no not by thoſe that are neareſt to thee; look pleaſant, anoint thine Head, and waſh thy Face, as thou uſeſt to do on other Days, on purpoſe to conceal thy Devotion, and thou ſhalt be no Loſer in the Praiſe of it at laſt; for though it be not of Men, it ſhall be of God. Faſting is the Humbling of the Soul, Pſal. 35. 13. that's the inſide of the Duty, let that therefore be thy principal Care, and as to the outſide of it, covet not to let it be ſeen. If we be ſincere in our ſolemn Faſts, and humble, and truſt God's Omniſcience for our Witneſs, and his Goodneſs for our Reward, we ſhall find, both that he did ſee in ſecret, and will reward openly. Religious Faſts, if rightly kept, will ſhortly be recompens'd with an everlaſting Feaſt. Our Acceptance with God in our private Faſts, ſhould make us dead both to Men's Applauſes, we muſt not do the Duty in Hopes of them, and, to Men's Cenſures too, we muſt not decline the Duty for Fear of them. David's Faſting was turn'd to his Reproach. Pſal. 69. 10. and yet v. 13. As for me, let them ſay what they will of me, my prayer is unto thee in an acceptable time.

19 Lay not up for your ſelves treaſures upon earth, where moth and ruſt doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and ſteal. 20 But lay up for your ſelves treaſures in heaven, where neither moth nor ruſt doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor ſteal. 21 For where your treaſure is, there will your heart be alſo. 22 The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be ſingle, thy whole body ſhall be full of light. 23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body ſhall be full of darkneſs. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkneſs, how great is that darkneſs: 24 No man can ſerve two maſters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or elſe he will hold to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerve God and mammon.

Worldly-Mindedneſs is as common and as fatal a Symptom of Hypocriſy, as any other; for by no Sin can Satan have a ſurer and faſter hold of the Soul, under the Cloke of a viſible and paſſable Profeſſion of Religion, than by this. And therefore Chriſt having warn'd us againſt coveting the Praiſe of Men, comes next to warn us againſt coveting the Wealth of the World; in this alſo we muſt take heed, leſt we be as the Hypocrites are, and do as they do. The fundamental Error that they are guilty of this, that they chuſe the World for their Reward. We muſt therefore take heed of Hypocriſy, and Worldly-Mindedneſs, in the Choice we make of our Treaſure, our End and our Maſter.

I. In chuſing the Treaſure we lay up. Something or other every Man has which he makes his Treaſure, his Portion, which his Heart is upon, to which he carries all he can get, and which he depends upon for hereafter. 'Tis that Good, that chief Good which Solomon ſpeaks of with ſuch an Emphaſis, Eccl. 10. 3. Something the Soul will have, which it looks upon as the beſt Thing, which it has a Complacency and Confidence in above other Things: Now Chriſt deſigns not to deprive us of our Treaſure, but to direct us in the Choice of it. And here we have,

1. A good Caution againſt making the things that are ſeen, that are temporal, our beſt things, and placing our Happineſs in them. Lay not up for yourſelves Treaſures upon Earth. Chriſt's Diſciples had left all to follow him, let them ſtill keep in the ſame good Mind. A Treaſure is an Abundance of ſomething that is in itſelf, at leaſt in our Opinion, precious and valuable, and likely to ſtand us in ſtead hereafter. Now we muſt not lay up our Treaſures on Earth, that is (1.) we muſt not count theſe things the beſt things, not the moſt valuable in themſelves, nor the moſt ſerviceable to us. We muſt not call them Glory, as Laban's Sons did, but ſee and own that they have no Glory in Compariſon with the Glory that excelleth. (2.) We muſt not covet an Abundance of theſe things, nor be ſtill graſping at more and more of them, and adding to them, as Men do to that which is their Treaſure; as never knowing when we have enongh. (3.) We muſt not confide in them for hereafter, to be our Security and Supply in time to come; muſt not ſay to the Gold, thou art my Hope. (4.) We muſt not content ourſelves with them, as all we need or deſire; we muſt be content with a little for our Paſſage, but not with all for our Portion. Theſe things muſt not be made our Conſolation, Luke 6. 25. Our good things, Luke 16. 25. Let us conſider we are laying up, not for our Poſterity in this World, but for ourſelves in the other World. We are put to our Choice, and made in a manner our own Carvers; that's ours which we lay up for ourſelves: It concerns thee to chuſe wiſely, for thou art chuſing for thyſelf, and ſhalt have as thou chuſeſt. If we know and conſider ourſelves, what we are, what we are made for, how large onr Capacities are, and how long our Continuance, and that our Souls are onr ſelves, we ſhall ſee it a fooliſh thing to lay up our Treaſure on Earth.

Here's a good Reaſon given, why we ſhould not look upon any thing on Earth as our Treaſure, becuſe it is liable to Loſs and Decay, (1.) From Corruption within. What is treaſur'd up on Earth, Moth and Ruſt do corrupt. If the Treaſure be laid up in Fine Clothes, the Moth frets them, and they are gone and ſpoil'd inſenſibly, when we thought them moſt ſecurely laid up. If it be in Corn, or other Eatables, as his was who had his Barns full, Luke 12. 16, 17. Ruſt (ſo we read it) corrupts that. Βρῶσις, Eating, Eating by Men, for as Goods are increaſed, they are increaſed that eat them, Eccl. 5. 11. Eating by Mice, or other Vermine: Manna itſelf bred Worms; or, it grows mouldy, and muſty, is ſtruct, or ſmutted, or blaſted, Fruits ſoon rot: Or, if we underſtand it of Silver and Gold, that tarniſheth and cankers; it grows leſs with uſing, and grows worſe with keeping, Jam. 5. 2, 3. The Ruſt and the Moth breed in the Metal itſelf, and in the Garment itſelf. Note, Worldly Riches have in themſelves a Principle of Corruption and Decay. They wither of themſelves, and make themſelves Wings. (2.) From Violence without. Thieves break thro' and Steal. Every Hand of Violence will be aiming at the Houſe where the Treaſure is laid up; nor can any thing be laid up ſo ſafe, but we may be ſpoil'd of it. Nunquam ego Fortunæ credidi, etiam ſi videretur Pacem agere, omnia illa quæ in me indulgentiſſime conferebat, Pecuniam, Honores, Gloriam, eo loco poſui, unde poſſet ea, ſine metu meo, repetere, Senec. Conſol. ad Helv. 'Tis folly to make that our Treaſure which we may ſo eaſily be rob'd of.

(2.) Good Counſel, to make the Joys and Glories of the other World, thoſe things not ſeen, that are eternal, our beſt things, and to place our Happineſs in them. Lay up for yourſelves Treaſures in Heaven. Note, (1.) There are Treaſures in Heaven, as ſure as there are on this Earth, and thoſe in Heaven are the only true Treaſures; the Riches, and Glories, and Pleaſnres that are at God's Right-Hand, which thoſe that are ſanctified truly arrive at, when they come to be ſanctified perfectly. (2.) It is our Wiſdom to lay up our Treaſure in thoſe Treaſures, to give all Diligence to make ſure our Title to eternal Life thro' Jeſus Chriſt, and to depend upon that as our Happineſs, and look upon all things here below with a holy Contempt, as not worthy to be compar'd with it. We muſt firmly believe there is ſuch a Happineſs, and reſolve to be content with that, and to be content with nothing ſhort of it. If we thus make thoſe Treaſures ours, they are laid up, and we may truſt God to keep them ſafe for us; thither let us then refer all our Deſigns, and let out all our Deſires; thither let us ſend before our beſt Effects, and beſt Affections. Let us not Burthen ourſelves with the Caſh of this World, which will but load us and defile us, and be in danger to ſink us, but lay up in Store good Securities. The Promiſes are Bills of Exchange, by which all true Believers return their Treaſure to Heaven, payable in the future State. And thus we muſt make that ſure, that will be made ſure. (3.) It is a great Encouragement to us, to lay up our Treaſure in Heaven, that there it is ſafe; it will not decay of itſelf, no Moth or Ruſt will corrupt it, nor can we be by Force or Fraud depriv'd of it; Thieves do not break through to ſteal. It is a Happineſs above, and beyond the Changes and Chances of Time; an Inheritance incorruptible.

(3.) A good Reaſon why we ſhould thus chuſe, and an Evidence that we have done ſo, v. 21. Where your Treaſure is, on Earth, or in Heaven, there will your Heart be. We are therefore concern'd to be right and wiſe in the Choice of our Treaſure, becauſe the Temper of our Minds, and conſequently the Tenour of our Lives will be accordingly; either carnal or ſpiritual, earthly or heavenly. The Heart follows the Treaſure, as the Needle follows the Loadſtone, or the Sun-flower the Sun. Where the Treaſure is, there the Value and Eſteem is, there the Love and Affection is, Col. 3. 2. That way the Deſires and Purſuits go, thitherwards the Aims and Intents are levell'd, and all is done with that in View. Where the Treaſure is, there our Cares and Fears are, leſt we come ſhort of it; about that we are moſt ſollicitous: There our Hope and Truſt is, Prov. 18. 10, 11. There our Joys and Delights will be, Pſal. 119. 111. And there our Thoughts will be. There the inward Thought will be, the firſt Thought, the free Thought, the fixed Thought, the frequent, the familiar Thought. The Heart is God's due, Prov. 23. 26, and that he may have it, our Treaſure muſt be laid up with him, and then our Souls will be lifted up to him.

This Direction about laying up our Treaſure, may very fitly be applied to the foregoing Caution, of not doing what we do in Religion to be ſeen of Men. Our Treaſure is our Alms, Prayers, and Faſtings, and the Reward of them; if we have done theſe only to gain the Applauſe of Men, we have laid up this Treaſure on Earth, have lodg'd it in the Hands of Men, and muſt never expect to hear any further from it. Now it is folly to do this, for the Praiſe of Men we covet ſo much, is liable to Corruption; 'twill ſoon be ruſty, and moth-eaten and tarniſh'd. A little Folly, like a dead Fly, will ſpoil it all, Eccl. 10. 1. Slander and Calumny are Thieves, that break through and ſteal it away, and ſo we loſe all the Treaſure of our Performances; we have run in vain, and labour'd in vain, becauſe we miſplac'd our Intention in doing of them. Hypocritical Services lay up nothing in Heaven, Iſa. 58. 3. the Grain of them is gone, when the Soul is call'd for, Job 27. 8. But if we have prayed and faſted, and given Alms, in Truth and Uprightneſs with an Eye to God, and to his Acceptance, and have approved ourſelves to him therein, we have laid up that Treaſure in Heaven; a Book of Remembrance is written there, Mal. 3. 16. and being there recorded, they ſhall be there rewarded, and we ſhall meet them again with Comfort, on t'other ſide Death and the Grave. Hypocrites are written in the Earth, Jer. 17. 13. But God's faithful Ones have their Names written in Heaven, Luke 10. 20. Acceptance with God is Treaſure in Heaven, which can neither be corrupted nor ſtollen. His Well-done ſhall ſtand for ever; and if we have thus laid up our Treaſure with him, with him our Hearts will be; And where can they be better?

2. We muſt take heed of Hypocriſy and Worldly-mindedneſs, in chuſing the End we look at. Our Concern as to this, is repreſented by two Sorts of Eyes, which Men have; a ſingle Eye, and an evil Eye, v. 22. 23. The Expeſſions here are ſomewhat dark, becauſe conciſe, we ſhall therefore take them in ſome Variety of Interpretation. The Light of the Body is the Eye; that's plain: The Eye is diſcovering, and directing; The Light of the World would avail us little without this Light of the Body. 'Tis the Light of the Eye that rejoyceth the Heart, Prov. 15. 30. But what is that which is compared to the Eye in the Body.

(1.) The Eye, that is, the Heart; ſo ſome; if that be ſingle, ἁπλοῦς, free, and bountiful, ſo the Word is frequently render'd; as Rom. 12. 8. 2 Cor. 8. 2.—9. 11, 13. Jam. 1. 5. And we read of a bountiful Eye, Prov. 22. 9. If the Heart be liberally affected, and ſtands inclin'd to Goodneſs and Charity, it will direct a Man to Chriſtian Actions; the whole Converſation will be full of Light, full of the Evidences and Inſtances of true Chriſtianity, that pure Religion, and undefiled before God and the Father, Jam. 1. 27. full of Light, i. e. of good Works, which are our Light ſhining before Men. But if the Heart be evil, covetous, and hard, and envious, griping and grudging (ſuch a Temper of Mind is often expreſſed by an evil Eye, Mat. 20. 15. Mark 7. 22. Prov. 23. 6, 7.) the Body will pe full of Darkneſs, i. e. the whole Converſation will be Heatheniſh and Unchriſtian. The Inſtruments of the Churl are, and always will be evil, but the Liberal deviſeth liberal things, Iſa. 32. 5, 6, 7, 8. If the Light that is in us, i. e thoſe Affections which ſhould guide us to that which is good be darkneſs, if theſe be corrupt and worldly, if there be not ſo much as good Nature in a Man, not ſo much as a kind Diſpoſition, how great is the Corruption of the Man, and the Darkneſs in which he ſits! This Senſe ſeems to agree with the Context. We muſt lay up Treaſure in Heaven by Liberality in giving Alms, and that not grudgingly but with Chearfulneſs, Luke 12. 33. 2 Cor. 9. 7. But theſe Words in the parallel Place do not come in upon any ſuch Occaſion, Luke 11. 34 and therefote the Coherence here doth not determine that to be the Senſe of them.

(2.) The Eye, that is, the Underſtanding; ſo ſome. The Practical Judgment, the Conſience, which is to the other Faculties of the Soul, as the Eye is to the Body, to guide and direct their Motions; Now if this Eye be ſingle, i. e. if it make a true and right Judgment and diſcern things that differ, eſpecially in the great Concern of laying up the Treaſures, ſo as to chuſe aright in that, it will rightly guide the Affections and Actions, which will all be full of the Light of Grace and Comfort. But if this be evil and corrupt, and inſtead of leading the inferiour Powers, is led, and brib'd, and byaſs'd by them, if this be erroneous and miſinform'd, the Heart and Life muſt needs be full of Darkneſs, and the whole Converſation corrupt and naught. They that will not underſtand are ſaid to walk on in Darkneſs, Pſal. 82. 5. 'Tis ſad when the Spirit of a Man, that ſhould be the Candle of the Lord, is an Ignis Fatuus; when the Leaders of the People, the Leaders of the Faculties cauſe them to err, for then they that are led of them are deſtroy'd, Iſa. 9. 16. An Error in the Practical Judgment is fatal, 'tis that which calls evil, good, and good, evil, Iſa, 5. 20. Therefore it concerns us to underſtand things aright, to get our Eyes anointed with Eye-ſalve.

(3.) The Eye, that is, the Arms and Intentions. By the Eye we ſet our End before us, the Mark we ſhoot at, the Place we go to, keep that in view, and direct our Motion accordingly. In every thing we do in Religion there is ſomething or other that we have in our Eye; now, if our Eye be ſingle, that is, if we aim honeſtly, fix right Ends to ourſelves, and move rightly towards them; if we aim purely and only at the Glory of God, ſeek his Honour and Favour, and direct all entirely to him, then the Eye is ſingle. Paul's was ſo when he ſaid, to me to live is Chriſt: and if we be right here, the whole Body will be full of Light, all the Actions will be regular and gracious, pleaſing to God, and comfortable to ourſelves. But if this Eye be evil, if inſtead of aiming only at the Glory of God, and our Acceptance with him, we look aſquint at the Applauſe of Men, and while we profeſs to honour God, contrive to honour ourſelves, and ſeek our own things under Colour of ſeeking the things of Chriſt: this ſpoils all, the whole Converſation will be perverſe and unſteady, and the Foundations being thus out of courſe, there can be nothing but Confuſion, and every evil work, in the Superſtructure. Draw the Lines from the Circumference to any other point but the Centre, and they will croſs. If the Light that is in thee be not only dim, but Darkneſs itſelf, it is a fundamental Error, and deſtructive to all that follows. The End ſpecifies the Action. 'Tis of the laſt Importance in Religion, that we be right in our aims, and make eternal things, not temporal, our Scope, 2 Cor. 4. 18. The Hypocrite is like the Waterman, that looks one Way and rows another; the true Chriſtian is like the Traveller, that has his Journey's End in his Eye. The Hypocrite ſoars like the Kite, with his Eye upon the Prey below, which he is ready to come down to, when he has a fair Opportunity; the true Chriſtian ſoars like the Lark, higher and higher, forgetting the things that are beneath.

3. We muſt take heed of Hypocriſy and Worldly-mindedneſs in chuſing the Maſter we ſerve, v. 24. No Man can ſerve two Maſters. Serving two Maſters is contrary to the ſingle Eye; for the Eye will be to the Maſter's Hand, Pſal. 123. 1, 2. Our Lord Jeſus doth here obviate the Cheat which thoſe put upon their own Souls, who think to divide between God and the World, to have a Treaſure on Earth, and a Treaſure in Heaven too; pleaſe God and pleaſe Men too: why not? ſaith the Hypocrite, 'Tis good to have two ſtrings to ones Bow. They hope to make their Religion ſerve their ſecular Intereſt, and ſo 'twill turn to account both ways. The pretending Mother was for dividing the Child: The Samaritans will compound between God and Idols: No, ſaith Chriſt, this will not do. It is but a Suppoſition that Gain is Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5. Here is,

1. A general Maxim laid down; 'tis likely 'twas a Proverb among the Jews, no Man can ſerve two Maſters, much leſs two Gods; for their Commands will ſometime or other croſs and contradict one another, and their Occaſions interfere: while two Maſters go together, a Servant may follow them both, but when they part, you'll ſee to which he belongs; he cannot love and obſerve and cleave to both as he ſhould: If to the one, not to the other; either this or that muſt be comparatively hated, and deſpis'd. This Truth is plain enough in common Caſes.

2. The Application of it to the Buſineſs in Hand. Ye cannot ſerve God and Mammon. Mammon is a Syriack Word that ſignifies Gain; ſo that whatever it is in this World, that is, or, that we account to be Gain to us (as St. Paul. ſpeaks, Phil. 3. 7.) that's Mammon; whatever is in the World, the Luſt of the Fleſh, the Luſt of the Eye, and the Pride of Life, it is Mammon. To ſome their Belly is their Mammon, and they ſerve that, Phil. 3. 19. To others their Eaſe, their Sleep, their Sports, and Paſtimes are their Mammon, Prov. 6. 9, To others Worldly Riches, Jam. 4. 13. To others Honours and Perferments, the Praiſe and Applauſe of Men was the Phariſees Mammon; in a Word, Self, the Unity in which the World's Trinity centers, ſenſual, ſecular Self is the Mammon which cannot be ſerv'd in Conjunction with God, for if it be ſerv'd, 'tis in Competition with him, and in Contradiction to him. He doth not ſay, we muſt not, or we ſhould not, but we cannot ſerve God and Mammon, we cannot love both, 1 John 2. 15. Jam. 4. 4. or hold to both, or hold by both, in Obſervance, Obedience, Attendance, Truſt and Dependance, for they are contrary the one to the other. God ſaith, My Son, give me thy Heart. Mammon ſaith, no, give it me. God ſaith, be content with ſuch things as you have: Mammon ſaith, Graſp at all that ever thou canſt, Rem, Rem, quocunq; modo Rem. God ſaith, Defraud not, never tell a Lye, be honeſt and juſt in all thy Dealings; Mammon ſaith, Cheat thy own Father, if thou canſt get by it. God ſaith, be charitable; Mammon ſaith, Hold thy own, this Giving undoes us all. God ſaith, Be careful for nothing; Mammon ſaith, Be careful for every thing, God ſaith, Keep holy the Sabbath-Day; Mammon ſaith, Make uſe of that Day, as well as any other for the World. Thus inconſiſtent are the Commands of God, and Mammon, ſo that we cannot ſerve both. Let us not then halt between God and Baal, but chuſe you this Day whom ye will ſerve, and abide by your Choice,

25 Therefore I ſay unto you, take no thought for your life, what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink; nor yet for your body, what you ſhall put on; is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?
26 Behold the fowls of the air: for they ſow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns, yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? 27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his ſtature? 28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Conſider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they ſpin.
29 And yet I ſay unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of theſe. 30 Wherefore if God ſo clothe the graſs of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is caſt into the oven, ſhall be not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? 31 Therefore take no thought, ſaying, What ſhall we eat? or what ſhall we drink? or wherewithal ſhall we be clothed? 32 (For after all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all theſe things. 33 But ſeek ye firſt he kingdom of God, and his righteouſneſs, and all theſe things ſhall be added unto you. 34 Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow ſhall take thought for the things of it ſelf: ſufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

There is ſcarce any one Sin that our Lord Jeſus doth more largely and earneſtly warn his Diſciples of, nor with more Variety of Arguments arm them againſt, than here the Sin of diſquieting, diſtracting, diſturſtful Cares about the things of this Life, which are a bad Sign that both the Treaſure and the Heart are on the Earth; and therefore he thus largely inſiſts upon it. Here's

1. The Prohibition laid down. 'Tis the Counſel and Command of the Lord Jeſus, That we take no Thought about the Things of this World. I ſay unto you. He ſaith it as our Lawgiver, and the Sovereign of our Hearts; He ſaith it as our Comforter, and the Helper of our Joy. What is it that he ſaith? 'tis this, and he that hath Ears to hear, let him hear it; Take no Thought for your Life, nor yet for your Bodies, v. 25. Take no Thought, ſaying, What ſhall we eat; v. 31. and again, v. 34. Take no Thought, μὴ μεριμνᾶτε, Be not in Care. As againſt Hypocriſy, ſo againſt worldly Cares, the Caution is thrice repeated, and yet no vain Repetition. Precept muſt be upon Precept, and Line upon Line to the ſame Purpoſe, and all little enough, it is a Sin which doth ſo eaſily beſet us. It intimates, how pleaſing it is to Chriſt, and of how much Concern it is to ourſelves that we ſhould live without Carefulneſs. It is the repeated Command of the Lord Jeſus to his Diſciples, that they ſhould not divide, and pull in pieces their own Minds, with Care about the World. There is a Thought concerning the things of this Life, which is not only Lawful, but Duty, ſuch as is commended in the virtuous Woman, Prov. 27 23. The Word is us'd concerning Paul's Care of the Churches, and Timothy's Care for the State of Souls, 2 Cor. 11. 28. Phil. 2. 20.

But the Care here forbidden is (1.) a diſquieting, tormenting Care, which hurries the Mind hither and thither, and hangs it in Suſpenſe, which diſturbs our Joy in God, and is a Damp upon our Hope in him; which breaks the Sleep, and hinders our Enjoyment of ourſelves, of our Friends, and of what God has given us. (2.) A diſtruſtful unbelieving Thought. God has promiſed to provide for thoſe that are his all things needful for Life, as well as Godlineſs, the Life that now is, Food and a Covering, not Dainties, but Neceſſaries. He never ſaid, they ſhall be feaſted, but verily they ſhall be fed; Now an inordinate Care for time to come, and Fear of wanting thoſe Supplies, ſprings from a Diſbelief of theſe Promiſes, and of the Wiſdom and Goodneſs of the Divine Providence, and that's the Evil of it. For preſent Suſtenance we may and muſt uſe lawful means to get it, elſe we tempt God; muſt be diligent in our Callings, and prudent in proportioning our Expences to what we have, and pray for daily Bread; And if all other Means fail we may and muſt aſk Relief of thoſe that are able to give; he was none of the beſt Men that ſaid, To beg I am aſhamed, Luke 16. 3. as he was who v. 21. deſired to be fed with the Crumbs; but for the future we muſt caſt our Care upon God, and take no thought, becauſe it looks like a Jealouſy of God, who knows how to give what we want, when we know not how to get it. Let our Souls dwell at eaſe in him. This gracious Careleſſneſs is the ſame with that Sleep, which God gives to his Beloved, in Oppoſition to the Worldling's Toil, Pſal. 127. 2. Obſerve the Cautions here,

1. Take no Thought for your Life. Life is our greateſt Concern for this World, all a Man has will he give for his Life; yet take no Thought about it. (1.) Not about the Continuance of it; refer it to God, to lengthen or ſhorten it, as he pleaſes; My times are in thy Hand, and they are in a good Hand. (2.) Not about the Comforts of this Life; refer it to God, to embittter or ſweeten it, as he pleaſes. We muſt not be ſollicitous, no not about the neceſſary ſupports of this Life, Food and Raiment; theſe God has promis'd, and therefore we may more confidently expect; ſay not, What ſhall we eat? 'Tis the Language of one at a Loſs and almoſt deſpairing; whereas though many good People have the Proſpect of little, yet few but have preſent Support.

2. Take no Thought fot the Morrow; i. e. for the time to come. Be not ſollicitous for hereafter, how you ſhall live next Year, or when you are old, or what you ſhall leave behind you: As we muſt not boaſt of to Morrow; ſo we muſt not care for to morrow, or the Events of it.

2. The Reaſons and Arguments to enforce this Prohibition. One would think the Command of Chriſt was enough to reſtrain us from this fooliſh Sin of diſquieting diſtruſtful Care, beſides the Comfort of our own Souls ſo nearly concern'd; but to ſhew how much the Heart of Chriſt is upon it, and what pleaſure he takes in thoſe that hope in his Mercy, the Command is back'd with the moſt powerful Arguments that can be. If Reaſon may but rule us, ſurely we ſhall eaſe our ſelves of theſe Thorns. To free us from caring Thoughts, and to expel them, Chriſt here ſuggeſts to us comforting Thoughts, that we may be fill'd with them. 'Twill be worth while to take Pains with our own Hearts, to argue them out of their diſquieting Cares, and to make ourſelves aſhamed of them. They may be weakened by right Reaſon, but 'tis by an active Faith only, that they muſt be overcome. Conſider then,

1. Is not the Life more than Meat, and the Body than Raiment? v. 25. Yes, no doubt it is, ſo he ſaith, who had Reaſon to underſtand the true Value of preſent Things, for he made them, he ſupports them, and ſupports us by them; and the thing ſpeaks itſelf. Note, 1. Our Life is a greater Bleſſing than our Livelihood. 'Tis true, Life cannot ſubſiſt without a Livelihood; but the Meat and Raiment which are here poſtpon'd to the Life and Body, is ſuch as is for Ornament and Delight; for about ſuch we are apt to be ſollicitous. Meat and Raiment are in Order to Life, and the End is more noble and excellent than the Means. The Daintieſt Food and fineſt Raiment are from the Earth, but Life from the Breath of God. Life is the Light of Men, Meat is but the Oyl that feeds that Light; ſo that the difference between Rich and Poor is very inconſiderable, ſince in the greateſt things they ſtand on the ſame level, and differ only in the leſſer. 2. This is an Encouragement to us to truſt God for Food and Raiment, and ſo to eaſe ourſelves of all perplexing Cares about them. God has given us Life, and given us the Body; 'twas an Act of Power, 'twas an Act of Favour, 'twas done without our Care: What cannot he do for us, who did that? What will he not? If we take Care about our Souls and Eternity, which are more than the Body and its Life, we may leave it to God to provide for us Food and Raiment, which are leſs. God has maintained our Lives hitherto, if ſometimes with Pulſe and Water, that has anſwer'd the End; he hath protected us, and kept us alive: He that guards us againſt the Evils we are expos'd to, will ſupply us with the good things we are in need of. If he had been pleaſed to kill us, to ſtarve us, he would not ſo often have given his Angels a Charge concerning us, to keep us.

2. Behold the Fowls of the Air, and conſider the Lillies of the Field. Here's an Argument taken from God's common Providence towards the Inferior Creatures, and their Dependance according to their Capacities upon that Providence. A fine paſs fallen Man is is come to, that he muſt be ſet to School to the Fowls of the Air, and they muſt teach him, Job. 12. 6, 8.

1. Look upon the Fowls, and learn to truſt God for Food, (v. 26.) and diſquiet not yourſelves with Thoughts, what you ſhall eat. (1.) Obſerve the Providence of God concerning them. Look upon them and receive Inſtruction. There are various Sorts of Fowls, they are numerous, ſome of them ravenous, but they are all fed, and fed with Food convenient for them; 'tis rare that any of them periſh for Want of Food, even in Winter, and there goes no little to feed them all the Year round. The Fowls as they are leaſt ſerviceable to Man, ſo they are leaſt within his Care; Men often feed upon them, but ſeldom feed them; yet they are fed, we know not how, and ſome of them fed fatteſt in the hardeſt Weather: And it is your heavenly Father that feeds them; he knows all the wild Fowls of the Mountains, better than you know the Tame Ones at your own Barn-door, Pſal. 50. 11. Not a Sparrow lights to the Cround to pick up a Grain of Corn, but by the Providence of God, which extends itſelf to the meaneſt Creatures. But that which is eſpecially obſerv'd here is, that they are fed without any Care or Project of their own; They ſow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into Barns. The Ant indeed doth, and the Bee, and they are ſet before us as Examples of Prudence and Induſtry; but the Fowls of the Air do not, they make no Proviſion for the future themſelves, and yet every day, as duly as the day comes, Proviſion is made for them; and their Eyes wait on God, that great and good Houſe-keeper, that provides Food for all Fleſh.

(2.) Improve this for your Encouragement to truſt in God. Are ye not much better than they? Yes certainly you are. Note, The Heirs of Heaven are much better than the Fowls of Heaven; nobler and more excellent Beings, and by Faith ſoar higher; of a better Nature and Nurture, wiſer than the Fowls of Heaven, Job 35. 11. though the Children of this World, that know not the Judgment of the Lord, are not ſo wiſe as the Stork, and the Crane, and the Swallow, Jer. 8. 7. you are dearer to God, and nearer, though they fly in the open Firmament of Heaven. He is their Maker and Lord, their Owner and Maſter, but beſides all this, he is your Father, and in his Account ye are of more Value than many Sparrows; you are his Children, his Firſt-born; now he that feeds his Birds, ſurely will not ſtarve his Babes. They truſt your Father's Providence, and will not you truſt it? In Dependance upon that, they are careleſs for the morrow, and being ſo, they live the merrieſt Lives of all Creatures, they ſing among the Branches, Pſal. 104. 12. and to the beſt of their Power, they praiſe their Creator. If we were by Faith as unconcern'd about the morrow as they are, we ſhould ſing as chearfully as they do; for 'tis worldly Care that marrs our Mirth, and damps our Joy, and ſilenceth our Praiſe as much as any thing.

2. Look upon the Lillies, and learn to truſt God for Raiment: That's another Part of our Care, what we ſhall put on; for Decency, to cover our Nakedneſs; for Defence, to keep us warm; yea, and with many for Dignity and Ornament, to make them look great and fine; and ſo much concern'd are they for Gaiety and Variety in their Cloathng, that this Care returns almoſt as often as that for their daily bread. Now to eaſe us of this Care, let us conſider the Lillies of the Field; not only look upon them, every Eye doth that with Pleaſure, but conſider them. Note, There is a great deal of Good to be learn'd from what we ſee every Day, if we would but conſider it, Prov. 6. 6.—24. 32.

(1.) Conſider how frail the Lillies are; they are the Graſs of the Field. Lillies though diſtinguiſh'd by their Colours, yet ſtill are but Graſs. Thus all Fleſh is Graſs, though ſome in the Endowments of Body and Mind are as Lillies, much admir'd, yet ſtill they are Graſs; the Graſs of the Field, in Nature and Conſtitution; they ſtand upon the ſame level with others. Man's Days at beſt are as Graſs, as the Flower of the Graſs, 1 Pet. 1. 24. This Graſs to Day is, and to morrow is caſt into the Oven; in a little while, the Place that knows us, will know us no more. The Grave is the Oven into which we ſhall be caſt, and in which we ſhall be conſumed, as Graſs in the Fire, Pſal. 49. 14. This intimates a Reaſon, why we ſhould not take Thought for the Morrow, what we ſhall put on, becauſe perhaps by to Morrow we may have occaſion for our Grave-clothes.

(2.) Conſider how free from Care the Lillies are: They toil not as Men do to earn Clothing, as Servants to earn their Liveries, neither do they ſpin, as Women do, to make Clothing: It doth not therefore follow, that we muſt therefore neglect, or do careleſly the proper Buſineſs of this Life, 'tis the Praiſe of the virtuous Woman, that ſhe lays her Hand to the Spindle, makes fine Linnen, and ſells it, Prov. 31. 19, 24. Idleneſs tempts God, inſtead of truſting him, but he that provides for the inferior Creatures without their Labour, much more will provide for us, by bleſſing our Labour, which he has made our Duty. And if we ſhould by Sickneſs be diſabled to toil and ſpin, God can furniſh us with what is neceſſary for us.

(3.) Conſider how fair, how fine the Lillies are. How they grow. What they grow from. The Root of the Lilly, or Tulip, as other bulbous Roots, is in the Winter loſt and buried under Ground, yet when Spring returns, it appears and ſtarts up in a little time; hence 'tis promis'd to God's Iſrael, they ſhall grow as the Lilly, Hoſ. 14. 5. Conſider what they grow to. Out of that Obſcurity in a few Weeks, they come to be ſo very gay, that even Solomon in all his Glory was not arrayad like one of theſe. The Array of Solomon was very ſplendid and magnificent; he that had the peculiar Treaſure of Kings and Provinces, and ſo ſtudiouſly affected Pomp and Gallantry, doubtleſs had the richeſt Clothing, and the beſt made up that could be got; eſpecially when he appear'd in his Glory on High Days: And yet let him dreſs himſelf as fine as he could, he comes far ſhort of the Beauty of the Lillies, and a Bed of Tulips outſhines him. Let us therefore be more ambitious of the Wiſdom of Solomon, in which he was outdone by none, Wiſdom to do our Duty in our Places, rather than the Glory of Solomon, in which he was outdone by the Lillies. Knowledge and Grace are the Perfections of Man, not Beauty, much leſs fine Clothes. Now God is here ſaid thus to clothe the Graſs of the Field. Note, All the Excellencies of the Creature flow from God, the Fountain and Spring of them. 'Twas he that gave the Horſe his Strength, and the Lilly its Beauty; every Creature is in it ſelf, as well as to us, what he makes it to be.

(4.) Conſider how inſtructive all this is to us, v. 30.

1. As to fine Clothing, this teaches us not to care for it at all, not to covet it, not to be proud of it, not to make the putting on of Apparel our Adorning, for after all our Care in this, the Lillies will far out-do us; we cannot dreſs ſo fine as they do, why then ſhould we go about to vie with them? their Adorning will ſoon periſh, and ſo will ours; they fade, are to day, and to morrow are caſt, as other Rubbiſh, into the Oven; and the Clothes we are proud of are fading, the Gloſs is ſoon gone, the Colour ſheds, the ſhape goes out of Faſhion, or in a while the Garment itſelf is worn out; ſuch is Man in all his Pomp, Iſa. 40. 6, 7. eſpecially rich Men, Jam. 1. 10. they fade away in their Ways.

2. As to neceſſary Clothing, this teacheth us to caſt the Care of it upon God; Jehovah jireh, truſt him that clothes the Lillies to provide for you what you ſhall put on. If he gives ſuch fine Clothes to the Graſs, much more will he give fitting Clothes to his own Children; Clothes, that ſhall be warm upon them, not only when he quieteth the Earth with the South wind, but when he diſquiets it with the North-wind, Job. 37. 17. He ſhall much more Clothe you; for you are nobler Creatures, of a more excellent Being; if ſo he clothe the ſhort-liv'd Graſs, much more will he Clothe you that are made for Immortality. Even the Children of Nineveh were prefer'd before the Gourd, Jonah 4. 10, 11. much more the Sons of Zion, that are in Covenant with God. Obſerve the Title he gives them, v. 30. O ye of little Faith. This may be taken (1.) as an Encouragement to true Faith, tho' it be but weak, it intitles us to the Divine Care, and the Promiſe of ſuitable Supply. Great Faith ſhall be commended, and fetch in great things, but little faith ſhall not be rejected, even that ſhall fetch in Food and Raiment. Sound Believers ſhall be provided for, tho' they be not ſtrong Believers. The Babes in the Family are Fed and Cloth'd as well as thoſe that are grown up, and with a ſpecial Care and Tenderneſs; ſay not I am but a Child, but a dry Tree, Iſa. 56. 3, 5. for tho' Poor and Needy, yet the Lord thinketh on thee. Or, (2.) It is rather a Rebuke to weak Faith, tho' it be true, Mat. 14. 31. And it intimates what's at the bottom of all our inordinate Care and Thoughtfulneſs, 'tis owing to the Weakneſs of our Faith, and the Remainders of Unbelief in us. If we had but more Faith, we ſhould have leſs Care.

3. Which of you, the wiſeſt, the ſtrongeſt of you, by taking thought can add one Cubit to his Stature? v. 27. to his Age; ſo ſome. But the meaſure of a Cubit ſpeaks it to be meant of the Stature; and the Age at longeſt is but a Span, Pſal. 39. 5. Let us conſider, (1.) We did not arrive to the Stature we are of by our own Care and Thought, but by the Providence of God. An Infant of a Span long, is grown up to be a Man of ſix Foot, and how was one Cubit after another added to his Stature? not by his own Forecaſt, or Contrivance, he grew, he knew not how, by the Power and Goodneſs of God: Now he that made our Bodies, and made them of ſuch a ſize, ſurely will take care to provide for them. Note, God is to be acknowledg'd in the increaſe of our Bodily Strength and Stature, and to be truſted for all needful Supplies, becauſe he has made it to appear that he is for the Body. The growing Age is the Thoughtleſs, Careleſs Age. yet we grow; and ſhall not he who rear'd us to this, provide for us now we are rear'd? (2.) We cannot alter the Stature we are of, if we would never ſo fain; what a fooliſh and ridiculous thing would it be for a Man of low Stature to perplex himſelf, to break his Sleep, and beat his brains about it, and to be continually taking thought how he might be a Cubit higher; when after all he knows he cannot effect it, and therefore he had better be content, and take it as it is. We are not all of a ſize, yet the difference in Stature between one another is not material, nor of any great account; a little Man is ready to wiſh he were as tall as ſuch a one, but he knows 'tis to no purpoſe, and therefore doth as well as he can with it. Now as we do in reference to our bodily Stature, ſo we ſhould do in reference to our worldly Eſtate. (1.) We ſhould not covet an Abundance of the Wealth of this World, no more than we would covet the Addition of a Cubit to one's Stature, which is a great deal in a Man's Height; 'tis enough to grow by Inches; ſuch an Addition would but make one unweildy and a Burthen to ones ſelf. (2.) We muſt reconcile our ſelves to our State, as we do to our Stature, ſet the Conveniencies againſt the Inconveniences, and ſo make a Virtue of Neceſſity; what cannot be remedy'd, muſt be made the beſt of. We cannot alter the Diſpoſals of Providence, and therefore muſt acquieſce in them, accommodate our ſelves to them, and relieve our ſelves as well as we can againſt Inconveniencies, as Zacheus againſt the Inconvenience of his Stature, by climbing into the Tree.

4. After all theſe things do the Gentiles ſeek, v, 32. Thoughtfulneſs about the World is a Heatheniſh Sin, and unbecoming Chriſtians. The Gentiles ſeek theſe things, becauſe they know not better things; are eager for this World, becauſe they are ſtrangers to a better; they ſeek theſe things with Care and Anxiety, becauſe they are without God in the World, and underſtand not his Providence. They fear and worſhip their Idols, but know not how to truſt them for Deliverance and Supply, and therefore are themſelves full of Care; but it is a ſhame for Chriſtians that build upon nobler Principles, and profeſs a Religion which teacheth them, not only that there is a Providence, but that there are Promiſes made to the Good of the Life that now is, which teacheth them a Confidence in God, and a Contempt of the World, and gives ſuch Reaſons for both, it is a ſhame for them to walk as other Gentiles walk, and to fill their Heads and Hearts with theſe things.

5. Your heavenly Father knows that ye have need of all theſe things; theſe neceſſary things, Food and Raiment, knows our Wants better than we do our ſelves; tho' he be in Heaven, and his Children on Earth, he obſerves what the leaſt and pooreſt of them has occaſion for, Rev. 2. 2. I know thy Poverty. You think if ſuch a good Friend did but know your Wants and Straits, you ſhould ſoon have Relief, your God knows them; and he is your Father that loves you and pities you, and is ready to help you; your heavenly Father, that has wherewithal to ſupply all your Needs. Therefore away with all diſquieting Thoughts and Cares, go to thy Father, tell him, he knows thou haſt need of ſuch and ſuch things; he aſks you, Children, have you any Meat? John 21. 5. Tell him whether you have or no. Tho' he knows our Wants, he will know them from us; and when we have open'd them to him, let us chearfully refer our ſelves to his Wiſdom, Power, and Goodneſs for our Supply. Therefore we ſhould eaſe our ſelves of the Burthen of Care, by caſting it upon God, becauſe it is he that careth for us, 1 Pet. 5. 7. and what needs all this ado? If he care, why ſhould we care.?

6. Seek firſt the Kingdom of God, and his Righteouſneſs, and all theſe things ſhall be added unto you, v. 33. Here is a double Argument againſt the Sin of Thoughtfulneſs; take no thought for your Life, the Life of the Body, for, (1.) you have greater and better things to take thought about; the Life of your Soul, your Eternal Happineſs, that's the one thing needful, Luke 10. 42. about which you ſhould employ your Thoughts, and which is commonly neglected in thoſe Hearts wherein worldly Cares have the Aſcendant. If we were but more careful to pleaſe God, and to work out our own Salvation, we ſhould be leſs ſollicitous to pleaſe ourſelves, and work out an Eſtate in the World. Thoughtfulneſs for our Souls is the moſt effectual Cure of Thoughtfulneſs for the World. (2.) You have a ſurer, an eaſier, a ſafer, and a more compendious way to obtain the Neceſſaries of this Life, than by carking and caring, and fretting about them; and that is by ſeeking firſt the Kingdom of God, and making Religion your Buſineſs: ſay not that's the way to ſtarve, no, that's the way to be well provided for, even in this World. Obſerve here,

1. The great Duty requir'd; 'tis the Sum and Subſtance of our whole Duty. Seek firſt the Kingdom of God, i. e. mind Religion as your great and Principal Concern; our Duty is to ſeek, i. e. to deſire, purſue, and aim at theſe things: 'Tis a Word that has in it much of the Conſtitution of the new Covenant in favour of us; tho' we have not attained, but in many things fail and come ſhort, ſincere ſeeking is accepted, i. e. a careful Concern, and an earneſt endeavour. Now obſerve, (1.) the Object of this ſeeking. The Kingdom of God, and his Righteouſneſs; i. e. we muſt mind Heaven as our End, and Holineſs as our Way. Seek the Comforts of the Kingdom of Grace and Glory as your Felicity; aim at the Kingdom of Heaven, preſs towards it, give diligence to make it ſure, reſolve not to take up ſhort of it; ſeek for this Glory, Honour, and Immortality; prefer Heaven, and Heavenly Bleſſings far before Earth, and Earthly Delights. We make nothing of our Religion, if we do not make Heaven of it. And with the Happineſs of this Kingdom ſeek the Righteouſneſs of it; God's Righteouſneſs, the Righteouſneſs which he requires to be wrought in us, and wrought by us, ſuch as exceeds that of the Scribes and Phariſees; we muſt follow Peace and Holineſs, Heb. 12. 14. (2.) The Order of it. Seek firſt the Kingdom of God. Let your Care for your Souls, and another World, take place of all other Cares: And let all the Concerns of this Life be made to truckle to thoſe of the Life to come; we muſt ſeek the Things of Chriſt more than our own Things; and if ever they come in competition, we muſt remember which we are to give the Preference to. Seek theſe things firſt; firſt in thy Days, let the Morning of Youth be dedicated to God. Wiſdom, muſt be ſought early; 'tis good beginning betimes to be Religious. Seek this firſt every Day; let waking Thoughts be of God. Let this be our Principle to do that firſt, which is moſt needful, and let him that is the firſt have the firſt.

2. The gracious Promiſe annexed is, that then all theſe things, the neceſſary Supports of Life, ſhall be added unto you; ſhall be given over and above; ſo 'tis in the Margin. You ſhall have what you ſeek, the Kingdom of God, and his Righteouſneſs, for never any ſought in vain, that ſought in earneſt; and beſides that, you ſhall have Food and Raiment by way of Overplus, as he that buys Goods hath Paper and Packthread given him over and above into the Bargain. Godlineſs has the Promiſe of the Life that now is, 1 Tim. 4. 8. Solomon aſk'd Wiſdom, and had that and other things added to him, 2. Chr. 1. 11, 12. O what a bleſſed Change would it make in our Hearts and Lives, did we but firmly believe this Truth, that the beſt way to be comfortably provided for in this World, is to be moſt intent upon another World. We then begin at the right end of our Work, when we begin with God. If we give diligence to make ſure to ourſelves the Kingdom of God, and the Righteouſneſs thereof as to all the things of this Life, Jehovah-jireh, the Lord will provide as much of them as he ſee good for us, and more we would not wiſh for. Have we truſted him for the Portion of our Inheritance at our End, and ſhall we not truſt him for the Portion of our Cup in the way to it? God's Iſrael were not only brought to Canaan at laſt, but had their Charges born through the Wilderneſs. O that we were more thoughtful about the things that are not ſeen that are Eternal, and then the leſs Thoughtful we ſhall be, and the leſs Thoughtful we ſhall need to be about the things that are ſeen that are Temporal. Alſo regard not your ſtuff, Gen. 45. 20, 23.

7. The Morrow ſhall take thought for the things of itſelf; ſufficient unto the Day is the Evil thereof, v. 34. We muſt not perplex our ſelves inordinately about future Events, becauſe every Day brings along with it its own Burthen of Cares and Grievances, as if we look about us, and ſuffer not our Fears to betray the Succours which Grace and Reaſon offer, it brings along with it its own Strength and Supply too. So that we are here told,

1. That Thoughtfulneſs for the Morrow is needleſs. Let the Morrow take thought for the things of itſelf. If Wants and Troubles be renew'd with the Day, there are Aids and Proviſions renew'd likewiſe; Compaſſions, that are new every Morning, Lam. 3. 22. The Saints have a Friend that is their Arm every Morning, and gives out freſh Supply daily, Iſa. 33. 2. according as the Buſineſs of every Day requires, Ezra 3. 4. And ſo he keeps his People in a conſtant dependance on him. Let us refer it therefore to the Morrow's Strength to do the Morrow's Work, and bear the Morrow's Burthen. To morrow, and the things of it will be provided for without us; what need we thus anxiouſly care for that which is ſo wiſely car'd for already. This doth not forbid a prudent Foreſight, and Preparation accordingly, but a perplexing Sollicitude, and a Prepoſſeſſion of Difficulties and Calamities which may perhaps never come, or if they do, may be eaſily born, and the Evil of them guarded againſt. The meaning is, Let us mind preſent Duty, and then leave Events to God; do the Work of the Day in its Day, and then let to Morrow bring along with it.

2. That Thoughtfulneſs for the Morrow, as one of thoſe fooliſh and hurtful Luſts, which they that will be Rich fall into, and one of the many Sorrows wherewith they pierce themſelves through. Sufficient unto the Day is the Evil thereof. This preſent Day has Trouble enough attending it, we need not accumulate Burthens by anticipating out Cumber, nor borrow Perplexities from to Morrow's Evils to add to thoſe of this Day. 'Tis uncertain what to Morrow's Evils may be, but whatever they be, 'tis time enough to take thought about them when they come. What a Folly is it to take that Trouble upon our ſelves, this Day, by Care and Fear, which belongs to another Day, and will be never the Lighter when it comes. Let us not pull that upon ourſelves altogether at once, which Providence hath wiſely order'd to be born by Parcels. The Concluſion of this whole Matter then is, That it is the Will and Command of the Lord Jeſus, that his Diſciples ſhould not be their own Tormentors, nor make their Paſſage thro' this World, more dark and unpleaſant by their Apprehenſions of Troubles than God has made it by the Troubles themſelves. By our daily Prayers we may fetch in Strength to bear us up under our daily Troubles, and to arm us againſt the Temptations that attend them, and then let none of theſe things move us.

CHAP. VII.

This Chapter continues and concludes Chriſt's Sermons on the Mount; which is purely Practical, directing us to order our Converſation aright, both towards God, and Man; for the Deſign of the Chriſtian Religion is to make Men Good, every Way Good. We have (1.) ſome Rules concerning Cenſure and Reproof, v. 1.—6. (2.) Encouragements given us to Pray to God for what we need, v. 7.—11. (3.) The Neceſſity of Strictneſs in Converſation urg'd upon us, v. 13, 14. (4.) A Caution given us to take heed of falſe Prophets, v. 13.—20. (5.) The Concluſion of the whole Sermon, ſhewing the Neceſſity of univerſal Obedience to Chriſt's Commands, without which we cannot expect to be happy, v. 21.—27. (6.) The Impreſſion which Chriſt's Doctrine made upon his Hearers, v. 28, 29.

JUdge not that ye be not judged. 2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye ſhall be judged: and with what meaſure you mete, it ſhall be meaſured to you again. 3 And why beholdeſt thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, but conſidereſt not the beam that is in thine own eye? 4 Or how wilt thou ſay to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and behold, a beam is in thine own eye? 5 Thou hypocrite, firſt caſt out the beam out of thine own eye, and then ſhalt thou ſee clearly to caſt out the mote out of thy brothers eye. 6 Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither caſt ye your pearls before ſwine, leſt they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rent you.

Our Saviour is here directing us how to carry it in reference to the Faults of others; and it ſeems intended for a Reproof to the Scribes and Phariſees, who were very rigid and ſevere, very Magiſterial and Supercillious, in Condemning all about them, as thoſe commonly are that are Proud and Conceited in juſtifying themſelves. We have here,

1. A Caution againſt Judging, v. 1, 2. There are thoſe whoſe Office is to judge, Magiſtrates, and Miniſters: Chriſt tho' he made not himſelf a Judge, yet came not to unmake them, for by him Princes decree Juſtice; but this is directed to private Perſons, to his Diſciples, who ſhall hereafter ſit on Thrones Judging, but not now. Now obſerve,

(1.) The Prohibition. Judge not, we muſt Judge ourſelves, and judge of our own Acts, but we muſt not judge our Brother not Magiſterially, aſſuming ſuch an Authority over others, as we allow not them over us; whereas our Rule is, to be ſubject to one another. Be not many Maſters, Jam. 3. 1. We muſt not ſit in the Judgment-ſeat to make our Word a Law to every Body. We muſt not judge our Brother, thet is, we muſt not ſpeak Evil of him, ſo 'tis explain'd James 4. 11. We muſt not deſpiſe him, or ſet him at nought, Rom. 14. 10. Judge not raſhly, paſs not ſuch a Judgment upon our Brother as hath no ground, but is only the Product of our own Jealouſy and Ill-nature. We muſt not make the worſt of People, nor infer ſuch invidious things from their Words and Actions, as they will not bear. Judge not uncharitably, and unmercifully, and with a Spirit of Revenge, and a Deſire to do him a Miſchief. Judge not of a Man's State by a ſingle Act, nor of what he is in himſelf, by what he is to us, becauſe in our own Cauſe we are apt to be Partial. We muſt not judge the Hearts of others, nor their Intentions, for it is God's Prerogative to try the Heart, and we muſt not ſtep into his Throne; nor muſt we judge of their Eternal State, nor call them Hypocrites, Reprobates, and Caſt-aways; that's ſtretching beyond our Line; what have we to do thus to judge another Man's Servant? Counſel him, and help him, but do not judge him.

(2.) The Reaſon to enforce this Prohibition; that ye be not judg'd. This intimates, (1.) that if we preſume to judge others, we may expect to be ourſerves judged. He that uſurps the Bench ſhall be call'd to the Bar. He ſhall be judged of Men; commonly none are more cenſur'd than thoſe that are moſt Cenſorious, every one will have a Stone to throw at them; he that, like Iſhmael, has his Hand, his Tongue againſt every Man, ſhall like him, have every Man's Hand and Tongue againſt him, Gen. 16. 12. And no Mercy ſhall be ſhew'd to the good Names of thoſe that ſhew no Mercy to the good Names of others. Yet that is not the worſt of it, they ſhall be judged of God, from him they ſhall receive the greater Condemnation, James 3. 1. Both Parties muſt appear before him, Rom. 14. 10. who as he will relieve the humble Sufferer, ſo he will reſiſt the haughty Scorner, and give him enough of judging. (2.) That if we be Modeſt and Charitable in our own Cenſures of others, and decline judging them, and judge our ſelves rather, we ſhall not be judged of the Lord. As God will forgive thoſe that forgive their Brethren, ſo he will not judge thoſe that will not judge their Brethren; the Merciful ſhall find Mercy. 'Tis an Evidence of Humility, Charity, and Deference to God, and ſhall be own'd and rewarded by him accordingly. See Rom. 14. 10.

The judging of thoſe that judge others, is according to the Law of Retaliation, with what judgment ye judge, ye ſhall be judged, v. 2. The Righteous God doth many times in his Judgments obſerve a Rule of Proportion, as in the caſe of Adonibezek, Judg. 1. 7. And ſee Rev. 13. 10--18. 6. Thus will he be both juſtified and magnified in his Judgments, and all Fleſh will be ſilenc'd before him. With what meaſure you mete it ſhall be meaſured to you again; perhaps in this World, ſo that Men may read their Sin in their Puniſhment. Let this deter us from all Severity in dealing with our Broteer, what then ſhall we do when God riſeth up? Job 31. 14. What would become of us, if God ſhould be as exact and ſevere in judging us, as we are in judging our Brethren? if he ſhould weigh us in the ſame Ballance we may juſtly expect it, if we be extream to mark what our Brethren do amiſs. In this, as in other things, Men's violent dealings return upon their own Head.

2. Some Cautions about Reproving; becauſe we muſt not judge others, which is a great Sin, it doth not therefore follow that we muſt not reprove others, which is a great Duty, and may be a means of ſaving a Soul from Death, however 'twill be a means of ſaving our Souls from ſharing in their Guilt. Now obſerve here,

1. It is not every one that is fit to reprove; thoſe that are themſelves guilty of the ſame Faults they accuſe others of, or worſe, bring Shame upon themſelves, and are not likely to do good to thoſe they reprove, v. 3, 4, 5. Here's (1.) a juſt Reproof to the Cenſorious, that quarrel with their Brother for ſmall Faults, while they allow themſelves in great ones, are quick-ſighted to ſpy a Mote in his Eye, but are not ſenſible of a Beam in their own; nay, and will be very officious to pull out the mote out of his Eye, when they are as unfit to do it, as if they were themſelves ſtark blind. Note, (1.) There are Degrees in Sin. Some Sins are comparatively but as Motes, while others are as Beams, ſome as Gnats, others as Camels. Not that there is any Sin little, for there's no little God to ſin againſt; if it be a Mote (or Splinter, for ſo it might better be read) 'tis in the Eye, if a Gnat, 'tis in the Throat, both Painful and Perillous, and we cannot be eaſy or well 'till they are got out. (2.) Our own Sins ought to appear greater to us than the ſame Sins in others; that which Charity teaches us to call but a Splinter in our Brother's Eye, true Repentance and Godly Sorrow will teach us to call a Beam in our own; for the Sins of others muſt be extenuated, but our own aggravated. (3.) There are many that have Beams in their own Eyes, and yet do not conſider it. They are under the Guilt and Dominion of very great Sins, and yet are not aware of it, but juſtify themſelves, as if they needed no Repentance or Reformation; 'tis as ſtrange a Man can be in ſuch a ſinful miſerable Condition, and not be aware of it, as that a Man ſhould have a Beam in his Eye, and not conſider it; but the God of this World ſo artfully blinds their Minds, as that yet with great Aſſurance they ſay, We ſee. (4.) It is common for thoſe that are moſt ſinful themſelves, and leaſt ſenſible of it, to be moſt forward and free in Judging and Cenſuring others; the Phariſees that were moſt haughty in juſtifying themſelves, were moſt ſcornful in condemning others, They fell foul upon Chriſt's Diſciples for eating with unwaſhed Hands, which was ſcarce a Mote, while they bolſter'd Men up in a Contempt of their Parents, which was a Beam. Pride and Uncharitableneſs are commonly Beams in the Eyes of thoſe that pretend to be critical and nice in their Cenſures of others. Nay, many are guilty of that in ſecret, which they have the face to puniſh in others when 'tis diſcover'd. Cogita tecum, fortaſſe vitium de quo quereris ſi te diligenter excuſſeris, in ſinu invenies; inique publico iraſceris crimini tuo. Seneca de Benef. But (4.) Men's being ſo ſevere upon the Faults of others, while they are indulgent of their own, is a mark of Hypocriſy. Thou Hypocrite, v. 5. Whatever ſuch a one may pretend, 'tis certain he is no Enemy to Sin (if he were, he would be an Enemy to his own Sin) and therefore is not worthy of Praiſe; nay, it appears he is an Enemy to his Brother, and therefore worthy of Blame. This Spiritual Charity muſt begin at Home; for how canſt thou ſay? How canſt thou for ſhame ſay to thy Brother, Let me help to reform thee, when thou takeſt no care to reform thyſelf? Thy own Heart will upbraid thee with the Abſurdity of it; thou wilt do it with an ill Grace, and thou wilt expect every one to tell thee, that Vice corrects Sin; Phyſician, heal thyſelf; I præ, ſequar. See Rom. 2. 21. (5.) The Conſideration of what is amiſs in ourſelves, though it ought not to keep us from friendly Reproving, ought to keep us from magiſterial Cenſuring, and to make us very Candid and Charitable in judging others. Therefore reſtore with the Spirit of Meekneſs, conſidering thyſelf, Gal. 6. 1. What thou haſt been, what thou art, and what thou wouldſt be, if God ſhould leave thee to thyſelf.

(2.) Here's a good Rule for Reprovers, v 5. Go in the right Method, firſt caſt the Beam out of thine own Eye. Our own Badneſs is ſo far from excuſing us in not reproving, that our being by it render'd unfit to reprove, is an Aggravation of our Badneſs; I muſt not ſay, I have a Beam in mine own Eye, and therefore I will not help my Brother with the Mote out of his: A Man's Offence will never be his Defence; but I muſt firſt reform myſelf, that I may thereby help to reform my Brother, and may qualify myſelf to reprove him. Note, Thoſe that blame others, ought to be Blameleſs and Harmleſs themſelves. Thoſe that are Reprovers in the Gate, Reprovers by Office, Magiſtrates and Miniſters, are concern'd to walk circumſpectly, and to be very regular in their Converſations. An Elder muſt have a good Report, 1 Tim. 3. 2, 7. The Snuffers of the Sanctuary were to be of pure Gold.

2. It is not everyone that is fit to be reproved; give not that which is holy unto Dogs, v. 6. This may be conſider'd either (1.) as a Rule to the Diſciples in Preaching the Goſpel; not that they muſt not Preach it to any that were Wicked and Prophane, Chriſt himſelf Preach'd to Publicans and Sinners, but ſuch as they found obſtinate after the Goſpel was preach'd to them, Blaſphem'd it, and Perſecuted the Preachers of it, let them not ſpend much Time among ſuch, for it would be loſt Labour, but let them turn to others, Acts 13. 41. So Dr. Whitby. Or, (2.) as a Rule to all in giving Reproof. Our Zeal againſt Sin muſt be guided by Diſcretion, and we muſt not go about to give Inſtructions, Counſels, and Rebukes, much leſs Comforts to hardned Scorners, to whom it will certainly do no good, but who will be exaſperated, and enraged at you. Throw a Pearl to a Swine, and he will reſent it as if you threw a Stone at him; Reproofs will be called Reproaches, as they were, Luke 11. 45. Jer. 6. 10. therefore give not to Dogs, and Swine, unclean Creatures, holy things. Note, (1.) Good Counſel and Reproof is a holy thing, and a Pearl. It is an Ordinance of God, 'tis precious, as an Earing of Gold, and an Ornament of fine Gold, ſo is a wiſe Reprover, Prov. 24. 12. and a wiſe Reproof, like an excellent Oil, Pſal. 141. 5. 'Tis a Tree of Life, Prov. 6. 13. (2.) Among the Generation of the Wicked, there are ſome that are arriv'd to ſuch a pitch of Wickedneſs, that they are to be look'd upon as Dogs and Swine, that are impudently and notoriouſly vile, that have ſo long walk'd in the way of Sinners, that they are ſet down in the Seat of the Scornful, and profeſſedly hate and deſpiſe Inſtruction, and ſet it at defiance, ſo that they are irrecoverably and irreclaimably wicked; they return with the Dog to his Vomit, and with the Sow to her wallowing in the Mire. (3.) Reproofs of Inſtruction are ill beſtow'd upon ſuch, and expoſe the Reprover to all the Contempt and Miſchief that may be expected from Dogs and Swine. One can expect no other but that they will trample the Reproofs under their Feet, in Scorn of them, and Rage againſt them; for they are impatient of Controul and Contradiction, and they will turn again and rent the Reprovers; rent their good Names with their Revilings, return them wounding Words for their healing ones; rent them with Perſecution; Herod rent John Baptiſt for his Faithfulneſs. See here what is the Evidence of Men's being Dogs and Swine. Thoſe are to be reckon'd ſuch who hate Reproofs, and Reprovers, and fly in the Face of thoſe that in Kindneſs to their Souls ſhew them their Sin and Danger. Theſe ſin againſt the Remedy; who ſhall heal and help thoſe that will not be heal'd and help'd? 'Tis plain God has determin'd to deſtroy ſuch, 2 Chron. 25. 16. The Rule here given is applicable to the diſtinguiſhing ſealing Ordinances of the Goſpel; which muſt not be proſtituted to thoſe who are openly wicked and prophane, leſt holy things be thereby render'd contemptible, and unholy Perſons be thereby harden'd. It is not meet to take the Children's Bread and caſt it to the Dogs. Yet we muſt be very cautious who we condemn as Dogs and Swine, and not 'till after Tryal, and upon full Evidence. Many a Patient is loſt by being thought to be ſo, who if Means had been us'd, might have been ſav'd. As we muſt take heed of calling the Good, Bad, by judging all Profeſſors to be Hypocrites; ſo we muſt take heed of calling the Bad, Deſperate, by judging all the Wicked to be Dogs and Swine. (4.) Our Lord Jeſus is very tender of the Safety of his People, and would not have them needleſly to expoſe themſelves to the Fury of thoſe that will turn again and rent them. Let not them be righteous overmuch, ſo as to deſtroy themſelves. Chriſt makes the Law of Self-preſervation one of his own Laws, and precious is the Blood of his Subjects to him.

7 Ask, and it ſhall be given you: ſeek, and ye ſhall find: knock, and it ſhall be opened unto you. 8 For every one that asketh, receiveth: and he that ſeeketh findeth: and to him that knocketh, it ſhall be opened. 9 Or what man is there of you, whom if his ſon ask bread, will he give him a ſtone? 10 Or if he ask a fiſh, will he give him a ſerpent? 11 If ye then being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more ſhall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?

Our Saviour in the foregoing Chapter had ſpoken of Prayer as a commanded Duty, by which God is honour'd, and which, if done aright, ſhall be rewarded. Here he ſpeaks of it as the appointed Means of obtaining what we need, eſpecially Grace to obey the Precepts he had given, ſome of which are ſo diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood.

Firſt, Here is a Precept, in three words, to the ſame purpoſe, Aſk Seek, Knock, v. 7. that is, in one word, Pray. Pray often, Pray with Sincerity and Seriouſneſs; Pray, and Pray again, make Conſcience of Prayer, and be conſtant in it; make a Buſineſs of Prayer, and be earneſt in it. Aſk as a Beggar aſks an Alms; thoſe that would be rich in Grace muſt betake themſelves to the poor Trade of Begging, and they ſhall find it a thriving Trade. Aſk, i. e. repreſent your Wants and Burthens to God, and refer yourſelves to him for Support and Supply, according to his Promiſe. Aſk, as a Traveller aſks the way; to pray is to enquire of God, Ezek. 36. 37. Seek, as for a thing of value that we have loſt; or as the Merchant-man that ſeeks goodly Pearls. Seek by Prayers, Dan. 9. 3. Knock, as he that deſires to enter into the Houſe knocks at the Door. We would be admitted to Converſe with God, would be taken into his Love, and Favour, and Kingdom; Sin has ſhut and bar'd the Door againſt us, by Prayer we knock, Lord, Lord, open to us. Chriſt knocks at our Door, Rev. 3. 20. Cant. 5. 2. and allows us to knock at his, which is a Favour we do not allow to common Beggars. Seeking and Knocking ſpeak ſomething more than aſking and praying. (1.) We muſt not only aſk, but ſeek, i. e. we muſt ſecond our Prayers with our Endeavours, we muſt in the uſe of the appointed Means ſeek for that which we aſk for, elſe we tempt God. When the Dreſſer of the Vineyard aſk'd for a Year's Reprieve for the barren Fig-tree, he added, I'll dig about it, Luke 13. 7, 8. God gives Knowledge and Grace to thoſe that ſearch the Scriptures and wait at Wiſdom's Gates, and Power againſt Sin to thoſe that avoid the Occaſions of it. (2.) We muſt not only aſk, but knock; we muſt come to God's Door, muſt aſk importunately, not only Pray, but Plead, and wreſtle with God; we muſt ſeek diligently, we muſt continue knocking; muſt perſevere in Prayer, and in the uſe of Means; muſt endure to the End in the Duty.

Secondly, Here's a Promiſe annex'd; our Labour in Prayer, if indeed we do labour in it, ſhall not be in vain; where God finds a Praying Heart, he will be found a Prayer hearing God. He ſhall give thee an Anſwer of Peace. The Precept is threefold, Aſk, Seek Knock, there's Precept upon Precept; but the Promiſe is ſix-fold, Line upon Line, for our Encouragement; becauſe a firm Belief of the Promiſe would make us chearful and conſtant in our Obedience. Now here

1. The Promiſe is made, and made ſo as exactly to anſwer the Precept, v. 7. God will meet thoſe that attend on him. Aſk, and it ſhall be given you; not lent you, nor ſold you, but given you, and what's more free than Gift? It ſhall, i. e. whatever you pray for according to the Promiſe, whatever you aſk ſhall be given you, if God ſee it fit for you, and what would you more? it is but aſk and have; ye have not, becauſe ye aſk not, or aſk not aright; what is not worth aſking, is not worth having, and then it's worth nothing. Seek, and ye ſhall find, and then you do not loſe your Labour; God is himſelf found of thoſe that ſeek him, and if we find him, we have enough. Knock, and it ſhall be open'd; the Door of Mercy and Grace ſhall no longer be ſhut againſt you as Enemies and Intruders, but open'd to you as Friends and Children. 'Twill be aſk'd, Who's at the Door? If you be able to ſay, A Friend, and have the Ticket of the Promiſe ready to produce in the Hand of Faith, doubt not of Admiſſion. If the Door be not open'd at the firſt knock, continue inſtant in Prayer; 'tis an Affront to a Friend to knock at his Door, and then go away; tho' the Return tarry, yet wait.

2. It is repeated, v 8. 'tis to the ſame purpoſe, yet with ſome advantage. (1.) It is made to extend to all that Pray aright; not only you my Diſciples ſhall receive what you pray for, but every one that aſketh receiveth; whether Jew or Gentile, Young or Old, Rich or Poor, High or Low, Maſter or Servant, Learned or Unlearned, they are all alike welcome to the Throne of Grace, if they come in Faith; for God is no reſpecter of Perſons. (2.) 'Tis made ſo as to amount to a Grant, in words of the Preſent Tenſe which is more than a Promiſe de futuro. Every one that aſketh, not only ſhall receive, but receiveth; by Faith applying and appropriating the Promiſe we are actually intereſted and inveſted in the Good promiſed; ſo ſure and inviolable are the promiſes of God, that they do in effect give preſent Poſſeſſion; an active Believer enters immediately, and makes the Bleſſings promiſed his own. What we have in hope according to the Promiſe, is as ſure, and ſhould be as ſweet as what we have in hand. God hath ſpoken in his Holineſs, and then Gilead is mine, Manaſſeh is mine, Pſal. 108. 7, 8. 'tis all mine own, if I can but make it ſo by believing it ſo. Conditional Grants become abſolute upon the performance of the Condition; ſo here, he that aſketh receiveth. Chriſt hereby puts his Fiat to the Petition, and he having all Power, that's enough.

3. It is illuſtrated by a Similitude, taken from earthly Parents, and their innate Readineſs to give their Children what they aſk. Chriſt appeals to his Hearers, What Man is there of you, tho' never ſo Moroſe and Ill-humour'd, whom, if his Son ask Bread, will he give him a Stone? v. 9, 10. Whence he infers, v. 11. If ye then being evil, yet grant your Children's Requeſts, much more will your Heavenly Father give you the good things you aſk. Now this is of uſe,

1. To direct our Prayers and Fxpectations. (1.) We muſt come to God, as Children to a Father in Heaven, with Reverence and Confidence; how naturally doth the Child in Want or Diſtreſs run to the Father with its Complaints, My Head, my Head; thus ſhould the new Nature ſend us to God for Supports and Supplies. (2.) We muſt come to him for good things, for thoſe he gives to them that ask him; which teach us to refer ourſelves to him; we know not what is good for our ſelves Eccl. 6. 12. but he knows what is good for us, we muſt therefore leave it with him; Father, thy will be done. The Child is here ſuppos'd to aſk Bread, that's neceſſary, and a Fiſh that's wholſome; but if the Child ſhould fooliſhly aſk for a Stone, or a Serpent, for unripe Fruit to eat, or a ſharp Knife to play with, the Father, tho' kind, is withal ſo wiſe as to deny him. We oft aſk that of God which would do us hurt if we had it, he knows it, and therefore doth not give it us; Denials in Love are better than Grants in Anger? we had been undone e'er this, if we had had all we deſired; this is admirably well expreſs'd by a Heathen. Juvenal, Sat. 10.

Permittis ipſis expendere Numinibus, quid
Conveniat nobis, Rebuſque ſit utile noſtris,
Nam pro jucundis aptiſſima quæque dabunt Dii.
Carior eſt illis Homo, quam ſibi; Nos Animorum
Impulſu, & cæca magnaque Cupidine ducti.
Conjugium petimus, Partumque Uxoris: at illis
Notum eſt, qui Pueri, qualiſque futura ſit Uxor.

2. To encourage our Prayers and Expectations. We may hope that we ſhall not be deny'd and diſappointed; we ſhall not have a Stone for Bread to break our Teeth, (tho' we have a hard Cruſt to employ our Teeth) nor a Serpent for a Fiſh to ſting us. We have Reaſon indeed to fear it, becauſe we deſerve it, but God will be better to us than the Deſert of our Sins. The World often gives Stones for Bread, and Serpents for Fiſh, but God never doth. Nay, we ſhall be heard and anſwer'd, for Children are ſo by their Parents. (1.) God has put into the Hearts of Parents a compaſſionate Inclination to ſuccour and ſupply their Children according as need is. Even thoſe that have had little Conſcience of Duty, yet have done it, as it were by Inſtinct. No Law was ever thought neceſſary to oblige Parents to maintain their Legitimate Children, nor in Solomon's time, their Illegitimate ones. (2.) He has put himſelf into the Relation of a Father to us, and owns us for his Children; that from the readineſs we find in our ſelves to relieve our Children, we may be encourag'd to apply our ſelves to him for Relief, What Love and Tenderneſs Fathers have, it's from him; not from Nature, but from the God of Nature, and therefore it muſt needs be infinitely more in himſelf. He compares his Concern for his People to that of a Father for his Children, Pſal. 103. 13. Nay, to that of a Mother, which is uſually more tender, Iſa. 66. 13.—49. 14, 15. But here 'tis ſuppos'd, that his Love, and Tenderneſs, and Goodneſs far excells that of any Earthly Parent; and therefore 'tis argu'd with a much more, and it is grounded upon this undoubted Truth, that God is a better Father, infinitely better than any Earthly Parents are, his Thoughts above theirs. Our Earthly Fathers have taken care of us, we have taken care of our Children, much more will God take care of his: for they are Evil, originally ſo; the degenerate Seed of fallen Adam, they have loſt much of the good Nature that was incident to Humanity, and among other Corruptions have that of Croſſneſs, and Unkindneſs, and Unlovingneſs in them; yet they give good things to their Children, and they know how to give, ſuitably and ſeaſonably; much more will God, for he takes up when they forſake, Pſal. 27. 10. And (1.) God is more knowing: Parents are often fooliſhly fond, but God is Wiſe, infinitely ſo; he knows what we need, what we deſire, and what's fit for us. (2.) God is more kind. If all the Compaſſions of all the Tender Fathers in the World were crouded into the Bowels of one, yet compar'd with the tender Mercies of our God, they would be but as a Candle to the Sun, or a Drop to the Ocean. God is more rich and more ready to his Children than the Fathers of our Fleſh can be, for he is the Father of our Spirits, an Ever-loving, Ever-living Father; the Bowels of Fathers yern even towards undutiful Children, towards Prodigals, as David's towards Abſalom, and will not all this ſerve to ſilence Unbelief?

12 Therefore all things whatſoever ye would that men ſhould do to you, do ye even ſo to them: for this is the law and the prophets. 13 Enter ye in at the ſtrait gate; for wide is the gate, and broad is the way that leadeth to deſtruction, and many there be which go in thereat: 14 Becauſe ſtrait is the gate, and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

Our Lord Jeſus here preſſeth upon us that Righteouſneſs towards Men, which is an eſſential Branch of true Religion, and that Religion towards God, which is an eſſential Branch of univerſal Righteouſneſs.

1. We muſt make Righteouſneſs our Rule, and be rul'd by it, v. 12. Therefore lay this down for your Principle, to do as you would be done by; therefore, that you may conform to the foregoing Precepts, which are particular, that you may not Judge and Cenſure others, go by this Rule in general, you would not be Cenſur'd, therefore do not Cenſure. Or, that you may have the Benefit of the foregoing Promiſes; fitly is the Law of Juſtice tack'd to the law of Prayer, for unleſs we be honeſt in our Converſation, God will not hear our Prayers, Iſa. 1. 15, 16, 17.—58. 6, 9. Zech. 7. 9, 13. We cannot expect to receive good things from God, if we do not do fair things, and that which is honeſt and lovely, and of good Report among Men. We muſt not only be Devout but Honeſt, elſe our Devotion is but Hypocriſy. Now here we have,

(1.) The Rule of Juſtice laid down; Whatſoever you would that Men ſhould do to you, do ye even ſo to them. Chriſt came to teach us, not only what we are to know and Believe, but what we are to do; what we are to do, not only towards God, but towards Men; not only towards our Fellow-Diſciples, thoſe of our Party and Perſuaſion, but toward Men in general, all with whom we have to do. The Golden Rule of Equity, is to do to others, as we would they ſhould do to us. Alexander Severus, a Heathen Emperor, was a great admirer of this Rule, had it written upon the Walls of his Cloſet, often quoted it in giving Judgment, honour'd Chriſt, and favour'd Chriſtians for the ſake of it. Quod tibi, hoc alteri; take it negatively, Quod tibi fieri nonv is ne alteri feceris; or poſitively, it comes all to one; as here, Quod vis tibi fieri, fac alteri. We muſt not do to others the Evil they have done to us, nor the Evil which they would do to us if it were in their Power; nor may we do that which we think, if it were done to us, we could bear ccntentedly, but what we deſire ſhould be done to us. This is grounded upon that great Commandment, Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf. As we muſt bear the ſame Affection to our Neighbour that we would have born to our ſelves, ſo we muſt do the ſame good Offices. The meaning of this Rule lies in three things: (1.) We muſt do that to our Neighbour which we ourſelves acknowledge to be fit and reaſonable; the Appeal is made to our own Judgment, and the Diſcovery of our Judgment is refer'd to that which is our own Will and Expectation, when it is our own Caſe. (2.) We muſt put other People upon the level with ourſelves, and reckon we are as much obliged to them, as they to us. We are as much bound to the Duty of Juſtice as they, and they as much entitled to the Benefit of it as we. (3.) We muſt in our Dealings with Men, ſuppoſe ourſelves in the ſame particular Caſe and Circumſtances with thoſe we have to do with, and deal accordingly. If I were making ſuch a one's Bargain, labouring under ſuch a ones Infirmity and Affliction, how would I deſire and expect to be treated? and this is a juſt Suppoſition, becauſe we know not how ſoon their Caſe may really be our's; however we may fear, leſt God by his Judgments do to us, as we have done to others, if we have not done as we would be done by.

(2.) A Reaſon given to enforce this Rule. This is the Law and the Prophets; 'tis the Summary of that ſecond great Commandment, which is one of thoſe two, on which hang all the Law and the Prophets, Mat. 22. 40. We have not this in ſo many Words, either in the Law or the Prophets, but it is the concurring Language of the Whole. All that is there ſaid concerning our Duty towards our Neighbour, (and that is no little) may be reduc'd to this Rule. Chriſt has here adopted it into his Law; ſo that both the Old Teſtament and the New agree in preſcribing this to us, to do as we would be done by. By this Rule the Law of Chriſt is commended, but the Lives of Chriſtians are condemn'd by comparing them with it, Aut hoc non Evangelium, aut hi non Evangelici.

2. We muſt make Religion our Buſineſs, and be intent upon it; we muſt be ſtrict and circumſpect in our Converſation, which is here repreſented to us as entring in at a ſtrait Gate, and walking on in a narrow Way, v. 13, 14. Obſerve here,

1. The Account that is given of the Bad Way of Sin, and the good Way of Holineſs. There are but two Ways, right and wrong, good and evil; the Way to Heaven, and the Way to Hell; in the one of which we are all of us walking. No middle Place hereafter, no middle Way now. The Diſtinction of the Children of Men into Saints and Sinners, godly and ungodly, will ſwallow up all to Eternity.

Here's (1.) An Account given us of the Way of Sin, and Sinners, both what's the beſt, and what's the worſt of it.

1. That which allures Multitudes into it, and keeps them in it; that the Gate is wide, and the Way broad, and there are many Travallers in that Way. (1.) You will have abundance of Liberty in that Way. The Gate is wide, and ſtands wide open to tempt thoſe that go right on theirWay. You may go in at thisGate with all yourLuſts about you; it gives no Check to yourAppetites, to your Paſſions; you may walk in the Way of your Heart,and in the Sight of your Eye; that gives room enough. It's a broad Way, for there's nothing to hedge in thoſe that walk in it, but they wander endleſly; a broad Way, for there are many Paths in it; there's Choice of ſinful Ways, contrary to each other, but all Paths in this broad Way. (2.) You will have abundance of Company in that Way. Many there be that go in at this Gate, and walk in this Way. If we follow the Multitude, it will be to do Evil; if we go with the Croud, it will be the wrong Way. 'Tis natural to us to incline to go down the Stream, and do as the moſt do; but it is too great a Complement to be willing to be damn'd for Company; and go to Hell with them, becauſe they will not go toHeaven with us. If many periſh, we ſhould be the more cautious.

2. That which ſhould affright us all from it is, that it leads to Deſtruction. Death, eternal Death is at the End of it, and the Way of Sin tends to it, everlaſting Deſtruction from the Preſence of the Lord. Whether it be the High-way of open Profaneneſs, or the Back-way of cloſe Hypocriſy, if it be a Way of Sin, it will be our Ruin, if we repent not.

2. Here's an Account given us of the Way of Holineſs.

1. What there is in it, that frightens many from it; let us know the worſt of it,that we mayſit down and count theCoſt of it; Chriſt deals faithfully with us, and tells us,

(1.) That the Gate is ſtrait. Converſion and Regeneration is the Gate,by which we enter into thisWay,in which we begin a Life of Faith, and ſerious Godlineſs; out of a State of Sin, into a State of Grace we muſt paſs by the New Birth, John 3. 3, 5. This is a ſtrait Gate, hard to hit, and hard to get thro'; like a Paſſage between two Rocks, 1 Sam. 14. 4. there muſt be a new Heart, and a new Spirit, and old things muſt paſs away. The Bent of the Soul muſt be chang'd,corruptHabits broken,corruptCuſtoms broken off; what we have been doing all our Days muſt be undone again. We muſt ſwim againſt theStream, much Oppoſition muſt be ſtruggl'd with, and broken thro' from without, and from within. 'Tis eaſier to ſet aMan againſt all theWorld than againſt himſelf,andyet this muſt be in Converſion. It is a ſttaitGate, for we muſt ſtoop,or we cannot go in at it, muſt become as little Children; high Thoughts muſt be brought down: Nay, we muſt ſtrip, muſt deny ourſelves, put off the World, put off the Old Man, muſt be willing to forſake all for our Intereſt inChriſt. The Gate is ſtrait to all, but to ſome ſtraiter than to others; to theRich,to ſome that have been long prejudic'd againſt Religion. The Gate is ſtrait, Bleſſed be God it is not ſhut up or lock'd againſt us; nor kept with a flaming Sword, as it will be ſhortly, Mat. 25. 10.

(2.) That the Way is narrow. We are not in Heaven as ſoon as we are got thro' the ſtrait Gate, not in Canaan, as ſoon as we are got thro' the Red Sea, no, we muſt go thro' a Wilderneſs; muſt travel a narrow Way, hedg'd in by the Divine Law, which is exceeding broad, and that makes the Way narrow. Self muſt be deny'd, the Body kept under, Corruptions mortified, that are as a right Eye, and a right Hand; daily Temptations muſt be reſiſted; Duties to be done that are againſt the Grain, we muſt endure Hardneſs,muſt wreſtle and be in an Agony, mnſt watch in all things, and walk with Care and Circumſpection; we muſt go thro' much Tribulation, 'tis ὁδὸς τεθλιμμένη, an afflicted Way, a Way hedg'd about with Thorns, Bleſſed be God it is not hedg'd up. The Bodies we carry about with us, and the Corruptions remaining in us, make the Way of our Duty difficult, but as the Underſtanding and Will grow more and more ſound, 'twill open and enlarge, and grow more and more pleaſant.

3. The Gate being ſo ſtrait, and the Way ſo narrow, it is not ſtrange that there are but few that find it, and chuſe it, many paſs it by thro' Carleſſneſs,they will not be at the Pains to find it; they are well as they are, and ſee no need to change their Way: Others look upon it, but ſhun it; they like not to be ſo limited, and reſtrained. Thoſe that are going to Heaven are few, compar'd to thoſe that are going to Hell; a Remnant, a little Flock, like the Grape-gleanings of the Vintage; as the Eight that were ſaved in the Ark, 1 Kings 20. 27. In Vitia alter alterum trudimus: Quomodo ad Salutem revocari poteſt,quum nullus retrabit, & Populus impellit? Senec. Epiſt. 29. This diſcourages many, they are loth to be ſingular, to be ſolitary; but inſtead of ſtumbling at this,ſay rather, if ſo few are going to Heaven, there will be one the more for me.

2. Let us ſee what there is in this Way, which, notwithſtanding this, ſhould invite us all to it; it leads to Life, to preſent Comfort, in the Favour of God,whichis the Life of the Soul,to eternal Bliſs; the Hope of which at the End of our Way, ſhould reconcile us to all the Difficulties and Inconveniencies of the Way. Life and Godlineſs are put together, 2 Pet. 1. 3. The Gate is ſtrait, and the Way narrow, and up hill, but one Hour in Heaven will make amends for all.

2. The Great Concern and Duty of every one of us in Conſideration of all this; Enter ye in at the ſtrait Gate. The Matter is fairly ſtated; Life and Death, Good and Evil are ſet before us, both the Ways,and both the Ends; now let the Matter be taken entire,and conſider'd impartially,and then chuſe you this Day,which you will walk in; nay, the Matter determines itſelf, and will not admit of a Debate. No Man in his Wits would chuſe to go to the Gallows, becauſe it's a ſmooth pleaſantWay to to it, nor refuſe the Offer of a Palace and a Throne,becauſe it's a rough dirty Way to it; yet ſuch Abſurdities as theſe are Men guilty of in the Concerns of their Souls. Delay not therefore, deliberate not any longer, but enter ye in at the ſtrait Gate; knock at it by ſincere and conſtant Prayers and Endeavours, and it ſhall be opened, nay, a wide Door ſhall be opened, and an effectual one. 'Tis true we can neither go in, nor go on without theAſſiſtance of Divine Grace,but 'tis as true,thatGrace is freely offer'd, and ſhall not be wanting to thoſe that ſeek it, and ſubmit to it. Converſion is hard Work, but it is needful; and bleſſed be God it is not impoſſible if we ſtrive, Luke 13. 24.

15 Beware of falſe Prophets which come to you in ſheeps clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. 16 Ye ſhall know them by their fruits: do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thiſtles? 17 Even ſo every good tree bringeth forth good fruit: but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. 18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit: neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. 19 Every tree that bringeth not forth good ftuit, is hewn down and caſt into the fire. 20 Wherefore by their fruits ye ſhall know them.

We have here a Caution againſt falſe Prophets, to take heed that we be not deceiv'd and impos'd upon by them. Prophets are properly ſuch as foretel things to come; there were ſome in the old Teſtament who pretended to that withoutWarrant,and the Event diſproved their Pretenſions, as Zedekiah, 1 Kings 22. 11. and another Zedekiah Jer. 29. 21. But Prophets did alſo teach the People their Duty, ſo that falſe Prophets here are falſe Teachers; Chriſt being a Prophet and a Teacher come from God,and deſigning to ſend abroad Teachers under him,givesWarning to all to take heed ofCounterfeits, who inſtead of healing Souls with wholeſome Doctrine as theypretend, would poiſon them.

Thoſe are falſe Teachers, and falſe Prophets, (1.) Who produce falſe Commiſſions, who pretend to have immediate Warrant and Direction from God to ſet up for Prophets, and to be divinely inſpir'd when they are not ſo. Tho' their Doctrine may be true, we are to beware of them as falſe Prophets. Falſe Apoſtles are thoſe who ſay they are Apoſtles, and are not, Rev. 2. 2. ſuch are falſe Prophets. Take heed of thoſe that pretend to Revelation, and admit them not without ſufficient Proof, leſt that one Abſurdity being admitted, a thouſand follow. (2.) Who preach falſe Doctrine in thoſe things that are eſſential to Religion; who teach that which is contrary to theTruth as it is inJeſus,to theTruth which is according toGodlineſs. The former ſeems to be the properNotions of*Pſeudo-propheta*,a falſe or pretendingProphet; but commonly the latter falls in with it,for who would hang out falſe Colours,but with Deſigns underPretence of them,the more ſuceſsfully to attack the Truth. Well,beware of them; ſuſpect them, try them, and when you have diſcovered their Falſhood, avoid them, have nothing to do with them, ſtand upon your Guard againſt this Temptation, which commonly attends the Days of Reformation, and the Breathings out of Divine Light, in more than ordinary Strength and Splendor. When God's Work is reviv'd, Satan and his Agents are moſt buſy. Here's Firſt a good Reaſon for this Caution; Beware of them, for they are Wolves in Sheeps Clothing, v. 15.

1. We have need to be very cautious, becauſe their Pretences are very fair and plauſible, and ſuch as will deceive us,if we be not upon our Guard. They come in Sheeps Clothing, in the Habit of Prophets, which was plain,and courſe,and unwrought; they wear a roughGarment to deceive, Zech. 13. 4. Elijah's Mantle the Septuagint calls ἡ μηλωτῆς, a Sheep's-Skin Mantle. We muſt take heed of being impos'd upon byMensDreſs and Garb,as bythat of the Scribes which deſire to walk in long Robes, Luke 20. 46. Or it may be taken figuratively; they pretend to be Sheep,and outwardly appear ſo innocent, harmleſs, meek, uſeful, and all that's good, as none more; they feign themſelves to be juſtMen, and for the ſake of their Clothing are admitted among the Sheep,which gives them anOpportunity of doing them a Miſchief, e'er they are aware. They and their Errors are gilded with the ſpecious Pretences of Sanctityand Devotion; Satan turns himſelf into an Angel of Light, 2 Cor. 11. 13, 14. The Enemy has Horns like aLamb,Rev. 13. 11. Faces of Men,Rev. 9. 7, 8. Seducers in Language and Carriage are ſoft as Wooll, Rom. 16. 18. Iſa. 30. 10.

2. Becauſe under theſe Pretenſions their Deſigns are very malicious and miſchievous. Inwardly they are ravening Wolves. Every Hypocrite is a Goat in Sheeps Clothing, but a falſe Prophet is a Wolf in Sheeps Clothing, not only not a Sheep, but the worſt Enemy the Sheep has,that comes not but to tear and devour,to ſcatter theSheep, John 10. 12. to drive them from God, and one from another, into crookedPaths. Thoſe that would cheat us of anyTruth,and poſſeſs us with Error, whatever they pretend,'tisMiſchief to ourSouls that they intend. Paul calls them grievous Wolves, Acts 20. 29. They raven for themſelves, ſerve their own Belly, Rom. 16. 18. make a Prey of you, make a Gain of you. Now ſince it it is ſo eaſy a Thing and withal ſo dangerous to be cheated, Beware of falſe Prophets.

Secondly, Here's a good Rule to go by in this Caution. We muſt prove all things, 1 Theſſ. 5. 21. Try the Spirits, 1 John 4. 1. and here we have a Touchſtone to try by. Ye ſhall know them by their Fruits, v. 16. 20. Obſerve,

1. The Illuſtration of this Compariſon,of theFruits being theDiſcovery of the Tree. You cannot always diſtinguiſh them by their

Bark and Leaves, or by the Spreading of their Boughs, but by their Fruits ye ſhall know them. The Fruit is according to the Tree. Men may in their Profeſſions put a force upon their Nature, and contradict their inward Principles, but the Stream and Bent of their practices will agree with 'em. Chriſt inſiſts upon this, the Agreeableneſs between the Fruit and the Tree; which is ſuch, as that (1.) if you know what the Tree is, you may know what Fruit to expect. Never look to gather Grapes from Thorns, or Figs from Thiſtles; 'tis not in their Nature to produce ſuch Fruits. An Apple may be ſtuck, or a Bunch of Grapes hang upon a Thorn, ſo may a good Truth, a good Word or Action be found in an ill Man, but you may be ſure it never grew there. Note, 1. Corrupt, vicious, unſanctified Hearts, are like Thorns and Thiſtles, which came in with Sin, are worthleſs, vexing, and for the Fire at laſt. 2. Good Works are good Fruit, like Grapes and Figs, pleaſing to God and profitable to Men. 3. This good Fruit is never to be expected from Bad Men, no more than a clean thing out of an unclean. They want an influencing acceptable Principle; out of an evil Treaſure will be brought forth evil Things. 2. On the other hand, if you know what the Fruit is, you may by that perceive what the Tree is. A good Tree cannot bring forth evil Fruit, nay, it cannot but bring forth good Fruit; and a corrupt Tree cannot bring forth good Fruit; nay, it cannot but bring forth evil Fruit; but then that muſt be reckon'd the Fruit of the Tree, which it brings forth naturally, and which is its genuine Product, and which it brings forth plentifully and conſtantly, and is its uſual Product. Men are known not by particular Acts, but by the Courſe and Tenour of their Converſations, and by the more frequent Acts, eſpecially thoſe that appear to be free, and moſt their own, and leaſt under the influence of external Motives, and Inducements.

2. The Application of this to the falſe Prophets.

1. By Way of Terrour and Threatning, v. 19. Every Tree that brings not forth good Fruit is hewn down. This very ſaying John Baptiſt had us'd, ch. 3. 10. Chriſt could have ſpoken the ſame Senſe in other Words, could have alter'd it, or given it a new Turn, but he thought it no Diminution to him, to ſay the ſame that John had ſaid before him; let not Miniſters be ambitious of coining new Expreſſions, nor Peoples Ears itch for Novelties: To write and ſpeak the ſame Things muſt not be grievous, for it is ſafe. Here's (1.) The Deſcription of barren Trees. They are Trees that do not bring forth good Fruit. Though there be Fruit, if it be not good Fruit, tho' that be done, which for the Matter of it is good, if it be not done well, in a right Manner, and for a right End, the Tree is accounted barren. (2.) The Doom of barren Trees. They are, that is, certainly they ſhall be, hewn down, and caſt into the Fire. God will deal with them, as Men uſe to deal with dry Trees that cumber the Ground. He will mark them by ſome ſignal Tokens of his Diſpleaſure; he will bark them, by ſtripping them of their Parts and Gifts, will cut them down by Death, and caſt them into the Fire of Hell, a Fire blown with the Bellows of God's Wrath, and fed with the wood of barren Trees. Compare this with Ezek. 31. 12, 13. Dan. 4. 14. John 15. 6.

2. By Way of Tryal. By their Fruits ye ſhall know them.

1. By the Fruits of their Perſons; their Words and Actions, and the Courſe of their Converſation. If you would know whether they be right or no, obſerve how they live; their Works will teſtify for them or againſt them. The Scribes and Phariſees ſat in Moſes's Chair, and taught the Law, but they were proud and covetous, and falſe, and oppreſſive, and therefore Chriſt warn'd his Diſciples to beware of them, and of their Leaven, Mark 12. 38. If Men pretend to be Prophets, and are immoral, that diſproves their Pretenſions; thoſe are no true Friends to the Croſs of Chriſt, whatever they profeſs, whoſe God is their Belly, and who mind earthly things, Phil. 3. 18, 19. Thoſe are not taught, or ſent of the Holy God, whoſe Lives evidence that they are led by the unclean Spirit. God puts the Treaſure into earthen Veſſels, but not into ſuch ſtinking Veſſels. They may declare God's Statutes, but what have they to do to declare them?

2. By the Fruits of their Doctrine; Their Fruits as Prophets; Not that this is the only Way; but it is one Way of trying Doctrines, whether they be of God or no; What do they tend to? What Affections and Practices will they lead thoſe into that embrace them? If the Doctrine be of God, it will tend to promote ſerious Piety, Humility, Charity, Holineſs and Love, with other Chriſtian Graces; but if, on the Contrary, the Doctrines theſe Prophets preach have a manifeſt Tendency to make People proud, worldly and contentious, to make them looſe and careleſs in their Converſations, unjuſt or uncharitable, factious, or Diſturbers of the Publick Peace; if it indulge carnal Liberty, and take People off from governing themſelves and their Families, by the ſtrict Rules of the narrow Way, we may conclude, that this Perſwaſion cometh not of him that calleth us, Gal. 5. 8. This Wiſdom is not from above, Jam. 3. 15 Faith and a good Conſcience are held together, 1 Tim. 1. 19.—3. 9. Note, Doctrines of doubtful Diſputation muſt be tryed by Graces and Duties of confeſſed Certainty. Thoſe Opinions come not from God that lead to Sin. But if we cannot know them by their Fruits, we muſt have Recourſe to the great Touchſtone, to the Law, and to the Teſtimony. Do they ſpeak according to that Rule?

21 Not every one that ſaith unto me, Lord, Lord, ſhall enter into the kingdom of heaven: but he that doeth the will of my father which is in heaven. 22 Many will ſay to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not Propheſied in thy name? and in thy name have caſt out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? 23 And then will I profeſs unto them, I never knew you: depart from me ye that work iniquity. 24 Therefore whoſoever heareth theſe ſayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wiſe man, which built his houſe upon a rock: 25 And the rain deſcended and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that houſe, and it fell not, fo rit was founded upon a rock. 26 And every one that heareth theſe ſayings of mine, and doeth them not, ſhall be likened unto a fooliſh man which built his houſe upon the ſand: 27 And the rain deſcended and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that houſe, and it fell, and great was the fall of it. 28 And it came to paſs when Jeſus had ended theſe ſayings, the people were aſtoniſhed at his doctrine. 29 For he taught them as one having authority; and not as the ſcribes.

We have here the Concluſion of this long and excellent Sermon, the Scope of which is to ſhew the indiſpenſable Neceſſity of Obedience to the Commands of Chriſt; this is deſign'd to clench the Nail, that it might fix in a ſure place. He ſpeaks this to his Diſciples, that ſate at his Feet, wherever he preach'd, and followed him wherever he went: Had he ſought his own Praiſe among Men, he would have ſaid that was enough; but the Religion he came to eſtabliſh, is in Power, not in Word only, 1 Cor. 4. 20. and therefore ſomething more is Neceſſary.

Firſt, He ſhews by a plain Remonſtrance, that an outward Profeſſion of Religion, though making itſelf never ſo remarkable, will not bring us to Heaven, unleſs there be an agreeable Converſation, v. 21, 22, 23. All Judgment is committed to our Lord Jeſus, the Keys are put into his Hand, he has Power to preſcribe new Terms of Life and Death, and of judging Men according to them: Now this is a ſolemn Declaration purſuant to that Power. Obſerve here,

1. Chriſt's Law laid down, v. 21. Not every one that ſaith Lord, Lord, ſhall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. into the Kingdom of Grace and Glory. 'Tis an anſwer to that Queſtion, Pſal. 15. 1. Who ſhall ſojourn in thy Tabernacle? i. e. the Church Militant, and who ſhall dwell in thy holy Hill? i. e. the Church Triumphant. Chriſt here tells us in two things, (1.) That it will not ſuffice to ſay, Lord, Lord; in Word and Tongue to own Chriſt for our Maſter, and to make Addreſſes to him and Profeſſions of him accordingly; in Prayer to God, in Diſcourſe with Men, we muſt call Chriſt Lord, Lord, we ſay well, for ſo he is, John 13. 13. But can we imagine that this is enough to bring us to Heaven, that ſuch a Piece of Formality as this ſhould be ſo recompens'd? or that he who knows and requires the Heart, ſhould be ſo put off with Shews for Subſtance? Complements among Men are Pieces of Civility that are return'd with Complements, but they are never paid as real Services; and can they then be of any Account with Chriſt? There may be a ſeeming Importunity in Prayer, Lord, Lord, But if inward Impreſſions be not anſwerable to outward Expreſſions, we are but as a ſounding Braſs, and a tinkling Cymbal. This is not to take us off from ſaying, Lord, Lord, from Praying and being earneſt in Prayer, from Profeſſing Chirſt's Name, and being bold in Profeſſing it; but from reſting in theſe, in the Form of Godlineſs without the Power.

(2.) That it is neceſſary to our Happineſs that we do the Will of Chriſt, which is indeed the Will of his Father in Heaven. The Will of God as Chriſt's Father, is his Will in the Goſpel; for there he is made known, as the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and in him our Father: Now that is his Will, thit we believe in Chriſt, that we repent of Sin, that we live a holy Life, that we love one another: This is his Will, even our Sanctification. If we comply not with the Will of God, we mock Chriſt in calling him Lord, as they did who put on him a gorgeous Robe, and ſaid, Hail, King of the Jews. Saying and Doing are two Things often parted in the Converſation of Men: He that ſaid, I go, Sir, ſtirr'd never a ſtep, Mat. 21. 30. But theſe two Things God has joyn'd in his Command, and let no Man that puts them aſunder think to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

2. The Hypocrites Plea againſt the ſtrictneſs of this Law, offering other things in Lieu of Obedience, v. 22. The Plea is ſuppoſed to be in that Day; that great Day, when every Man ſhall appear in his own Colours, when the Secrets of all Herats ſhall be manifeſt, and among the reſt the ſecret Pretences with which ſinners now ſupport their vain Hopes. Chriſt knows the Strength of their Cauſe, and it is but Weakneſs. What they now harbour in their Boſoms they will then produce in Arreſt of Judgment, to ſtay the Doom, but it will be in vain. They put in their Plea with great Importunity, Lord, Lord, and with great Confidence, appealing to Chriſt concerning it: Lord, doſt not thou know? (1.) That we have propheſied in thy Name; yes, it may be ſo; Balaam and Caiphas were over-rul'd to propheſy, and Saul was againſt his Will among the Prophets; yet they did not ſave them. Theſe propheſy'd in his Name, but he did not ſend them; they only made uſe of his Name to ſerve a Turn. Note, A Man may be a Preacher, may have Gifts for the Miniſtry, and an external Call to it, and perhaps ſome Succeſs in it, and yet be a wicked Man; may help others to Heaven, and yet come ſhort himſelf. (2.) That in thy Name we have caſt out Devils. That may be too; Judas caſt out Devils, and yet a Son of Perdition. Origen ſaith, that in his Time ſo prevalent was the Name of Chriſt to caſt out Devils, that ſometimes it availed when nam'd by wicked Chriſtians. A Man might caſt Devils out of others, and yet have a Devil, nay, and be a Devil himſelf. (3.) That in thy Name we have done many wonderful works. There may be a Faith of Miracles, where there is no juſtifying Faith, none of that Faith which works by Love and Obedience. Gifts of Tongues and Healing would recommend Men to the World. But it is only real Holineſs and Sanctification that is accepted of God. Grace and Love is a more excellent Way, than removing Mountains, or ſpeaking with the Tongue of Men and Angels, 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2. Grace will bring a Man to Heaven without working Miracles, but working Miracles will never bring a Man to Heaven without Grace. Obſerve, That which their Heart was upon in doing theſe Works, and which they confided in, was the Wonderfulneſs of them: Simon Magus wonder'd at the Miracles, Acts 8. 13. and therefore would give any Money for Power to do the like. Obſerve, they had not many good Works to plead; they could not pretend to have done many gracious Works of Piety and Charity, one ſuch would have paſt better in their Account than many wonderful Works, which prevailed not at all while they perſiſted in Diſobedience. Miracles are now ceaſed, and with them this Plea; but do not carnal Hearts ſtill bolſter up themſelves in their groundleſs Hopes with the like vain Supports? They think they ſhall go to Heaven, becauſe they have been of good Repute among Profeſſors of Religion, have kept Faſts, and given Alms, and have been prefer'd in the Church, as if this would attone for their reigning Pride, Worldlineſs, and Senſuality, and Want of Love to God and Man. Bethel is their Confidence, Jer. 48. 13. They are haughty becauſe of the holy Mountain, Zeph. 3. 11. and boaſt that they are the Temple of the Lord, Jer. 7. 4. Let us take heed of reſting in external Privileges and Performances, leſt we deceive ourſelves, and periſh eternally, as Multitudes do, with a Lye in our Right Hand.

3. The Rejection of this Plea, as frivolous. The ſame that is the Law-maker, v. 21. is here the Judge according to that Law, v. 23. and he will over-rule the Plea, will over-rule it publickly, he will profeſs to them, with all poſſible Solemnity, as Sentence is paſs'd by the Judge, I never knew you, and therefore depart from me ye that work Iniquity. Obſerve, 1. Why, and upon what Ground, he rejects them and their Plea; becauſe they were Workers of Iniquity. Note, It is poſſible for Men to have a great Name for Piety, and yet to be workers of Iniquity, and thoſe that are ſo will receive the greater Damnation. Secret Haunts of Sin, kept up under the Cloke of a viſible Profeſſion, will be the ruin of Hypocrites. Living in known Sin nullifies Men's Pretenſions, be they never ſo ſpecious. 2. How 'tis expreſs'd. I never knew you, i. e. I never own'd you as my Servants, no, not when you propheſied in my Name; when you were in the Height of your Profeſſion, and were moſt cry'd up. This intimates that if he had ever known them, as the Lord knows them that are his, had ever own'd them and lov'd them as his, he would have known them, and own'd them, and lov'd them to the End. But he never did know them, for he always knew them to be Hypocrites, and rotten at Heart, as he did Judas; therefore, Depart from me. Hath Chriſt need of ſuch Gueſts? When he came in the Fleſh he call'd Sinners to him, Mat. 9. 13. But when he ſhall come again in Glory, he will drive Sinners from him. They that would not come to him to be ſav'd, muſt depart from him to be damn'd. To depart from Chriſt is the very Hell of Hell; 'tis the Foundation of all the Miſery of the Damn'd, to be cut off from all Hope of Benefit of Chriſt and his Mediation. Thoſe that go no further in Chriſt's Service than a bare Profeſſion, he doth not accept, nor will he own in the great Day. See from what a Height of Hope Men may fall into the Depth of Miſery, how they may go to Hell by the Gates of Heaven. This ſhould be an awakening Word to all Chriſtians. If a Preacher, one that caſt out Devils, and wrought Miracles, be diſowned of Chriſt, for working Iniquity, what will become of us if we be found ſuch? And if we be ſuch, we ſhall certainly be found ſuch. At God's Bar a Profeſſion of Religion will not bear out any Man in the Practice and Indulgence of Sin. Therefore let every one that names the Name of Chriſt depart from all Iniquity.

Secondly, He ſhews by a Parable, that Hearing theſe ſayings of Chriſt will not make us happy, if we do not make Conſcience of doing them; but if we hear them and do them, we are bleſſed in our Deed, v. 24.–27.

1. The Hearers of Chriſt's Word are here divided into two ſorts; ſome that hear, and do what they hear, others that hear, and do not do. Chriſt preach'd now to a mixt Multitude, and he thus ſeparates them one from the other, as he will at the great Day, when all Nations ſhall be gather'd before him. Chriſt is ſtill ſpeaking from Heaven by his Word and Spirit, ſpeaks by Miniſters, by Providences, and of thoſe that hear him there are two Sorts.

(1.) Some that hear his Sayings and do them; Bleſſed be God, that there are any ſuch, though comparatively few. To hear Chriſt is not barely to give him the Hearing, but to obey him. Note, It highly concerns us all to do what we hear of the Sayings of Chriſt. 'Tis a Mercy that we hear his Sayings. Bleſſed are thoſe Ears, Mat. 13. 16, 17. But if we practiſe not what we hear, we receive that Grace in vain. To do Chriſt's Sayings is conſciouſly to abſtain from the Sins that he forbids, and perform the Duties that he requires. Our Thoughts and Affections, our Words and Actions, the Temper of our Minds, and the Tenour of our Lives, muſt be conformable to the Goſpel of Chriſt, that's the doing he requires. All the Sayings of Chriſt, not only the Laws he hath enacted, but the Truths he hath revealed, muſt be done by us: They are a Light not only to our Eyes, but to our Feet; and are deſign'd not only to inform our Judgments, but to reform our Hearts and Lives: Nor do we indeed believe them, if we do not live up to them. Obſerve, It is not enough to hear Chriſt's Sayings and underſtand them, hear them and remember them, hear them and talk of them, repeat them, diſpute for them, but we muſt hear and do them. This do, and thou ſhalt live. Thoſe only that hear and do are bleſſed, Luke 11. 28. John 13. 17. and are a-kin to Chriſt, Mat. 12. 50.

(2.) There are others who hear Chriſt's Sayings, and do them not. Their Religion reſts in bare Hearing, and goes no further, like Children that have the Rickets, their Heads ſwell with empty Notions, and indigeſted Opinions, but their Joynts are weak, and they heavy and liſtleſs; they neither can ſtir, nor care to ſtir in any good Duty. They hear God's Words as if they deſire to know his Ways, like a People that did Righteouſneſs, but they will not do them, Ezek. 33. 30, 31. Iſa. 58. 2. Thus they deceive themſelves as Micah, who thought himſelf happy becauſe he had a Levite to be his Prieſt, though he had not the Lord to be his God. The Seed is ſown, but it never comes up; they ſee their Spots in the Glaſs of the Word, but Waſh them not off, Jam. 1. 22, 24. Thus they put a Cheat upon their own Souls; for it is certain if our Hearing be not the means of our Obedience, 'twill be the Aggravation of our Diſobedience. Thoſe who only hear Chriſt's Sayings and do them not, ſit down in the Mid-way to Heaven, and that will never bring them to their Journeys End; They are a-kin to Chriſt, only by the Half-blood, and our Law allows not ſuch to inherit.

2. Theſe two Sorts of Hearers are here repreſented in their true Characters, and the State of their Caſe, under the Compariſon of two Builders; One was wiſe, and built upon the Rock, and his Building ſtood in a Storm; the other fooliſh, and built upon the Sand, and his Building fell.

Now 1. The general Scope of this Parable teacheth us, that the only Way to make ſure Work for our Souls and Eternity, is to hear and do the Sayings of our Lord Jeſus; theſe Sayings of his in this Sermon upon the Mount, which is wholly practical; ſome of them ſeem hard Sayings to Fleſh and Blood, but they muſt be done; and thus we lay up a ſtore, a good Foundation for the time to come, 1 Tim. 6. 19. A good Bond, ſo ſome read it, a Bond of God's making, which ſecures Salvation upon Goſpel Terms, that's a good Bond, not one of our own deviſing, which brings Salvation to our own Fancies. Thoſe make ſure the good Part, who, like Mary, when they hear the Word of Chriſt, ſit at his Feet, in Subjection to it; Speak, Lord, for thy Servant hears.

2. The particular Parts of it teach us divers good Leſſons.

1. That we have every one of us a Houſe to Build, and that Houſe is our Hopes for Heaven. It ought to be our chief and conſtant Care to make our Calling and Election ſure, and ſo we make our Salvation ſure; to ſecure a Title to Heaven's Happineſs, and then to get the comfortable Evidence of it; to make it ſure, and ſure to ourſelves, that when we fail, we ſhall be received into Everlaſting Habitations. Many never mind this; 'tis the furtheſt thing in their Thoughts; they are building for this World, as if they were to be here always, but take no Care to build for another World. All that take upon them a Profeſſion of Religion profeſs to enquire, what they ſhould do to be ſav'd? How they may get to Heaven at laſt, and may have a well-grounded Hope of it in the mean time.

2. That there is a Rock provided for us to build this Houſe upon, and that Rock is Chriſt. He is laid for a Foundation, and other Foundation can no Man lay, Iſa. 28. 16. 2 Cor. 3. 11. He is our Hope, 1 Tim. 1, 1. Chriſt in us is ſo; we muſt ground our Hopes for Heaven upon the Fulneſs of Chriſt's Merit for the Pardon of Sin, the Power of his Spirit for the Sanctification of our Nature, and the Prevalency of his Interceſſion for the drawing out of all that good which he hath purchas'd for us. There is that in him, as he is made known and made over to us in the Goſpel, which is ſufficient to redreſs all our Grievances, and to anſwer all the Neceſſities of our Caſe, ſo that he is a Saviour to the uttermoſt. The Church is built upon this Rock, and ſo is every Believer. He is ſtrong and immoveable as a Rock; we may venture our All upon him, and ſhall not be made aſhamed of our Hope.

3. There is a Remnant, who by hearing and doing the Sayings of Chriſt, build their Hopes upon this Rock, and it is their Wiſdom. Chriſt is our only way to the Father, but the Obedience of Faith is our only Way to Chriſt; for to them that obey him, and to them only, he becomes the Author of eternal Salvation. Thoſe build upon Chriſt, who having ſincerely conſented to him as their Prince and Saviour, make it their conſtant Care to conform to all the Rules of his Holy Religion, and therein depend entirely upon him for Aſſiſtance from God, and Acceptance with him; and count every thing but Loſs and Dung, that they may win Chriſt, and be found in him. Building upon a Rock requires Care and Pains; thoſe that would make their Calling and Election ſure muſt give Diligence. Thoſe are wiſe Builders, that begin to build, ſo as they may be able to finiſh, Luke 14. 30. and therefore lay a firm Foundation.

4. There are many who profeſs they hope to go to Heaven, but deſpiſe this Rock, and build their Hopes upon the Sand, which is done without much Pains, but it is their Folly. Every thing beſides Chriſt is Sand. Some build their Hopes upon their worldly Proſperity, as if that were a ſure Token of God's Favour, Hoſ. 12. 8. Others upon their External Profeſſion of Religion, the Priviledges they enjoy, and the Performances they go through in that Profeſſion, and the Reputation they have got by it. They are called Chriſtians, were Baptiz'd, go to Church, hear Chriſt's Word, ſay their Prayers, and do no body any harm, and if they Periſh, God help a great many. This is the Light of their own Fire which they walk in; this is that which with a great deal of Aſſurance they venture upon; but its all Sand, too weak to bear ſuch a Fabrick as our Hopes for Heaven.

5. There is a Storm coming that will try what our hopes are bottom'd on, try every Man's Work, 1 Cor. 3. 13. will diſcover the Foundation, Hab. 3. 13. Rain, and Floods, and Wind, will beat upon the Houſe; the Tryal is ſometimes in this World, when Tribulation and Perſecution ariſe becauſe of the Word, then it will be ſeen who only heard the Word, and who heard and practis'd it; then when we have occaſion to uſe our Hopes, it will be try'd whether they were right and well grounded or no. However, when Death and Judgment come, then the Storm comes, and it will undoubtedly come, how calm ſoever things may be with us now. Then every thing elſe will fail us but theſe Hopes, and then, if ever, they will be turn'd into everlaſting Fruition.

6. Thoſe Hopes that are built upon Chriſt the Rock will ſtand, and will ſtand the Builder in ſtead when the Storm comes. They will be his Preſervation, both from Deſertion, and from prevailing Diſquiet. His Profeſſion will not wither, his Comforts will not fail, they will be his Strength and Song, as an Anchor of the Soul, ſure and ſtedfaſt. When he comes to the laſt Encounter, thoſe Hopes will take off the Terror of Death, and the Grave, will carry him chearfully through that dark valley, will be approved by the Judge, will ſtaud the Teſt of the Great Day, and will be crown'd with Endleſs Glory, 2 Cor. 1. 12. 2 Tim. 4. 7, 8. Bleſſed is that Servant, whom his Lord when he comes, finds ſo doing, ſo hoping.

7. Thoſe Hopes which fooliſh Builders ground upon any thing but Chriſt, will certainly fail them in a ſtormy Day, will yield them no true Comfort and Satisfaction in Trouble, in the Hour of Death, and in the Day of Judgment; will be no Fence againſt Temptations to Apoſtacy in a Time of Perſecution; when God takes away the Soul, where is the Hope of the Hypocrite? Job. 27. 8. 'Tis as the Spider's Web, and as the giving up of the Ghoſt. He ſhall lean upon his Houſe, but it ſhall not ſtand, Job. 8. 15. It fell in the Storm, when the Builder had moſt need of it, and expected it ſhould be a Shelter to him. It fell when it was too late to build another; when a wicked Man dies, his Expectation periſhes, then when he thought it ſhould have been turn'd into Fruition. It fell, and great was the Fall of it. 'Twas a great Diſappointment to the Builder, the Shame and Loſs was great; the higher Men's Hopes have been rais'd, the lower they fall. It is the ſoreſt Ruin of all that attends formal Profeſſors; witneſs Capernaum's Doom.

Laſtly, In the two laſt Verſes we are told what Impreſſions Chriſt's Diſcourſe made upon the Auditory. 'Twas an excellent Sermon, and 'tis probable he ſaid more than is here recorded, and doubtleſs the Delivery of it from the Mouth of him, into whoſe Lips Grace was pour'd, did mightily ſet it off. Now (1.) they were aſtoniſh'd at his Doctrine; 'tis to be fear'd few of them were brought by it to follow him, but for the preſent they were fill'd with Wonder. Note, It is poſſible for People to admire good Preaching, and yet to remain in Ignorance and Unbelief; to be aſtoniſh'd, and yet not Sanctified. (2.) The Reaſon was becauſe he taught them, as one having Authority, and not as the Scribes. The Scribes pretended to as much Authority as any Teachers whatſoever, and were ſupported by all the external Advantages that could be, but their Preaching was mean, and flat, and jejune; they ſpake as thoſe that were not themſelves Maſters of what they Preach'd; the Word did not come from them with any Life or Force, they deliver'd it as a School-boy ſaith his Leſſon, but Chriſt deliver'd his Diſcourſe as a Judge gives his Charge. He did indeed, dominari in concionibus; his Leſſons were Laws, his Word a Word of Command. Chriſt upon the Mountain ſhew'd more true Authority than the Scribes in Moſes's Seat. Thus when Chriſt teacheth by his Spirit in the Soul, he teacheth with Authority. He ſaith, Let there be Light, and there is Light.

CHAP. VIII.

The Evangeliſt had given this general Idea of the Converſation of our Lord Jeſus, after his entrance upon his publick Work, that he went about Preaching the Goſpel, and healing all manner of Sickneſs, Chap. 4. 23. And the Doctrine he preach'd was both confirm'd and recommended by the Cures he wrought: having therefore in the foregoing Chapters given us a Specimen of his Preaching, he comes now to give ſome Inſtances of the Miracles he wrought, which prove him a Teacher come from God, and the great Healer of a diſeaſed World. In this Chapter we have (1.) Chriſt's Cleanſing of a Leper, v. 1.—4. (2.) His Curing a Palſy and Fever, v. 5.—18. (3.) His Communing with two that had a mind to follow him, v. 19.—22. (4.) His Controuling of the Tempeſts, v. 37—27. (5.) His caſting out of Devils, v. 27.—34.

WHen he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. 2 And behold, there came a leper, and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canſt make me clean. 3 And Jeſus put forth his hand, and touched him, ſaying, I will, be thou clean. And immediately his leproſy was cleanſed. 4 And Jeſus ſaith unto him, See thou tell no man, but go thy way, ſhew thy ſelf to the Prieſt, and offer the gift that Moſes commanded, for a teſtimony unto them.

The firſt Verſe refers to the cloſe of his foregoing Sermon; the People that heard him were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine, and the Effects of that was, that when he came down from the Mountain great Multitudes followed him; tho' he was ſo ſtrict a Law-giver, and ſo faithful a Reprover, they diligently attended him, and were loth to diſperſe and go from him. Note, Thoſe to whom Chriſt has manifeſted himſelf, cannot but deſire to be better acquainted with him. They who know much of Chriſt ſhould covet to know more; and then ſhall we know, if we thus follow on to know the Lord. It's good to ſee People ſo well affected to Chriſt, as never to think they can hear enough of him; ſo well affected to the beſt things, as thus to flock after good Preaching, and to follow the Lamb whitherſoever he goes. Now was Jacob's Prophecy concerning the Meſſiah fulfill'd, that unto him ſhall the gathering of the People be; yet thoſe who gather'd to him did not cleave to him. They who follow'd him cloſely and conſtantly were but few, compar'd with the Multitudes that were but followers at large.

In theſe Verſes we have an Account of Chriſt's cleanſing a Leper. It ſhould ſeem by comparing Mark 1. 40. and Luke 5. 12. that this Paſſage, tho' plac'd by St. Matthew after the Sermon on the Mount, becauſe he would give an Account of his Doctrine firſt, and then of his Miracles, yet happen'd ſome time before; but that is not at all material. This is fitly recorded with the firſt of Chriſt's Miracles; (1.) becauſe the Leproſy was look'd upon among the Jews as a particular Mark of God's Diſpleaſure: Hence we find Miriam, Gehazi, and Uzziah ſmitten with Leproſy for ſome one particular Sin, and therefore Chriſt, to ſhew that he came to turn away the Wrath of God, by taking away Sin, began with the Cure of a Leper. (2.) Becauſe this Diſeaſe, as it was ſuppos'd to come immediately from the Hand of God, ſo alſo to be removed immediately by his Hand, and therefore 'twas not attempted to be cur'd by Phyſicians, but was put under the Inſpection of the Prieſts, the Lord's Miniſters, who waited to ſee what God would do. And its being in a Garment, or in the Walls of a Houſe, was altogether Supernatural; and it ſhould ſeem to be a Diſeaſe of a quite different Nature, from what we call now the Leproſy. The King of Iſrael ſaid, Am I a God, that I am ſent to recover a Man of his Leproſy? 2 Kings 5. 7. Chriſt prov'd himſelf God, by recovering many from the Leproſy, and authorizing his Diſciples in his Name to do ſo too, Chap. 10. 8. and 'tis put among the Proofs of his being the Meſſiah, Chap. 11. 5. he alſo ſhew'd himſelf to be the Saviour of his People from their Sins; for tho' every Diſeaſe is both the Fruit of Sin, and a Figure of it, as the Diſorder of the Soul, yet the Leproſy was in a ſpecial manner ſo; for it contracted ſuch a Pollution, and oblig'd to ſuch a ſeparation from holy Things, as no other Diſeaſe did; and therefore in the Laws concerning it, Lev. 13. and 14. 'tis treated not as a Sickneſs, but as an Uncleanneſs; the Prieſt was to pronounce the Party Clean or Unclean, according as the Indications were; but the Honour of making the Lepers clean was reſerv'd for Chriſt, who was to do it as the High-Prieſt of our Profeſſion; he comes to do that which the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. The Law diſcover'd Sin; for by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin; and pronounc'd Sinners unclean, it ſhut them up, (Gal. 3. 23.) as the Prieſt did the Leper, but could go no further; it could not make the comers thereunto perfect. But Chriſt takes away Sin, cleanſeth us from it, and ſo perfecteth for ever them that are Sanctified. Now here we have,

1. The Lepers Addreſs to Chriſt. If this happen'd, as 'tis here placed, after the Sermon on the Mount, we may ſuppoſe that the Leper, tho' ſhut out by his Diſeaſe from the Cities of Iſrael, yet got within hearing of Chriſt's Sermon, and was encouraged by it to make his Application to him; for he that taught, as one having Authority, could Heal ſo; and therefore he came and Worſhipped him, as one cloth'd with a divine Power. His Addreſs is, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canſt make me clean. The Cleanſing of him may be conſider'd

(1.) As a Temporal Mercy, a Mercy to the Body, delivering it from a Diſeaſe, which tho' it did not threaten Life, embitter'd it. And ſo it directs us, not only to apply ourſelves to Chriſt, who has Power over bodily Diſeaſes for the Cure of them, but in what manner to apply ourſelves to him; with an Aſſurance of his Power, he is as able to cure Diſeaſes now as he was when on Earth, but with a Submiſſion to his Will; Lord, if thou wi't, thon canſt. As to Temporal Mercies we cannot be ſo ſure of God's Will to beſtow them, as we may of his Power, for his Power in them is unlimited, but his Promiſe of them is limited as far as it is for his Glory, and our Good; but when we cannot be ſure of his Will, yet we may be ſure of his Wiſdom and Mercy, to which we may chearfully refer ourſelves; Thy

Will be done: And this makes the Expectation eaſy, and the Event, when it comes, comfortable.

(2.) As a Typical Mercy. Sin is the Leproſy of the Soul, it ſhuts us out from Communion with God; to which that we may be reſtor'd, 'tis neceſſary we be cleans'd from this Leproſy, and ought to be our great Concern. Now, obſerve, It is our Comfort when we apply our ſelves to Chriſt as the great Phyſician, that if he will, he can make us clean, and we ſhould with humble believing boldneſs go to him and tell him ſo. That is, (1.) we muſt reſt ourſelves upon his Power, be confident of this, that Chriſt can make us clean. No Guilt ſo great, but there is a Sufficiency in his Righteouſneſs to atone for it; no Corruption ſo ſtrong, but there is a Sufficiency in his Grace to ſubdue it. God would not appoint a Phyſician to his Hoſpital that is not par Negotio, every way qualified for the Undertaking. (2.) We muſt recommend our ſelves to his Pity, we cannot demand it as a Debt, but we humbly requeſt it as a Favour; Lord, if thou wilt. I throw myſelf at thy Feet, and if I periſh, I will periſh there,

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Addreſs, which was very kind, v. 3.

(1.) He put forth his Hand and touch'd him. The Leproſy was a noiſome loathſome Diſeaſe, yet Chriſt touch'd him; for he did not diſdain to Converſe with Publicans and Sinners to do them good. There was a Ceremonial Pollution contracted by the Touch of a Leper, but Chriſt would ſhew, that when he Convers'd with Sinners he was in no danger of being infected by them, for the Prince of this World had nothing in him. If we touch Pitch we are defiled; but Chriſt was ſeparate from Sinners, even when he liv'd among them.

(2.) He ſaid, I will, be thou clean. He did not ſay, as Eliſha to Naaman, Go, waſh in Jordan; did not put him upon a tedious, troubleſome, chargeable Courſe of Phyſick, but ſpake the Word, and heal'd him. (1.) Here's a Word of Kindneſs; I will. I am as willing to help thee, as thou art to be help'd. Note, Thoſe who by Faith apply themſelves to Chriſt for Mercy and Grace, may be ſure that he is willing, freely willing to give them the Mercy and Grace they come to him for. Chriſt is a Phyſician that doth not need to be ſought for, he is always in the way; doth not need to be urg'd, while we are yet ſpeaking he hears; doth not need to be Feed, he heals freely, not for Price or Reward. He has given all poſſible Demonſtration, that he is as willing as he is able to ſave Sinners. (2.) A Word of Power, Be thou clean. Both a Power of Authority, and a Power of Energy are exerted in this Word. Chriſt heals by a Word of Command to us; Be thou clean, i. e. be willing to be clean, and uſe the Means; cleanſe thyſelf from all Filthineſs, but there goes along with this Word of Command concerning us, a Word that doth the Work; I will that thou be clean. Such a word as this is neceſſary to the Cure, and effectual for it; and the Almighty Grace which ſpeaks it ſhall not be wanting to thoſe that truly deſire it.

3. The happy Change hereby wrought. Immediately his Leproſy was cleanſed. Nature works gradually, but the God of Nature works immediately; he ſpeaks, it is done; and yet works effectually; he commands, and it ſtands faſt. One of the firſt Miracles Moſes wrought, was curing himſelf of a Leproſy, Exod. 4. 7. for the Prieſts under the Law offer'd Sacrifice firſt for their own Sin; but one of Chriſt's firſt Miracles was curing another of a Leproſy, for he had no Sin of his own to atone for.

4. The After-directions Chriſt gave him. 'Tis fit that thoſe who are cur'd by Chriſt ſhould ever after be rul'd by him.

1. See thou tell no Man, i. e. tell no Man till thou haſt ſhew'd thy ſelf to the Prieſt, and he has pronounc'd thee clean; and ſo thou haſt a legal Proof, both that thou waſt before a Leper, and art now throughly cleans'd. Chriſt would have his Miracles to appear in their full Light and Evidence, and not to be publiſh'd till they could appear ſo. Note, Thoſe that Preach the Truths of Chriſt ſhould be able to prove them, to defend what they Preach, and convince Gainſayers. Tell no Man till thou haſt ſhewed thyſelf to the Prieſt, leſt if he hear who cur'd thee, he ſhould out of ſpite deny to give thee a Certificate of the Cure, and ſo continue thee under Confinement. Such were the Prieſts in Chriſt's Time, that thoſe who had any thing to do with them had need to be wiſe as Serpents.

2. Go, ſhew thyſelf to the Prieſt, according to the Law, Lev. 14. 2. Chriſt took care to have the Law obſerv'd, leſt he ſhould give Offence; and to ſhew that he will have Order kept up, and good Diſcipline and Reſpect paid to thoſe that are in Office. It may be of uſe to thoſe who are cleans'd of their ſpiritual Leproſy to have recourſe to Church Miniſters, and open their Caſe to them, that they may aſſiſt them in their Enquiries into their ſpiritual State, and adviſe and comfort them, and pray for them.

3. Offer the Gift that Moſes commanded, in Token of Thankfulneſs to God, and Recompence to the Prieſt for his Pains; and this for a Teſtimony unto them; either (1.) which Moſes commanded for a Teſtimony: The Ceremonial Laws were Teſtimonies of God's Authority over them, Care of them, and of that Grace which ſhould after be reveal'd. Or, (2.) do thou offer it for a Teſtimony, and let the Prieſt know who cleans'd thee, and how, and it ſhall be a Teſtimony that there is one among them who doth that which the High-Prieſt cannot do. Let it remain upon Record as a Witneſs of my Power, and a Teſtimony for me to them, if they will uſe it, and improve it, but againſt them, if they will not; for ſo Chriſt's Word and Works are Teſtimonies.

5 And when Jeſus was entred into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beſeeching him, 6 And ſaying, Lord, my ſervant lieth at home ſick of the palſy, grievouſly tormented. 7 And Jeſus ſaith unto him, I will come and heal him. 8 The centurion anſwered and ſaid, Lord, I am not worthy that thou ſhouldeſt come under my roof: but ſpeak the word only, and my ſervant ſhall be healed. 9 For I am a man under authority, having ſoldiers under me: and I ſay to this man, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my Servant, Do this, and he doeth it. 10 When Jeſus heard it, he marvelled, and ſaid to them that followed, Verily I ſay unto you, I have not found ſo great faith, no not in Iſrael. 11 And I ſay unto you, That many ſhall come from the eaſt and weſt, and ſhall ſit down with Abraham and Iſaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. 12 But the children of the kingdom ſhall be caſt out into outer darkneſs: there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth. 13 And Jeſus ſaid unto the centurion, Go thy way, and as thou haſt believed, ſo be it done unto thee. And his ſervant was healed in the ſelf ſame hour.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's curing the Centurion's Servant of a Palſy. This was done at Capernaum, where Chriſt now dwelt, Chap. 4. 13. Chriſt went about doing Good, and came home to do Good too; every Place he came to was the better for him. The Perſons Chriſt had now to do with were,

1. A Centurion, he was the Supplicant; a Gentile, a Roman, a Captain, an Officer of the Army; probably Commander in chief of that part of the Roman Army which was quarter'd at Capernaum, and kept Garriſon there. (1.) Tho' he was a Soldier, and a little Piety commonly goes a great way with Men of that Profeſſion, yet he was a Godly Man, he was eminently ſo. Note, God hath his Remnant among all Sorts of People. No Man's Calling or Place in the World will be an Excuſe for his Unbelief and Impiety; none ſhall ſay in the Great Day, I had been Religious if I had not been a Soldier: for ſuch there are among the Ranſomed of the Lord; and ſometimes where Grace conquers the Unlikely, it is more than a Conqueror; this Soldier that was good, was very good. (2.) Tho' he was a Roman Soldier, and his very Dwelling among the Jews was a Badge of their Subjection to the Roman Yoke, yet Chriſt who was King of the Jews favour'd him; and therein has taught us to do good to our Enemies, and not needleſly to intereſt ourſelves in National Enmities (3.) Tho' he was a Gentile, yet Chriſt countenanc'd him. 'Tis true he went not to any of the Gentile Towns, ('twas the Land of Canaan that was Immanuel's Land, Iſa. 8. 8.) yet he received Addreſſes from Gentiles; now good old Simeon's Word began to be fulfill'd, that he ſhould be a Light to lighten the Gentiles, as well as the Glory of his People Iſrael. Matthew in annexing this Cure to that of the Leper, who was a Jew, intimates this; the Leprous Jews Chriſt touch'd and cur'd, for he preach'd Perſonally to them; but the Paralytick Gentiles he cur'd at a diſtance; for to them he did not go in Perſon, but ſent his Word and heal'd them; yet in them he was more Magnified.

2. The Centurion's Servant, he was the Patient. In this alſo it appears that there is no Reſpect of Perſons with God, for in Chriſt Jeſus, as there is neither Circumciſion, nor Uncircumciſion, ſo there is neither Bond nor Free. He is as ready to heal the pooreſt Servant, as the richeſt Maſter; for himſelf took upon him the Form of a Servant, to ſhew his Regard to the Meaneſt.

Now in the Story of the Cure of this Servant, we may obſerve an Intercourſe or Interchanging of Graces, very remarkable between Chriſt and the Centurion. See here,

Firſt, The Grace of the Centurion working towards Chriſt. Can any good thing come out of a Roman Soldier? Any thing tolerable, much leſs any thing laudable? Come and ſee, and you will find abundance of Good coming out of this Centurion, that was Eminent and Exemplary. Obſerve,

1. His Affectionate Addreſs to Jeſus Chriſt, which ſpeaks

(1.) A Pious Regard to our Great Maſter, as one able and willing to ſuccour and relieve poor Petitioners. He came to him, beſeeching him, not as Naaman the Syrian, (a Centurion too) came to Eliſha, demanding a Cure, taking State, and ſtanding upon Points of Honour, but with Cap in Hand, as a humble Suiter. By this it appears that he ſaw more in Chriſt than what appear'd at firſt view; ſaw that which commanded Reſpect, tho' to thoſe that look'd no further, his Viſage was marred more than any Man's. The Officers of the Army being Comptrollers of the Town, no doubt, made a great Figure, yet he lays by the Thoughts of his Poſt of Honour, when he addreſſeth himſelf to Chriſt, and comes beſeeching him. Note, The greateſt of Men muſt turn Beggars when they have to do with Chriſt. He owns Chriſt's Soveraignity in calling him Lord, and referring the Caſe to him, and to his Will, and Wiſdom, by a modeſt Remonſtrance, without any formal and expreſs Petition. He knew he had to do with a wiſe and gracious Phyſician, to whom the opening of the Malady was equivalent to the moſt earneſt Requeſt. A humble Confeſſion of our Spiritual Wants and Diſeaſes ſhall not fail of an

Anſwer of Peace, Pour out thy Complaint, and Mercy ſhall be pour'd out.

(2.) A Charitable Regard to his poor Servant. We read of many that came to Chriſt for their Children, but this is the only Inſtance of one that came to him for a Servant, Lord, my Servant lies at home Sick. Note, It is the Duty of Maſters to concern themſelves for their Servants when they are in Affliction. The Palſie diſabled the Servant for his Work, and made him as troubleſome and tedious as any Diſtemper could, yet he did not turn him away when he was Sick, as that Amalakite did his Servant, 1 Sam. 30. 13. did not ſend him to his Friends, or let him lye by neglected, but ſought out the beſt Relief he could for him; the Servants could not have done more for the Maſter, than the Maſter did here for the Servant. The Centurion's Servants were very dutiful to him, v. 9. and here we ſee what made them ſo, he was very kind to them, and that made them the more chearfully obedient to him. As we muſt not deſpiſe the Cauſe of our Servants when they contend with us, Job 31. 13, 14, 15. So we muſt not deſpiſe their Caſe when God contends with them, for we are made of the ſame Mould, by the ſame Hand, and ſtand upon the ſame Level with them before God, and muſt not ſet them with the Dogs of our Flock. The Centurion ſeeks not to Witches and Wizzards for his Servant, but to Chriſt. The Palſie is a Diſeaſe, in which the Phyſicians Skill commonly fails; it was therefore a great Evidence of his Faith in the Power of Chriſt to come to him for a Cure, which was above the Power of natural Helps to effect. Obſerve how pathetically he repreſents his Servant's Caſe as very ſad; he is ſick of the Palſy, a Diſeaſe which commonly makes the Patient ſenceleſs of Pain, but this here was greivouſly tormented ; being yonng, Nature was ſtrong to ſtruggle with the ſtroke which made it painful. 'Twas not Paralyſis Simplex, but Scorbutica. We ſhould thus concern ourſelves for the Souls of our Children and Servants that are Spiritually Sick of the Palſy, the Dead-Palſy, the Dumb-Palſy, ſenceleſs of Spiritual Evils, unactive in that which is ſpiritually good, and bring them to Chriſt by Faith and Prayer, bring them to the Means of Healing and Health.

2. See here his great Humility and Self-abaſement. After Chriſt had intimated his Readineſs to come and heal his Servant, v. 7. he expreſs'd himſelf with the more humbleneſs of Mind. Note, Humble Souls are made more humble by Chriſt's gracious Condeſcenſions to them. Obſerve what was the Language of his Humility; Lord, I am not worthy that thou ſhould'ſt come under my roof, v. 8. which ſpeaks mean thoughts of himſelf, and high thoughts of our Lord Jeſus. He doth not ſay, my Servant is not worthy that thou ſhould'ſt come into his Chamber, becauſe its in the Garret; but I am not worthy that thou ſhould'ſt come into my Houſe. The Centurion was a great Man, yet own'd his Unworthineſs before God. Note, Humility very well becomes Perſons of Quality. Chriſt now made but a mean Figure in the World, yet the Centurion looking upon him as a Prophet, yea, more than a Prophet, paid him this Reſpect. Note, We ſhould have a Value and Veneration for what we ſee of God, even in thoſe who in outward Condition are everyway our inferiors. The Centurion came to Chriſt with a Petition, and therefore expreſſeth himſelf thus humbly. Note, In all our Approaches to Chriſt, and to God through Chriſt, it becomes us to abaſe ourſelves, and to lye low in the Senſe of our own Unworthineſs, as mean Creatures, and as vile Sinners, to do any thing for God, receive any Good from him, or to have any thing to do with him.

3. See here his great Faith. And the more Humility the more Faith; the more diffident we are of ourſelves, the ſtronger will be our Confidence in Jeſus Chriſt. He had an Aſſurance of Faith, not only that Chriſt could cure his Servant, but

1. That he could cure him at a diſtance: There needed not any Phyſical Contact, as in natural Operations, no Application to the part affected, no, not to the Blood or the Weapon, as is pretended in the ſympathetick Powder ; but the Cure he believes may be wrought without bringing the Phyſician and Patient together. We read afterwards of thoſe who brought the Man ſick of the Palſy to Chriſt, thro' much difficulty, and ſet him before him, and Chriſt commended their Faith for a working Faith; this Centurion did not bring his Man ſick of the Palſy, and Chriſt commended his Faith for a truſting Faith; true Faith is accepted of Chriſt, tho' variouſly appearing; Chriſt puts the beſt Conſtruction upon the different Methods of Religion that People take, and thereby has taught us to do ſo too. This Centurion believed, and it is undoubtedly true, that the Power of Chriſt knows no limits, and therefore near, or far off are alike to him. Diſtance of Place cannot obſtruct either the knowing or working of him that fills all Places. Am I a God at hand, ſaith the Lord, and not a God afar off, Jer. 23. 23.

2. That he could cure him with a Word, not ſend him a Medicine, much leſs a Charm, but ſpeak the Word only, and I do not queſtion but my Servant ſhall be healed. Herein he owns him to have a Divine Power, an Authority to command all the Creatures, and Powers of Nature, which enables him to do whatever he pleaſeth in the Kingdom of Nature, as at firſt he rais'd that Kingdom by an Almighty Word when he ſaid, Let there be Light. With Men, ſaying and doing are two things; but not ſo with Chriſt, who is therefore the Arm of the Lord, becauſe he is the Eternal Word. His ſaying, Be ye warmed, and filled, (Jam. 2. 16.) and healed, warms, and fills, and heals.

The Centurion's Faith in the Power of Chriſt he here illuſtrates by the Dominion he had as a Centurion over his Soldiers, as a Maſter over his Servants; he ſaith to one, Go, and he goes, &c. They were all at his Beck and Command, ſo far, that he could by them execute things at a diſtance; his Word was a Law to them; Dictum Factum well Diſciplin'd Soldiers know that the Commands of their Officers are not to be diſputed bnt obey'd; thus could Chriſt ſpeak, and it is done; ſuch a Power had he over all bodily Diſeaſes. The Centurion had this Command over his Soldiers, tho' he was himſelf a Man under Authority; not a Commander in Chief, but a Subaltern Office; much more had Chriſt this Power, who is the Supream and Sovereign Lord of all. The Centurion's Servants were very obſequious, would go and come at every the leaſt intimation of their Maſter's Mind: Now, (1.) ſuch Servants we all ſhould be to God; we muſt go and come at his Bidding, according to the Directions of his Word, and the Diſpoſals of his Providence, run where he ſends us, return when he remands us, and do what he appoints. What ſaith my Lord unto his Servant? when his Will croſſeth our own, then his muſt take place, and our own be ſet aſide. (2.) Such Servants Bodily Diſeaſes are to Chriſt, they ſeize us when he ſends them, they leave us when he calls them back; they have that effect upon us, upon our Bodies, upon our Souls that he orders. 'Tis Matter of Comfort to all that belong to Chriſt, for whoſe Good his Power is exerted and engag'd, that every Diſeaſe hath his Commiſſion, executes his Command, is under his Controul, and is made to ſerve the Intentions of his Grace. Thoſe need not fear Sickneſs, nor what it can do, who ſee it in the Hand of ſo good a Friend.

Secondly, Here's the Grace of Chriſt appearing towards this Centurion; for to the Gracious he will ſhew himſelf Gracious.

1. He complies with his Addreſs at the firſt Word. He did but tell him his Servant's Caſe, and was going on to beg a Cure, when Chriſt prevented him with this good Word, and comfortable Word, I will come and heal him, v. 7. Not, I will come and ſee him, that had ſpoken him a kind Saviour; but I will come and heal him, that ſpeaks him a mighty Saviour, Almighty; 'twas a great word, but no more than he could make good; for he has healing under his Wings; his coming is healing. Thoſe who wrought Miracles by a derived Power, did not ſpeak thus poſitively as Chriſt did, who wrought them by his own Power, as one that had Authority. When a Miniſter is ſent for to a ſick Friend, he can but ſay, I will come, and Pray for him; but Chriſt ſaith, I will come, and heal him; 'tis well that Chriſt can do more for us then our Miniſters can. The Centurion deſired he would heal his Servant; he ſaith, I will come and heal him; thus expreſſing more Favour than he did either aſk or think of. Note, Chriſt often out-does the Expectations of poor Supplicants. See an Inſtance of Chriſt's Hamility, that he would make a viſit to a poor Soldier. He would not go down to ſee a Nobleman's ſick Child, who inſiſted upon his coming down, John 4. 47, 48, 49. but proffers to go down to ſee a ſick Servant; thus doth he regard the low eſtate of his People, and give more abundant Honour to that part which lacked. Chriſt's Humility in being willing to come, gave an Example to him, and occaſion'd his Humility, in owning himſelf unworthy to have him come, Note, Chriſt's gracious Condeſcentions to us, ſhould make us the more Humble and Self-abaſing before him.

2. He commends his Faith, and takes occaſion from it to ſpeak a kind word of the poor Gentiles, v. 10, 11, 12. See what great things a ſtrong, but Self-denying Faith can obtain from Jeſus Chriſt, even of general and publick Concern

1. As to the Centurion himſelf; he not only approv'd him, and accepted him (that Honour have all true Believers) but he admir'd him, and applauded him: That Honour great Believers have, as Job, There's none like him in the Earth.

(1.) Chriſt admir'd him, not for his Greatneſs, but for his Graces, When Jeſus heard it, he marvelled: not as if it were to him new and ſurprizing, he knew the Centurion's Faith, for he wrought it; but it was great and excellent, rare and uncommon, and Chriſt ſpoke of it as wonderful, to teach us what to admire; not worldly Pomp and Bravery, but the Beauty of Holineſs, and the Ornaments which are in the ſight of God of great Price. Note, The Wonders of Grace ſhould effect us more than the Wonders of Nature and Providence, and Spiritual Attainments more than any Atchievements in this World. Of thoſe that are rich in Faith, not of thoſe that are rich in Gold and Silver, we ſhould ſay that they have gotten all this Glory, Gen. 31. 1. But whatever there is admirable in the Faith of any, it muſt redound to the Glory of Chriſt, who ſhall ſhortly be himſelf admir'd in all them that believe, as having done in, and for them Marvellous things.

(2.) He adplauded them in what he ſaid to them that follow'd. All Believers ſhall in the other World, but ſome Believers are in this World confeſs'd and acknowledg'd by Chriſt before Men, in his eminent Appearances for them, and with them. Verily I have not found ſo great Faith no, not in Iſrael. Now this ſpeaks (1.) Honour to the Centurion, who, tho' not a Son of Abraham's Loins, was an Heir of Abraham's Faith, and Chriſt found it ſo. Note, The thing that Chriſt ſeeks is Faith and wherever it is he finds it, though but as a grain of Muſtard-Seed. He had not found ſo great Faith, all things conſider'd and in proportion to the means; as the poor Widow is ſaid to caſt in more than they all, Luke 21. 3. Tho' the Centurion was a Gentile, yet he was thus Commended. Note, We muſt be ſo far from grudging, that we muſt be forward to give thoſe their due Praiſe that are not within our Denomination or Pale. (2.) It ſpeaks Shame to Iſrael, to whom pertained the Adoption, the Glory, the Covenants, and all the Aſſiſtances and Encouragements of Faith, Note, When the Son of Man comes he finds little Faith, and therefore he finds ſo little Fruit. Note, The Attainments of ſome that have had but little Helps for their Souls, will aggravate the Sin and Ruin of many that have had great plenty of the Means of Grace, and have not made a good Improvement of them. Chriſt ſaid this to thoſe that followed him, if by any means he might provoke them to a holy Emulation, (as Paul ſpeaks Rom. 11. 14.) They were Abraham's Seed, in jealouſy for that Honour, let them not ſuffer themſelves to be out-ſtrip'd, eſpecially in that Grace which Abraham was famous for, by a Gentile.

2. As to others; Chriſt takes occaſion from hence to make a compariſon between Jews and Gentiles, and tells them two things, which could not but be very ſurprizing to them, who had been taught, that Salvation was of the Jews.

1. That a great many of the Gentiles ſhould be ſaved, v. 11. The Faith of the Centurion was but a Specimen of the Converſion of the Gentiles, and a Preface to their Adoption into the Church. This was a String our Lord Jeſus oft harp'd upon, he ſpeaks it with aſſurance; I ſay unto you, I that know all Men; and he could not ſay anything more pleaſing to himſelf, or more diſpleaſing to the Jews; an Intimation of this kind enrag'd the Nazarenes againſt him, Luke 4. 27. Chriſt gives us here an Idea (1.) of the Perſons that ſhall be ſaved; many from the Eaſt and the Weſt. He had ſaid, Chap. 7. 14. Few there be that find the Way to Life, and yet here many ſhall come. Few at one Time, and in one Place, yet when they come altogether, they will be a great many. We now ſee but here and there one brought to Grace; but we ſhall ſhortly ſee the Captain of our Salvation bringing many Sons to Glory, Heb. 2. 10. He will come with ten Thouſand of his Saints, Jude 14. ſuch a Company as no Man can number, Rev. 7. 9. Nations of them that are ſaved, Rev. 21. 24. They ſhall come from the Eaſt, and from the Weſt, Places far diſtant from each other, yet they ſhall all meet at the right Hand of Chriſt, the Centre of their Unity. Note, God has his Remnant in all Places; from the riſing of the Sun, to the going down of the ſame, Mal. 1. 11. The Elect will be gathered from the four Winds, Mat. 24. 31. They are ſown in the Earth, ſome ſcatter'd in every corner of the Field. The Gentile World lay from Eaſt to Weſt, and they are eſpecially meant here; tho' they were ſtrangers to the Covenant of Promiſe now, and had been long, yet who knows what hidden ones God had among them then? as in Elijah's time in Iſrael, 1 Kings 19. 14. and ſoon after they flock'd into the Church in great Multitudes, Iſa. 60. 3, 4. Note, When we come to Heaven, as we ſhall miſs a great many thence that we thought had been going thither, ſo we ſhall meet a great many there that we did not expect to have met there. (2.) Chriſt gives us an Idea of the Salvation itſelf. They ſhall come, ſhall come together, ſhall come together to Chriſt, 2 Theſſ. 2. 1. (1.) They ſhall be admitted into the Kingdom of Grace on Earth, into the Covenant of Grace, made with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob; they ſhall be bleſſed with faithful Abraham, whoſe Bleſſing comes upon the Gentiles, Gal. 3. 14. This makes Zaccheus a Son of Abraham, Luke 19. 9. (2.) They ſhall be admitted into the Kingdom of Glory in Heaven. They ſhall come chearfully, flying as Doves to their Windows; they ſhall ſit down to reſt from their Labours, as having done their Day's Work; ſitting notes continuance, while we ſtand we are going, where we ſit we mean to ſtay; Heaven is a remaining Reſt, 'tis a continuing City; they ſhall ſit down, as upon a Throne, Rev. 3. 21. as at a Table, that's the Metaphor here; they ſhall ſit down to be feaſted; which notes both Fulneſs of Communication, and Freedom and Familiarity of Communion, Luke 22. 30. They ſhall ſit down with Abraham. Thoſe that in this World were never ſo far diſtant from each other in Time, Place, or outward Condition, ſhall all meet together in Heaven; Ancients and Moderns, Jew and Gentile, Rich and Poor. The Rich Man in Hell ſees Abraham, but Lazarus ſits down with him, leaning on his Breaſt. Note, holy Society is a part of Heaven's Felicity; and thoſe on whom the Ends of the World are come, and are moſt obſcure, ſhall ſhare in Glory with the renowned Patriarchs.

2. That a great many of the Jews ſhould periſh, v. 12. Obſerve,

1. A ſtrange Sentence paſt. The Children of the Kingdom ſhall be caſt out, i. e. The Jews that perſiſt in Unbelief, tho' they were by Birth Children of the Kingdom, yet ſhall be cut off from being Members of the viſible Church; the Kingdom of God, which they boaſted that they were the Children of, ſhall be taken from them, and they ſhall become not a People, nor obtaining Mercy, Rom. 11. 20.--9. 31. In the great Day it will not avail Men to have been Children of the Kingdom, either as Jews or as Chriſtians; for Men will then be judg'd not by what they were call'd, but by what they were. If Children indeed, then heirs, but many are Children in profeſſion in the Family, but not of it, that will come ſhort of the Inheritance. Being born of profeſſing Parents, denominates us Children of the Kingdom; but if we reſt in that, and have nothing elſe to ſhew for Heaven but that, we ſhall be caſt out.

2. A ſtrange Puniſhment for the workers of Iniquity deſcrib'd. They ſhall be caſt into outer Darkneſs, the Darkneſs of thoſe that are without, i. e. of the Gentiles, that were out of the Church, into that the Jews were caſt, and worſe, they were blinded and hardned, and fill'd with Terrors, as the Apoſtle ſhews, Rom. 11. 8, 9, 10. A People ſo unchurch'd, and given up to ſpiritual Judgments, are in utter Darkneſs already. But it looks further to the ſtate of damned Sinners in Hell, which the other is a diſmal Preface to. They ſhall be caſt out from God, and all true Comfort, and caſt into Darkneſs: in Hell there's Fire, but no Light; 'tis utter Darkneſs, Darkneſs in extremity, the higheſt degree of Darkneſs, without any remainder, or mixture, or hope of Light; not the leaſt gleam or glimpſe of it. 'Tis Darkneſs that reſults from their being ſhut out of Heaven, the Land of Light. They that are without are in the Regions of Darkneſs, yet that is not the worſt of it, there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth. (1.) In Hell there will be great Grief, Floods of Tears ſhed to no purpoſe, Anguiſh of Spirit preying eternally upon the Vitals in the Senſe of the Wrath of God, is the Torment of the Damned. (2.) Great Indignation. Damned Sinners will gnaſh their Teeth for Spite and Vexation, full of the Fury of the Lord, ſeeing with Envy the Happineſs of others, and reflecting with Horror upon the former poſſibility of their own being happy, which is now paſt.

3. He cures his Servant. He doth not only commend his Application to him, but grants him that which he apply'd himſelf to him for, which was a real Anſwer, v. 13. Obſerve,

(1.) What Chriſt ſaid to him. He ſaid that which made the Cure as great a Favour to him as it was to his Servant, and much greater, as thou haſt believed, ſo be it done to thee. The Servant got a Cure of his Diſeaſe, but the Maſter got the Confirmation and Approbation of his Faith. Note, Chriſt often gives encouraging Anſwers to his Praying People, when they are interceeding for others. 'Tis kindneſs to us to be heard for others; God return'd the Captivity of Job then when he Pray'd for his Friends, Job 42. 10. 'Twas a great Honour which Chriſt put upon this Centurion, when he gave him a Blank as it were; be it done as thou believeſt; what could ye have more? yet what was ſaid to him is ſaid to us all, Believe and ye ſhall receive, only believe. See here the Power of Chriſt, and the Power of Faith. As Chriſt can do what he will, ſo an Active Believer may have what he will from Chriſt. The Oil of Grace multiplies, and ſtays not till the Veſſels of Faith fail.

(2.) What was the effect of this ſaying. The Prayer of Faith was a prevailing Prayer, it ever was ſo, and ever will be ſo. It appears by the ſuddenneſs of the Cure that it was miraculous, and by its coincidence with Chriſt's ſaying that the Miracle was his; he ſpake, and it was done; and this was a Proof of his Omnipotence, that he has a long Arm. It is the Obſervation of a Learned Phyſician, that the Diſeaſes Chriſt cur'd, were moſtly ſuch as were the moſt difficult to be cur'd by any natural Means, and particularly the Palſie, Omnis Paraliſis præſertim vetuſta, aut incurabilis eſt, aut difficilis curatu, etiam Pueris: Atque ſoleo ego dicere, Morbos omnes qui Chriſto curandi fuerant propoſiti difficillimos ſua Natura curatu eſſe. Mercurialis de Morbis Puerorum, lib. 2. c. 5.

14 And when Jeſus was come into Peters houſe, he ſaw his wives mother laid, and ſick of a fever. 15 And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and ſhe aroſe and miniſtred unto them. 16 When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were poſſeſſed with devils: and he caſt out the ſpirits with his word, and healed all that were ſick: 17 That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by Eſaias the prophet, ſaying, Himſelf took our infirmities, and bear our ſickneſſes.

Thoſe that pretend to be critical in the Harmony of the Evangeliſts, place this Paſſage, and all that follows to the End of Chap. 9. before the Sermon on the Mount, according to the Order which Mark and Luke obſerve in placing it. Dr. Lightfoot placing only this Paſſage before the Sermon on the Mount, and v. 18, &c. after. Here we have,

Firſt, A particular Account of the Cure of Peter's Wife's Mother, that was ill of a Fever. In which obſerve,

1. The Caſe, which was nothing extraordinary; Fevers are the moſt common Diſtempers, but the Patient being a near Relation of Peter's, it is recorded as an Inſtance of Chriſt's peculiar Care of, and Kindneſs to the Families of his Diſciples. Here we find (1.) that Peter had a Wife, and yet was call'd to be an Apoſtle of Chriſt, and Chriſt countenanc'd the Marry'd State he was in, by being thus kind to his Wife's Relations. The Church of Rome therefore, which forbids Miniſters to marry, go contrary to that Apoſtle, from whom they pretend to derive an Infallibility. (2.) That Peter had a Houſe tho' Chriſt had not, v. 20. Thus was the Diſciple better provided for than his Lord. (3.) That he had a Houſe at Capernaum, tho' he was originally of Bethſaida; 'tis probable he remov'd to Capernaum when Chriſt removed thither, and made that his Principle Reſidence. Note, It's worth while to change our Quarters, that we may be near to Chriſt, and Opportunities of Converſe with him. When the Ark removes, Iſrael muſt remove and go after it. (4.) That he had his Wife's Mother with him in his Family, which is an Example to Yoke-fellows to be kind to one another's Relations, as their own. Probably, this good Woman was old, and yet was reſpected and taken care of, as old People ought to be, with all poſſible Tenderneſs. (5.) That ſhe lay ill of a Fever. Neither the Strength of Youth nor the Weakneſs and Coldneſs of Age will be a Fence againſt Diſeaſes of this kind. The Palſie was a Chronical Diſeaſe, the Fever an Acute Diſeaſe, but both brought to Chriſt.

2. The Cure, v. 15. (1.) How it was effected; he touched her Hand; not to know the Diſeaſe as the Phyſicians do, by the Pulſe, but to heal it. This was an Intimation of his Kindneſs and Tenderneſs, he is himſelf touched with the feeling of our Infirmities; it likewiſe ſhews the way of Spiritual Healing, by the exerting of the Power of Chriſt with his Word, and the Application of Chriſt to our ſelves. The Scripture ſpeaks the Word, the Spirit gives the Touch; touches the Heart, touches the Hand. (2.) How it was evidenced. This ſhew'd that the Fever left her, ſhe aroſe and Miniſter'd to them. By this it appears (1.) That the Mercy was perfected. Thoſe that recover from Fevers by the Power of Nature, are commonly weak and feeble, and unfit for Buſineſs a great while after; to ſhew therefore that this Cure was above the Power of Nature, ſhe was immediately ſo well as to go about the Buſineſs of the Houſe. (2.) That the Mercy was ſanctified, and the Mercies that are ſo, are indeed perfected. Tho' ſhe was thus dignified by a peculiar Favour, yet ſhe doth not take State, but is as ready to wait at Table, if occaſion be, as any Servant. Thoſe muſt be humble whom Chriſt has honour'd; being thus deliver'd, ſhe ſtudies what ſhe ſhall render. 'Tis very fit that thoſe whom Chriſt hath heal'd ſhould Miniſter unto him as his humble Servants all their Days.

Secondly, Here's a general Account of the many Cures that Chriſt wrought. This Cure of Peter's Mother in Law brought him abundance of Patients; he heal'd ſuch a one, why not me? Such a ones Friend, why not mine? Now here we are told,

1. What he did, v. 16. (1.) He caſt out Devils, caſt out the Evil Spirits with his Word. There may be much of Satan's Agency by the Divine Permiſſion, in thoſe Diſeaſes, of which natural Cauſes may be aſſign'd, as in Job's Boils, eſpecially in the Diſeaſes of the Mind; but about the Time of Chriſt's being in the World, there ſeems to have been a more than ordinary letting looſe of the Devil to poſſeſs and vex the Bodies of People; he came, having great wrath, for he knew that his Time was ſhort; and God wiſely order'd it ſo, that Chriſt might have the fairer and more frequent Opportunities of ſhewing his Power over Satan, and the Purpoſe and Deſign of his coming into the World, which was to diſarm and diſpoſſeſs Satan, to break his Power, and to deſtroy his Works; and his Succeſs was as glorious, as his Deſign was Gracious. (2.) He healed all that were ſick; all, without Exception, tho' the Patient was never ſo mean, and the Caſe never ſo bad.

2. How the Scripture was herein fulfill'd, v. 17. The Accompliſhment of the Old Teſtament Propheſies was the great thing Chriſt had in his Eye, and the great Proof of his being the Meſſiah; among other things it was written of him, Iſa. 53. 4. Surely he hath born our Griefs and carry'd our Sorrows. 'Tis refer'd to 1 Pet. 2. 24. and there 'tis conſtrued, he hath born our Sins: Here 'tis refer'd to, and is conſtrued, he hath born our Sickneſſes, our Sins make our Sickneſſes our Griefs; Chriſt bore away Sin by the Merit of his Death, and bore away Sickneſs by the Miracles of his Life; nay, tho' thoſe Miracles are ceas'd, we may ſay, That he bore our Sickneſſes, then when he bore our Sins in his own Body upon the Tree; for Sin is both the Cauſe, and the Sting of Sickneſs. Many are the Diſeaſes and Calamities which we are liable to in the Body, and there is more in this one Line of the Goſpels to ſupport and comfort us under them, than in all the Writings of the Philoſophers, that Jeſus Chriſt bore our Sickneſſes, and carry'd our Sorrows; he bore them before us, tho' he was never Sick, yet he was hungry, and thirſty, and weary, and troubled in Spirit, ſorrowful and very heavy; he bore them for us in his Paſſion, and bears them with us in his Compaſſion, being touched with the feeling of our Infirmities; and thus he bears them off from us, and makes them ſit light, if it be not our own fault. Obſerve how emphatically 'tis expreſs'd here, Himſelf took our Infirmities, and bare our Sickneſſes; he was both able and willing to interpoſe in that Matter, and concern'd to deal with our Infirmities and Sickneſſes, as our Phyſician; that part of the Calamity of the human Nature was his particular Care, which he evidenc'd by his great Readineſs to cure Diſeaſes; and he is not leſs powerful, or leſs tender now, for we are ſure never any were the worſe for going to Heaven.

18 Now when Jeſus ſaw great multitudes about him, he gave commandment to depart unto the other ſide.
19 And a certain ſcribe came, and ſaid unto him,
Maſter, I will follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.
20 And Jeſus ſaith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have neſts; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. 21 And another of his diſciples ſaid unto him, Lord, ſuffer me firſt to go and bury my father. 22 But Jeſus ſaid unto him, Follow me, and let the dead bury their dead.

Here's 1. Chriſt's removing to the other ſide of the Sea of Tiberias, and his ordering his Diſciples, whoſe Boats attended him to get their Tranſport Veſſels ready in order to it, v. 18. The Influences of this Sun of Righteouſneſs were not to be confin'd to one place, but diffus'd all the Country over; he muſt go about to do Good; the Neceſſities of Souls call'd to him, Come over and help us, Acts 16. 9. He removed when he ſaw great Multitudes about him. Tho' by this it appear'd, they were deſirous to have him there, he knew there were others as deſirous to have him with them, and they muſt have their ſhare of him. His being acceptable and uſeful in one place, was no objection againſt, but a Reaſon for his going to another. Thus he would try the Multitudes that were about him; whether their Zeal would carry them to follow him, and attend on him when his Preaching was remov'd to ſome diſtance. Many would be glad of ſuch Helps' if they could have them at next door, that will not be at the pains to follow them to the other ſide; and thus Chriſt ſhook off thoſe that were leſs Zealous, and the Perfect were made manifeſt.

2. Chriſt's Communication with two, who upon his remove to the other ſide were loth to ſtay behind, and had a Mind to follow him; not as others that were his followers at large, but to come into cloſe Diſcipleſhip; which the moſt were ſhy of; for it carry'd ſuch a Face of Srictneſs as they could not digeſt, or be well reconcil'd to; but here's an account of two that ſeem'd fond to come into Communion, and yet were not right; which is here given as a Specimen of the Hindrances by which many are kept from cloſing with Chriſt, and cleaving to him; and a warning to us to ſet out in following Chriſt, ſo as that we may not come ſhort; to lay ſuch a Foundation as that our Building may ſtand.

We have here Chriſt's managing of two different Tempers; one quick and eager, the other dull and heavy; and his Inſtructions are adapted to each of them, and deſign'd for our uſe.

1. Here's one that was too haſty in promiſing, and he was a certain Scribe, v. 19. A Scholar, a Learned Man, one of thoſe that ſtudy'd and expounded the Law; generally we find them in the Goſpels to be Men of no good Character, uſually coupled with the Phariſees, as Enemies to Chriſt and his Doctrine; where is the Scribe? 1 Cor. 1. 20. He is very ſeldom following Chriſt, yet here was one that bid pretty fair for Diſcipleſhip; a Saul among the Prophets.

Now obſerve (1.) how he expreſs'd his forwardneſs; Maſter I will follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt. I know not how any Man could have ſaid better. His Profeſſion of a Self-dedication to Chriſt is (1.) very ready, and ſeems to be ex mero Motu; he is not call'd to it by Chriſt, or urg'd by any of the Diſciples, but of his own accord proffers himſelf to be a cloſe follower of Chriſt, is not a preſs'd Man, but a Voluntier. (2.) Very reſolute; he ſeems to be at a point in this Matter, not I have a mind to follow thee, but I'm determin'd, I will do it. (3.) It was unlimited, and without reſerve; I'll follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt; not only to the other ſide of the Country, but if it were to the utmoſt Region of the World. Now we would think our ſelves ſure of ſuch a Man as this, and yet it appears by Chriſt's Anſwer, that his Reſolution was raſh, his Ends low and carnal; either he did not conſider at all, or not that which was to be conſider'd. He ſaw the Miracles Chriſt wrought, and hoped he would ſet up a Temporal Kingdom, and he would put in betimes for a ſhare in it. Note, There are many Reſolutions for Religion produc'd by ſome ſudden Pangs of Conviction, and taken up without due Conſideration, that prove abortive, and when they ſhould knit, fall and come to nothing. Soon ripe, ſoon rotten.

(2.) How Chriſt try'd his Forwardneſs, whether it were ſincere or no, v. 20. He let him know that this Son of Man, whom he is ſo eager to follow, has not where to lay his Head, v. 20. Now this Account of Chriſt's great Poverty,

1. Is ſtrange in it ſelf; that the Son of God when he came into the World, ſhould put himſelf into ſuch a very low Condition, as to want the convenience of a certain reſting place, which the meaneſt of the Creatures have. If he would take our Nature upon him, one would think he ſhould have taken it in its beſt Eſtate and Circumſtances; no, he takes it in its worſt. See here (1.) how well provided for the inferior Creatures are. The Foxes have holes; tho' they are not only not uſeful, but hurtful to Man, yet God provides Holes for them, in which they are Earth'd. Man Endeavours to deſtroy them, but thus they are ſhelter'd; their Holes are their Caſtles. The Birds of the Air, tho' they take no care for themſelves, yet are taken care of, and have Neſts, Pſal. 104. 17. Neſts in the Field, ſome of them Neſts in the Houſe, in God's Courts, Pſal. 84. 3. (2.) How poorly the Lord Jeſus was provided for. It may encourage us to truſt God for Neceſſaries that the Beaſts and Birds have ſuch good Proviſion, and may comfort us if we want Neceſſaries, that our Maſter did ſo before us. Note, Our Lord Jeſus, when he was here in the World, ſubmitted to the Diſgraces and Diſtreſſes of extreme Poverty; for our ſakes he became poor, very poor. He had not a Settlement, had not a place of Repoſe, not a Houſe of his own to put his Head in, not a Pillow of his own to lay his Head on. He and his Diſciples liv'd upon the Charity of well diſpoſed People, that Miniſter'd to him of their Subſtance, Luke 8. 2. Chriſt ſubmitted to this, not only that he might in all reſpects humble himſelf, and fulfil the Scriptnres, which ſpoke of him as Poor and Needy, but that he might ſhew us the Vanity of worldly Wealth, and teach us to look upon it with a holy Contempt, that he might purchaſe better things for us, and ſo make us rich, 2 Cor. 8. 9.

2. It comes in ſtrangely here. When a Scribe offer'd to follow Chriſt, one would think he ſhould have encourag'd him, Come, and I'll take care of thee; one Scribe might be capable of doing him more Credit and Service than twelve Fiſhermen; but Chriſt ſaw his Heart, and anſwer'd to the Thoughts of that, and therein teaches us all how to come to Chriſt. (1.) The Scribe's Reſolve ſeems to have been ſudden, and Chriſt would have us when we take upon us a Profeſſion of Religion, to ſit down and count the coſt, Luke 14. 28. to do it intelligently, and with Conſideration, and chuſe the Way of Godlineſs, not becauſe they know no other, but becauſe we know no better. 'Tis no advantage to Religion to take Men by ſurpriſe, e'er they are aware. They that take up a Profeſſion in a Pang, will throw it off again in a Fret; let him therefore take Time, and he will have done the ſooner; he that will follow Chriſt, let him know the worſt of it, and expect to lye hard, and fare hard. (2.) His Reſolve ſeems to have been from a worldly covetous Principle. He ſaw what abundance of Cures Chriſt wrought, and concluded he had large Fees, and would get an Eſtate quickly, and therefore he would follow him in hopes of growing Rich with him; but Chriſt rectifies his Miſtake, and tells him, he was ſo far from growing Rich, that he had not a place to lay his Head on; and if he follow him, he cannot expect to fare better than he far'd. Note, Chriſt will accept none for his Followers that aim at worldly Advantages in following him, or deſign to make any thing but Heaven of their Religion. We have Reaſon to think that this Scribe hereupon went away ſorrowful, being balk'd in a Bargain he thought would turn to account; he is not following Chriſt unleſs he can get by him.

2. Here's another that was too ſlow in performing. Delay in Execution is as bad on the one hand, as Precipitancy in Reſolution is on the other hand; when we have taken time to conſider, and then have determin'd, let it never be ſaid, we left that to be done to morrow, which we could do to day. This Candidate for the Miniſtry, this Propoſant was one of Chriſt's Diſciples already, v. 21. a follower of him, at large; Clemens Alexandrinus, tells us from an ancient Tradition, that this was Philip; he ſeems to be better qualified and diſpos'd than the former, becauſe not ſo confident and preſumptuous; a bold, eager, over-forward Temper is not the moſt promiſing in Religion; ſometimes the laſt are firſt, and the firſt laſt. Now obſerve here,

1. The Excuſe that this Diſciple made to ſhift off an immediate Attendance on Chriſt, v. 21. Lord, ſuffer me firſt to go and bury my Father. Before I come to be a cloſe and conſtant follower of thee, let me be allow'd to perform this laſt Office of Reſpect to my Father, and in the mean time, let it ſuffice to be a Hearer of thee now and then, when I can ſpare time. His Father (ſome think) was now ſick, or dying, or dead; others think he was only Aged, and not likely in a courſe of Nature to continue long; and he deſired leave to attend upon him in his Sickneſs, at his Death, and to his Grave, and then he will be at Chriſt's Service. This ſeem'd a reaſonable Requeſt, and yet it was not right. He had not the Zeal he ſhould have had for the Work, and therefore pleaded this becauſe it ſeem'd a plauſible Plea. Note, An unwilling Mind never wants an Excuſe. The meaning of non vacat, is non placet. He that ſaith he has no time, the truth is, he has no mind. We will ſuppoſe it to come from a true filial Affection and Reſpect to his Father, but ſtill the Preference ſhould have been given to Chriſt. Note, Many are hinder'd from, and in the way of ſerious Godlineſs, by an over Concern for their Families and Relations; theſe lawful things undoe us all, and our Duty to God is neglected and poſtpon'd, under colour of diſcharging our debts to the World; here therefore we have need to double our guard.

2. Chriſt's diſallowing of this Excuſe, v. 22. Jeſus ſaid to him, follow me; and, no doubt, Power went along with this Word to him, as to others, and he did follow Chriſt, and clave to him, as Ruth to Naomi, when the Scribe in the Verſes before, like Orpah, took leave of him; that ſaid, I will follow thee, to This Chriſt ſaid, Follow me; comparing them together, 'tis intimated, that we are brought to Chriſt by the Force of his Call to us, not of our Promiſes to him; 'tis not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth, but of God that ſhews Mercy, and calleth whom he will, Rom. 9. 16. And further, Note, Tho' choſen Veſſels may make Excuſes, and ſhift off their Compliance with divine Calls a great while, yet Chriſt will at length anſwer their Excuſes, conquer their Unwillingneſs, and bring them to his Foot; when Chriſt calls, he will overcome and make the Call effectual, 1 Sam. 3, 10. His Excuſe is laid aſide as inſufficient; Let the Dead bury their Dead, 'Tis a Proverbial Expreſſion, Let one dead Man bury another, I. e. rather let them lye unbury'd than that the Service of Chriſt ſhould be neglected. Let the Dead Spiritually bury the Dead Corporally; let Worldly Offices be left to Worldly People; do not thou encumber thyſelf with them. Burying the Dead is good Work, eſpecially a dead Father, but it is not thy Work at this time; it may be done as well by others that are not call'd, and qualified as thou art to be employ'd for Chriſt; thou haſt ſomething elſe to do, and muſt not defer that. Note, Piety to God muſt be prefer'd before Piety to Parents, tho' that is a great and needful part of our Religion. The Nazarites under the Law were not to mourn for their own Parents, becauſe they were holy to the Lord, Num. 6. 6, 7, 8. nor was the High-Prieſt to defile himſelf for the Dead, no, not for his own Father, Lev. 21. 11, 12. And Chriſt requires of thoſe who would follow him, that they hate Father and Mother, Luke 14. 26. i. e. love them leſs than God; we muſt comparatively neglect and diſeſteem our neareſt Relations when they come in competition with Chriſt, and either our doing for him, or our ſuffering for him.

23 And when he was entred into a ſhip his diſciples followed him. 24 And behold, there aroſe a great tempeſt in the ſea, inſomuch that the ſhip was covered with the waves: but he was aſleep. 25 And his diſciples came unto him, and awoke him, ſaying Lord, ſave us: we periſh. 26 And he ſaith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he aroſe and rebuked the winds and the ſea, and there was a great calm. 27 But, the men marvelled, ſaying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the ſea obey him!

Chriſt had given ſailing Orders to his Diſciples, v. 18. that they ſhould depart to the other ſide of the Sea of Tiberias into the Country of Gadara, in the Tribe of Gad, which lay Eaſt of Jordan; thither he would go to reſcue a poor Creature that was poſſeſs'd with a Legion of Devils, tho' he foreſaw how he ſhould be affronted there. Now (1.) he choſe to go by Water. It had not been much about if he had gone by Land, but he choſe to croſs the Lake, that he might have occaſion to manifeſt himſelf the God of the Sea, as well as of the dry Land, and that all Power is his both in Heaven and in Earth. And it is a Comfort to thoſe who go down to the Sea in Ships, and are oft in Perils there, that they have a Saviour to truſt to, and pray to, who knows what it is to be at Sea, and to be in Storms there. But obſerve, when he went to Sea he had no Yatch, or Pleaſure-boat to attend him, but made uſe of his Diſciples Fiſhing-boats; ſo poorly was he accommodated in all Reſpects. (2.) His Diſciples followed him, the Twelve kept cloſe to him, when others ſtaid behind upon the Terra firma, where there was ſure footing. Note, They, and they only will be found the true diſciples of Chriſt that are willing to go to Sea with him; to follow him into Dangers and Difficulties. Many would be content to go the Land-way to Heaven, that will rather ſtand ſtill, or go back, than venture upon a dangerous Sea; but thoſe that would reſt with Chriſt hereafter, muſt follow him now wherever he leads them into a Ship, or into a Priſon, as well as into a Palace. Now obſerve here

Firſt, The Peril and Perplexity of the Diſciples in this Voyage; and in this appear'd the Truth of what Chriſt had juſt now ſaid, that thoſe who follow him muſt count upon Difficulties, v. 20.

1. There aroſe a very great Storm, v. 24. Chriſt could have prevented this Storm, and have order'd them a pleaſant Paſſage, but that would not have been ſo much for his Glory, and the Confirmation of their Faith as their Deliverance was. This Storm was for their ſakes, as John 11. 4. One would have expected, that having Chriſt with them, they ſhould have had a very favourable Gale, but 'tis quite otherwiſe; for Chriſt would ſhew, that thoſe that are paſſing with him over the Ocean of this World, to the other ſide, muſt expect Storms by the way. The Church is toſſed with Tempeſts, Iſa. 54. 11. 'Tis only the upper Region that enjoys a perpetual Calm, this lower one is ever and anon diſturb'd, and diſturbing.

2. Jeſus Chriſt was aſleep in this Storm. We never read of Chrſt's Sleeping but at this time; he was in Watchings often, continued all Night in Prayer to God; this was a Sleep not of Security, like Jonah's in a Storm, but of Holy Serenity, and Dependance upon his Father. He ſlept to ſhew that he was really and truly Man, and ſubject to the ſinleſs Infirmities of our Nature; his Work made him weary and ſleepy, and he had no Guilt, no Fear within to diſturb his Repoſe: Thoſe that can lay their Heads upon the Pillow of a clear Conſcience, may ſleep quietly and ſweetly in a Storm, Pſal. 4. 8. as Peter, Acts 12. 6. He ſlept at this time to try the Faith of his Diſciples, whether they could truſt him when he ſeem'd to ſlight them. He ſlept, not ſo much with a deſire to be refreſh'd, as with a deſign to be awaked.

3. The poor Diſciples, tho' us'd to the Sea, were in a great Fright, and in their Fear came to their Maſter, v. 25. whither elſe ſhould they go? 'twas well they had him ſo near them, they awoke him with their Prayers; Lord, ſave us, we periſh. Note, Thoſe who would learn to Pray, muſt go to Sea. Imminent and ſenſible Dangers will drive People to him, who alone can help in time of need. Their Prayer has Life in it, Lord, ſave us, we periſh. (1.) Their Petition is, Lord, ſave us, They believed he could ſave them, they beg'd he would; Chriſt's Errand into the World was to ſave, but thoſe only ſhall be ſaved that call on the Name of the Lord, Acts 2. 21. Thoſe who by Faith are intereſted in the Eternal Salvation wrought out by Chriſt, may with an humble Confidence apply themſelves to him for Temporal Deliverances. Obſerve, they call him Lord, and then Pray, Save us. Note, Chriſt will ſave none but thoſe that are willing to take him for their Lord, for he is a Prince and a Saviour. (2.) Their Plea is, we periſh; which was (1.) the Language of their Fear; they look'd upon their Caſe as deſperate, and gave up all for gone, had receiv'd a Sentence of Death within themſelves, and this they plead; we periſh, if thou doſt not ſave us; look upon us therefore with Pity. (2.) 'Twas the Language of their Fervency; they Pray as Men in earneſt that beg for their Lives; it becomes us thus to ſtrive and wreſtle in Prayer, Therefore Chriſt ſlept that he might draw out this Inportunity.

Secondly, The Power and Grace of Jeſus Chriſt put forth for their Succour; then the Lord Jeſus awaked, as one refreſh'd, Pſal. 78. 65. Chriſt may ſleep when his Church is in a Storm, but he will not outſleep himſelf; the Time, the ſet Time to favour his diſtreſſed Church will come, Pſal. 102. 13.

1. He Rebuked the Diſciples, v. 26. Why are ye fearful, O ye of little Faith? He doth not chide them for diſturbing him with their Prayers, but for diſturbing themſelves with their Fears. Chriſt reprov'd them firſt, and then deliver'd them; this is his Method to prepare us for a Mercy, and then give it us. Obſerve (1.) his Diſlike of their Fears; Why are ye fearful? ye my Diſciples; let the Sinners in Zion be afraid, let Heathen Mariners tremble in a Storm, but you ſhall not be ſo. Enquire into the Reaſons of your Fear, and weigh them. (2.) His Diſcovery of the Cauſe and Spring of their Fears; O ye of little Faith. Many that have true Faith are weak in it, and it doth but little. Note, 1. Chriſt's Diſciples are apt to be diſquieted with Fears in a ſtormy Day, to torment themſelves with Jealouſies that things are bad with them, and diſmal Concluſions that they will be worſe. 2. The Prevalency of our inordinate Fears in a ſtormy Day, is owing to the Weakneſs of our Faith, which would be as an Anchor to the Soul, and would ply the Oar of Prayer. By Faith we might ſee thro' the Storm to the quiet Shore, and encourage our ſelves with hope that we ſhall weather our point. 3. The Fearfulneſs of Chriſt's Diſciples in a Storm, and their Unbelief the Cauſe of it, is very diſpleaſing to the Lord Jeſus, for it reflects a Diſhonour upon him, and creates Diſturbance to themſelves.

2. He rebukes the Wind, the former he did as the God of Grace, and the Sovereign of the Heart, that can do what he pleaſeth in us; This he did as the God of Nature, the Sovereign of the World, that can do what he pleaſeth for us. 'Tis the ſame Power that ſtills the Noiſe of the Sea, and the Tumult of Fear, Pſal. 65. 7. See (1.) How eaſily this was done; with a Word's ſpeaking. Moſes commanded the Waters with a Rod, Joſhua with the Ark of the Covenant, Eliſha with the Prophet's Mantle, but Chriſt with a Word. See his abſolute Dominion over all the Creatures, which ſpeaks both his Honour, and the Happineſs of thoſe that have him on their Side. (2.) How effectually it was done, there was a great Calm, all of a ſudden. Ordinarily after the Storm there is ſuch a Fret of the Waters, that 'tis a good while e'er they can ſettle, but if Chriſt ſpeak the Word, not only the Storm ceaſeth, but all the Effects of it, all the Remains of it. Great Storms of Doubt and Fear in the Soul under the Power of the Spirit of Bondage, ſometimes end in a wonderful Calm, created and ſpoken by the Spirit of Adoption.

3. This ſet them all on wondring, v. 27. The Men marvelled. They had been long acquainted with the Sea, and never ſaw a Storm ſo immediately turn'd into a perfect Calm in all their Lives. It had all the Marks and Signatures of a Miracle upon it; it is the Lord's Doing, and is marvellous in their Eyes. Obſerve, (1.) Their Admiration of Chriſt. What manner of Man is this! Note, Chriſt is a Nonſuch; every thing in him is admirable: None ſo wiſe, ſo mighty, ſo amiable as he. (2.) The Reaſon of it. Even the Wind and the Sea obey him. Upon this Account Chriſt is to be admir'd, that he has a commanding Power even over Winds and Seas. Others pretended to cure Diſeaſes, but he only undertook to command the Winds. We know not the Way of the Wind, Joh. 3. 8. much leſs can we controul it; but he that bringeth forth the Wind out of his Treaſury (Pſal. 135. 7.) when it is out gathers it into his Fiſts, Prov. 30. 4, He that can do this can do any thing, can do enough to encourage our Confidence and Comfort in him in the moſt ſtormy Day, within or without, Iſa. 26. 4. The Lord ſits upon the Floods, and is mightier than the Noiſe of many Waters. Chriſt by commanding the Seas ſhew'd himſelf to be the ſame that made the World, when at his Rebuke the Waters fled, Pſal. 104. 7, 8. as now at his Rebuke they fell.

28 And when he was come to the other ſide, into the country of the Gergeſens, there met him two poſſeſſed with devils, coming out of the Tombs, exceeding fierce, ſo that no man might paſs by that way 29 And behold they cried out, ſaying, What have we to do with thee, Jeſus, thou Son of God? art thou come hither to torment us before the time? 30 And there was a good way off from them a herd of many ſwine, feeding 31 So the devils beſought him, ſaying, If thou caſt us out, ſuffer us to go away into the herd of ſwine. 32 And he ſaid unto them, Go. And when they were come out, they went into the herd of ſwine: and behold, the whole herd of ſwine ran violently down a ſteep place into the Sea, and periſhed in the Waters. 33 And they that kept them, fled, and went their ways into the city, and told every thing, and what was befallen to the poſſeſſed of the devils. 34 And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jeſus; and when they ſaw him, they beſought him that he would depart out of their coaſts.

We have here the Story of Chriſt's caſting the Devils out of two Men that were poſſeſs'd. The Scope of this Chapter is to ſhew the Divine Power of Chriſt by the Inſtances of his Dominion over Bodily Diſeaſes, which to us are irreſiſtible; over Winds and Waves, which to us are yet more uncontroulable; and laſtly, over Devils which to us are moſt formidable of all. Chriſt has not only all Power in Heaven and Earth, and all deep places, but has the Keys of Hell too. Principalities and Powers were made ſubject to him, even while he was in his Eſtate of Humiliation, as an earneſt of what ſhould be at his Entrance into his Glory, Eph. 1. 21. He ſpoil'd them, Col. 2. 15. 'Twas obſerved in general, v. 16. that Chriſt caſt out the Spirits with his Word. Here we have a particular Inſtance of it, which had ſome Circumſtances more remarkable than the reſt. This Miracle was wrought in the Country of the Gergeſens, ſome think they were the Remains of the old Girgaſhites, Deut. 7. 1. Though Chriſt was ſent chiefly to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, yet ſome Sallies he made out among the Borderers, as here to gain this Victory over Satan, which was a Specimen of the Conqueſt of his Legions in the Gentile World.

Now, beſides the general Inſtance which this gives us of Chriſt's Power over Satan, and his deſign againſt him to diſarm and diſpoſſeſs him, we have here eſpecially diſcover'd to us, the Way and Manner of evil Spirits in their Enmity to Man. Obſerve, concerning this Legion of Devils, what work they made where they were, and where they went.

Firſt, what work they made where they were, which appears in the miſerable Condition of thoſe two that were poſſeſſed by them, and ſome think thoſe two were Man and Wife, becauſe the other Evangeliſts ſpeak but of one.

1. They dwelt among the Tombs; thence they came when they met Chriſt. The Devil having the Power of Death, not as Judge, but as Executioner, he delighted to converſe among the Trophies of his Victory, the dead bodies of Men; but there, where he thought himſelf in his greateſt Triumph and Elevation, as afterwards in Golgotha, the Place of a Skull, did Chriſt conquer and ſubdue him. Converſing among the Graves increaſed the Melancholy and Frenzy of the poor poſſeſſed Creatures, and ſo ſtrengthened the Hold he had of them by their bodily Diſtemper; and did alſo make them more formidable to other People, who generally ſtartled at any thing that ſtirs among the Tombs,

2. They were exceeding fierce, not only ungovernable themſelves, but miſchievous to others, frightning many, having hurt ſome, ſo that no man durſt paſs that Way. Note, The Devil bears Malice to Mankind, and ſhews it by making Men ſpiteful and malicious one to another. Mutual Enmities, where there ſhould be mutual Endearments and Aſſiſtances, are Effects and Evidences of Satan's Enmity to the whole Race. He makes one man a Wolf, a Bear, a Devil to another. Homo Homini Lupus. Where Satan rules in a Man ſpiritually, by thoſe Luſts that war in the Members, Pride, Envy, Malice, Revenge, they make him as unfit for Human Society, as unworthy of it, and as much an Enemy to the Comfort of it, as theſe poor poſſeſſed Creatures were.

3. They bid Defiance to Jeſus Chriſt, and diſclaim'd all intereſt in him, v. 29. It is an Inſtance of the Power of God over the Devils, that notwithſtanding the Miſchief they ſtudied to do by, and to theſe poor Creatures, yet they could not keep them from meeting Jeſus Chriſt, who order'd the Matter ſo as to meet them. 'Twas his overpowering Hand that drag'd theſe unclean Spirits into his Preſence, which they dreaded more than any thing elſe. His Chains could hold them, when the Chains Men made for them could not. But being brought before him, they proteſted againſt his Juriſdiction, and broke out into a Rage, What have we to do with thee, Jeſus, thou Son of God? Here's

(1.) One Word that the Devil ſaid like a Saint; he addreſſed himſelf to Chriſt as Jeſus the Son of God; a good Word, and at this time when it was a Truth but in the proving, it was a great Word too, what Fleſh and Blood did not reveal to Peter, Mat. 16. 16. Even the Devils knew, and believe, and confeſs Chriſt to be the Son of God, and yet they are Devils ſtill, which makes their Enmity to Chriſt ſo much the more wicked, and indeed a perfect Torment to themſelves, for how can it be otherwiſe, to oppoſe one they know to be the Son of God? Note, It is not Knowledge but Love that diſtinguiſheth Saints from Devils. He is the Firſt-born of Hell that knows Chriſt, and yet hates him, and will not be ſubject to him and his Law. We may remember that not long ſince the Devil made a Doubt, whether Chriſt was the Son of God, or no, and would have perſwaded him to queſtion it, chap. 4. 3. but now he readily owns it. Note, Tho' God's Children may be much diſquieted in an Hour of Temptation by Satan's queſtioning their Relation to God, as a Father, yet the Spirit of Adoption ſhall at length clear it up to them ſo much to their Satisfaction, as to ſet it even above the Devils Contradiction.

(2.) Two Words that he ſaid like a Devil, like himſelf.

1. A Word of Defiance. What have we to do with thee? Now (1.) It is true that the Devils have nothing to do with Chriſt as a Saviour, for he took not on him the Nature of the Angels that fell, nor did he lay hold on them, Heb. 2. 16. They are in no Relation to him, they neither have, nor hope for any Benefit by him. Oh! the Depth of this Myſtery of Divine Love, that fallen Man hath ſo much to do with Chriſt, when fallen Angels have nothing to do with him. Surely here was torment enough before the Time, to be forc'd to own the Excellency that is in Chriſt, and yet that he has no Intereſt in him. Note, It is poſſible for Men to call Jeſus the Son of God, and yet have nothing to do with him.

(2.) It is as true, that the Devils deſire not to have any thing to do with Chriſt as a Ruler; they hate him, they are fill'd with Enmity againſt him, they ſtand in Oppoſition to him, and are in open Rebellion againſt his Crown and Dignity. See whoſe Language they ſpeak that will have nothing to do with the Goſpel of Chriſt, with his Laws and Ordinances, that throw off his Yoke, that break his Bands in ſunder, and will not have him to reign over them; that ſay to the Almighty Jeſus, Depart from us. They are of their Father the Devil, they do his Luſts, and ſpeak his Language.

(3.) But it is not true, that the Devils have nothing to do with Chriſt as a Judge, for they have, and they know it. Theſe Devils could not ſay, What haſt thou to do with us? could not deny but that the Son of God is the Judge of Devils; to his Judgment they are bound over in Chains of Darkneſs, which they would fain ſhake off, and ſhake off the Thought of.

2. A Word of Dread and Deprecation. Art thou come hither to torment us? i. e. to caſt us out from theſe Men, and to reſtrain us from doing the Hurt we would do. Note, To be turn'd out and ty'd up from doing Miſchief, is a Torment to the Devil, all whoſe Comfort and Satisfaction is Man's Miſery and Deſtruction. Should not we then count it our Heaven to be well doing, and reckon that our Torment, whether within or without, that hinders us from Well-doing? Now muſt we be tormented by thee before the Time? Note, 1. There is a Time in which Devils will be more tormented than they are, and they know it. The Great Aſſize at the laſt Day is the Time prefix'd for their compleat Torture in that Tophet which is ordained of old, for the King, for the Prince of the Devils, and his Angels, Iſa. 30. 33. Mat. 25. 41. for the Judgment of that Day they are reſerv'd, 2 Pet. 2. 4. Thoſe malignant Spirits thar are now by the divine Permiſſion Priſoners at large, walking to and fro thro' the Earth, Job 1. 7. yet are in a Chain; hitherto ſhall their Power reach, and no further; they will then be made cloſe Priſoners, that have now ſome eaſe, will then be in Torment without Eaſe. This they here take for granted, and aſk not never to be tormented; Deſpair of Relief is the Miſery of their Caſe; but not before the Time, for tho' they know not when the Day of Judgment ſhould be, they knew it ſhould not be yet. 2. The Devils have a certain fearful looking for of that Judgment and fiery Indignation upon every Approach of Chriſt, and every Check that is given to their Power and Rage. The very Sight of Chriſt, and his Word of Command to come out of the Man, made them thus apprehenſive of their Torment. Thus the Devils believe and tremble, Jam. 2. 19. 'Tis their own Enmity to God and Man that puts them upon the Rack, and torments them before the Time. The moſt deſperate Sinners whoſe Damnation is ſeal'd, yet cannot quite harden their Hearts againſt the Surprize of Fearfulneſs when they ſee the Day approaching.

Secondly, Let us now ſee what work they made where they went, when they were turn'd out of the Men poſſeſſed; and that was in a Herd of Swine, which was a good way off, v. 30. Theſe Gergeſenes, tho' living on the other ſide Jordan, were Jews: What had they to do with Swine, which by the Law were unclean, and not to be eaten or touch'd? Probably lying in the out Skirts of the Land there were many Gentiles among them to whom this Herd of Swine belonged; Or they kept them to be ſold or barter'd to the Romans, with whom they had now great Dealings, and who were Admirers of Swines Fleſh.

Now obſerve 1. How the Devils ſeiz'd the Swine. Though they were a good way off, and one would think out of Danger, yet the Devils had an Eye upon them to do them a Miſchief. For they go up and down, ſeeking to devour, ſeeking an Opportunity, and they ſeek not long but they find. Nor here

1. They aſk'd Leave to enter into the Swine. v. 31. They beſought him with all Earneſtneſs, If thou caſt us out, ſuffer us to go away into the Herd of Swine. Hereby (1.) They diſcover their own Inclination to do Miſchief, and what a pleaſure it is to them, Thoſe therefore are their Children, and reſemble them, whoſe Sleep departeth from them, except they cauſe ſome to fall, Prov. 4. 16. Let us go into the Herd of Swine; any whither rather than into the Place of Torment, any whither to do Miſchief. If they might not be ſuffer'd to hurt Men in their Bodies, they would hurt them in their Goods, and in that too they intend hurt to their Souls, by making Chriſt a Burthen to them. Such malicious Reaches hath that old ſubtle Serpent. (2.) They own Chriſt's Power over them, that without his Sufference and Permiſſion they could not ſo much as hurt a Swine. This is comfortable to all the Lord's People, that tho' the Devil's Power is very great, yet it is limited, and not equal to his Malice, (what would become of us, if it were?) eſpecially that it is under the controul of our Lord Jeſus, our moſt faithful, powerful Friend and Saviour; that Satan and his Inſtruments can go no further then he is pleas'd to lengthen their Tedder; Here ſhall their proud Waves be ſtaid.

(2.) They had leave. Chriſt ſaid unto them, Go, v. 32. as God did to Satan, when he deſired leave to afflict Job. Note, God doth often for wiſe and holy Ends permit the Efforts of Satan's Rage, and ſuffer him to do the Miſchief he would, and even by it ſerve his own Pupoſes: The Devils are not only Chriſt's Captives, but his Vaſſals. His Dominion over them appears in the Harm they do, as well as in the Hindrance of them from doing more. Thus even their Wrath is made to praiſe Chriſt, and the Remainder of it he doth and will reſtrain. Chriſt permitted this, (1.) for the Conviction of the Sadducees, that were then among the Jews, who deny'd the Exiſtence of Spirits, and would not own there were ſuch Beings, becauſe they could nor ſee them: Now Chriſt would by this bring it as near as might be to an ocular Demonſtration of the Being, Multitude, Power, and Malice of Evil Spirits, that if they were not hereby convinc'd, they might be left inexcuſable in their Infidelity. We ſee not the Wind, but it would be abſurd to deny it, when we ſee Trees and Houſes blown down by it. (2.) For the Puniſhment of the Gadarenes, who perhaps though Jews, took a Liberty to eat Swines Fleſh, contrary to the Law; however their keeping Swine border'd upon evil. And Chriſt would alſo ſhew what a Helliſh Crew they were deliver'd from, and if he had permitted it, would ſoon have chok'd them as they did their Swine. The Devils in Obedience to Chriſt's Command came out of the Men, and having Permiſſion when they were come out immediately they went into the Herd of Swine. See what an Induſtrious Enemy Satan is, and how expeditious; he will loſe no Time in doing Miſchief.

2. Obſerve, whither they hurry'd them, when they had ſeiz'd them. They were not bid to ſave their Lives, and therefore they were made to run violently down a ſteep place into the Sea, where they all periſhed to the Number of about two thouſand, Mark 5. 13. Note, The Poſſeſſion which the Devil gets is for Deſtruction. Thus the Devil hurries People to Sin, hurries them to that which they have reſolved againſt, and which they know will be Shame and Grief to them, with what a Force doth the Evil Spirit work in the Children of Diſobedience, when by ſo many fooliſh and hurtful Luſts they are brought to act in direct Contradiction, not only to Religion, but to right Reaſon and their Intereſt in this World. Thus likewiſe he hurries them to Ruin, for he is Apollyon and Abaddon, the great Deſtroyer. By his Luſts which Men do they are drown'd in Deſtruction and Perdition. This is Satan's Will to ſwallow up, and to devour; miſerable then is the Condition of thoſe that are led captive by him at his Will. They are hurried into a worſe Lake than this, a Lake that burns with Fire and Brimſtone.

3. Obſerve, What effect this had upon the Owners. The Report of it was ſoon brought them by the Swine-herds, who ſeem'd to be more concern'd for the loſs of the Swine than any thing elſe, for they went not to tell what was befallen to the poſſeſſed of the Devils, till the Swine were loſt, v. 33. Chriſt went not into the City, but the News of his Being there did, by which he was willing to feel how their Pulſe beat, and what Influence it had upon them, and then act accordingly.

Now 1. Their Curioſity brought them out to ſee Jeſus. The whole City came out to meet him, that they might be able to ſay, they had ſeen a Man who did ſuch Wonderful Works. Thus many go out in Profeſſion to meet Chriſt, for Company, that have no real Affection for him, nor deſire to know him.

2. Their Covetouſneſs made them willing to be rid of him. Inſtead of inviting him into their City, or bringing their Sick to him to be heal'd, they deſire him to depart out of their Coaſts, as if they had taken the Devils Words out of their Mouths, what have we to do with thee, Jeſus, thou Son of God? And now the Devils had what they aimed at in drowning the Swine; they did it and then made the People believe Chriſt had done it, and ſo prejudic'd them againſt him. He ſeduc'd our firſt Parents by poſſeſſing them with hard Thoughts of God, and kept the Gadarenes from Chriſt by ſuggeſting that he came into their Country to deſtroy their Cattle, and that he would do more Hurt than Good; for though he had cur'd two Men, yet he had drown'd two Thouſand Swine. Thus the Devil ſows Tares in God's Field, doth Miſchief in the Chriſtian Church, and then lays the Blame upon Chriſtianity, and incenſeth Men againſt that. They beſought him that he would depart, leſt like Moſes in Egypt, he ſhould proceed to ſome other Plague. Note, There are a great many who prefer their Swine before their Saviour, and ſo come ſhort of Chriſt and Salvation by him. They deſire Chriſt to depart out of their Hearts, and will not ſuffer his Word to have a Place in them, becauſe he and his Word will be the Deſtruction of their brutiſh Luſts, thoſe Swine, which they give up themſelves to the feeding of. And juſtly will Chriſt forſake thoſe that thus are weary of him, and ſay to them hereafter. Depart ye Curſed, who now ſay to the Almighty, Depart from us.

CHAP. IX.

We have in this Chapter remarkable Inſtances of the Power and Pity of the Lord Jeſus, ſufficient to convince us, that he is both able to ſave to the uttermoſt all that come to God by him, and as willing as he is able. His Power and Pity appear here in the good Offices he did, (1.) To the Bodies of People, in curing the Palſy, v. 2.--8. Raiſing to Life the Ruler's Daughter, and healing the bloody Iſſue, v. 18.--26. Giving Sight to two blind Men, v. 27.--31. Caſting the Devil out of one poſſeſſed v. 32.--34. and healing all manner of Sickneſs, v. 35. (2.) To the Souls of People, in forgiving Sins, v. 2. Calling Matthew, and converſing freely with Publicans and Sinners, v. 9-13. Conſidering the Frame of his Diſciples, with reverence to the Duty of Faſting, v. 14.--17. Preaching the Goſpel, and in Compaſſion to the Multitude providing Preachers for them, v. 35.--38. Thus did he prove himſelf to be, as undoubtedly he is, the ſkilful faithful Phyſician both of Soul and Body, that hath ſufficient Remedies for all the Maladies of both; for which we muſt therefore apply our ſelves to him, and glorify him both with our Bodies, and with our Spirits, which are his, in Return to him for his Kindneſs to both.

AND he entred into a ſhip, and paſſed over, and came into his own city. 2 And behold, they brought to him a man ſick of the Palſy, lying on a bed: and Jeſus ſeeing their faith, ſaid unto the ſick of the palſy, Son, be of good chear thy ſins be forgiven thee. 3 And behold, certain of the ſcribes ſaid within themſelves, This man blaſphemeth. 4
And Jeſus knowing their thoughts, ſaid, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? 5 For whether is eaſier to ſay, Thy ſins be forgiven thee: or to ſay, Ariſe and walk? 6 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive ſins (then ſaith he to the ſick of the palſy) Ariſe, take up thy bed, and go unto thine houſe. 7 And he aroſe, and departed to his houſe. 8 But when the multitude ſaw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which hath given ſuch power unto Men.

The firſt Words of this Chapter oblige us to look back to the Cloſe of that foregoing, where we find the Gadarenes ſo reſenting the Loſs of their Swine, that they were ſick of Chriſt's Company, and beſought him to depart out of their Coaſts: Now here it follows, He enter'd into a Ship, and paſſed over. They bid him be gone, and he took them at their Word, and we never read that he came into their Coaſts again. Now here obſerve, (1.) His Juſtice that he left them. Note, Chriſt will not tarry long there where he is not welcome. In righteous Judgment he forſakes thoſe Places and Perſons that are weary of him, but abides with thoſe that covet and court his Stay. If the Unbeliever will depart from Chriſt let him depart, it is at his peril, 1 Cor. 7. 15. (2.) His Patience, that he did not leave ſome deſtroying Judgment behind him to puniſh them, as they deſerv'd for their Contempt and Contumacy. How eaſily, how juſtly might he have ſent them after their Swine, who were already ſo much under the Devil's Power. The Provocation indeed was very great, but he put it up, and paſs'd it by, and without any angry Reſentments or Upbraidings he enter'd into a Ship, and paſſed over. This was the Day of his Patience; he came not to deſtroy Mens Lives, but to ſave them; not to kill, but cure. Spiritual Judgments agree more with the Conſtitution of Goſpel Times; yet ſome obſerve, that in thoſe bloody Wars which the Romans made upon the Jews, which began not many Years after this, they firſt beſieged the Town of Gadara, where theſe Gadarens dwelt. Note, Thoſe that drive Chriſt from them, draw all Miſeries upon them. Wo unto us, if God depart from us.

He came into his own City, that was Capernaum, the principal Place of his Reſidence at preſent, Mark 2. 1. and therefore call'd his own City. He had himſelf teſtified, that a Prophet is leaſt honour'd in his own Country and City, yet thither he came; for he ſought not his own Honour, but being in a State of Humiliation, he was content to be deſpiſed of the People. At Capernaum all the Paſſages of Story recorded in this Chapter happened, and are therefore put together here, though in the Harmony of the Evangeliſts other Events interven'd. When the Gadarens deſired Chriſt to depart, they of Capernaum received him. If Chriſt be affronted by ſome, there are others in whom he will be glorious; if one will not, another will.

Now the firſt Paſſage of Story, after Chriſt's Return to Capernaum, is in theſe Verſes, concerning the Cure of the Man ſick of the Palſie. In which we may obſerve,

1. The Faith of his Friends in bringing him to Chriſt. His Diſtemper was ſuch that he could not come to Chriſt himſelf, but as he was carry'd. Note, Even the Halt and the Lame may be brought to Chriſt, and they ſhall not be rejected of him, if we do as well as we can, he will accept of us. Chriſt had an Eye to their Faith. Little Children cannot go to Chriſt themſelves, but he will have an Eye to the Faith of thoſe that bring them, and it ſhall not be in vain, Jeſus ſaw their Faith, his own as well as theirs that brought him; which Jeſus ſaw the Habit of, tho his Diſtemper perhaps impair'd his Intellectuals, and obſtructed the Actings of it. Now their Faith was (1.) A ſtrong Faith; they firmly believed, that Jeſus Chriſt both could and would heal him, elſe they would not have brought the Sick Man to him ſo publickly, and thro' ſo much Difficulty. (2.) A humble Faith; though the ſick Man was unable to ſtir a Step, they would not ask Chriſt to make him a Viſit, but bring him to attend on Chriſt. 'Tis fitter we ſhould wait on Chriſt than he on us. (3.) An active Faith; In the Belief of Chriſt's Power and Goodneſs, they brought the ſick Man to him lying on a Bed, which could not be done without a deal of Pains. Note, A ſtrong Faith ſticks at nothing in preſſing after Chriſt.

2. The Favour of Chriſt in what he ſaid to him. Son, be of good Chear, thy Sins be forgiven thee. This was a ſovereign Cordial to a ſick Man, and which was enough to make all his Bed in his Sickneſs; and to make it eaſy to him. We read not of any thing ſaid to Chriſt; probably, the poor ſick Man could not ſpeak for himſelf, and they that brought him choſe rather to ſpeak by Actions than Words; they ſet him before Chriſt, that was enough. Note, It is not in vain to preſent ourſelves and our Friends to Chriſt, as the Objects of his Pity. Miſery cries as well as Sin, and Mercy is no leſs quick of Hearing than Juſtice. Here is in what Chriſt ſaid, (1.) A kind Compellation, Son. Note, Exhortations and Conſolations to the Afflicted ſpeak to them as to Sons, for Afflictions are fatherly Diſcipline, Heb. 12. 5. (2.) A gracious Encouragement. Be of good Chear. have a good Heart on it; cheer up thy Spirits. Probably the poor Man, when let down among them all in his Bed, was daſh'd out of Countenance, was afraid of a Rebuke, for being brought in ſo rudely: But Chriſt doth not ſtand upon Ceremony, bids him be of good Cheer; all would be well, he ſhould not be laid before Chriſt in vain. Chriſt bids him be of good Chear, and then cures him. He would have thoſe to whom he deals his Gifts to be chearful in ſeeking to him, and in truſting in him; to be of good Courage. (3.) A good Reaſon for that Encouragement. Thy Sins be forgiven thee. Now this may be conſider'd, (1.) As an Introduction to the Cure of his bodily Diſtemper, Thy Sins are pardon'd, and therefore thou ſhalt be heal'd. Note, As Sin is the Cauſe of Sickneſs, ſo the Remiſſion of Sin is the Comfort of Recovery from Sickneſs; not but that Sin may be pardon'd, and yet the Sickneſs not remov'd; not but that the Sickneſs may be remov'd, and yet the Sin not pardon'd: But if we have the Comfort of our Reconciliation to God, with the Comfort of our Recovery from Sickneſs; this makes it a Mercy indeed to us, as to Hezekiah, Iſaiah 38. 17. Or, (2.) As a Reaſon of the Command to be of good Chear, whether he were cur'd of his Diſeaſe or no. Tho' I ſhould not heal thee, wilt thou ſay, thou has not ſought in vain, if I aſſure thee, that thy Sins are pardon'd; and look upon that as a ſufficient Ground of Comfort, though thou ſhouldſt continue ſick of the Palſie. Note, Thoſe who through Grace have ſome Evidence of the Forgiveneſs of their Sins, have Reaſon to be of good chear, whatever outward Trouble or Afflictions they are under; ſee Iſa. 33. 24.

3. The Cavil of the Scribes at that which Chriſt ſaid, v. 3. They ſaid within themſelves in their Hearts, among themſelves, in their ſecret Wiſperings, This Man blaſphemeth. See how the greateſt Inſtance of Heaven's Power and Grace is branded with the blackeſt Note of Hells Enmity; Chriſt's Pardoning Sin is termed Blaſphemy, nor had it been leſs, if he had not had Commiſſion from God for it. Thoſe therefore are guilty of Blaſphemy that have no ſuch Commiſſion, and yet pretend to pardon Sin.

4. The Conviction which Chriſt gave them of the Unreaſonableneſs of this Cavil, before he proceeded.

(1.) He charged them with it. Though they did but ſay it within themſelves, he knew their Thoughts. Note, Our Lord Jeſus has the perfect Knowledge of all that we ſay within ourſelves. Thoughts are ſecret and ſudden, yet naked and open before Chriſt the eternal Word, Heb. 4. 12, 13. and he underſtands them afar off, Pſalm 139. 2. He could ſay to them which no meer Man could, Wherefore think ye Evil in your Hearts. Note, There is a great deal of evil in ſinful Thoughts, which is very offenſive to the Lord Jeſus. He being the Sovereign of the Heart, ſinful Thoughts invade his Right, and diſturb his Poſſeſſion, therefore he takes Notice of them, and is much diſpleaſed with them. In them lies the Root of Bitterneſs, Gen. 6. 5. The Sins that begin and end in the Heart, and go no further, are as dangerous as any other.

(2.) He argued them out of it, v. 5, 6. Where obſerve,

1. How he aſſerts his Authority in the Kingdom of Grace. He undertakes to make out, that the Son of Man the Mediator has Power on Earth to forgive Sins; for therefore the Father has committed all Judgment to the Son, and has given him this Authority, becauſe he is the Son of Man, John 5. 22, 27. If he have Power to give eternal Life, as he certainly has, John 17. 2. he muſt have Power to forgive Sin, for Guilt is a Bar that muſt be removed, or we can never get to Heaven. What an Encouragement is this to poor Sinners to repent, that the Power of pardoning Sins is put into the Hands of the Son of Man, who is Bone of our Bone! And if he had this Power on Earth, much more now he is exalted to the Father's Right-Hand to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins, and ſo to be both a Prince and a Saviour, Acts 5. 31.

2. How he proves it by his Power in the Kingdom of Nature, his Power to cure Diſeaſes. Is it not as eaſy to ſay, Thy Sins be forgiven thee, as to ſay, Ariſe and walk? He that can cure the Diſeaſe, whether declaratively as a Prophet, or authoritatively as God, can in like manner forgive the Sin. Now (1.) This is a general Argument to prove that Chriſt had a Divine Miſſion. His Miracles, eſpecially his miraculous Cures, confirm what he ſaid of himſelf, that he was the Son of God; The Power that appear'd in his Cures prov'd him ſent of God, and the Pity that appear'd in them prov'd him ſent of God to heal and ſave. The God of Truth would not ſet his Seal to a Lye. (2.) It had a particular Cogency in this Caſe. The Palſy was but a Symptom of the Diſeaſe of Sin; now he made it to appear that he could effectually cure the Original Diſeaſe, by the immediate Removal of that Symptom; ſo cloſe a Connexion was there between the Sin and the Sickneſs. He that had Power to remove the Puniſhment, no doubt had Power to remit the Sin. The Scribes ſtood much upon a Legal Righteouſneſs, and placed their Confidence in that, and made no great Matter of the Forgiveneſs of Sin, the Doctrine of which Chriſt hereby deſign'd to put Honour upon, and to ſhew that his great Errand into the World, was to ſave his People from their Sins.

5. The immediate Cure of the Sick Man. Chriſt turn'd from diſputing with them, and ſpake Healing to him. The moſt neceſſary Arguing muſt not divert us from doing the Good that our Hand finds to do. He ſaith to the Sick of the Palſy, Ariſe, take up thy Bed, and go to thine Houſe; and a healing, quickning, ſtrengthning Power went along with this Word, v. 7. He aroſe and departed to his Houſe. Now (1.) Chriſt bid him take up his Bed, to ſhew that he was perfectly cur'd and that not only he had no more Occaſion to be carried upon his Bed, but that he had Strength to carry it. (2.) He ſent him to his Houſe, to be a Bleſſing to his Family, where he had been ſo long a Burthen; and did not take him along with him for a Shew, which thoſe would do in ſuch a Caſe, who ſeek the Honour that cometh from Men.

6. The Impreſſion which this made upon the Multitude, v. 8. They marvelled, and glorified God. Note, All our Wonder ſhould help to enlarge our Hearts in glorifying God. who alone doth marvellous Things. They glorified God for what he had done for this poor Man. Note, Others Mercies ſhould be our Praiſes, and we ſhould give him Thanks for them, for we are Members one of another. Tho' few of this Multitude were ſo convinc'd as to be brought to believe in Chriſt, and to follow him, yet they admir'd him, not as God, or the Son of God, but as a Man to whom God had given ſuch Power. Note, God muſt be glorified in all the Power that is given to Men to do good. For all power is originally his, its in him as the fountain, in men as the ciſterns.

9 And as Jeſus paſſed forth from thence, he ſaw a Man, named Matthew, ſitting at the receit of cuſtom: and he ſaith unto him, Follow me. And he aroſe and followed him. 10 And it came to paſs, as Jeſus ſate at meat in the houſe, behold, many publicans and ſinners came and ſate down with him and his diſciples. 11 And when the Phariſees ſaw it, they ſaid unto his diſciples, Why eateth your Maſter with publicans and ſinners? 12 But when Jeſus heard that, he ſaid unto them, They that be whole need not a phyſician, but they that are ſick. 13 But go ye, and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not ſacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but ſinners to repentance.

In theſe Verſes we have an account of the Grace and Favour of Chriſt to poor Publicans, particularly to Matthew. What he did to the Bodies of People was to make way for a kind deſign he had upon their Souls. Now obſerve here,

1. The call of Matthew, the Pen-man of this Goſpel. Mark and Luke call him Levi; 'twas ordinary for the ſame Perſon to have two Names; perhaps Matthew was the Name he was moſt known by as a Publican, and therefore in his Humility he call'd himſelf by that Name, rather than by the more honourable Name of Levi. Some think Chriſt gave him the Name of Matthew, when he call'd him to be an Apoſtle, as Simon, he Sirnamed Peter. Matthew ſignifies the Gift of God; Miniſters are God's Gifts to the Church, their Miniſtry, and their Ability for it are God's Gifts to them. Now obſerve

1. The Poſture that Chriſt's Call found Matthew in. He was ſitting in the Receit of Cuſtom, for he was a Publican, Luke 5. 27. He was a Cuſtom-houſe Officer at the Port of Capernaum, or an Exciſe-Man, or Collector of the Land-Tax. Now (1.) He was in his Calling, as the reſt of them whom Chriſt call'd, Chap. 4. 18. Note, As Satan chuſeth to come with his Temptations to thoſe that are idle, ſo Chriſt chuſeth to come with his Calls to thoſe that are employ'd. But (2.) it was a Calling of ill Fame among ſerious People; becauſe it was attended with ſo much Corruption and Temptation, and there were ſo few in that Buſineſs that were honeſt Men. Matthew doth himſelf own that he was before his Converſion, as doth St. Paul, 1 Tim. 1. 13. That the Grace of Chriſt in calling him might be the more magnified, and to ſhew that God hath his Remnant among all ſorts of People. None can juſtifie themſelves in their Unbelief by their Calling in the World; for there is no ſinful Calling but ſome have been ſaved out of it, and no lawful Calling but ſome have been ſaved in it.

2. The preventing Power of this Call. We find not that Matthew look'd after Chriſt, or had any Inclination to follow him, tho' ſome of his Kindred were already Diſciples of Chriſt, but Chriſt prevented him with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs. He is found of thoſe that ſeek him not. Chriſt ſpoke firſt; we have not choſen him, but he hath choſen us. He ſaid, Follow me; and the ſame divine Almighty Power went along with this Word to convert Matthew, which went along with that Word, v. 6. Ariſe, and walk to cure the Man ſick of the Palſie. Note, A ſaving Change is wrought in the Soul by Chriſt as the Author, and his Word as the Means. His Goſpel is the Power of God unto Salvation, Rom. 1. 16. The Call was effectual, for he came at the Call; he aroſe and follow'd him immediately: neither deny'd nor defer'd his Obedience. The Power of divine Grace ſoon anſwers and overcomes all Objections. Neither his Commiſſion for his Place, nor his Gains by it could detain him when Chriſt call'd him. He conferred not with Fleſh and Blood, Gal. 1. 15, 16. He quitted his Poſt, and his Hopes of Preferment in that way; and tho' we find the Diſciples that were Fiſhers occaſionally, fiſhing again afterward, we never find Matthew at the Receit of Cuſtom again.

2. Chriſt's Converſe with Publicans and Sinners upon this Occaſion; Chriſt call'd Matthew to introduce himſelf into an Acquaintance with People of that Profeſſion. Jeſus ſate at Meat in the Houſe, v. 10. The other Evangeliſts tells us, That Matthew made a great Feaſt, (which the poor Fiſhermen, when they were call'd, were not able to do.) But when he comes to ſpeak of this himſelf, he neither tells us that it was his own Houſe, nor that it was a Feaſt, but only that he ſate at Meat in the Houſe; preſerving the remembrance of Chriſt's Favour to the Publicans, rather than of the Reſpect he had paid to Chriſt. Note, It well becomes us to ſpeak ſparingly of our own good Deeds.

Now obſerve (1.) when Matthew invited Chriſt, he invited his Diſciples to come along with him. Note, Thoſe that wlecome Chriſt muſt welcome all that are his for his ſake, and let them have a Room in their Hearts. (2.) He invited many Publicans and Sinners to meet him. This was the chief thing Matthew aim'd at in this Treat, that he might have an opportunity of bringing his old Comrades acquainted with Chriſt. He knew by experience what their Temptations were, and pity'd them; knew by experience what the Grace of Chriſt could do, and would not deſpair concerning them. Note, Thoſe who are effectually brought to Chriſt themſelves, cannot but be deſirous that others alſo might be brought to him, and ambitious of contributing ſomething towards it. True Grace will not contentedly eat its morſels alone, but will invite others. When by the Converſion of Matthew the Gang was broke, preſently his Houſe ſwarms with Publicans, and it ſhall go hard but ſome of them ſhall follow him, as he followed Chriſt. Thus did Andrew and Philip, Joh. 1. 41, 45.—4 29. See Judg. 14. 9.

3. The Diſpleaſure of the Phariſees at this, v. 11. They cavil'd at it; Why eateth your Maſter with Publicans and Sinners? Here obſerve, (1.) That Chriſt was quarrel'd with. It was not the leaſt of his Sufferings that he endur'd the Contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf. None was more quarrel'd with by Men than he that came to take up the great Quarrel between God and Man. Thus he deny'd himſelf the Honour due to an incarnate Deity, which was to be juſtified in what he ſpake, and to have all he ſaid readily ſubſcrib'd to; for tho' he never ſpoke or did any thing amiſs, every thing he ſaid and did was found fault with. Thus he taught us to expect and prepare for Reproach, and bear it patiently. (2.) Thoſe that quarrel'd with him were the Phariſees; a proud Generation of Men, conceited of themſelves, and cenſorious of others; of the ſame Temper with thoſe in the Prophets Time, that ſaid, ſtand by thy ſelf, come not near me, I am holier than thou; very ſtrict in avoiding Sinners, but not in avoiding Sin; none greater Zealots than they for the Form of Godlineſs, nor greater Enemies to the Power of it. They were for keeping up the Traditions of the Elders to a nicety, and ſo propagating the ſame Spirit that they were themſelves govern'd by. (3) They brought their Cavil, not to Chriſt himſelf, they had not the Courage to face him with it, but to his Diſciples. The Diſciples were in the ſame Company, but the Quarrel is with the Maſter; for they would not have done it, if he had not; and they thought it worſe in him, that was a Prophet, than in them; his Dignity they thought ſhould ſet him at a greater diſtance from ſuch Company than others. Being offended at the Maſter, they quarrel with the Diſciples. Note, It concerns Chriſtians to be able to vindicate and juſtify Chriſt, and his Doctrines and Laws, and to be ready always to give an Anſwer to thoſe that aſk them a Reaſon of the Hope that is in them, 1 Pet. 3. 15. While he is an Advocate for us in Heaven, let us be Advocates for him on Earth, and make his Reproach our own. (4.) The Quarrel was his eating with Publicans and Sinners; to be intimate with wicked People is againſt the Law of God, Pſal. 119. 115.— 1. 1. and perhaps by accuſing Chriſt of this to his Diſciples, they hoped to tempt them from him, to put them out of conceit with him, and ſo to bring them over to themſelves to be their Diſciples, who kept better Company; for they compaſs'd Sea and Land to make Proſelytes. To be intimate with Publicans, was againſt the Tradition of the Elders, and therefore they look'd upon it as a heinous thing. They were angry with Chriſt for this. (1.) becauſe they wiſh'd Ill to him, and ſought occaſion to miſ-repreſent him. Note, It is an eaſy and very common thing to put the worſt Conſtructions on the beſt Words and Actions. (2.) Becauſe they wiſh'd no Good to Publicans and Sinners, but envy'd Chriſt's Favour to them, and were grieved to ſee them brought to Repentance. Note, It may juſtly be ſuſpected that thoſe have not the Grace of God themſelves, who grudge others a ſhare in that Grace, who are not pleas'd with it.

4. The Defence that Chriſt made for himſelf and his Diſciples, in juſtification of their Converſe with Publicans and Sinners. The Diſciples it ſhould ſeem being yet weak, were to ſeek for an Anſwer to the Phariſees Cavil, and therefore bring it to Chriſt, and he heard it, v. 12. or perhaps over-heard them whiſpering it to his Diſciples; let him alone to vindicate himſelf, and to Plead his own Cauſe; to anſwer for himſelf, and for us too. Two things he urges in his Defence.

(1.) The Neceſſity and Exigence of the Publican's Caſe, which call'd aloud for his Help, and therefore juſtify'd him in converſing with them for their Help. It was the extream Neceſſity of poor loſt Sinners that brought Chriſt from the pure Regions above to theſe impure ones, and the ſame was it that brought him into this Company which was thought impure. Now 1. he proves the Neceſſity of the Publican's Caſe. They that be whole need not a Phyſician, but they that are ſick. The Publicans are ſick, and they need one to help and heal them, which the Phariſees think they do not. Note, Sin is the Sickneſs of the Soul; Sinners are ſpiritually Sick. Original Corruptions are the Diſeaſes of the Soul; actual Tranſgreſſions are its Wounds, or the Eruptions of the Diſeaſe. 'Tis deforming, weakning, diſquieting, waſting, killing, but, bleſſed be God, not incurable. (2.) Jeſus Chriſt is the great Phyſician of Souls. His curing of bodily Diſeaſes ſignified this, that he aroſe with healing under his Wings. He is a skilful, faithful, compaſſionate Phyſician, and it is his Office and Buſineſs to heal the Sick. Wiſe and good Men ſhould be as Phyſicians to all about them, Chriſt was ſo. Hunc affectum verſus omnes habet Sapiens, quem verſus ægros ſuos Medicus. Senec. de. Conſt. (3.) Sin-ſick Souls have need of this Phyſician, for their Diſeaſe is dangerous, Nature will not help it ſelf, no Man can help us; ſuch need have we of Chriſt, that we are undone, eternally undone without him. Senſible Sinners ſee their Need, and apply themſelves to him accordingly. (4.) There are multitudes who conceit themſelves to be ſound and whole, think they have no need of Chriſt, but that they can ſhift for themſelves well enough without him, as Laodicea, Rev. 3. 17. Thus the Phariſees deſir'd not the knowledge of Chriſt's Word and Ways, not becauſe they had no need of him, but becauſe they thought they had none. See John 9. 40, 41.

2. He proves that their Neceſſity did ſufficiently juſtifie his Conduct in converſing familiarly with them, and he ought not to be blam'd for it; for that Neceſſity made it an Act of Charity, which ought always to be prefer'd before the Formalites of a Religious Profeſſion; in which Beneficence and Munificence are far better than Magnificence, as much as Subſtance is then Shews or Shadows. Thoſe Duties which are of moral and natural Obligation, are to take place, even of thoſe divine Laws which are poſitive and ritual, much more of thoſe Impoſitions of Men, and Traditions of the Elders, which make God's Law ſtricter than he has made it. This he proves v. 13. by a Paſſage quoted out of Hoſ. 6. 6. I will have Mercy and not Sacrifice. That moroſe Separation from the Society of Publicans, which the Phariſees enjoyn'd, was leſs then Sacrifice; but Chriſt's con-verſing with them was more than an Act of common Mercy, and therefore to be prefer'd before it. If to do well our ſelves is better than Sacrifice, as Samuel ſhews, 1 Sam. 15. 22, 23. much more to do good to others. Chriſt's converſing with Sinners is here call'd Mercy; to promote the Converſion of Souls is the greateſt Act of Mercy imaginable, 'tis ſaving a Soul from Death, Jam. 5. 20. Obſerve how Chriſt quotes this, Go ye, and learn what that meaneth. Note, It is not enough to be acquainted with theLetter of the Scripture, but we muſt learn to underſtand the meaning of it. And thoſe have beſt learn'd the meaning of the Scripture, that have learn'd how to applyit as aReproof to their ownFaults, and a Rule to their own Practice. This Scripture which Chriſt quoted, ſerv'd not only to vindicate him, but (1.) to ſhew wherein true Religion doth conſiſt, not in external Obſervances, not in Meats and Drinks, and Shews of Sanctity, not in little particular Opinions, and doubtful Diſputations, but in doing all the Good we can to the Bodies and Souls of others, in Righteouſneſs and Peace, in viſiting the Fatherleſs and Widows. (2.) To condemn the Phariſaical Hypocriſy of thoſe who place Religion in Rituals more than in Morals, Mat. 23. 23. They eſpouſe thoſeForms ofGodlineſs which maybe made conſiſtent with, and perhaps ſubſervient to their pride, covetouſneſs, ambition and malice, while theyhate thatpower of itwhich is mortifying totheſe luſts.

(2.) He urgeth the Nature and End of his own Commiſſion. He muſt keep to his Orders, and proſecute that for which he was appointed to be the great Teacher; now, ſaith he, I am not come to call the Righteous, but Sinners to Repentance, and therefore muſt Converſe with Publicans. Obſerve (1.) what his Errand was, 'Twas to call to Repentance. This was his firſt Text, Matth. 4. 17. and it was the Tendency of all his Sermons. Note, The Goſpel-call is a Call to Repentance, a Call to us to change our Mind, and to change our Way. (2.) With whom his Errand lay, not with the*Righteous*, but with Sinners. That is, (1.) if the Children of Men had not been Sinners, there had been no occaſion for Chriſt's coming among them. He is the Saviour, not of Man, as Man, but of Man as fallen. Had the firſt Adam continued in his original Righteouſneſs, we had not needed a ſecond*Adam*. (2.) Therefore his greateſt Buſineſs lies with the greateſt Sinners; the more dangerous the Sick Man's Caſe is, the more occaſion there is for the Phyſician's help. Chriſt came into the World to ſave Sinners, but eſpecially the Chief, 1 Tim. 1. 15. To call not thoſe ſo much, who tho' Sinners, are comparatively Righteous, but the worſt of Sinners. (3.) The more ſenſible any Sinners are of their Sinfulneſs, the more welcome will Chriſt and his Goſpel be to them; and every one chuſeth to go where their Company is deſir'd, not to thoſe who would rather have their room. Chriſt came not with anyExpectation of ſpeeding among the Righteous, i.e. thoſe who conceit themſelves ſo, and therefore will ſooner be ſick of their Saviour, than ſick of their Sins; but among the convinced humble Sinners, to them Chriſt will come, for with them he will be welcome.

14 Then came to him the diſciples of John, ſaying, Why do we and the Phariſees faſt oft, but thy diſciples faſt not? 15 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Can the children of the bride-chamber mourn, as long as the bridegroom is with them? but the days will come, when the bridegroom ſhall be taken from them, and then ſhall they faſt. 16 No man putteth a piece of new cloth into an old garment: for that which is put in to fill it up, taketh from the garment, and the rent is made worſe. 17 Neither do men put new wine into old bottles: elſe the bottles break, and the wine runneth out, and the bottles periſh. but they put new wine into new bottles, and both are preſerved.

The Quarrels thatwere pick'd withChriſt and his Diſciples, gave occaſion to ſome of the moſt profitable of his Diſcourſes; thus are the Intereſts of Truth often ſerv'd, even by the Oppoſition it meets with from Gain-ſayers, and thus the Wiſdom of Chriſt brings Good out of Evil. This is the third Inſtance of it in this Chapter; his Diſcourſe of his Power to forgive Sin, and his readineſs to receive Sinners, were occaſion'd by the Cavils of the Scribes and Phariſees; ſo here from a Reflection upon the Conduct of his Family aroſe a Diſcourſe concerning his Tenderneſs of it. Obſerve

1. TheObjection which theDiſciples of John made againſtChriſt's Diſciples for not faſting ſo oft as they did; which they are charg'd with as another Inſtance of the looſeneſs of their Profeſſion, beſides that of eating withPublicans and Sinners; and 'tis therefore ſuggeſted to them that they ſhould change theirProfeſſion for another more ſtrict. It appears by the other Evangeliſts, Mark 2. 18. and Luke 5. 33. that the Diſciples of the Phariſees joyn'd with them, and we have Reaſon to ſuſpect, ſet them on, making uſe of John's Diſciples as their Spokeſmen, becauſe they being more in favour with Chriſt, and nearer ally'd to his Diſciples, could do it more plauſibly. Note, It is no new thing for bad Men to ſet good Men together by the Ears; if the People of God differ in their Sentiments, deſigning Men will take that occaſion to ſow Diſcord, and incenſe them one againſt another, and alienate them one from another, and ſo to make an eaſy Prey of them. If the Diſciples of John, and of Jeſus claſh, we have reaſon to ſuſpect the Phariſees have been at work under-hand, blowing the Coals. Now the Complaint is, Why do we and the Phariſees faſt oft, but thy Diſciples faſt not? 'Tis pity the Duties of Religion, which ought to be the Confirmations of holy Love, ſhould be made the Occaſions of Strife and Contention; but they often are ſo, as here; where we may obſerve,

1. How they boaſted of their own Faſting. We and the Phariſees faſt oft. Faſting has in all Ages of the Church been conſecrated upon ſpecial Occaſions to the Service of Religion; the Phariſees were much in it, many of them kept two Faſt days in a Week, and yet the generality of them were Hypocrites and ill Men. Note, Falſe and formal Profeſſors often excel others in outward Acts of Devotion, even of Mortification. The Diſciples of John too faſted oft, partly in compliance with their Maſter's Practice, for he came neither eating nor drinking, Mat. 11. 18. And People are apt to imitate their Leaders, tho' not always from the ſame inward Principle; partly in compliance with their Maſter's Doctrine of Repentance. Note, The ſeverer part of Religion is often moſt minded by thoſe that are yet under the Diſcipline of the Spirit, as a Spirit of Bondage; whereas tho' theſe are good in their place, we muſt paſs thro' them to that Life of Delight in God, and Dependance on him, which theſe are in order to. Now they come to Chriſt to tell him that they faſted oft, at leaſt they thought it often. Note, Moſt Men will proclaim every one his own Goodneſs, Prov. 20. 6. There is a Proneneſs in Profeſſors to brag of their ownPerformances in Religion, eſpeciallyif there be anything extraordinaryin them; nay, and not onlyto boaſt of them beforeMen but to plead them before God, and confide in them as a righteouſneſs.

2. How they blam'd Chriſt's Diſciples for not faſting ſo oft as they did. Thy Diſciples faſt not. They could not but know that Chriſt had inſtructed his Diſciples to keep their Faſts private, and to manage themſelves ſo as that they might not appear unto Men to faſt; and therefore'twas veryuncharitable in them to conclude theydid not faſt, becauſe they did not proclaim their Faſts. Note, We muſt not judge of People's Religion by that which falls under the Eye and Obſervation of the World. But ſuppoſe it was ſo, that Chriſt's Diſciples did not faſt ſo oft, or ſo long as they did; why, truly they would therefore have it thought that theyhad moreReligion in them than Chriſt's Diſciples had. Note, It is common for vain Profeſſors to make themſelves a Standard in Religion, by which to try and meaſure Perſons and Things, as if all who differ'd from them were ſo far in the wrong; as if all that did leſs than they, did too little; and all that did more than they, did too much; which is a plain Evidence of their want of Hnmility and Charity.

3. How they brought this Complaint to Chriſt. Note, If Chriſt's Diſciples, either byOmiſſion orCommiſſion giveOffence, Chriſt himſelf will be ſure to hear of it, and be reflected upon for it. O Jeſus, Are theſe thy Chriſtians? Therefore as we tender the Honour of Chriſt, we are concern'd to carry ourſelves well. Obſerve, The Quarrel with Chriſt was brought to the Diſciples, v. 11. The Quarrel with the Diſciples was brought to Chriſt, v. 14. This is the way of ſowing Diſcord, and killing Love, to ſet People againſt Miniſters, Miniſters againſt People, and one Freind againſt another.

2. The Apology which Chriſt made for his Diſciples in this Matter. Chriſt might have upbraided John's Diſciples with the former part of their Queſtion, Why do we faſt oft? Nay, you know beſt why you do it, but the truth is, many abound in external Inſtances of Devotion, that ſcarce do themſelves know why, and wherefore. But he only vindicates the Practice of his Diſciples, when they had nothing to ſay for themſelves, he had ſomething ready to ſay for them. Note, As it is Wiſdom's Honour to be juſtified of all her Children, ſo it is her Children's Happineſs to be all juſtified of Wiſdom. What we do according to the Precept and Pattern of Chriſt, he will be ſure to bear us out in, and we may with confidence leave it to him to clear up our Integrity,

But thou ſhalt anſwer, Lord, for me. Herbert.

Two things Chriſt pleads in defence of their not faſting.

1. That it was not a Seaſon proper for that Duty, v. 15. Can the Children of the Bride-chamber mourn as long as the Bridegroom is with them? Obſerve, Chriſt's Anſwer is ſo fram'd, as that it might ſufficiently juſtify the Practice of his own Diſciples, and yet not condemn the Inſtitution of John, or the Practice of his Diſciples. When the Phariſees fomented this Diſpute, they hoped Chriſt would caſt Blame, either on his own Diſciples, or on John's, but he did neither. Note, When at any time we are unjuſtly cenſur'd, our care muſt be only to clear our ſelves, not to recriminate, or throw Dirt upon others; and ſuch a variety there may be of Circumſtances, as may juſtify us in our Practice, without condemning thoſe that practiſe otherwiſe.

Now his Argument is taken from the common uſage of Joy and Rejoycing during the continuance of Marriage-Solemnities; when all Inſtances of Melancholy and Sorrow are look'd upon as improper, and abſurd, as it was at Sampſon's Wedding, Judg. 14. 27. Now (1.) The Dſciples of Chriſt were the Children of the Bride-Chamber, invited to the Wedding-feaſt, and welcome there, the Diſciples of the Phariſees were not ſo, but Children of the Bond-woman, Gal. 4. 25, 31. continuing under a Diſpenſation of Darkneſs and Terror. Note, The faithful Followers of Chriſt that have the Spirit of Adoption, have a continual Feaſt, while they that have the Spirit of Bondage and Fear cannot rejoyce for Joy, as other People, Hoſ. 9. 1. (2.) The Diſciples of Chriſt had the Bridegroom with them, which the Diſciples of John had not; their Maſter was now caſt into Priſon, and lay there in continual danger of his Life, and therfore 'twas ſeaſonable for them to faſt oft. Such a day would come upon the Diſciples of Chriſt, when the Bridegroom ſhould be taken from them, when they ſhould be depriv'd of his Bodily Preſence, and then ſhall they faſt. The Thoughts of parting griev'd them when he was going, John. 16.6. Tribulation and Affliction befel them when he was gone, and gave them occaſion of Mourning and Praying, that is, of Religious Faſting. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt is the Bridegroom of his Church, and his Diſciples are the Children of the Bride-chamber. Chriſt ſpeaks of himſelf to John's Diſciples under this Similitude, becauſe it was the ſame that John had us'd, when he call'd himſelf a Friend of the Bridegroom, John 3. 29. And if they would by this Hint call to mind what their Maſter then ſaid, they would anſwer themſelves. (2.) The Condition of thoſe that are the Children of the Bride-chamber is liable to many Changes and Alterations in this World, they ſing of Mercy and Judgment. (3.) It is merry or melancholy with the Children of the Bride-chamber, according as they have, more or leſs of the Bridegroom's Preſence. When he is with them, the Candle of God ſhines upon their Head, and all is well; but when he is withdrawn, tho' but for a ſmall moment, they are troubled, and walk heavily; the Preſence and Nearneſs of the Sun makes Day and Summer, his Abſence and Diſtance Night and Winter. Chriſt is all in all to the Churches Joy. (4.) Every Duty is to be done in its proper ſeaſon; See Eccl. 7. 14. James 5. 13. There is a Time to Mourn, and a Time to Laugh, to each of which we ſhould accommodate our ſelves, and bring forth Fruit in due Seaſon. In Faſts, regard is to be had to the Methods of God's Grace in us, when he mourns to us, we muſt lament; and alſo in the Diſpenſations of his Providence concerning us; there are Times when the Lord God calls to Weeping and Mourning; regard is likewiſe to be had to any ſpecial Work before us, Mat. 17. 21. Acts 13. 2.

2. They had not a ſtrength ſufficient for that Duty. This is ſet forth in two Similitudes, one of putting new Cloth into an old Garment, which doth but pull the old to pieces, v. 16. the other of putting new Wine into old Bottles, which doth but burſt the Bottles, v. 17. Chriſt's Diſciples were not able to bear theſe ſevere Exerciſes, ſo well as thoſe of John, and of the Phariſees; which the Learned Dr. Whitby gives this Reaſon for: There were among the Jews not only Sects of the Phariſees and Eſſenes, who led an auſtere Life, but alſo Schools of the Prophets, who frequently liv'd in Mountains and Deſarts, and were many of them Nazarites; they had alſo private Academies, to train Men up in a ſtrict Diſcipline, and poſſibly from theſe many of John's Diſciples might come, and many of the Phariſees; whereas Chriſt's Diſciples being taken immediately from their Callings, had not been us'd to ſuch Religious Auſterities, and were unfit for them, and would by them be rather diſfitted for their other Work. Note, (1.) Some Duties of Religion are harder and more difficult than others, like new Cloth, and new Wine; which require moſt intenſeneſs of Mind, and are moſt diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood; ſuch is Religious Faſting, and the Duties that attend it. (2.) The beſt of Chriſt's Diſciples paſs through a State of Infancy; all the Trees in Chriſt's Garden are not of a growth, nor all his Scholars in the ſame Form. There are Babes in Chriſt, and grown Men. 3. In the injoyning of Religious Exerciſes, the Weakneſs and Infirmity of young Chriſtians ought to be conſider'd. As the Food provided for them muſt be ſuch as is proper for their Age; (ſee 1 Cor. 3. 2. Heb. 5. 12.) So muſt the Work be that is cut out for them. Chriſt would not ſpeak to his Diſcples that which they could not then bear, John 16. 12. Young beginners in Religion muſt not preſently be put upon the hardeſt Duties at firſt, leſt they be diſcouraged. Such as was God's Care of his Iſrael, when he brought them out of Egypt, not to lead them by the way of the Philiſtines, Exod. 13. 17, 18. And ſuch as was Jacob's care of his Children and Cattle, not to over-drive them, Gen. 33. 13. Such is Chriſt's care of the little ones of his Family, and the Lambs of his Flock, he gently leads them. For want of this care many times the Bottles break, and the Wine is ſpill'd, the Profeſſion of many miſcarries, and comes to nothing, through Indiſcretion at firſt. Note, There may be over-doing, even in well-doing, a being Righteous over-much; and ſuch an over-doing as may prove an undoing, through the Subtilty of Satan.

18 While he ſpake theſe things unto them, behold, there came a certain ruler and worſhipped him, ſaying, My daughter is even now dead: but come and lay thy hand upon her, and ſhe ſhall live. 19 And Jeſus aroſe and followed him, and ſo did his diſciples. 20 (And behold, a woman which was diſeaſed with an iſſue of blood twelve years, came behind him, and touched the hem of his garment. 21 For ſhe ſaid within herſelf, If I may but touch his garment, I ſhall be whole. 22 But Jeſus turned him about, and when he ſaw her, he ſaid, Daughter be of good comfort: thy faith hath made the whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour) 23 And when Jeſus came into the rulers houſe, and ſaw the minſtrels and the people making a noiſe, 24 He ſaid unto them, Give place, for the maid is not dead, but ſleepeth. And they laughed him to ſcorn. 25 But when the people were put forth, he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid aroſe. 26 And the fame hereof went abroad into all that land.

We have here two Paſſages of Story put together, that of the raiſing of Jarius's Daughter to Life, and that of the curing the Woman that had the bloody Iſſue, by the way as he was going to Jarius's Houſe, which comes in in a Parentheſis in the midſt of the other; for Chriſt's Miracles were thick ſown, and interwoven; the Work of him that ſent him was his daily Work. He was call'd to do theſe good Works from ſpeaking thoſe things foregoing, in anſwer to the Cavils of the Phariſees. v. 18. While he ſpake theſe things. And we may ſuppoſe it a pleaſing Interruption given to that unpleaſant Work of Diſputation, which, tho' ſometimes needful, a good Man will gladly leave to go about a Work of Devotion or Charity. Here's Firſt, The Ruler's Addreſs to Chriſt, v. 18. A certain Ruler, a Ruler of the Synagogue came and Worſhipped him: Have any of the Rulers believed on him? Yes, here was one, a Church-ruler, whoſe Faith condemn'd the Unbelief of the reſt of the Rulers. This Ruler had a little Daughter of Twelve Years old newly dead, and this Breach made upon his Family-comforts, was the occaſion of his coming to Chriſt. Note, In Trouble we ſhould viſit God; the Death of our Relations ſhould drive us to Chriſt, who is our Life; tis well if any thing will do it. When Affliction is in our Families, we muſt not ſit down aſtoniſhed, but as Job, fall down and Worſhip. Now obſerve,

1. His Humility in this Addreſs to Chriſt. He came with his Errand to Chriſt himſelf, and did not ſend a Servant. Note, It's no diſparagement to the greateſt Rulers perſonally to attend on the Lord Jeſus. He Worſhipped him, bow'd the Knee to him, and gave him all imaginable Reſpect. Note, Thoſe that would receive Mercy from Chriſt, muſt give honour to Chriſt.

2. His Faith in this Addreſs. My Daughter is even now Dead, and tho' any other Phyſician would now come too late, nothing more abſurd than Poſt mortem Medicina; yet Chriſt comes not too late, he is a Phyſician after Death, for he is the Reſurrection and the Life; O come then, and lay thy Hand upon her, and ſhe ſhall live. This was quite above the Power of Nature, (a Privatione ad Habitum non datur Regreſſus) yet within the Power of Chriſt, who has Life in himſelf, and quickneth whom he will. Now Chriſt works in an ordinary way, by Nature, and not againſt it, and therefore we cannot in Faith bring him ſuch a Requeſt as this; while there's Life there's Hope, and room for Prayer; but when our Friends are dead the Caſe is determin'd; we ſhall go to them, but they ſhall not return to us: But while Chriſt was here upon Earth working Miracles, ſuch a Confidence as this was not only allowable but very commendable.

Secondly, The Readineſs of Chriſt to comply with his Addreſs, v. 19. Jeſus immediately aroſe, left his Company, and followed him; he was not only willing to grant him what he deſired, in raiſing his Daughter to Life, but to gratify him ſo far as to come to his Houſe to do it. Surely he never ſaid to the Seed of Jacob, ſeek ye me in vain. He deny'd to go along with the Nobleman, who ſaid, Sir, Come down e'er my Child dye. John 4. 48, 49, 50. yet went along with the Ruler of the Synagogue, who ſaid, Sir, come down, and my Child ſhall live. The Variety of Methods which Chriſt took in working his Miracles, is perhaps to be attributed to the different Frame and Temper of Mind, which thoſe were in that applied themſelves to him, which he who ſearcheth the Heart plainly knew, and accommodated himſelf to. He knows what is in Man, and what courſe to take with him. And obſerve, when Jeſus followed him, ſo did his Diſciples, whom he had choſen for his conſtant Companions; 'twas not for State, or that he might come with Obſervation that he took his Attendance with him, but that they might be the Witneſſes of his Miracles, who were hereafter to be the Preachers of his Doctrine.

Thirdly, The Healing of the poor Woman's bloody Iſſue; I call her a poor Woman, not only becauſe her Caſe was piteous, but becauſe, tho' ſhe had had ſomething in the World, ſhe had ſpent it all upon Phyſicians, for the Cure of her Diſtemper, and was never the better; which was a double Aggravation of the Miſery of her Condition, that ſhe had been full, but was now empty; and that ſhe had impoveriſh'd herſelf for the recovery of her Health, and yet had not her Health neither. This Woman was diſeaſed with a conſtant Iſſue of Blood twelve Years, v. 20. A Diſeaſe which was not only weakening and waſting, and under which the Body muſt needs languiſh; but alſo it render'd her Ceremonially Unclean, and ſhut her out from the Courts of the Lord's Houſe, but did not cut her off from approaching to Chriſt. She applied herſelf to Chriſt, and received Mercy from him by the way, as he followed the Ruler, whoſe Daughter was dead, to whom it would be a great Encouragement, and would help to keep up his Faith in the Power of Chriſt; ſo graciouſly doth Chriſt conſider the Frame, and conſult the Caſe of weak Believers. Obſerve

1. The Woman's great Faith in Chriſt, and in his Power. Her Diſeaſe was of ſuch a nature, that her modeſty would not ſuffer her to ſeek openly to Chriſt for a Cure, as others did, but by a peculiar Impulſe of the Spirit of Faith ſhe believ'd him to have ſuch an overflowing Fulneſs of healing Vertue, that the very touch of his Garment would be her Cure. This perhaps had ſomething of Fancy mix'd with Faith; for ſhe had no Precedent for this way of Application to Chriſt, unleſs as ſome think, ſhe had an eye to the raiſing of the dead Man by the touch of Eliſha's Bones, 2 Kings 13. 21. But what Weakneſs of Underſtanding there was in it, Chriſt was pleas'd to overlook and accept the ſincerity and ſtrength of her Faith; for he eateth the Honey-Comb with the Honey, Cant. 5. 11. She believed ſhe ſhould be heal'd, if ſhe did but touch the very hem of his Garment, the outmoſt part of it. Note, There is Virtue in every thing that belongs to Chriſt. The holy Oyl with which the High-Prieſt was anointed, ran down to the Skirts of his Garments, Pſal. 133. 2. Such a Fulneſs of Grace is there in Chriſt, that from it we may all receive, John 1. 16.

2. Chriſt's great Favour to this Woman. He did not ſuſpend (as he might have done) his healing Influences, but ſuffered this baſhful Patient to ſteal a Cure, unknown to any one elſe, though ſhe could not think to do it unknown to him. And now ſhe was well content to be gone, for ſhe had what ſhe came for, but Chriſt was not willing to let her go ſo; he will not only have his Power magnified in her Cure, but his Grace magnified in her Comfort and Commendation. The Triumphs of her Faith muſt be to her Praiſe and Honour. He turned about to ſee for her, v. 22. and ſoon diſcovered her. Note, It is great Encouragement to humble Chriſtians, that thoſe who hide themſelves from Men, are known to Chriſt, who ſees in ſecret their Applications to Heaven that are moſt private. Now here,

(1.) He puts Gladneſs in her Heart, by that Word, Daughter be of good Comfort. She feared being chidden for coming clandeſtinely; but is encouraged. (1.) He calls her Daughter, for he ſpoke to her with the Tenderneſs of a Father, as he did to the Man ſick of the Palſy, v. 2. whom he call'd Son. Note, Chriſt has Comforts ready for the Daughters of Zion, that are of a Sorrowful Spirit, as Hannah was, 1 Sam. 1. 15. Believing Women are Chriſt's Daughters, and he will own then as ſuch. (2.) He bids her be of good Comfort. She has Reaſon to be ſo, if Chriſt owns her for a Daughter. Note, The Saints Conſolation is founded in their Adoption. His bidding her be comforted brought comfort with it, as his ſaying, be ye whole, brought Health with it. Note, 'Tis the will of Chriſt that his People ſhould be comforted, and it is his Prerogative to command Comfort to troubled Spirits. He creates the Fruit of his Lips, Peace, Iſa. 57. 18.

(2.) He puts Honour upon her Faith. That Grace of all other gives moſt Honour to Chriſt, and therefore he puts moſt Honour upon it; Thy Faith has made thee whole. Thus by Faith ſhe obtain'd a good Report. And as of all Graces Chriſt puts the greateſt Honour upon Faith, ſo of all Believers he puts the greateſt Honour upon thoſe that are moſt humble; as here on this Woman, who had more Faith than ſhe thought ſhe had. She has Reaſon to be of good Comfort, not only becauſe ſhe was made whole, but becauſe her Faith had made her whole; that is, (1.) She was ſpiritually heal'd: That Cure was wrought in her which is the proper Fruit and effect of Faith, the Pardon of Sin and the Work of Grace. Note, We may then be abundantly comforted in our Temporal Mercies, when they are accompanied with thoſe ſpiritual Bleſſings that reſemble them; our Food and Raiment comfortable, when by Faith we are fed with the Bread of Life, and cloth'd with the Righteouſneſs of Jeſus Chriſt: Our Reſt and Sleep comfortable, when by Faith we repoſe in God, and dwell at eaſe in him, Our Health and Proſperity comfortable, when by Faith our Souls proſper, and are in Health. See Iſa. 38. 16, 17. 2. Her bodily Cure was the Fruit of Faith, of her Faith, and that made it a happy comfortable Cure indeed. Thoſe out of whom the Devils were caſt, were help'd by Chriſt's Sovereign Power, ſome by the Faith of others, as v. 2. but 'tis thy Faith that has made thee whole. Note, Temporal Mercies are then Comforts indeed to us, when they are receiv'd by Faith. If when we are in purſuit of Mercy, we pray'd for it in Faith, with an Eye to the Promiſe, and in Dependance upon that, if we deſired it for the ſake of God's Glory, and with a Reſignation to God's Will, and have our Hearts enlarged by it in Faith, Love, and Obedience, we may then ſay, It was received by Faith.

Fourthly, The Poſture in which he found the Ruler's Houſe, v. 23. He ſaw the People, and the Minſtrels, or Muſicians making a Noiſe. The Houſe was in a Hurry; ſuch Work doth Death make, when it comes into a Family. And perhaps the neceſſary Cares that ariſe at ſuch a Time, when our Dead is to be decently buried out of our Sight, give ſome uſeful Diverſion to that Grief which is apt to prevail and play the Tyrant. The People in the Neighbourhood came together to condole the Loſs, to comfort the Parents, to prepare for, and attend on the Funeral, which the Jews were not wont to defer long. The Muſicians were among them, according to the Cuſtom of the Gentiles, with their doleful melancholy Tunes, to increaſe the Grief and ſtir up the Lamentation of thoſe that attended on this Occaſion; as (they ſay) is uſual among the Iriſh, with their Abone, Abone. Thus they indulge a Paſſion that is apt enough of it ſelf, to grow intemperate, and affected to ſorrow as thoſe that have no Hope. See how Religion provides Cordials, where Irreligion adminiſters Corroſives: Heatheniſm aggravates that Grief, which Chriſtianity ſtudies to aſſwage. Or, perhaps theſe Muſicians endeavour'd on the other hand to divert the Grief, and exhilirate the Family; but as Vinegar upon Nitre, ſo is he that ſings Songs to a heavy Heart. Obſerve, The Parents, who were immediately touch'd with the Affliction, were ſilent, while the People and Minſtrels, whoſe Lamentations were forced, made ſuch a Noiſe. Note, The loudeſt Grief is not always the greateſt; Rivers are moſt noiſy, where they run ſhallow. Ille dolet vere, qui ſine Teſte dolet. But notice is taken of this, to ſhew that the Girl was really dead, in the undoubted Apprehenſion of all about her.

Fifthly, The Rebuke that Chriſt gave to this Hurry and Noiſe, v. 24. He ſaid, Give place. Note, Sometimes when the Sorrow of the World prevails, it's much ado for Chriſt and his Comforts to crowd in. Thoſe that harden themſelves in Sorrow, and, like Rachel, refuſe to be comforted, ſhould think they hear Chriſt ſaying to their diſquieting Thoughts, Give place. Make room for him who is the Conſolation of Iſrael, and brings with him ſtrong Conſolations, ſtrong enough to overcome the Confuſion and Tyranny of theſe worldly Griefs, if he may but be admitted into the Soul. He gives a good reaſon, why they ſhould not thus diſquiet themſelves, and one another, The Maid is not dead, but ſleepeth. (1.) This was eminently true of this Maid, that was immediately to be rais'd to Life. She was really dead, but not ſo to Chriſt, who knew within himſelf what he would do, and could do, and who had determin'd to make her Death but as a Sleep. There is little more difference between Sleep and Death, but in Continuance, whatever other difference there is, 'tis but a Dream: This Death muſt be but of ſhort Continuance, and therefore is but a Sleep, like one Night's Reſt. He that quickens the Dead, may well call the Things which be not, as though they were, Rom, 4. 17. (2.) It is in a Senſe true of all that die, chiefly they that dye in the Lord. Note, 1. Death is a Sleep. All Nations and Languages, for the ſoftning of that which is ſo dreadful, and with all ſo unavoidable, and the reconciling themſelves to it, have agreed to call it ſo. 'Tis ſaid even of the wicked Kings, that they ſlept with their Fathers; and of thoſe that ſhall riſe to everlaſting Contempt, that they ſleep in the Duſt, Dan. 12. 2. 'Tis not the Sleep of the Soul, its Activity ceaſeth not, but the Sleep of the Body, which lies down in the Grave, ſtill and ſilent, regardleſs and diſregarded, wrapt up in Darkneſs and Obſcurity. Sleep is a ſhort Death, and Death a long Sleep. But the Death of the Righteous is in a ſpecial Manner to be look'd upon as a Sleep, Iſa. 57. 2. They ſleep in Jeſus, 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. Not only reſt from the Toils and Labours of the Day, but reſt in Hope of a joyful Waking again in the Morning of the Reſurrection, when they ſhall wake refreſhed, wake to a new Life, wake to be richly dreſs'd and crown'd, and wake to ſleep no more.

2. The Conſideration of this ſhould moderate our Grief at the Death of our dear Relations, ſay not, they are loſt; no, they are but gone before; ſay not, they are Slain; no, they are but fallen aſleep; and the Apoſtle ſpeaks of it as an abſurd thing to imagine that they that are fallen aſleep in Chriſt are periſhed, 1 Cor. 15. 18. Give place therefore to thoſe Comforts which the Covenant of Grace miniſters, fetch'd from the future State and the Glory to be reveal'd.

Now could it be thought that ſuch a comfortable Word as this from the Mouth of our Lord Jeſus ſhould be ridicul'd as it was? They laugh'd him to ſcorn. Theſe People liv'd in Capernaum, knew Chriſt's Character, that he never ſpake a raſh or fooliſh Word; they knew how many mighty Works he had done; ſo that if they did not underſtand what he meant by this, they might at leaſt have been ſilent, in Expectation of the Iſſue. Note, The Words and Works of Chriſt, which cannot be underſtood, yet are not therefore to be deſpis'd. We muſt adore the Myſtery of divine Sayings, even when they ſeem to contradict what we think ourſelves moſt confident of. Yet even this tended to the Confirmation of the Miracle; for it ſeems ſhe was ſo apparently dead, that it was thought a very ridiculous thing to ſay otherwiſe.

Sixthly, The Raiſing of the Damſel to Life, by the Power of Chriſt, v. 25. The People were put forth. Note, Scorners that laugh at what they ſee and hear that is above their Capacity, are not proper Witneſſes of the wonderful Works of Chriſt, the Glory of which lies not in Pomp but in Power. The Widows Son at Nain and Lazarus were rais'd from the Dead openly, but this Damſel privately, for Capernaum that had ſlighted the leſſer Miracles of reſtoring Health, was unworthy to ſee the greater of reſtoring Life. Theſe Pearls were not to be caſt before thoſe that would trample them under their Feet.

Chriſt went in and took her by the Hand, as it were to awake her, and to help her up, proſecuting his own Metaphor of her being aſleep. The High-Prieſt that typified Chriſt, was not to come near the dead, Lev. 21. 10, 11. but Chriſt touched the dead. The Levitical Prieſthood leaves the dead in their Uncleanneſs, and therefore keeps at a Diſtance from them, becauſe it cannot remedy them; but Chriſt having Power to raiſe the Dead, is above the Infection, and therefore is not ſhy of touching them, He took her by the Hand, and the Maid aroſe. So eaſily, ſo effectually was the Miracle wrought; not by Prayer, as Elijah did it, 1 Kings 17. 21. and Eliſha, 2 Kings 4. 33. but by a touch. They did it as Servants, he as a Son, as a God, to whom belong the Iſſues from Death. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is the Lord of Souls, he commands them forth, and commands them back, when and as he pleaſeth, Dead Souls are not rais'd to ſpiritual Life, unleſs Chriſt take them by the Hand. 'Tis done in the Day of his Power. He helps us up or we lye ſtill.

Seventhly, The general Notice that was taken of this Miracle; tho' it was wrought privately, yet v. 26. the Fame thereof went abroad into all that Land: It was the common Subject of Diſcourſe. Note, Chriſt's Works are more talk'd of than conſider'd and improv'd. And doubtleſs, they that heard only the Report of Chriſt's Miracles, were accountable for that as well as they that were Eye-Witneſſes of them. Tho' we at this Diſtance have not ſeen Chriſt's Miracles, yet have an Authentick Hiſtory of them, we are bound upon the Credit of that to receive his Doctrine; and bleſſed are they that have not ſeen, and yet have believed, John 20. 29.

27 And when Jeſus departed thence, two blind men follow'd him, crying and ſaying, Thou ſon of David, have mercy on us. 28 And when he was come into the houſe, the blind Men came to him; and Jeſus ſaith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord. 29 Then touched he their eyes, ſaying, According to your faith, be it unto you. 30 And their eyes were opened, and Jeſus ſtraitly charged them, ſaying, See that no man know it. 31 But they, when they were departed, ſpread abroad his fame in all that country.

32 As they went out, behold they brought to him a dumb man poſſeſſed with a devil. 33 And when the devil was caſt out, the dumb ſpake: and the multitudes marvelled, ſaying, It was never ſo ſeen in Iſrael.
34 But the Phariſees ſaid, He caſteth out the devils through the prince of the devils.

In theſe Verſes we have an Account of two Miracles wrought together by our Saviour.

Firſt, The Giving of Sight to two blind Men, v. 27,--31. Chriſt is the Fountain of Light as well as Life, and as by raiſing the Dead he ſhew'd himſelf to be the ſame that at firſt breath'd into Man the Breath of Life, ſo by giving Sight to the Blind, he ſhew'd himſelf to be the ſame that at firſt commanded the Light to ſhine out of Darkneſs. Obſerve,

1. The importunate Addreſs of the blind Men to Chriſt. He was returning from the Ruler's Houſe, to his own Lodgings, and theſe Blind Men follow him, as Beggars uſe to do, with their inceſſant Cries, v. 27. He that cur'd Diſeaſes, ſo eaſily, ſo effectually, and with all ſo cheap, ſhould have Patients enough. As for other things, ſo he is famed for an Oculiſt.

Obſerve (1.) The Title which theſe Blind Men gave to Chriſt; Thou Son of David, have Mercy upon us. The promiſe made to David that of his Loins the Meſſiah ſhould come, was well known, and the Meſſiah was therefore commonly call'd the Son of David: At this time there was a general Expectation of his appearing; theſe Blind Men know and own, and proclaim it in the Streets of Capernaum, that he is come, and this is he; which aggravates the Folly and Sin of the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees, that deny'd and oppos'd him. They could not ſee him and his Miracles, but Faith comes by hearing. Note, Thoſe who by the Providence of God are depriv'd of Bodily Eye-ſight, may yet by the Grace of God have the Eyes of their Underſtanding ſo enlightned, as to diſcern thoſe great things of God, which are hid from the wiſe and prudent.

(2.) Their Petition. Have Mercy on us. It was foretold that the Son of David ſhould be merciful, Pſal. 72. 12, 13. and in him ſhines the tender Mercy of our God, Luke 1. 78. Note, Whatever our Neceſſities and Burthens are, we need no more for Supply and Support, than a ſhare in the Mercy of our Lord Jeſus. Whether he heal us or no, if he have Mercy on us, we have enough, as to the particular Inſtances and Methods of Mercy, we may ſafely and wiſely refer our ſelves to the Wiſdom of Chriſt. They did not each of them ſay for himſelf, Have Mercy on me, but both for one another, Have Mercy on us. Note, It becomes thoſe that are under the ſame Affliction to concur in the ſame Prayers for Relief. Fellow-ſufferers ſhould be Joynt-Petitioners. In Chriſt there is enough for all.

(3.) Their Importunity in this Requeſt, they followed him crying. It ſeems he did not take notice of them at firſt, for he would try their Faith, which he knew to be ſtrong, would quicken their Prayers, and make his Cures the more valu'd, when they did not always come at the firſt Word. And would teach us to continue inſtant in Prayer, always to pray, and not to faint; and though the Anſwer do not come preſently, yet to wait for it, and to follow Providence, even in thoſe Steps and Out-goings of it, which ſeem to neglect or contradict our Prayers. Chriſt would not heal them publickly in the Streets, for this was a Cure he would have kept private, v. 30. But when he came into the Houſe, they follow'd him thither, and came to him. Note, Chriſt's Doors are always open to believing and importunate Petitioners, it ſeem'd rude in them, to thruſt into the Houſe after him, when he deſired to retire: But (ſuch is the Tenderneſs of our Lord Jeſus) they were not more bold than welcome.

2. The Confeſſion of Faith, which Chriſt drew from them upon this Occaſion. When they came to him for Mercy, he aſk'd them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? Note, Faith is the great Condition of Chriſt's Favours. Thoſe who would receive the Mercy of Chriſt, muſt firmly believe the Power of Chriſt; what we would have him do for us, we muſt be fully aſſur'd that he is able to do it. They follow'd Chriſt, and follow'd him crying, but the great Queſtion is, Do ye believe? Nature may work Fervency, but its only Grace that can work Faith. Spiritual Bleſſings are fetch'd in only by Faith. They had intimated their Faith in the Office of Chriſt, as Son of David, and in his Mercy, but Chriſt demands likewiſe a Profeſſion of Faith in his Power. Believe ye that I am able? Note, Chriſt will have the Glory of his Power aſcrb'd to him, by all thoſe that hope to have the Benefit of it. Believe ye that I am able for this, to beſtow this Favour; to give Sight to the Blind, as well as to cure the Palſy, and raiſe the Dead? Note, It is good to be particular in the Exerciſe of Faith; to apply the general Aſſurances of God's Power and Good-Will, and the general Promiſes to our particular Exigences. All ſhall work for Good, and if all then this. Believe ye that I am able not only to prevail with God for it, as a Prophet, but that I am able to do it by my own Power? This will amount to their Belief of his being not only the Son of David, but the Son of God; for it is God's Prerogative to open the Eyes of the Blind, Pſal. 146. 8. He makes the ſeeing Eye, Exod. 4. 11. Job was Eyes to the Blind, Job 24. 15. was to them inſtead of Eyes, but he could not give Eyes to the Blind, Still it is put to us, Believe we that Chriſt is able to do for us; by the Power of his Merit and Interceſſion in Heaven, of his Spirit and Grace in the Heart, and of his Providence and Dominion in the World? To believe the Power of Chriſt, is not only to aſſure our ſelves of it, but to commit our ſelves to it, and encourage our ſelves in it.

To this Queſtion they give an immediate Anſwer, without Heſitation, they ſaid, Yea, Lord. Tho' he had kept them in a Suſpence a while, and had not help'd them at firſt, they honeſtly imputed that to his Wiſdom, not to his Weakneſs, and were ſtill confident of his Ability. Note, The Treaſures of Mercy that are laid up in the Power of Chriſt are laid out and wrought for thoſe that truſt iu him, Pſal. 31. 14.

3. The Cure that Chriſt wrought on them. He touched their Eyes, v. 29. This he did to encourage their Faith, which by his Delay he had try'd, and to ſhew that he gives Sight to blind Souls by the Operations of his Grace going along with the Word, anointing the Eyes with Eye-ſalve. And he put the Cure upon their Faith, according to your Faith be it unto you. When they beg'd for a Cure, he enquir'd into their Faith, v. 28. Believe ye that I am able? He did not enquire into their Wealth, Whether they were able to pay him for a Cure? not into their Reputation, Should he get Credit by curing them? but into their Faith; and now they had profeſſed their Faith, he referred the Matter to that. I know you do believe, and the Power you believe in ſhall be exerted for you, According to your Faith be it unto you. This ſpeaks (1.) His knowledge of the Sincerity of their Faith, and his Acceptance and Approbation of it. Note, It is a great Comfort to true Believers that Jeſus Chriſt knows their Faith, and is well pleaſed with it. Though it be weak, though others do not diſcern it, tho' they themſelves are ready to queſtion it, 'tis known to him. (2.) His inſiſting upon their Faith as neceſſary. If you believe, take what you come for, Note, Thoſe that apply themſelves to Jeſus Chriſt ſhall be dealt with according to their Faith, not according to their Fancies, or according to their Profeſſion, but according to their Faith; that is, Unbelievers cannot expect to find any Favour with God, but true Believers may be ſure to find all that Favour which is offer'd in the Goſpel; and our Comforts ebb or flow, according as our Faith is ſtronger or weaker. We are not ſtraitned in Chriſt, let us be not then ſtraitned in ourſelves.

4. The Charge he gave them to keep it private, v. 30. See that no Man know it. He gave them this Charge (1.) To ſet us an Example of Humility, and that Lowlineſs of Mind, which he would have us to learn of him. Note, In the Good we do we muſt not ſeek our own Praiſe, but only the Glory of God. It muſt be more our Care and Endeavour to be uſeful, than to be known and obſerv'd to be ſo, Prov. 20. 6,--25. 27. Thus Chriſt ſeconded the Rule he had given, Let not thy Left-hand know what thy Right-hand doth. (2.) Some think Chriſt in keeping it private ſhew'd his Diſpleaſure againſt the People of Capernaum, who had ſeen ſo many Miracles, and yet believed not. Note, The Silencing of thoſe who ſhould proclaim the Works of Chriſt, is a great Judgment to any Place or People: And it is juſt with Chriſt to deny the Means of Conviction to thoſe that are obſtinate in their Infidelity, and to ſhroud the Light from thoſe that ſhut their Eyes againſt it. (3.) He did it in Deſcretion, for his own Preſervation, becauſe the more he was proclaim'd, the more jealous would the Rulers of the Jews be of his growing Intereſt in the People. (4.) Dr. Whitby gives another Reaſon, which is very conſiderable, why Chriſt ſometimes concealed his Miracles, and afterwards forbid the publiſhing of his Transfiguration; becauſe he would not indulge that pernicious Conceit which obtain'd among the Jews, that their Meſſiah ſhould be a Temporal Prince, and ſo give Occaſion to the People to attempt the ſetting up of his Kingdom by Tumults and Seditions, as they offered to do, John 6. 15. But when after his Reſurrection, (which was the full Proof of his Miſſion) his Spiritual Kingdom was ſet up, then that danger was over, and they muſt be publiſhed to all Nations. And he obſerves, that the Miracles which Chriſt wrought among the Gentiles and the Gadarens, were order'd to be publiſhed; becauſe with them there was not that Danger.

But Honour is like the Shadow, which as it flees from thoſe that follow it, ſo it follows thoſe that flee from it, v. 21. They ſpread abroad his Fame. This was more an Act of Zeal than of Prudence and Obſervance; and though it may be excus'd as honeſtly meant for the Honour of Chriſt, yet it cannot be juſtified, being done againſt a particular Charge. Whenever we profeſs to direct our Intention to the Glory of God, we muſt ſee to it that the Action be according to the Will of God.

Secondly. The Healing of a Dumb Man that was poſſeſſed with a Devil. And here obſerve,

1. His Caſe, which was very ſad; He was under the Power of the Devil in this particular Inſtance, that he was diſabled to ſpeak, v. 32. See the calamitous State of this World, and how various the Afflictions of the Afflicted are; we have no ſooner diſmiſs'd two Blind Men, but we meet with a Dumb Man. How thankful ſhould we be to God for our Sight and Speech. See the Malice of Satan againſt Mankind, and how many Ways he ſhews it. This Man's Dumbneſs was the Effect of his being poſſeſſed with a Devil; but it was better he ſhould be made unable to ſay any thing, than be forc'd to ſay as thoſe Dæmoniacks did, chap. 8. 29. What have we to do with thee? of the two, better a Dumb Devil, than a Blaſpheming one. When the Devil gets Poſſeſſion of a Soul, 'tis made ſilent as to any thing that is good; Dumb in Prayers and Praiſes, which the Devil is a Sworn Enemy to. This poor Creature they brought to Chriſt, who entertained not only thoſe that came of themſelves in their own Faith, but thoſe that were brought to him by their Friends, and the Faith of others. Tho' the Juſt ſhall live eternally by his Faith, yet Temporal Mercies may be beſtow'd on us with an eye to their Faith that are Interceſſors on our Behalf. They brought him in juſt as the blind Men went out. See how unwearied Chriſt was in doing good, how cloſely one good Work follow'd another. Treaſures of mercy, wondrous mercy are hid in him, which may be continually ſpent upon, but can never be exhauſted.

2. His Cure, which was very ſudden, v. 33. When the Devil was caſt out, the Dumb ſpake. Note, Chriſt's Cures ſtrike at the Root, and remove the Effect by taking away the Cauſe, opens the Lips, by breaking Satan's Power in the Soul. In Sanctification he heals the Waters, by caſting Salt into the Spring. When Chriſt by his Grace caſts the Devil out of a Soul, preſently the Dumb ſpake. When Paul was converted, behold he prays. Then the Dumb ſpake.

3. The Conſequences of this Cure,

1. The Multitudes marvelled; and well they might; though few believed, many wondered. The Admiration of the Common People is ſooner rais'd than any other Affection. 'Twas foretold that the New-Song, the New-Teſtament-Song ſhould be ſung for marvellous Works, Pſal. 98. 1. They ſaid, it was never ſo ſeen in Iſrael, and therefore never ſo ſeen any where; for no People experienc'd ſuch Wonders of Mercy as Iſrael did. There had been thoſe in Iſrael that were famous for working Miracles, but Chriſt excell'd them all. The Miracles Moſes wrought had Reference to Iſrael as a People, but Chriſt's were brought home to particular Perſons.

2. The Phariſees blaſphemed, v. 34. When they could not gainſay the convincing Evidence of theſe Miracles, they fathered them upon the Devil, as if they had been wrought by Compact, and Colluſion; he caſteth out Devils (ſay they) by the Prince of the Devils. A Suggeſtion horrid beyond Expreſſion, we ſhall hear more of it afterwards, and Chriſt's Anſwer to it, chap. 12. 14. Only obſerve here, how Evil Men and Seducers wax worſe and worſe, 2 Tim. 3. 13. and it is both their Sin and their Puniſhment. Their Quarrels with Chriſt for taking upon him to forgive Sin, v. 3. for converſing with Publicans and Sinners. v. 11. for not faſting, v. 14. though ſpiteful enough, yet had ſome Colour of Piety, Purity and Devotion in them. But this (which they are left to, to puniſh them for thoſe) breaths nothing elſe but Malice and Falſhood, and helliſh Enmity to the higheſt degree, 'tis Diaboliſm all over, and was therefore juſtly pronounc'd unpardonable. Becauſe the People marvelled they muſt ſay ſomething to diminiſh the Miracle, and this was all they could ſay.

35 And Jeſus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their ſynagogues, and preaching the goſpel of the kingdom, and healing every ſickneſs, and every diſeaſe among the people. 36 But when he ſaw the multitudes, he was moved with compaſſion on them; becauſe they fainted, and were ſcatter'd abroad, as ſheep having no ſhepherd. 37 Then ſaith he unto his diſciples, The harveſt truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few. 38 Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harveſt, that he will ſend forth labourers into his harveſt.

Here's 1. A Concluſion of the foregoing Account of Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles, v. 35. He went about all the Cities teaching and healing. This is the ſame we had before, chap. 4. 23. There it uſhers in the more particular Record of Chriſt's Preaching, chap. 5, 6, and 7. and of his Cures, chap. 8, and 9. And here it is elegantly repeated in the cloſe of the Inſtances, as the Quod erat demonſtrandum; as if the Evangeliſt ſhould ſay, Now I hope I have made it out, by an Induction of Particulars, that Chriſt preach'd and heal'd; for you have had the Heads of his Sermons, and ſome few Inſtances of his Cures, which were wrought to confirm his Doctrine: And theſe were written that you might believe. Some think this was a ſecond Perambulation of Galilee like the former; he viſited again thoſe whom he had before preach'd to. Tho' the Phariſees cavil'd at him, and oppos'd him, he went on with his Work; he preached the Goſpel of the Kingdom. He told them of a Kingdom of Grace and Glory, now to be ſet up under the Government of a Mediator; this was Goſpel indeed, good News, glad Tidings of great Joy.

Obſerve, how Chriſt in his Preaching had Reſpect,

1. To the private Towns. He viſited not only the great and wealthy Cities, but the poor obſcure Villages, there he preach'd, there he heal'd. The Souls of thoſe that are meaneſt in the World are as precious to Chriſt, and ſhould be to us, as the Souls of thoſe that make the greateſt Figure. Rich and Poor meet together in him, Citizens and Boors. His righteous Acts towards the Inhabitants of his Villages muſt be rehears'd, Jud. 5. 11.

2. To the publick Worſhip. He taught in their Synagogues. (1.) That he might bear a Teſtimony to ſolemn Aſſemblies, even then when there were Corruptions in them. We muſt not forſake the Aſſembling of ourſelves together, as the Manner of ſome is. (2.) That he might have an Opportunity of Preaching there where People were gathered together, with an Expectation to hear. Thus even after the Goſple Church was founded, and Chriſtian Meetings erected, the Apoſtles often preached in the Synagogues of the Jews. 'Tis the Wiſdom of the Prudent, to make the beſt of that which is.

2. A Preface or Introduction to the Account in the following Chapter, of his ſending forth his Apoſtles. He took notice of the Multiude, v. 36. not only the Crowds that follow'd him, but the vaſt Numbers of People with which (as he pas'd along) he obſerv'd the Country to be repleniſh'd; what Neſts of Souls the Towns and Cities were, and how thick of Inhabitants; what abundance of People there were in every Synagogue, and what Places of Concourſe the Openings of the Gates were. So very populous was that Nation now grown, and it was the Effect of God's Bleſſing on Abraham. Seeing this,

1. He pity'd them, and was concern'd for them, v. 36. He was moved with Compaſſion on them, not upon a Temporal Account as he pity'd the Blind, and Lame, and Sick; but upon a ſpiritual Account; he was concern'd to ſee them ignorant and careleſs, and ready to periſh for Lack of Viſion. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is a very compaſſionate Friend to precious Souls. Here his Bowels do in a ſpecial Mannern yern. 'Twas Pity to Souls that brought him from Heaven to Earth, and there to the Croſs. Miſery is the Object of Mercy, and the Miſeries of ſinful ſelf-deſtroying Souls are the greateſt Miſeries. Chriſt pities thoſe moſt, that pity themſelves leaſt; ſo ſhould we. The moſt Chriſtian Compaſſion is Compaſſion to Souls, 'tis moſt Chriſt-like.

See what mov'd this Pity. (1.) They fainted. They were deſtitute, vexed, wearied. They ſtrayed; ſo ſome; were looſed one from another. The Staff of Bands was broken' Zech. 11. 14. They wanted help for their Souls, and had none at hand that was good for any thing. The Scribes and Phariſees fill'd them with vain Notions, burthened them with the Traditions of the Elders, deluded them into many Miſtakes; while they were not inſtructed in their Duty, nor acquainted with the Extent and ſpiritual Nature of the Divine Law. Therefore they fainted; for what ſpiritual Health, and Life, and Vigour can there be in thoſe Souls, that are fed with Huſks and Aſhes inſtead of the Bread of Life. Precious Souls faint when Duty is to be done, Temptations to be reſiſted, Afflictions to be born, being not nouriſhed up with the Word of Truth. (2.) They were ſcatter'd abroad as Sheep having no Shepherd. That Expreſſion is borrow'd from 1 Kings 22. 17. and it ſets forth the ſad Condition of thoſe that are deſtitute of Faithful Guides to go before them in the things of God: No Creature more apt to go aſtray than a Sheep, and when gone Aſtray more helpleſs, ſhiftleſs, and expos'd, nor more unapt to find the Way home again; ſinful Souls are as loſt Sheep, they need the care of Shepherds to bring them back. The Teachers the Jews then had pretended to be Shepherds, yet Chriſt ſaith they had no Shepherds, for they were worſe than none. Idol-Shepherds, that led them away inſtead of reducing them, and fleec'd the Flock inſtead of feeding it. Such Shepherds as were deſcrib'd, Jer. 23. 1, &c. Ezek. 34. 2. &c. Note, The Caſe of thoſe People is very piteous, that either have no Miniſters at all, or thoſe that are as bad as none; that ſeek their own things, not the things of Chriſt and Souls.

2. He puts his Diſciples on to pray for them. His pity put him upon deviſing Means for the Good of theſe People. It appears Luke 6. 12, 13. that upon this Occaſion, before he ſent out his Apoſtles, he did himſelf ſpend a great deal of Time in Prayer. Note, Thoſe we pity, we ſhould pray for. Having ſpoken to God for them, he turns to the Diſciples, and tells them,

1. How the Caſe ſtood, v. 37. The Harveſt is truly plenteous, but the Labourers are few. People deſir'd good Preaching, but there were few good Preachers. There was a great deal of Work to be done, and a great deal of good likely to be done, but there wanted hands to do it. (1.) It was an Encouragement, that the Harveſt was ſo plenteous. It was not ſtrange that there were Multitudes that needed Inſtruction, but it was what doth not often happen, that they who needed it, deſir'd it, and were forward to receive it. They that were ill taught, were deſirous to be better taught, Peoples Expectations were rais'd, and there was ſuch a Moving of Affections as promis'd well. Note, Its a bleſſed thing to ſee People in Love with good Preaching. The Vallies are then cover'd over with Corn, and there's Hopes it may be well gather'd in. That's a Gale of Opportunity that calls for a double Care and Diligence in the Improvement of; a Harveſt Day that ſhould be a buſy Day. (2.) It was Pity when it was ſo, that the Labourers ſhould be ſo few; that the Corn ſhould ſhed and ſpoil, and rot upon the Ground for want of Reapers. Loyterers many, but Labourers very few. Note, Its ill with the Church, when good Work ſtands ſtill, or goes ſlowly on for want of good Workmen; when it is ſo, the Labourers that are, have need to be very buſy.

2. What was their Duty in this Caſe, v. 38. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the Harveſt. Note, The melancholy Aſpect of the Times, and the deplorable State of precious Souls, ſhould much excite and quicken Prayer. When things look diſcouraging, we ſhould pray more, and then we would complain and fear leſs. And we ſhould adapt our Prayers to the preſent Exigences of the Church; ſuch an Underſtanding we ought to have of the Times, as to know not only what Iſrael ought to do, but what Iſrael ought to pray for. Note, (1.) God is the Lord of the Harveſt; my Father is the Huſbandman, John 15. 1. 'Tis the Vineyard of the Lord of Hoſts, Iſa. 5. 7. 'Tis for him, and to him, and to his Service and Honour, that the Harveſt is gather'd in.

Ye are God's Husbandry, 1 Cor. 3. 9. his Threſhing, and the Corn of his Floor, Iſa. 21. 10. He orders every thing concerning the Harveſt as he pleaſeth, when and where the Labourers ſhall work, and how long; and it is very comfortable to thoſe who wiſh well to the Harveſt-work, that God himſelf preſides in it, who will be ſure to order all for the beſt. (2.) Miniſters are and ſhould be Labourers in God's Harveſt; the Miniſtry is a Work, and muſt be attended too accordingly; his Harveſt-Work, which is needful Work, Work that requires every thing to be done in its Seaſon, and Diligence to do it throughly; but it is pleaſant Work, they Reap in Joy, and the Joy of the Preachers of the Goſpel is liken'd to the Joy of Harveſt, Iſa. 9. 2. 3. And he that Reapeth receiveth Wages; the Hire of the Labourers that reap down God's Field ſhall not be kept back as theirs was, Jam. 5. 4. (3.) It is God's Work to ſend forth Labourers, Chriſt makes Miniſters, Eph. 4. 11. The Office is of his appointing, the Qualifications of his working, the Call of his giving. Thoſe will not be own'd, nor paid as Labourers that run without their Errand, unqualify'd, uncall'd. How ſhall they Preach except, they be ſent? (1.) All that love Chriſt and Souls, ſhould ſhew it by their earneſt Prayers to God, eſpecially when the Harveſt is plenteous, that he would ſend forth more ſkilful, faithful, wiſe, and induſtrious Labourers into his Harveſt. That he will raiſe up ſuch as he will own in the Converſion of Sinners, and the Edification of Saints, would Spirit them for the Work, call them to it, and ſucceed them in it; that he would give them Wiſdom to win Souls, that he would thruſt forth Labourers. So ſome intimating unwillingneſs in them to go forth, becauſe of their own Weakneſs and the People's Badneſs, and Oppoſition from Men that endeavour to thruſt them out of the Harveſt, but pray that all Contradiction from within, and from without may be conquer'd and got over. Chriſt puts his Friends upon praying this, juſt before he ſends Apoſtles forth to Labour in the Harveſt. Note, It is a good ſign God is about to beſtow ſome ſpecial Mercy upon a People, when he ſtirs up thoſe that have an Intereſt at the Throne of Grace to pray for it, Pſal. 10. 17. Further Obſerve, that Chriſt ſaid this to his Diſciples who were to be employ'd as Labourers. They muſt pray. (1.) That God would ſend them forth. Here am I, ſend me, Iſa. 6. 8. Note, Commiſſions given in anſwer to Prayer are moſt likely to be ſucceſsful; Paul is a choſen Veſſel, for, behold he prays, Acts 9. 11, 15. (2.) That he would ſend others forth. Note, Not the People only, but thoſe who are themſelves Miniſters, ſhould pray for the Increaſe of Miniſters. Tho' Self-intereſt make thoſe that ſeek their own things deſirous to be placed alone, the fewer Miniſters, the more Preferments, yet thoſe that ſeek the things of Chriſt deſire more Workmen, that more Work may be done, tho' they be eclips'd by it.

CHAP. X.

This Chapter is an Ordination Sermon, which our Lord Jeſus Preach'd when he advanc'd his twelve Diſciples to the Degree and Dignity of Apoſtles: In the cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, he had ſtir'd them and others up to Pray that God would ſend forth Labourers, and here we have an immediate Anſwer to that Prayer; while they are yet ſpeaking he hears and doth. What we pray for according to Chriſt's Direction ſhall be given in. Now here we have (1.) the general Commiſſion that was given them, v. 1. (2.) The Names of the Perſons to whom this Commiſſion was given, v. 2.–4. (3.) The Inſtructions that were given them, which are very full and particular, (1.) concerning the Services they were to do, their Preaching, their working Miracles, to whom they muſt apply themſelves, how they muſt behave themſelves, and in what Method they muſt proceed, v. 5.–15. (2.) Concerning the Sufferings they were to undergo. They are told what they ſhould ſuffer, and from whom; Counſels are given them what courſe to take when they were Perſecuted, and Encouragements to bear up chearfully under their Sufferings, v. 16.--42. And theſe things. tho' primarily intended for direction to the Apoſtles then, are of uſe to all Chriſt's Miniſters, with whom by this Word Chriſt is, and will be always to the end of the Word.

AND when he had called unto him his twelve diſciples he gave them power againſt unclean ſpirits to caſt them out, and to heal all manner of ſickneſs, and all manner of diſeaſe. 2 Now the names of the twelve Apoſtles are theſe: the firſt Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, James the ſon of Zebedee, and John his brother. 3 Philip, and Bartholomew, Thomas, and Matthew the publican, James the ſon of Alpheus, and Lebbeus, whoſe ſirname was Thaddeus. 4 Simon the Canaanite, and Judas Iſcariot, who alſo betrayed him.

Here we are told,

(1.) Who they were that Chriſt Ordained to be his Apoſtles, or Embaſſadors; they were his Diſciples, v. 1. He had call'd them to be Diſciples ſome time before, his immediate Followers, and conſtant Attendants, and he then told them they ſhould be made Fiſhers of Men, which Promiſe he now perform'd. Note, Chriſt commonly confers Honours and Graces by degrees; the Light of both, like that of the Morning, ſhines more and more. All this while Chriſt had had theſe twelve (1.) in a State of Probation. Tho' he knows what is in Man, knew from the firſt what was in them, John 6. 70. yet he took this Method to give an Example to his Church. Note, The Miniſtry being a great Truſt, 'tis fit that Men ſhould be try'd for a time before they be truſted with it. Let them firſt be prov'd, 1 Tim. 3. 10. Therefore Hands muſt not be laid ſuddenly on any Man, but let him firſt be obſerv'd as a Candidate and Probationer, a Propoſant, (that's the Term the French Churches uſe) becauſe ſome Mens Sins go before, others follow, 1 Tim. 5. 22. (2.) In a State of Preparation. All this while he had been fitting them for this great Work. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt intends for, and calls to any Work, he firſt prepares and qualifies them in ſome meaſure for it. He prepar'd them (1.) by taking them to be with him. Note, The beſt Preparative for the Work of the Miniſtry, is an Acquaintance and Communion with Jeſus Chriſt. Thoſe that would ſerve Chriſt, muſt firſt be with him, John 12. 26. Paul had Chriſt revealed, not only to him but in him, before he went to preach him among the Gentiles, Gal. 1. 16. By the lively Acts of Faith, and the frequent Exerciſe of Prayer and Meditation, that Fellowſhip with Chriſt muſt be maintain'd and kept up, which is a requiſite Qualification for the Work of the Miniſtry. (2.) By teaching them; they were with him as Scholars or Pupils, and he taught them privately, beſides the Benefit they had by his publick Preaching; he open'd the Scriptures to them, and open'd their Underſtandings to underſtand the Scripture; to them it was given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, and to them they were made plain. Note, Thoſe that deſign to be Teachers, muſt firſt be Learners, they muſt receive that they may give; they muſt be able to teach others, 2 Tim. 2. 2. Goſpel-Truths muſt firſt be committed to them before they be Commiſſion'd to be Goſpel-Miniſters. To give Men Authority to teach others that have not an Ability, is but a Mokery to God and the Church; 'tis ſending a Meſſage by the Hand of a Fool, Prov. 26. 6. Chriſt taught his Diſciples before he ſent them forth, Chap. 5. 2. and afterwards, when he enlarg'd their Commiſſion, he gave them more ample Inſtructions, Acts 1. 3.

(2.) What the Commiſſion was that he gave them.

1. He call'd them to him, v. 1. He had call'd them to come after him before, now he calls them to come to him, admits them into a greater Familiarity, and will not have them keep at ſuch a diſtance as they had hitherto obſerv'd. Thoſe that humble themſelves ſhall thus be exalted. The Prieſts under the Law were ſaid to draw near and approach unto God, nearer than the People; the ſame may be ſaid of Goſpel-Miniſters; they are call'd to draw near to Chriſt, which as it is an Honour, ſo it ſhould ſtrike an Awe upon them, remembring that Chriſt will be Sanctified in thoſe that come nigh unto him. It is obſervable, when the Diſciples were to be inſtructed, they came unto him of their own accord, Mat. 5. 1. But now they were to be Ordain'd, he call'd them. Note, It well becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt to be more forward to learn than to teach. In the Senſe of our own Ignorance we muſt ſeek Opportunities to be taught; and in the ſame Senſe we muſt wait for a Call, a clear Call, e'er we take upon us to teach others; for no Man ought to take this Honour to himſelf.

2. He gave them Power, ἐξουσίαν, Authority in his Name to command Men into Obedience, and for the Confirmation of that Authority, to command Devils too into a Subjection. Note, All rightful Authority is deriv'd from Jeſus Chriſt. All Power is given to him without Limitation, and the ſubordinate Powers that be are ordain'd of him. Some of his Honour he puts on his Miniſters, as Moſes put ſome of his on Joſhua. Note, It is an undeniable Proof of the Fulneſs of Power Chriſt us'd as Mediator, that he could impart his Power to thoſe he imploy'd, and enable them to work the ſame Miracles that he wrought in his Name. He gave them Power over unclean Spirits, and over all manner of Sickneſs. Note, The Deſign of the Goſpel was to conquer the Devil, and to cure the World, Theſe Preachers were ſent out deſtitute of all external Advantages to recommend them; they had no Wealth, or Learning, or Titles of Honour, and made a very mean Figure; it was therefore requiſite they ſhould have ſome extraordinary Power to advance them above the Scribes.

1. He gave them Power againſt unclean Spirits to caſt them out. Note, The Power that is committed to the Miniſters of Chriſt, is directly level'd againſt the Devil and his Kingdom. The Devil as an unclean Spirit, is working both in doctrinal Errors, Rev. 16. 13. and in practical Debauchery, 2 Pet. 2. 10. and in both theſe Miniſters have a Charge againſt him. This here is meant of a Power to caſt him out of the Bodies of People; but that was to ſignify the Deſtruction of his Spiritual Kingdom, and all the Works of the Devil; for which purpoſe the Son of God was manifeſted.

2. He gave them Power to heal all manner of Sickneſs. He authoriz'd them to work Miracles for the Confirmation of their Doctrine, to prove that it was of God; and they were to work uſeful Miracles for the Illuſtration of it, to prove, that it is not only faithful, but well worthy of all Acceptation; that the deſign of the Goſpel is to Heal, and Save. Moſes's Miracles were many of them for Deſtruction; thoſe Mahomet pretended to were for Oſtentation, but the Miracles Chriſt wrought, and appointed his Apoſtles to work, were all for Edification, and ſpeak him, not only the great Teacher and Ruler, but the great Redeemer of the World. Obſerve, what an Emphaſis is laid upon the extent of their Power to all manner of Sickneſs, and all manner of Diſeaſe, without exception, even of thoſe that are reckon'd Incurable, and the Reproach of Phyſicians. Note, In the Grace of the Goſpel there is a Salve for every Sore, a Remedy for every Malady, There is no ſpiritual Diſeaſe ſo malignant, ſo inveterate, but there is a ſuffia ſufficiency of Power in Chriſt for the Cure of it. Let none therefore ſay, there is no Hope, or that the Breach is wide as the Sea, that cannot be heal'd

(3.) The Number and Names of thoſe that were Commiſſion'd; they are made Apoſtles, that is, Meſſengers. An Angel, and an Apoſtle, both ſignifie the ſame thing, one ſent on an Errand; an Embaſſador. All faithful Miniſters are ſent of Chriſt, but thoſe that were firſt, and immediately ſent by him, are eminently call'd Apoſtles, the prime Miniſters of State in his Kingdom. Yet this was but the Infancy of their Office; it was when Chriſt aſcended on high that he gave ſome Apoſtles, Eph. 4. 11. Chriſt himſelf is call'd an Apoſtle, Heb. 3. 1. for he was ſent by the Father, and ſo ſent them, John 20. 21. The Prophets were call'd God's Meſſengers.

1. Their Number was Twelve, referring to the Number of the Tribes of Iſrael, and the Sons of Jacob that were the Patriarchs of thoſe Tribes. The Goſpel-Church muſt be the Iſrael of God, the Jews muſt be firſt invited into it; the Apoſtles muſt be ſpiritual Fathers to beget a Seed to Chriſt. Iſrael after the Fleſh is to be rejected for thir Infidelity, theſe twelve therefore are appointed to be the Fathers of another Iſrael. Theſe Twelve by their Doctrine were to judge the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, Luke 22. 30. Theſe were the twelve Stars that made up the Churches Crown, Rev. 12. 1. the twelve Foundations of the new Jeruſalem, Rev. 21. 12, 14. typified by the twelve precious Stones in Aaron's Breaſt-plate, the twelve Loaves on the Table of Shew-bread, the twelve Wells of Water at Elim. This was that that famous Jury, (and to make it a grand Jury, Paul was added to it) that was Empannel'd to enquire between the King of Kings, and the Body of Mankind, and in this Chapter they have their Charge given them by him to whom all Judgment was committed.

2. Their Names are here left upon Record, and it is their Honour; yet in this they had more reaſon to rejoyce that their Names were written in Heaven, Luke 10. 20. when the high and mighty Names of the great ones of the Earth are bury'd in the Duſt.

1. There are ſome of theſe twelve Apoſtles that we know no more of from the Scripture but only their Names; as Bartholomew and Simon the Cananite, and yet they were faithful Servants to Chriſt and his Church. Note, All the good Miniſters of Chriſt are not alike famous, or their Actions alike celebrated.

2. They are nam'd by couples; for at firſt they were ſent forth two and two, becauſe two are better than one; they would be ſerviceable to each other, and the more ſerviceable joyntly to Chriſt and Souls; what one forgot, the other would remember, and out of the Mouth of two Witneſſes every word would be eſtabliſh'd. Three couple of them were Brethren; Peter and Andrew, James and John, and the other James and Lebbeus. Note, Friendſhip and Fellowſhip ought to be kept up among Relations, and to be made ſerviceable to Religion. 'Tis an excellent thing when Brethren by Nature are Brethren by Grace, and thoſe two Bonds ſtrengthen each other.

3. Peter is nam'd firſt, becauſe he was firſt call'd; or becauſe he was the moſt forward Man among them, and upon all occaſions made himſelf the Mouth of the reſt, and he was to be the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, but that gave him no Power over the reſt of the Apoſtles, nor is there the leaſt mark of any Supremacy that was given to him, or ever claim'd by him in this ſacred Colledge.

4. Matthew the Penman of this Goſpel is here joyn'd with Thomas, v. 3. But in two things varying from the Accounts of Mark and Luke, (Mark 3. 18. Luke 6. 16.) There Matthew is put firſt, in that order 'twas likely he was Ordain'd, before Thomas; but here in his own Catalogue Thomas is put firſt. Note, It well becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt in honour to prefer one another. There he is only call'd Matthew, here Matthew the Publican, the Toll-gatherer, or Collector of the Cuſtoms, who was call'd from that infamous Employment to be an Apoſtle. Note, It is good for thoſe who are advanc'd to Honour with Chriſt to look unto the Rock whence they were hewn; oft to remember what they were before Chriſt called, that thereby they may be kept humble, and divine Grace may be the more glorified. Matthew the Apoſtle was Matthew the Publican.

5. Simon is call'd the Cananite, or rather the Canite, from Cana of Galilee, where probably he was born; or Simon the Zealot, which ſome make to be the ſignification of Κανανίτης.

6. Judas Iſcariot is always named laſt, and with that black Brand upon his Name, who alſo betray'd him; which intimates, that from the firſt Chriſt knew what a Wretch he was, that he had a Devil, and would prove a Traitor; yet Chriſt took him among the Apoſtles, that it might not be a Surprize and Diſcouragement to his Church, if at any time the vileſt Scandals would break out in the beſt Societies, Such Spots there have been in our Feaſts of Charity; Tares among the Wheat, Wolves among the Sheep; but there is a Day of Diſcovery and Separation coming, when Hypocrites ſhall be unmask'd and diſcarded. Neither the Apoſtleſhip, nor the reſt of the Apoſtles were ever the worſe for Judas's being one of the Twelve, while his Wickedneſs was conceal'd, and did not break out.

5 Theſe twelve Jeſus ſent forth and commanded them, ſaying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not. 6 But go rather to the loſt ſheep of the houſe of Iſrael. 7 And as you go, preach, ſaying, the kingdom of heaven is at hand. 8 Heal the ſick, cleanſe the lepers, raiſe the dead: caſt out devils: freely ye have received, freely give. 9 Provide neither gold, nor ſilver, nor braſs, in your purſes: 10 Nor ſcrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither ſhoes, nor yet ſtaves: (for the workman is worthy of his meat.) 11 And into whatſoever city or town ye ſhall enter, enquire who in it is worthy, and there abide till ye go thence. 12 And when ye come into an houſe ſalute it. 13 And if the houſe be worthy, let your peace come upon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you. 14 And whoſoever ſhall not receive you, nor hear your words: when ye depart out of that houſe, or city, ſhake off the duſt of your feet. 15 Verily I ſay unto you, It ſhall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment, then for that city.

We have here the Inſtructions that Chriſt gave to his Diſciples, when he gave them their Commiſſion. Whether this Charge was given them in a continued Diſcourſe, or the ſeveral Articles of it hinted to them at ſeveral times, is not material; in this he commanded them. Jacob's Bleſſing his Sons, is call'd his commanding them, and with theſe Commands Chriſt commanded a Bleſſing. Obſerve, Firſt, The People to whom he ſent them. Theſe Embaſſadors are directed what Places to go to.

1. Not to the Gentiles, or the Samaritans. They muſt not go into the way of the Gentiles, not into any Road out of the Land of Iſrael, whatever Temptations they might have. The Gentiles muſt not have the Goſpel brought them till the Jews have firſt refus'd it. As to the Samaritans, who were the Poſterity of that mungrel People that the King of Aſſyria planted about Samaria, their Country lay between Judea and Galilee, ſo that they could not avoid going into the way of the Samaritans, but they muſt not enter into any of their Cities. Chriſt had declin'd manifeſting himſelf to the Gentiles, or Samaritans, and therefore the Apoſtles muſt not preach to them. If the Goſpel be hid from any Place, Chriſt thereby hides himſelf from that Place. This Reſtraint was upon them only in their firſt Miſſion, afterwards they were appointed to go into all the World, and teach all Nations.

2. But to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael. To them Chriſt appropriated his own Miniſtry, Matt. 15. 24. for he was a Miniſter of the Circumciſion, Rom. 15. 8. And therefore to them the Apoſtles, who were but his Attendants and Agents, muſt be confin'd. The firſt Offer of Salvation muſt be made to the Jews, Acts 3. 26. Note, Chriſt had a particular, and very tender Concern for the Houſe of Iſrael; they were beloved for the Father's ſake, Rom. 11. 28. He look'd with Compaſſion upon them as loſt Sheep, whom he as a Shepherd was to gather out of the By-paths of Sin and Error, into which they were gone aſtray, and in which, if not reduc'd, they would wander endleſly. See Jer. 50. 6. The Gentiles alſo had been as loſt Sheep, 1 Pet. 23. 25. Chriſt gives this Deſcription of thoſe to whom they were ſent to quicken them to Diligence in their Work; they were ſent to the Houſe of Iſrael, (of which Number they themſelves lately were) whom they could not but pity, and be deſirous to help.

Secondly, The Preaching-work which he appointed them. He did not ſend them forth without an Errand, no, As ye go, Preach, v. 7. They were to be itinerant Preachers; wherever they come they muſt proclaim the beginning of the Goſpel, ſaying, The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. Not that they muſt ſay nothing elſe, but this muſt be their Text, on this Subject they muſt enlarge; let People know that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, who is the Lord from Heaven is now to be ſet up according to the Scriptures; from whence it follows, that Men muſt repent of their Sins, and forſake them, that they might be admitted to the Privileges of that Kingdom. It is ſaid, Mark 6. 12. they went out and Preach'd that Men ſhould repent; which was the proper Uſe and Application of this Doctrine, concerning the Approach of the Kingdom of Heaven. They muſt therefore expect to hear more of this long look'd for Meſſiah ſhortly, and muſt be ready to receive his Doctrine, to believe in him, and to ſubmit to his Yoke. The Preaching of this was like the Morning-light, to give notice of the approach of the Riſing-ſun. How unlike was this to the Preaching of Jonah, which proclam'd Ruin at hand, Jon. 3. 4. This proclaims Salvation at hand, nigh them that fear God; Mercy and Truth meet together, Pſal. 85. 9, 10. that's the Kingdom of Heaven at hand. Not ſo much the Perſonal Preſence of the King, that muſt not be doted upon, but a Spiritual Kingdom which is to be ſet up when his Bodily Preſence is remov'd in the Hearts of Men.

Now this was the ſame that John Baptiſt and Chriſt had Preach'd before. Note, People need to have good Truths preſs'd again and again upon them, and if they be preach'd and heard with new Affections, they are as if they were freſh to us. Chriſt in the Goſpel is the ſame yeſterday, to day, and for ever. Heb. 13. 8. Afterwards indeed when the Spirit was pour'd out, and the Chriſtian Church was form'd, this Kingdom of Heaven came, which was now ſpoken of as at hand; but the Kingdom of Heaven muſt ſtill be the Subjects of our Preaching: Now it is come, we muſt tell People 'tis come to them, and muſt lay before them the Precepts and Privileges of it; and there is a Kingdom of Glory yet to come, which we muſt ſpeak of as at hand, and quicken People to Diligence from the Conſideration of that.

Thirdly, The Power he gave them to work Miracles for the Confirmation of their Doctrine, v. 8. when he ſent them to preach the ſame Doctrine that he had preach'd, he impower'd them to confirm it by the ſame Divine Seals, which could never be ſet to a Lye. This needs not now the Kingdom of God is come; to call for Miracles now, is to lay again the Foundation when the Building is rear'd. The Point being ſettled, and the Doctrine of Chriſt ſufficiently atteſted by the Miracles which Chriſt and his Apoſtles wrought, 'tis tempting God to ask for more Signs. They are directed here

1. To uſe their Power in doing Good; not go and remove Mountains, or fetch Fire from Heaven, but heal the Sick, cleanſe the Lepers. They are ſent abroad as publick Bleſſings, to intimate to the World, That Love and Goodneſs was the Spirit and Genius of that Goſpel which they came to preach, and that Kingdom which they were employ'd to ſet up. By this it would appear that they were the Servants of that God, who is good, and doth good, and whoſe Mercy is over all his Works; and that the Intention of the Doctrine they preach'd was to heal ſick Souls, and to raiſe thoſe that were dead in Sin; and therefore perhaps that of raiſing the Dead is mention'd; for tho' we read not of their raiſing any to Life before the Reſurrection of Chriſt, yet they were inſtrumental to raiſe many to Spiritual Life.

2. In doing Good freely; freely ye have received, freely give. Thoſe that had Power to heal all Diſeaſes, had an Opportunity to enrich themſelves; who would not purchaſe ſuch eaſie certain Cures at any rate? Therefore they are caution'd not to make a Gain of the Power they had to work Miracles: They muſt cure gratis, further to exemplifie the Nature and Complexion of the Goſpel-Kingdom, which is made up, not only of Grace, but of Free Grace. Gratia gratis data, Rom. 3. 24. freely by his Grace. Buy Medicines without Money, and without Price, Iſa. 55. 1. And the reaſon is, becauſe freely you have received. Their Power to heal the Sick coſt them nothing, and therefore they muſt not make any ſecular Advantage to themſelves of it. Simon Magus would not have given Money for the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, if he had not hoped to get Money by them; Acts 8. 18. Note, The Conſideration of Chriſt's Freeneſs in doing Good to us, ſhould make us free in doing Good to others.

Fourthly, The Proviſion that muſt be made for them in this Expedition; 'tis a thing to be conſider'd, in ſending an Embaſſador, who muſt bear the Charge of the Embaſſy. As to that.

1. They muſt make no Proviſion for it themſelves, v. 9, 10. Provide neither Gold nor Silver. As on the one hand they ſhall not raiſe Eſtates by their Work, ſo on the other hand, they ſhall not ſpend what little they have of their own upon it. This was confin'd to the preſent Miſſion, and Chriſt would teach them (1.) to act under the Conduct of human Prudence. They were now to make but a ſhort Sally out, and were ſoon to return to their Maſter, and to their Head-Quarters again, and therefore why ſhould they Burthen themſelves with that which they ſhould have no occaſion for. (2.) To act in dependance upon Divine Providence. They muſt be taught to live without taking thought for Life, Matt. 6. 25, &c. Note, Thoſe who go upon Chriſt's Errand, have of all People moſt reaſon to truſt him for Food convenient. Doubtleſs he will not be wanting to thoſe that are working for him. Thoſe whom he employs, as they are taken under ſpecial Protection, ſo they are entitled to ſpecial Proviſions. Chriſt's hired Servants ſhall have Bread enough, and to ſpare. While we abide faithful to God and our Duty, and are in care to do our work well, we may caſt all our other Care upon God; Jehovah jireh, Let the Lord provide for us and ours, as he thinks fit.

2. They might expect that thoſe they were ſent to would provide for them what was neceſſary, v. 10. The Workman is worthy of his Meat. They muſt not expect to be fed by Miracles, as Eljiah was; but they might depend upon God to incline the Hearts of thoſe they went among to be kind to them, and provide for them. Tho' they who ſerve at the Altar, may not expect to grow rich by the Altar, yet they may expect to live, and to live comfortably upon it, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. 'Tis fit they ſhould have their Maintenance from their Work. Miniſters are, and muſt be Workmen, Labourers, and thoſe that are ſo are worthy of their Meat, ſo as not to be forc'd to any other Labour for the earning of it. Chriſt would have his Diſciples, as not to diſtruſt their God, ſo not to diſtruſt their Country-men, ſo far as to doubt of a comfortable Subſiſtance among them. If you Preach to them, and endeavour to do Good among them, ſurely they will give you Meat and Drink enough for your Neceſſities; and if they do, never deſire Dainties, God will pay you your Wages hereafter, and it will be running on in the mean time.

Fifthly, The Proceedings they were to make in dealing with any place, v. 11.-15. They went abroad, they knew not whither, uninvited, unexpected, knowing none, and known of none; the Land of their Nativity was to them a ſtrange Land; what Rule muſt they go by? What Courſe muſt they take? Chriſt would not ſend them out without full Inſtructions, and here they are.

1. They are here directed how to carry themſelves towards thoſe that were Strangers to them. How to do,

(1.) In ſtrange Towns and Cities; when you come to a Town, enquire who in it is worthy. (1.) It is ſuppos'd there were ſome ſuch in every Place as were better diſpos'd than others to receive the Goſpel, and the Preachers of it; tho' it was a Time of general Corruption and Apoſtacy. Note, In the worſt of Times and Places, we may charitably hope there are ſome that diſtinguiſh themſelves, and are better than their Neighbours; ſome that ſwim againſt the Stream, and are as Wheat among the Chaff. There were Saints in Nero's Houſhold. Enquire who is worthy, i. e. who there are that have ſome Fear of God before their Eyes, and have made a good Improvement of the Light and Knowledge they have; the beſt are far from meriting the Favour of a Goſpel-offer; but ſome would be more likely than others to give the Apoſtles and their Meſſage a favourable Entertainment, and would not trample theſe Pearls under their Feet. Note, Previous Diſpoſitions to that which is good, are both Directions and Encouragements to Miniſters in dealing with People; There is moſt hopes of the Word being profitable to thoſe who are already ſo well inclin'd, as that 'tis acceptable to them; and there's here and there one ſuch. (2.) They muſt enquire out ſuch; not enquire for the beſt Inns; Publick-houſes were no proper Places for them that neither took Money with them, v. 9. nor expected to receive any, v. 8. But they muſt hearken out for Accommodations in private Houſes, with thoſe that would entertain them well, and expect no other Recompence for it but a Prophet's Reward, an Apoſtle's Reward, their Praying and Preaching. Note, Thoſe that entertain the Goſpel muſt neither grudge the Expence of it, nor promiſe themſelves to get by it in this World. They muſt enquire not, who is Rich? but who is worthy? not who is the beſt Gentleman, but who is the beſt Man? Note, Chriſt's Diſciples, where-ever they come, ſhould ask for the good People of the Place, and be acquainted with them; when we took God for our God, we took his People for our People, and Like will rejoyce in its Like. Paul in all his Travels found out the Brethren, if there were any, Acts 28. 14. It is implied, that if they did enquire who was worthy, they might diſcover them. Thoſe that were better than their Neighbours would be taken notice of, and any one could tell them, there lives an honeſt, ſober, good Man; for this is a Character, which like the Ointment of the Right-hand, bewrays it ſelf, and fills the Houſe with its Odours. Every body knew where the Seer's Houſe was, 1 Sam. 9. 18. (3.) In the Houſe of thoſe they found worthy, they muſt continue; which intimates, that they were to make ſo ſhort a Stay at each Town, that they needed not change their Lodging, but whatever Houſe Providence brought them to at firſt, there they muſt contiuue till they left that Town. Thoſe are juſtly ſuſpected, as having no good Deſign, that are often changing their Quarters. Note, It becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt to make the beſt of that which is, to abide by it, and not be for ſhifting upon every Diſlike, or Inconvenience.

(2.) In ſtrange Houſes. When they had found the Houſe of one they thought worthy, they muſt at their entrance ſalute it. In thoſe common Civilities be before-hand with People, in Token of your Humility. Think it not a diſparagement to invite yourſelves into a Houſe, nor ſtand upon the Punctilio of being invited. Salute the Family, (1.) to draw on further Diſcourſe, and ſo to introduce your Meſſage. From Matters of common Converſation, we may inſenſibly paſs into that Communication which is good to the uſe of Edifying. (2.) To try whether you are welcome or no; you'll take notice whether the Salutation be received ſhily and coldly, or with a ready Return. He that will not receive your Salutation kindly, will not receive your Meſſage kindly; for he that is unſkilful and unfaithful in a little, will be in much, Luke 16. 10. (3.) To inſinuate yourſelves into their good Opinion. Salute the Family, that they may ſee, tho' you are ſerious, you are not moroſe. Note, Religion teacheth us to be Courteous and Civil, and Obliging to all with whom we have to do. Tho' the Apoſtles went out back'd with the Authority of the Son of God himſelf, yet their Inſtructions were when they came into a Houſe, not to command it, but to ſalute it; for Love's ſake rather to beſeech, is the Evangelical way, Philemon 8. 9. Souls are firſt drawn to Chriſt with the Cords of a Man, and kept to him by the Bands of Love, Hoſ. 11. 4. When Peter made the firſt Offer of the Goſpel to Cornelius a Gentile, Peter was firſt ſaluted; ſee Acts 10. 25. for the Gentiles courted that which the Jews were courted to.

When they had ſaluted the Family after a Godly ſort, they muſt by the Return judge concerning the Family, and proceed accordingly. Note, The Eye of God is upon us to obſerve what Entertainment we give to good People and good Miniſters; If the Houſe be worthy, let your Peace come and reſt upon it; if not, let it return to you, v. 13. It ſeems then after they had enquired for the moſt Worthy, v. 11. 'twas poſſible they might light upon thoſe that were unworthy. Note, Tho' it is Wiſdom to hearken to, yet it is Folly to rely upon common Report and Opinion; we ought to uſe a Judgment of Diſcretion, and to ſee with our own Eyes. The Wiſdom of the Prudent is himſelf to underſtand his own way. Now this Rule is intended,

(1.) For Satisfaction to the Apoſtles. The common Salutation was, Peace be unto you; this, as they us'd, was turn'd into Goſpel; 'twas the Peace of God, the Peace of the Kingdom of Heaven that they wiſh'd: Now leſt they ſhould make a ſcruple of pronouncing this Bleſſing upon all promiſcuouſly, becauſe many were utterly unworthy of it, this is to clear them of that Scruple; Chriſt tells them that this Goſpel-Prayer, (for ſo it was now become) ſhould be put up for all, as the Goſpel-proffer was made to all indefinitely, and let God alone, who knows the Heart, and every Man's true Character, to determine the Iſſue of it. If the Houſe be worthy, it will reap the Benefit of your Bleſſing, if not, there's no harm done, you will not loſe the Benefit of it; it ſhall return to you as David's Prayers for his ungrateful Enemies did, Pſal. 35. 13. Note, It becomes us to judge charitably of all, pray heartily for all, and carry our ſelves courteouſly to all, for that's our part, and then leave it with God what effect it ſhall have upon them, for that's his part.

(2.) For Direction to them. If upon your Salutation it appear that they are indeed worthy, let them have more of your Company, and ſo let your Peace come upon them, Preach the Goſpel to them, Peace by Jeſus Chriſt; but if otherwiſe, if they carry it rudely to you, and ſhut their Doors againſt you, let your Peace, as much as in you lies, return to you. Retract what you have ſaid, and turn your Backs upon them; by ſlighting this, they have made themſelves unworthy of the reſt of your Favours, and cut themſelves ſhort of them. Note, Great Bleſſings are often loſt by a Neglect, ſeemingly ſmall and inconſiderable, when Men are in their Probation, and upon their Behaviour. Thus Eſau loſt his Birthright, Gen. 25. 34. and Saul his Kingdom, 1 Sam. 13. 13, 14.

2. They are here directed how to carry it towards thoſe that were refuſers of them. The Caſe is put, v. 14. of thoſe that would not receive them, nor hear their words. The Apoſtles might think now they had ſuch a Doctrine to preach, and ſuch a Power to work Miracles for the confirmation of it; no doubt but they ſhould be univerſally entertain'd, and bid welcome: They are therefore told before that there would be thoſe that would ſlight them, and put Contempt on them and their Meſſage. Note, The beſt and moſt powerful Preachers of theGoſpel muſt expect to meet with ſome that will not ſomuch as give them the Hearing, nor ſhew them any Token of Reſpect. Many turn a deaf Ear, even to the joyful ſound, and will not hearken to the Voice of the Charmers, charm they never ſo wiſely. Obſerve, They will not receive you, and they will not hear your Words. Note, Contempt of the Goſpel, and Contempt of Goſpel-Miniſters commonly go together, and they will either of them be conſtrued a Contempt of Chriſt, and will be reckon'd for accordingly.

Now in this Caſe, we have here

1. The Directions given to the Apoſtles what to do. They muſt depart out of that Houſe, or City. Note, The Goſpel will not tarry long with thoſe that put it away from them. At their departure, they muſt ſhake off the Duſt of their Feet. (1.) In Deteſtation of their Wickedneſs, it was ſo abominable, that it did even pollute theGround they went upon, which muſt therefore be ſhaken off as a filthy thing. The Apoſtles muſt have no Fellowſhip or Communion with them; muſt not ſo much as carry away the Duſt of their City with them. The Work of them that turn aſide ſhall not cleave to me, Pſal. 101. 3. The Prophet was not to eat or drink in Bethel, 1 Kings 13. 9. (2.) As a Denunciation of Wrath againſt them. 'Twas to ſignifie that they were Baſe, and Vile as Duſt, and God would ſhake them off. The Duſt of the Apoſtles Feet which they left behind them would witneſs againſt them, and be brought in in Evidence that the Goſpel had been Preach'd to them, Mark 6. 11. Compare James 5. 3. See this practis'd, Acts 13. 51. Acts 18. 6. Note, Thoſe who deſpiſe God and his Goſpel ſhall be lightly eſteemed.

2. The Doom paſt upon ſuch wilful Recuſants, v. 15. It ſhall be more tolerable in the Day of Judgment for the Land of Sodom, as wicked a Place as it was. Note, (1.) There is a Day of Judgment coming, when all thoſe that refus'd the Goſpel will certainly be call'd to account for it; however they now make a Jeſt of it. Thoſe that would not hear the Doctrine that would ſave them, ſhall be made to hear the Sentence that will ruin them. Their Judgment is reſpited till that Day. (2.) There are different degrees of Puniſhment in that Day. All the Pains of Hell will be intolerable, but ſome will be more ſo than others. Some Sinners ſink deeper into Hell than others, and are beaten with more Strips. (3.) The Condemnation of thoſe that reject the Goſpel, will in that be ſeverer and heavier than that of Sodom and Gomorrah. Sodom is ſaid to ſuffer the Vengeance of Eternal Fire, Jude 7. But that Vengeance will come with an Aggravation upon thoſe that deſpiſe the great Salvation. Sodom and Gomorrah were exceeding wicked, Gen. 13. 13. and that which fill'd up the Meaſure of their Iniquity was, that they received not the Angels that were ſent to them, but abuſed them, Gen. 19. 4, 5. and hearken'd not to their Words, v. 14. And yet it will be more tolerable for them, than for thoſe who receive not Chriſt's Miniſters, and hearkn'd not to their Words. God's Wrath againſt them will be more flaming, and their own Reflections upon themſelves more cutting. Son remember, will ſound moſt dreadfully in the Ears of ſuch as had a fair Offer made them of Eternal Life, and choſe Death rather. The Iniquity of Iſrael, when God ſent them his Servants the Prophets, is repreſented as upon that account more heinous than the Iniquity of Sodom, Ezek. 16. 48, 49. much more now he ſent them his Son, the great Prophet.

16 Behold I ſend you forth, as ſheep in the midſt of wolves: be ye therefore wiſe as ſerpents, and harmleſs as doves. 17 But beware of men, for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will ſcourge you in their Synagogues. 18 And ye ſhall be brought before governours and kings for my ſake, for a teſtimony againſt them and the Gentiles. 19 But when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye ſhall ſpeak, for it ſhall be given you in that ſame hour what ye ſhall ſpeak. 20 For it is not ye that ſpeak, but the ſpirit of your Father which ſpeaketh in you. 21 And the brother ſhall deliver up the brother to death, and the father the child: and the children ſhall riſe up againſt their parents, and cauſe them to be put to death 22 And ye ſhall be hated of all men for my names ſake: but he that endureth to the end, ſhall be ſaved. 23 But when they perſecute you in this city, flee ye into another: for verily I ſay unto you, ye ſhall not have gone over the cities of Iſrael till the Son of man be come. 24 The diſciple is not above his maſter, nor the ſervant above his lord. 25 It is enough for the diſciple that he be as his maſter, and the ſervant as his lord: if they have called the maſter of the houſe Beelzebub, how much more ſhall they call them of his houſhold? 26 Fear them not therefore: for there is nothing covered that ſhall not be revealed; and hid, that ſhall not be known. 27 What I tell you in darkneſs, that ſpeak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the houſe tops. 28 And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the ſoul: but rather fear him which is able to deſtroy both ſoul and body in hell. 29 Are not two ſparrows ſold for a farthing? and one of them ſhall not fall on the ground without your Father. 30 But the very hairs of your head are all numbred. 31 Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many ſparrows. 32 Whoſoever therefore ſhall confeſs me before men, him will I confeſs alſo before my Father which is in heaven. 33 But whoſoever ſhall deny me before men, him will I alſo deny before my Father which is in heaven. 34 Think not that I am come to ſend peace on earth: I came not to ſend peace, but a ſword. 35 For I am come to ſet a man at variance againſt his father, and the daughter againſt her mother, and the daughter in law againſt her mother in law. 36 And a mans foes ſhall be they of his own houſhold. 37 He that loveth father or mother more than me, is not worthy of me: and he that loveth ſon or daughter more than me, is not worthy of me. 38 And he that taketh not his croſs, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. 39 He that findeth his life ſhall loſe it: and he that loſeth his life for my ſake ſhall find it. 40 He that receiveth you, receiveth me; and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that ſent me. 41 He that receiveth a prophet in the name of a prophet ſhall receive a prophets reward; and he that receiveth a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, ſhall receive a righteous mans reward. 42 And whoſoever ſhall give to drink unto one of theſe little ones, a cup of cold water only, in the name of a diſciple, verily I ſay unto you, he ſhall in no wiſe loſe his reward.

All theſe Verſes relate to the Sufferings of Chriſt's Miniſters in their Work, which they are here taught to expect and prepare for, and are directed how to bear them, and how to go on with their Work in the midſt of them. And this part of the Sermon looks further than to their preſent Miſſion; for we find not that they met with any great Hardſhips or Perſecutions while Chriſt was with them, nor were they well able to bear them; but they are here forewarn'd of the Troubles they ſhould meet with; when after Chriſt's Reſurrection their Commiſſion ſhould be enlarg'd, and the Kingdom of Heaven, which was now at hand ſhould be actually ſet up; they dream'd of nothing then but outward Pomp and Power, but Chriſt tells them they muſt expect greater Sufferings than they were yet call'd to; that they ſhould then be made Priſoners, when they expected to be made Princes. 'Tis good to be told what Troubles we may hereafter meet with, that we may provide accordingly, and may not boaſt, as if we had put off the Harneſs, when we are yet but girding it on.

We have here intermix'd (1.) Predictions of Trouble. And (2.) Preſcriptions of Counſel and Comfort with reference to it.

Firſt, We have here Predictions of Trouble, which the Diſciples ſhould meet with in their Works; Chriſt foreſaw their Sufferings, as well as his own, and yet will have them go on as he went on himſelf; and he foretold them, not only that the Troubles might not be a Surprize to them, and ſo a Shock to their Faith, but that being the Accompliſhment of a Prediction, they might be a Confirmation to their Faith.

He tells them what they ſhould ſuffer, and from whom.

1. What they ſhould ſuffer, hard things to be ſure; for, Behold I will ſend you forth as Sheep in the midſt of Wolves. v. 16. And what may a Flock of poor helpleſs unguarded Sheep expect in the midſt of a Herd of ravenous Wolves, but to be worry'd and torn. Note, 1. Wicked Men are like Wolves, in whoſe Nature it is to Devour and Deſtroy. 2. God's People, and eſpecially his Miniſters, are like Sheep among them, of a contrary Nature and Diſpoſition, expoſed to them, and commonly hardned by them, and an eaſie Prey to them. It look'd unkind in Chriſt, to expoſe thoſe to ſo much Danger, who had left all to follow him; but he knew the Glory reſerv'd for his Sheep, when in the great Day they ſhall be ſet on his Right-hand, would be a Recompence ſufficient for Sufferings, as well as Services. They are as Sheep among Wolves, that's frightful; but Chriſt ſends them forth, that's comfortable; for he that ſends them forth will protect them, and bear them out. But that they might know the worſt, he tells them particularly what they muſt expect.

1. They muſt expect to be hated, v. 22. Ye ſhall be hated for my Name's ſake, That's the Root of all the reſt, and a bitter Root it is. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt loves the World hates; as whom the Court Bleſſeth, the Country Curſeth. If the World hated Chriſt without Cauſe, Joh. 15. 25. no marvel if it hated thoſe that bore his Image, and ſerv'd his Intereſts. We hate what is nauſeous, and they are counted as the Off-ſcouring of all things, 1 Cor. 4. 13. We hate what is noxious, and they are counted the Troubles of the Land, 1 Kings 18. 17. and the Tormentors of their Neighbours, Rev. 11. 10. 'Tis grievous to be hated, and to be the Object of ſo much Ill-will, but it is for thy Name's ſake; which as it ſpeaks the true Reaſon of the Hatred, whatever is pretended, ſo it ſpeaks Comfort to them who are thus hated, 'tis for a good Cauſe, and they have a good Friend that ſhares with them in it, and takes it to himſelf.

2. They muſt expect to be apprehended and arraign'd as Malefactors. Their reſtleſs Malice is reſiſtleſs Malice, and they will not only attempt, but will prevail to deliver you up to the Councils, v. 17. 18. to the Bench of Aldermen, or Juſtices, that take care of the publick Peace. Note, A deal of Michief is often done to good Men under colour of Law and Juſtice. In the Place of Judgment there is Wickedneſs, perſecuting Wickedneſs, Eccl. 3. 16. They muſt look for Trouble, not only from inferior Magiſtrates in the Councels, but from Governours, and Kings, the ſupreme Magiſtrates: to be brought before them under ſuch black Repreſentations as were commonly made of Chriſt's Diſciples, was dreadful and dangerous, for the Wrath of a King is as the Roaring of a Lion. We find this oft fulfill'd in the Acts of the Apoſtles.

3. They muſt expect to be put to Death, v. 21. They ſhall deliver them to Death, to Death in State, with Pomp and Solemnity, when it ſhews it ſelf moſt as the King of Terrors. The Malice of the Enemies rageth ſo high as to inflict this; 'tis the Blood of the Saints that they thirſt after: the Faith and Patience of the Saints ſtand ſo firm as to expect this; neither count I my Life dear to my ſelf: The Wiſdom of Chriſt permits it, knowing how to make the Blood of the Martyrs the Seal of the Truth, and the Seed of the Church. By this noble Armies, not loving their Lives to the Death, Satan has been vanquiſh'd, and the Kingdom of Chriſt and its Intereſts greatly advanc'd, Rev. 11. 11. They were put to Death as Criminals, ſo the Enemies meant it, but really as Sacrifices, Phil. 2. 17. 2 Tim. 4. 6. as Burnt-offerings, Sacrifices of Acknowledgment to the Honour of God, and his Truths and Cauſe.

4. They muſt expect in the midſt of theſe Sufferings to be branded with the moſt odius and ignominious Names and Characters that could be. Perſecutors would be aſhamed in this World, if they did not firſt dreſs up thoſe in Bears-ſkins whom they thus Bait, and repreſent them in ſuch Colours as may ſerve to juſtify ſuch Cruelties. The blackeſt of all the ill Characters they give them is here inſtanc'd in; they call them Beelzebub, the Name of the Prince of the Devils, v. 25. They repreſent them as Ring-leaders of the Intereſt of the Kingdom of Darkneſs, and ſince every one thinks he hates the Devil, thus they endeavour to make them odious to all Mankind. See, and be amaz'd to ſee how this World is impos'd upon. (1.) Satan's ſworn Enemies are repreſented as his Friends. The Apoſtles, who pull'd down the Devils Kingdom, were call'd Devils. Thus Men laid to their charge, not only things which they knew not, but things which they abhor'd, and were directly contrary to, and the reverſe of. (2.) Satan's ſworn Servants would be thought to be his Enemies; and they never more effectually do his Work than when they pretend to be fighting againſt him. Many times thoſe that themſelves are neareſt akin to the Devil, are moſt apt to father others upon him; and thoſe that paint him on others Clothes, have him reigning in their own Hearts. 'Tis well there's a Day coming when, (as it follows here, v. 26.) that which is hid will be brought to light.

5. Theſe Sufferings are here repreſented by a Sword, and Diviſion, v. 34, 35. Think not that I am come to ſend Peace, i. e. Temporal Peace, and outward Proſperity. They thought Chriſt came to give all his Followers Wealth and Power in the World; no, ſaith Chriſt, I did not come ſo much as to give them Peace. Peace in Heaven they may be ſure of, but not Peace on Earth. Chriſt came to give us Peace with God, Peace in our Conſciences, Peace with our Brethren, but in the World ye ſhall have Tribulation. Note, Thoſe miſtake in the Deſign of the Goſpel, who think their Profeſſion of it will ſecure them from, for it will certainly expoſe them to Trouble in this World. If all the World would receive Chriſt, there would then follow a univerſal Peace; but while there are, and will be ſo many that reject him, and thoſe not only the Children of this World, but the Seed of the Serpent, the Children of God that are call'd out of the World, muſt expect to feel the Fruits of their Enmity.

1. Look not for Peace, but a Sword. Chriſt came to give the Sword of the Word, with which his Diſciples fight againſt the World, and conquering Work this Sword hath made, Rev. 6. 2.—19. 21. And the Sword of Perſecution, with which the World fights againſt the Diſciples, being cut to the Heart with the Sword of the Word, Acts 7. 54. and tormented by the Teſtimony of Chriſt's Witneſſes, Rev. 11. 10. and cruel Work this Sword made. Chriſt ſent that Goſpel which gives occaſion for the drawing of this Sword, and ſo may be ſaid to ſend this Sword; he orders his Church into a ſuffering State, for the Tryal and Praiſe of his People's Graces, and the filling up of the Meaſure of their Enemies Sins.

2. Look not for Peace, but Diviſion, v. 35. I am come to ſet Men at Variance. This Effect of the Preaching of the Goſpel, is not the fault of the Goſpel, but of thoſe that do not receive it. When ſome believe the things that are ſpoken, and others believe them not, the Faith of thoſe that believe, condemns thoſe that believe not, and therefore they have an Enmity to them that believe. Note, The moſt violent and implacable Feuds have ever been thoſe that have ariſen from Difference in Religion. No Enmity like that of the Perſecutors, no Reſolution like that of the Perſecuted. Thus Chriſt tells his Diſciples what they ſhould ſuffer, and theſe were hard Sayings; if they could bear theſe, they could bear any thing. Note, Chriſt has dealt fairly and faithfully with us, in telling us the worſt we can meet with in his Service; and he would have us deal ſo with ourſelves, in ſitting down and counting the Coſt.

2. They are here told from whom, and by whom they ſhould ſuffer theſe hard things. Surely Hell it ſelf muſt be let looſe, and Devils, thoſe deſperate and deſpairing Spirits, that have no part or lot in the great Salvation, muſt become incarnate e'er ſuch ſpiteful Enemies could be found to a Doctrine, the Subſtance of which was Good-will towards Men, and the reconciling of the World to God; no, would you think it? All this Miſchief ariſeth to the Preachers of the Goſpel, from thoſe whom they came to preach Salvation to. Thus the Blood-thirſty hate the Upright, but the Juſt ſeek his Soul, Prov. 29. 10. And therefore Heaven is ſo much oppos'd on Earth, becauſe Earth is ſo much under the Power of Hell, Eph. 2. 2.

Theſe hard things Chriſt's Diſciples muſt ſuffer.

1. From Men, v. 17. Beware of Men, you will have need to ſtand upon your Guard, even againſt thoſe that are of the ſame Nature with you, ſuch is the Pravity and Degeneracy of that Nature, Homo Homini Lupus; Crafty and Politick as Men, but Cruel and Barbarous as Beaſts, and wholly diveſted of the thing call'd Humanity. Note, Perſecuting Rage and Enmity turns Men into Brutes, into Devils. Paul at Epheſus fought with Beaſts in the Shape of Men, 1 Cor. 15. 32. 'Tis a ſad paſs that the World is come to, when the beſt Friends it has have need to beware of Men. It aggravates the Troubles of Chriſt's ſuffering Servants, that they ariſe from thoſe that are Bone of their Bone, made of the ſame Blood. Perſecutors are in this reſpect worſe than Beaſts, that they prey upon thoſe of their own kind; Savis inter ſe convenit Urſis. 'Tis very grievous to have Men riſe up againſt us, Pſal. 124. from whom we might expect Protection and Sympathy. Men, and no more, meer Men; Men, and not Saints; natural Men, 1 Cor. 2. 14. Men of this World, Pſal. 17. 14. Saints are more than Men, and are redeemed from among Men, and therefore are hated by them, Rev. 14. 14. The nature of Man, if it be not Sanctified, is the worſt Nature in the World, next to that of Devils. They are Men, and therefore ſubordinate, depending, dying Creatures; they are Men, but they are but Men, Pſal. 9. ult. and who art thou, that thou ſhouldſt be afraid of a Man that ſhall dye? Iſa. 51 12. Beware of the Men. So Dr. Hammond, Thoſe you wot of the Men of the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, which diſallow'd Chriſt, 1 Pet. 2. 4.

2. From profeſſing Men, Men that have a Form of Godlineſs, and made a Shew of Religion. They will ſcourge you in their Synagogues, their Places of Meeting for the Worſhip of God, and for the Exerciſe of their Church-diſcipline; ſo that they look'd upon the Scourging of Chriſt's Diſciples to be a Branch of their Religion. Paul was five times Scourg'd in the Synagogues, 2 Cor. 11. 24. The Jews, under Colour of Zeal for Moſes, were the moſt bitter Perſecutors of Chriſt and Chriſtianity, and plac'd thoſe Outrages to the Score of their Religion. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples have ſuffer'd much from conſcientious Perſecutors that ſcourge them in their Synagogues, caſt them out, and kill them, and think they do God good Service, John 16. 2. and ſay, Let the Lord be glorified, Iſa. 66. 5. Zech. 11. 4, 5. But the Synagogue will be ſo far from Conſecrating the Perſecution, that the Perſecution doubtleſs Prophanes anb Deſecrates the Synagogue.

3. From great Men, and Men in Authority. The Jews did not only Scourge them, which was the utmoſt of their remaining Power extended to, but when they could go no further themſelves, they deliver'd them up to the Roman Powers, as they did Chriſt, John 18. 30. Ye ſhall be brought before Governours and Kings, v. 11. who having more Power, are in a Capacity of doing the more Miſchief. Governours and Kings receive their Power from Chriſt, Prov. 8. 15. and ſhould be his Servants, and his Churches Protectors, and Nurſing-Fathers, but they often uſe their Power againſt him, and are Rebels to Chriſt, and Oppreſſors of his Church. The Kings of the Earth ſet themſelves againſt his Kingdom, Pſal. 2. 1, 2. Acts 4. 25, 26. Note, It has often been the lot of good Men to have great Men for their Enemies.

4. From all Men, v. 22. Ye ſhall be hated of all Men, i. e. of all wicked Men; and theſe are the generality of Men, for the whole World lies in Wickedneſs. So few are there that love, and own, and countenance Chriſt's Righteous Cauſe, that we may ſay, the Friends of it are hated of all Men. They are all gone aſtray, and therefore eat up my People, Pſal. 14. 3. As far as the Apoſtacy from God goes, ſo far the Enmity againſt the Saints goes; ſometimes it appears more general than at other times, but there is ſomething of this Poiſon lurking in the Hearts of all the Children of Diſobedience. The World hates you, for it wanders after the Beaſt, Rev. 13. 3. Every Man a Liar, and therefore a hater of Truth.

5. From thoſe of their own Kindred. The Brother ſhall deliver up the Brother to Death, v. 21. A Man ſhall be upon this account at Variance with his own Father; nay, and thoſe of the weaker and tenderer Sex too become Perſecutors, and Perſecuted; the Perſecuting Daughter will be againſt the Believing Mother, where natural Affection, and filial Duty, one would think ſhould prevent, or ſoon extinguiſh the Quarrel; and then, no marvel, if the Daughter-in-law be againſt the Mother-in-law; where too often the Coldneſs of Love ſeeks Occaſion of Contention, v. 35. In general, v. 36. A Mans Foes ſhall be they of his ownHouſhould. They that ſhould be his Friends, will be incens'd againſt him for embracing Chriſtianity, and eſpecially for adhering to it, when it comes to be perſecuted, and will joyn with his Perſecutors againſt him. Note, The ſtrongeſt Bonds of relative Love and Duty, have oft been broken thro' by an Enmity to Chriſt and his Doctrine. Such has been the Power of Prejudice againſt the true Religion, and Zeal for a falſe one, that all othe Regards, the moſt Natural and Sacred, the moſt engaging and endearing, have been Sacrificed to theſe Molochs. Thoſe that rage againſt the Lord and his Anointed ones, break even theſe Bonds in ſunder, and caſt away, even theſe Cords from them, Pſal. 2. 2, 3. Chriſt's Spouſe ſuffers hard things from the Anger of her own Mother's Children, Cant. 1. 6. Sufferings from ſuch are more grievous, nothing cuts more than this; It was thou, a Man, mine equal, Pſal. 55. 12, 13. And the Enmity of ſuch is commonly moſt implacable; a Brother offended is harder to be won than a ſtrong City, Prov. 18. 19. The Martyrologies, both antient and modern, are full of Inſtances of this. Upon the whole Matter, it appears, that all that will live Godly in Chriſt Jeſus muſt ſuffer Perſecution; and through many Tribulations, we muſt expect to enter into the Kingdom of God.

Secondly, With theſe Predictions of Trouble we have here Preſcriptions of Counſels, and Comforts for a Time of Tryal. He ſends them out expos'd to Danger indeed, and expecting it, but withal well arm'd with Inſtructions and Encouragements, ſufficient to bear them up, and bear them out in all theſe Tryals. Let us gather up what he ſaith, Firſt, By way of Counſel and Direction in ſeveral things.

1. Be wiſe as Serpents, v. 16. You may be ſo (ſo ſome take it, only as a Permiſſion) you may be as wary as you pleaſe, provided you be harmleſs as Doves. But it is rather to be taken as a Precept, recommending to us that Wiſdom of the Prudent, which is to underſtand his Way, as uſeful at all times, but eſpecially in ſuffering Times. Therefore, becauſe you are expos'd as Sheep among Wolves; be ye wiſe as Serpents, not wiſe as Foxes, whoſe Cunning is to deceive others, but as Serpents, whoſe Policy is only to defend themſelves, and to ſhift for their own Safety. The Diſciples of Chriſt are hated and perſecuted as Serpents, and their Ruin ſought, and therefore need the Serpent's Wiſdom. Note, It is the Will of Chriſt, that his People and Miniſters being ſo much expos'd to Troubles in this World as they are, ſhould not needleſly expoſe themſelves, but uſe all fair and lawful Means for their own Preſervation. Chriſt gave us an Example of this Wiſdom, Matt. 21. 24, 25.—22. 17, 18, 19. John 8. 6, 7. Beſides the many Eſcapes he made out of the Hands of his Enemies, till his Hour was come. See an Inſtance of St. Paul's Wiſdom, Acts 23. 8, 9. In the Cauſe of Chriſt, we muſt ſit looſe to Life, and all its Comforts, but muſt not be prodigal of them. 'Tis the Wiſdom of the Serpent to ſecure his Head, that that may not be broken, to ſtop his Ear to the Voice of the Charmer, Pſal. 58. 4, 5. and to take ſhelter in the Clifts of the Rock, and herein we may be wiſe as Serpents. We muſt be wiſe, not to pull Trouble upon our own Heads, wiſe to keep Silence in an Evil Time, and not to give Offence if we can help it.

2. Be ye harmleſs as Doves. Be Mild, and Meek, and Diſpaſſionate; not only do no body any hurt, but bear no body any Ill-will; be without Gall, as Doves are. This muſt always go along with the former, they are ſent forth among Wolves, therefore muſt be wiſe as Serpents, but they are ſent forth as Sheep, therefore muſt be harmleſs as Doves. We muſt be wiſe, not to wrong ourſelves, but rather ſo than wrong any one elſe; muſt uſe the Harmleſneſs of the Dove, to bear twenty Injuries, rather then the Subtilty of the Serpent, to offer, or to return one. Note, It muſt be the continual Care of all Chriſt's Diſciples to be innocent and offenſive in Word and Deed, eſpecially in conſideration of the Enemies they are in the midſt of. We have need of a Dove-like Spirit when we are beſet with Birds of Prey, that we may neither provoke them, nor be provoked by them; David coveted the Wings of a Dove, on which to fly away and be at reſt, rather than the Wings of a Hawk. The Spirit deſcended on Chriſt as a Dove, and all Believers partake of the Spirit of Chriſt, a Dove-like Spirit, made for Love, not for War.

3. Beware of Men, v. 17. be always upon your guard, and avoid dangerous Company; take heed what you ſay and do, and preſume not too far upon any Mans Fidelity. Be jealous of the moſt plauſible Pretenſions, truſt not in a Friend, no, not in the Wife of thy Boſom, Mic. 7. 5. Note, It becomes thoſe that are Gracious to be cautious, for we are taught to ceaſe from Man. Such a wretched World do we live in, that we know not whom to truſt. Ever ſince our Maſter was betray'd with a Kiſs by one of his own Diſciples, we have need to beware of Men, of falſe Brethren.

4. Take no thought how, or what ye ſhall ſpeak, v. 19. When ye are brought before Magiſtrates, carry yourſelves decently, but afflict not yourſelves with Care how you ſhall come off. A prudent Thought there muſt be, but not an anxious, perplexing, diſquieting Thought; let this Care be caſt upon God as well as that, what you ſhall eat, and what you ſhall drink. Do not ſtudy to make fine Speeches, ad captandam Benevolentiam; affect not quaint Expreſſions, Flouriſhes of Wit, and labour'd Periods, which only ſerve to gild a bad Cauſe, the Gold of a good one needs it not. It argues a diffidence of your Cauſe to be ſollicitous in this matter, as if it were not ſufficient to ſpeak for itſelf. You know upon what Grounds you go, and then Verbaque praviſam rem non invita ſequentur. Never any ſpoke better before Governours and Kings, than thoſe three Champions, who took no thought before what they ſhould ſpeak, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to anſwer thee in this Matter, Dan. 3. 16. See Pſal. 119. 46. Note, The Diſciples of Chriſt muſt be more thoughtful how to do well, than how to ſpeak well; how to keep their Integrity, than how to vindicate it. Non magna loquimur, ſed vivimus, is the beſt Apology.

5. When they Perſecute you in this City, flee to another, v. 23. Thus reject them that reject you and your Doctrine, and try whether others will not receive you and it. Thus ſhift for your own Safety. Note, In caſe of imminent Peril, the Diſciples of Chriſt may, and muſt ſecure themſelves by Flight, when God in his Providence opens to them a Door of Eſcape. He that flies may Fight again. 'Tis no inglorious thing for Chriſt's Soldiers to quit their Ground, provided they do not quit their Colours. They may go out of the Way of Danger, tho' they muſt not go out of the Way of Duty, Obſerve Chriſt's Care of his Diſciples, in providing places of Retreat and Shelter for them, ordering it ſo that Perſecution rageth not in all Places at the ſame time, but when one City is made too hot for them, another is reſerv'd for a cooler Shade, and a little Sanctuary, a Favour to be us'd, and not to be ſlighted; yet always with this Proviſo, that no ſinful unlawful Means be us'd to make the Eſcape, for then it is not a Door of God's opening. We have many Examples to this Rule, in the Hiſtory both of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, in the Application of all which to particular Caſes Wiſdom and Integrity are profitable to direct.

6. Fear them not, v. 26. becauſe they can but kill the Body, v. 28. Note, It is the Duty and Intereſt of Chriſt's Diſciples not to fear the greateſt of their Adverſaries. Thoſe that truly fear God, need not fear Man, and thoſe that are afraid of the leaſt Sin, need not be afraid of the greateſt Trouble. The Fear of Man bringeth a Snare, a perplexing Snare that diſturbs our Peace, an entangling Snare, by which we are drawn into Sin, and therefore it muſt be carefully watch'd, and ſtriven, and pray'd againſt. Be the Times never ſo difficult, Enemies never ſo outragious, and Events never ſo threatning, yet need we not fear, yet will not we fear, tho' the Earth be remov'd, while we have ſo good a God, ſo good a Cauſe, and ſo good a Hope thro' Grace,

Yes, this is ſoon ſaid, but when it comes to the Tryal, Racks and Tortures, Dungeons and Gallies, Axes and Gibbets, Fire and Faggot are terrible things, enough to make the ſtouteſt Heart to tremble and to ſtart back, eſpecially when 'tis plain, they may be avoided by a few declining Steps; and therefore to fortify us againſt this Temptation, we have here

(1.) A good Reaſon againſt this Fear, taken from the limited Power of the Enemies; they kill the Body, that's the utmoſt their Rage can extend to, hitherto they can go, if God permit them, but no further, they are not able to kill the Soul, nor to do it any hurt, and the Soul is the Man. By this it appears that the Soul doth not, (as ſome dream) fall aſleep at Death, nor is depriv'd of Thought and Perception; for then the killing of the Body would be the killing of the Soul too. The Soul is kill'd when it is ſeparated from God and his Love, which is its Life, and is made a Veſſel of his Wrath; now this is out of the reach of their Power, Tribulation, Diſtreſs, and Perſecution may ſeparate us from all the World, but cannot part between us and God, cannot make us either not to love him, or not to be beloved by him. Rom. 8. 35, 37. If therefore we were more concern'd about our Souls as our Jewels, we ſhould be leſs afraid of Men, whoſe Power cannot rob us of them. They can but kill the Body, which would quickly dye of itſelf, not the Soul, which will enjoy its ſelf, and its God in ſpite of them. They can but cruſh the Cabinet; a Heathen ſet the Tyrant at defiance with this, Tunde Capſam Anaxarchi, Anaxarchum non lædis, The Pearl of Price is untouch'd. Seneca undertakes to make it out, that you cannot hurt a wiſe and good Man, becauſe Death itſelf is no real Evil to him. Si maximum illud ultra quod nihil habent iratæ leges, aut ſæviſſimi Domini minantur, in quo Imperium ſuum Fortuna conſumit æquo placidoque Animo accipimus, & ſcimus mortem malum non eſſe ob hoc ne injuriam quidem. Seneca de Conſtantia.

(2.) A good Remedy againſt it, and that is to Fear God. Fear him who is able to deſtroy both Soul and Body in Hell. Note, (1.) Hell is the Deſtruction both of Soul and Body, not of the Being of either; but the Well-being of both. 'Tis the Ruin of the whole Man. If the Soul be loſt, the Body is loſt too. They ſinn'd together, the Body was the Soul's Tempter to Sin, and it's Tool in Sin, and they muſt eternally ſuffer together. (2.) This Deſtruction comes from the Power of God. He is able to deſtroy; 'tis a Deſtruction from his glorious Power, 2 Theſ. 1. 9. He will in it make his Power known, not only his Authority to ſentence, but his Ability to execute the Sentence, Rom. 9. 22. (3.) God is therefore to be fear'd, even by the beſt Saints in this World. Knowing the Terrors of the Lord, we perſwade Men to ſtand in awe of him. If according to his Fear, ſo is his Wrath, then according to his Wrath, ſo ſhall his Fear be, eſpecially becauſe none knows the Power of his Anger, Pſal. 90. 11. When Adam in Innocency was aw'd by a Threatning, let none of Chriſt's Diſciples think they need not the Reſtraint of a holy Fear. Happy is the Man that fears always. The God of Abraham, who was then dead, is call'd the Fear of Iſaac, who was yet alive, Gen. 31. 42, 43. (4.) The Fear of God, and of his Power reigning in the Soul, will be a Sovereign Antidote againſt the Fear of Man. 'Tis better fall under the Frowns of all the World, than under God's Frowns, and therefore as it is moſt right in it ſelf, ſo it is moſt ſafe for us to obey God rather than Men, Acts 4. 19. They that are afraid of a Man that ſhall die, forget the Lord their Maker, Iſa. 51. 12, 13. Neh. 4. 14.

7. What I tell you in Darkneſs, that ſpeak ye in Light, v. 27. i. e. Whatever Hazards you run, go on with your Work, publiſhing and proclaiming the everlaſting Goſpel to all the World; that's your Buſineſs, mind that. The Deſign of the Enemies is not meerly to deſtroy you, but to ſuppreſs that, and therefore whatever comes of it, publiſh that. What I tell you, that ſpeak ye. Note, That which the Apoſtles have deliver'd to us, is the ſame that they receiv'd from Jeſus Chriſt, Heb. 2. 3. They ſpake what he told them, that, all that, and nothing but that. Thoſe Embaſſadors receiv'd their Inſtructions in private, in Darkneſs, in the Ear, in Corners, in Parables. Many things Chriſt ſpake openly, and nothing in ſecret varying from what he preached in publick, John 18. 20. But the particular Inſtructions he gave his Diſciples after his Reſurrection, concerning the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, were whiſper'd in the Ear, Acts 1, 3. for then he never ſhew'd himſelf openly. But they muſt deliver their Embaſſy publickly; in the Light, and upon the Houſe-tops; for the Doctrine of the Goſpel is what all are concern'd in, Prov. 1. 20, 21.—8. 2, 3. Therefore he that hath Ears to hear let him hear. The firſt Indication of the taking in of the Gentiles into the Church was upon a Houſe-top, Acts 10. 9. Note, There is no part of Chriſt's Goſpel that needs upon any Account to be conceal'd; the whole Counſel of God muſt be reveal'd, Acts 20. 27. In never ſo mixt a Multitude let it be plainly and fully deliver'd.

Secondly, By Way of Comfort and Encouragement. Here is very much ſaid to that purpoſe, and all little enough, conſidering the many Hardſhips they were to grapple with, throughout the Courſe of their Miniſtry, and their preſent Weakneſs, which was ſuch as that without ſome powerful ſupport they could ſcarce bear even the Proſpect of ſuch Uſage; Chriſt therefore ſhews them, why they ſhould be of good Chear.

1. Here is one Word peculiar to their preſent Miſſion, and their Expedition upon it, v. 23. Ye ſhall not have gone over the Cities of Iſrael, till the Son of Man be come. They were to preach that the Kingdom of the Son of Man, i. e. the Meſſiah, was at hand; they were to pray, Thy Kingdom come: Now they ſhould not have gone over all the Cities of Iſrael, thus praying and thus preaching, before that Kingdom they ſpoke of, ſhould come in the Exaltation of Chriſt, and the Pouring out of the Spirit. It was Comfort (1.) That what they ſaid ſhould be made good; they ſaid, the Son of Man is coming, and behold he comes. Chriſt will confirm the Word of his Meſſengers, Iſa. 44. 26. (2.) That it ſhould be made good quickly. Note, It is matter of Comfort to Chriſt's Lobourers, that their working time will be ſhort and ſoon over; the Hireling has his Day; the Work and Warfare will in a little time be accompliſhed. (3.) That then they ſhould be advanc'd to a higher Station. When the Son of Man comes, they ſhall be endued with greater Power from on high; now they were ſent forth as Agents and Envoys, but in a little time their Commiſſion ſhould be enlarged, and they ſhould be ſent forth as Plenipotentiaries into all the World.

2. Here are many Words that relate to their Work in general, and the Troubles they were to meet with in it. And they are good Words, and comfortable Words.

1. That their Sufferings were for a Teſtimony againſt them and the Gentiles, v. 18. When the Jewiſh Conſiſtories remove you before the Roman Governours, that they may have you put to Death, your being hurried thus from one Judgment Seat to another, will help to make your Teſtimony the more publick, and will give you an Opportunity of bringing the Goſpel to the Gentiles, as well as to the Jews: Nay, you will teſtify to them and againſt them by the very Troubles you undergo. Note, God's People, and eſpecially God's Miniſters, are his Witneſſes, Iſa. 43. 10. not only in their Doing-work, but in their Suffering-work. Hence they are call'd Martyrs, Witneſſes for Chriſt, that his Truths are of undoubted Certainty and Value; and being Witneſſes for him, they are Witneſſes againſt thoſe that oppoſe him and his Goſpel. The Sufferings of the Martyrs, as they witneſs to the Truth of the Goſpel they profeſs, ſo they are Teſtimonies of the Enmity of their Perſecutors, and both Ways they are a Teſtimony againſt them; and will be produc'd in Evidence in the great Day, when the Saints ſhall judge the World, and the Reaſon of the Sentence will be, in as much as ye did it unto theſe, ye did it unto me. Now if their Sufferings be a Teſtimony, how chearfully ſhould they be born, for the Teſtimony is not finiſh'd till thoſe come, Rev. 11. 7. If they be Chriſt's Witneſſes, they ſhall be ſure to have their Charges born.

2. That upon all occaſions they ſhould have God's ſpecial Preſence with them, and the immediate aſſiſtance of his holy Spirit, particularly when they ſhould be called out to bear their Teſtimony before Governours and Kings, it ſhall be given you in that ſame Hour what ye ſhall ſpeak. Chriſt's Diſciples were choſen from among the fooliſh of the World, unlearned and ignorant Men, and therefore might juſtly diſtruſt their own Abilities, eſpecially when they were called before great Men. When Moſes was ſent to Pharaoh, he complain'd, I am not eloquent, Exod. 4. 10. When Jeremiah was ſet over the Kingdoms, he objected, I am but a Child, Jer. 16. 10. Now in Anſwer to this Suggeſtion, 1. They are here promis'd that it ſhould be given them, not ſome time before, but in that ſame Hour what they ſhall ſpeak. They ſhall ſpeak extempore, and yet ſhall ſpeak as much to the Purpoſe, as if it had been never ſo well ſtudy'd. Note, When God calls us out to ſpeak for him, we may depend upon him to teach us what to ſay; even then when we labour under the greateſt Diſadvantages, and Diſcouragements. (2.) They are here aſſur'd that the bleſſed Spirit ſhould draw up their Plea for them. It is not ye that ſpeak, but the Spirit of your Father which ſpeaketh in you, v. 20. They were not left to themſelves upon ſuch an Occaſion, but God undertook for them, his Spirit of Wiſdom ſpoke in them, as ſometimes his Providence wonderfully ſpoke for them, and by both together they were manifeſted in the Conſciences, even of their Perſecutors. God gave them an Ability, not only to ſpeak to the Purpoſe, but what they did ſay, to ſay it with holy Zeal. The ſame Spirit that aſſiſted them in the Pulpit, aſſiſted them at the Bar. Thoſe cannot but come off well, that have ſuch an Advocate; and to whom God ſaith, as he did to Moſes, Exod. 4. 12. Go, and I will be with thy Mouth, and with thy Heart.

3. That he that endures to the End ſhall be ſaved, v. 22. Here it ſounds very comfortable, (1.) That there will be an End of theſe Troubles; they may laſt long, but will not laſt always. Chriſt comforted himſelf with this, and ſo may his Followers. The things concerning me have an End, Luke 22. 37. Dabit Deus his quoque Finem. Note, A believing Proſpect of the Period of our Troubles will be of great uſe to ſupport us under them. The weary will be at reſt, when the Wicked ceaſe from troubling, Job 3. 17. God will give an expected End, Jer. 29. 11. The Troubles may ſeem tedious like the Days of a hireling, but bleſſed be God they are not everlaſting. (2.) That while they continue, they may be endur'd; as they are not eternal, ſo they are not intolerable. They may be born, and born to the End; and therefore the Sufferings may be born, becauſe the Sufferers ſhall be born up under them in everlaſting Arms. The Strength ſhall be according to the Day, 1 Cor. 10. 13. (3.) Salvation will be the eternal Recompenſe of all thoſe that endure to the End. The Weather ſtormy, and the Way foul, but the Pleaſure of Home will make amends for all. A believing Regard to the Crown of Glory has been in all Ages the Cordial and Support of Suffering Saints, 2 Cor. 4. 16, 17, 18. Heb. 10. 34. This is not only an Encouragement to us to endure, but an Engagement to endure to the End. Thoſe that endure but a while, and in time of Temptation fall away, have run in vain, and loſe all that they have attained; but thoſe that perſevere are ſure of the Prize; and thoſe only. Be faithful unto Death; and then thou ſhalt have the Crown of Life.

4. That whatever hard uſage the Diſciples of Chriſt meet with, it is no more than what their Maſter met with before, v. 24. 25. The Diſciple is not above his Maſter. We find this given them as a Reaſon why they ſhould not ſtick at the meaneſt Duties, no, not waſhing one another's Feet, John 13. 16. Here 'tis given as a Reaſon why they ſhould not ſtumble at the hardeſt Sufferings. They are minded of this Saying, John 15. 20. 'Tis a proverbial Expreſſion, The Servant is not better than his Maſter, and therefore let him not expect to fare better. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt is our Maſter; our teaching Maſter, and we are his Diſciples to learn of him; our Ruling Maſter, and we are his Servants to obey him. He is Maſter of the Houſe, οἰκοδεσπότης, has a Deſpotick Power in the Church, which is his Family. (2.) Jeſus Chriſt our Lord and Maſter met with very hard Uſage from the World. They call'd him Beelzebub, the God of Flies, the Name of the Chief of the Devils, with whom they ſaid he was in League. 'Tis hard to ſay, which is here more to be admir'd, the Wickedneſs of Men, that thus abus'd Chriſt, or the Patience of Chriſt, who ſuffer'd himſelf to be thus abus'd; that he who was the God of Glory, ſhould be ſtigmatiz'd as the God of Flies; the King of Iſrael, as the God of Ekron, the Prince of Light and Life, as the Prince of the Powers of Death and Darkneſs. That Satan's greateſt Enemy and Deſtroyer ſhould be run down as his Confederate, and yet endure ſuch Contradiction of Sinners. (3.) The Conſideration of the ill Treatment Chriſt met with in the World, ſhould engage us to expect and prepare for the like; and to bear it patiently. Let us not think it ſtrange, if thoſe that hated him hate his Followers for his Sake, nor think it hard, if thoſe that are ſhortly to be made like him in Glory, be now made like him in Sufferings. Chriſt began in the bitter Cup, let us be willing to pledge him: His bearing the Croſs made it eaſy for us.

5. That there is nothing cover'd that ſhall not be revealed, v. 26. We underſtand this, (1.) Of the revealing of the Goſpel to all the World. Do you publiſh it, v. 27. for it ſhall be publiſhed. The Truths which are now as Myſteries hid from the Children of Men, ſhall all be made known to all Nations in their own Language, Acts 2. 11. The Ends of the Earth muſt ſee this Salvation. Note, It is a great Encouragement to thoſe who are doing Chriſt's Work, that it is a Work which ſhall certainly be done: it is a Plough which God will ſpeed. Or (2.) Of the Clearing up of the Innocency of Chriſt's Suffering Servants that are call'd Beelzebub; their true Character is now invidiouſly blackned with falſe Colours, but however their Innocency and Excellency is now cover'd, it ſhall be reveal'd. Sometimes 'tis in a great Meaſure done in this World, when the Righteouſneſs of the Saints is made by ſubſequent Events to ſhine forth as the Light: However 'twill be done at the great Day, when their Glory ſhall be manifeſted to all the World, Angels and Men, to whom they are now made Spectacles, 1 Cor. 4. 9. All their Reproach ſhall be roll'd away, and their Graces and Services, that are now cover'd, ſhall be reveal'd, 1 Cor. 4. 5. Note, It is Matter of Comfort to the People of God, under all the Calumnies and Cenſures of Men, that their will be a Reſurrection of Names as well as of Bodies at the laſt Day, when the Righteous ſhall ſhine forth as the Sun. Let Chriſt's Miniſters faithfully reveal his Truths, and then leave it to him in due time to reveal their Integrity.

6. That the Providence of God is in a ſpecial Manner converſant about the Saints in their Sufferings, v. 29, 30, 31. 'Tis good to have Recourſe to our firſt Principles, and particularly to the Doctrine of God's univerſal Providence, extending itſelf to all the Creatures, and all their Actions, even the ſmalleſt and moſt minute. The Light of Nature teacheth us this, and it is comfortable to all Men, but eſpecially to all good Men; who can in Faith call this God their Father, and for whom he hath a tender Concern. See here,

1. The general Extent of Providence to all the Creatures, even the leaſt, and leaſt conſiderable to the Sparrows, v. 29. Theſe little Animals are of ſo ſmall Account, that one of them is not valued, there muſt go two to be worth a Farthing, nay, (you ſhall have five for a Half-penny, Luke 12. 6.) and yet they are not ſhut out of the Divine Care; One of them ſhall not fall to the Ground without your Father. That is (1.) They do not light on the Ground for Food, to pick up a Grain of Corn, but your heavenly Father by his Providence laid it ready for them. In the Parallel Place, Luke 12. 6. 'tis thus expreſs'd, Not one of them is forgotten before God, forgotten to be provided for; he feedeth them, Mat. 6. 26. now he that feeds the Sparrows will not ſtarve the Saints. (2.) They do not fall to the Ground by Death, either a natural or a violent Death. Though they are ſo ſmall a Part of the Creation yet even their Death comes within the Notice of the Divine Providence, much more doth the Death of his Diſciples. Obſerve, the Birds that ſoar above when they dye fall to the Ground; Death brings the higheſt to the Earth. Some think Chriſt here alludes to the two Sparrows that were us'd in cleanſing the Leper, Lev. 14. 4, 5, 6. the two Birds in the Margin were call'd Sparrows; of theſe one was kill'd, and ſo fell to the Ground, the other was let go. Now it ſeem'd a caſual thing which of the two was kill'd, the Perſons imploy'd took which they pleas'd, but God's Providence deſign'd and determin'd which. Now this God who has ſuch an eye to the Sparrows becauſe they are his Creatures, much more will have an Eye to you who are his Children. If a Sparrow dye not without your Father, ſure a Man doth not, a Chriſtian, a Miniſter, my Friend, my Child. A Bird falls not into the Fowlers Net, or by the Fowler's Shot, and ſo comes not to be Sold in the Market, but according to the Direction of Providence; your Enemies, like ſubtle Fowlers, lay Snares for you, and privily ſhoot at you, but they cannot take you, they cannot hit you, unleſs God give them leave. Therefore be not afraid of Death, for your Enemies have no Power againſt you, but what is given them from above. God can break their Bows and Snares, Pſal. 37. 14, 15.----64. 4, 7. and make your Souls to eſcape as a Bird, Pſal. 124. 7. Fear ye not therefore, v. 31. Note, There is enough in the Doctrine of God's Providence to ſilence all the Fears of God's People. Ye are of more value than many Sparrows. All Men are ſo, for the other Creatures were made for Man, and put under his Feet, Pſal. 8. 4, 5, 8. much more the Diſciples of Jeſus Chriſt, who are the excellent ones of the Earth, however contemn'd, as if not worth one Sparrow.

2. The particular Cognizance which Providence takes of the Diſciples of Chriſt, eſpecially in their Sufferings, v. 30. But the very Hairs of your Head are all number'd. This is a Proverbial Expreſſion, noting the account which God takes and keeps of all the Concernments of his People, even thoſe that are moſt minute, and leaſt regarded. This is not to be made a Matter of curious Enquiry, but of Encouragement to live in a continual Dependance upon God's Providential Care, which extends it ſelf to all Occurrences, yet without Diſparagement to the infinite Glory, or diſturbance to the infinite Reſt of the eternal Mind. If God numbers their Hairs, much more doth he number their Heads, and take care of their Lives, their Comforts, their Souls. It intimates, that God takes more care of them than they do of themſelves. Thoſe that are ſollicitous to number their Money, and Goods, and Cattle, yet were never careful to number their Hairs, which fall and are loſt, and they never miſs them; but God numbers the Hairs of his People, and not a Hair of their Head ſhall periſh, Luke 21. 18. not the leaſt hurt ſhall be done them; but upon a valuable conſideration: So precious to God are his Saints, and their Lives and Deaths.

7. That he will ſhortly, in the Day of Triumph own thoſe that now own him in the Day of Tryal, when thoſe that deny him ſhall be for ever diſown'd and rejected by him, v. 32, 33. Note, 1. It is our Duty, and if we do it, will hereafter be our unſpeakable Honour and Happineſs to confeſs Chriſt before Men. (1.) It is our Duty not only to believe in Chriſt, but to profeſs that Faith, in ſuffering for him when we are call'd to it, as well as in Serving him. We muſt never be aſham'd of our Relation to Chriſt, our Attendance on him, and our Expectations from him. Hereby the Sincerity of our Faith is evidenc'd, his Name Glorified, and others edified. (2.) However this may expoſe us to Reproach and Trouble now, we ſhall abundantly be made amends for that in the Reſurrection of the Juſt, when it ſhall be our unſpeakable Honour and Happineſs; what would we more? Him will I confeſs; tho' a poor worthleſs Worm of the Earth, Chriſt will ſay, This is one of mine; one of my Friends and Favourites, that loved me, and was beloved of me. The Purchaſe of my Blood, the workmanſhip of my Spirit. I will confeſs him before my Father, when it will do him the moſt ſervice; I will ſpeak a good Word for him when he appears before my Father to receive his Doom; I will preſent him, will repreſent him to my Father. Them that honour Chriſt, he will thus honour. They honour him before Men, that's a poor thing, he will honour them before his Father, that's a great thing. 2. It is a dangerous thing for any to deny and diſown Chriſt before Men; for thoſe that do ſo will be diſown'd by him in the great Day, when they have moſt need of him. He will not own them for his Servants, that would not own him for their Maſter. I tell you, I know you not, Mat. 7. 23. In the firſt Ages of Chriſtianity, when for a Man to confeſs Chriſt, was to venture all that was dear to him in this World, 'twas more a Tryal of Sincerity that it was afterwards, when it had ſecular Advantages attending it.

8. That the Foundation of their Diſcipleſhip was laid in ſuch a Temper and Diſpoſition as would make Sufferings very light and eaſy to them, and it was upon the Condition of a Preparedneſs for Suffering that Chriſt took them to be his Followers, v. 37, 38, 39. He told them that at firſt they were not worthy of him, if they were not willing to part with all for him. Men ſtick not at thoſe Difficulties which neceſſarily attend their Profeſſion: and which they counted upon when they undertook that Profeſſion: and they will either chearfully ſubmit to thoſe Fatigues and Troubles, or diſclaim the Priviledges and Advantages of their Profeſſion: Now in the Chriſtian Profeſſion thoſe are reckon'd unworthy the Dignity and Felicity of it, that put not ſuch a Value upon their Intereſt in Chriſt, as to prefer that before any other Intereſts. They cannot expect the Gains of a Bargain, that will not come up to the Terms of it. Now thus the Terms are ſettl'd; if Religion be worth any thing, 'tis worth every thing; and therefore all that believe the Truth of it, will ſoon come up to the Price of it; and thoſe who make it their Buſineſs and Bliſs, will make every thing elſe to truckle to it. Thoſe that like not Chriſt on theſe Terms, may leave him at their Peril. Note, It is very encouraging to think, that whatever we leave, or loſe, or ſuffer for Chriſt, we do not make a hard Bargain for ourſelves. Whatever we part with for this Pearl of Price, we may comfort ourſelves with this, that its well worth what we give for it. The Terms are, That we muſt prefer Chriſt.

1. Before our neareſt and deareſt Relations; Father or Mother, Son or Daughter. Between theſe Relations, becauſe there's little room left for Envy, there's commonly more room for Love, and therefore theſe are inſtanc'd in as Relations, which we are moſt likely to affect. Children muſt love their Parents, and Parents muſt love their Children, but if they love them better than Chriſt, they are unworthy of him. As we muſt not be deter'd from Chriſt by the Hatred of our Relations which he ſpoke of, v. 21, 35, 36. ſo we muſt not be drawn from him by their Love. Chriſtians muſt be as Levi, that ſaid to his Father, I have not ſeen him, Deut. 39. 9.

2. Before our Eaſe and Safety. We muſt take up our Croſs and follow him, elſe we are not worthy of him. Here obſerve, (1.) Thoſe that would follow Chriſt muſt expect their Croſs, and take it up. (2.) In taking up the Croſs we muſt follow Chriſt's Example, and bear it as he did. (3.) It is a great encouragement to us when we meet with Croſſes, that in bearing of them we follow Chriſt, who hath ſhew'd us the Way, and if we follow him faithfully, will lead us thro' Sufferings like him to Glory with him.

3. Before Life it ſelf, v. 39. He that findeth his Life ſhall loſe it, that thinks he has found it when he hath ſav'd it, and kept it by denying Chriſt, he ſhall loſe it in an Eternal Death; but he that loſeth his Life for Chriſt's ſake, that will part with it rather than deny Chriſt, he ſhall find it to his unſpeakable advantage in an Eternal Life. Thoſe are beſt prepar'd for the Life to come that ſit moſt looſe to this preſent Life.

9. That Chriſt himſelf would ſo heartily eſpouſe their Cauſe, as to ſhew himſelf a Friend to all their Friends, and to repay all the Kindneſſes that ſhould at any time be beſtow'd upon them, v. 40, 41, 42. He that receiveth you, receiveth me.

1. It is here implied, That tho' the generality would reject them, yet they ſhould meet with ſome that would receive and entertain them, would bid the Meſſage welcome into their Hearts, and the Meſſengers into their Houſes for the ſake of it. Why was the Goſpel-market made? But that if ſome will not, others will. In the worſt of Times there is a Remnant according to the Election of Grace. Chriſt's Miniſters ſhall not labour in vain.

2. Jeſus Chriſt takes what is done to his faithful Miniſters, whether in Kindneſs, or in Unkindneſs, as done to himſelf, and reckons himſelf treated as they are treated. He that receiveth you, receiveth me. Both Honours and Contempts put upon an Embaſſador, do reflect Honour or Contempt upon the Prince that ſends him, and Miniſters are Embaſſadors for Chriſt. See how Chriſt may ſtill be entertain'd by thoſe that would teſtify their Reſpects to him; his People and Miniſters we have always with us, and he is with them always, even to the end of the World. Nay, the Honour riſeth higher, He that receiveth me receiveth him that ſent me, not only Chriſt takes it as done to himſelf, but thro' Chriſt God doth ſo too. By entertaining Chriſt's Miniſters, they entertain not Angels unawares, but Chriſt, nay, and God himſelf, and unawares too, as appears, Mat. 25. 37. When ſaw we thee an hungred?

3. That tho' the Kindneſs done to Chriſt's Diſciples be never ſo ſmall, yet if there be occaſion for it, and ability to do no more, it ſhall be accepted, tho' it be but a Cup of Cold Water given to one of theſe little ones, v. 42. They are little ones, poor and weak, and often ſtand in need of Refreſhment, and glad of the leaſt. The Extremity may be ſuch, that a Cup of cold Water may be a great Favour. Note, Kindneſſes ſhew'd to Chriſt's Diſciples are valued in Chriſt's Books, not according to the Coſt of the Gift, but according to the Love and Affection of the Giver. On that ſcore the Widow's Mite not only paſt current, but was ſtampt high, Luke 21. 3, 4. Thus they that are truly rich in Graces, may be rich in good Works, tho' poor in the World.

4. That Kindneſs to Chriſt's Diſciples which he will accept, muſt be done with an Eye to Chriſt, and for his ſake. A Prophet muſt be received in the Name of a Prophet; and a righteous Man, in the Name of a righteous Man, and one of thoſe little ones in the Name of a Diſciple; not becauſe they are Learned, or Witty, or becauſe they are our Relations or Neighbours; but becauſe they are Righteous, and ſo bear Chriſt's Image; they are Prophets and Diſciples, and ſo are ſent on Chriſt's Errand. 'Tis a believing Regard to Chriſt that puts an acceptable Value upon the Kindneſſes done to his Miniſters. When we entertain them for their Maſter's ſake whoſe they are, and whom they ſerve. Chriſt doth not intereſt himſelf in the Matter, unleſs we firſt intereſt himſelf in it. Ut tibi de beam aliquid pro eo quod praſtas, debes non tantum mihi praſtare, ſed tanquam mihi. Seneca.

5. That Kindneſſes ſhewn to Chriſt's People and Miniſters, ſhall not only be accepted, but richly and ſuitably rewarded. There is a great deal to be gotten by doing good Offices to Chriſt's Diſciples, if it be done to the Lord, he will repay them again with Intereſt; for he is not unrighteous to forget any Labour of Love, Heb. 6. 10. (1.) They ſhall receive a reward, and in no wiſe loſe it. He doth not ſay, they deſerve a Reward, we cannot merit any thing as Wages from the Hand of God; but they ſhall receive a Reward from the free Gift of God. And they ſhall in no wiſe loſe it, as good Services often do among Men; becauſe thoſe that ſhould reward them are either falſe or forgetful. The Reward may be defer'd, the full Reward will be defer'd till the Reſurrection of the Juſt; but it ſhall in no wiſe be loſt, nor ſhall they be any loſers by the delay. (2.) This is a Prophet's Reward, and a righteous Man's. That is, either (1.) The Reward that God gives to Prophets and Righteous Men; the Bleſſings confer'd upon them ſhall diſtill upon their Friends. Or, (2.) the Reward he gives by Prophets and Righteous Men. In anſwer to their Prayers, Gen. 20. 7. He is a Prophet, and he ſhall Pray for thee, that's a Prophet's Reward. And by their Miniſtry, when he gives the Inſtructions and Comforts of the Word, to thoſe that are kind to the Preachers of the Word, then he ſends a Prophet's Reward. Prophets Rewards are Spiritual Bleſſings in Heavenly Things, and if we know how to value them, we ſhall reckon them good Payment

CHAP. XI.

In this Chapter we have (1.) the conſtant and unwearied Diligence of our Lord Jeſus in his great Work of Preaching the Goſpel, v. 1. (2.) His Diſcourſe with the Diſciples of John, concerning his being the Meſſiah, v. 2.—6. (3.) The honourable Teſtimony that Chriſt bore to John Baptiſt, v. 7.—15. (4.) The ſad Account he gives of that Generation in general, and eſpecially of ſome particular Places; with reference to the Succeſs, both of John's Miniſtry, and of his own, v. 16.—24. (5.) His Thankſgiving to his Father for the Wiſe and Gracious Methods he had taking in revealing the great Myſteries of the Goſpel, v. 25, 26. (6.) His Gracious Call and Invitation to poor Sinners to come to him, and to be rul'd and taught, and ſav'd by him, v. 27.—30. No where have we more of the Terror of Goſpel-Woes for warning to us, or of the ſweetneſs of Goſpel-Grace for encouragement to us than in this Chapter, which ſets before us Life and Death, the Bleſſing and the Curſe.

AND it came to paſs, when Jeſus had made an end of commanding his twelve Diſciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities. 2 Now when John had heard in the priſon the works of Chriſt, he ſent two of his diſciples, 3 And ſaid unto him, Art thou he that ſhould come, or do we look for another? 4 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Go, and ſhew John again thoſe things which ye do hear and ſee. 5 The blind receive their ſight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleanſed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raiſed up, and the poor have the goſpel preached to them. 6 And bleſſed is he whoſoever ſhall not be offended in me.

The firſt Verſe of this Chapter ſome joyn to the foregoing Chapter, and make it (not unfitly) the cloſe of that.

1. The Ordination Sermon which Chriſt Preach'd to his Diſciples in the foregoing Chapter, is here call'd his commanding them. Note, Chriſt's Commiſſions imply Commands. Their Preaching of the Goſpel was not only permitted them, but it was enjoyn'd them. 'Twas not a thing they were left at their liberty about, but Neceſſity was laid upon them, 1 Cor. 9. 16. The Promiſes he made them are included in theſe Commands, for the Covenant of Grace is a word which he hath commanded, Pſal. 105. 8. He made an end of commanding, ἐτέλεσεν διατάσσων. Note, The Inſtructions Chriſt gives are full Inſtructions. He goes thro' with his Work.

2. When Chriſt had ſaid what he had to ſay to his Diſciples, he departed thence. It ſhould ſeem they were very loth to ſcatter and go abroad from their Maſter, till he departed, and ſeparated himſelf from them; as the Nurſe withdraws her Hand, that the Child may learn to go it ſelf. Chriſt would now teach them how to live, and how to work without his Bodily Preſence. 'Twas expedient for them, that Chriſt ſhould thus go away for a while, that they might be prepar'd for his long Departure, and that by the help of the Spirit their own Hands might be ſufficient for them, Deut. 33. 5. and they might not be always Children. We have little account of what they did now purſuant to their Commiſſion. They went abroad, no doubt, probably into Judea (for in Galilee the Goſpel had been moſtly Preach'd hitherto) publiſhing the Doctrine of Chriſt, and working Miracles in his Name; but ſtill in a more immediate Dependance upon him, and not being long from him; and thus they were train'd up by degrees for their great Work.

3. Chriſt departed to teach and Preach; there where he ſent his Diſciples before him to work Miracles, Chap. 10. 1, 8. and ſo to raiſe Peoples Expectations, and make way for his Entertainment. Thus was the Way of the Lord prepar'd; John prepar'd it by bringing People to Repentance, but he did no Miracle. The Diſciples go further, they work Miracles for the Confirmation. Note, Repentantce and Faith prepare People for the Bleſſings of the Kingdom of Heaven, which Chriſt gives. Obſerve, When Chriſt impower'd them to work Miracles, he imploy'd himſelf in Teaching and Preaching, as if that were the more honourable of the two. That was but in order to this. Healing the Sick was the ſaving of Bodies, but Preaching the Goſpel was to the ſaving of Souls. Chriſt had directed his Diſciples to Preach, Chap. 10. 7. yet he did not leave off Preaching himſelf. He ſet them to work, not for his own Eaſe, but for the Eaſe of the Country, and was not the leſs buſy for employing them. How unlike are they to Chriſt who yoke others, only that they may themſelves be idle. Note, The Increaſe and Multitude of Labourers in the Lord's Work, ſhould be made not an Excuſe for our Negligence, but an encouragement to our Diligence. The more buſy others are, the more buſy we ſhould be, and all little enough, ſo much Work is there to be done. Obſerve, He went to Preach in their Cities, which were populous Places; he caſt the Net of the Goſpel where there were moſt Fiſh to be inclos'd. Wiſdom cries in the City, Prov. 1. 21. at the entry of the City, Prov. 8. 3. In the Cities of the Jews, even theirs who made light of him, yet had the firſt offer.

What he Preach'd we are not told, but 'tis likely 'twas to the ſame purpoſe with his Sermon on the Mount. But here is next recorded a Meſſage which John Baptiſt ſent to Chriſt, and his return to it, v. 2.—6. We heard before that Jeſus heard of John's Sufferings, Chap. 4. 12. Now we are told that John in Priſon hears of Chriſt's doings. He heard in the Priſon the Works of Chriſt; and, no doubt, he was glad to hear of them, for he was a true Friend of the Bridegroom, John 3. 29. Note, When one uſeful Inſtrument is laid aſide, God knows how to raiſe up many others in the ſtead of it. The Work went on tho' John was in Priſon, and it added no Affliction, but a great deal of Conſolation to his Bonds. Nothing more comfortable to God's People in Diſtreſs than to hear of the Works of Chriſt; eſpecially to experience them in their own Souls. This turns a Priſon into a Palace. Some way or other Chriſt will convey the Notices of his Love to thoſe that are in Trouble for Conſcience ſake. John could not ſee the Works of Chriſt, but he heard of them with Pleaſure. And bleſſed are they which have not ſeen, but only heard, and yet have believed.

Now John Baptiſt hearing of Chriſt's Works, ſent two of his Diſciples to him; and what paſs'd between them and him, we have here an account of. Here's,

1. The Queſtion they had to propoſe to him: Art thou he that ſhould come, or do we look for another? This was a ſerious and important Queſtion, Art thou the Meſſiah promiſed, or not? Art thou the Chriſt? tell us: (1.) It is taken for granted that the Meſſiah ſhould come. It was one of the Names by which he was known to the Old Teſtament Saints, He that cometh, or ſhall come, Pſal. 118. 26. He is now come, but there is another coming of his we ſtill expect. (2.) They intimate, that if this be not he, they would look for another. Note, We muſt not be weary of looking for him that is to come, nor ever ſay, we will no more expect him till we come to enjoy him. Tho' he tarry, wait for him, for he that ſhall come will come, tho' not in our time. (3.) They intimate likewiſe, That if they be convinc'd this is He, they will not be Scepticks, they will be ſatisfied, and will look for no other. (4.) They therefore aſk, Art thou he? John had ſaid for his part, I am not the Chriſt, John 1. 20. Now (1.) ſome think John ſent this Queſtion for his own Satisfaction: 'Tis true he had born a noble Teſtimony to Chriſt, he declar'd him to be the Son of God, John 1. 34. the Lamb of God, v. 29. and he that ſhould baptize with the Holy Ghoſt, v. 33. and ſent of God, John 3. 34. which were great things. But (1.) he deſir'd to be further and more fully aſſur'd that he was the Meſſiah that had been ſo long promis'd and expected. Note, In Matters relating to Chriſt and our Salvation by him 'tis good to be ſure. Chriſt appear'd not in that external Pomp and Power that 'twas expected he ſhould appear in: his own Diſciples ſtumbled at this, and perhaps John did ſo; Chriſt ſaw ſomething of this at the bottom of this Enquiry, when he ſaid, Bleſſed is he who ſhall not be offended in me. Note, Its hard, even for good Men to bear up againſt vulgar Errors. (2.) John's Doubt might ariſe from his own preſent Circumſtances. He was a Priſoner, and might be tempted to think, If Jeſus be indeed the Meſſiah, whence is it that I his Friend and Fore-runner am brought into this Trouble, and am left to be ſo long in it, and he never looks after me, viſits me not, nor ſends to me, enquires not after me, doth nothing either to ſweeten my Impriſonment, or haſten my Enlargement. Doubtleſs there was a good Reaſon why our Lord Jeſus did not go to John in Priſon, leſt there ſhould ſeem to have been a Compact between them; but John conſtru'd it a Neglect, and it was perhaps a Shock to his Faith in Chriſt. Note, 1. Where there is true Faith, yet there may be a mixture of Unbelief. The beſt are not always alike ſtrong. 2. Troubles for Chriſt, eſpecially when they continue long unreliev'd, are ſuch Tryals of Faith as ſometimes prove too hard to be born up againſt. 3. The remaining Unbelief of good Men may ſometimes in an Hour of Temptation ſtrike at the Root, and call in queſtion the moſt fundamental Truths which were thought to be well ſettled. Will the Lord caſt off for ever? But we will hope that John's Faith did not fail in this Matter, only he deſir'd to have it ſtrengthen'd and confirm'd. Note, The beſt Saints have need of the beſt Helps they can get for the ſtrengthening of their Faith, and the arming of themſelves againſt Temptations to Infidelity. Abraham believed, and yet deſir'd a Sign, Gen. 15. 6, 8. ſo did Gideon, Judg. 6. 36, 37. But (2.) Others think John ſent his Diſciples to Chriſt with this Queſtion, not ſo much for his own Satisfaction as for theirs. Obſerve, Tho' he was a Priſoner they ſtuck to him, attended on him, and were ready to receive Inſtructions from him; they lov'd him, and would not leave him. Now, 1. they were weak in Knowledge, and wavering in their Faith, and needed Inſtruction and Confirmation; and in this matter they were ſomewhat prejudic'd, being jealous for their Maſter, they were jealous of our Maſter; were loth to acknowledge Jeſus to be the Meſſiah, becauſe he eclips'd John, and are loth to believe their own Maſter when they think he ſpeaks againſt himſelf and them. Good Men are apt to have their Judgments byaſs'd by their Intereſt. Now John would have their Miſtakes rectified, and them as well ſatisfied as he himſelf was. Note, The Strong ought to conſider the Infirmities of the Weak, and do what they can to help them; and ſuch as we cannot help ourſelves, we ſhould ſend to thoſe that can. When thou art converted, ſtrengthen thy Brethren. 2. John was all along induſtrious to turn over his Diſciples to Chriſt, as from the Grammar-School to the Academy. Perhaps he foreſaw his Death approaching, and therefore would bring his Diſciples to be better acquainted with Chriſt, under whoſe Guardianſhip he muſt leave them. Note, Miniſters Buſineſs is to direct every body to Chriſt. And thoſe who would know the Certainty of the Doctrine of Chriſt, muſt apply themſelves to him, who is come to give an Underſtanding. Thoſe that would grow in Grace, muſt be inquiſitive.

2. Here's Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion, v. 4, 5, 6. It was not ſo direct and expreſs, as when he ſaid, I that ſpeak unto thee am he; but it was a real Anſwer, an Anſwer in Fact. Chriſt will have us to ſpell out the convincing Evidences of Goſpel-Truths, and to take pains in digging for Knowledge.

1. He points them to what they heard and ſaw, which they muſt tell John, that he might from thence take occaſion the more fully to inſtruct and convince them out of their own Mouths. Go and tell him what you hear and ſee. Note, Our Senſes may, and ought to be appeal'd to in thoſe things that are their proper Objects. Therefore the Popiſh Doctrine of the real Preſence agrees not with the Truth as it is in Jeſus; for Chriſt refers us to the things we hear and ſee. Go and tell John.

(1.) What you ſee of the Power of Chriſt's Miracles; you ſee how by the Word of Jeſus the Blind receive their Sight, the Lame walk &c. Chriſt's Miracles were done openly, and in the view of all; for they feared not the ſtrongeſt and moſt impartial Scrutiny. Veritas non quærit Angulos. They are to be conſider'd (1.) as the Acts of a Divine Power. None but the God of Nature could thus over-rule and outdo the Power of Nature. 'Tis particularly ſpoken of as God's Prerogative to open the Eyes of the Blind, Pſal. 146. 8. Miracles are therefore the Broad-Seal of Heaven, and the Doctrine they are affix'd to muſt be of God, for his Power will never contradict his Truth; nor can it be imagin'd he ſhould ſet his Seal to a Lye; however lying Wonders may be vouch'd for proof of falſe Doctrines, true Miracles evince a divine Commiſſion; ſuch Chriſt's were, and leave no room to doubt that he was ſent of God, and his Doctrine was his that ſent him. (2.) As the Accompliſhment of a divine Prediction. It was foretold, Iſa. 35. 5, 6. that our God ſhould come, and that then the Eyes of the Blind ſhall be open'd. Now if the Works of Chriſt agree with the Words of the Prophet, as 'tis plain they do, then, no doubt but this is our God whom we have waited for, who ſhall come with a Recompence; this is he that is ſo much wanted.

(2.) Tell him what you hear of the Preaching of his Goſpel, which goes along with his Miracles. Faith, tho' confirm'd by ſeeing, comes by hearing. Tell him (1.) That the Poor preach the Goſpel; ſo ſome read it. It proves Chriſt's divine Miſſion, that thoſe whom he employ'd in founding his Kingdom were poor Men, deſtitute of all ſecular Advantages, and therefore could never have carried their Point, if they had not been carried on by a divine Power. (2.) That the Poor have the Goſpel preach'd to them. Chriſt's Auditory is made up of ſuch as the Scribes and Phariſees deſpis'd, and look'd upon with Contempt; and the Rabbi's would not inſtruct, becauſe they were not able to pay them. The Old Teſtament Prophets were ſent moſtly to Kings and Princes, but Chriſt preach'd to the Congregations of the Poor. It was foretold that the Poor of the Flock ſhould wait upon him, Zech. 11. 11. Note, Chriſt's gracious Condeſcenſions and Compaſſions to the Poor, are an evidence that it was he that ſhould bring to the World the tender Mercies of our God. 'Twas foretold that the Son of David ſhould be the poor Man's King, Pſal. 72. 2, 4, 12, 13. Or, we may underſtand it, not ſo much of the Poor of the World, as the Poor in Spirit, and ſo that Scripture is fulfill'd, Iſa. 61. 1. He hath anointed me to preach glad Tidings to the Meek. Note, 'Tis a Proof of Chriſt's divine Miſſion that his Doctrine is Goſpel indeed; good News to thoſe that are truly humbled, in Sorrow for their Sin, and truly humble in the denial of Self; to them it is accommodated, for whom God always declar'd he had Mercy in Store. (3.) That the Poor receive the Goſpel, and are wrought upon by it; they are Evangeliz'd, they receive and entertain the Goſpel, are leaven'd by it, and deliver'd into it as into a Mold. Note, The wonderful Efficacy of the Goſpel is a proof of its divine Original. The Poor are wrought upon by it. The Prophets complain'd of the Poor, that they know not the way of the Lord, Jer. 5. 4. They could do no good upon them; but the Goſpel of Chriſt made its way into their ſtupid Souls.

2. He pronounceth a Bleſſing on thoſe that were not offended in him, v. 6. So clear are theſe Evidences of Chriſt's Miſſion, that thoſe who are not wilfully prejudic'd againſt him, and ſcandaliz'd in him; (ſo the word is) cannot but receive his Doctrine, and ſo be bleſſed in him. Note, (1.) There are many things in Chriſt which thoſe that are ignorant and unthinking are apt to be offended at, ſome Circumſtances, for the ſake of which they reject the Subſtance of his Goſpel. The meanneſs of his Appearance, his Education at Nazareth, the Poverty of his Life, the Deſpicableneſs of his Followers, the Slights which the great Men put upon him, the ſtrictneſs of his Doctrine, and the Contradiction it gives to Fleſh and Blood; the Sufferings that attend the Profeſſion of his Name, and are likely to do ſo; theſe are things that keep many from him, who otherwiſe cannot but ſee much of God in him. Thus he is ſet for the Fall of many, even in Iſrael, Luke 2. 34. a Rock of Offence, 1 Pet. 2. 8. (2.) They are happy who get over theſe Offences, Bleſſed are they. The Expreſſion intimates, that 'tis a difficult thing to conquer theſe Prejudices, and a dangerous thing not to conquer them; but thoſe, who notwithſtanding this Oppoſition do believe in Chriſt, their Faith will be found ſo much the more to Praiſe, and Honour, and Glory.

7 And as they departed, Jeſus began to ſay unto the multitudes, concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderneſs to ſee? A reed ſhaken with the wind? 8 But what went ye out for to ſee? A man clothed in ſoft raiment? behold, they that wear ſoft clothing, are in kings houſes. 9 But what went ye out for to ſee? A prophet? yea, I ſay unto you, and more than a prophet. 10 For this is he of whom it is written, Behold, I ſend my meſſenger before they face, which ſhall prepare thy way before thee. 11 Verily I ſay unto you, among them that are born of women, there hath not riſen a greater than John the Baptiſt: notwithſtanding, he that is leaſt in the kingdom of heaven, is greater than he. 12 And from the days of John the Baptiſt, until now, the kingdom of heaven ſuffereth violence, and the violent take it by force. 13 For all the prophets and the law propheſied until John. 14 And if ye will receive it, this is Elias which was for to come. 15 He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

We have here the high Encomium which our Lord Jeſus gave of John Baptiſt; not only to revive his Honour, but to revive his Work. Some of Chriſt's Diſciples might perhaps take occaſion from the Queſtion John ſent to reflect upon him, as weak and wavering, and inconſiſtent with himſelf, to prevent which, Chriſt gives him this Character. Note, It is our Duty to conſult the Reputation of our Brethren, and not only to remove, but to obviate and prevent Jealouſies, and ill Thoughts of them; and we muſt take all Occaſions, eſpecially thoſe which diſcover any thing of Infirmity, to ſpeak well of thoſe that are Praiſe-worthy, and to give them that Fruit of their Hands. John Baptiſt, when he was upon the Stage, and Chriſt in Privacy and Retirement, bore Teſtimony to Chriſt; and now Chriſt appear'd publickly, and John was under a Cloud, he bore Teſtimony to John. Note, Thoſe who have a confirmed Intereſt themſelves, ſhould improve it for the helping of the Credit and Reputation of others, whoſe Character claims it, but either their Temper, or preſent Circumſtances put them out of the way of it. This is giving Honour to whom Honour is due. John had abaſed himſelf to Honour Chriſt, John 3. 29, 30. Matt. 3. 11. had made himſelf Nothing, that Chriſt might be all, and now Chriſt dignifies him with this Character. Note, Thoſe that humble themſelves ſhall be exalted, and thoſe that honour Chriſt, he will honour; that confeſs him before Men, he will confeſs, and ſometimes before Men too, even in this World. John had now finiſhed his Teſtimony, and now Chriſt commends him. Note, Chriſt reſerves Honour for His Servants when they have done their Work, John 12. 26.

Now concerning this Commendation of John, obſerve,

1. That Chriſt ſpoke thus honourably of John, not in the hearing of John's Diſciples, but as they departed, juſt after they were gone, Luke 7. 24. He would not ſo much as ſeem to flatter John, nor have theſe Praiſes of him reported to him. Note, Tho' we muſt be forward to give to all their due Praiſe for their Encouragement, yet we muſt avoid every thing that looks like Flattery, or may be in danger of puffing them up. Thoſe that in other things are mortified to the World, yet cannot well bear their own Praiſe. Pride is a corrupt Humour, which we muſt not feed either in others, or in ourſelves.

2. That what Chriſt ſaid concerning John, was intended, not only for his Praiſe, but for the People's Profit, to revive the Remembrance of John's Miniſtry which had been much flock'd after; but was now, (as other ſuch things us'd to be) ſtrangely forgotten; they did for a ſeaſon, and but for a ſeaſon, rejoyce in his Light, John 5. 35. Now conſider, What went ye out into the Wilderneſs to ſee? Put this Queſtion to your ſelves. (1.) John preach'd in the Wilderneſs, and thither People flock'd in crowds to him, tho' in a remote place, and an inconvenient one. If Teachers be remov'd into corners, 'tis better go after them than be without them. Now if his Preaching is worth taking ſo much pains to hear it, ſure 'twas worth taking ſome care to recollect it. The more Difficulties we have broke thro' to hear the Word, the more we are concern'd to profit by it. (2.) They went out to him to ſee him; rather to feed the Eye with the unuſual Appearance of his Perſon, than to feed their Souls with his wholſome Inſtructions, rather for Curioſity than for Conſcience. Note, Many that attend on the Word come rather to ſee and be ſeen, than to learn and be taught, to have ſomething to talk of, than to be made wiſe to Salvation. (3.) Chriſt puts it to them, What went ye out to ſee? Note, Thoſe that attend on the Word will be call'd to an account, what their Intentions, and what their Improvements were. We think when the Sermon is done the Care's over; no, then the greateſt of the Care begins. It will ſhortly be aſk'd, What Buſineſs had you at ſuch a time, at ſuch an Ordinance? What brought you thither? Was it Cuſtom, or Company, or was it a deſire to honour God, and get Good? What have you brought thence? What Knowledge, and Grace and Comfort? What went ye to ſee? Note, When we go to read and hear the Word, we ſhould ſee that we aim right in what we do.

3. Let us ſee what the Commendation of John was. They know not what Anſwer to make to Chriſt's Queſtion; Well, ſaith Chriſt, I'll tell you what a Man John Baptiſt was.

1. He was a firm reſolute Man, and not a Reed ſhaken with the Wind; you have been ſo in your Thoughts of him, but he was not ſo. He was not wavering in his Principles, or uneven in his Converſation; but was remarkable for his Steddineſs, and conſtant conſiſtency with himſelf. Thoſe that are weak as Reeds, will be ſhaken as Reeds; but John was ſtrong in Spirit, Eph. 4. 14. When the Wind of popular Applauſe on the one hand blew freſh and fair, when the Storm of Herod's Rage on the other hand grew fierce and bluſtering; John was ſtill the ſame, the ſame in all Weathers. The Teſtimony he had born to Chriſt, 'twas not the Teſtimony of a Reed, of a Man that was of one Mind to Day, and of another to Morrow, 'twas not a Weather-cock Teſtimony; no, his Conſtancy in it is intimated, John 1. 20. he confeſſed, and denied not, but confeſſed, and he ſtood to it afterwards, John 3. 28. And therefore this Queſtion ſent by his Diſciples was not to be conſtrued as ſpeaking any Suſpicion he now had of the Truth of what he had formerly ſaid. Therefore the People flock'd to him becauſe he was not as a Reed. Note, There's nothing loſt at long run by an unſhaken Reſolution to go on with our Work, neither courting the Smiles, nor fearing the Frowns of Men.

2. He was a Self-denying Man, and mortified to this World. Was he a Man clothed in ſoft Raiment? If ſo, you would not have gone into the Wilderneſs to ſee him, but to the Court. You went to ſee one that had his Raiment of Camels Hair, and a leathern Girdle about his Loins; his Mein and Habit ſhew'd that he was dead to all the Pomps of the World, and the Pleaſures of Senſe, his Clothing agreed with the Wilderneſs he liv'd in, and the Doctrine he Preach'd there, that of Repentance. Now you cannot think that he who was ſuch a Stranger to the Pleaſures of a Court, ſhould be brought to change his Mind by the Terrors of a Priſon, and now to queſtion whether Jeſus be the Meſſiah or no; Note, Thoſe who have liv'd a Life of Mortification, are leaſt likely to be driven off from their Religion by Perſecution. He was not a Man clothed in ſoft Raiment; ſuch there are, but they are in Kings Houſes. Note, It becomes People in all their Appearances to comport with their Character, and the Place they are in, and to conform to that. Thoſe that are Preachers muſt not affect to look like Courtiers; nor thoſe whoſe lot is caſt in common Dwellings, be ambitious of the ſoft Clothing which they wear that are in Kings Houſes. Prudence teacheth us to be of a Piece. John appear'd rough and unpleaſant, yet they flock'd after him. Note, The Remembrance of our former Zeal in attending on the Word of God, ſhould quicken us to, and in our preſent Work; let it not be ſaid that we have done and ſuffered ſo many things in vain, have run in vain, and labour'd in vain.

3. His greateſt Commendation of all was his Office and Miniſtry, which was more his Honour than any perſonal Endowments or Qualifications could be, and therefore this is moſtly enlarged upon in a full Encomium.

1. He was a Prophet, yea, and more than a Prophet, v. 9. ſo he ſaid of him who was the great Prophet, to whom all the Prophets bare witneſs. John ſaid of himſelf, He was not that Prophet, that great Prophet, the Meſſiah himſelf, and now Chriſt, (a very competent Judge) ſaith of him, that he was more than a Prophet. He own'd himſelf inferior to Chriſt, and Chriſt own'd him ſuperior to all other Prophets. Obſerve, The Forerunner of Chriſt was not a King, but a Prophet, leſt it ſhould ſeem that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah had been laid in Earthly Power; but his immediate Forerunner was as ſuch, a tranſcendent Prophet, more than an Old Teſtament Prophet: They all did virtuouſly, but John excelled them all; they ſaw Chriſt's Day at a diſtance, and their Viſion was yet for a great while to come; but John ſaw the Day dawn, he ſaw the Sun riſe, and told the People of the Meſſiah, as one that ſtood among them. They ſpake of Chriſt, but he pointed to him; they ſaid, A Virgin ſhall conceive, he ſaid, Behold the Lamb of God.

2. He was the ſame that was Propheſied to be Chriſt's Forerunner, v. 10. This is he of whom it is written. He was propheſied of by the other Prophets, and therefore was greater than they. Malachi propheſied concerning John, Behold, I ſend my Meſſenger before thy Face. Herein ſome of Chriſt's Honour was put upon him, that the Old Teſtament Prophets ſpake and wrote of him; and this Honour have all the Saints, that their Names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life. 'Twas great Preferment to John above all the Prophets, that he was Chriſt's Harbinger. He was a Meſſenger, ſent on a great Errand; a Meſſenger, one among a thouſand, deriving his Honour from him, whoſe Meſſenger he was; he is my Meſſenger, ſent of God, and ſent before the Son of God. His Buſineſs was to prepare Chriſt's Way, to diſpoſe People to receive the Saviour, by diſcovering to them their Sin and Miſery, and their need of a Saviour. This he had ſaid of himſelf, John 1. 23. and now Chriſt ſaid it of him, intending thereby, not only to put an Honour upon John's Miniſtry; but to revive People's Regard to it, as making way for the Meſſiah. Note, Much of the Beauty of God's Diſpenſations lies in their mutual Connexion and Coherence, and the reference they have one to another. That which advanc'd John above the Old Teſtament Prophets was, that he went immediately before Chriſt. Note, The nearer any are to Chriſt, the more truly honourable they are.

3. There was not a greater born of Women than John Baptiſt, v. 11. Chriſt knew how to value Perſons according to the degrees of their Worth, and he prefers John before all that went before him, before all that were born of Women by ordinary Generation. Of all that God has rais'd up, and call'd to any Service in his Church, John is the moſt eminent, even beyond Moſes himſelf; for he began to preach the Goſpel-doctrine of Remiſſion of Sins to thoſe that are truly penitent; and he had more ſignal Revelations from Heaven than any of them had; for he ſaw Heaven open'd, and the Holy Ghoſt deſcend. He alſo had great Succeſs in his Miniſtry, almoſt the whole Nation flock'd to him: None roſe on ſo great a Deſign, or came on ſo noble an Errand as John did, nor had ſuch reaſon to be welcome. Many had been born of Women that made a greater Figure in the World, but Chriſt prefers John before them. Note, Greatneſs is not to be meaſured by Shews and Appearances, and outward Splendor, but thoſe are the greateſt Men that are the greateſt Saints, and the greateſt Bleſſings; that are as John was, great in the ſight of the Lord, Luke 1. 14.

Yet this high Encomium of John had a ſurprizing Limitation, notwithſtanding he that is leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he. (1) In the Kingdom of Glory. John was a great and good Man, but he was yet in a State of Infirmity and Imperfection, and therefore came ſhort of glorified Saints, and the Spirits of juſt Men made perfect. Note, (1.) There are Degrees of Glory in Heaven, ſome that are leſs than others there; tho' every Veſſel is alike full, 'tis not alike large and capacious. (2.) The leaſt Saint in Heaven is greater, and knows more, and loves more, and doth more in praiſing God, and receives more from him than the greateſt in this World. The Saints on Earth are excellent ones, Pſal. 16. 3. but thoſe in Heaven are much more excellent; the beſt in this World are lower than the Angels, Pſal. 8. 5. the leaſt there are equal with the Angels, which ſhould make us long for that bleſſed State, where the weak ſhall be as David, Zech. 12. 8. (2.) By the Kingdom of Heaven here, is rather to be underſtood the Kingdom of Grace, the Goſpel Diſpenſation in the Perfection of its Power and Purity, and ὁ μικρότερος, he that is leſs in that is greater than John. Some underſtand it of Chriſt himſelf, who was younger than John; and in the Opinion of ſome leſs than John, who always ſpoke diminiſhingly of himſelf; I am a Worm, and no Man, yet greater than John; ſo it agrees with what John Baptiſt ſaid, Johr 1. 15. He that cometh after me is prefer'd before me. But 'tis rather to be underſtood of the Apoſtles and Miniſters of the New Teſtament, the Evangelical Prophets; and the Compariſon between them and John, is not with reſpect to their Perſonal Sanctity, but to their Office; John preach'd Chriſt coming, but they preach'd Chriſt not only come, but Crucified, and Glorifi'd. John came to the dawning of the Goſpel-day, and therein excell'd the foregoing Prophets, but he was taken off before the Noon of that Day, before the rendring of the Vail before Chriſt's Death and Reſurrection, and the pouring out of the Spirit; ſo that the leaſt of the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts, having greater Diſcoveries made to them, and being employ'd in a greater Embaſſy, is greater than John. John did no Miracles, the Apoſtles wrought many. The ground of this Performance is laid in the Preference of the New Teſtament Diſpenſation, above that of the Old Teſtament. Miniſters of the New Teſtament therefore excel, becauſe their Miniſtration doth ſo, 2 Cor. 3. 6, &c. John was a Maximum quod ſic, he went to the utmoſt that the Diſpenſation he was under would allow; but minimum maximi eſt majus maximo minimi, a Dwarf upon a Mountain ſees further than a Giant in the Valley. Note, All the true Greatneſs of Men is derived from, and denominated by the gracious Manifeſtation of Chriſt to them. The beſt Men are no better than he is pleas'd to make them, and reflect Light upon them. What reaſon have we to be thankful that our Lot is caſt in the Days of the Kingdom of Heaven, under ſuch Advantages of Light and Love; and the greater the Advantages, the greater will the Account be, if we receive the Grace of God in vain.

4. The great Commendation of John Baptiſt was that God own'd his Miniſtry, and made it wonderfully ſucceſsful for the breaking of the Ice, and the preparing of People for the Kingdom of Heaven. From the Days of the firſt appearing of John Baptiſt, until now, (which was not much above two Years) a great deal of Good was done; ſo quick was the Motion when it came near to Chriſt the Center: The Kingdom of Heaven ſuffereth Violence, βιάζεται, vim patitur, like the Violence of an Army taking a City by Storm, or of a Crowd thruſting into a Houſe, ſo the Violent take it by Force. The meaning of this we have in the parallel place, Luke 16. 16. Since that time the Kingdom of God is Preached, and every Man preſſeth into it. Multitudes are wrought upon by the Miniſtry of John, and become his Diſciples. And it is (1.) an improbable Multitude. Thoſe ſtrove for a Place in this Kingdom, that one would think had no Right or Title to it, and ſo ſeem'd to be Intruders, and to make a tortious Entry, as our Law calls it, a wrongful and forcible one. When the Children of the Kingdom are excluded out of it, and many come into it from the Eaſt and the Weſt, then it ſuffers Violence. Compare this with Matt. 21. 31, 32. The Publicans and Harlots believed John whom the Scribes and Phariſees rejected, and ſo went into the Kingdom of God before them, took it over their Heads while they trifled. Note, It is no Breach of good Manners to go to Heaven before our Betters. And it is a great Commendation of the Goſpel from the Days of its Infancy, that it has brought many to Holineſs that were very unlikely.

(2.) An importunate Multitude. This Violence notes a Strength, and Vigour, and Earneſtneſs of Deſire and Endeavour in thoſe that follow'd John's Miniſtry, elſe they would not have come ſo far to attend upon it. It ſhews us alſo what Fervency and Zeal is requir'd of all thoſe that deſign to make Heaven of their Religion. Note, Thoſe that would enter into the Kingdom of Heaven muſt ſtrive to enter. That Kingdom ſuffers a holy Violence. Self muſt be deny'd the Bent and Biaſs, the Frame and Temper of the Mind muſt be alter'd, there's hard Services to be done, and hard Sufferings to be undergone, a Force to be put upon the corrupt Nature; we muſt run, and wreſtle, and Fight, and be in an Agony, and all little enough to win ſuch a Prize, and to get over ſuch Oppoſition from without, and from within. The Violent take it by Force. Thoſe that will have an Intereſt in the great Salvation, are carry'd out towards it with a ſtrong Deſire, will have it upon any Terms, and not think them hard, nor quit their hold without a Bleſſing, Gen. 32. 26. Thoſe that will make their Calling and Election ſure muſt give Diligence. The Kingdom of Heaven was never intended to indulge the Eaſe of Triflers, but to be the Reſt of them that Labour. 'Tis a bleſſed Sight, O that we could ſee more of it, not with an angry Contention, thruſting others out of the Kingdom of Heaven, but with a holy Contention, thruſting themſelves into it.

5. The Miniſtry of John was the beginning of the Goſpel, as 'tis reckon'd, Mark 1. 1. Acts 1. 22. This is ſhew'd here in two things:

1. In John the Old Teſtament Diſpenſation began to die, v. 13. So long that Miniſtration continu'd in full Force and Virtue, but then it began to decline. Tho' the Obligation of the Law of Moſes was not remov'd 'till Chriſt's Death, yet the Diſcoveries of the Old Teſtament began to be ſuperſeded by the more clear manifeſtation of the Kingdom of Heaven as at hand. Becauſe the Light of the Goſpel, (as that of Nature) was to precede and make way for its Law; therefore the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament came to an end (Finis perficiens, not interficiens) before the Precepts of it; ſo that when Chriſt ſaith, All the Prophets and the Law Propheſied until John, He ſhews us (1.) how the Light of the Old Teſtament was ſet up; 'twas ſet up in the Law and the Prophets, who ſpoke, tho' darkly of Chriſt and his Kingdom. Obſerve, The Law is ſaid to Propheſie as well as the Prophets, concerning him that was to come. Chriſt began at Moſes, Luke 24. 27. Chriſt was foretold by the dumb Signs of the Moſaick Work, as well as by the more articulate Voices of the Prophets, and was exhibited, not only in the verbal Predictions, but in the perſonal and real Types. Bleſſed be God that we have both the New Teſtament Doctrine to explain the Old Teſtament Prophecies, and the Old Teſtament Prophecies to confirm and illuſtrate the New Teſtament Doctrine. Heb. 1. 1. like the two Cherubims, they look at each other. The Law was given by Moſes long ago, and there had been no Prophets of three hundred Years before John, and yet they are both ſaid to Propheſie until John, becauſe the Law was ſtill obſerv'd, and Moſes and the Prophets ſtill read. Note, The Scripture is teaching to this day, tho' the Pen-men of it are gone. Moſes and the Prophets are dead, the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts dead, Zech. 1. 5. but the Word of the Lord endures for ever, 1 Pet. 1. 25. The Scripture is ſpeaking expreſly, tho' the Writers are ſilent in the Duſt. (2.) How this Light was laid aſide; when he ſaith, they Propheſied until John; he intimates, that their Glory was eclips'd by the Glory which excelled; their Predictions ſuperſeded by John's Teſtimony, Behold the Lamb of God. Even before the Sun riſeth the Morning-light makes Candles to ſhine dim. Their Prophecies of a Chriſt to come became out of date, when John ſaid He is come.

2. In him the New Teſtament Day began to dawn; for v. 14. This is Elias, that was for to come. John was as the Loop that coupled the two Teſtaments; as Noah was Fibula utriuſque Mundi, ſo was he utriuſque Teſtamenti. The concluding Propheſie of the Old Teſtament was, Behold, I will ſend you Elijah, Mal. 4. 5, 6. Thoſe Words Propheſied until John, and then being turned into a Hiſtory they ceaſed to Propheſie. (1.) Chriſt ſpeaks of it as a great Truth, that John Baptiſt is the Elias of the New Teſtament, not Elias in propria Perſona, he deny'd that, John 1. 21. Such an Elias the carnal Jews expected, but one that ſhould come in the Spirit and Power of Elias, Luke 1. 17. like him in Temper and Converſation, that ſhould preſs Repentance with Terrors, and eſpecially as it is in the Prophecy, that ſhould turn the Hearts of the Fathers to the Children. (2.) He ſpeaks of it as a Truth, which would not be eaſily apprehended by thoſe whoſe Expectations faſtned upon the temporal Kingdom of the Meſſiah, and Introductions to it agreeable. Chriſt ſuſpects the welcome of it, if ye will receive it. Not but that is was true, whether they would receive it or no, but he upbraids them with their Prejudices, that they were backward to receive the greateſt Truths that were croſs to their Sentiments, tho' never ſo favourable to their Intereſts. Or, if you will receive him, or, if you will receive the Miniſtry of John as that of the promiſed Elias, he will be Elias to you, to turn you, and prepare you for the Lord. Note, Goſpel-Truths are as they are received, a Saviour of Life or Death. Chriſt is a Saviour, and John an Elias to thoſe who will receive the Truth concerning them.

Laſtly. Our Lord Jeſus cloſeth this Diſcourſe with a ſolemn Demand of Attention, v. 15. He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear. Which intimates, that thoſe things were dark and hard to be underſtood, and therefore needed Attention, but of great Concern and Conſequence, and therefore well deſerv'd it. Let all People take notice of this, If John be the Elias Propheſied of, then certainly there is a great Revolution on foot, the Meſſiah's Kingdom is at the door, and the Word will ſhortly be ſurpriz'd into a happy change. Theſe are things which require your ſerious Conſideration, and therefore you are all concern'd to hearken to what I ſay. Note, The things of God are of great and common concern; every one that has Ears to hear any thing, is concern'd to hear this. It intimates, That God requires no more from us but the right uſe and improvement of the Faculties he has already given us. He requires thoſe to hear that have Ears, thoſe to uſe their Reaſon that have Reaſon. Therefore People are ignorant, not becauſe they want Powers, but becauſe they want Wills; therefore they do not hear, becauſe like the deaf Adder they ſtop their Ears.

16 But whereunto ſhall I liken this generation? It is like unto children ſitting in the markets and calling unto their fellows, 17 And ſaying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced: we have mourned unto you, and ye have not lamented. 18 For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they ſay, He hath a devil. 19 The ſon of man came eating and drinking, and they ſay, Behold a man gluttonous, and a winebibber, a friend of publicans and ſinners: but wiſdom is juſtified of her children. 20 Then began he to upbraid the cities wherein moſt of his mighty works were done, becauſe they repented not. 21 Wo unto thee Corazin, wo unto thee Bethſaida: for if the mighty works which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in ſackloth and aſhes. 22 But I ſay unto you, It ſhall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of Judgment, then for you. 23 And thou Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, ſhall be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained uutil this day. 24 Bnt I ſay unto you, that it ſhall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom, in the day of judgment then for thee.

Chriſt was going on in the Praiſe of John Baptiſt and his Miniſtry, but here ſtops on a ſudden, and turns that to the Reproach of thoſe who enjoy'd both that and the Miniſtry of Chriſt, and his Apoſtles too in vain. As to that Generation, we may obſerve who he compares them to, v. 16.—19. And as to the particular places he inſtanceth in, we may obſerve who he compares them with, v. 20.—24.

Firſt, As to that Generation, the Body of the Jewiſh People at that time. There were many indeed that preſs'd into the Kingdom of Heaven; but the generality continued in Unbelief and Obſtinacy. John was a great and good Man, but the Generation into which his Lot was caſt, was as barren and unprofitable as could be, and unworthy of him. Note, The badneſs of the Places where good Miniſters live, ſerves for a Foil to their Beauty. 'Twas Noah's Praiſe that he was Righteous in his Generation. Having commended John, he condemns thoſe that had him among them, and did not profit by his Miniſtry. Note, The more Praiſe-worthy the Miniſter is, the more blame-worthy the People are if they ſlight him, and ſo it will be found in the Day of Account.

This our Lord Jeſns here ſets forth in a Parable, yet ſpeaks as if he were at a loſs to find out a Similitude proper to repreſent this. Whereunto ſhall I liken this Generation? Note, There is not to be a greater Abſurdity than that which theyare guilty of that have good Preaching among them, and are never the better for it. 'Tis hard to ſay, what they are like. The Similitude is taken from ſome common Cuſtom among the Jewiſh Children at their Play, who, as is uſual with Children, intimated the Faſhions of grown People at their Marriages and Funerals, rejoycing and lamenting; but being all a Jeſt, it made no Impreſſion; no more did the Miniſtry either of John Baptiſt, or of Chriſt upon that Generation. He eſpecially reflects on the Scribes and Phariſees, who had a proud Conceit of themſelves; therefore to humble them, he compares them to Children, and their Carriage to Childrens Play.

The Parable will be beſt explain'd byopening it and the Reddition of it together in theſe five Obſervations.

Note, 1. The God of Heaven uſeth variety of proper Means and Methods for the Converſion and Salvation of poor Souls; he would have all Men to be ſaved, and therefore leaves no ſtone unturn'd in order to it. The great thing he aims at is the melting of our Wills into a Compliance with the will of God, and in order to this the affecting of us with the Diſcoveries he has made of himſelf. Having various Affections to be wrought upon, he uſeth various ways of working upon them, which, tho' differing one from another, all tend to the ſame thing, and God is in them all driving on the ſame Deſign. In the Parable this is call'd his Piping to us, and his Mourning to us; he hath piped to us in the precious Promiſes of the Goſpel, proper to work upon Hope, and mourning to us in the dreadful Threatnings of the Law, proper to work upon Fear, that he might frighten us out of our Sins, and allure us to himſelf. He hath piped to us in gracious and merciful Providences, mourned to us in calamitous afflicting Providences, and hath ſet the one over againſt the other. He hath taught his Miniſters to change their Voices, Pſal. 4. 20. Sometimes to ſpeak in Thunder from Mount Sinai, ſometimes in a ſtill ſmall Voice from Mount Sion.

In the Reddition of the Parable is ſet forth the different Temper of John's Miniſtry, and of Chriſt, who were the two great Lights of that Generation.

(1.) On the one hand John came mourning to them, neither eating nor drinking; not converſing familiarly with People, nor ordinarily eating in Company, but alone, in his Cell, in the Wilderneſs, where his Meat was Locuſt and wild Honey. Now this, one would think, ſhould work upon them; for ſuch an auſtere mortified Life as this was very agreeable to the Doctrine he preach'd, and that Miniſter is moſt likely to do good whoſe Converſation is according to his Doctrine, and yet the Preaching even of ſuch a Miniſter is not always effectual.

(2.) On the other hand, the Son of Man came eating and drinking, and ſo he piped unto them. Chriſt converſed familiarly with all ſorts of People, not affecting any peculiar ſtrictneſs or auſterity, he was affable and eaſy of Acceſs, not ſhy of any Company, was oft as Feaſts, both with Phariſees and Publicans, to try if this would win upon thoſe that were not wrought upon by John's Reſervedneſs. Thoſe that were not aw'd by John's Frowns, would be allur'd by Chriſt's Smiles, from whom St. Paul learn'd to become all things to all Men, 1 Cor. 9. 22. Now our Lord Jeſus by this Freedom he took, did not at all condemn John, no more than John did condemn him, tho' their Carriage were ſo very different. Note, Tho' we are never ſo clear in the Goodneſs of our own Practice, yet we muſt not judge of others by it. There may be a great diverſity of Operations, where it is the ſame God that worketh all in all, 1 Cor. 12. 6. and this various Manifeſtation of the Spirit is given to every Man to profit withal, v. 7. Obſerve, eſpecially that God's Miniſters are variouſly gifted. The Ability and Genius of ſome lies one way, of others another way. Some are Boanarges's Sons of Thunder; others Barnabas's Sons of Conſolation, yet all theſe worketh that one and the ſelf ſame Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 11. and therefore we ought not to condemn neither, but to praiſe both, and praiſe God for both, who thus tries various ways of dealing with Perſons of various Tempers, that Sinners may be either made pliable, or left inexcuſable, ſo that whatever the Iſſue is, God will be glorified.

Note, 2. The various Methods which God takes for the Converſion of Sinners, are with many fruitleſs and ineffectual. Ye have not danced, ye have not lamented, i. e. you have not been ſuitably affected either with the one or with the other; particular Means have, as in Medicine, their particular Intentions, which muſt be anſwer'd, particular Impreſſions, which muſt be ſubmitted to, in order to the Succeſs of the great and general Deſign; now if People will be neither bound by Laws, or invited by Promiſes, nor frighted by Threatnings; will neither be awaken'd by the greateſt things, nor allur'd by the ſweeteſt things, nor ſtartled by the moſt terrible things, nor be made ſenſible by the plaineſt things; if they will hearken to the Voice neither of Scripture, nor Reaſon, nor Experience, nor Providence, nor Conſcience, nor Intereſt, what more can be done? The Bellows are burnt, the Lead is conſumed, the Founder melteth in vain, reprobate Silver ſhall Men call them, Jer. 6. 29. Miniſters Labour is beſtow'd in vain, Iſa. 49. 4. and which is a much greater Loſs, the Grace of God receiv'd in vain, 2 Cor. 6. 1. Note, It is ſome Comfort to faithful Miniſters, when they ſee little Succeſs of their Labours, that 'tis no new thing for the beſt Preachers and the beſt Preaching in the World to come ſhort of the deſired End. Who has believed our Report? If from the Blood of the Slain, from the Fat of the Mighty, the Bow of thoſe great Commanders, Chriſt and John return'd ſo often empty, (2 Sam. 1. 22.) no marvel if ours do ſo, and we Propheſy to ſo little purpoſe upon dry Bones.

Note, 3. That commonly thoſe People that do not profit by the Means of Grace are perverſe, and reflect upon the Miniſters, by whom they enjoy thoſe Means; and becauſe they do not get good themſelves, they do all the hurt they can to others, by raiſing and propagating Prejudices againſt the Word, and the faithful Preachers of it. Thoſe that will not comply with God, and walk after him, confront him, and walk contrary to him. So this Generation did, becauſe they were reſolv'd not to believe Chriſt and John, and to own them as they ought to have done for the beſt of Men, they ſet themſelves to abuſe them, and to repreſent them as the worſt. (1.) As for John Baptiſt, they ſay, He has a Devil. They imputed his Strictneſs and Reſervedneſs to Melancholy, and ſome kind or degree of a Poſſeſſion of Satan. Why ſhould we heed him? he is a poor hypocondriacal Man, full of Fancies, and under the Power of a craz'd Imagination. (2.) As for Jeſus Chriſt, they imputed his free and obliging Converſation to the more vicious Habit of Luxury and Fleſh-pleaſing; Behold a gluttonous Man, and a Wine-bibber. No Reflection could be more foul and invidious; 'tis the Charge againſt the Rebellious Son, Deut. 21. 20. He is a Glutton, and a Drunkard. Yet none could be more falſe and unjuſt; for Chriſt pleaſed not himſelf, Rom. 15. 3. nor did ever any Man live ſuch a life of Self-denial, Mortification, and Contempt of the World as Chriſt liv'd. He that was undefiled, and ſeparate from Sinners, is here repreſented as in league with them, and polluted by them. Note, The moſt unſpotted Innocency, and the moſt unparallel'd Excellency will not always be a Fence againſt the Reproach of Tongues. Nay, a Man's beſt Gifts, and beſt Actions, which are both well intended, and well calculated for Edification, may be made the Matter of his Reproach. The beſt of our Actions may become the worſt of our Accuſations, as David's Faſting, Pſal. 69. 10. It was true in ſome ſenſe that Chriſt was a Friend to Publicans and Sinners, the beſt Friend they ever had, for he came into the World to ſave Sinners, great Sinners, even the chief; ſo he ſaid very feelingly, who had been himſelf, not a Publican and Sinner, but a Phariſee and Sinner; but this is, and will be to Eternity Chriſt's Praiſe, and they forfeited the Benefit of it who thus turn'd it to his Reproach.

Note, 4. That the Cauſe of this great Uufruitfulneſs, and Perverſeneſs of People under the means of Grace, is becauſe they are like Children ſitting in the Markets. They are fooliſh as Children, froward as Children; mindleſs and playful as Children. Would they but ſhew themſelves Men in Underſtanding, there would be ſome hopes of them. The Market-place they ſit in, is to ſome a place of Idleneſs, Mat. 20. 3. To others a Place of worldly Buſineſs, James 4. 13. to all a place of Noiſe of Diverſion; ſo that if you aſk the reaſon why People get ſo lttle good by the Means of Grace, you will find, 'tis becauſe they are Slothful and Trifling, and do not love to take Pains; or, becauſe their Heads, and Hands, and Hearts are full of the World, the Cares of which choke the Word, and choke their Souls at laſt, Ezek. 33. 31. Amos 8. 5. And they ſtudy to divert their own Thoughts from every thing that is Serious. Thus in the Markets they are, and there they ſit; in theſe things their Hearts reſt, and by them they reſolve to abide.

Note, 5. Tho' the Means of Grace be thus ſlighted and abus'd by many, by the moſt, yet there is a Remnant that through Grace do improve them, and anſwer the Deſigns of them to the Glory of God, and the Good of their own Souls. But Wiſdom is juſtified of her Children. Chriſt is Wiſdom, in him are hid Treaſures of Wiſdom; the Saints are the Children God has given him, Heb. 2. 13. The Goſpel is Wiſdom, 'tis the Wiſdom from above. True Believers are begotten again by it, and born from above too. They are wiſe Children, wiſe for themſelves and their true Intereſts; not like the foooliſh Children that ſat in the Markets. Theſe Children of Wiſdom juſtify Wiſdom, they comply with the Deſigns of Chriſt's Grace, anſwer the Intentions of it, and are ſuitably affected with, and impreſs'd by the various Methods it takes, and ſo evidence the Wiſdom of Chriſt in taking theſe Methods. This is explain'd, Luke 7. 29. The Publicans juſtified God, being baptiz'd with the Baptiſm of John, and afterwards embracing the Goſpel of Chriſt. Note, The Succeſs of the Means of Grace juſtifies the Wiſdom of God in the choice of theſe Means, againſt thoſe who charge him with Folly therein. The Cure of every Patient that obſerves the Phyſician's Orders, juſtifies the Wiſdom of the Phyſician, and therefore Paul is not aſhamed of the Goſpel of Chriſt, becauſe whatever it is to others, to them that believe it is the Power of God unto Salvation, Rom. 1. 16. When the Croſs of Chriſt, which to others is Fooliſhneſs and a Stumbling-block is to them that are called the Wiſdom of God, and the Power of God, 1 Cor. 1. 23, 24. So that they make the Knowledge of that the top of their Ambition, 1 Cor. 2. 2. and the Efficacy of that the Crown of their Glorying, Gal. 6. 14. Here is Wiſdom juſtified of her Children. Wiſdom's Children are Wiſdom's Witneſſes in the World, Iſa. 43. 10. and ſhall be produc'd as Witneſſes in that Day, when Wiſdom that is now juſtified by the Saints ſhall be Glorified in the Saints, and admir'd in all them that believe, 2 Theſ. 1. 10. If the Unbelief of ſome reproach Chriſt, by giving him the Lye, the Faith of others ſhall honour him by ſetting to its Seal that he is true, and that he alſo is wiſe 1 Cor. 1. 25. Whether we do it or no, it will be done; not only God's Equity, but his Wiſdom will be juſtified when he ſpeaks, when he judges.

Well, this is the Account Chriſt gives of that Generation, and that Generation is not paſſed away, but remains in a Succeſſion of the like; for as it was then, it has been ſince, and is ſtill, ſome believe the things which are ſpoken, and ſome believe not, Acts 28. 24.

Secondly, As to the particular Places in which Chriſt was moſt converſant. What he ſaid in general of that Generation, he apply'd in particular to thoſe Places to affect them. Then began he to upbraid them, v. 20. He began to preach to them long before, Chap. 4. 17. but he did not begin to upbraid them till now. Note, Rough and unpleaſing Methods muſt not be taken till gentler Means have firſt been us'd. Chriſt is not apt to upbraid, he gives liberally, and upbraideth not, till Sinners by their Obſtinacy extort it from him. Wiſdom firſt invites, but when her Invitations are ſlighted then ſhe upbraids, Prov. 1. 20, 24. Thoſe do not go in Chriſt's Method, who begin with Upbraidings. Now obſerve,

1. The Sin charg'd upon them; not any againſt the Moral Law, then an appeal would have lain to the Goſpel, which would have reliev'd; but a Sin againſt the Goſpel, the Remedial Law, and that is Impenitency. This it was he upbraided them with, or reproach'd them for, as the moſt ſhameful and ungrateful that could be, that they repented not. Note, Wilful Impenitency is the great damning Sin of Multitudes that enjoy the Goſpel, and which, (more than any other) Sinners will be upbraided with to Eternity. The great Doctrine that both John Baptiſt, and Chriſt, and the Apoſtles Preach'd was Repentance; the great thing deſign'd both in the Piping and in the Mourning, was to prevail with People to change their Minds and Ways, to leave their Sins, and turn to God, and this they would not be brought to. He doth not ſay, becauſe they believed not, for ſome kind of Faith many of them had, that Chriſt was a Teacher come from God; but becauſe they repented not, their Faith did not prevail to the transforming of their Hearts, and the reforming of their Lives. Chriſt reproved them for their other Sins, that he might lead them to Repentance; but when they repented not, he upbraided them with that as their Refuſal to be heal'd. He upbraided them with it, that they might upbraid themſelves, and might at length ſee the Folly of it, as that which alone makes the ſad Caſe a deſperate one, and the Wound incurable.

2. The Aggravation of the Sin. They were the Cities, in which moſt of his mighty Works were done; for thereabouts his principal Reſidence had been for ſome time. Note, Some Places enjoy the Means of Grace in greater Plenty, Power, and Purity than other Places. God is a free Agent, and Acts ſo in all his Diſpoſals, both as the God of Nature, and as the God of Grace, common and diſtinguiſhing Grace. By Chriſt's mighty Works they ſhould have been prevail'd with not only to receive his Doctrine, but to obey his Law; the curing of Bodily Diſeaſes ſhould have been the healing of their Souls, but it had not that effect. Note, The ſtronger Inducements we have to Repent, the more heinous is the Impenitency, and the ſeverer will the Reckoning be; for Chriſt keeps account of the mighty Works done among us, and of the gracious Works done for us too, by which alſo we ſhould be led to repentance, Rom. 2. 4.

1. Chorazin and Bethſaida are here inſtanc'd in v. 21, 22. they have each of them their Woe. Wo unto thee Chorazin, woe unto thee Bethſaida. Chriſt came into the World to bleſs us, but if that Bleſſing be ſlighted, he has Woes in reſerve, and his Woes are of all other the moſt terrible. Theſe two Cities were ſituate upon the Sea of Galilee, the former on the Eaſt ſide, and the latter on the Weſt, rich and populous Places; Bethſaida was lately advanc'd to a City by Philip the Tetrarch, out of it Chriſt took at leaſt three of his Apoſtles. Thus highly were theſe Places favour'd, yet becauſe they knew not the Day of their Viſitation they fell under theſe Woes which ſtuck ſo cloſe to them, that ſoon after this they decay'd, and dwindled into mean obſcure Villages: So fatally doth Sin ruin Cities, and ſo certainly doth the Word of Chriſt take place.

Now Chorazin and Bethſaida are here compar'd with Tyre and Sidon, two maritine Cities we read much of in the Old Teſtament that had been brought to ruin but began to flouriſh again; theſe Cities border'd upon Galilee, but were in a very ill Name among the Jews for Idolatry, and other Wickedneſs. Chriſt ſometimes went into the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon, Mat. 15. 21. but never thither; the Jews would have taken it very heinouſly if he had; therefore Chriſt to convince and humble them, here ſhews,

1. That Tyre and Sidon would not have been ſo bad as Chorazin and Bethſaida. If they had had the ſame Word Preach'd, and the ſame Miracles wrought among them, they would have repented, and that long ago, as Nineveh did, in Sackcloth and Aſhes. Chriſt who knows the Hearts of all, knew that if he had gone and liv'd among them, and Preach'd among them, he ſhould have done more good there than where he was; yet he continued where he was for ſome time, to encourage his Miniſters to do ſo, tho' they ſee not the Succeſs they deſire. Note, Among the Children of Diſobedience, ſome are more eaſily wrought upon than others: And it is a great Aggravation of the Impenitency of thoſe that plentifully enjoy the Means of Grace; not only that there are many who ſit under the ſame Means that are work'd upon, but there are many more that would have been work'd upon if they had enjoy'd the ſame Means. See Ezek. 3. 6, 7. Our Repentance is ſlow and delay'd, but theirs would have been ſpeedy, they would have repented long ago. Ours has been ſlighty and ſuperficial, theirs would have been deep and ſerious, in Sackcloth and Aſhes. Yet we muſt obſerve with an awful Adoration of the Divine Sovereignity, that the Tyrians and Sidonians will juſtly periſh in their Sin, tho' if they had had the Means of Grace they would have repented; for God is a Debtor to no Man.

2. That therefore Tyre and Sidon ſhall not be ſo miſerable as Chorazin and Bethſaida, but it ſhall be more tolerable for them in the Day of Judgment, v. 22. Note, (1.) At the Day of Judgment the everlaſting State of the Children of Men will by an unerring and unalterable Doom be determin'd; Happineſs or Miſery, and the ſeveral Degrees of each. Therefore 'tis call'd the Eternal Judgment, Heb. 6. 2. becauſe deciſive of the Eternal State. (2.) In that Judgment all the Means of Grace that were enjoy'd in the State of Probation will certainly come into the Account, and it will be enquir'd, not only how bad we were, but how much better we might have been, had it not been our own fault, Iſa. 5. 3, 4. (3.) Tho' the Damnation of all that periſh will be intolerable, yet the Damnation of thoſe that had the fulleſt and cleareſt Diſcoveries made them of the Power and Grace of Chriſt, and yet repented not, will be of all other the moſt intolerable. The Goſpel-light and Sound open the Faculties, and enlarge the Capacities of all that ſee and hear it, either to receive the Riches of Divine Grace, or (if that Grace be ſlighted) to take in the more plentiful Effuſions of Divine Wrath. If ſelf-reproach be the Torture of Hell, it muſt needs be Hell indeed to thoſe that had ſuch a fair Opportunity of getting to Heaven. Son remember that.

2. Capernaum is here condemn'd with an Emphaſis, v. 23. And thou Capernaum, hold up thy Hand, and hear thy Doom. Capernaum above all the Cities of Iſrael was dignified with Chriſt's moſt uſual Reſidence, 'twas like Shiloh of old, the Place which he choſe to put his Name there, and it far'd with it as with Shiloh, Jer. 7. 12, 14. Chriſt's Miracles here were daily Bread, and therefore as the Manna of old were deſpis'd and call'd light Bread. Many a ſweet and comfortable Lecture of Grace Chriſt had read them to little purpoſe, and therefore here he reads them a dreadful Lecture of Wrath. Thoſe who will not hear the former, ſhall be made to feel the latter.

We have here Capernaum's Doom.

1. Put abſolutely. Thou which art exalted to Heaven ſhall be brought down to Hell. Note, 1. Thoſe that enjoy the Goſpel in Power and Purity are thereby exalted to Heaven. They had therein a great Honour for the Preſent, and a great Advantage for Eternity. They are lifted up towards Heaven, but if notwithſtanding they ſtill cleave to the Earth, they may thank themſelves that they are not lifted up into Heaven. 2. Goſpel Advantages and Advancements abus'd, will ſink Sinners ſo much the lower into Hell. Our external Priviledges will be ſo far from ſaving us, that if our Hearts and Lives be not agreeable to them, they will but inflame the Reckoning. The higher the Precipice is, the more fatal is the fall from it. Let us not therefore be high-minded, but fear; nor Slothful, but diligent. See Job 20. 6, 7.---24. 29.

2. We have it here put in Compariſon with the Doom of Sodom. A place more remarkable, both for Sin and Ruin than perhaps any other; and yet Chriſt here tells us,

1. That Capernaum's Means would have ſaved Sodom. If theſe Miracles had been done among the Sodomites, as bad as they were, they would have repented, and their City would have remained unto this Day, a Moment of ſparing Mercy, as now it is of deſtroying Juſtice, Jude 7. Note, Upon true Repentance thro' Chriſt, even the greateſt Sin ſhall be pardon'd, and the greateſt Ruin prevented, that of Sodom not excepted. Angels were ſent to Sodom, and yet it remained not; but if Chriſt had been ſent thither it would have remained: How well is it for us then that the World to come is put in Subjection to Chriſt, and not to Angels, Heb. 2. 5. Lot would not have ſeem'd as one that mocked, if he had wrought Miracles.

2. That Sodom's Ruin will therefore be leſs at the great Day than Capernaum's. Sodom will have many Sins to anſwer for, but not the Sin of neglecting Chriſt, as Capernaum will. If the Goſpel prove a Savour of Death, a killing Savour, 'tis doubly ſo, 'tis of Death unto Death, ſo great a Death, 2 Cor. 2. 16. Chriſt had ſaid the ſame of all other Places that receive not his Miniſters, nor bid his Goſpel welcome, Mat. 10. 15. It ſhall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom, than for that City. We that have now the written Word in our Hands, the Goſpel Preach'd, and Goſpel-ordinances Adminiſter'd to us, and live under the Diſpenſation of the Spirit, have Advantages not inferior to thoſe of Chorazin, and Bethſaida, and Capernaum, and the Account in the great Day will be accordingly. It has therefore been juſtly ſaid, that the Profeſſors of this Age, whether they go to Heaven or Hell, will be the greateſt Debtors in either of thoſe Places; if to Heaven, the greateſt Debtors to divine Mercy for thoſe rich Means that brought them thither; if to Hell, the greateſt Debtors to divine Juſtice for thoſe rich Means that would have kept them thence.

25 At that time Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, becauſe thou haſt hid theſe things from the wiſe and prudent, and haſt revealed them unto babes. 26 Even ſo Father for ſo it ſeemed good in thy ſight. 27 All things are deliver'd unto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Son but the Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, ſave the Son, and he to whomſoever the Son will reveal him. 38 Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you reſt.

29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me, for
I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye ſhall find reſt unto you ſouls. 30 For my yoke is eaſy and my burden is light.

In theſe Verſes we have Chriſt looking up to Heaven with Thankſgiving to his Father for the Sovereignty and Security of the Covenant of Redemption; and looking around him upon this Earth with an Offer to all the Children of Men, to whom theſe Preſents ſhall come, of the Privileges and Benefits of the Covenant of Grace.

Firſt, Chriſt here returns Thanks to God for his Favour to thoſe Babes, who had the Myſteries of the Goſpel reveal'd to them, v. 25. 26. Jeſus anſwered and ſaid. 'Tis call'd an Anſwer, tho' no other Words are before recorded, but his own, becauſe it is ſo comfortable a Reply to the Melancholy Conſiderations preceeding, and is aptly ſet in the Ballance againſt them. The Sin and Ruin of thoſe woful Cities, no doubt was a Grief to the Lord Jeſus, he could not but weep over them, as he did over Jeruſalem, Luke 19. 41. with this Thought therefore he refreſheth himſelf, and to make it the more refreſhing, he puts it into a Thankſgiving, That for all this there is a Remnant, tho' but Babes, to whom the things of the Goſpel are revealed. Though Iſrael be not gather'd, yet ſhall he be glorious. Note, We may take great Encouragement in looking upwards to God, when round about us we ſee nothing but what is diſcouraging. 'Tis ſad to ſee how regardleſs the moſt Men are of their own Happineſs, but'tis comfortable to think that the wiſe and faithful God will however, effectually ſecure the Intereſts of his own Glory. Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, I thank thee. Note, Thankſgiving is a proper Anſwer to dark and diſquieting Thoughts, and may be an effectual Means to ſilence them. Songs of Praiſe are ſovereign Cordials to drooping Souls, and will help to cure Melancholy. When we have no other Anſwer ready to the Suggeſtions of Grief and Fear, we may have Recourſe to this, I thank thee O Father; let us bleſs God that it is not worſe with us than it is.

Now in this Thankſgiving of Chriſt's we may obſerve,

1. The Title he gives to God; O Father, Lord of Heaven and Earth. Note, 1. In all our Approaches to God by Praiſe, as well as by Prayer, it is good for us to eye him as a Father, and to faſten on that Relation, not only when we aſk for the Mercies we want, but when we give Thanks for the Mercies we have receiv'd. Mercies are then doubly ſweet, and powerful to enlarge the Heart in Praiſe, when they are receiv'd as tokens of a Father's Love, and Gifts of a Father's Hand. Giving Thanks to the Father, Col. 1. 12. It becomes Children to be grateful, and to ſay, Thank you Father, as readily as Pray Father. 2. When we come to God as a Father, we muſt withal remember, that he is Lord of Heaven and Earth; which obligeth us to come to him with Reverence as to the Sovereign Lord of all, and yet with Confidence, as one able to do for us whatever we need or can deſire; to defend us from all evil, and to ſupply us with all good. Chriſt in Melchizedeck had long ſince bleſſed God, as the Poſſeſſor, or Lord of Heaven and Earth; and in all our Thankſgivings for Mercies in the Stream, we muſt give him the Glory of the All-ſufficiency that is in the Fountain.

2. The thing he gives Thanks for. Becauſe thou haſt hid theſe things from the wiſe and Prudent, and yet revealed them to Babes. Theſe things, he doth not ſay what things, but means the great Things of the Goſpel, the things that belong to our Peace, Luke 19. 42. He ſpeaks thus emphatically of them, theſe things, becauſe they were things that fill'd him, and ſhould fill us. All other things are as nothing to things.

Note, 1. The great things of the everlaſting Goſpel have been, and are hid from many that were wiſe and prudent, that were eminent for Learning and worldly Policy. Some of the greateſt Scholars, and the greateſt Stateſmen have been the greateſt Strangers to Goſpel Myſteries: The World by Wiſdom knew not God, 1 Cor. 1. 21. Nay, there is an Oppoſition given to the Goſpel by a Science falſly ſo call'd, 1 Tim. 6. 20. Thoſe that are moſt expert in things ſenſible and ſecular, are commonly leaſt experienc'd in ſpiritual things. Men may dive deep into the Myſteries of Nature and the Myſteries of State, and yet be ignorant of, and Miſtake about the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, for Want of an Experience of the Power of them.

2. While the wiſe and Prudent Men of the World are in the dark about Goſpel Myſteries, even the Babes in Chriſt have the ſanctifying ſaving knowledge of them, thou haſt revealed them unto Babes, ſuch the Diſciples of Chriſt were, Men of mean Birth and Education, no Scholars, no Artiſts, no Politicians, unlearned and ignorant Men, Acts 4. 13. Thus are the Secrets of Wiſdom, which is double to that which is, John 11. 6. made known to Babes and Sucklings, that out of their Mouths Strength might be ordain'd, Pſal. 8. 2. and God's Praiſe thereby perfected. The Learned Men of the World were not made choice of to be Preachers of the Goſpel, but the fooliſh things of the World, 1 Cor. 2. 6, 8, 10.

3. This Difference between the Prudent and the Babes is of God's own making (1.) 'Tis he that has hid theſe things from the wiſe and prudent; he gave them parts and Learning, and much of human Underſtanding above others, and they were proud of that, and reſted in it, and look'd no further, and therefore God juſtly denies them the Spirit of Wiſdom and Revelation, and then tho' they hear the Sound of the Goſpel Tidings, they are to them as a ſtrange thing. God is not the Author of their Ignorance and Error, but he leaves them to themſelves, and their Sin becomes their Puniſhment, and the Lord is righteous in it. See John 12. 39, 40. Rom. 11. 7, 8. Acts 28. 26, 27. Had they honour'd God with the Wiſdom and Prudence they had, he would have given them the Knowledge of theſe better things. but becauſe they ſerv'd their Luſts with them, he has hid their Hearts from this Underſtanding. (2.) 'Tis he that has reveal'd them unto Babes. Things revealed belong to our Children, Deut. 24. 29. and to them he gives an Underſtanding to receive theſe things, and the Impreſſions of them. Thus he reſiſts the Proud, and gives Grace to the humble, Jam. 4. 6.

4. This Diſpenſation muſt be reſolv'd into the divine Sovereignty. Chriſt himſelf refer'd it to that, Even ſo Father, becauſe it ſeemed good in thy ſight. Chriſt here ſubſcribes to the Will of his Father in this Matter. Even ſo. Let God take what way he pleaſeth to glorify himſelf, and make uſe of what Inſtruments he pleaſeth, for the carrying on of his own Work: His Grace is his own, and he may give or withhold it as he pleaſes. We can give no Reaſon why Peter, a Fiſherman, ſhould be made an Apoſtle, and not Nicodemus a Phariſee, and a Ruler of the Jews, tho' he alſo believ'd in Chriſt; but ſo it ſeem'd good in God's Sight. Chriſt ſaid this in the Hearing of his Diſciples, to ſhew them that is was not for any Merit of their own, that they were thus dignified and diſtinguiſh'd, but purely from God's good Pleaſure. He made them to differ.

5. This way of diſpenſing divine Grace is to be acknowledg'd by us as it was by our Lord Jeſus, with all Thankfulneſs. We muſt thank God, (1.) That theſe things are revealed; the Myſtery hid from Ages and Generations is manifeſted; that they are revealed not to a few, but to be publiſhed to all the World. (2.) That they are revealed to Babes, that the meek and humble are beautify'd with this Salvation; and this Houour put upon thoſe whom the World pours Contempt upon. (3.) It magnifies the Mercy to them, that theſe things are hid from the wiſe and prudent. Diſtinguiſhing Favours are moſt obliging. As Job ador'd the Name of the Lord, in taking away as well as in giving, ſo may we in hiding theſe things from the wiſe and prudent, as well as in revealing them unto Babes, not as it is their Miſery, but as it is a Method by which ſelf is abas'd, proud Thoughts brought down, all Fleſh ſilenc'd, and divine Power and Wiſdom is made to ſhine the more bright. See 1 Cor. 1. 27, 31.

Secondly, Chriſt here makes a gracious Offer of the Benefits of the Goſpel to all; and theſe are the things which are reveal'd to Babes, v. 27, &c. Obſerve here,

1. The ſolemn Preface which uſhers in this Call or Invitation, both to command our Attention to it, and to encourage our Compliance with it. That we might have ſtrong Conſolation in flying for Refuge to this Hope ſet before us, Chriſt perfix'd his Authority, produceth his Credentials; we ſhall ſee he is impower'd to make this Offer.

Two things he here lays before us, v. 27.

(1.) His Commiſſion from the Father. All things are deliver'd unto me of my Father. Chriſt as God is equal in Power and Glory with the Father, but as Mediator, he receives his Power and Glory from the Father; hath all Judgment committed to him. He is authoriz'd to ſettle a new Covenant between God and Man, and to offer Peace and Happineſs to the Apoſtate World upon ſuch Terms as he ſhould think fit. He was ſanctified and ſealed to be the ſole Plenipotentiary, to concert and eſtabliſh this great Affair: In Order to this, he has all Power both in Heaven and in Earth, Mat. 28. 18. Power over all Fleſh. John 17. 2. Authority to execute Judgment, John 5. 22, 27. This encourageth us to come to Chriſt, that he is commiſſioned to receive us, and to give us what we come for, and has all things deliver'd to him for that Purpoſe, by him who is Lord of all. All Powers, all Treaſures are in his Hand. Obſerve, the Father has deliver'd his All into the Hands of the Lord Jeſus, let us but deliver our All into his Hand, and the Work is done; God has made him the great Referee, the bleſſed Days-man to lay his Hand upon us both. That which we have to do, is, to agree to the Reference, to ſubmit to the Arbitration of the Lord Jeſus for the taking up of this unhappy Controverſy, and enter into Bonds to ſtand to his Award.

(2.) His Intimacy with the Father. No man knoweth the Son but the Father, neither knoweth any man the Father ſave the Son, This gives us a further Satisfaction, and an abundant one. Embaſſadors uſe to have not only their Commiſſions, which they produce, but their Inſtructions, which they reſerve to themſelves, to be made uſe of as there is Occaſion in their Negotiations: Our Lord Jeſus had both, not only Authority, but Ability for his undertaking. In tranſacting the great Buſineſs of our Redemption, the Father and the Son are the Parties principally concern'd, the Counſel of Peace is between them, Zech. 6. 13. It muſt therefore be a great Encouragement to us to be aſſur'd, that they underſtood one another very well in this Affair; that the Father knew the Son, and the Son knew the Father, and both perfectly, (a mutual Conciouſneſs, we may call it, between the Father and the Son) ſo that there could be no miſtake in the ſettling of this Matter; as often there is among Men, to the Overthrow of Contracts, and the breaking of the Meaſures taken, through their Miſunderſtanding one of another. The Son had lain in the Boſom of the Father from Eternity, he was a ſecretioribus, of the Cabinet Council, John 1. 18. He was by him as one brought up with him, Prov. 8. 30. So that none knows the Father ſave the Son, he adds. and he to whom the Son will reveal him. Note, 1. The Happineſs of Men lies in an Acquaintance with God; ’tis Life eternal, ’tis the Perfection of rational Beings. 2. Thoſe that would have an Acquaintance with God muſt apply themſelves to Jeſus Chriſt; for the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God ſhines in the Face of Chriſt, 2 Cor 4. 6. We are obliged to Chriſt for all the Revelation we have of God the Father’s Will and Love, ever ſince Adam ſinn’d. There’s no Comfortable Intercourſe between a holy God, and ſinful Man, but in, and by a Mediator, John 14. 6.

2. Here’s the Offer itſelf that is made to us, and an Invitation to accept of it. After ſo ſolemn a Preface we may well expect ſomething very great; and it is ſo, a faithful Saying, and well worthy of all Acceptation; Words whereby we may be ſav’d. We are here invited to Chriſt as our Prieſt, Prince, and Prophet to be ſaved, and in order to that to be rul’d and taught by him.

1. We muſt come to Jeſus Chriſt as our Reſt, and repoſe ourſelves in him, v. 28. Come unto me all ye that labour. Obſerve, 1. The Character of the Perſons invited; all that labour and are heavy laden. This is a Word in Seaſon to him that is weary, Iſa. 53. 4. Thoſe that complain of the Burden of the Ceremonial Law, which was an intolerable Yoke, and was made much more ſo by the Tradition of the Elders, Luke 11. 46. let them come to Chriſt, and they ſhall be made eaſy; he came to free his Church from this Yoke, to cancel the Impoſition of thoſe carnal Ordinances, and to introduce a purer and more ſpiritual way of Worſhip. But ’tis rather to be underſtood of the Burden of Sin, both the Guilt and the Power of it. Note, All thoſe, and thoſe only are invited to reſt in Chriſt, that are ſenſible of Sin as a Burden and Groan under it; that are not only convinc’d of the Evil of Sin; of their own Sin, but are contrite in Soul for it; that are really ſick of their Sins, weary of the ſervice of the World and the Fleſh: That ſee their State ſad and dangerous by reaſon of Sin, and are in Pain and Fear about it, as Ephraim, Jer. 31. 18, 19, 20. the Prodigal, Luke 15. 17. the Publican, Luke 18. 13. Peter’s Hearers, Acts 2. 37. Paul, Acts 9. 4, 6, 9. the Jaylors, Acts 16. 29, 30. This is a neceſſary Preparative for Pardon and Peace. The Comforter muſt firſt convince, John 16. 8. I have torn, and then will heal.

2. The Invitation it ſelf. Come unto me. That glorious Diſplay of Chriſt’s Greatneſs which we had, v. 27. as Lord of all, might frighten us from him, but ſee here how he holds out the golden Sceptre, that we may touch the top of it, and may live. Note, It is the Duty and Intereſt of weary and heavy laden Sinners to come to Jeſus Chriſt. Renouncing all thoſe things which ſtand in Oppoſition to him, or in Competition with him, we muſt accept of him as our Phyſician and Advocate, and give up ourſelves to his Conduct and Government, freely willing to be ſav’d by him, in his own Way, and upon his own Terms. Come and caſt that Burden upon him; under which thou art heavy laden. This is the Goſpel Call, The Spirit ſaith come, and the Bride ſaith come; Let him that is athirſt come. Whoever will let him come.

3. The Bleſſing promis’d to thoſe that do come; I will give you reſt. Chriſt is our Noah, whoſe Name ſignifies Reſt, for this ſame ſhall give us Reſt, Gen. 5. 29.–8. 9. Truly Reſt is good, Gen. 49. 15. eſpecially to thoſe that Labour, and are heavy laden, Eccl. 5. 12. Note, Jeſus Chriſt will give aſſured Reſt to thoſe weary Souls that by a lively Faith come to him for it; Reſt from the Terror of Sin, in a well grounded Peace of Conſcience; Reſt from the Power of Sin, in a regular Order of the Soul, and its due Government of its ſelf; a Reſt in God and a Complacency of Soul in his Love, Pſal. 11. 6, 7. This is that Reſt which remains for the People of God, Heb. 4. 9. begun in Grace, and perfected in Glory.

2. We muſt come to Jeſus Chriſt as our Ruler, and ſubmit ourſelves to him, v. 29. Take my Yoke upon you. This muſt go along with the former, for Chriſt is exalted to be both a Prince and Saviour, a Prieſt upon his Throne. The Reſt he promiſeth is a Releaſe from the Drudgery of Sin, not from the Service of God; but an Obligation to the Duty we owe to him. Note, Chriſt hath a Yoke for our Necks, as well as a Crown for our Heads, and this Yoke he expects we ſhould take upon us, and draw in. To call thoſe that are weary and heavy laden to take a Yoke upon them, looks like adding Affliction to the afflicted; but the Pertinency of it lies in the Word my: You are under a Yoke which makes you weary, ſhake that off, and try mine, which will make you eaſy. Servants are ſaid to be under the Yoke, 1 Tim. 6. 1. and Subjects, 1 Kings 12. 10. To take Chriſt’s Yoke upon us, is to put ourſelves into the Relation of Servants and Subjects to him, and then to carry ourſelves accordingly in a conſcientious Obedience to all his Commands, and a chearful Submiſſion to all his Diſpoſals. ’Tis to obey the Goſpel of Chriſt, to yield ourſelves to the Lord. ’Tis Chriſt’s Yoke, the Yoke he has appointed, a Yoke he has himſelf drawn in before us, for he learned Obedience, and which he doth by his Spirit draw in with us, for he helpeth our Infirmities, Rom, 8. 26. A Yoke ſpeaks ſome Hardſhip, but if the Beaſt muſt draw, the Yoke helps him; Chriſt’s Commands are all in our Favours. We muſt take this Yoke upon us to draw in it. We are yoked to work, and therefore muſt be diligent; we are yok’d to ſubmit, and therefore muſt be humble and patient. We are yoked together with our Fellow-Servants, and therefore muſt keep up the Comunion of Saints. And the Words of the wiſe are as Goads, to thoſe that are thus yoked.

Now this is the hardeſt Part of our Leſſon, and therefore ’tis qualified; v. 30. My Yoke is eaſy and my Burden light, you need not be afraid of it.

(1.) The Yoke of Chriſt’s Commands is an eaſy Yoke; it is χρηστὸς, not only eaſy, but gracious; ſo the Word ſignifies; ’tis ſweet and pleaſant: There’s nothing in it to gall the yielding Neck, nothing to hurt us, but on the contrary much to refreſh us. ’Tis a Yoke that’s lin’d with Love. Such is the Nature of all Chriſt’s Commands, ſo reaſonable in themſelves, ſo profitable to us, ſumm’d up in one Word, and that a ſweet Word, Love. So powerful are the Aſſiſtances he gives us, ſo ſuitable the Encouragements, and ſo ſtrong the Conſolations that are to be found in the Way of Duty, that we may truly ſay, ’tis a Yoke of Pleaſantneſs. ’Tis eaſy to the New Nature, very eaſy to him that underſtandeth, Prov. 14. 6. It may be a little hard at firſt, but it’s eaſy afterwards; the Love of God, and the Hope of Heaven will make it eaſy.

(2.) The Burden of Chriſt’s Croſs is a light Burden, very light, Afflictions from Chriſt which befal us as Men, Afflictions for Chriſt which befal us as Chriſtians; the latter are eſpecially meant. This Burden in it ſelf, it is not joyous but grievous; yet as it is Chriſt’s it is light. Paul knew as much of it as any Man, and he calls it a light Affliction, 2 Cor. 4. 17. God’s Preſence, Iſa. 43. 2. Chriſt’s Sympathy, Iſa. 63. 9. Dan. 3. 25. And eſpecially the Spirit’s Aids and Comforts, 2 Cor. 1. 5. make Sufferings for Chriſt light and eaſy. As Afflictions abound and are prolong’d, Conſolation abound and are prolong’d too. Let this therefore reconcile us to the Difficulties, and help us over the Diſcouragements we may meet with, both in doing-Work and Suffering-Work; though we may loſe for Chriſt, we ſhall not loſe by him.

3. We muſt come to Jeſus Chriſt as our Teacher, and ſet our ſelves to learn of him, v. 29. Chriſt hath erected a great School, and has invited us to be his Scholars: We muſt enter our ſelves, aſſociate with his Scholars, and daily attend the Inſtructions he gives by his Word and Spirit. We muſt converſe much with what he ſaid, and have it ready to us to uſe upon all Occaſions; we muſt confirm what he did and follow his Steps, 1 Pet. 2. 21. Some make the following Words, for I am meek and lowly in Heart, to be the particular Leſſon we are required to learn from the Example of Chriſt. We muſt learn of him to be meek and lowly; and muſt mortify our Pride and Paſſion, which render us ſo unlike to him. We muſt ſo learn of Chriſt, as to learn Chriſt, Eph. 4. 20. for he is both Teacher and Leſſon, Guide and Way, all in all.

Two Reaſons are given why we muſt learn of Chriſt.

1. I am meek and lowly in Heart, and therefore fit to teach you. (1.) He is meek, and can have Compaſſion on the Ignorant, whom others would be in a Paſſion with. Many able Teachers are hot and haſty, which is a great Diſcouragement to thoſe that are dull and ſlow; but Chriſt knows how to bear with ſuch, and to open their Underſtandings. His Carriage towards his twelve Diſciples was a Specimen of this; he was mild and gentle with them, and made the beſt of them; though they were heedleſs and forgetful, he was not extream to mark their Follies. (2.) He is lowly in Heart. He condeſcends to teach poor Scholars, to teach Petties, he choſe Diſciples not from the Court or Schools, but from the Sea-ſide. He teacheth the firſt Principles ſuch things as are Milk for Babes; he ſtoops to the meaneſt Capacities; he taught Ephraim to go, Hoſ. 11. 3. Who teacheth like him? ’Tis an Encouragement to us to put our ſelves to School to ſuch a Teacher. This Humility and Meekneſs, as it qualifies him to be a Teacher, ſo it will be the beſt Qualification of thoſe that are to be taught by him; for the Meek will he guide in Judgment, Pſal. 25. 9.

2. You ſhall find reſt to your Souls. This Promiſe is borrowed from Jer. 6. 16. for Chriſt delighted to expreſs himſelf in the Language of the Prophets, to ſhew the Harmony between the two Teſtaments. Note, (1.) Reſt for the Soul is the moſt deſirable Reſt; to have the Soul to dwell at eaſe. (2.) The only Way, and a ſure Way to find Reſt for our Souls, is to ſit at Chriſt’s Feet, and hear his Word. The Way of Duty is the Way of Reſt. The Underſtanding finds Reſt in the Knowledge of God and Jeſus Chriſt, and is there abundantly ſatisfied, finding that Wiſdom in the Goſpel, which has been ſought for in vain throughout the whole Creation, Job 28. 12. The Truths Chriſt teacheth are ſuch as we may venture our Souls upon. The Affections find Reſt in the Love of God and Jeſus Chriſt, and meet with that in them which gives them abundant Satiſfaction; Quietneſs and Aſſurance for ever. And thoſe Satiſfactions will be perfected and perpetuated in Heaven, where we ſhall ſee and enjoy God immediately, ſhall ſee him as he is, and enjoy him as he is ours. This Reſt is to be had with Chriſt, for all thoſe that learn of him.

Well, This is the Sum and Subſtance of the Goſpel Call and Offer: We are here told in a few Words, What the Lord Jeſus requires of us, and it agrees with what God ſaid of him once and again, This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleaſed: Hear ye him.

CHAP. XII.

In this Chapter we have (1.) Chriſt's clearing of the Law of the Fourth Commandment concerning the Sabbath-day, and vindicating it from ſome ſuperſtitious Notions advanc'd by the Jewiſh Teachers; ſhewing that works of Neceſſity and Mercy are to be done on that Day, v. 1.—13. (2.) The Prudence, Humility, and Self-denial of our Lord Jeſus in working his Miracles, v. 14.–22. (3.) Chriſt's Anſwer to the blaſphemous Cavils and Calumnies of the Scribes and Phariſees, who imputed his caſting out Devils to a Compact with the Devil, v. 22.—-38. (4.) Chriſt's Reply to a tempting Demand of the Scribes and Phariſees, challenging him to ſhew them a Sign from Heaven, v. 38.–-45. (5.) Chriſt's Judgment about his Kindred and Relations, v. 46. ad fin.

AT that time Jeſus went on the ſabbath-day through the corn, and his diſciples were an hungred, and began to pluck the ears of corn, and to eat. 2 But when the Phariſees ſaw it, they ſaid unto him, Behold, thy diſciples do that which is not lawful to do upon the ſabbath-day. 3 But he ſaid unto them, Have ye not read what David did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him, 4 How he entred into the houſe of God, and did eat the ſhew bread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the Prieſts? 5 Or have we not read in the law, how that on the ſabbath-days the Prieſts in the temple prophane the ſabbath, and are blameleſs? 6 But I ſay unto you, That in this place is one greater then the temple. 7 But if ye had known what this meaneth, I will have mercy, and not ſacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltleſs. 8 For the Son of man is Lord even of the ſabbath-day. 9 And when he was departed thence, he went into their ſynagogue. 10 And behold there was a man which had his hand withered: and they asked him, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the ſabbath-days? that they might accuſe him. 11 And he ſaid unto them, What man ſhall there be among you that ſhall have one ſheep, and if it ſall into a pit on the ſabbath-day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out? 12 How much then is a man better than a ſheep? wherefore it is lawful to do well on the ſabbath-days. 13 Then ſaith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand: and he ſtretched it forth; and it was reſtored whole, like as the other.

The Jewiſh Teachers had corrupted many of the Commandments, by interpreting them more looſly than they were intended, a Miſtake which Chriſt diſcover'd and rectifi'd, Chap. 5. in his Sermon on the Mount; but concerning the Fourth Commandment they had err'd in the other Extream, and interpreted it too ſtrictly. Note, It is common for Men of corrupt Minds by their Zeal in Rituals, and the External Services in Religion, to think to atone for the Looſeneſs of their Morals. But they are curſed who add too, as well as they who take from the Words of this Book, Rev. 22. 16, 19. Prov. 30. 6.

Now that which our Lord Jeſus here lays down is, that the Works of Neceſſity and Mercy are lawful on the Sabbath-day, which the Jews in many Inſtances were taught to make a Scruple of. Chriſt's Induſtrious explaining the Fourth Commandment, intimates its perpetual Obligation to the Religious Obſervation of one Day in Seven, as a holy Sabbath. He would not expound a Law that was immediately to expire, but doubtleſs intended thereby to ſettle a Point which would be of uſe to his Church in all Ages; and ſo it is, to teach us that our Chriſtian Sabbath, though under the Direction of the Fourth Commandment, is not under the Injunctions of the Jewiſh Elders.

It is uſual to ſettle the meaninng of a Law by Judgment given upon Caſes that happen in Fact, and in like manner is the meaning of this Law ſettled: Here are two Paſſages of Story put together for this purpoſe, happening at ſome diſtance of Time from each other, and of a different Nature, but both anſwering this Intention.

Firſt, Chriſt by juſtifying his Diſciples plucking the Ears of Corn on the Sabbath-day, ſhews that Works of Neceſſity are Lawful on that Day. Now here obſerve,

1. What it was that the Diſciples did. They were following their Maſter one Sabbath day thro' a Corn-field, 'tis likely going to the Synagogue, v. 9. for it becomes not Chriſt's Diſciples to take idle Walks on that Day, and they were hungry: Let it be no diſparagement to our Maſter's Houſe-keeping. But we will ſuppoſe they were ſo intent upon the Sabbath-work, that they forgot to eat Bread, had ſpent ſo much time in their Morning-worſhip, that they had no time for their Morning-meal, but came out faſting, becauſe they would not come late to the Synagogue. Providence order'd it that they went through the Corn, and there they were ſupply'd. Note, God has many ways of bringing ſuitable Proviſion to his People when they need it, and will take particular Care of them when they are going to the Synagogue, as of old for them that went up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip, (Pſal. 84. 6, 7.) for whoſe uſe the Rain fill'd the Pools, while we are in the way of Duty, Jehovah-jireh, Let God alone to provide for us. Being in the Corn-fields, they began to pluck the Ears of Corn, the Law of God allow'd this, Deut. 23. 25. to teach People to be Neighbourly, and not to inſiſt upon Property in a ſmall matter, whereby another may be benefited. This was but ſlender Proviſion for Chriſt and his Diſciples, but it was the beſt they had, and they were content with it. The famous Mr. Ball of Whitmore us'd to ſay he had two Diſhes of Meat to his Sabbath-dinner, a Diſh of hot Milk, and a Diſh of Cold, and he had enough and enough.

2. What was the Offence that the Phvriſees took at this; 'twas but a dry Breakfaſt, yet the Phariſees would not let them eat that in Quietneſs. They did not quarrel with them for taking another Man's Corn, they were no great Zealots for Juſtice, but for doing it on the Sabbath-day, for plucking and rubbing the Ears of Corn on that Day was expreſly forbidden by the Tradition of the Elders, for this Reaſon, becauſe it was a kind of Reaping. Note, It is no new thing for the moſt harmleſs and innocent Actions of Chriſt's Diſciples to be evil ſpoken of, and reflected upon as unlawful, eſpecially by thoſe who are zealous for their own Inventions and Impoſitions. The Phariſees complain'd of them to their Maſter for doing that which it was not lawful to do. Note, Thoſe are no Friends to Chriſt and his Diſciples who make that to be unlawful which God has not made to be ſo.

3. What was Chriſt's Anſwer to this Cavil of the Phariſees. The Diſciples could ſay little for themſelves, eſpecially becauſe thoſe that quarrel with them ſeem'd to have the ſtrictneſs of Sabbath-ſanctification on their ſide, and it is ſafeſt to err on that hand; but Chriſt came to free his Followers, not only from the Corruptions of the Phariſees, but from their unſcriptural Impoſitions, and therefore has ſomething to ſay for them, and juſtifies what they did, though it was a Tranſgreſſion of the Canon.

1. He juſtifies them by Precedents, which were allow'd to be good by the Phariſees themſelves.

(1.) He urgeth an ancient Inſtance of David, who in a caſe of neceſſity did that which otherwiſe he ought not to have done, v. 3, 4. Have ye not read the Story, 1 Sam. 21. 6. of David's eating the Shew-Bread, which by the Law was appropriated to the Prieſt, Lev. 24. 5.–9. it is moſt holy to Aaron and his Sons; and Exod. 29. 33. a ſtranger ſhall not eat of it; yet the Prieſt gave it to David and his Men; for tho' the Exception of a Caſe of Neceſſity was not expreſs'd, yet it was implied in that and all other ritual Inſtitutions. That which bore out David in eating the Shew-bread was not his Dignity; Uzziah that invaded the Prieſt's Office in the Pride of his Heart, tho' a King, was ſtruck with a Leproſy for it, 2 Chron. 26. 16, &c. but it was his Hunger. The greateſt ſhall not have their Luſts indulg'd, but the meaneſt ſhall have their Wants conſider'd. Hunger is a natural Deſire which cannot be mortified, but muſt be gratified, and cannot be put off with any thing but Meat; therefore we ſay, 'Twill break through Stone-walls: Now the Lord is for the Body, and allow'd his own Appointment to be diſpens'd with in a Caſe of Diſtreſs, much more might the Tradition of the Elders be diſpens'd with. Note, That may be done in a caſe of Neceſſity, which may not be done at another Time; there are Laws which Neceſſity has not, but it is a Law to itſelf. Men do not deſpiſe, but pity a Thief that ſteals to ſatisfy his Soul when he is hungry, Prov. 6. 30.

(2.) He urgeth a daily Inſtance of the Prieſts, which they likewiſe read in the Law, and according to which was the conſtant uſage, v. 15. The Prieſts in the Temple did a great deal of Servile Work on the Sabbath-day; Killing, Flaying, Burning the Sacrificed Beaſts, which in a common Caſe, would have been profaning the Sabbath; and yet it was never reckon'd any Tranſgreſſion of the fourth Commandment, becauſe the Temple-ſervice requir'd and juſtified it. This intimates that thoſe Labours are lawful on the Sabbath-day, which are neceſſary, not only to the Support of Life, but to the Service of the Day; as tolling a Bell to call the Congregation together, travelling to Church, and the like. Sabbath-reſt is to promote, not to hinder Sabbath-worſhip.

2. He juſtifies them by Arguments, three cogent ones.

1. In this place is one greater than the Temple, v. 6. If the Temple-ſervice would juſtify what the Prieſts did in their Miniſtration, the Service of Chriſt would much more juſtify the Diſciples in what they did in their Attendance upon him. The Jews had an extreme Veneration for the Temple, it Sanctified the Gold; Stephen was accus'd for Blaſpheming that holy Place, Acts 6. 13. But Chriſt in a Corn-field was greater than the Temple, for in him dwelt not the Preſence of God Symbolically, but all the fulneſs of the Godhead Bodily. Note, If whatever we do we do it in the Name of Chriſt, and as unto him, it ſhall be graciouſly accepted of God, however it may be cenſur'd and cavil'd at by Men.

2. God will have Mercy and not Sacrifice, v. 7. Ceremonial Duties muſt give way to moral, and the natural royal Law of Love and Self-Preſervation muſt take place of ritual Obſervances. This is quoted from Hoſ. 6. 6. 'Twas us'd before, Mat. 9. 9. in vindication of Mercy to the Souls of Men, here of Mercy to their Bodies. The Reſt of the Sabbath was ordain'd for Man's Good, in favour of the Body, Deut. 5. 14. Now no Law muſt be conſtrued ſo as to contradict its own End. If you had known what this means, had known what it is to be of a merciful Diſpoſition, you would have been ſorry that they were forc'd to do this to ſatisfy their Hunger, and would not have condemned the Guiltleſs. Note, (1.) Ignorance is the Cauſe of our raſh and uncharitable Cenſures of our Brethren. (2.) 'Tis not enough for us to know the Scriptures, but we muſt labour to know the meaning of them. Let him that readeth underſtand. (3.) Ignorance of the meaning of the Scripture is eſpecially ſhameful in thoſe who take upon them to teach others.

3. The Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath-day, v. 8. That Law, as all the reſt, is put into the Hand of Chriſt, to be alter'd, enforc'd, or diſpenc'd with as he ſees good. 'Twas by the Son that God made the World, and by him he inſtituted the Sabbath in Innocency; by him he gave the Ten Commandments at Mount Sinai, and as Mediator he is intruſted with the Inſtitution of Ordinances, and to make what Changes he thought fit, and particularly as being Lord of the Sabbath, he was authoriz'd to make ſuch an alteration of that Day as that it ſhould become the Lord's Day, the Lord Chriſt's Day. And if Chriſt be the Lord of the Sabbath, 'tis fit the Day, and all the Work of it ſhould be dedicated to him. By Virtue of this Power, Chriſt here enacts, that Works of Neceſſity, if they be really ſuch, and not pretended, and a Self-created Neceſſity, are lawful on the Sabbath-day: And this Explication of the Law plainly ſhews it was to be perpetual. Exceptio firmat Regulam.

Chriſt having thus ſilenc'd the Phariſees, and got clear of them; 'tis ſaid, v. 9. he departed, and went into their Synagogue, the Synagogue of theſe Phariſees, in which they preſided, and which he was going towards when they pick'd this Quarrel with him. Note, (1.) We muſt take heed leſt anything that occurs in our way to holy Ordinances, diſfit us for, or divert us from our due Attendance on them. Let us proceed in the way of our Duty, notwithſtanding the Artifices of Satan, who endeavours by the perverſe Diſputings of Men of corrupt Minds, and many other ways to ruffle and diſcompoſe us. (2.) We muſt not for the ſake of private Feuds, and perſonal Piques draw back from publick Worſhip. Tho' the Phariſees had thus maliciouſly cavil'd at Chriſt, yet he went into their Synagogue. Satan gains his point, if by ſowing Diſcord among Brethren, he prevail to drive them, or any of them from the Synagogue, and the Communion of the Faithful.

Secondly, Chriſt by healing the Man that had the wither'd hand on the Sabbath-day, ſhews that Works of Mercy are lawful and proper to be done on that Day. The Work of Neceſſity was done by the Diſciples, and juſtifi'd by him; the Work of Mercy was done by himſelf, for Works of Mercy were his Works of Neceſſity; 'twas his Meat and Drink to do good. I muſt Preach, ſaith he, Luke 4. 43. This Cure is here recorded for the ſake of the Time when it was wrought, on the Sabbath.

Here's 1. The Affliction that this poor Man was in; his Hand was wither'd, ſo that he was utterly diſabled to get his Living by working with his Hands. St. Jerom ſaith, that the Goſpel of Matthew in Hebrew, us'd by the Nazarens and Ebionites, adds this Circumſtance to this Story of the Man with the wither'd Hand, that he was Cæmentarius, a Bricklayer, and applied himſelf to Chriſt thus; Lord, I am a Bricklayer, and have got my Living by my Labour, (manibus victum quaritans) I beſeech thee, O Jeſus, reſtore me the uſe of my Hand, that I may not be oblig'd to beg my Bread; ne turpiter mendicem cibos. Hieron. in loc. This poor Man was in the Synagogue. Note, Thoſe that can do but little, or have but little to do for the World, muſt do ſo much the more for their Souls. As the Rich, the Aged, and the Infirm.

2. A ſpiteful Queſtion which the Phariſees put to Chriſt upon the ſight of this Man. They aſked him, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal? We read not here of any Addreſs this poor Man made to Chriſt for a Cure, but they obſerv'd Chriſt began to take notice of him, and knew it was uſual for him to be found of thoſe that ſought him not, and therefore with their Badneſs they prevented his Goodneſs, and ſtarted this Caſe as a Stumbling-block in the way of doing good; Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath-day? Whether it was lawful for Phyſicians to heal on that Day or no, which was the thing diſputed in their Books, one would think it paſt diſpute that it is lawful for Prophets to heal, for him to heal who diſcover'd a divine Power and Goodneſs in all he did of this kind, and manifeſted himſelf to be ſent of God. Did ever any aſk whether it is lawful for God to heal, to ſend his Word and heal? 'Tis true, Chriſt was now made under the Law, by a voluntary Submiſſion to it, but he was never made under the Precepts of the Elders. Is it lawful to heal? To enquire into the the lawfulneſs and Unlawfulneſs of Actions is very good, and we cannot apply ourſelve ſto any with ſuch Enquiries, more fitly than to Chriſt; but they aſk'd here, not that they might be inſtructed by him, but that they might accuſe him. If he ſhould ſay it was lawful to heal on the Sabbath-day, they would accuſe him of a Contradiction to the fourth Commandment; to ſo great a degree of Superſtition had the Phariſees brought the Sabbath-reſt, that unleſs in Peril of Life they allow'd not any medicinal Operations on the Sabbath-day; if he ſhould ſay it was not lawful, they would accuſe him of Partiality, having lately juſtified his Diſciples plucking the Ears of Corn on that Day.

3. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion, by way of Appeal to themſelves, and their own Opinion and Practice, v. 11, 12. In Caſe a Sheep, (tho' but one, of which the Loſs would not be very great) ſhould fall into a pit on the Sabbath-day, would they not lift it out? No doubt they might do it, the fourth Commandment allows it, they muſt do it, for a merciful Man regardeth the Life of his Beaſt, and for their Parts they would do it rather than loſe a Sheep; Doth Chriſt take care for Sheep? Yes, he doth, he preſerves and provides for both Man and Beaſt. But here he ſaith it for our ſakes, 1 Cor. 9. 9, 10. And hence argues, How much then is a Man better than a Sheep? Sheep are not only harmleſs, but uſeful Creatures, and are priz'd and tended accordingly, yet a Man is here prefer'd far before them. Note, Man in reſpect of his Being, is a great deal better and more valuable than the beſt of the Brute Creatures; Man is a reaſonable Creature, capable of knowing, loving, and glorifying God, and therefore is better than a Sheep. The Sacrifice of a Sheep could therefore not atone for the Sin of a Soul. They do not conſider this, who are more ſollicitous for the Education, Preſervation, and Supply of their Horſes and Dogs than of God's Poor, or perhaps their own Houſhold.

Hence Chriſt infers a Truth which even at firſt ſight appears very reaſonable and good natur'd; That it is lawful to do well on the Sabbath days; they had aſk'd, Is it lawful to heal? Chriſt proves it is lawful to do well, and let any one judge whether healing, as Chriſt heal'd was not doing well, Note, There are many ways of doing well upon Sabbath-days, than by the Duties of God's immediate Worſhip; attending the Sick, Relieving the Poor, helping thoſe that are fallen into ſudden Diſtreſs, and call for ſpeedy Relief; this is doing good: And this muſt be done from a Principle of Love and Charity, with Humility and Self-denial, and a heavenly Frame of Spirit, and this is doing well, and it ſhall be accepted, Gen. 4. 7.

4. Chriſt's curing of the Man, notwithſtanding the Offence which he foreſaw the Phariſees would take at it, v. 13. Tho' they could not Anſwer Chriſt's Arguments, they were reſolv'd to perſiſt in their Prejudice and Enmity; but Chriſt went on with his Work however. Note, Duty is not to be left undone, nor Opportunities of doing good neglected, or let ſlip for fear of giving Offence. Now the manner of the Cure is obſervable, he ſaid to the Man, ſtretch forth thy Hand, exert thyſelf as well as thou canſt, and he did ſo, and it was reſtored whole. This, as other the Cures Chriſt wrought, had a ſpiritual ſignificancy. (1.) By Nature our Hands are wither'd, we are utterly unable of ourſelves to do any thing that is good. (2.) 'Tis Chriſt only by the Power of his Grace that cures us; he heals the wither'd Hand by putting Life into the dead Soul, works in us both to will and to do. (3.) In order to our Cure, he commands us to ſtretch forth our Hands, to improve our natural Powers, and do as well as we can; ſtretch them out in Prayer to God, ſtretch them out to lay hold on Chriſt by Faith, ſtretch them out in holy Endeavours. Now this Man could not ſtretch forth his wither'd Hand of himſelf, no more than the impotent Man could ariſe and carry his Bed, or Lazarus come forth out of his Grave, yet Chriſt bid him do it; God's Commands to us to do the Duty, which of our ſelves we are not able to do, are no more abſurd or unjuſt than this Command to the Man with the wither'd Hand to ſtretch it forth; for with the Command there is a Promiſe of Grace which is given by the Word. Turn ye at my Reproof, and I will pour out my Spirit, Prov. 1. 23. And thoſe that periſh are as inexcuſable as this Man would have been, if he had not attempted to ſtretch forth his Hand, and ſo had not been heal'd. But thoſe that are ſav'd have no more to boaſt of than this Man had of contributing to his own Cure, by ſtretching forth his Hand, but are as much indebted to the Power and Grace of Chriſt as he was.

14 Then the Phariſees went out, and held a councel againſt him, how they might deſtroy him. 15 But when Jeſus knew it, he withdrew himſelf from thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all. 16 And he charged them that they ſhould not make him known: 17 That it might be fulfilled which was ſpokeu by Eſaias the prophet, ſaying, 18 Behold, my ſervant whom I have choſen, my beloved in whom my Soul is well pleaſed: I will put my ſpirit upon him, and he ſhall ſhew judgment to the Gentiles. 19 He ſhall not ſtrive, nor cry, neither ſhall any man hear his voice in the ſtreets. 20 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not break, and ſmoking flax ſhall he not quench, till he ſend forth judgment unto victory. 21 And in his Name ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

As in the midſt of Chriſt's greateſt Humiliations there were Proofs of his Dignity, ſo in the midſt of his greateſt Honours he gave Proofs of his Humility; and when the mighty Works he did, gave him an opportunity of making a Figure, yet he made it appear that he emptied himſelf, and had made himſelf of no Reputation. Here we have

1. The curſed Malice of the Phariſees againſt Chriſt, v. 14. being enrag'd at the convincing Evidence of his Miracles, they went out and held a Counſel againſt him, how they might deſtroy him. That which vex'd them was, not only that by his Miracles his Honour eclips'd theirs, but that the Doctrine he Preach'd was directly oppoſite to their Pride and Hypocriſy, and worldly Intereſt; but they pretended to be diſpleas'd at his breaking the Sabbath-day, which was by the Law a capital Crime, Exod. 35. 2. Note, 'Tis no new thing to ſee the vileſt Practices cloak'd with the moſt ſpecious Pretences. Obſerve their Policy; they took Counſel about it, conſider'd with themſelves which way to do it effectually; they took Counſel together in a cloſe Cabal about it, that they might both animate and aſſiſt one another. Obſerve their Cruelty; they took Counſel, not to Impriſon or Baniſh him, but to deſtroy him, to be the death of him, who came that we might have Life. What an Indignity was hereby put upon our Lord Jeſus, to run him down as an Out-law, (qui caput gerit lupinum) and the Plague of his Country, who was the greateſt Bleſſing of it, the Glory of his People Iſrael.

2. Chriſt's abſconding upon this Occaſion, and the Privacy he choſe, to decline not his Work, but his Danger, becauſe his Hour was not yet come, v. 15. he withdrew himſelf from thence. He could have ſecur'd himſelf by Miracle, but choſe to do it in the ordinary way of Flight and Retirement; becauſe in this, as in other things, he would ſubmit to the ſinleſs Infirmities of our Nature. Herein he humbled himſelf, that he was driven to the common Shift of thoſe that are moſt helpleſs; thus alſo he would give an Example to his own Rule, when they Perſecute you in one City, flee to another. Chriſt had ſaid, and done enough to convince thoſe Phariſees, if Reaſon or Miracle would have done it; but inſtead of yielding to the Conviction, they were harden'd and enraged, and therefore he left them as incurable, Jer. 51. 9.

Chriſt did not retire for his own eaſe, nor ſeek an Excuſe to leave off his Work, no, his Retirements were fill'd up with Buſineſs, and he was even then doing good, when he was forc'd to flee for the ſame. Thus he gave an Example to his Miniſters to do what they can, when they cannot do what they would, and to continue teaching, even when they are remov'd into Corners. When the Phariſees, the great Dons and Doctors of the Nation drove Chriſt from them, and forc'd him to withdraw himſelf, yet the common People crowded after him, great Multitudes follow'd him, and found him out. This ſome would turn to his Reproach, and call him the Ring-leader of the Mob; but it was really his Honour, that all that were unbiaſs'd and unprejudic'd, and not blinded by the Pomp of the World, were ſo hearty, ſo zealous for him, that they would follow him whitherſoever he went, and whatever Hazards they run with him; as it was alſo the Honour of his Grace that the Poor were Evangeliz'd, that when they received him, he received them, and healed them all. Chriſt came into the World to be a Phyſician General, as the Sun to the lower World, with Healing under his Wings. Tho' the Phariſees perſecuted Chriſt for doing good, yet he went on in it, and did not let the People fare the worſe for the Wickedneſs of their Rulers. Note, Tho' ſome are unkind to us, we muſt not therefore be unkind to others.

Yet Chriſt ſtudy'd to reconcile Uſefulneſs and Privacy, he healed them all; and yet, v. 16. charg'd them that they ſhould not make him known; which may be look'd upon (1.) As an Act of Prudence; 'twas not ſo much the Miracles themſelves, as the publick Diſcourſe concerning them that enrag'd the Phariſees, v. 23, 24. Therefore Chriſt, tho' he would not omit doing Good, yet would do it with as little Noiſe as poſſible, to avoid Offence to them, and Peril to himſelf. Note, Wiſe and good Men, tho' they covet to do good, yet are far from coveting to have it talk'd of when it is done; becauſe 'tis God's Acceptance, not Mens Applauſe that they aim at. And in ſuffering Times, tho' we muſt boldly go on in the way of Duty, yet we muſt contrive the Circumſtances of it, ſo as not to exaſperate more than needs thoſe that ſeek occaſion againſt us. Be ye wiſe as Serpents, Mat. 10. 16. (2.) It may be look'd upon as an Act of Righteous Judgment upon the Phariſees, who were unworthy to hear of any more of his Miracles, having made ſo light of thoſe they had ſeen. By ſhutting their Eyes againſt the Light, they had forfeited the Benefit of it. (3.) As an Act of Humility and Self-denial. Tho' Chriſt's Intention in his Miracles was to prove himſelf the Meſſiah, and ſo bring Men to believe on him, in order to which 'twas requiſite they ſhould be known, yet ſometimes he charged People to conceal them, to ſet us an Example of Humility, and to teach us not to proclaim our own Goodneſs or uſefulneſs, or to deſire to have it proclaim'd; Chriſt would have his Diſciples to be the Reverſe of thoſe who did all their Works to be ſeen of Men.

3. The fulfilling of the Scriptures in all this, v. 17. Chriſt retir'd into Privacy and Obſcurity, that tho' he was eclips'd, the Word of God might be fulfill'd, and ſo Illuſtrated and Glorified, which was the thing his Heart was upon. The Scripture here ſaid to be fulfill'd is Iſa. 42. 1, 2, 3, 4. which is quoted at large, v. 18, 19, 20. 21. The ſcope of it is to ſhew how mild and quiet, and yet how ſucceſsful our Lord Jeſus ſhould be in his Undertaking; Inſtances of both which we have in the foregoing Paſſages. Obſerve here,

Firſt, The Pleaſedneſs of the Father in Chriſt, v. 28. Behold my Servant whom I have choſen, my beloved, in whom my Soul is well pleaſed. Hence we may learn,

1. That our Saviour was God's Servant in the great Work of our Redemption. He therein ſubmitted himſelf to the Father's Will, Heb. 10. 7. and ſet himſelf to ſerve the Deſigns of his Grace, and the Intereſts of his Glory, in repairing the Breaches that had been made by Man's Apoſtacy. As a Servant, he had a great Work appointed him, and a great Truſt repoſed in him. This was a part of his Humiliation, that tho' he thought it not Robbery to be equal with God, yet in the Work of our Salvation he took upon him the Form of a Servant, received a Law, and came into Bonds. Tho' he were a Son, yet learned he this Obedience, Heb. 5. 8. The Motto of this Prince is Ich dien, I ſerve.

2. That Jeſus Chriſt was choſen of God, as the only fit and proper Perſon for the Management of the great Work of our Redemption. He is my Servant whom I have choſen, as par Negotio. None but he was able to do the Redeemer's Work, or fit to wear the Redeemer's Crown. He was one choſen out of the People, Pſal. 89. 19. choſen by infinite Wiſdom to that Poſt of Service and Honour, which neither Man nor Angel was qualified for; none but Chriſt, that he might in all things have the Preheminence. Chriſt did not thruſt himſelf upon this Work, but was duly choſen into it; Chriſt was ſo God's choſen as to be the Head of Election, and of all other the Elect, for we are choſen in him, Eph. 1. 4.

3. That Jeſus Chriſt is God's Beloved, his beloved Son; as God he lay from Eternity in his Boſom, John 1. 18. He was daily his delight, Prov. 8. 30. Between the Father and the Son there was before all Time an eternal and unconceivable Intercourſe, and Interchanging of Love, and thus the Lord poſſeſſed him in the beginning of his way, Prov. 8. 22. As Mediator the Father lov'd him; then when it pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him, and he ſubmitted to it, therefore did the Father love him, John. 10. 17.

4. That Jeſus Chriſt is one in whom the Father is well pleas'd, in whom his Soul is pleas'd, which notes the higheſt Complacency imaginable. God declar'd by a Voice from Heaven, that he is his beloved Son in whom he is well pleas'd, well pleas'd in him, becauſe he was the ready and chearful Undertaker of that Work of Wonder which God's Heart was ſo much upon, and he is well pleaſed with us in him; for he hath made us accepted in the Beloved, Eph 1. 6. All the Intereſts which fallen Man hath, or can have in God, is grounded upon, and owing to God's Well-pleaſedneſs in Jeſus Chriſt; for there's no coming to the Father but by him, John 14. 6.

Secondly, The Promiſe of the Father to him in two things.

1. That he ſhould be every way well qualified for his Undertaking; I will put my Spirit upon him, as a Spirit of Wiſdom and Counſel, Iſa. 11. 2, 3. Thoſe whom God calls to any Service, he will be ſure to fit and qualifie them for it, and by that it will appear that he called them to it, as Moſes, Exod. 4. 12. Chriſt as God was equal in Power and Glory with the Father, as Mediator he received from the Father Power and Glory, and received that he might give; and all that the Father gave him to qualifie him for his Undertaking was ſum'd up in this, he put his Spirit upon him; this was that Oil of Gladneſs with which he was anointed above his Fellows, Heb. 1. 9. He received the Spirit, not by meaſure, but without meaſure, John 3. 34. Note, Whoever they be that God hath choſen, and in whom he is well pleaſed, he will be ſure to put his Spirit upon them. Wherever he confers his Love, he confers ſomewhat of his Likeneſs.

2. That he ſhould be abundantly ſucceſsful in his Undertaking. Thoſe whom God ſends he will certainly own. 'Twas long ſince ſecur'd by Promiſe to our Lord Jeſus, that the good Pleaſure of the Lord ſhould proſper in his Hand, Iſa. 53. 10. And here we have an account of that proſpering good Pleaſure.

1. He ſhall ſhew Judgment to the Gentiles. Chriſt in his own Perſon preach'd to thoſe that border'd upon the Heathen Nations, ſee Mark 3. 6, 7. and by his Apoſtles ſhew'd his Goſpel, call'd here his Judgment to the Gentile World. The Way and Method of Salvation, the Judgment which is committed to the Son, is not only wrought out by him as our great High-Prieſt, but ſhew'd and publiſh'd by him as our great Prophet. The Goſpel, as it is a Rule of Practice and Converſation, which has a direct Tendency to the reforming and bettering Men's Hearts and Lives, ſhall be ſhew'd to the Gentiles. God's Judgments had been the Jews peculiar, Pſal. 147. 19. But it was oft foretold by the Old Teſtament Prophets, that they ſhould be ſhew'd to the Gentiles, which therefore ought not to have been ſuch a ſurprize as it was to the unbelieving Jews, much leſs a Vexation.

2. In his Name ſhall the Gentiles truſt, v. 21. He ſhall ſo ſhew Judgment to them, that they ſhall heed and obſerve what he ſhews them, and be influenc'd by it to depend upon him, to devote themſelves to him, and conform to that Judgment. Note, The great deſign of the Goſpel is to bring People to truſt in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt; his Name Jeſus a Saviour, that precious Name whereby he is call'd; and which is as Ointment poured forth, the Lord our Righteouſneſs. The Evangeliſt here follows the Septuagint, (or perhaps the latter Editions of the Septuagint follow the Evangeliſt, the Hebrew (Iſa. 42. 4) is, The Iſles ſhall wait for his Law. The Iſles of the Gentiles are ſpoken of, Gen. 11. 5. Peopled by the Sons of Japhet, of whom 'twas ſaid, Gen. 9. 27. God ſhall perſwade Japhet to dwell in the Tents of Shem; which was now to be fulfill'd when the Iſles, (ſaith the Prophet) the Gentiles, (ſaith the Evangeliſt) ſhall wait for his Law, and truſt in his Name: Compare theſe together, and obſerve, that they, and they only, can with confidence truſt in Chriſt's Name, that wait for his Law with a Reſolution to be rul'd by it. Obſerve alſo, that the Law we wait for is the Law of Faith, the Law of truſting in his Name. This is now his great Commandment, that we believe in Chriſt, 1 John 3. 23.

Thirdly, The Prediction concerning him, and his mild and quiet Management of his Undertaking, v. 19, 20. 'Tis chiefly for the ſake of this that 'tis here quoted, upon occaſion of Chriſt's affected Privacy and Concealment.

1. That he ſhould carry on his Undertaking without Noiſe or Oſtentation. He ſhall not ſtrive, or make an Out-cry. Chriſt and his Kingdom come not with Obſervation, Luke 17. 20, 21. When the firſt begotten was brought into the World, 'twas not with State and Ceremony, he made no Publick Entry, had no Harbingers to proclaim him King. He was in the World, and the World knew him not. Thoſe were miſtaken that fed themſelves with hopes of a pompous Saviour. His Voice was not heard in the Streets; Lo, here is Chriſt, or, Lo, he is there: He ſpoke in a ſtill ſmall Voice, which was alluring to all, but terryfying to none; he did not affect to make a noiſe, but came down ſilently, like the Dew. What he ſpoke and did was with the greateſt Humility and Self-denial poſſible. His Kingdom was Spiritual, and therefore not to be advanc'd by Force or Violence, or by talking big. No, the Kingdom of God is not in Word, but in Power.

2. That he ſhould carry on his Undertaking without Severity and Rigour, v. 20. A bruiſed Reed ſhall he not break. Some underſtand this of his Patience in bearing with the Wicked; he could as eaſily have broke theſe Phariſees, as a bruiſed Reed, and have quench'd them as ſoon as ſmoaking Flax, but he will not do it till the Judgment-day, when all his Enemies ſhall be made his Footſtool. Others rather underſtand it of his Power and Grace in bearing up the Weak. In general, the deſign of his Goſpel is to ſtabliſh ſuch a Method of Salvation as encourageth Sincerity, tho' there be much Infirmity; doth not inſiſt upon a ſinleſs Obedience, but accepts an upright willing Mind. As to particular Perſons that follow Chriſt in Weakneſs and in Fear, and in much Trembling. Obſerve, (1.) How their Caſe is here deſcrib'd, they are like a bruiſed Reed, and ſmoaking Flax. Young beginners in Religion are weak, as a bruiſed Reed, and their Weakneſs offenſive, like ſmoaking Flax; ſome little Life they have, but it is like that of a bruiſed Reed, ſome little Heat, but like that of ſmoaking Flax. Chriſt's Diſciples were as yet but weak, and many are ſo that have a Place in his Family. The Grace and Goodneſs in them is as a bruiſed Reed, the Corruption and Badneſs in them is as ſmoaking Flax, as the Wick of a Candle when 'tis put out, and is yet ſmoaking. (2.) What is the Compaſſion of our Lord Jeſus towards them. He will not diſcourage them, much leſs reject them, or caſt them off: The Reed that is bruiſed ſhall not be broken, and trodden down, but ſhall be ſupported, and made as a ſtrong Cedar, or flouriſhing Palm-Tree. The Candle newly lighted, tho' it only ſmokes, and doth not flame, ſhall not be blown out, but blown up. The Day of ſmall things is the Day of precious things, and therefore he will not deſpiſe it, but make it the Day of great things, Zech. 4. 10. Note, Our Lord Jeſus deals very tenderly with thoſe that have true Grace, tho' they be weak in it, Iſa. 40. 11. Heb. 5. 2. He remembers, not only that we are Duſt, but that we are Fleſh. (3.) The good Iſſue and Succeſs of this, intimated in that, till he ſend forth Judgment unto Victory. That Judgment which he ſhew'd to the Gentiles ſhall be victorious, he will go on conquering, and to conquer, Rev. 6. 2. Both the Preaching of the Goſpel in the World, and the Power of the Goſpel in the Heart ſhall prevail. Grace ſhall get the upper hand of Corruption, and ſhall at length be perfected in Glory; Chriſt's Judgment will be brought forth to Victory, for when he Judgeth he will overcome. He ſhall bring forth Judgment unto Truth. So it is, Iſa. 42. 3. Truth and Victory are much the ſame, for great is the Truth, and will prevail.

22 Then was brought unto him one poſſeſſed with a devil, blind and dumb: and he healed him, inſomuch that the blind and dumb both ſpake and ſaw. 23 And all the people were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this the ſon of David? 24 But when the Phariſees heard it, they ſaid, This fellow doth not caſt out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils. 25 And Jeſus knew their thoughts, and ſaid unto them, Every kingdom divided againſt it ſelf, is brought to deſolation: and every city or houſe divided againſt it ſelf, ſhall not ſtand. 26 And if Satan caſt out Satan, he is divided againſt himſelf: how ſhall then his kingdom ſtand? 27 And if I by Beelzebub caſt out devils, by whom do your children caſt them out? therefore they ſhall be your judges. 28 But if I caſt out devils by the ſpirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you. 29 Or elſe how can one enter into a ſtrong mans houſe, and ſpoil his goods, except he firſt bind the ſtrong man? and then he will ſpoil his houſe. 30 He that is not with me, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth abroad. 31 Wherefore I ſay unto you, All manner of ſin and blaſphemy ſhall be forgiven unto men: but the blaſphemy againſt the holy Ghoſt ſhall not be forgiven unto men. 32 And whoſoever ſpeaketh a word againſt the Son of man, it ſhall be forgiven him: but whoſoever ſpeaketh againſt the holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come. 33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good; or elſe make the tree corrupt, and his fruit corrupt; for the tree is known by his fruit. 34 O generation of vipers, how can ye being evil, ſpeak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth ſpeaketh. 35 A good man out of the good treaſure of the heart, bringeth forth good things: and and an evil man out of the evil treaſure, bringeth forth evil things. 36 But I ſay unto you, That every idle word that men ſhall ſpeak, they ſhall give account thereof in the day of Judgment. 37 For by thy words thou ſhalt be juſtified, and by thy words thou ſhalt be condemned.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's glorious Conqueſt of Satan in the gracious Cure of one that by the divine Permiſſion was under his Power, and in his Poſſeſſion, v. 22. Here obſerve,

1. The Man's Caſe was very ſad, he was poſſeſſed with a Devil: There were more Caſes of this kind occurred in Chriſt's time than uſual, that Chriſt's Power might be more magnified, and his Purpoſe the more manifeſted in oppoſing and diſpoſſeſſing Satan; and it might the more evidently appear that he came to deſtroy the Works of the Devil. This poor Man that was poſſeſs'd was Blind and Dumb; a miſerable caſe, he could neither ſee to help himſelf, nor ſpeak to others to help him. A Soul under Satan's Power, and led Captive by him, is blind in the things of God, and dumb at the Throne of Grace; ſees nothing, and ſaith nothing to the Purpoſe. Satan blinds the Eye of Faith, and ſeals up the Lips of Prayer.

2. His Cure was very ſtrange, and the more ſo, becauſe ſudden, he healed him. Note, The conquering and diſpoſſeſſing of Satan, is the healing of Souls. And the Cauſe being removed immediately, the Effect ceaſed; the Blind and Dumb both ſpake and ſaw. Note, Chriſt's Mercy is directly oppoſite to Satan's Malice; his Favours to the Devil's Miſchiefs. When Satan's Power is broke in the Soul, the Eyes are open'd to ſee God's Glory, and the Lips open'd to ſpeak his Praiſe.

Secondly, The Conviction which this gave to the People, to all the People, they were amazed. Chriſt had wrought divers Miracles of this kind before; but his Works are not the leſs Wonderful, nor the leſs to be wonder'd at for their being oft repeated. They infer'd from it, Is not this the Son of David? The Meſſiah promis'd that was to ſpring from the Loins of David? Is not this he that ſhould come? we may take this (1.) as an enquiring Queſtion; they ask'd, Is not this the Son of David? but did not ſtay for an Anſwer; the Impreſſions were cogent, but they were tranſient. 'Twas a good Queſtion they ſtarted, but it ſhould ſeem it was ſoon loſt, and was not proſecuted. Such Convictions as theſe ſhould be brought to a Head, and then they are likely to be brought to the Heart. Or, (2.) as an affirming Queſtion; Is not this the Son of David? Yes, certainly it is, it can be no other: Such Miracles as theſe plainly evince that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah is now in the ſetting up. And they were the People, the vulgar ſort of the Spectators that drew this Inference from Chriſt's Miracles. Atheiſts will ſay, That was becauſe they were leſs prying than the Phariſees; no, the Matter of Fact was obvious, and requir'd not much ſearch; but it was becauſe they were leſs prejudic'd, and biaſs'd by worldly Intereſt. So plain and eaſie was the Way made to this great Truth of Chriſt's being the Meſſiah, and Saviour of the World, that the common People could not miſs it; the Way-faring Men, tho' Fools, could not err therein. See Iſa. 35. 8. 'Twas found of them that ſought it. And it is an Inſtance of the Condeſcenſions of the divine Grace, that the things that were hid from the Wiſe and Prudent were revealed unto Babes. The World by Wiſdom knew not God, and by the fooliſh things the Wiſe were confounded.

Thirdly. The blaſphemous Cavil of the Phariſees, v. 24. The Phariſees were a ſort of Men that pretended to more Knowledge in, and Zeal for the divine Law than other People, yet they were the moſt inveterate Enemies to Chriſt and his Doctrine. They were proud of the Reputation they had among the People, that fed their Pride, ſupported their Power, and fill'd their Purſes; and when they heard the People ſay, Is not this the Son of David? they were extremely nettled, more at that than at the Miracle it ſelf; this made them jealous of our Lord Jeſus, and apprehenſive that his Intereſt in the People's Eſteem increas'd, theirs muſt of courſe be eclips'd and diminiſh'd; therefore they envy'd him, as Saul did his Father David, becauſe of what the Woman ſang of him, 1 Sam. 18. 7, 8. Note, Thoſe that bind up their Happineſs in the Praiſe and Applauſe of Men, expoſe themſelves to a perpetual uneaſineſs upon every favourable word that they hear ſaid of any other. The Shadow of Honour follow'd Chriſt that fled from it, and fled from the Phariſees that were eager in the purſuit of it. They ſaid, This fellow doth not caſt out Devils, but by Beelzebub the Prince of the Devils, and therefore is not the Son of David. Obſerve,

1. How ſcornfully they ſpeak of Chriſt, This Fellow; as if that precious Name of his, which is as Ointment po[illegible]d forth, were not worthy to be taken into their Lips. 'Tis an Inſtance of their Pride and Superciliouſneſs, and their diabolical Envy, that the more People magnified Chriſt, the more induſtrious they were to Vilifie him. 'Tis an ill thing to ſpeak of good Men with Diſdain becauſe they are Poor.

2. How blaſphemouſly they ſpeak of his Miracles; they could not deny the Matter of Fact, 'twas as plain as the Sun, that Devils were caſt out by the Word of Chriſt; nor could they deny but that it was an extraordinary thing, and ſupernatural: and being thus forc'd to grant the Premiſes, they had no other way to avoid the Concluſion, that this is the Son of David, but by ſuggeſting that Chriſt caſt out Devils by Beelzebub. That there was a Compact between Chriſt and the Devil, purſuant to the Devil the Devil was not caſt out, but did voluntarily retire, and give back by Conſent, and with Deſign. Or, as if by an Agreement with the ruling Devil he had Power to caſt out the inferior Devils. No Surmiſe could be more palpably falſe and vile, than this; that he who is Truth it ſelf, ſhould be in Combination with the Father of Lies to cheat the World. This was the laſt Refuge, or Subterfuge rather of an obſtinate Infidelity, that was reſolv'd to ſtand it out againſt the cleareſt Conviction. Obſerve, Among the Devils there is a Prince, the Ring-leader of the Apoſtacy from God, and Rebellion againſt him. But this Prince is Beelzebub, the God of a Fly, or, a Dunghil-god. How art thou fallen, O Lucifer! from an Angel of Light to be a Lord of Flies. Yet this is the Prince of the Devils too, the chief of the Gang of infernal Spirits.

Fourthly, Chriſt's Reply to this baſe Inſinuation, v. 25.--30. Jeſus knew their Thoughts. Note, Jeſus Chriſt knows what we are thinking at any time, knows what is in Man; he underſtandeth our Thoughts afar off. It ſhould ſeem the Phariſees could not for ſhame ſpeak it out, but kept it in their Minds: They could not expect to ſatisfy the People with it, they therefore reſerv'd it for the ſilencing the Convictions of their own Conſciences. Note, Many are kept off from their Duty by that which they are aſham'd to own, but which they cannot hide from Jeſus Chriſt. Yet 'tis probable the Phariſees had whiſper'd what they thought among themſelves, to help to harden one another; but Chriſt's Reply is ſaid to be to their Thoughts, becauſe he knew with what Mind, and from what Principle they ſaid it; they did not ſay it in their haſte, but it was the product of a rooted Malignity.

Chriſt's Reply to this Imputation is copious and cogent; that every Mouth may be ſtop'd with Senſe and Reaſon, before it be ſtop'd with Fire and Brimſtone: Here are three Arguments by which he demonſtrates the unreaſonableneſs of this Suggeſtion.

1. It would be very ſtrange, and highly improbable, that Satan ſhould be caſt out by ſuch a Compact, becauſe then Satan's Kingdom would be divided againſt it ſelf; which conſidering his Subtilty, is not a thing to be imagin'd, v. 25, 26.

(1.) Here's a known Rule laid down, That in all Societies a common Ruin is the Conſequence of mutual Quarrels; every Kingdom divided againſt it ſelf is brought to Deſolation, and every Family too. Quæ enim Domus tam ſtabilis eſt, quæ tam firma Civitas, quæ non Odiis atque Diſſidiis funditus everti poſſit? Cic. Læl. 7. Diviſions commonly end in Deſolations; if we claſh we break, if we divide one from another, we become an eaſy Prey to a common Enemy; much more if we bite and devour one another, ſhall we be conſumed one of another, Gal. 5. 15. Churches and Nations have known this by ſad Experience.

(2.) The Application of it to the Caſe in hand, v. 26. If Satan caſt out Satan. If the Prince of the Devils ſhould be at variance with the inferior Devils, the whole Kingdom and Intereſt would ſoon be broken. Nay, if Satan ſhould come into a Compact with Chriſt, it muſt be to his own Ruin; for the manifeſt Deſign and Tendency of Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles, was to overthrow the Kingdom of Satan, as a Kingdom of Darkneſs, Wickedneſs, and Enmity to God, and to ſet up upon the Ruins of it a Kingdom of Light, Holineſs, and Love. The Works of the Devil as a Rebel againſt God, and a Tyrant over the Souls of Men, were deſtroy'd by Chriſt, and therefore it was the muſt abſurd thing imaginable, to think that Beelzebub ſhould at all countenance ſuch a Deſign, or come into it. If he ſhould fall in with Chriſt, how ſhall then his Kingdom ſtand? He would himſelf contribute to the Overthrow of it. Note, The Devil has a Kingdom, a common Intereſt in Oppoſition to God and Chriſt, which to the utmoſt of his Power he will make to ſtand, and he will never come into Chriſt's Intereſts; he muſt be conquer'd and broken by Chriſt, and therefore cannot ſubmit and bend to him. What Concord or Communion can there be between Light and Darkneſs, Chriſt and Belial, Chriſt and Beelzebub. Chriſt will deſtroy the Devil's Kingdom, but he needs not do it by any ſuch little Arts and Projects as this of a ſecret Compact with Beelzebub; no, this Victory muſt be obtain'd by nobler Methods. Let the Prince of the Devils muſter up all his Forces, let him make uſe of all his Powers and Politicks, and keep his Intereſts in the cloſeſt Confederacy, yet Chriſt will be too hard for his united Force, and his Kingdom ſhall not ſtand.

2. It was not at all ſtrange or improbable, that Devils ſhould be caſt out by the Spirit of God; for,

(1.) How otherwiſe do your Children caſt them out? There were thoſe among the Jews, who by Invocation of the Name of the moſt high God, or the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, did ſometimes caſt out Devils. Joſephus ſpeaks of ſome in his Time that did it; we read of Jewiſh Exorciſts, Acts 19. 9. and of ſome that in Chriſt's Name caſt out Devils, tho' they did not follow him, Mark 9. 38. or were not faithful to him, Mat. 7. 22. Theſe the Phariſees condemned not, but imputed what they did to the Spirit of God, and valu'd themſelves and their Nation by it. It was therefore meerly from Spite and Envy to Chriſt, that they would own that others caſt out Devils by the Spirit of God, but ſuggeſt that he did it by Compact with Beelzebub. Note, It is the way of malicious People, eſpecially the malicious Perſecutors of Chriſt and Chriſtianity, to condemn the ſame thing in thoſe they hate, which they approve of and applaud in thoſe they have a kindneſs for. The Judgments of Envy are made, not by Things, but Perſons; not by Reaſon, but Prejudice. But thoſe were very unfit to ſit in Moſes's Seat who knew Faces, and knew nothing elſe in Judgment; therefore they ſhall be our Judges, i. e. This Contradicting of your ſelves will riſe up in Judgment againſt you at the great Day, and will condemn you. Note, In the laſt Judgment, not only every Sin, but every Aggravation of it, will be brought into the Account, and ſome of our Notions that were right and good will be brought in evidence againſt us to convict us of Partiality.

(2.) This caſting out of Devils was a certain Token and Indication of the Approach and Appearance of the Kingdom of God, v. 28. But if it be indeed that I caſt out Devils by the Spirit of God, as certainly I do, then you muſt conclude, that tho' you are unwilling to receive it, yet the Kingdom of the Meſſiah is now about to be ſet up among you. Other Miracles that Chriſt wrought, prov'd him ſent of God, but this prov'd him ſent of God to deſtroy the Devil's Kingdom and his Works. Now that great Promiſe was evidently fulfilled, that the Seed of the Woman ſhould break the Serpent's Head, Gen. 3. 15. Therefore that glorious Diſpenſation of the Kingdom of God, which has been long expected, is now commenc'd, ſlight it at your Peril. Note, (1.) The Deſtruction of the Devil's Power is wrought by the Spirit of God. That Spirit who works to the Obedience of Faith, overthrows the Intereſt of that Spirit who works in the Children of Unbelief and Diſobedience. (2.) The caſting out of Devils is a certain Introduction to the Kingdom of God. If the Devil's Intereſt in a Soul be not only check'd by Cuſtom, or external Reſtraints, but ſunk and broken by the Spirit of God as a Sanctifier, no doubt but the Kingdom of God is come to that Soul, the Kingdom of Grace, a bleſſed Earneſt of the Kingdom of Glory.

3. The comparing of Chriſt's Miracles, particularly this of caſting out Devils with his Doctrine, and the Deſign and Tendency of his holy Religion did evince that he was ſo far from being in league with Satan, that he was at open Enmity and Hoſtility againſt him, v. 29. How can one enter into a ſtrong Man's Houſe, and plunder his Goods, and carry them away, except he firſt bind the ſtrong Man, and then he may do what he pleaſeth with his Goods. The World that ſate in Darkneſs and lay in Wickedneſs, was in Satan's Poſſeſſion, and under his Power, as a Houſe in the Poſſeſſion, and under the Power of a ſtrong Man; ſo is every unregenerate Soul, there Satan reſides, there he rules. Now (1.) the Deſign of Chriſt's Goſpel was to ſpoil the Devil's Houſe, which was a ſtrong Man he kept in the World, to turn People from Darkneſs to Light, from Sin to Holineſs, from this World to a better, from the Power of Satan unto God, Acts 26. 18. to alter the Property of Souls. (2.) Purſuant to this Deſign, he bound the ſtrong Man, when he caſt out unclean Spirits by his Word. Thus he wreſted the Sword out of the Devil's Hand, that he might wreſt the Scepter out of it. The Doctrine of Chriſt teacheth us how to conſtrue his Miracles; and when he ſhewed how eaſily and effectually he could caſt the Devil out of Peoples Bodies, he encouraged all Believers to hope, that whatever Power Satan might uſurp and exerciſe in the Souls of Men, Chriſt by his Grace would break it, he will ſpoil him; for it appears he can bind him. When Nations were turned from the Service of Idols to ſerve the living World, when ſome of the worſt of Sinners were ſanctified and juſtified, and became the beſt of Saints, then Chriſt ſpoiled the Devil's Houſe, and will ſpoil it more and more.

Laſtly, It is here intimated, that this holy War which Chriſt was carrying on with Vigour againſt the Devil, and his Kingdom, was ſuch as would not admit of a Neutrality, v. 30. He that is not with me is againſt me. In the little Differences that may ariſe between the Diſciples of Chriſt among themſelves, we are taught to leſſen the Matters in Variance, and to ſeek Peace, by accounting thoſe that are not againſt us, to be with us, Luke 9. 50. But in the great Quarrel between Chriſt and the Devil, no Peace is to be ſought, nor any ſuch favourable Conſtruction to be made of an Indifferency in the Matter; he that is not hearty for Chriſt, will be reckon'd with, as really againſt him. He that is cold in the Cauſe, is look'd upon as an Enemy. When the Diſpute is between God and Baal, there is no halting between two, 1 Kings 18. 21. There's no Trimming between Chriſt and Belial; for the Kingdom of Chriſt, as it is eternally oppoſite to, ſo it will be eternally victorious over the Devil's Kingdom. And therefore in this Cauſe there's no ſitting ſtill with Gilead beyond Jordan, or Aſher on the Sea-ſhore, Judg. 5. 16, 17. We muſt be entirely, faithfully, and immoveably on Chriſt's Side; 'tis the right Side, and will at laſt be the riſing Side. See Exod. 32. 26.

The latter Clauſe is to the ſame Purpoſe. He that gathereth not with me ſcattereth. Note, (1.) Chriſt's Errand into the World was to gather; to gather in his Harveſt, to gather in thoſe that the Father had given him, John 11. 52. Eph. 1. 10. (2.) Chriſt expects and requires from thoſe that are with him, that they gather with him; that they not only gather to him themſelves, but do all they can in their Places, to gather others to him, and ſo to ſtrengthen his Intereſt. (3.) Thoſe who will not appear and act, as Furtherers of Chriſt's Kingom, will be look'd upon and dealt with, as Hinderers of it. If we gather not with Chriſt, we ſcatter; 'tis not enough not to do hurt, but we muſt do good. Thus is the Breach widen'd between Chriſt and Satan, to ſhew there was no ſuch Compact between them as the Phariſees whiſper'd.

Fifthly, Here's a Diſcourſe of Chriſt's upon this Occaſion, concerning Tongue-ſins. Wherefore I ſay unto you. He ſeems to turn from the Phariſees to the People, from diſputing to inſtructing, and from the Sin of the Phariſees, he warns the People concerning three Sorts of Tongue-Sins; for others Harms are Admonitions to us.

1*ſt*, Blaſphemous Words againſt the Holy Ghoſt, the worſt Kind of Tongue-Sins, and unpardonable, v. 31, 32. (1.) Here's a gracious Aſſurance of the Pardon of all Sin upon Goſpel Terms. This Chriſt ſaith unto us, and it is a comfortable Saying, That the Greatneſs of Sin ſhall be no Bar to our Acceptance with God, if we truly repent, and believe the Goſpel, All manner of Sin and Blaſphemy ſhall be forgiven unto Men. Though the Sin has been as Scarlet and Crimſon, Iſa. 1. 18. though never ſo heinous in its Nature, never ſo much aggravated by its Circumſtances, and never ſo oft repeated, tho' it reach up to the Heavens, yet with the Lord there's Mercy that reacheth beyond the Heavens. Even Blaſphemy, a Sin immediatly touching God's Name and Honour; Paul obtain'd Mercy, who had been a Blaſphemer, 1 Tim. 1. 13. Well may we ſay, Who is a God like unto thee, pardoning Iniquity? Mic. 7. 18. Even Words ſpoken againſt the Son of Man ſhall be forgiven; as theirs was who revil'd him at his Death, many of whom repented, and found Mercy. Chriſt herein hath ſet an Example to all other the Sons of Men, to be ready to forgive Words ſpoken againſt them. I as a deaf Man heard not. Obſerve, They ſhall be forgiven unto Men, not to Devils; this is Love to the whole World of Mankind, above the World of fallen Angels, that all Sin is pardonable to them.

(2.) Here's an Exception of the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt, which is here declar'd to be the only unpardonable Sin, See here.

1. What this Sin is. 'Tis ſpeaking againſt the Holy Ghoſt. See what Malignity there is in Tongue Sins; when the only unpardonable Sin is ſo. But Jeſus knew their Thoughts, v. 25. 'Tis not all ſpeaking againſt the Perſon, or Eſſence of the Holy Ghoſt, or ſome of his more private Operations, or meerly the reſiſting of his internal Working in the Sinner himſelf, that is here meant; for who then ſhould be ſav'd? It is adjudg'd in our Law, that an Act of Indemnity ſhould always be conſtru'd in favour of that Grace and Clemency, which is the Intendment of the Act; and therefore the Exceptions in the Act are not to be extended further than needs muſt. The Goſpel is an Act of Indemnity; none are excepted by Name, nor any by Deſcription, but thoſe only that blaſpheme the Holy Ghoſt; which therefore muſt be conſtrued in the narroweſt Senſe. All preſuming Sinners are effectually cut off by the Conditions of the indemnity, Faith and Repentance: And therefore the other Exceptions muſt not be ſtretched far; and this Blaſphemy is excepted, not for any Defect of Mercy in God, or Merit in Chriſt, but becauſe it inevitably leaves the Sinner in Infidelity and Impenitency. We have Reaſon to think that none are guilty of this Sin, who believe that Chriſt is the Son of God, and ſincerely deſire to have part in his Merit and Mercy. And thoſe who fear they have committed this Sin, 'tis a good Sign they have not. The learned Dr. Whitby very well obſerves, that Chriſt ſpeaks not of what was now ſaid or done, but of what ſhould be, Mark 3. 38. Luke 12. 10. Whoſoever ſhall Blaſpheme. As for thoſe who Blaſphemed Chriſt, when he was here upon Earth and called him a Wine-bibber, a Deceiver, a Blaſphemer, and the like, they had ſome Colour of Excuſe, becauſe of the Meanneſs of his Appearance, and the Prejudices of the Nation againſt him; and the Proof of his divine Miſſion was not perfected till after his Aſcenſion: And therefore upon their Repentance they ſhould be pardon'd, and 'tis hoped they may be convinc'd by the pouring out of the Spirit, as many of them were, who had been his Betrayers and Murderers. But if when the Holy Ghoſt is given, in his inward Gifts of Revelation, Speaking with Tongues, and the like, ſuch as were the Diſtributions of the Spirit among the Apoſtles, if they continue to blaſpheme the Spirit likewiſe, as an Evil Spirit, there's no Hopes of them, that they will ever be brought to believe in Chriſt. For (1.) Thoſe Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt in the Apoſtles, were the laſt Proof that God deſign'd to make uſe of for the confirming of the Goſpel and were ſtill kept in Reſerve, when other Methods proceeded. (2.) This was the moſt powerful Evidence, and more apt to convince than Miracles themſelves. (3.) Thoſe therefore that blaſpheme this Diſpenſation of the Spirit, cannot poſſibly be brought to believe in Chriſt. Thoſe who ſhall impute them to a Colluſion with Satan, as the Phariſees did the Miracles, what can convince them? This is is ſuch a Strong-hold of Infidelity, as a Man can never be beaten out of, and is therefore unpardonable, becauſe hereby Repentance is hid from the Sinner's Eyes.

2. What the Sentence is that is paſs'd upon it, It ſhall not be forgiven, neither in this World, nor in the World to come. As in the then preſent State of the Jewiſh Church, there was no Sacrifice of Expiation for the Soul that ſin'd preſumptuouſly, ſo neither under the Diſpenſation of Goſpel Grace, which is often in Scripture call'd the World to come, ſhall there be any pardon to ſuch, as tread under Foot the Blood of the Covenant, and do Deſpite to the Spirit of Grace. There is no cure for a Sin ſo directly againſt the Remedy. It was a Rule in our old Law. No Sanctuary for Sacriledge. Or, it ſhall be forgiven neither now, in the Sinner's own Conſcience, nor in the great Day, when the Pardon ſhall be publiſh'd. Or, This is a Sin that expoſeth the Sinner, both to temporal and eternal Puniſhment, both to preſent Wrath, and the Wrath to come.

2*d*, Chriſt ſpeaks here concerning other wicked Words, the Products of Corruption reigning in the Heart, and breaking out thence, v. 33, 34, 35. 'Twas ſaid, v. 25. that Jeſus knew their Thoughts, and here he ſpoke with an Eye to them, ſhewing that it was not ſtrange they ſhould ſpeak ſo ill, when their Hearts were ſo full of Enmity and Malice; which yet they oft endeavour'd to cloke and cover, by feigning themſelves juſt Men. Our Lord Jeſus therefore points to the Spring, and heals them; let the Heart be ſanctified, and it will appear in our Words,

1. The Heart is the Root, the Language is the Fruit, v. 33. If the Nature of the Tree be good, it will bring forth Fruit accordingly. Where Grace is the reigning Principle in the Heart, the Language will be the Language of Canaan; and on the contrary, whatever Luſt reigns in the Heart it will break out; rotten Lungs make a ſtinking Breath: Men's Language diſcovers what Country they are of, ſo likewiſe what manner of Spirit they are of, Either make the Tree good, and then the Fruit will be good, get pure Hearts, and then you will have pure Lips and pure Lives, or elſe the Tree will be corrupt, and the Fruit accordingly. You may make a Crab-ſtock to become a good Tree, by graffing into it an Imp from a good Tree, and then the Fruit will be good: But if the Tree be ſtill the ſame, plant it where you will, and water it with what you will, the Fruit will be ſtill corrupt. Note, Unleſs the Heart be transform'd, the Life will never be throughly reform'd. The Phariſees were ſhy of Speaking out their wicked Thoughts of Jeſus Chriſt; But Chriſt here intimates how vain it was for them to ſeek to hide that Root of Bitterneſs in them that bore this Gall and Wormwood, when they never ſought to mortify it. Note, It ſhould be more our care to be good really, than to ſeem good outwardly.

2. The Heart is the Fountain, the Words are the Streams, v. 34. Out of the Abundance of the Heart the Mouth ſpeaks, as the Streams are the Overflowings of the Spring. A wicked Heart is ſaid to ſend forth Wickedneſs as a Fountain caſteth forth her Waters, Jer. 6. 7. A troubled Fountain, and a corrupt Spring, ſuch as Solomon ſpeaks of, Prov. 25. 26. muſt needs ſend forth muddy and unpleaſant Streams. Evil Words are the natural genuine Product of an evil Heart. Nothing but the Salt of Grace caſt into the Spring will heal the Waters, ſeaſon the Speech, and purify the corrupt Communication. This they wanted; they were evil, and how can ye being evil ſpeak good things? They were a Generation of Vipers; John Baptiſt had call'd them ſo, chap. 3. 7. and they were ſtill the ſame; for can the Ethiopian change his Skin? the People look'd upon the Phariſees as a Generation of Saints, but Chriſt calls them a Generation of Vipers, the Seed of the Serpent, that had an Enmity to Chriſt and his Goſpel. Now what could be expected from a Generation of Vipers, but that which is poyſonous and malignant. Can the Viper be otherwiſe than venomous? Note, Ill things may be expected from ill People, as ſaid the Proverb of the Ancients, Wickedneſs proceedeth from the Wicked, 1. Sam. 24. 13. The Vile Perſon will ſpeak Villany, Iſa. 32. 6. Thoſe that are themſelves evil, have neither Skill nor Will to ſpeak good things, as they ſhould be ſpoken of. Chriſt would have his Diſciples know what ſort of Men they were to live among, that they might know what to look for. They are as Ezekiel among Scorpions, Ezek. 2. 6. and muſt not think it ſtrange if they be ſtung and bitten.

3. The Heart is the Treaſury, The Words are the things brought out of that Treaſury, v. 35. and from hence Mens Characters may be drawn, and they may be judg'd of.

1. It is the Character of a good Man, that he has a good Treaſure in his Heart, and from thence brings forth good things, as there is Occaſion. Graces, Comforts, Experiences, good Knowledge, good Affections, good Reſolutions, theſe are a good Treaſure in the Heart; the Word of God hidden there, the Law of God written there, Divine Truths dwelling and Ruling there, are a Treaſure there, valuable and ſuitable, kept ſafe, and kept ſecret, as the Stores of the good Houſholder, but ready for uſe upon all Occaſions. A good Man thus furniſhed will bring forth, as Joſeph out of his Stores, will be ſpeaking and doing that which is good, for God's Glory and the Edification of others. See Prov. 10. 11, 13, 14, 20, 21, 31, 32. This is bringing forth good things. Some pretend to good Expenſes, that have not a good Treaſure, ſuch will ſoon be Bankrupts; ſome pretend to have a good Treaſure within, but give no Proof of it; they hope they have it in them, and thank God, whatever their Words and Actions are, they have good Hearts. But Faith without Works is dead. And ſome have a good Treaſure of Wiſdom and Knowledge, but they are not communicative, they do not bring forth out of it. They have a Talent, but know not how to trade with it. The compleat Chriſtian in this bears the Image of God, that he both is good, and doth good.

2. It is the Character of an evil man, that he has an evil Treaſure in his Heart, and out of it bringeth forth evil things. Luſts and Corruptions dwelling and reigning in the Heart are an evil Treaſure, out of which the Sinner brings forth ill Words and Actions, to the Diſhonour of God and the Hurt of others. See Gen. 6. 5. 12. Mat. 15. 18, 19, 20. Jam. 1. 15. But Treaſures of Wickedneſs, Prov. 10. 2. will be Treaſures of Wrath.

3*d*, Chriſt ſpeaks here concerning Idle Words, and ſhews what evil there is in them, v. 36. 37. much more is there in ſuch wicked Words as the Phariſees ſpoke. It concerns us to think much of the Day of Judgment, that that may be a check upon our Tongues. And let us conſider,

1. How particular the Account will be [illegible] Tongue-Sins in that Day. Even for every idle Word, or Diſcourſe th[illegible] Men ſpeak, they ſhall give Account. This intimates (1.) That God takes notice of every Word we ſay, even that which we ourſelves do not take notice of. See Pſal. 139. 4. Not a Word in my Tongue but thou knoweſt it; though ſpoken without Regard or Deſign God takes Cognizance of it. (2.) That vain, idle, impertinent Talk is diſpleaſing to God, which tends not to any good Purpoſe, is not good to any Uſe for edifying; 'tis the Product of a vain and trifling Heart. Theſe idle Words are the ſame with that fooliſh Talking and Jeſting which is forbidden, Eph. 5. 4. This is that Sin which is ſeldom wanting in the Multitude of Words, unprofitable Talk, Job 15. 3. (3.) We muſt ſhortly account for theſe idle Words, they will be produced an Evidence againſt us to prove us unprofitable Servants, that have not improv'd the Faculties of Reaſon and Speech, which are part of the Talents we are entruſted with. If we repent not of our idle Words, and our Account for them be not balanc'd by the Blood of Chriſt, we are undone.

2. How ſtrict the Judgment will be upon that Account, v. 37. By thy Words thou ſhalt be juſtified, or condemn'd; a common Rule in Men's Judgments, and here apply'd to God's. Note, The conſtant Tenour of our Diſcourſe, according as it is gracious or not gracious, will be an Evidence for us or againſt us at the great Day. Thoſe that ſeem'd to be religious, but bridled not their Tongues, will then be found to have put a Cheat upon themſelves with a vain Religion, Jam. 1. 26. Some think Chriſt here refers to that of Eliphaz, Job 15. 6. Thine own Mouth condemneth thee, and not I; or rather to that of Solomon, Prov. 18. 21. Death and Life are in the Power of the Tongue.

38 Then certain of the Scribes and of the Phariſees anſwered, ſaying, Maſter, we would ſee a ſign from thee. 39 But he anſwered and ſaid to them, An evil and adulterous generation ſeeketh after a ſign, and there ſhall no ſign be given to it, but the ſign of the Prophet Jonas. 40 For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whales belly: ſo ſhall the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. 41 The men of Nineveh ſhall riſe in judgment with this generation, and ſhall condemn it: becauſe they repented at the preaching of Jonas, and behold a greater than Jonas is here. 42 The queen of the South ſhall riſe up in the judgment with this generation, and ſhall condemn it: for ſhe came from the uttermoſt parts of the earth to hear the wiſdom of Solomon, and behold a greater than Solomon is here. 43 When the unclean Spirit is gone out of a man he walketh through dry places, ſeeking reſt, and findeth none. 44 Then he ſaith, I will return into my houſe from whence I came out: and when he is come, he findeth it empty, ſwept, and garniſhed. 45 Then goeth he, and taketh with himſelf ſeven other ſpirits more wicked than himſelf, and they enter in and dwell there: and the laſt ſtate of that man is worſe than the firſt. Even ſo ſhall it be alſo unto this wicked generation.

'Tis probable, theſe Phariſees that Chriſt is here in Diſcourſe with, were not the ſame that cavil'd at him, v. 24. and would not credit the Signs he gave, but another Set of them, that ſaw there was no reaſon to diſcredit them; but would not content themſelves with the Signs he gave, nor admit the Evidence of them, unleſs he would give them ſuch further Proof as they ſhould demand.

Here's 1. Their Addreſs to him, v. 38. They complement him with the Title of Maſter, pretending Reſpect for him, when they intended to abuſe him; all are not indeed Chriſt's Servants, who call him Maſter. Their Requeſt is, We would ſee a Sign from thee. It was highly reaſonable they ſhould ſee a Sign, that he ſhould by Miracles prove his divine Miſſion. See Exod. 4. 8, 9. He came to take down a Model of Religion that was ſet up by Miracles, and therefore 'twas requiſite he ſhoule produce the ſame Credentials. But it was highly unreaſonable to demand a Sign now, when he had given ſo many ſigns already, that did abundantly prove him ſent of God. Note, 'Tis natural to proud Men to preſcribe to God, and then make that an Excuſe for not ſubſcribing to him; But a Man's Offence will never be his Defence.

2. His Anſwer to this Addreſs, this inſolent Demand.

Firſt, He condemns the Demand, as the Language of an evil and adulterous Generation, v. 39. He faſtens the Charge not only on the Scribes and Phariſees, but the whole Nation of the Jews, they were all like their Leaders, a Seed and Succeſſion of Evil Doers. They were an evil Generation indeed, that not only hardned themſelves againſt the Conviction of Chriſt's Miracles, but ſet themſelves to abuſe him, and put Contempt on his Miracles. They were an adulterous Generation. (1.) As an adulterous Brood, ſo miſerably degenerated from the Faith and Obedience of their Anceſtors, that Abraham and Iſrael acknowledge them not, See Iſa. 57. 3. Or (2.) As an adulterous Wife; they departed from that God, to whom by Covenant they had been eſpouſed. They were not guilty of the Whoredom of Idolatry, as they had bee[illegible]fore the Captivity, but they were guilty of Infidelity and all Iniquity, and that's Whoredom too. They did not look after Gods of their own making, but they look'd for Signs of their own deviſing; and that was Adultery.

Secondly, He denies to give them any other Sign more than he has already given them, but that of the Prophet Jonas. Note, Tho' Chriſt is always ready to hear and anſwer holy Deſires and Prayers, yet he will not gratify corrupt Luſts and Humours. Thoſe that ask amiſs, ask and have not. Signs were granted to thoſe who deſired them for the Confirmation of their Faith, as to Abraham and Gideon; but were denied to thoſe that demanded them for the Excuſe of their Unbelief.

Juſtly might Chriſt have ſaid they ſhall never ſee another Miracle, but ſee his wonderful Goodneſs. (1.) They ſhall have the ſame Signs ſtill repeated, for their further Benefit and more abundant Conviction. (2.) They ſhall have one Sign of a different kind from all theſe, and that's the Reſurrection of Chriſt from the Dead by his own Power, call'd here the Sign of the Prophet Jonas; this was yet reſerv'd for their Conviction, and was intended to be the great Proof of Chriſt's being the Meſſiah, for by that he was declared to be the Son of God with Power, Rom. 1. 4. That was ſuch a Sign as ſurpaſs'd all the reſt, compleated and crown'd them. If they will not believe the former Signs, they will believe this, Exod. 4. 9. and if this will not convince them, nothing will. And yet the Unbelief of the Jews found out an Evaſion to ſhift off that too, by ſaying, his Diſciples came and ſtole him away; for none are ſo incurable blind, as thoſe that are reſolved they will not ſee.

Now this Sign of the Prophet Jonas he further explains here, v. 40. As Jonas was three Days and three Nights in the Whales Belly, and then came out again ſafe and well, thus Chriſt ſhall be ſo long in the Grave, and then ſhall riſe again. (1.) The Grave was to Chriſt as the Belly of the Fiſh was to Jonah, thither he was thrown, as a Ranſom for Lives ready to be loſt in a Storm; there he lay as in the Belly of Hell, Jon. 2. 2. and ſeem'd to be caſt out of God's Sight. (2.) He continued in the Grave juſt as long as Jonah continu'd in the Fiſh's Belly, three Days and three Nights; not three whole Days and Nights, 'tis probable Jonah did not lie ſo long in the Whales Belly, but part of three natural Days (νυχθήμερους the Greeks call'd them) he was buried in the Afternoon of the ſixth Day of the Week, and roſe again in the Morning of the firſt Day. 'Tis a manner of Speech very uſual, ſee 1 Kings 20. 29. Eſth. 4. 16.—5. 1. Luke 2. 21. ſo long Jonah was a Priſoner for his own Sin, ſo long Chriſt was a Priſoner for ours. (3.) As Jonah in the Whales Belly comforted himſelf with an Aſſurance that yet he ſhould look again towards God's holy Temple, Jonah 2. 4. ſo Chriſt when he lay in the Grave is expreſly ſaid to reſt in Hope, as one aſſur'd he ſhould not ſee Corruption, Acts 2. 26, 27. (4.) As Jonah on the third Day was diſcharged from his Priſon, and came to the Land of the Living again from the Congregation of the Dead (for dead things are ſaid to be formed from under the Water, Job 26. 5.) ſo Chriſt on the third Day ſhould return to Life, and riſe out of his Grave, to ſend abroad his Goſpel to the Gentiles.

Thirdly, Chriſt takes this Occaſion to repreſent the ſad Character and Condition of that Generation in which he liv'd, a Generation that would not be reformed, and therefore could not but be ruin'd. And he gives them their Character, as it would ſtand in the Day of Judgment, under the full Diſcoveries, and final Sentences of that Day. Perſons and Things now appear under falſe Colours; Characters and Conditions are here changeable: If therefore we ſhould make a right Eſtimate, we muſt take our Meaſures from the laſt Judgment. Things are really what they are eternally.

Now Chriſt repreſents the People of the Jews,

1. As a Generation that would be condemn'd by the Men of Nineveh, whoſe repenting at the Preaching of Jonah, would riſe up in Judgment againſt them, v. 41. Chriſt's Reſurrection will be the Sign of the Prophet Jonas to them, but it will not have ſo happy an Effect upon them, as that of Jonas had upon the Ninevites, for they were by it brought to ſuch a Repentance, as prevented their Ruin; but the Jews will be harden'd in an Unbelief, that ſhall haſten their Ruin. And in the Day of Judgment the Repentance of the Ninevites will be mention'd as an Aggravation of the Sin, and conſequently the Condemnation of thoſe to whom Chriſt preach'd then, and of thoſe to whom Chriſt is preached now; for this reaſon, becauſe Chriſt is greater than Jonah. (1.) Jonah was but a Man, ſubject to like Paſſions, to like ſinful Paſſions as we are; but Chriſt is the Son of God. (2.) Jonah was a Stranger in Nineveh, he came among Strangers that were prejudic'd againſt his Country; but Chriſt came to his own, when he preach'd to the Jews, and much more when he is preach'd among profeſſing Chriſtians, that are call'd by his Name. (3.) Jonah preach'd but one ſhort Sermon, and that with no great Solemnity, but as he paſs'd along the Streets; Chriſt renews his Calls, ſat and taught, taught in the Synagogues. (4.) Jonah preach'd nothing but Wrath and Ruin within forty Days, gave no Inſtructions, Directions or Encouragements to repent; but Chriſt, beſides the Warning given us of our Danger, hath ſhew'd wherein we muſt repent, and aſſured us of Acceptance upon our Repentance, becauſe the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand. (5.) Jonah wrought no Miracle to confirm his Doctrine, ſhew'd no Good-will to the Ninevites; but Chriſt wrought abundance of Miracles, and all Miracles of Mercy. And yet the Ninevites repented at the preaching of Jonas, but the Jews were not wrought upon by Chriſt's Preaching. Note, The Goodneſs of ſome who have leſs Helps and Advantages for their Souls, will aggravate the Badneſs of thoſe that have much greater. Thoſe that by the Twilight diſcover the Things that belong to their Peace, will ſhame thoſe that grope at Noon-day.

2. As a Generation that would be condemned by the Queen of the South, the Queen of Sheba, v. 42. The Ninevites would ſhame them for not repenting, the Queen of Sheba for not believing in Chriſt. She came from a far Country to hear the Wiſdom of Solomon, yet People will not be perſwaded to come hear the Wiſdom of Chriſt, tho' he is in every thing greater than Solomon. (2.) The Queen of Sheba had no Invitation to come to Solomon, nor any Promiſe of being welcome, but we are invited to Chriſt, to ſit at his Feet, and hear his Word. (2.) Solomon was but a wiſe Man, but Chriſt is Wiſdom it ſelf, in whom are hid all the Treaſures of Wiſdom. (3.) The Queen of Sheba had many Difficulties to break through, ſhe was a Woman unfit for Travel, the Journey long and perilous, ſhe was a Queen, and what would become of her own Country in her Abſence? We have no ſuch Cares to hinder us. (4.) She could not be ſure that it would be worth her while to go ſo far on this Errand: Fame uſes to flatter Men, and perhaps ſhe might have in her own Country, or Court, wiſe Men ſufficient to inſtruct her, yet having heard of Solomon's Fame ſhe would ſee him; but we come not to Chriſt upon ſuch Uncertainties. (5.) She came from the uttermoſt Parts of the Earth, but we have Chriſt among us, and his Word nigh us. Behold, he ſtands at the Door, and knocks. (6.) It ſhould ſeem the Wiſdom the Queen of Sheba came for, was only Philoſophy and Politicks, but the Wiſdom that is to be had with Chriſt, is Wiſdom to Salvation. (7.) She could only hear Solomon's Wiſdom, he could not give her Wiſdom; but Chriſt will give Wiſdom to thoſe that come to him, nay, he will himſelf be made of God to them Wiſdom. So that upon all theſe Accounts, if we do not hear the Wiſdom of Chriſt, the Forwardneſs of the Queen of Sheba to come to hear the Wiſdom of Solomon, will riſe up in Judgment againſt us, and condemn us; for Jeſus Chriſt is greater than Solomon.

3. As a Generation that were reſolv'd to continue in the Poſſeſſion, and under the Power of Satan, notwithſtanding all the Methods that were uſed to diſpoſſeſs him and reſcue them. They are compared to one out of whom the Devil is gone out, but returns with double Force, v. 43, 44, 45. The Devil is here call'd the unclean Spirit, for he has loſt all his Purity, and delights in, and promotes all manner of Impurity among Men. Now,

1. The Parable repreſents his Poſſeſſing Mens Bodies: Chriſt having lately caſt out a Devil, and they having ſaid, He had a Devil, gave Occaſion to ſhew how much they were under the Power of Satan. This is a further Proof, that Chriſt did not caſt out Devils by Compact with the Devil, for then he would ſoon have return'd again, but Chriſt's Ejectment of him was final, and ſuch as bar'd a Re-entry. We finding him charging the evil Spirit to go out and enter no more, Mar. 9. 17. Probably the Devil was wont ſometimes thus to ſport with thoſe he had Poſſeſſion of, he would go out, and then return again with more Fury; hence the Lucid Intervals of thoſe in that Condition were commonly follow'd with the more violent Fits. When the Devil is gone out, he is uneaſy, for he ſleeps not except he have done Miſchief, Prov. 4. 16. He walks in dry Places, like one that is very Melancholy, he ſeeks Reſt, but finds none, 'till he returns again. When Chriſt caſt the Legion out of the Man, they beg'd Leave to enter into the Swine, where they went not long in dry Places, but into the Lake preſently.

2. The Application of the Parable makes it to repreſent the Caſe of the Body of the Jewiſh Church and Nation. So ſhall it be with this wicked Generation, that now reſiſt, and will finally reject the Goſpel of Chriſt. The Devil, who by the Labours of Chriſt and his Diſciples, had been caſt out of many of the Jews, ſought for Reſt among the Heathen, from whoſe Perſons and Temples the Chriſtians would every where expel him; ſo Dr. Whitby: Or, finding no where elſe in the Heathen World ſuch pleaſant deſirable Habitations to his Satisfaction as here in the Hearts of the Jews, ſo Dr. Hammand: He ſhall therefore enter again in them, for Chriſt had not found Admiſſion among them, and they by their prodigious Wickedneſs and obſtinate Unbelief, were ſtill more ready than ever to receive him. And then he ſhall take a durable Poſſeſſion here, and the State of this People is likely to be more deſperately damnably, (ſo Dr. Hammond) than it was before Chriſt came among them, or would have been, if Satan had never been caſt out.

The Body of that Nation is here repreſented (1.) As an Apoſtate People. After the Captivity in Babylon they began to reform, left their Idols, appear'd with ſome Face of Religion, but they ſoon corrupted them ſelves again. Tho' they never relapſed into Idolatry, they fell into all manner of Impiety and Prophaneſs, went worſe and worſe, and added to all the reſt of their Wickedneſs, a wilful Contempt of, and Oppoſition to Chriſt and his Goſpel. (2.) As People markt for Ruin. A new Commiſſion was paſſing the Seals againſt that Hypocritical Nation, the People of God's Wrath, like that, Iſa. 10. 6. And their Deſtruction by the Romans was likely to be greater than any other, as their Sins had been more flagrant. Then it was that wrath came upon them to the uttermoſt, 1 Theſ. 2. 15, 16. Let this be a Warning to all Nations and Churches to take heed of leaving their firſt Love, of letting fall a good Work of Reformation begun among them, and returning to that Wickedneſs which they ſeemed to have forſaken, for the laſt State of ſuch will be worſe than the firſt.

46. While he yet talked to the people, behold, his mother and his brethren ſtood without, deſiring to ſpeak with him. 47 Then one ſaid unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren ſtand without, deſiring to ſpeak with thee 48 But he anſwered and ſaid unto him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my Brethren? 49 And he ſtretched forth his hand towards his Diſciples, and ſaid, Behold my mother, and my brethren. 50 For whoſoever ſhall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the ſame is my brother, and ſiſter, and mother.

Many excellent uſeful Sayings came from the Mouth of our Lord Jeſus upon particular Occaſions; even his Digreſſions were inſtructive, as well as his ſet Diſcourſes: As here

Obſerve, 1. How Chriſt was interrupted in his Preaching by his Mother and his Brethren, that ſtood without deſiring to ſpeak with him, v. 46, 47. which deſire of theirs was handed to him through the Crowd. 'Tis needleſs to enquire which of his Brethren they were that came along with his Mother; perhaps they were thoſe that did not believe in him, John 7. 5. Or, what their Buſineſs was; perhaps twas only deſign'd to oblige him to break off, for Fear he ſhould over-ſpend himſelf, or to caution him to take heed of giving Offence by his Diſcourſe to the Phariſees, and running himſelf into a Premunire, as if they could teach him Wiſdom.

(1.) He was yet talking to the People. Note, Chriſt's Preaching was Talking, it was plain, eaſy and familiar, and ſuited to their Capacity and Caſe. What Chriſt had deliver'd, had been cavil'd at, and yet he went on. Note, The Oppoſition we meet with in our Work, muſt not drive us from it. He left off talking with the Phariſees, for he ſaw he could do no good with them, but continued to talk to the common People, who having not ſuch a Conceit of their Knowledge, as the Phariſees had, were willing to learn.

(2.) His Mother and Brethren ſtood without deſiring to ſpeak with him, when they ſhould have been ſtanding within deſiring to hear him. They had the Advantage of his daily Converſe in private, and therefore were leſs mindful to attend upon his publick Preaching. Note, Many times thoſe that are neareſt akin to the Means of Knowledge and Grace, are moſt negligent. Familiarity and Eaſineſs of Acceſs breeds ſome Degree of Contempt. We are apt to neglect that this Day, which we think we may have any Day, forgetting that 'tis only the preſent Time we can be ſure of; to morrow is none of ours. There is too much Truth in that common Proverb, The nearer the Church, the further from God; 'tis pity it ſhould be ſo.

(3.) They not only would not hear him themſelves, but they interrupted others that heard him gladly. The Devil was a ſworn Enemy to our Saviour's Preaching. He had ſought to baffle his Diſcourſe by the unreaſonable Cavils of the Scribes and Phariſees, and when he could not gain his Point that way, he endeavour'd to break it off, by the unſeaſonable Viſits of Relations. Note, We often meet with Hindrances and Obſtructions in our Work, by our Friends, that are about us, and are taken off by Civil Reſpects, from our Spritual Concerns. Thoſe that really wiſh well to us and to our Work, may ſometimes by their Indiſcretion, prove our Back-Friends, and Impediments to us in our Duty; as Peter was offenſive to Chriſt, with his Maſter ſpare thy ſelf, when he thought himſelf very officious. The Mother of our Lord deſir'd to ſpeak with him; it ſeems ſhe had not then learn'd to command her Son, as the Iniquity and Idolatry of the Church of Rome hath ſince pretended to teach her. Nor was ſhe ſo free from Fault and Folly as they would make her. 'Twas Chriſt's Prerogative and not his Mother's, to do every thing wiſely and well, and in its Seaſon. Chriſt once ſaid to his Mother, How is it that ye ſought me? Wiſt ye not that I muſt be about my Fathers Buſineſs? and it was then ſaid, ſhe laid up that Saying in her Heart, Luke 2. 49. But if ſhe had remembred it now, ſhe would not have given him this Diverſion, when he was about his Father's Buſineſs. Note, There is many a good Truth, that we thought was well laid up, when we heard it, which yet is out of the Way, when we have Occaſion to uſe it.

2. How he reſented this Interruption, v. 48, 49, 50.

1. He would not hearken to it, was ſo intent upon his Work, that no natural or civil Reſpects ſhould take him off from it. Who is my Mother, and who are my Brethren? Not that natural Affection is to be put off, or that under Pretence of Religion we may be diſreſpectful to Parents, or unkind to other Relations; but every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon, and the leſſer Duty muſt ſtand by while the greater is done. When our Regard to our Relations comes in competition with the Service of God, and the improving an Opportunity to do good, in ſuch a caſe we muſt ſay to our Father I have not ſeen him, as Levi did, Deut. 33. 9. The neareſt Relations muſt be comparatively hated, that is, we muſt love them leſs than Chriſt, Luke 14. 26. and our Duty to God muſt have the Preference. This Chriſt has here given us an Example of, the Zeal of God's Houſe did ſo far eat him up, that it made him not only forget himſelf, but forget his deareſt Relations. And we muſt not take it ill of our Friends, nor put it upon the Score of their Wickedneſſeſs, if they prefer the pleaſing of God before the pleaſing of us; but muſt readily forgive thoſe Neglects, which may eaſily be imputed to a pious Zeal for God's Glory, and others Good. Nay, we muſt deny ourſelves and our own Satisfaction, rather than do that which may any way divert our Friends from, or diſtract them in their Duty to God.

2. He took that occaſion to prefer his Diſciples, who were his Spiritual Kindred; before his natural Relations as ſuch, which was a good Reaſon why he would not leave Preaching to ſpeak with his Brethren. He would rather be profiting his Diſciples, than pleaſing his Relations. Obſerve,

1. The Deſcription of Chriſt's Diſciples. They are ſuch as do the Will of his Father; not only hear it, and know it, and talk of it, but do it; for doing the Will of God is the beſt Preparative for Diſcipleſhip, John 7. 17. and the beſt Proof of it, Mat. 7. 21. that denominates us his Diſciples indeed. Chriſt doth not ſay, whoſoever ſhall do my Will, for he came not to ſeek, or do his own Will, diſtinct from his Father's; his Will and his Father's are the ſame, but he refers us to his Father's Will, becauſe now in his preſent State and Work he refer'd himſelf to it, John 6. 38.

2. The Dignity of Chriſt's Diſciples. The ſame is my Brother, and Siſter, and Mother. His Diſciples that had left all to follow him, and embrac'd his Doctrine, were dearer to him than any that were akin to him according to the Fleſh. They had prefer'd Chriſt before their Relations, they left their Father, Mat. 4. 22.—10. 37. and now to make them amends, and to ſhew that there was no Love loſt, he prefer'd them before his Relations; did not they hereby receive in point of Honour a hundred fold, Mat. 19. 29. 'Twas very endearing and very encouraging, for Chriſt to ſay, Behold my Mother, and my Brethren; yet it was not their Privilege alone, this Honour have all the Saints: Note, All obedient Believers are near akin to Jeſus Chriſt. They wear his Name, bear his Image, have his Nature, are of his Family. He loves them, owns them, converſes freely with them, as his Relations. He bids them welcome to his Table, takes care of them, provides for them, ſees that they want nothing that's fit for them; when he dy'd he left them rich Legacies, now he is in Heaven he keeps up a Correſpondence with them, and will have them all with him at laſt, and will in nothing fail to do the Kinſman's part, Ruth 3. 13. nor will he ever be aſham'd of his poor Relations, but will confeſs them before Men, before the Angels, and before his Father.

CHAP. XIII.

In this Chapter we have 1. the Favour which Chriſt did to his Countrymen in Preaching the Kingdom of Heaven to them, v. 1, 2. He Preach'd to them in Parables, and here gives the Reaſon why he choſe that way of Inſtructing, v. 10.—17. And the Evangeliſt gives another Reaſon, v. 34, 35. Here are eight Parables recorded in this Chapter, which are deſign'd to repreſent the Kingdom of Heaven, the Method of planting of the Goſpel Kingdom in the World, and of its Growth and Succeſs. The great Truths and Laws of that Kingdom are in other Scriptures laid down plainly, and without Parables; but ſome Circumſtances of its Beginning and Progreſs are here laid open in Parables. (1.) Here's one Parable to ſhew what are the great Hindrances of People profiting by the Word of the Goſpel, and in how many it comes ſhort of its End through their own Folly; and that's the Parable of the four ſorts of Grounds deliver'd, v. 3,—9. and expounded, v. 18.—23. (2.) Here are two Parables intended to ſhew, That there would be a mixture of Good and Bad in the Goſpel Church, which would continue till the great Separation between them in the Judgment Day. The Parable of the Tares put forth, v. 24.—30. and expounded at the Requeſt of the Diſciples, v. 36.—43. And that of the Net caſt into the Sea, v. 47.—50. (3.) Here are two Parables intended to ſhew, that the Goſpel Church ſhould be very ſmall at firſt, but in proceſs of time it ſhould become a conſiderable Body. That of the Grain of Muſtard Seed, v. 31, 32. and that of the Leaven, v. 33. (4.) Here are two Parables intended to ſhew, that thoſe who expect Salvation by the Goſpel, muſt be willing to venture all, and quit all in the proſpect of it, and they ſhall be no loſers by the Bargain. That of the Treaſure hid in the Field, v. 43. And that of the Pearl of great Price, v. 45, 46. (5.) Here's one Parables intended for Direction to the Diſciples, to make uſe of the Inſtructions he had given them for the Benefit of others. And that's the Parable of the good Houſholder, v. 51, 52. 2. The Contempt which his Country men put upon him for the ſake of the Meanneſs of his Parentage, v. 53.—58.

THE ſame day went Jeſus out of the houſe, and ſate by the ſea-ſide. 2 And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, ſo that he went into a ſhip, and ſate, and the whole multitude ſtood on the ſhore. 3 And he ſpake many things unto them in parables, ſaying, Behold, a ſower went forth to ſow. 4 And when he ſowed, ſome ſeeds fell by the way-ſide, and the fowls came, and devoured them up. 5 Some fell upon ſtony places, where they had not much earth: and forthwith they ſprung up, becauſe they had no deepneſs of earth. 6 And when the Sun was up, they were ſcorched, and becauſe they had not root, they withered away. 7 And ſome fell among thorns: and the thorns ſprung up, and choaked them. 8 But other fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, ſome an hundred fold, ſome ſixty fold, ſome thirty fold. 9 Who hath ears to hear, let him hear. 10 And his diſciples came, and ſaid unto him, Why ſpeakeſt thou unto them in parables? 11 He anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Becauſe it is given unto you to know the myſteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given. 12 For whoſoever hath, to him ſhall be given, and he ſhall have more abundance: but whoſoever hath not, from him ſhall be taken away, even that he hath. 13 Therefore ſpeak I to them in parables: becauſe they ſeeing, ſee not: and hearing, they hear not, neither do they underſtand. 14 And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Eſaias, which ſaith, By hearing ye ſhall hear, and ſhall not underſtand: and ſeeing ye ſhall ſee, and ſhall not perceive. 15 For this peoples heart is waxed groſs, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have cloſed, leſt at any time they ſhould ſee with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and ſhould underſtand with their heart, and ſhould be converted, and I ſhould heal them. 16 But bleſſed are your eyes, for they ſee: and your ears, for they hear. 17 For verily I ſay unto you, that many prophets and righteous men have deſired to ſee thoſe things which ye ſee, and have not ſeen them: and to hear thoſe things which ye hear, and have not heard them. 18 Hear ye therefore the parable of the ſower. 19 When any one heareth the word of the kingdom, and underſtandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was ſown in his heart: this is he which received ſeed by the way-ſide. 20 But he that receiveth the ſeed into ſtony places the ſame is he that heareth the word, and anon with joy receiveth it: 21 Yet hath he not root in himſelf, but dureth for a while for when tribulation or perſecution ariſeth becauſe of the word, by and by he is offended. 22 He alſo that received ſeed among the thorns, is he that heareth the word: and the care of this world, and the deceitfulneſs of riches choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful. 23 But he that receiveth ſeed into the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and underſtandeth it, which alſo beareth fruit, and bringeth forth ſome an hundred-fold, ſome ſixty, ſome thirty.

We have here Chriſt's Peeaching, and may obſerve;

1. When Chriſt Preach'd this Sermon, 'twas the ſame Day that he Preach'd the Sermon in the foregoing Chapter, ſo unwearied was he in doing Good, and working the Works of him that ſent him. Note, Chriſt was for Preaching both Ends of the Day, and has by his Example recommended that Practice to his Church; we muſt in the Morning ſow our Seed, and in the Evening not withhold our Hand. See Eccl. 11. 6. An Afternoon Sermon well heard, will be ſo far from driving out the Morning Sermon, that it will rather clench it, and faſten the Nail in a ſure place. Tho' Chriſt had been in the Morning oppos'd and cavil'd by his Enemies, is diſturb'd and interrupted by his Friends, yet he went on with his Work, and in the latter part of the Day we do not find that he met with ſuch Diſcouragements. Thoſe who with Courage and Zeal break thro' Difficulties in God's Service, will perhaps find them not ſo apt to recur as they fear. Reſiſt them, and they will flee.

2. To whom he Preach'd, there were great Multitudes gather'd together to him, and they were the Auditors; we do not find that any of the Scribes or Phariſees were preſent. They were willing to hear him when he preach'd in the Synagogue, Chap. 12. 9, 14. But they thought it below them to go hear a Sermon by the Sea-ſide, tho' Chriſt himſelf was the Preacher; and truly he had better have their Room than their Company; for now they were abſent he went on quietly, and without contradiction. Note, Sometimes there is moſt of the Power of Religion there were there is leſs of the Pomp of it. The Poor receive the Goſpel. When Jeſus went to the Sea-ſide, Multitudes were preſently gather'd together to him. Where the King is, there is the Court; where Chriſt is, there is the Church, tho' it be the Sea-ſide. Note. Thoſe that would get good by the Word, muſt be willing to follow it in all its Removes; when the Ark ſhifts, ſhift after it. The Phariſees have been labouring by baſe Calumnies and Suggeſtions to drive the People off from following Chriſt, but they ſtill flock'd after him as much as ever. Note, Chriſt will be glorified in ſpite of all Oppoſition; he will be follow'd.

3. Where he Preach'd this Sermon.

(1.) His Meeting place was the Sea-ſide. He went out of the Houſe (becauſe there was no room for the Auditory) into the open Air. 'Twas pity but ſuch a Preacher ſhould have had the moſt ſpacious, ſumptuous, and convenient Place to preach in that could be deviſ'd, like one of the Roman Theatres; but he was now in his Eſtate of Humiliation, and in this,as in other things, deny'd himſelf the Honours due to him; that as he had not a Houſe of his own to live in, ſo he had not a Chappel of his own to Preach in. By this he teacheth us in the external Circumſtances of Worſhip, not to covet that which is ſtately, but to make the beſt of the Conveniences which God in his Providence allots to us. When Chriſt was born he was crouded into the Stable and now to the Sea-ſide, upon the Strand, where all Perſons might come to him with Freedom. He that was Truth it ſelf ſought no Corners, no Adyta, as the Pagan Myſteries did. Wiſdom cries without, Prov. 1. 20. John 18. 20.

(2.) His Pulpit was a Ship; not like Ezra's Pulpit,that was made for the Purpoſe, Neh. 8. 4. but converted to this uſe for want of a better. No Place amiſs for ſuch a Preacher, whoſe Preſence dignified and conſecrated any Place: Let not thoſe who Preach Chriſt be aſham'd, tho' they have mean and inconvenient Places to Preach in. Some obſerve that the People ſtand upon dry Ground, and firm Ground while the Freacher was upon the Water in more hazard. Miniſters are moſt expos'd to Trouble. Here was a true Roſtrum, a Ship-Pulpit.

4. What, and how he Preach'd. (1.) He ſpak many things unto them, many more, 'tis likely, than are here recorded, but all excellent and neceſſary things, things that belong to our Peace, things pertaining to the Kingdom of Heaven; they were not Trifles, but things of everlaſting Conſequence that Chriſt ſpoke of. It concerns us to give a more earneſt heed, when Chriſt had ſo many things to ſay to us, that we miſs not any of them. (2.) What he ſpake was in Parables; a Parable ſometimes ſignifies any wiſe weighty Saying that is Inſtructive; but here in the Goſpels it generally ſignifies a continued Similitude, or Compariſon, by which ſpiritual and heavenly Things were deſcrib'd in Language borrow'd from the things of this Life. It was a way of Teaching us'd very much, not only by the Jewiſh Rabbins, but by the Arabians, and other the wiſe Men of the Eaſt; and it was found very profitable, and the more ſo for its being pleaſant. Our Saviour us'd it much, and in it condeſcended to the Capacities of People, and liſp'd to them in their own Language. God had long uſed Similitudes by his Servants the Prophets, Hoſ. 12. 10. and to little purpoſe now he uſeth Similitudes by his Son; ſurely they will Reverence him who ſpeaks from Heaven, and of heavenly things, and yet clothes them with Expreſſions borrow'd from things Earthly. See John 3. 12. So deſcending in a Cloud.

Now, Firſt, We have here the general Reaſon why Chriſt taught in Parables, The Diſciples were a little ſurpriz'd at it, for hitherto in his Preaching he had not much us'd it, and therefore they aſk, Why ſpeakeſt thou to them in Parables? Becauſe they were truly deſirous that the People might hear with Underſtanding. They do not ſay, Why ſpeakeſt thou to us? They knew how to get the Parables explain'd, but to them. Note, We ought to be concern'd for the Edification of others, as well as for our own, by the Word preach'd, and if ourſelves ſtrong, yet to bear to the Infirmities of the Weak.

To this Queſtion Chriſt anſwers largely, v. 11.–17. where he tells them, that therefore he preach'd by Parables, becauſe thereby the things of God were made more plain and eaſie to them that were willing to be taught, and at the ſame time more difficult and obſcure to thoſe that were willingly ignorant; and thus the Goſpel would be a Savour of Life to ſome, and of Death to others. A Parable like the Pillar of Cloud and Fire, turns a dark ſide toward Egyptians, which confounds them, but a light ſide toward Iſraelites, which comforts them, and ſo anſwers a double Intention. The ſame Light directs the Eyes of ſome, but dazzles the Eyes of others. Now

1. This Reaſon is laid down, v. 11. Becauſe it is given to you to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of Heaven, but to them it is not given. That is, (1.) The Diſciples had Knowledge, but the People had not. You know already ſomething of theſe Myſteries, and need not in this familiar way to be Inſtructed; but the People are ignorant,are yet but Babes, and muſt be taught as ſuch, by plain Similitudes, being yet uncapable of receiving Inſtruction in any other way; for tho' they have Eyes, they know not how to uſe them. So ſome, or (2.) The Diſciples were well inclin'd to the Knowledge of Goſpel-myſteries, and would ſearch into the Parables, and by them would be led into a more intimate Acquaintance with thoſe Myſteries; but the carnal Hearers that reſted in bare Hearing, and would not be at the pains to look further, nor to aſk the meaning of the Prarbles, would be never the wiſer, and ſo would juſtly ſuffer for their Remiſsneſs. A Parable is a Shell that keeps good Fruit for the Diligent, but keeps it from the Slothful. Note, (1.) There are Myſteries in the Kingdom of Heaven, and without controverſie, great is the Myſtery of Godlineſs: Chriſt's Incarnation, Satisfaction, Interceſſion, our Juſtification, and Sanctification by Union with Chriſt, and indeed the whole Work of Redemption from firſt to laſt are Myſteries could never have been diſcovered but by divine Revelation, 1 Cor. 15. 51. were at this time diſcover'd but in part to the Diſciples, and will never be fully diſcover'd till the Vail ſhall be rent; but the Myſterиouſneſs of Goſpel-Truth ſhall not diſcourage us from, but quicken us in our Enquiries after it, and Searches into it. (2.) It is graciouſly given to the Diſciples of Chriſt to be acquainted with theſe Myſteries. Knowledge is the firſt Gift of God, and it is a diſtinguiſhing Gift, Prov. 2. 6. 'Twas given to the Apoſtles, becauſe they were Chriſt's conſtant Followers and Attendants. Note, The nearer we draw to Chriſt, and the more we converſe with him, the better acquainted we ſhall be with Goſpel-myſteries. 'Tis given to all true Believers, who have an experimental Knowledge of the Goſpel-myſteries, and that's without doubt the beſt Knowledge: A Principle of Grace in the Heart is that which makes Men of quick underſtanding in the Fear of the Lord, and in the Faith of Chriſt, and ſo in the meaning of Parables; and for want of that Nicodemus a Maſter in Iſrael talk'd of the new Birth, as a blind Man of Colours. (3.) That there are thoſe to whom this Knowledge is not given, and a Man can receive nothing unleſs it be given him from above, John 3. 27. And be it remember'd that God is Debtor to no Man. His Grace is his own, he gives or with-holds it at pleaſure, Rom. 11. 35. The Difference muſt be reſolv'd into God's Sovereignty, as before, Mat 11. 25, 26.

2. This Reaſon is further illuſtrated by the Rule God obſerves in diſpenſing his Gifts; he beſtows them on thoſe that improve them, but takes them away from thoſe that bury them. 'Tis a Rule among Men, they will rather entruſt their Money with thoſe that have increaſed their Eſtates by their Induſtry, than with thoſe who have diminiſhed them by their Slothfulneſs.

(1.) Here's a Promiſe to him that hath, that hath true Grace,purſuant to the Election of Grace, that hath, and uſeth what he hath, he ſhall have more abundance: God's Favours are Earneſts of further Favours,where he lays the Foundation he will build upon it. Chriſt's Diſciples us'd the Knowledge they now had, and they had more abundance at the pouring out of the Spirit, Acts 2. They that have the Truth of Grace ſhall have the increaſe of Grace, even to an abundance in Glory, Prov. 4. 18. Joſeph, he will add, Gen. 30. 24.

(2.) Here's a Threatning to him that hath not, that has no deſire of Grace, that makes no right uſe of the Gifts and Graces he has, has no root, no ſolid Principle; that hath, but uſeth not what he has, from him ſhall be taken away that which he has, or ſeems to have. His Leaves ſhall wither, his Gifts decay, the Means of Grace he has, and makes no uſe of, ſhall be taken from him, God will call in his Talents out of their hands that are likely to become Bankrupts quickly.

3. This Reaſon is particularly explain'd, with reference to the two ſorts of People Chriſt had to do with.

1. Some were willingly ignorant, and ſuch were amuz'd by the Parables, v. 13. becauſe they ſeeing, ſee not. They had ſhut their Eyes againſt the clear Light of Chriſt's plainer Preaching, therefore were now left in the Dark. Seeing Chriſt's Perſon, they ſee not his Glory, ſee no difference between him and another Man; ſeeing his Miracles, and hearing his Preaching, they ſee not, they hear not with any Concern, or Application, they underſtand neither. Note, (1.) There are many that ſee the Goſpel-light,and hear the Goſpel ſound, but it never reacheth their Hearts, nor has it any place in them. (2.) 'Tis juſt with God to take away the Light from thoſe that ſhut their Eyes againſt it; that ſuch as will be ignorant may be ſo. And God's dealing thus with them magnifies his Diſtinguiſhing Grace to his Diſciples.

Now in this the Scripture would be fulfill'd, v. 14, 15. 'Tis quoted from Iſa. 6. 9, 10. The Evangelical Prophet that ſpoke moſt plainly of Goſpel Grace, foretold the Contempt of it, and the Conſequences of that Contempt. 'Tis refer'd to no leſs than ſix times in the New Teſtament, which intimates, that in Goſpel-times ſpiritual Judgments would be moſt common, which make leaſt noiſe, but are moſt dreadful. That which was ſpoken of the Sinners in Iſaiah's time, was fulfil'd in thoſe in Chriſt's time, and it is ſtill in the fulfilling every day; for while the wicked Heart of Man keeps up the ſame Sin, the righteous Hand of God inflicts the ſame Puniſhment. Here's,

1. A Deſcription of Sinners wilful Blindneſs and Hardneſs, which is their Sin. This Peoples heart is waxed groſs, 'tis fatned, ſo the word is; which notes both Senſuality and Senſeleſneſs Pſal. 119. 70. Secure under the Word and Rod of God, and ſcornful as Jeſhurun, that waxed fat and wicked, Deut. 32. 15. And when the Heart is thus heavy,no wonder that the Ears are dull of hearing; the Whiſpers of the Spirit they hear not at all, the loud Calls of the Word, tho' the Word be nigh them, they regard not, nor are at all affected with. They ſtop their Ears, Pſal. 58. 4, 5. And becauſe they are reſolv'd to be ignorant, they ſhut up both the learning Senſes, for their Eyes alſo they have cloſed; reſolv'd they would not ſee. Light came into the World when the Sun of Righteouſneſs aroſe, but they ſhut their Windows, becauſe they loved Darkneſs rather than Light, John 3. 19. 2 Pet. 3. 5.

2. A Deſcription of that judicial Blindneſs which is the juſt Puniſhment of this. By hearing ye ſhall hear, and ſhall not underſtand, i. e. what means of Grace you have ſhall be to no purpoſe to you; tho' in Mercy to others they are continued, yet in Judgment to you the Bleſſing upon them is deny'd. The ſaddeſt condition a Man can be in on this ſide Hell, is to ſit under the moſt lively Ordinances with a dead, ſtupid, untouch'd Heart. To hear God's Word, and ſee his Providences, and yet not to underſtand and perceive his Will, either in the one, or in the other,is the greateſt Sin, and the greateſt Judgment that can be. Obſerve, It is God's Work to give an underſtanding Heart, and he often in a way of righteous Judgment denies it to thoſe to whom he hath given the hearing Ear, and the ſeeing Eye in vain. Thus doth God chuſe Sinners Deluſions, Iſa. 66. 4. and binds them over to the greateſt Ruin, by giving them up to their own Hearts Luſts, Pſal. 81. 11, 12. Let them alone, Hoſ. 4. 17. My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive, Gen. 6. 3.

3. The woful Effect and Conſequence of this, leſt at any time they ſhould ſee. They will not ſee becauſe they will not turn; and God ſaith, they ſhall not ſee, becauſe they ſhall not turn, leſt they ſhould be converted, and I ſhould heal them.

Note, (1.) That Seeing, Hearing, and Underſtanding, are neceſſary to Converſion; for God in working-Grace deals with Men as Men, as rational Agents; he draws with Cords of a Man, changeth the Heart by opening the Eyes, and turns from the Power of Satan unto God, by turning firſt from Darkneſs to Light, Acts 26. 18. (2.) All thoſe that are truly converted to God, ſhall certainly be healed by him. If they be converted, I ſhall heal them, I ſhall ſave them; ſo that if Sinners periſh, 'tis not long of God, but of themſelves; they fooliſhly expected to be healed, without being converted. (3.) It is juſt with God to deny his Grace to thoſe that have long and oft refuſed the Propoſals of it, and reſiſted the Power of it. Pharaoh for a good while hardened his own Heart, Exod. 8. 15, 32. and afterwards God hardened it, Chap. 9. 12.—10. 20. Let us therefore fear, leſt by ſinning againſt the divine Grace we ſin it away.

2. Others were effectually called to be the Diſciples of Chriſt, and were truly deſirous to be taught of him, and they were inſtructed, and made to improve greatly in Knowledge by theſe Parables, eſpecially when they were expounded; and by them the things of God were made more plain and eaſy, more intelligible and familiar, and more apt to be remember'd, v. 16, 17. Your Eyes ſee, your Ears hear. They ſaw the Glory of God in Chriſt's Perſon, they heard the Mind of God in Chriſt's Doctrine; they ſaw much, and were deſirous to ſee more, and thereby were prepared to receive further Inſtruction; they had Opportunity for it, by being conſtant Attendants on Chriſt, and they ſhould have it from Day to Day, and Grace with it. Now this Chriſt ſpeaks of,

1. As a Bleſſing; Bleſſed are your Eyes, for they ſee, and your Ears, for they hear, i. e. it is your Happineſs, and it is a Happineſs, for which you are indebted to the peculiar Favour and Bleſſing of God; 'tis a promis'd Bleſſing, that in the Days of the Meſſiah the Eyes of them that ſee ſhall not be dim, Iſa. 32. 3. The Eyes of the meaneſt Believer that knows experimentally the Grace of Chriſt, are more bleſſed than thoſe of the greateſt Scholars, the greateſt Maſters in experimental Philoſophy, that are Strangers to God, who, like the other Gods they ſerve, have Eyes and ſee not. Bleſſed are your Eyes. Note, True Bleſſedneſs is entail'd upon the right Underſtanding and due Improvement of the Myſteries of the Kingdom of God. The hearing Ear and the ſeeing Eye are God's Work, in thoſe that are ſanctified, they are the Work of his Grace, Prov. 20. 12. and they are a bleſſed Work, which ſhall be fulfilled with Power, when thoſe that now ſee thro' a Glaſs darkly, ſhall ſee Face to Face. 'Twas to illuſtrate this Bleſſedneſs that Chriſt ſaid ſo much of the Miſery of thoſe that are left in Ignorance, they have Eyes and ſee not, but bleſſed are your Eyes. Note, The Knowledge of Chriſt is a diſtinguiſhing Favour to thoſe that have it, and upon that Account the more obliging; ſee John 14. 22. The Apoſtles were to teach others, and therefore were themſelves bleſt with the cleareſt Diſcoveries of divine Truth. The Watchmen ſhall ſee Eye to Eye, Iſa. 52. 8.

2. As a tranſcendent Bleſſing, deſired by, but not granted to many Prophets and righteous Men, v. 17. The Old-Teſtament Saints that had ſome Glimpſes, ſome Glimmerings of Goſpel-light, coveted earneſtly further Diſcoveries. They had the Types, Shadows, and Prophecies of theſe things, but long'd to ſee the Subſtance, that glorious End of theſe things which they could not ſtedfaſtly look unto, that glorious Inſide of thoſe things which they could not look into. They deſir'd to ſee the great Salvation, the Conſolation of Iſrael but did not ſee it, becauſe the Fulneſs of Time was not yet come. Note, (1.) Thoſe that know ſomething of Chriſt, cannot but covet to know more. (2.) The Diſcoveries of divine Grace are made, even to Prophets and righteous Men, but according to the Diſpenſation they are under. Tho' they were the Favourites of Heaven, with whom God's Secret was, yet they have not ſeen the things which they deſired to ſee, becauſe God had determined not to bring them to light yet, and his Favours ſhall not anticipate his Counſels; there was then, as there is ſtill, a Glory to be revealed, ſomething in reſerve, that they without us ſhould not be made perfect, Heb. 11. 49. (3.) For the exciting of our Thankfulneſs and the quickning of our Diligence, 'tis good for us to conſider what Means we enjoy, and what Diſcoveries are made to us now under the Goſpel, over what they had and enjoy'd that liv'd under the Old Teſtament Diſpenſation, eſpecially in the Revelation of the Atonement for Sin; ſee what are the Advantages of the New Teſtament above the Old, 2 Cor. 3. 7, &c. Heb. 12. 18. And ſee that our Improvements be proportionable to our Advantages.

Secondly, We have here in theſe Verſes one of the Parables which our Saviour put forth, 'tis that of the Sower, and the Seed; both the Parable itſelf, and the Reddition of it. Chriſt's Parables are borrow'd from common ordinary things, not from any philoſophical Notions or Speculations, or the unuſual Phænomena of Nature, tho' applicable enough to the Matter in hand, but from the moſt obvious things that are of every Day's Obſervation, and come within reach of the meaneſt Capacity; many of them are fetch'd from the Huſbandman's Calling, as this of the Sower, and that of the Tares. Chriſt choſe to do thus, (1.) that ſpiritual Things might hereby be made more plain, and by familiar Similitudes might be made the more eaſy to ſlide into our Underſtandings. (2.) That common Actions might hereby be ſpiritualiz'd, and we might take occaſion from thoſe things which fall ſo often under our View, to meditate with delight on the Things of God; and thus when our Hands are buſieſt about the World, we may not only, notwithſtanding that, but even with the help of that be led to have our Hearts in Heaven; thus the Word of God ſhall talk with us, talk familiarly with us, Prov. 6. 22.

The Parable of the Sower is plain enough, v. 3, 9. The Expoſition of it we have from Chriſt himſelf, who knew beſt what was his own Meaning. The Diſciples when they aſk'd, Why ſpeakeſt thou to them in Parables? v. 10. intimated a Deſire to have the Parable explain'd for the ſake of the People; nor was it any Diſparagement to their own Knowledge to deſire it for themſelves. Our Lord Jeſus kindly took the Hint, and gave the Senſe, and cauſed them to underſtand the Parable, directing his Diſcourſe to the Diſciples, but in the hearing of the Multitude, for he did not diſmiſs them till v. 36. Hear ye therefore the Parable of the Sower, v. 18. you have heard it, but let's go over it again. Note, 'Tis of good uſe, and would contribute much to our underſtanding of the Word, and profiting by it, to hear over again what we have heard, Phil. 3. 18. you have heard it, but hear the Interpretation of it. Note, Then only we hear the Word aright, and to good purpoſe when we underſtand what we hear; 'tis no hearing at all, if it be not with Underſtanding, Neh. 8. 2. 'Tis God's Grace indeed that gives the Underſtanding, but 'tis our Duty to give our Minds to underſtand.

Let us therefore compare the Parable and the Expoſition.

1. The Seed ſown is the Word of God, here call'd the Word of the Kingdom, v. 19. i. e. the Kingdom of Heaven, that's the Kingdom; the Kingdoms of the World compar'd with that, are not to be call'd Kingdoms. The Goſpel comes from that Kingdom, and Conducts to that Kingdom, the Word of the Goſpel is the Word of the Kingdom, 'tis the Word of the King, and where that is, there is Power; it is a Law, by which we muſt be rul'd and govern'd. This Word is the Seed ſown, which ſeems a dead dry thing, but all the Product is virtually in it. 'Tis incorruptible Seed, 1 Pet. 1. 23. 'Tis the Goſpel that brings forth Fruit in Souls, Col. 1. 5, 6.

2. The Sower that ſcatters this Seed is our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, either by himſelf, or by his Miniſters, ſee v. 37. People are God's Huſbandry, his Tillage, ſo the Word is; and Miniſters are Labourers, together with God, 1 Cor. 3. 9. Preaching to a Multitude, is Sowing the Corn, we know not where it muſt light; only ſee that it be good, that it be clean, and be ſure to give it Seed enough. The ſowing of the Word is the ſowing of a People for God's Field, the Corn of his Floor, Iſa. 21. 10.

3. The Ground in which this Seed is Sown, is the Hearts of the Children of Men, which are differently qualify'd and diſpos'd, and accordingly the Succeſs of the Word is different. Note, Man's Heart is like Soil capable of Improvement, of bearing good Fruit, 'tis pity it ſhould lye Fallow, or be like the Field of the Slothful, Prov. 24. 30. The Soul is the proper place for the Word of God to dwell, and work, and rule in; its Operation is upon Conſcience, 'tis to light that Candle of the Lord. Now according as we are, ſo the Word is to us. Recipitur ad modum recipientis. As 'tis with the Earth, ſome ſort of Ground, take never ſo much Pains with it, and throw never ſo good Seed into it, yet it brings forth no Fruit to any purpoſe, while the good Soil brings forth plentifully: So it is with the Hearts of Men, whoſe different Characters are here repreſented by four ſorts of Ground, of which three are bad, and but one good. Note, The Number of fruitleſs Hearers is very great, even of thoſe that heard Chriſt himſelf Preach. Who has believed our Report? Tis a melancholy Proſpect which this Parable gives us of the Congregations of thoſe that hear the Goſpel preach'd, that ſcarce one in four brings forth Fruit to Perfection. Many are called with the common Call, but in few is the eternal Choice evidenc'd by the Efficacy of that Call, Matt. 20. 16.

Now obſerve the Characters of theſe four ſorts of Ground.

1. The High way Ground, v. 4.--19. They had Path-ways through their Corn-fields, Matt. 12. 1. and the Seed that fell on them never enter'd, and ſo the Birds pick'd it up. The Place where Chriſt's Hearers now ſtood, repreſented the Characters of moſt of them, the Sand on the Sea-ſhore, which was to the Seed like the High-way Ground.

Obſerve, 1. What kind of Hearers are compar'd to the High-way Ground; ſuch as hear the Word, and underſtand it not, and it is their own fault that they do not. They take no heed to it, take no hold of it; they do not come with any deſign to get Good, as the High-way was never intended to be ſown. They come before God as his People come, and ſit before him as his People ſit; but 'tis meerly for Faſhion ſake, to ſee and to be ſeen, they mind not what is ſaid, it comes in at one Ear, and goes out at the other, and makes no Impreſſion.

2. How they come to be unprofitable Hearers. The wicked one, that is the Devil, cometh and catcheth away that which was ſown. Such mindleſs, careleſs, trifling Hearers are an eaſie Prey to Satan, who, as he is the great murtherer of Souls, ſo he is the great Thief of Sermons, and will be ſure to rob us of the Word, if we take not care to keep it; as the Birds pick up the Seed that falls on the Ground, that is neither Plough'd before, nor Harrow'd after. If we break not up the Fallow Ground by preparing our Hearts for the Word, and humbling them to it, and engaging our own Attention; And if we cover not the Seed afterwards by Meditation and Prayer, if we give not a more earneſt heed to the things which ye have heard, we are as the High-way Ground. Note, The Devil is a ſworn Enemy to our profiting by the Word of God, and none do more befriend his Deſign than heedleſs Hearers, who are thinking of ſomething elſe, when they ſhould be thinking of the things that belong to their Peace.

2. The ſtony Ground. Some fell upon ſtony Places, v. 6, 7. which repreſents the Caſe of Hearers that go further than the former, who receive ſome good impreſſions of the Word, but they are not laſting, v. 20, 21. Note, It is poſſible we may be a great deal better than ſome others, and yet not be ſo good as we ſhould be; may go beyond our Neighbours, and yet come ſhort of Heaven. Now obſerve concerning theſe Hearers that are repreſented by the ſtony Ground.

1. How far they went. (1.) They hear the Word; they turn neither their Backs upon it, nor a deaf Ear to it. Note, Hearing the Word, tho' never ſo frequently, never ſo gravely, if we reſt in that, will never bring us to Heaven. (2.) They are quick in hearing, ſwift to hear, he anon receiveth it, εὐθὺς, he is ready to receive it, forthwith it ſprung up, v. 5. it ſooner appear'd above Ground than that which was ſown in the good Soil. Note, Hypocrites often get the ſtart of true Chriſtians in the Shews of Profeſſion, and are often too hot to hold. He receiveth it ſtraitway, without trying it; ſwallows it without chewing, and then there can never be a good Digeſtion. Thoſe are moſt likely to hold faſt that which is good that prove all things, 1 Theſ. 5. 21. (3.) They receive it with joy. Note, There are many that are very glad to hear a good Sermon, that yet do not profit by it; may be pleas'd with the Word, and yet not chang'd and rul'd by it; The Heart may melt under the Word, and yet not be melted down by the Word, much leſs into it, as into a Mold. Many taſte the good Word of God, Heb. 6. 5. and ſay they find ſweetneſs in it, but ſome beloved Luſt is roll'd under the Tongue, which it would not agree with, and ſo they ſpit it out again. (4.) They endure for a while, like a violent Motion which continues as long as the Impreſſion of the Force remains, but ceaſeth when that hath ſpent it ſelf. Note, Many endure for a while, that do not endure to the end, and ſo come ſhort of the Happineſs which is promis'd to them only that perſevere, Mat. 10. 22. they did run well, but ſomething hinder'd them, Gal. 5. 7.

2. How they fell away, ſo that no Fruit was brought to perfection, no more than the Corn that having no depth of Earth, from which to draw Moiſture, is ſcorch'd and wither'd by the Heat of the Sun. And the Reaſon is,

1. They have no Root in themſelves, no ſettled fixed Principles in their Judgments. No firm Reſolution in their Wills, nor any rooted Habits in their Affections; nothing firm that will be either the Sap or the Strength of their Profeſſion. Note, (1.) 'Tis poſſible there may be the green Blade of a Profeſſion, where yet there is not the Root of Grace; Hardneſs prevails in the Heart, and what there is of Soil and Softneſs is only in the Surface, inwardly they are no more affected than a Stone; they have no Root, i. e, They are not by Faith united to Chriſt who is our Root, they derive not from him, they depend not on him. (2.) Where there is not a Principle, tho' there be a Profeſſion, we cannot expect Perſeverance. Thoſe that have no Root will endure but a while. A Ship without Ballaſt, tho' ſhe may at firſt out-ſail the laden Veſſel, yet will certainly fail in Streſs of Weather, and will never make her Port.

2. Times of Tryal come, and then they come to nothing. When Tribulation and Perſecution ariſe becauſe of the Word, he is offended; 'tis a Stumbling-block in his way which he cannot get over, and ſo he flies off, and this is all that his Profeſſion comes to. Note, 1. After a fair Gale of Opportunity uſually follows a Storm of Perſecution, to try who hath received the Word in Sincerity, and who have not. When the Word of Chriſt's Kingdom comes to be the Word of Chriſt's Patience, Rev. 3. 10. then is the Tryal who keeps it, and who doth not, Rev. 1. 3. It's Wiſdom to prepare for ſuch a Day. (2.) When trying Times come, thoſe that have no Root are ſoon offended; they firſt quarrel with their Profeſſion, and then quit it; firſt find fault with it, and then throw it off. Hence we read of the Offence of the Croſs, Gal. 5. 11. Obſerve, the Perſecution is repreſented in the Parable by the ſcorching Sun, v. 6. The ſame Sun which warms and cheriſhes that which was well rooted, withers and burns up that which wanted Root. As the Word of Chriſt, ſo the Croſs of Chriſt is to ſome a Savour of Life unto Life, to others a Savour of Death unto Death. The ſame Tribulation which drives ſome to Apoſtacy and Ruin, works for others a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory. Tryals which ſhake ſome, confirms others, Phil. 1. 12. Obſerve, how ſoon they fall away, by and by, as ſoon rotten as they were ripe; a Profeſſion taken up without Conſideration is commonly let fall without it. Light come, light go.

3. The Thorny Ground. Some fell among Thorns, which are a good Guard to the Corn when they are in the Hedge, but a bad Inmate when they are in the Field, and the Thorns ſprung up; which intimates, that they did not appear, or but little, when the Corn was ſown, but afterwards they prov'd choaking to it, v. 7. This went further than the former, for it had Root; and it repreſents the Condition of thoſe that do not quite caſt off their Profeſſion, and yet come ſhort of any ſaving Benefit by it; the Good they gain by the Word being inſenſibly overcome, and over-born by the things of this World. Proſperity deſtroys the Word in the Heart as much as perſecution doth, and more dangerouſly, becauſe more ſilently. The Stones ſpoil'd the Root, the Thorns ſpoil the Fruit.

Now what are theſe choking Thorns?

1. The Cares of this World. Care for another World would quicken the ſpringing of this Seed, but Care for this World choaks it. Worldly Cares are fitly compar'd to Thorns, for they came in with Sin, and are a Fruit of the Curſe; they are good in their place to ſtop a Gap, but a Man muſt be well arm'd that deals to much in them, 2 Sam. 23. 6, 7. they are entangling, vexing, ſcratching, and their end is to be burn'd, Heb. 6. 8. Theſe Thorns choke the good Seed. Note, Worldly Cares are great Hindrances to our profiting by the Word of God, and our Proficiency in Religion. They eat up that Vigour of Soul which ſhould be ſpent in divine Things, divert us from Duty, diſtract us in Duty, and do us moſt miſchief of all afterwards; quenching the Sparks of good Affections, and burſting the Cords of good Reſolutions. Thoſe that are careful and cumber'd about many things, commonly neglect the one thing needful.

2. The Deceitfulneſs of Riches. Thoſe that by their Care and Induſtry have rais'd Eſtates, and ſo the Danger that ariſeth from Care ſeems to be over, and they continue Hearers of the Word, yet are ſtill in a Snare, Jer. 5. 4, 5. 'Tis hard for them to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven; they are apt to promiſe themſelves that in Riches that is not in them, to rely upon them, and to take an inordinate Complacency in them, and this choaks the Word as much as Care did. Obſerve, It is not ſo much Riches as the Deceitfulneſs of Riches that doth the Miſchief: Now they cannot be ſaid to be deceitful to us, unleſs we put our Confidence in them, and raiſe our Expectations from them, and then it is that they choke the good Seed.

4. The good Ground, v. 18. Other fell into good Ground, and it is pity but that good Seed ſhould always meet with good Soil, and then there's no Loſs; ſuch are good Hearers of the Word, v. 23. Note, Tho' there are many that receive the Grace of God, and the Word of his Grace in vain, yet God hath a Remnant, by whom it is received to good purpoſe; for God's Word ſhall not return empty, Iſa. 55. 10, 11.

Now that which differenc'd this good Ground from the reſt, was in one word Fruitfulneſs. By this true Chriſtians are diſtinguiſh'd from Hypocrites, that they bring forth the Fruits of Righteouſneſs, ſo ſhall ye be my Diſciples, John 15. 8. He doth not ſay that this good Ground has no ſtones in it, or no Thorns, but there were none that prevailed to hinder its Fruitfulneſs. Saints in this World are not perfectly free from the Remains of Sin, but happily freed from the Reign of it.

The Hearers repreſented by the good Ground are,

1. Intelligent Hearers. They hear the Word, and underſtand it. They underſtand, not only the Senſe and meaning of the Words, but their own Concern in them, they underſtand it, as a Man of Buſineſs underſtands his Buſineſs. God in his Word deals with Men as Men, in a rational way, and gains Poſſeſſion of the Will and Affections, by opening the Underſtanding; whereas Satan, who is a Thief and a Robber, comes not in by that Door, but climbeth up another way.

2. Fruitful Hearers, which is an Evidence of their good Underſtanding, which alſo beareth Fruit. Fruit is to every Seed its own Body, a ſubſtantial Product, in the Heart and Life agreeable to the Seed of the Word received. We then bear Fruit when we practiſe according to the Word; when the Temper of our Minds, and the Tenor of our Lives are conformable to the Goſpel we have received, and we do as we are taught.

3. Not all alike fruitful; ſome a hundred fold, ſome ſixty, ſome thirty. Note, Among fruitful Chriſtians ſome are more fruitful than others. Where there is true Grace, yet there are degrees of it; ſome are of greater Attainments in Knowledge and Holineſs than others; all Chriſt's Scholars are not in the ſame Form. We ſhould aim at the higheſt degree, to bring forth an hundred fold, as Iſaac's Ground did, Gen. 26. 12. abounding in the Work of the Lord, John 15. 8. But if the Ground be good, and the Fruit right, the Heart Honeſt, and the Life of a piece with it, thoſe that bring forth but thirty fold ſhall be graciouſly accepted of God, and it will be Fruit abounding to their Account, for we are under Grace, and not under the Law.

Laſtly, He cloſeth the Parable with a ſolemn Call to Attention, v. 9. Who hath Ears to hear, let him hear. Note, The Senſe of Hearing cannot be better employ'd than in hearing the Word of God. Some are for hearing ſweet Melody, their Ears are only the Daughters of Muſick, Eccl. 12. 4. There's no Melody like that of the Word of God, others are for hearing new things, Acts 7. 21. no News like that.

24 Another parable put he forth unto them, ſaying,
The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which ſowed good ſeed in his field: 25 But while men ſlept, his enemy came and ſowed tares among the wheat, and went his way. 26 But when the blade was ſprung up, and brought forth fruit: then appeared the tares alſo. 27 So the ſervants of the houſholder came and ſaid unto him, Sir, didſt not thou ſow good ſeed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares? 28 He ſaid unto them, An enemy hath done this. The ſervants ſaid unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? 29 But he ſaid, Nay, leſt while ye gather up the tares, ye root up alſo the wheat with them. 30 Let both grow together until the harveſt: and in the time of harveſt I will ſay to the reapers, Gather ye together firſt the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn. 31 Another parable put he forth unto them, ſaying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of muſtard-ſeed which a man took and ſowed in his field. 32 Which indeed is the leaſt of all ſeeds: but when it is grown, it is the greateſt among herbs, and becometh a tree: ſo that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof. 33 Another parable ſpake he unto them, the kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took and hid in three meaſures of meal, till the whole was leavened. 34 All theſe things ſpake Jeſus unto the multitude in parables, and without a parable ſpake he not unto them: 35 That it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the prophet, ſaying, I will open my mouth in parables, I will utter things which have been kept ſecret from the foundation of the world. 36 Then Jeſus ſent the multitude away, and went into the houſe: and his Diſciples came unto him, ſaying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field. 37 He anſwered and ſaid unto them, he that ſoweth the good ſeed, is the Son of Man: 38 The field is the World: the good ſeed are the children of the kingdom: but the tares are the children of the wicked one: 39 The enemy that ſowed them is the devil: the harveſt is the end of the world: and the reapers are the angels. 40 As therefore the Tares are gathered and burnt in the fire; ſo ſhall it be in the end of this World. 41 The Son of man ſhall ſend forth his angels, and they ſhall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity: 42 And ſhall caſt them into a furnace of fire; there ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of teeth. 43 Then ſhall the righteous ſhine forth as the ſun, in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

In theſe Verſes we have,

1. Another Reaſon given why Chriſt preach'd by Parables, v. 34, 35. All theſe things he ſpoke in Parables, becauſe the Time was not yet come for the more clear and plain Diſcoveries of the Myſteries of the Kingdom. Chriſt to keep the People attending and expecting, preach'd in Parables, and without a Parable ſpake he not unto them, viz. at this Time, and in this Sermon. Note, Chriſt tries all ways and Methods to do good to the Souls of Men, and to make Impreſſions upon them; if Men will not be inſtructed and influenc'd by plain Preaching, he will try them with Parables. And the Reaſon here given is, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd. The Paſſage here quoted for it, is part of the Preface to that hiſtorical Pſalm, Pſal. 78. 2. I will open my Mouth in a Parable. What the Pſalmiſt David, or Aſaph ſaith here of his Narrative, is accommodated to Chriſt's Sermons, and that great Precedent would ſerve to vindicate this way of Preaching from the Offence which ſome took at it. Here's (1.) the Matter of Chriſt's Preaching; he preach'd things which had been kept ſecret from the Foundation of the World. The Myſtery of the Goſpel had been hid in God, i. e. in his Counſels and Decrees from the beginning of the World, Eph. 3. 9. Compare Rom. 16. 25. 1 Cor. 2. 7. Col. 1. 26. If we delight in the Records of ancient things, and in the Revelation of ſecret things, how welcome ſhould the Goſpel be to us which hath in it ſuch Antiquity, and ſuch Myſtery. It was from the Foundation of the World, wrapt up in Types and Shadows, which are now done away, and thoſe ſecret things are now become ſuch things reveal'd as belong to us, and to our Children, Deut. 29. 29. (2.) The manner of Chriſt's Preaching; he Preach'd by Parables, wiſe Sayings, but figurative, and which help to engage Attention, and a diligent Search. Solomon's Sententious Dictates, which are full of Similitudes, are call'd Proverbs, or Parables, 'tis the ſame word; but in this, as in other things, Behold a greater than Solomon is here, in whom are hid Treaſures of Wiſdom.

2. The Parable of the Tares, and the Expoſition of it; they muſt be taken together, for the Expoſition explains the Parable, and the Parable illuſtrates the Expoſition.

Obſerve, 1. The Diſciples Requeſt to their Maſter to have this Parable expounded to them, v. 36. Jeſus ſent the Multitude away, and 'tis to be fear'd many of them went away no wiſer than they came, they had heard a ſound of Words, and that was all. 'Tis ſad to think how many go away from Sermons with the Word of Grace in their Ears, but not the Work of Grace in their Hearts. Chriſt went into the Houſe, not ſo much for his own Repoſe, as for particular Converſe with his Diſciples, whoſe Inſtruction he chiefly intended in all his Preaching. He was ready to do good in all Places; the Diſciples laid hold on the Opportunity, and they came to him. Note, Thoſe that would be wiſe for every thing elſe, muſt be wiſe to diſcern and improve their Opportunities, eſpecially of Converſe with Chriſt, of Converſe with him alone, in ſecret Meditation and Prayer. It is very good when we return from the ſolemn Aſſembly, to talk over what we have heard there, and by familiar Diſcourſe to help one another to underſtand and remember it, and to be affected with it; for we loſe the Benefit of many a Sermon by vain and unprofitable Diſcourſe after it. See Luke 24. 32. Deut. 6. 6, 7. It is eſpecially good, if it may be to aſk of the Miniſters of the Word the meaning of the Word, for their Lips ſhould keep Knowledge. Mal. 2. 7. private Conference would contribute much to our profiting by publick Preaching. Nathan's Thou art the Man, was it that touch'd David to the Heart.

The Diſciples Requeſt to their Maſter, was, Declare unto us the Parable of the Tares. This implied an Acknowledgment of their Ignorance; which they were not aſhamed to make. 'Tis probable they did apprehend the general Scope of the Parable, but they deſired to underſtand it more particularly, and to be aſſur'd that they took it right. Note, Thoſe are rightly diſpos'd for Chriſt's teaching, that are ſenſible of their Ignorance, and ſincerely deſirous to be taught. He will teach the Humble, Pſal. 25. 8, 9. but will for this be enquir'd of. If any Man lack Inſtruction, let him aſk it of God. Chriſt had expounded the foregoing Parable unaſk'd, but for the Expoſition of this they aſk him. Note, The Mercies we have received muſt be improv'd, both for Direction what to pray for, and for our Encouragement in Prayer. The firſt Light and the firſt Grace are given in a preventing Way, further Degrees of both which muſt be daily pray'd for.

2. The Expoſition Chriſt gave of the Parable, in Anſwer to their Requeſt; ſo ready is Chriſt to anſwer ſuch Deſires of his Diſciples. Now the Drift of the Parable is, to repreſent to us the preſent and future State of the Kingdom of Heaven, the Goſpel Church, Chriſt's Care of it, the Devils Enmity againſt it, the Mixture that there is in it of good and bad in the World, and the Separation between them in the other World. Note, The viſible Church is the Kingdom of Heaven; tho' there be many Hypocrites in it, Chriſt rules in it as a King, and there is a Remnant in it, that are the Subjects and Heirs of Heaven, from whom as the better part it is denominated. The Church is the Kingdom of Heaven upon Earth.

Let us go over the Particulars of the Reddition of the Parable.

Firſt, He that ſows the Good Seed is the Son of Man. Jeſus Chriſt is the Lord of the Field, the Lord of the Harveſt, the Sower of good Seed: When he aſcended on high, he gave Gifts to the World, not only good Miniſters, but other good Men. Note, Whatever good Seed there is in the World, it all comes from the Hand of Chriſt, and is of his ſowing. Truths preach'd, Graces planted, Souls ſanctified are good Seed, and all owing to Chriſt. Miniſters are Inſtruments in Chriſt's Hand to ſow good Seed, are employ'd by him and under him, and the Succeſs of their Labours depends purely upon his Bleſſing; ſo that it may well be ſaid, 'tis Chriſt and no other, that ſows the good Seed; he is the Son of Man, one of us, that his Terror might not make us afraid: the Son of Man, i. e. the Mediator and that has Authority.

Secondly, The Field is the World; the World of Mankind, a large Field, capable of bringing forth good Fruit, the more it is to be lamented, that it brings forth ſo much bad Fruit. The World here is the viſible Church, ſcattered all the World over, not confin'd to one Nation. Obſerve, In the Parable 'tis call'd his Field; the World is Chriſt's Field, for all things are deliver'd unto him of the Father. Whatever Power and Intereſt the Devil has in the World, 'tis uſurped and unjuſt; when Chriſt comes to take Poſſeſſion, he comes whoſe Right it is; 'tis his Field; and becauſe 'tis his, he took Care to ſow it with good Seed.

Thirdly, The good Seed are the Children of the Kingdom, i. e. true Saints. They are (1.) The Children of the Kingdom, not in Profeſſion only, as the Jews were, Mat. 8. 12. but in Sincerity, Jews inwardly, Iſraelites indeed, incorporated in Faith and Obedience to Jeſus Chriſt, the great King of the Church. (2.) They are the good Seed, precious as Seed, (Pſal. 126. 6.) The Seed is the Subſtance of the Field, ſo the Holy Seed, Iſa. 6. 13. The Seed is ſcatter'd, ſo are the Saints, diſpers'd, here one, and there another, tho' in ſome Places thicker ſown than in others. The Seed is that from which Fruit is expected, what Fruit of Honour and Service God has from this World, he has it from the Saints; whom he hath ſow'd unto himſelf in the Earth, Hoſ. 2. 23.

Fourthly, The Tares are the Children of the wicked One. Here's the Character of Sinners, Hypocrites, and all prophane and wicked People. (1.) They are the Children of the Devil, as a wicked One. Though they do not own his Name, yet they bear his Image, do his Luſts, and from him they have their Education; he rules over them, he works in them, Eph. 2. 2. Joh. 8. 44. (2.) They are Tares in the Field of this World. They do no good, they do good; unprofitable in themſelves, and hurtful to the good Seed, both by Temptation and Perſecution. They are Weeds in the Garden, have the ſame Rain and Sunſhine, and Soil with the good Plants, but are good for nothing. The Tares are among the Wheat. Note, God hath ſo order'd it, that Good and Bad ſhould be mix'd together in this World, that the Good may be exercis'd, the bad left inexcuſable, and a Difference made between Earth and Heaven.

Fifthly, The Enemy that ſow'd the Tares, is the Devil, a ſworn Enemy to Chriſt and all that's good, to the Glory of the good God, and the Comfort and Happineſs of all good Men. He is an Enemy to the Field of the World, which he endeavours to make his own, by ſowing his Tares in it. Ever ſince he became a wicked Spirit himſelf, he has been induſtrious to promote Wickedneſs, and has made it his Buſineſs, and therein to counter-work Chriſt.

Now concerning the ſowing of the Tares, obſerve in the Parable,

1. That they were ſown while Men ſlept. Magiſtrates ſlept, that by their Power, Miniſters ſlept, that by their Preaching ſhould have prevented this Miſchief. Note, Satan watcheth all Opportunities, and lays hold on all Advantages to propagate Vice and Profaneneſs. The Prejudice he doth to particular Perſons is, when Reaſon and Conſcience ſleep, when they are off their Guard; we have therefore need to be ſober and vigilant; 'twas in the Night, for that's the ſleeping-time. Note, Satan rules in the Darkneſs of this World, that gives him an Opportunity to ſow Tares, Pſal. 104. 20. It was while Men ſlept, and there's no Remedy, but Men muſt have ſome ſleeping-time. Note, It is as impoſſible for us to prevent Hypocrites being in the Church, as it is for the Husbandman when he is aſleep to hinder an Enemy from ſpoiling his Field.

2. The Enemy, when he had ſown the Tares, went his way, v. 25. that it might not be known who did it. Note, When Satan is doing the greateſt Miſchief he ſtudies moſt to conceal himſelf, for his Deſign is in danger of being ſpoil'd if he be ſeen in it; and therefore when he comes to ſow Tares he transforms himſelf into an Angel of Light, 2 Cor. 11. 13, 14. he went his way, as if he had done no harm; ſuch is the way of the adulterous Woman, Prov. 30. 20. Obſerve, Such is the Proneneſs of fallen Man to ſin, that if the Enemy ſow the Tares, he may e'en go his way, they will ſpring up of themſelves and do hurt; whereas when good Seed is ſown, it muſt be tended, watered and fenced, or 'twill come to nothing.

3. The Tares appeared not, till the Blade ſprung up, and brought forth Fruit, v. 26. There is a great deal of ſecret Wickedneſs in the Hearts of Men, which is long hid under the Cloke of a plauſible Profeſſion, but breaks out at laſt. As the good Seed, ſo the Tares lie a great while under the Clods, and at firſt ſpringing up 'tis hard to diſtinguiſh them; but when a trying time comes, when Fruit is to be brought forth, when Good is to be done that has Difficulty and Hazard attending it, then you'll return and diſcern between the Sincere and the Hypocrite, then you may ſay, this is Wheat, and that is Tares.

4. The Servants when they were aware of it, complain'd to their Maſter, v. 27. Sir, didſt not thou ſow good Seed in thy Field? No doubt he did; whatever is amiſs in the Church, we are ſure it is not long of Chriſt. Conſidering the Seed which Chriſt ſows, we may well ask with Wonder, whence ſhould theſe Tares come? Note, The Riſe of Errors, the Breaking out of Scandals, and the Growth of Profaneneſs, are Matter of great Grief to all the Servants of Chriſt, eſpecially to his faithful Miniſters, who are directed to complain of it to him, whoſe the Field is. 'Tis ſad to ſee ſuch Tares, ſuch Weeds in the Garden of the Lord, to ſee the good Soil waſted, the good Seed choked, and ſuch a Reflection caſt on the Name and Honour of Chriſt, as if his Field were no better than the Field of the Slothful, all grown over with Thorns.

5. The Maſter was ſoon aware whence it was, v. 28. An Enemy has done this. He doth not lay the Blame upon the Servants, they could not help it, had done what was in their Power to prevent it. Note, The Miniſters of Chriſt, that are faithful and diligent, ſhall not be judged of Chriſt, and therefore ſhould not be reproached by Men, for the Mixture of bad with good, Hypocrites with the Sincere, in the Field of the Church. It muſt needs be that ſuch Offences will come, and they ſhall not be laid to our Charge, if we do our Duty, tho' it have not the deſired Succeſs. Tho' they ſleep, if they do not love Sleep, tho' Tares be ſown, if they do not ſow them, nor water them, nor allow of them, the Blame ſhall not lie at their Door.

6. The Servants were very forward to have theſe Tares rooted up. Wilt thou that we go and do it preſently. Note, The over-haſty and inconſiderate Zeal of Chriſt's Servants before they have conſulted with their Maſter, is ſometimes ready with the Hazard of the Church, to root out all that they preſume to be Tares. Lord, wilt thou that we call for Fire from Heaven?

7. The Maſter very wiſely prevented this, v. 29. Nay, leſt while ye gather up the Tares, ye root up alſo the Wheat with them. Note, It is not poſſible for any Man infallibly to diſtinguiſh between Tares and Wheat, but he may be miſtaken; and therefore ſuch is the Wiſdom and Grace of Chriſt, that he will rather permit the Tares, than any way indanger the Wheat. 'Tis certain ſcandalous Offenders are to be cenſur'd, and we are to withdraw from them; thoſe that are openly the Children of the wicked One, are not to be admitted to ſpecial Ordinances; yet 'tis poſſible there may be a Diſcipline, either ſo miſtaken in its Rules, or ſo over nice in the Application of them, as may prove vexatious to many that are truly godly and conſcientious. Great Caution and Moderation muſt be uſed in inflicting and continuing Church-Cenſures, leſt the Wheat be trodden down, if not plucked up. The Wiſdom from above, as it is pure, ſo it is peaceable, and thoſe that oppoſe themſelves muſt not be cut off, but inſtructed, and with Meekneſs, 2 Tim. 2. 25. The Tares, if continued under the Means of Grace, may become good Corn, therefore have Patience with them.

Sixthly, The Harveſt is the End of the World, v. 39. This World will have an End; tho' it continue long, it will not continue always; Time will ſhortly be ſwallow'd up in Eternity. At the End of the World there will be a great Harveſt-day, a Day of Judgment; at Harveſt all is ripe, and ready to be cut down, both good and bad are ripe at the great Day, Rev. 6. 11. 'Tis the Harveſt of the Earth, Rev. 14. 15. At Harveſt the Reapers cut down all before them, not a Field, not a Corner left behind; ſo at the great Day all muſt be judged, Rev. 20. 12, 13. God hath ſet a Harveſt, Hoſ. 6. 11. and it ſhall not fail, Gen. 8. 22. At Harveſt every Man reaps as he ſow'd, every Man's Ground, and Seed, and Skill, and Induſtry, will be manifeſted; ſee Gal. 6. 7, 8. Then they who ſow'd precious Seed will come again with Rejoycing, Pſal. 126. 5, 6. with the Joy of Harveſt, Iſa. 9. 3. when the Sluggard, who would not plough by reaſon of Cold, ſhall beg and have nothing, Prov. 20. 4. ſhall cry, Lord, Lord, but in vain; when the Harveſt of thoſe that ſow'd to the Fleſh ſhall be a Day of Grief and deſperate Sorrow, Iſa. 17. 11.

Seventhly, The Reapers are the Angels, they ſhall be employ'd in the great Day in executing Chriſt's righteous Sentences, both of Approbation and Condemnation, as Miniſters of his Juſtice, Mat. 25. 31. The Angels are ſkilful, ſtrong and ſwift, obedient Servants to Chriſt, holy Enemies to the Wicked, and faithful Friends to all the Saints, and therefore fit to be thus employ'd. He that reapeth receiveth Wages, and the Angels will not be unpaid for their Attendance; for he that ſoweth and he that reapeth ſhall rejoice together, John 4. 36. That's Joy in Heaven in the Preſence of the Angels of God.

Eighthly, Hell Torments are the Fire into which the Tares ſhall then be caſt, and in which they ſhall be burn'd; at the great Day a Diſtinction will be made, and with it a vaſt Difference; 'twill be a notable Day indeed.

1. The Tares will then be gathered out. The Reapers (whoſe primary Work it is to gather in the Corn) ſhall be charg'd firſt to gather out the Tares. Note, Tho' Good and Bad are together in this World undiſtinguiſh'd, yet at the great Day they ſhall be parted. No Tares ſhall then be among the Wheat. No Sinners among the Saints. Then you ſhall plainly diſcern between the Righteous and the Wicked, which here ſometimes 'tis hard to do, Mal. 3. ult.—4. 1. Chriſt will not bear always, Pſal. 50. 1, &c. They ſhall gather out of his Kingdom all wicked things that offend, and all wicked Perſons that do Iniquity; when he begins he will make a full End. All thoſe corrupt Doctrines, Worſhips and Practices which have offended, have been Scandals to the Church, and Stumbling-blocks to Mens Conſciences, ſhall be condemned by the righteous Judge in that Day, and conſum'd by the Brightneſs of his coming; all the Wood, Hay and Stubble, 1 Cor. 3. 12. and then wo to them that do Iniquity, that make a Trade of it, and perſiſt in it; not only thoſe in the laſt Age of Chriſt's Kingdom upon Earth, but thoſe in every Age. Perhaps here is an Alluſion to Zeph. 1. 3. I will conſume the Stumbling-blocks with the Wicked.

2. They will then be bound in Bundles, v. 30. Sinners of the ſame ſort will be bundled together in the great Day. A Bundle of Atheiſts, a Bundle of Epicures, a Bundle of Perſecutors, and a great Bundle of Hypocrites. Thoſe that have been Aſſociates in Sin, will be ſo in Shame and Sorrow, and it will be an Aggravation of their Miſery, as the Society of glorified Saints will add to their Bliſs. Let us pray as David, Lord, gather not my Soul with Sinners, Pſal. 26. 9. but let it be bound in the Bundle of Life, with the Lord our God, 1 Sam. 25. 29.

3. They will be caſt into a Furnace of Fire; ſuch will be the End of wicked miſchievous People that are in the Church, as Tares in the Field; they are fit for nothing but Fire, to it they ſhall go, it is the fitteſt Place for them. Note, Hell is a Furnace of Fire, kindled by the Wrath of God, and kept burning by the Bundles of Tares caſt into it, who will be ever in the conſuming, but never conſumed. But he ſlides out of the Metaphor into a Deſcription of thoſe Torments that are deſign'd to be ſet forth by it, there ſhall be Weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth. Comfortleſs Sorrow and an incurable Indignation at God, themſelves, and one another, will be the endleſs Torture of damned Souls. Let us therefore knowing theſe Terrors of the Lord be perſuaded not to do Iniquity.

Ninthly, Heaven is the Barn into which all God's Wheat ſhall be gathered in that Harveſt-day. But gather the Wheat into my Barn. So 'tis in the Parable, v. 30. Note, (1.) In the Field of this World, good People are the Wheat, the moſt precious Grain, and the valuable Part of the Field. (2.) This Wheat ſhall ſhortly be gather'd, gather'd from among the Tares and Weeds, all gather'd together in a general Aſſembly, all the Old Teſtament Saints, all the New Teſtament Saints, not one miſſing: Gather my Saints together to me, Pſal. 50. 5. (3.) All God's Wheat ſhall be lodg'd together in God's Barn. Particular Souls are hous'd at Death as a Shock of Corn, Job 5. 26. But the general Ingathering will be at the End of Time. God's Wheat will then be put together, and no longer ſcattered, there will be Sheaves of Corn as well as Bundles of Tares. They will then be ſecured, and no longer expoſed to Wind and Weather, Sin and Sorrow, no longer afar off, and at a diſtance in the Field, but near in the Barn; nay, Heaven is a Garner, Matt. 3. 12. in which the Wheat will not only be ſeparated from the Tares of ill Companions, but ſifted from the Chaff of their own Corruptions.

In the Reddition of the Parable this is glorioſly repreſented, v. 43. Then ſhall the Righteous ſhine forth as the Sun in the Kingdom of their Father. (1.) It is their preſent Honour that God is their Father. Now are we the Sons of God, 1 John 3. 2. Our Father in Heaven is King there. Chriſt when he went to Heaven went to his Father, and our Father, John 20. 17. 'Tis our Father's Houſe, nay, 'tis our Father's Palace, his Throne, Rev. 3. 21. (2.) The Honour in reſerve for them is, that they ſhall ſhine forth as the Sun in that Kingdom. Here they are obſcure, and hidden, Col. 3. 3. their Beauty is eclips'd by their Poverty, and the Meanneſs of their outward Condition; their own Weakneſs and Infirmities, and the Reproach and Diſgrace caſt upon them, cloud them. But then they ſhall ſhine forth as the Sun from behind a dark Cloud, at Death they ſhall ſhine forth to themſelves, at the great Day they will ſhine forth publickly, before all the World, their Bodies will be made like Chriſt's glorious Body, they ſhall ſhine by Reflection, with a Light borrow'd from the Fountain of Light. Their Sanctification will be perfected, and their Juſtification publiſhed; God will own them for his Children, and will produce the Record of all their Services and Sufferings for his Name. They ſhall ſhine as the Sun, the moſt glorious of all viſible Beings. The Glory of the Saints is in the Old Teſtament compar'd to that of the Firmament and the Stars, but here to that of the Sun; for Life and Immortality are brought to a much clearer Light, by the Goſpel than under the Law. Thoſe that ſhine as Lights in this World, that God may be glorified, ſhall ſhine as the Sun in the other World, that they may be glorified. Our Saviour concludes as before with a Demand of Attention, Who hath Ears to hear, let him hear. Theſe are things which 'tis our Happineſs to hear of, and our Duty to hearken to.

3. Here's the Parable of the Grain of Muſtard Seed, v. 31, 32. The Scope of this Parable is to ſhew, that the Beginings of the Goſpel would be ſmall, but its latter End would greatly increaſe. In this way the Goſpel Church, the Kingdom of God among us would be ſet up in the World; in this way the Work of Grace in the Heart, the Kingdom of God within us, would be carried on in particular Perſons.

Now concerning the Work of the Goſpel, obſerve,

(1.) That it's commonly very weak and ſmall at firſt. Like a Grain of Muſtard Seed, which is one of the leaſt of all Seeds, the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which was now in the ſetting up made but a ſmall Figure; Chriſt and the Apoſtles, compar'd with the Grandees of the World, appear'd like a Grain of Muſtard Seed, the weak things of the World. In particular Places the firſt breaking out of the Goſpel Light is but as the Dawning of the Day, and in particular Souls, 'tis at firſt the Day of ſmall things, like a bruiſed Reed. Young Converts are like Lambs that muſt be carried in Arms, Iſa. 40. 11. There's a little Faith, but there's much lacking in it, 1 Theſ. 3. 10. and the groanings ſuch as cannot be uttered, they are ſo ſmall. A Principle of ſpiritual Life, and ſome Motion, but ſcarce diſcernable.

(2.) That yet it is growing and coming on. Chriſt's Kingdom ſtrangely got ground, great Acceſſions were made to it; Nations were born at once in ſpite of all the Oppoſition it met with from Hell and Earth. In the Soul where Grace is true, it will grow, really, though perhaps inſenſibly. A Grain of Muſtard Seed is ſmall, but however it is Seed, and has in it a Diſpoſition to grow. Grace will be getting ground, ſhining more and more, Prov. 4. 18. Gracious Habits confirm'd, Actings quicken'd, and Knowledge more clear, Faith more confirm'd, Love more inflam'd. Here's the Seed growing.

(3.) That it will at laſt come to a great Degree of Strength and Uſefulneſs, when it is grown to ſome Maturity, it becomes a Tree, much larger in thoſe Countries than in ours. The Church, like the Vine brought out of Egypt, has taken root, and filled the Earth, Pſal. 80. 9, 10, 11. The Church is like a great Tree, in which the Fowls of the Air do lodge; God's People have Recourſe to it for Food and Reſt, Shade and Shelter. In particular Perſons the Principle of Grace, if true, will perſevere, and be perfected at laſt. Growing Grace will be ſtrong Grace, and will bring much to paſs. Grown Chriſtians muſt covet to be uſeful to others, as the Muſtard Seed when grown is to the Birds, that thoſe that dwell near or under their Shadow, may be the better for them, Hoſ. 14. 7.

4. Here's the Parable of the Leaven, v. 33. The Scope of this is much the ſame with that of the foregoing Parable; to ſhew, that the Goſpel ſhould prevail and be ſucceſsful by Degrees, but ſilently and inſenſibly. The Preaching of the Goſpel is like Leaven, and works like Leaven in the Hearts of thoſe that do receive it.

1. A Woman took this Leaven; it was her Work. Miniſters are employ'd in leavening Places, in leavening Souls with the Goſpel. The Woman is the weaker Veſſel, and we have this Treaſure in ſuch Veſſels.

2. The Leaven was hid in three Meaſures of Meal. The Heart is as the Meal, ſoft and pliable. 'Tis the tender Heart that is likely to profit by the Word. Leaven among Corn unground doth not work, nor doth the Goſpel in Souls unhumbled, and unbroken for Sin. The Law grinds the Heart, and then the Goſpel leavens it. 'Tis three Meaſures of Meal, i. e. a great Quantity, for a little Leaven leaveneth the whole Lump. The Meal muſt be kneaded, before it receive the Leaven, our Hearts, as they muſt be broken, ſo they muſt be moiſten'd and Pains taken with them to prepare them for the Word, that they may receive the Impreſſions of it. This Leaven muſt be hid in the Heart, Pſal. 119. 11. not ſo much for Secrecy (for it will ſhew it ſelf) as for Safety. Our inward Thought muſt be upon it, we muſt lay it up, as Mary laid up the Sayings of Chriſt, Luke 2. 51. When the Woman hides the Leaven in the Meal 'tis with an Intention that it ſhould communicate its Taſte and Reliſh to it; ſo we muſt treaſure up the Word in our Souls, that we may be ſanctified by it, John 17. 17.

3. The Leaven thus hid in the Dough works there, it ferments; the Word is quick and powerful, Heb. 4. 12. The Leaven works ſpeedily, ſo doth the Word, and yet gradually. What a ſudden Change did Elijah's Mantle make upon Eliſha, 1 Kings 19. 20. It works ſilently, and inſenſibly, Mark 4. 26. yet ſtrongly and irreſiſtably; it doth its Work without Noiſe, for ſo is the way of the Spirit, but doth it without fail. Hide but the Leaven in the Dough, and all the World cannot hinder it from communicating its Taſte and Reliſh to it, and yet none ſees how it is done, but by Degrees the whole is leaven'd

1. Thus it was in the World. The Apoſtles by their Preaching hid a handful of Leaven in the great Maſs of Mankind, and it had a ſtrange Effect; it put the World into a Ferment, and in a Senſe turned it upſide down, Acts 17. 6. and by Degrees made a wonderful Change in the Taſte and Reliſh of it. The Savour of the Goſpel was manifeſted in every Place, 2 Cor. 2. 14. Rom. 15. 19. It was thus effectual not by outward Force, and therefore not by any ſuch Force reſiſtable and conquerable, but by the Spirit of the Lord of Hoſts, who works, and none can hinder.

2. Thus it is in the Heart. When the Goſpel comes into the Soul, (1.) It works a Change, not in the Subſtance, the Dough is the ſame, but in the Quality; it makes us to ſavour otherwiſe than we have done, and other things to ſavour with us otherwiſe than they us'd to do, Rom. 8. 5. (2.) It works an univerſal Change, it diffuſes it ſelf into all the Powers and Faculties of the Soul, and alters the Property even of the Members of the Body, Rom. 6. 13 (3.) This Change is ſuch as makes the Soul to partake of the Nature of the Word, as the Dought doth of the Leaven. We are delivered into it, as into a Mold, Rom. 6. 7. chang'd into the ſame Image, 2 Cor. 2. 18. like the Impreſſion of the Seal upon the Wax. The Goſpel ſavours of God and Chriſt and free Grace, and another World, and theſe things now reliſh with the Soul. 'Tis a Word of Faith and Repentance, Holineſs and Love, and theſe are wrought in the Soul by it. This Savour is communicated inſenſibly, for our Life is hid, but inſeparably, for Grace is a good part that ſhall never be taken away from thoſe that have it. When the Dough is leavened then to the Oven with it; Tryals and Afflictions commonly attend this Change; but thus Saints are fitted to be Bread for our Maſter's Table.

44 Again the kingdom of heaven is like unto treaſure hid in a field: the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for Joy thereof goeth and ſelleth all that he hath and buyeth that field. 45 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchantman, ſeeking goodly pearls: 46. Who when he had found one of great price, he went and ſold all that he had, and bought it. 47 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net that was caſt into the ſea, and gathered of every kind. 48 Which when it was full, they drew to ſhore, and ſat down, and gathered the good into veſſels, but caſt the bad away. 49 So ſhall it be at the end of the world: the angels ſhall come forth, and ſever the wicked from among the juſt; 50 And ſhall caſt them into the furnace of fire, there ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of teeth. 51 Jeſus ſaith unto them, Have ye underſtood all theſe things? They ſay unto him, Yea, Lord. 52 Then ſaid he unto them, Therefore every ſcribe which is inſtructed into the kingdom of heaven, is like unto a man that is an houſholder, which bringeth forth out of his treaſures things new and old.

We have four ſhort Parables in theſe Verſes.

Firſt, That of the Treaſure hid in the Field. Hitherto he had compar'd the Kingdom of Heaven to ſmall things, becauſe its Beginning was ſmall; but leſt any ſhould thence take occaſion to think meanly of it, in this Parable and the next, he repreſents it as of great Value in it ſelf, and of great Advantage to thoſe that embrace it, and are willing to come up to its Terms. It is here likened to a Treaſure hid in the Field, which if we will we may make our own.

1. Jeſus Chriſt is the true Treaſure. In him there is an Abundance of all that which is rich and uſeful, and will be a Portion for us; all Fulneſs, Col. 1. 19. John 1. 16. Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge, (Col. 2. 3.) of Righteouſneſs, Grace, and Peace; theſe are laid up for us in Chriſt, aad if we have an Intereſt in him 'tis all our own.

2. The Goſpel is the Field in which this Treaſure is hid. 'Tis hid in the Word of the Goſpel, both the Old Teſtament and the New Teſtament Goſpel. In Goſpel Ordinances he is hid as the Milk in the Breaſt, the Marrow in the Bone, the Manna in the Dew. As the Water in the Well, Iſa. 12. 3. As the Honey in the Honey-comb. 'Tis hid not in a Garden inclos'd, or a Spring ſhut up, but in a Field, an open Field; whoever will, let him come and ſearch the Scriptures, let him dig in this Field, Prov. 2. 4. and whatever Royal Mines we find, they are all our own, if we take the right Courſe.

3. It is a great thing to diſcover the Treaſure hid in this Field, and the unſpeakable Value of it. The Reaſon why ſo many ſlight the Goſpel, and will not be at the Expence, and run the Hazzard of entertaining it, is, becauſe they look only upon the Surface of the Field, and judge by that, and ſo ſee no Excellency in the Chriſtian Inſtitutes, above thoſe of the Philoſophers, nay, the richeſt Mines are oft in Grounds that appear moſt barren; and therefore will not ſo much as bid at the Field; much leſs come up to the Price. What's thy Beloved more than another Beloved? What's the Bible more than other good Books? the Goſpel of Chriſt more than Plato's Philoſophy, or Confutius's Morals? But thoſe that have ſearched the Scriptures, ſo as in them to find Chriſt and eternal Life, (John 5. 39.) have diſcover'd ſuch a Treaſure in this Field, as makes it infinitely more valuable.

4. Thoſe that diſcern this Treaſure in the Field, and value it aright, will never be eaſy till they have made it their own upon any Terms. He that has found this Treaſure hides it, which notes a holy Jealouſy, leſt we come ſhort, Heb. 4. 1. looking diligently, Heb. 12. 15. leſt Satan come between us and it. He rejoyceth in it, tho' as yet the Bargain be not made, he is glad there is ſuch a Bargain to be had; and that he is in a fair Way to have an Intereſt in Chriſt, that the Matter is in Treaty: Their Hearts may rejoyce who are yet but ſeeking the Lord, Pſal. 105. 3. He reſolves to buy this Field; thoſe that embrace Goſpel Offers upon Goſpel Terms buy this Field, they make it their own for the ſake of the unſeen Treaſure in it. Tis Chriſt in the Goſpel that we are to have an Eye to; we need not go up to Heaven, but Chriſt in the Word is nigh us. And ſo intent he is upon it, that he ſells all to buy that Field; thoſe that would have ſaving Benefit by Chriſt, muſt be willing to part with all, that they may make it ſure to themſelves, muſt count every thing but Loſs, that they may win Chriſt, and be found in him.

Secondly, That of the Pearl of Price, v. 45, 46. which is to the ſame Purpoſe with the former of the Treaſure. The Dream is thus doubled, for the thing is certain.

Note, 1. All the Children of Men are buſy ſeeking goodly Pearls. One would be Rich, another would be Honourable, another would be Learned, but the moſt are impos'd upon, and take up with Counterfeits for Pearls.

2. Jeſus Chriſt is a Pearl of great Price, a Jewel of ineſtimable Value, which will make thoſe that have it Rich, truly Rich, Rich towards God: In having him we have enough to make us happy, here and for ever.

3. A true Chriſtian is a ſpiritual Merchant, that ſeeks and finds this Pearl of Price, that doth not take up with any thing ſhort of an Intereſt in Chriſt, and as one that's reſolv'd to be ſpiritually rich, trades high. He went and bought that Pearl, did not bid at it, but purchaſe it. What will it avail us to know Chriſt, if we do not know him as ours, made to us Wiſdom? 1 Cor. 1. 30.

4. Thoſe that would have a ſaving Intereſt in Chriſt, muſt be willing to part with all for him, leave all to follow him. Whatever ſtands in Oppoſition to Chriſt, or in Competition with him for our Love and Service, we muſt chearfully quit it, though never ſo dear to us. A Man may buy Gold too dear, but not this Pearl of Price.

Thirdly, That of the Net caſt into the Sea, v. 47, 48, 49.

1. Here's the Parable it ſelf. Where Note, (1.) The World is a vaſt Sea, and the Children of Men are things creeping innumerable, both ſmall and great in that Sea, Pſal. 104. 25. Men in their natural State are like the Fiſhes of the Sea, that have no Ruler over them, Heb. 1. 14. (2.) The Preaching of the Goſpel is the caſting of a Net into this Sea, to catch ſomething out of it for his Glory, who hath the Sovereignty of this Sea. Miniſters are Fiſhers of Men, employ'd in caſting and drawing this Net, and then they ſpeed, when at Chriſt's Word they let down the Net, otherwiſe they toil and catch nothing. (3.) This Net gathers of every kind, as large Drag-nets uſe to do. In the viſible Church there's a deal of Traſh and Rubbiſh, Dirt and Weeds, and Vermin, as well as Fiſh. (4.) There is a Time coming when this Net will be full, and drawn to ſhore; a ſet time when the Goſpel ſhall have fulfilled that for which it was ſent, and we are ſure it ſhall not return void, Iſa. 55. 10, 11. The Net is now in the filling, ſometimes it fills faſter than at other times, but ſtill it fills, and will be drawn to ſhore, when the Myſtery of God ſhall be finiſhed. (5.) When the Net is full and drawn to ſhore, there ſhall be a Separation between the good and bad that were gathered in. Hypocrites and true Chriſtians ſhall then be parted; the good ſhall be gathered into Veſſels as valuable, and therefore to be carefully kept, but the bad ſhall be caſt away, as vile and unprofitable; and miſerable is the Condition of thoſe who are Caſt-aways in that Day. While the Net is in the Sea, 'tis not known what is in it; the Fiſhermen themſelves cannot diſtinguiſh; but they carefully draw it, and all that's in it to ſhore, for the ſake of the good that's in it. Such is God's Care for the viſible Church, and ſuch ſhould Miniſters Concern be for thoſe under their Charge, tho' they are mixed.

2. Here's the Reddition of the latter part of the Parable, the former is preſent, and plain enough: We ſee gathered into the viſible Church, ſome of every kind: But the latter Part refers to that which is yet to come, and is therefore more particularly explain'd, v. 49, 50. So ſhall it be at the End of the World; then, and not till then, will the dividing, diſcovering Day be. We muſt not look for the Net full of all good Fiſh, the Veſſels will be ſo, but in the Net they are mix'd. See here. (1.) The diſtinguiſhing of the wicked from the righteous. The Angels of Heaven ſhall come forth to do that which the Angels of the Churches never could do, they ſhall ſever the wicked from among the juſt, and we need not aſk how they will diſtinguiſh them when they have both their Commiſſion and their Inſtructions from him that knows all Men, and particularly knows them that are his, and them that are not, and we may be ſure there ſhall be no Miſtake or Blunder either way. (2.) The Doom of the wicked, when they are thus ſever'd. They ſhall be caſt into the Furnace. Note, Everlaſting Miſery and Sorrow will certainly be the Portion of thoſe that live among ſanctified ones, but themſelves die unſanctified. This is the ſame with what we had before, v. 42. Note, Chriſt himſelf preach'd often of Hell Torments, as the everlaſting Puniſhment of Hypocrites, and 'tis good for us to be often minded of this awakening quickening Truth.

Fourthly, Here is tha Parable of the good Houſholder, which is intended to rivet all the reſt.

1. The Occaſion of it was the good Proficiency which the Diſciples had made in Learning, and their Profiting by this Sermon in particular. (1.) He aſk'd them, Have ye underſtood all theſe things? intimating, that if they had not, he was ready to explain what they did not underſtand. Note, It is the Will of Chriſt, that all thoſe who read and hear the Word ſhould underſtand it; for otherwiſe, how ſhould they get good by it? It is therefore good for us when we have read or heard the Word, to examine ourſelves, or to be examin'd, whether we have underſtood it or no. It's no Diſparagement to the Diſciples of Chriſt to be catechiz'd. Chriſt invites us to ſeek to him for Inſtruction, and Miniſters ſhould proffer their Service to thoſe who have any good Queſtion to aſk concerning what they have heard. (2.) They anſwered him, Yea, Lord. And we have Reaſon to believe they ſaid true, becauſe when they did not underſtand, they aſk'd for an Explication, v. 36. And the Expoſition of that Parable was a Key to the reſt. Note, The right underſtanding of one good Sermon, will very much help us to underſtand another; for good Truths mutually explain and illuſtrate one another; and Knowledge is eaſy to him that underſtandeth.

2. The Scope of the Parable it ſelf, was to give his Approbation and Commendation of their Proficiency. Note, Chriſt is ready to encourage willing Learners in his School, tho' they are but weak, and to ſay, well done, well ſaid.

1. He commends them as Scribes inſtructed unto the Kingdom of Heaven. They were now learning that they might teach, and the Teachers among the Jews were the Scribes. Ezra that prepar'd his Heart to teach in Iſrael, is call'd a ready Scribe, Ezra 7. 6, 10. Now a ſkilful faithful Miniſter of the Goſpel is a Scribe too, but for diſtinction he is call'd a Scribe inſtructed unto the Kingdom of Heaven, well vers'd in the things of the Goſpel, and well able to teach thoſe things. Note, (1.) Thoſe that are to inſtruct others, have need to be well inſtructed themſelves. If the Prieſt's Lips muſt keep Knowledge, his Head muſt firſt have Knowledge. (2.) The Inſtruction of a Goſpel Miniſter muſt be in the Kingdom of Heaven, that's it about which his Buſineſs lies. A Man may be a great Philoſopher and Politician, and yet if not inſtructed to the Kingdom of Heaven, he will make but a bad Miniſter.

2. He compares them to a good Houſholder, that brings forth out of his Treaſure things new and old; Fruits of laſt Years Growth, and this Years Gathering, Abundance, and Variety, for the Entertainment of his Friends. See Can. 7. 13. See here, (1.) What ſhould be a Miniſter's Furniture, a Treaſure of things new and old. Thoſe that have ſo many and various Occaſions, need to ſtock themſelves well in their gathering Days, with Truths new and old, out of the Old Teſtament, and out of the New; with ancient and Modern Improvements, that the Man of God may be thoroughly well furniſh'd, 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17. Old Experiences and new Obſervations, each have their Uſe; but we muſt not content our ſelves with old Diſcoveries, but muſt be adding new. Live and Learn. (2.) What uſe he ſhould make of this Furniture. He ſhould bring forth, laying up is in Order to laying out, for the Benefit of others. Sic vos non vobis. Many are full, but they have no Vent, Job 22. 19. have a Talent, but they bury it; ſuch are unprofitable Servants: Chriſt himſelf receiv'd, that he might give, ſo muſt we, and we ſhall have more. In bringing forth things, new and old do beſt together; old Truths, but new Methods and Expreſſions, eſpecially new Affections.

53 And it came to paſs that when Jeſus had finiſhed theſe parables, he departed thence. 54 And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their ſynagogue, inſomuch that they were aſtoniſhed, and ſaid; Whence hath this man this wiſdom, and theſe mighty works? 55 Is not this the carpenter's ſon? is not his Mother called Mary? and his brethren, James, and Joſes, and Simon, and Judas? 56 And his Siſters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all theſe things? 57 And they were offended in him. But Jeſus ſaid unto them, A prophet is not without honour, ſave in his own country, and in his own houſe. 58 And he did not many mighty works there, becauſe of their unbelief.

We have here Chriſt in his own Country. He went about doing good, yet left not any Place till he had finiſhed his Teſtimony there, at that time. His own Country-men had rejected him once, yet he came to them again. Note, Chriſt doth not take Refuſers at their firſt Word, but repeats his Offers to thoſe that have oft repuls'd them. In this, as in other things, Chriſt was like his Brethren, that he had a natural Affection to his own Country. Patriam quiſque amat, non quia pulchram, ſed quia ſuam. Seneca. His Treatment this time was much the ſame as before, ſcornful and ſpiteful.

Obſerve, 1. How they expreſs'd thier Contempt of him. When he taught them in their Synagogue they were aſtoniſhed; not that they were taken with his Preaching, or admir'd his Doctrine in it ſelf, but only that it ſhould be his; looking upon him as unlikely to be ſuch an Undertaker. Two things they upbraided him with:

1. His want of Academical Education. They own'd that he had Wiſdom, and did mighty Works; but the Queſtion was, whence he had them, for they knew he was not brought up at the Feet of their Rabbins: He had never been at the Univerſity, nor took his Degree, or was called of Men Rabbi, Rabbi. Note, Mean and prejudic'd Spirits are apt to judge of Men by their Education, and to enquire more into their Riſe, than into their Reaſons. Whence has this Man theſe mighty Works? Did he come honeſtly by them? Has he not been ſtudying the Black Art? Thus they turn'd that againſt him which was really for him; for if they had not been wilfully blind, they muſt have concluded him to be divinely Aſſiſted and Commiſſion'd, who without the help of Education gave ſuch Proofs of an extraordinary Wiſdom and Power.

2. The Meanneſs and Poverty of his Relations, v. 55, 56.

1. They upbraid him with his Father. Is not this the Carpenter's Son? Yes, 'tis true he was reputed ſo, and what harm in that? No Diſparagement to him to be the Son of an honeſt Tradeſman, They remember not, (tho' they might have known it) that this Carpenter was of the Houſe of David, Luke 1. 27. a Son of David, Mat. 1. 20 therefore tho' a Carpenter, yet a Perſon of Honour. Thoſe that are willing to pick Quarrels will overlook that which is worthy and deſerving, and faſten upon that only which ſeems mean. Some ſordid Spirits regard no Branch, no not a Branch from the Stem of Jeſſe, (Iſa. 11. 1.) if it be not a Top-Branch.

2. They upbraid him with his Mother, and what Quarrel have they with her? Why, truly, his Mother is called Mary, and that was a very common Name, and they all knew her, and knew her to be an ordinary Perſon; ſhe was called Mary, not Queen Mary, or Lady Mary, or ſo much as Miſtreſs Mary, but plain Mary, and this is turn'd to his Reproach; as if Men had nothing to be valued by but foreign Extraction, noble Birth, or ſplendid Titles; poor things to meaſure Worth by.

3. They upbraid him with his Brethren, whoſe Names they knew, and had them ready enough to ſerve this Turn; James, and Joſes, and Simon, and Judas, good Men, but poor Men, and therefore deſpis'd, and Chriſt for their ſakes. Theſe Brethren, 'tis probable were Joſeph's Children by a former Wife; or whatever their Relation was to him, they ſeem to have been brought up with him in the ſame Family. And therefore of the calling of three of theſe who were of the Twelve, to that Honour, (James, Simon and Jude, the ſame with Thaddeus) we read not particularly, becauſe they needed not ſuch an expreſs Call into Acquaintance with Chriſt, who had been the Companions of his Youth.

4. His Siſters too are all with us; they ſhould therefore have lov'd him, and reſpected him the more, becauſe he was one of themſelves, but therefore they deſpis'd him. They were offended in him. They ſtumbled at theſe Stumbling-ſtones, for he was ſet for a Sign that ſhould be ſpoken againſt, Luke 2. 34. Iſa. 8. 14.

2. See how he reſented this Contempt, v. 57. 58.

1. It did not trouble his Heart. It appears he was not much concern'd at it, he deſpis'd the Shame, Heb. 12. 2. Inſtead of aggravating the Affront, or expreſſing an Offence at it, or returning ſuch an Anſwer to their Fooliſh Suggeſtions as they deſerv'd, he mildly imputes it to the common Humour of the Children of Men, to undervalue Excellencies that are cheap, and common, and home-bred. 'Tis uſually ſo. A Prophet is not without Honour, ſave in his own Country. Note, (1.) Prophets ſhould have Honour paid them, and commonly have; Men of God are great Men, and Men of Honour, and challenge Reſpect. 'Tis ſtrange indeed if Prophets have not Honour. (2.) Notwithſtanding this, they are commonly leaſt regarded and reverenc'd in their own Country, nay, and ſometimes are moſt envy'd. Familiarity breeds Contempt.

2. It did for the preſent (to ſpeak with Reverence) in effect tye his Hands. He did not many mighty Works there becauſe of their Unbelief. Note, Unbelief is the great Obſtruction to Chriſt's Favours. All things are in general poſſible to God, Mat. 19. 26. but then 'tis to him that believes, as to the Particulars, Mark 9. 23. The Goſpel is the Power of God unto Salvatiom, but then it is to every one that believes, Rom. 1. 26. So that if mighty Works be not wrought in us, it is not for want of Power or Grace in Chriſt, but for want of Faith in us. By Grace ye are ſaved, and that's a mighty Work, but it is thro' Faith, Eph. 2. 8.

CHAP. XIV.

John Baptiſt had ſaid concerning Chriſt, He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe, John 3. 30. The Morning-ſtar is here diſappearing, and the Sun of Righteouſneſs riſing to his Meridian Luſtre. Here's (1.) the Martyrdom of John, his Impriſonment for his Faithfulneſs to Herod, v. 1.—5. And the Beheading of him to pleaſe Herodias, v. 6.—12. (2.) The Miracles of Chriſt. (1.) His feeding five thouſand Men that came to him to be taught, with five Loaves and two Fiſhes, v. 13.—24. (2.) Chriſt's walking on the Water to his Diſciples in a Storm, v. 22.—33. (3.) His healing the Sick with the touch of the hem of his Garment, v. 34.—36. Thus he went forth, thus he went on, conquering, and to conquer, or rather, curing, and to cure.

AT that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jeſus, 2 And ſaid unto his ſervants This is John the Baptiſt, he is riſen from the dead, and therefore mighty works do ſhew forth themſelves in him. 3 For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in priſon for Herodias ſake his brother Philips wife. 4 For John ſaid unto him, It is not lawful for thee to have her. 5 And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multitude, becauſe they counted him as a prophet 6 But when Herods birth-day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleaſed Herod. 7 Whereupon he promiſed with an oath to give her whatſoever ſhe would ask. 8 And ſhe, being before inſtructed of her mother, ſaid, Give me here John Baptiſts head in a charger. 9 And the king was ſorry: neverthleſs for the oaths ſake, and them which ſat with him at meat, he commanded it to be given her. 10 And he ſent and beheaded John in the priſon. 11 And his head was brought in a charger, and given the damſel: and ſhe brought it to her mother. 12 And his diſciples came, and took up the body and buried it, and went and told Jeſus.

We have here the Story of John's Matyrdom. Obſerve,

1. The occaſion of relating this Story here, v. 1, 2. Here's

(1.) The Account brought to Herod of the Miracles which Chriſt wrought. Herod the Tetrarch, or chief Governour of Galilee, heard of the Fame of Jeſus. At that time when his Country-men ſlighted him, upon the account of his Meanneſs and Obſcurity, he began to be famous at Court. Note, God will honour thoſe that are deſpis'd for his ſake. And the Goſpel, like the Sea, gets in one place what it loſes in another. Chriſt had been now Preaching and working Miracles above two Years, yet it ſhould ſeem Herod had not heard of him till now, and now only heard the Fame of him. Note, It is the Unhappineſs of the great ones of the World, that they are moſt out of the way of hearing the beſt things, 1 Cor. 2. 8. which none of the Princes of this World knew, 1 Cor. 1. 26. Chriſt's Diſciples were now ſent abroad to Preach, and to work Miracles in his Name, and this ſpread the Fame of him more than ever; which was an Indication of the ſpreading of the Goſpel by their Means after his Aſcenſion.

(2.) The Conſtruction he puts upon this, v. 2. He ſaid to his Servants that told him of the Fame of Jeſus, As ſure as we are here This is John the Baptiſt, he is riſen from the Dead: Either the Leaven of Herod was not Sadduciſm, (for the Sadduces ſay, There is no Reſurrection, Acts 23. 8.) or elſe Herod's guilty Conſcience, (as is uſual with Atheiſts) did at this time get the Maſtery of his Opinion, and now he concludes, whether there be a general Reſurrection or no; for certain John Baptiſt is riſen, and therefore mighty Works do ſhew forth themſelves in him. John while he lived did no Miracle, John 10. 41. but Herod concludes, that being riſen from the Dead, he is cloth'd with a greater Power than he had while he was living. And he very well calls the Miracles he ſuppo'd him to work, not his mighty Works, but mighty Works ſhewing forth themſelves in him. Obſerve here concerning Herod,

1. How he was diſappointed in what he intended by beheading John. He thought if he could get that troubleſome Fellow out of the way, he might go on in his Sin, undiſturb'd and uncontroul'd; yet no ſooner is that effected, but he hears of Jeſus and his Diſciples Preaching the ſame pure Doctrine that John preach'd, and which is more, even the Diſciples confirming it by Miracles in their Maſter's Name. Note, Miniſters may be ſilenc'd, and Impriſon'd, and Baniſh'd, and ſlain, but the Word of God cannot be run down, The Prophets live not for ever, but the Word takes hold, Zech. 1. 5, 6. See 2 Tim. 2. 9. Sometimes God raiſeth np many faithful Miniſters out of the Aſhes of one. This Hope there is of God's Trees, tho' they be cut down. allu, Job. 14. 7, 8, 9.

2. How he was fill'd with cauſeleſs Fears, meerly from the Guilt of his own Conſcience. Thus Blood cries, not only from the Earth, on which it was ſhed, but from the Heart of him that ſhedit, and makes him Magor-miſſabel, a Terror round about, a Terror to himſelf. A guilty Conſcience ſuggeſts every thing that is frightful, and like a Whirlpool, gathers all to its ſelf that comes near it. Thus the wicked flee when none purſue, Prov. 28. 1. are in great fears, where no fear is, Pſal. 14. 5. Herod by a little enquiry might have found out that this Jeſus was in being long before John Baptiſt's Death, and therefore could not be Johannes Redivivus, and ſo have undeceived himſelf; but God juſtly left him to this Infatuation.

3. How, notwithſtanding this, he was harden'd in his Wickedneſs; for tho' he was convinc'd that John was a Prophet, and one owned of God, yet he doth not expreſs the leaſt Remorſe or Sorrow for his Sin in putting him to death. The Devils believe and tremble, but they never believe and repent. Note, There may be the Terror of ſtrong Convictions, where there is not the Truth of a ſaving Converſion.

2. The Story it ſelf of the Impriſonment, and Martyrdon of John. And theſe extraordinary Sufferings of him, who was the firſt Preacher of the Goſpel, plainly ſhew, that Bonds and Afflictions will abide the Profeſſors of it. As the firſt Old Teſtament Saint, ſo the firſt New Teſtament Miniſter dy'd a Martyr. And if Chriſt's Forerunner was thus treated, let not his Followers expect to be careſs'd by the World. Obſerve here, Firſt, John's Faithfulneſs in reproving Herod, v. 3, 4. Herod was one of John's Hearers, Mark 6. 20. and therefore John might be the more bold with him. Note, Miniſters, who are Reprovers by Office, are eſpecially oblig'd to reprove thoſe that are under their Charge, and not to ſuffer Sin upon them; they have the faireſt Opportunity, of dealing with them, and with them may expect the moſt favourable Acceptance.

The particular Sin he reprov'd him for was Marrying his Brother Phillip's Wife not his Widow, that had not been ſo Crimimal, but his Wife; Phillip was now living, and Herod inveigled his Wife from him, and kept her for his own: Here was a Complication of Wickedneſs, Adultery, Inceſt, beſides the Wrong done to Phillip, who had had a Child by this Woman; and it was an Aggravation of the Wrong, that he was his Brother, his half Brother by Father, but not by Mother. See Pſal. 50. 20. For this Sin John reprov'd him; not by tacit and oblique Terms, but in plain Terms, It is not lawful for thee to have her. He chargeth it upon him as a Sin, not it is not honourable, or it is not ſafe, but it is not lawful, the ſinfulneſs of Sin, as it is the Tranſgreſſion of the Law, is the worſt thing in it. This was Herods own Iniquity, his beloved Sin, and therefore this John Baptiſt tells him of particularly. Note, (1.) That which by the Law of God is unlawful to other People, is by the ſame Law unlawful to Princes, and the greateſt of Men. They that rule over Men, muſt not forget that they are themſelves but Men, and ſubject to God. It is not lawful for thee, no more than for the meaneſt Subject thou haſt to debauch another Mans Wife. There's no Prerogatives, no, not for the greateſt, and moſt arbitrary Kings to break the Laws of God. (2.) If Princes and great Men break the Law of God, it is very fit they ſhould be told of it by proper Perſons, and in a proper manner. As they are not above the Commands of God's Word, ſo they are not above the Reproofs of his Miniſters. It is not fit indeed to ſay to a King, Thou art Belial, (Job. 34. 18. no more than to call a Brother Raca, or Thou Fool: It is not fit while they keep within the Sphere of their own Authority to arraign them. But it is fit that by thoſe, whoſe Office it is they ſhould be told what is unlawful, and told with Application, Thou art the Man; for it follows there, v. 19. that God (whoſe Agents and Ambaſſadors faithful Miniſters are) accepteth not the Perſons of Princes, nor regardeth the Rich more than the Poor.

Secondly, The Impriſonment of John for his Faithfulneſs v. 3. Herod laid hold on John, when he was going on to Preach and Baptize, put an end to his Work, bound him, and put him in Priſon; partly to gratifie his own Revenge, and partly to pleaſe Herodias, who of the two ſeem'd to be moſt incens'd againſt him; 'twas for her ſake that he did it. Note, (1.) Faithful Reproofs, if they do not profit uſually provoke; if they do not do good, they are reſented as Affronts, and they that will not bow to the Reproof, will fly in the Face of the Reprover, and hate him, as Ahab hated Micajah, 1 Kings 22. 8. See Prov. 9. 8.–15. 10, 12. Veritas odium parit. (2.) It's no new thing for God's Miniſters to ſuffer ill for doing well. Troubles abide thoſe moſt that are moſt diligent and faithful in doing thir Duty, Acts 20. 20, 23. 'Twas ſo with the Old Teſtament Prophets, ſee 2 Chron. 16. 10.--24. 20, 21. Perhaps ſome of John's Friends would blame him as indiſcreet in reproving Herod, and tell him he had better been ſilent than provoke Herod, whoſe Character he knew very well, thus to deprive him of his Liberty; but away with that Diſcretion that would hinder Men from doing their Duty, as Magiſtrates, Miniſters, or Chriſtian Friends; I believe John's own Heart did not reproach him for it, but this Teſtimony of his Conſcience for him made his Bonds eaſie, that he ſuffer'd for well-doing, and not as a Buſie-body in others Mens Matters, 1 Pet. 4. 15.

Thirdly, The Reſtraint that Herod lay under from further venting of his Rage againſt John, v. 5.

(1.) He would have put him to Death. Perhaps that was not intended at firſt when he Impriſon'd him, but his Revenge by degrees boil'd up to that height. Note, The way of Sin, eſpecially the Sin of Perſecution is down hill; and when once a Reſpect to Chriſt's Miniſters is caſt off, and broken through in one Inſtance, that is at length done, which the Man would ſooner have thought himſelf a Dog than to have been guilty of, 2 Kings 8. 13.

(2.) That which hinder'd him was his Fear of the Multitude, because they counted John as a Prophet. It was not becauſe he feared God, (if the Fear of God had been before his Eyes he would not have Impriſon'd him) nor becauſe he feared John, tho' formerly he had a Reverence for him, his Luſts had overcome that, but becauſe he feared the People, i. e. He was afraid for himſelf, his own Safety, and the Safety of his Government; his Abuſe of which he knew had already render'd him odious to the People; whoſe Reſentments being ſo far heated already, would be apt upon ſuch a Provocation, as the putting of a Prophet to death, to break out into a Flame. Note, 1. Tyrants have their Fears. Thoſe that are, and affect to be the Terror of the Mighty, are many times geateſt Terrors of all to themſelves; and when they are moſt ambitious to be feared by the People, are moſt afraid of them. 2. Wicked Men are reſtrained from the moſt wicked Practices, meerly for their ſecular Intereſt, and not any regard to God. A Concern for their Eaſe, Credit, Wealth, and Safety, being their reigning Principle, as it keeps them from many Duties, ſo it keeps them from many Sins which otherwiſe they would not be reſtrained from; and this is one Means by which Sinners are kept from being overmuch Wicked, Eccl. 7. 17. The Danger of Sin that appears to Senſe, or to Fancy only, influenceth Men more than that which appears to Faith. Herod feared that the putting of John to Death might raiſe a Mutiny among the People, which it did not; but he never fear'd it might raiſe a Mutiny in his own Conſcience, which it did, v. 2. Men fear being hang'd for that which they do not fear being damn'd for.

Fourthly, The Contrivance of bringing John to his Death. Long he lay in Priſon, and againſt the Liberty of the Subject, (which, bleſſed be God, is ſecur'd to us of this Nation by Law) might neither be Try'd nor Bail'd: 'Tis computed that he lay a Year and half a cloſe Priſoner, which was about as much Time as he had ſpent in his publick Miniſtry, from his firſt entrance into it. Now here we have an account of his Releaſe, not by any other Diſcharge than Death, the Period of all a good Man's Troubles, that brings the Priſoners to reſt together, ſo that they hear not the Voice of the Oppreſſor, Job 3. 18.

Herodias laid the Plot, her implacable Revenge thirſted after John's Blood, and would be ſatisfied with nothing leſs; croſs the carnal Appetites, and they turn into the moſt barbarous Paſſions; 'twas a Woman, a Whore, and the Mother of Harlots, that was drunk with the Blood of the Saints, Rev. 17. 5, 6. Herodias contriv'd how to bring about the Murther of John ſo artificially as to ſave Herod's Credit, and ſo to pacify the People. A ſorry Excuſe is better than none. But I am apt to think that if the Truth were known, Herod was himſelf in the Plot; and for all his Pretences of Surprize and Sorrow, was privy to the Contrivance, and knew before what would be ask'd. And his pretending his Oath, and reſpect to his Gueſts was all but Sham and Grimace. But if he were trepan'd into it e'er he was aware, yet becauſe it was the thing he would have, and might have prevented, he is juſtly found guilty of the whole Contrivance. Tho Jezebel bring Naboth to his End, yet if Ahab take poſſeſſion, he hath kill'd. So tho' Herodias contrive the Beheading of John, yet if Herod conſent to it, and take pleaſure in it, he is not only an Acceſſary, but a principal Murtherer. Well, the Scence being laid behind the Curtain, let us ſee how it was Acted upon the Stage, and in what Method. Here we have,

1. The Humouring of Herod by the Damſel's Dancing upon his Birth-day. It ſeems Herod's Birth-day was kept with ſome Solemnity; in honour of the Day, there muſt needs be, as uſual, a Ball at Court, and to grace the Solemnity, the Daughter of Herodias Danced before them; which being the Queen's Daughter, was more than what ſhe ordinarily condeſcended to. Note, Times of carnal Mirth and Jollity are convenient Times for carrying on ill Deſigns againſt God's People. When the King was made Sick with Bottles of Wine, he ſtretched out his Hand with Scorners, Hoſ. 7. 5. for it is part of the Sport of a Fool to do Miſchief, Prov. 10. 23. The Philiſtines when their Hearts were merry, call'd for Sampſon to abuſe him. Phe Pariſian Maſſacre was at a Wedding. This young Lady's Dancing pleaſed Herod. We are not told who Danc'd with her, but none pleas'd Herod like her Dancing. Note, A vain and graceleſs Heart is apt to be hugely in love with the Luſts of the Fleſh, and of the Eye, and when it is ſo, 'tis entring into further Temptation; for by that Satan gets and keeps poſſeſſion. See Prov. 23. 31, 33. Herod was now upon the merry Pin, and nothing was more agreeable to him than that which fed his Vanity.

2. The raſh and fooliſh Promiſe which Herod made to this wanton Girl, to give her whatſoever ſhe would ask, and this Promiſe confirm'd with an Oath, v. 7. 'Twas a very extravagant Obligation which Herod here enter'd into, and no way becoming a prudent Man that is afraid of being ſnar'd in the Words of his Mouth, Prov. 6. 2. much leſs a good Man that fears an Octh, Eccl. 9. 2. To put this Blank into her Hand, and enable her to draw upon him at pleaſure, was too great a Recompence for ſuch a ſorry piece of Merit; and I am apt to think Herod would not have been guilty of ſuch an Abſurdity, if he had not been inſtructed of Herodias, as well as the Damſel. Note, Promiſſory Oaths are enſnaring things, and when made raſhly, are the Products of inward Corruptions, and the Occaſions of many Temptations. Therefore ſwear not ſo at all, leſt thou have occaſion to ſay, It was an Error, Eccl. 5. 6.

3. The bloody Demand the young Lady made, of John Baptiſt's Head, v. 8. She was before inſtructed of her Mother. Note, The Caſe of thoſe Children is very ſad; whoſe Parents are their Counſellors to do wickedly, as Ahaziah's, 2 Chron. 22. 3. who inſtruct them, and encourage them in Sin, and ſet them ill Examples; for the corrupt Nature will ſooner be quicken'd by bad Inſtructions, than reſtrain'd and mortified by good ones. Children ought not to obey their Parents againſt the Lord, but if they command them to Sin, muſt ſay, as Levi did to Father and Mother, they have not ſeen them.

Herod having given her her Commiſſion, and Herodias her Inſtructions; ſhe requires John Baptiſt's Head in a Charger. Perhaps Herodias fear'd, leſt Herod ſhould grow weary of her (as Luſt uſeth to nauſeate, and be cloy'd) and then would make John Baptiſt's Reproof a pretence to diſmiſs her, to prevent which, ſhe contrives to harden Herod in it, by engaging him in the Murther of John. John muſt be beheaded then, that's the Death by which he muſt glorifie God; and becauſe it was his who dy'd firſt after the beginning of the Goſpel, tho' the Martyr's dy'd various kinds of Deaths, and not ſo eaſie and honourable as this, yet this is put for all the reſt, Rev. 20. 4. where we read of the Souls of thoſe that were Beheaded for the Witneſs of Jeſus. Yet this is not enough, the thing muſt be humour'd too, and not only a Revenge, but a Fancy muſt be gratify'd; it muſt be given her here in a Charger, ſerv'd up in Blood, as a Diſh of Meat at the Feaſt, or Sawce to all the other Diſhes; 'tis reſerv'd for the third Courſe. to come up with the Rarities. He muſt have no Tryal, no publick Hearing, no Forms of Law or Juſtice muſt add Solemnity to his Death; but he is Try'd, Condemn'd, and Executed in a Breath. 'Twas well for him he was ſo mortified to the World, that Death could be no ſurprize to him, tho' never ſo ſudden. It muſt be given her, and ſhe will reckon it a Recompence for her Dancing, and deſire no more.

4. Herod's Grant of this Demand, v. 9. The King was ſorry, or at leaſt took on him to be ſo, but for the Oaths ſake he commanded it to be given her. Here's

(1.) A pretended Concern for John, The King was ſorry. Note, Many a Man ſins with Regret, that never has any true Regret for his Sin, is ſorry to ſin, yet is utterly a ſtranger to godly Sorrow; ſins with Reluctancy, and yet goes on to Sin. Dr. Hammond ſuggeſts, that one Reaſon of Herod's Sorrow, was becauſe it was his Birth-day Feſtival, and it would be an ill Omen to ſhed Blood on that Day, which as other Days of Joy us'd to be grac'd with Acts of Clemency, Natalem colimus, tacete lites.

(2.) Here's a pretended Conſcience of his Oath, with a ſpecious Shew of Honour and Honeſty, he muſt needs do ſomething for the Oaths ſake. Note, It is a great miſtake, to think that a wicked Oath will juſtifie a wicked Action. It was implied ſo neceſſarily, that it needed not be expreſs'd, that he would do any thing for her that was lawful and honeſt; and when ſhe demanded what was otherwiſe, he ought to have declar'd, and he might have done it honourably, that the Oath was null and void, and the Obligation of it ceaſed. No Man can oblige himſelf to Sin, becauſe God hath already ſo ſtrongly oblig'd every Man againſt Sin.

(3.) Here's a real Baſeneſs in Compliance with wicked Companions. Herod yielding, not ſo much for the ſake of the Oath, but becauſe it was publick, and in Complement to them that ſate at Meat with him; he granted the Demand, that he might not ſeem before them to have broke his Engagement. Note, A Point of Honour goes much further with many than a Point of Conſcience. Thoſe that ſate at Meat with him, probably, were as well pleas'd with the Damſel's Dancing as he, and therefore would have her by all means to be gratified in a Frolick, and perhaps was as willing as ſhe to ſee John Baptiſt's Head off. However, none of them had the Honeſty to interpoſe, as they ought to have done for the preventing of it, as Jehoiakim's Princes did, Jer. 36. 25. If ſome of the common People had been here, they would have reſcued this Jonathan, as 1 Sam. 14. 45.

(4.) Here's a real Malice to John at the bottom of this Conceſſion, or elſe he might have found out Evaſions enough to have gotten clear of his Promiſe. Note, Tho' a wicked Mind never wants an Excuſe, yet the truth of the Matter is, that every Man is tempted, when he is drawn aſide of his own Luſts and enticed, James 1. 14. Perhaps Herod preſently reflected upon the Extravagance of his Promiſe, on which ſhe might ground a Demand of ſome vaſt Sum of Money, which he lov'd a great deal better than John Baptiſt, was glad to get clear of it ſo eaſily, and therefore immediately Iſſues out a Warrant for the Beheading of John Baptiſt, it ſhould ſeem not in Writing, but only by Word of Mouth; ſo little account is made of that precious Life, he commanded it to be given her.

5. The Execution of John, purſuant to this Grant, v. 10. He ſent and Beheaded John in the Priſon. 'Tis probable the Priſon was, very near at the Gate of the Palace, and thither an Officer was ſent to cut off the Head of this great Man. He muſt be beheaded for expedition to gratifie Herodias, who was in a longing Condition till it was done. 'Twas done in the Night, for it was at Supper-time, after Supper it's likely. 'Twas done in the Priſon, not at the uſual Place of Execution, for fear of an Uproar. A great deal of innocent Blood, of Martyrs Blood has thus been huddled up in Corners, which when God comes to make Inquiſition for Blood the Earth ſhall diſcloſe, and ſhall no more cover, Iſa. 26. 21. Pſal. 9. 12.

Thus was that Voice ſilenced, that burning and ſhining Light extinguiſhed; thus did that Prophet, that Elias of the New Teſtament, fall a Sacrifice to the Reſentments of an Imperious Whoriſh Woman. Thus did he who was great in the ſight of the Lord, dye as a Fool dieth, his Hands were bound, and his Feet put into Fetters, and as a Man falleth before wicked Men, ſo he fell a true Martyr to all Intents and Purpoſes, dying, tho' not for the Profeſſion of his Faith yet for the Performance of his Duty. However, tho' his Work was ſoon done, it was done and his Teſtimony finiſhed, for till then none of God's Witneſſes are ſlain. And God brought this good out of it, that hereby his Diſciples, who, while he lived, tho' in Priſon, kept cloſe to him, now after his Death heartily clos'd with Jeſus Chriſt

Fifthly, The Diſpoſal of the poor Remains of this bleſſed Saint and Martyr. The Head and Body being ſeparated,

1. The Damſel brough the Head in Triumph to her Mother, as a Trophy of the Victories of her Malice and Revenge, v. 11. Jerom, ad Ruffin. relates, that when Herodias had John Baptiſt's Head brought her, ſhe gave herſelf the barbarous Diverſion of pricking the Tongue with a Needle, as Fulvia did Tully's. Note, Bloody Minds are pleas'd with bloody Sights, which thoſe of tender Spirits ſhrink and tremble at. Sometimes the inſatiable Rage of Bloody Perſecutor has fallen upon the dead Bodies of the Saints, and made Sport with them, Pſal. 79. 2. When the Witneſſes are ſlain, they that dwell on the Earth rejoyce over them, and make merry, Rev. 11. 10. Pſal. 14. 4, 5.

2. The Diſciples bury'd the Body, and brought the News in Tears to our Lord Jeſus. The Diſciples of John had faſted oft, while their Maſter was in Priſon, their Bridegroom was taken away from them, and they pray'd earneſtly for his Deliverance as the Church did for Peter's, Acts 12. 5. They had free acceſs to him in Priſon, which was a comfort to them, but they wiſh'd to ſee him at Liberty, that he might preach to others; but now on a ſudden all their Hopes are daſh'd. Diſciples weep and lament, when the World rejoyceth. Let us ſee what they did.

(1.) They bury'd the Body. Note, There is a Reſpect owing to the Servants of Chriſt, not only while they live, but in their Bodies and Memories when they are dead. Concerning the two firſt New Teſtament Martyrs, it is particularly taken notice of that they were decently bury'd, John Baptiſt by his Diſciples, and Stephen by devout Men, Acts 8. 2. yet there was no enſhrining of their Bones, or other Relicks, a piece of Superſtition which ſprung up long after when the Enemy had ſow'd Tares. That over-doing in reſpect to the Bodies of the Saints is undoing; tho' they are not to be vilified, yet they are not to be deified.

(2.) They went and told Jeſus; not ſo much that he might ſhift for his own Safety, no doubt he heard it from others, the Countrey rang of it, as that they might receive Comfort from him, and be taken in among his Diſciples. Note, 1. When any thing ails us at any time, it is our Duty and Privilege to make Chriſt acquainted with it. 'Twill be a relief to our burthened Spirits to unboſom ourſelves to a Friend we may be free with. Such a Relation dead, or unkind, ſuch a Comfort loſt or embitter'd, Go and tell Jeſus, who knows already, but will know from us the Trouble of our Souls in Adverſity. 2. We muſt take heed leſt our Religion, and the Profeſſion of it dye with our Miniſters; when John was dead they did not return every Man to his own, but reſolv'd to abide by it ſtill. When the Shepherds are ſmitten, the Sheep need not be ſcatter'd while they have the great Shepherd of the Sheep to go to, who is ſtill the ſame, Heb. 13. 7, 8. The removal of Miniſters ſhould bring us nearer to Chriſt, into a more immediate Communion with him. 3. Comforts, otherwiſe highly valuable, are ſometimes therefore taken from us, becauſe they come between us and Chriſt, and are apt to carry away that Love and Eſteem which is due to him only: John had long ſince directed his Diſciples to Chriſt, and turn'd them over to him, but they could not leave their old Maſter while he liv'd, therefore he is remov'd that they may go to Jeſus, whom they had ſometimes emulated and envy'd for John's ſake. 'Tis better be drawn to Chriſt by Want and Loſs, than not to come to him at all. If our Miniſters be taken from our Head, this is our Comfort, we have a Maſter in Heaven, who himſelf is our Head.

Joſephus mentions this Story of the Death of John Baptiſt, Antiq. l. 18. c. 7. and adds, that a fatal Deſtruction of Herod's Army, in his War with Aretas, the King of Petrea, (whoſe Daughter was Herod's Wife, whom he put away to make room for Herodias) was generally look'd upon by the Jews to be a juſt Judgment upon him for putting John Baptiſt to Death. Herod having at the Inſtigation of Herodias, diſoblig'd the Emperor, he was depriv'd of his Government, and they were both baniſh'd to Lions in France; which, ſaith Joſephus, was his juſt Puniſhment for hearkening to her Sollicitations. And, laſtly, it is Storied of this Daughter of Herodias, that going over the Ice in Winter, the Ice broke, and ſhe ſlipt in up to her Neck, which was cut thro' by the ſharpneſs of the Ice. God requiring her Head, (ſaith Dr. Whitby) for that of the Baptiſt; which if true, was a remarkable Providence.

13 When Jeſus heard of it, he departed thence by ſhip into a deſart place, apart: and when the people had heard thereof, they followed him on foot out of the cities. 14. And Jeſus went forth, and ſaw a great multitude, and was mov'd with compaſſion toward them, and he healed their ſick. 15 And when it was evening, his diſciples came to him, ſaying, This is a deſart place, and the time is now paſt; ſend the multitude away, that they may go into the villages, and buy themſelves victuals. 16 But Jeſus ſaid unto them, They need not depart, give ye them to eat. 17 And they ſay unto him, We have here but five loaves, and two fiſhes. 18 He ſaid, Bring them hither to me. 19 And he commanded the multitude to ſit down on the graſs, and took the five loaves, and the two fiſhes, and looked up to heaven, he bleſſed, and brake, and gave the loaves to his diſciples, and the diſciples to the multitude. 20 And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full. 21 And they that had eaten were above five thouſand men, beſide women and children.

This Paſſage of Story concerning Chriſt's feeding five thouſand Men with five Loaves and two Fiſhes, is recorded by all the four Evangeliſts, which very few, if any of Chriſt's Miracles are; this intimates, there's ſomething in it worthy of ſpecial remark. Obſerve, Firſt, The great Reſort of People to Chriſt, when he was retir'd into a deſart Place, v. 13. He withdrew into Privacy when he heard, not of John's Death, but of the Thoughts Herod had concerning him, that he was John Baptiſt riſen from the Dead, and therefore ſo fear'd Herod as to be hated, he departed further off, to get out of Herod's Juriſdiction. Note, In times of Peril, when God opens a Door of Eſcape, it is lawful to flee for our own Preſervation, unleſs we have ſome ſpecial Call to expoſe our ſelves. Chriſt's Hour was not yet come, and therefore he would not thruſt himſelf upon Suffering. He could have ſecur'd himſelf by divine Power, but becauſe his Life was intended for an Example, he did it by human Prudence, he departed by Ship. But a City on a Hill cannot be hid; when the People heard it, they followed him on foot from all parts. Such an Intereſt Chriſt had in the Affections of the Multitude, that his withdrawing from them, did but draw them after him with ſo much the more eagerneſs. Here as often the Scripture was fulfill'd, that unto him ſhall the gatheing of the People be. It ſhould ſeem there was more crowding to Chriſt after John's Martyrdom than before. Sometimes the Sufferings of the Saints are made to further the Goſpel, Phil. 1. 12. and the Blood of the Martyrs is the Seed of the Church. Now John's Teſtimony was finiſhed, it was recollected, and more improv'd than ever. Note, (1.) When Chriſt and his Word withdraw from us, it is beſt for us (whatever Fleſh and Blood may object to the contrary) to follow it, preferring Opportunities for our Souls before any ſecular Advantages whatſoever. When the Ark removes, ye ſhall remove and go after it, Joſh. 3. 3. (2.) Thoſe that truly deſire the ſincere Milk of the Word, will not ſtick at the Difficulties they may meet with in their attendance on it. The Preſence of Chriſt and his Goſpel make a deſart Place, not only tolerable, but deſirable, it makes the Wilderneſs an Eden, Iſa. 51. 3.—41. 19, 20.

Secondly, The tender Compaſſion of our Lord Jeſus towards thoſe that thus follow'd him, v. 14. (1.) He went forth and appear'd publickly among them. Tho' he retir'd for his own Security, and his own Repoſe, yet he went forth from his Retirement when he ſaw People deſirous to hear him, as one willing both to toil himſelf, and to expoſe himſelf for the good of Souls, for even Chriſt pleaſed not himſelf. (2.) When he ſaw the Multitude, he had Compaſſion on them. Note, The ſight of a great Multitude may juſtly move Compaſſion. To ſee a great Multitude, and to think how many precious immortal Souls here are, the greateſt part of which we have Reaſon to fear are neglected, and ready to periſh, would grieve one to the heart. None like Chriſt for Pity to Souls, his Compaſſions fail not. (3.) He did not only pity them, but he help'd them. Many of them were Sick, and he in Compaſſion to them healed them; for he came into the World to be the great Healer. After a while they were all hungry, and he in Compaſſion to them fed them. Note, In all the Favours Chriſt ſhew to us, he is moved with Compaſſion, Iſa. 63. 9.

Thirdly, The Motion which the Diſciples made for the diſmiſſing of the Congregation, and Chriſt's ſetting aſide the Motion. (1.) The Evening drawing on, the Diſciples mov'd it to Chriſt to ſend the Multitude away. They thought there was a good Days Work done, and it was time to diſperſe. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples are often more careful to ſhew their Diſcretion than to ſhew their Zeal, and their abundant Conſideration, rather than their abundant Affection in the things of God. (2.) Chriſt would not diſmiſs them hungry as they were, nor detain them longer without Meat, nor put them upon the Trouble and Charge of buying Meat for themſelves, but orders his Diſciples to provide for them. Chriſt all along expreſs'd more Tenderneſs towards the People than his Diſciples did; for what are the Compaſſions of the moſt merciful Men compar'd with the tender Mercies of God in Chriſt. See how loth Chriſt is to part with thoſe that are reſolv'd to cleave to him. They need not depart. Note, Thoſe that have Chriſt have enough, and need not depart to ſeek a Happineſs and Livelyhood in the Creature. They that have made ſure the one thing needful, need not be cumber'd about much Serving. Nor will Chriſt put his willing Followers upon a needleſs Expence, but will make their Attendance cheap to them.

But if they be hungry they have need to depart, for that's a Neceſſity which has no Law; therefore give you them to eat. Note, The Lord is for the Body, 'tis the Work of his Hands, 'tis part of his Purchaſe; he was himſelf clothed with a Body, that he might encourage us to depend upon him for the Supply of our bodily Wants. But he takes a particular care of the Body, when it is employ'd to ſerve the Soul in his more immediate Service. If we firſt ſeek the Kingdom of God, and make that our chief Care, we may depend upon God to add other things to us, as far as he ſees fit, and may caſt all our Care of them upon him. Theſe follow'd Chriſt but for a puſh, in a preſent pang of Zeal, yet Chriſt took this Care of them, much more will he provide for thoſe that follow him fully.

Fourthly, The ſlender Proviſion that was made for this great Multitude. And here we muſt compare the number of invited Gueſts with the Bill of Fare.

1. The Number of the Gueſts was five Thouſand Men, beſides Women and Children, and 'tis probable the Women and Children might be as many as the Men, if not more. This was a vaſt Auditory that Chriſt Preach'd to, and we have reaſon to think an attentive Auditory; and yet it ſhould ſeem far the greateſt part, notwithſtanding all this ſeeming Zeal and Forwardneſs, came to nothing; went off, and follow'd him no more; for many are call'd, but few choſen. We would rather perceive the Acceptableneſs of the Word by the Converſations, than by the Crowds of its Hearers, tho' that alſo is a good ſight, and a good ſign.

2. The Bill of Fare was very diſproportionable to the number of the Gueſts, but five Loaves, and two Fiſhes. This Proviſion the Diſciples carried about with them for the uſe of the Family, now they were retir'd into the Deſart. Chriſt could have fed them by Miracle, but to ſet us an Example of providing for thoſe of our own Houſholds, he will have their own Camp Victual'd in an ordinary way. Here's neither Plenty, nor Variety, nor Dainty. A Diſh of Fiſh was no Rarity to them that were Fiſhermen, but it was Food convenient for the Twelve; two Fiſhes for their Supper, and Bread to ſerve them, perhaps for a Day or two. Here was no Wine, or ſtrong Drink, fair Water from the Rivers in the Deſart, was the beſt they had to drink with their Meat; and yet out of this Chriſt will have the Multitude fed. Note, Thoſe that have but a little, yet when the Neceſſity is urgent, muſt relieve others out of that little, and that's the way to make it more. Can God furniſh a Table in the Wilderneſs? Yes, he can, when he pleaſeth, a plentiful Table.

Fifthly, The liberal Diſtribution of this Proviſion among the Multitude, v. 18, 19. Bring them hither to me. Note, The Way to have our Creature-comforts, Comforts indeed to us, is to bring them to Chriſt; for every thing is ſanctifi'd by his Word, and by Prayer to him. That's likely to proſper, and do well with us, which we put into the Hands of our Lord Jeſus, that he may diſpoſe of it as he pleaſeth, and that we may take it back from his Hand, and then it will be doubly ſweet to us. What we give in Charity, we ſhould bring to Chriſt firſt, that he may graciouſly accept it from us, and graciouſly bleſs it to thoſe to whom it is given; this is doing it as unto the Lord.

Now at this miraculous Meal, we may obſerve,

1. The Seating of the Gueſts, v. 19. He commanded them to ſit down; which intimates, that while he was Preaching to them they were ſtanding, which is a Poſture of Reverence and Readineſs for Motion. But what ſhall we do for Chairs for them all? Let them ſit down on the Graſs. When Ahaſuerus would ſhew the Riches of his glorious Kingdom, and the Honour of his excellent Majeſty in a Royal Feaſt for the great Men of all his Provinces, the Beds, or Couches they ſate on were of Gold and Silver, upon a Pavement of red and blue, and white and black Marble, Eſth. 1. 4. Our Lord Jeſus did now ſhew in a divine Feaſt the Riches of a more glorious Kingdom than that, and the Honour of a more excellent Majeſty, even a Dominion over Nature it ſelf; but here is not ſo much as a Cloth ſpread, no Plates, or Napkins laid, no Knives, or Forks, not ſo much as a Bench to ſit down on; but as if Chriſt intended indeed to reduce the World to the Plainneſs and Simplicity, and ſo to the Innocency and Happineſs of Adam in Paradice, he commanded them to ſit down on the Graſs. By doing every thing thus without any Pomp or Splendor, he plainly ſhew'd that his Kingdom was not of this World, nor cometh with Obſervation.

2. The craving of a Bleſſing. He did not appoint one of his Diſciples to be his Chaplain, but he himſelf looked up to Heaven, and Bleſſed, and gave Thanks; he praiſed God for the Proviſion they had and pray'd to God to bleſs it to them. His craving a Bleſſing, was commanding a Bleſſing; for as he Preach'd ſo he Pray'd, like one having Authority; and in this Prayer and Thankſgiving, we may ſuppoſe he had ſpecial reference to the multiplying of this Food; but herein he has taught us that good Duty of craving a Bleſſing, and giving Thanks at our Meals. God's good Creatures muſt be received with Thankſgiving, 1 Tim. 4. 4. Samuel bleſſed the Feaſt, 1 Sam. 9. 31. Acts 2. 46, 47.—27. 34, 35. This is Eating and Drinking to the Glory of God, 1 Cor. 10. 31. giving God Thanks, Rom. 14. 6. before God, as Moſes and his Father in-Law, Exod. 18. 15. When Chriſt bleſſed, he looked up to Heaven, to teach us in Prayer to eye God as a Father in Heaven, and when we receive our Creature Comforts, to look thitherward, as taking them from God's Hand, and depending on him for a Bleſſing.

3. The Carving of the Meat. The Maſter of the Feaſt was himſelf Head-carver, for he brake and gave the Loaves to the Diſciples, and the Diſciples to the Multitude. Chriſt intended hereby to put Honour upon his Diſciples, that they might be reſpected, as workers together with him. As alſo to ſignify in what way the ſpiritual Food of the Word ſhould be diſpens'd to the World; from Chriſt, as the original Author by his Miniſters. What Chriſt deſign'd for the Churches, he ſignified to his Servant John, Rev. 1. 1. 4. They deliver'd all that, and that only which they received from the Lord, 1 Cor. 11. 23. Miniſters can never fill the Peoples Hearts, unleſs Chriſt firſt fill their Hands. And what he has given to the Diſciples, they muſt give to the Multitude; for they are Stewards, to give to every one their Portion of Meat, Mat. 24. 45. And bleſſed be God, be the Multitude never ſo great, there's enough for all, enough for each.

4. The Increaſe of the Meat. This is taken notice of only in the Effect, not in the Cauſe, or Manner of it. Here is no mention of any Word that Chriſt ſpoke, by which the Food was multiplied; the Purpoſes and Intentions of his Mind, and Will ſhall take effect, tho' they be not ſpoken out. But this is obſervable, that the Meat was multiplied, not in the heap at firſt, but in the diſtribution of it. As the Widow's Oil increaſed in the pouring out, ſo here the Bread in the breaking. Thus Grace grows by being acted, and while other things periſh in the uſing, ſpiritual Gifts increaſe in the uſing. God Miniſters Seed to the Sower, and multiplies not the Seed hoarded up, but the Seed ſown, 1 Cor. 9. 10. Thus there is that ſcattereth, and yet increaſeth, that ſcattereth, and ſo increaſeth.

Sixthly, The plentiful Satisfaction of all the Gueſts with this Proviſion. Tho' the Diſproportion was ſo great, yet there was enough and to ſpare.

1. There was enough. They did all eat, and were fill'd. Note, Thoſe that Chriſt feeds he fills; ſo runs the Promiſe, Pſal. 37. 19. They ſhall be ſatiſfied. As there was enough for all, they did all eat, ſo there was enough for each, they were filled; tho' there was but a little, there was enough, and that's as good as a Feaſt. Note, The Bleſſing of God can make a little go a great way; as if God blaſts what we have, we eat, and have not enough, Hag. 1. 9.

2. There was to ſpare. They took up of the Fragments that remained twelve Baſkets full, one Baſket for each Apoſtle; thus what they gave they had again, and a great deal more with it; and they were ſo far from being nice, that they could make this broken Meat ſerve another time, and be thankful. This was to manifeſt and magnify the Miracle, and to ſhew that the Proviſion Chriſt makes for thoſe that are his, is not bare and ſcanty, but rich and plenteous, Bread enough, and to ſpare, Luke 15. 17. an overflowing fulneſs. Eliſha's multiplying the Loaves was ſomewhat like this, but far ſhort of it, and then it was ſaid, They ſhall eat, and leave, 2 Kings 4. 43.

It is the ſame divine Power, tho' exerted in an ordinary way, which multiplieth the Seed ſown in the Ground every Year, and makes the Earth yield her Increaſe; ſo that what was brought out by handfuls, is brought home in Sheaves. This is the Lord's doing; 'tis by Chriſt that all natural things conſiſt, and by the Word of his Power that they are upheld.

22 And ſtraightway Jeſus conſtrained his diſciples to get into a ſhip, and to go before him unto the other ſide, while he ſent the multitudes away. 23
And when he had ſent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone. 24
But the ſhip was now in the midſt of the ſea, toſſed with waves: for the wind was contrary. 25
And in the fourth watch of the night, Jeſus went unto them walking on the ſea. 26 And when the diſciples ſaw him walking on the ſea, they were troubled, ſaying, It is a ſpirit: and they cried out for fear. 27 But ſtraightway Jeſus ſpake unto them, ſaying, Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid.
28 And Peter anſwered him and ſaid, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water. 29
And he ſaid, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ſhip, he walked on the water, to go to Jeſus. 30 But when he ſaw the wind boiſtrous, he was afraid: and beginning to ſink, he cried, ſaying, Lord, ſave me. 31 And immediately Jeſus ſtretched forth his hand, and caught him, and ſaid unto him, O thou of litte faith, wherefore didſt thou doubt? 32 And when they were come into the ſhip, the wind ceaſed. 33 Then they that were in the ſhip, came and worſhipped him, ſaying, Of a truth thou art
the Son of God.

We have here the Story of another Miracle which Chriſt wrought for the Relief of his Friends and Followers, his walking upon the Water to his Diſciples. In the foregoing Miracle he acted as the Lord of Nature, improving its Power for the ſupply of thoſe that were in want: In this he acted as the Lord of Nature, correcting and controulling its Powers for the ſuccour of thoſe that were in Danger and Diſtreſs. Obſerve,

First, Chriſt's diſmiſſing of his Diſciples, and the Multitude, after he had fed them miraculouſly. He conſtrained his Diſciples to get into a Ship, and to go before him unto the other ſide, v. 22. St. John gives a particular Reaſon for the haſty breaking up of this Aſſembly, becauſe the People were ſo affected with the Miracle of the Loaves, that they were about to take him by force, and make him a King, Joh. 6. 15. to avoid which, he immediately ſcatter'd the People, ſent away the Diſciples, leſt they ſhould joyn with them, and he himſelf withdrew, John 6. 15.

When they had ſitten down to eat and drink, they did not riſe up to play, but each went to his Buſineſs.

(1.) Chriſt ſent the People away. It intimates ſomewhat of Solemnity in the diſmiſſing of them; he ſent them away with a Bleſſing, with ſome parting Words of Caution, Counſel and Comfort, which might abide with them.

(2.) He conſtrain'd the Diſciples to go into a Ship firſt, for till they were gone the People would not ſtir. The Diſciples were loth to go, and would not have gone, if he had not conſtrain'd them. They were loth to go to Sea without him. If thy Preſence go not with us, carry us not up hence, Exod. 35. 15. They were loth to leave him alone, without any Attendance, or any Ship to wait for him. But they did it in pure Obedience.

Secondly, Chriſt's Retirement hereupon, v. 23. He went up into a Mountain apart to Pray. Obſerve here,

1. That he was alone; he went apart into a ſolitary Place, and was there all alone. Tho' he had ſo much work to do with others, yet he choſe ſometimes to be alone, to ſet us an Example: Thoſe are not Chriſt's Followers that do not care for being alone, that cannot enjoy themſelves in Solitude, when they have none elſe to converſe with, none elſe to enjoy but God and their own Hearts.

2. That he was alone at Prayer, that was his Buſineſs in this Solitude to Pray. Tho' Chriſt as God was Lord of all, and was pray'd to, yet Chriſt as Man had the Form of a Servant, of a Beggar, and pray'd. Chriſt has herein ſet before us an Example of ſecret Prayer, and the performance of it ſecretly, according to the Rule he gave, Mat. 6. 6. Perhaps in this Mountain there was ſome private Oratory, or convenience provided for ſuch an Occaſion; 'twas uſual among the Jews to have ſuch. Obſerve, When the Diſciples went to Sea, their Maſter went to Prayer; when Peter was to be ſifted as Wheat, Chriſt pray'd for him.

3. That he was long alone, there he was when the Evening was come; and for ought appears, there he was till towards Morning, the fouth Watch of the Night. The Night came on, and it was a ſtormy, tempeſtuous Night, yet he continued inſtant in Prayer. Note, It is good, at leaſt ſometimes, upon ſpecial Occaſions, and when we find our Hearts enlarg'd, to continue long in ſecret Prayer, and to take full Scope in pouring out our Hearts before the Lord. We muſt not reſtrain Prayer, Job 15. 4.

Thirdly, The Condition that the poor Diſciples were in at this time. Their Ship was now in the midſt of the Sea, toſſed with Waves, v. 24. We may obſerve here,

1. That they were got into the midſt of the Sea, when the Storm roſe. We may have fair Weather at the Beginning of our Voyage, and yet meet with Storms before we arrive at the Port we are bound for. Therefore let not him that girdeth on the Harneſs boaſt, as he that putteth it off; but after a long Calm, expect ſome Storm or other.

2. The Diſciples were now where Chriſt ſent them, and yet met with this Storm. Had they been flying from their Maſter, and Work, as Jonah was, when he was arreſted by the Storm, it had been a dreadful one indeed, but they had a ſpecial Command from their Maſter to go to Sea at this Time, and were going about their Work. Note, It is no new thing for Chriſt's Diſciples to meet with Storms in the way of their Duty, and to be ſent to Sea then when their Maſter foreſees a Storm, but let them not take it unkindly, what he doth, they know not now, but they ſhall know hereafter, that Chriſt deſigns hereby to manifeſt himſelf with the more wonderful Grace to them, and for them.

3. It was a great Diſcouragement to them now that they had not Chriſt with them, as they had formerly when they were in a Storm; tho' he was then aſleep indeed, yet he was ſoon waked, Chap. 8. 24. But now he was not with them at all. Thus Chriſt uſeth his Diſciples, firſt to leſſer Difficulties, and then to greater, and ſo trains them up by degrees to live by Faith, and not by Senſe.

4. Tho' the Wind was contrary, and they were toſſed with Waves, yet being order'd by their Maſter to the other ſide, they did not tack about, and come back again, but made the beſt of their way forward. Note, Tho' Troubles and Difficulties may diſturb us in our Duty, they muſt not drive us from it. But thro' the midſt of them we muſt preſs forwards.

Fourthly, Chriſt's Approach to them in this Condition, v. 25. And in this we have an Inſtance.

1. Of his Goodneſs, that he went unto them, as one that took cognizance of their Caſe, and was under a concern about them, as a Father about his Children. Note, The Extremity of the Church and People of God, is Chriſt's Opportunity to viſit them, and appear for them. But he came not till the fourth Watch, towards three a Clock in the Morning, for then the fourth Watch began. It was in the Morning-watch that the Lord appear'd for Iſrael in the Red Sea, Exod. 14. 24. So was this, He that keepeth Iſrael neither ſlumbers nor ſleeps, but when there is occaſion walks in Darkneſs for their Succour, helps, and that right early.

2. Of his Power; that he went unto them walking on the Sea, This is a great Inſtance of Chriſt's ſovereign Dominion over all the Creatures; they are all under his Feet, and at his Command, forget their Natures, and change their Qualities that we call'd eſſential. We need not enquire how this was done, whether by condenſing the Surface of the Water, when God pleaſeth the Depths are congealed in the Heart of the Sea, Exod. 15. 8. or by ſuſpending the Gravitation of his Body, which was transfigur'd as he pleaſed; 'tis ſuffcient that it proves his divine Power, for it is God's Prerogative to tread upon the Waves of the Sea, Job 9. 8. as it is to ride upon the Wings of the Wind. He that made the Waters of the Sea a Wall for the redeemed of the Lord, Iſa. 51. 10. here makes them a Wall for the Redeemer himſelf, who as Lord of all appears with one Foot on the Sea, and the other on dry Land, Rev. 10. 2. The ſame Power that made Iron to ſwim, 2 Kings 6. 6. did this. What ailed thee, O thou Sea? Pſal. 114. 5. It was at the Preſence of the Lord. Thy Way, O God, is in the Sea, Pſal. 77. 19. Note, Chriſt can take what way he pleaſeth to ſave his People.

Fifthly, Here's an Account of what paſſed between Chriſt and his diſtreſſed Friends upon his Approach.

1. Between him and all the Diſciples. We are here told,

(1.) How their Fears were raiſ'd, v. 26. When they ſaw him walking on the Sea they were troubled, ſaying, it is a Spirit, φάντασμα ἐςι, it is an Apparition, ſo it might much better be render'd. It ſeems the Exiſtence and Appearance of Spirits was generally believ'd by all, except the Sadduces, whoſe Doctrine Chriſt had warn'd his Diſciples againſt; yet doubtleſs many ſuppoſed Apparitions have been meerly the Creatures of Mens own Fear and Fancy. Theſe Diſciples ſaid, It is a Spirit, when they ſhould have ſaid, It is the Lord, it can be no other. Note, (1.) Even the Appearances and Approaches of Deliverance are ſometimes the Occaſions of Trouble and Perplexity to God's People, who are ſometimes moſt frighten'd when they are leaſt hurt; nay, when they are moſt favour'd, as the Virgin Mary, Luke 1. 29. Exod. 3. 6, 7. The Comforts of the Spirit of Adoption are introduc'd by the Terrors of the Spirit of Bondage, Rom. 8. 15. (2.) The Appearance of a Spirit, or the Fancy of it, cannot but be frightful, and ſtrike a Terror upon us, becauſe of the diſtance of the World of Spirits from us, the juſt Quarrel good Spirits have with us, and the inveterate Enmity evil Spirits have againſt us; ſee Job 4. 14, 15. The more Acquaintance we have with God, the Father of Spirits, and the more careful we are to keep ourſelves in his Love, the better able we ſhall be to deal with thoſe Fears. (3.) The perplexing diſquieting Fears of good People ariſe from their Miſtakes and Miſapprehenſions concerning Chriſt, his Perſon, Offices and Undertaking, the more clearly and fully we know his Name, with the more Aſſurance we ſhall truſt in him, Pſal. 9. 10. (4.) A little thing frightens us in a Storm; when without are Fightings, no marvel that within are Fears. Perhaps the Diſciples fancied this was ſome evil Spirit that raiſ'd the Storm. Note, Moſt of our Danger from outward Troubles ariſeth from the occaſion they give for inward Troubles.

(2.) How theſe Fears were ſilenc'd, v. 27. He ſtraitway relieved them, by ſhewing them their Miſtake. When they were wreſtling with the Waves, he delayed his Succour for ſome time, but haſtened his Succour againſt their Fright, as much the more dangerous; he ſtraitway laid that Storm with this Word, Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid.

1. He rectified their Miſtake, by making himſelf known to them, as Joſeph to his Brethren. It is I. He doth not name himſelf as he did to Paul, I am Jeſus, for Paul as yet knew him not; but to theſe Diſciples 'twas enough to ſay, it is I; they knew his Voice, as his Sheep, John 10. 45. as Mary Magdalen, Joh. 20. 16. they need not aſk, Who art thou Lord? art thou for us, or for our Adverſaries? but could ſay with the Spouſe, it is the Voice of my Beloved, Cant. 2. 8.—5. 2. True Believers know it by a good Token. It was enough to make them eaſy to underſtand who it was they ſaw. Note, A right Knowledge opens the Door to true Comfort, eſpecially the Knowledge of Chriſt.

2. He encourag'd them againſt their Fright. It is I, and therefore (1.) Be of good cheer. Θαρσεῖτε, Be courageous; pluck up your Spirits, and be courageous. If Chriſt's Diſciples be not chearful in a Storm 'tis their own fault, he would have them ſo. (2.) Be not afraid. (1.) Be not afraid of me, now you know 'tis I, ſurely you will not fear, for you know I mean you no Hurt. Note, Chriſt will not be a Terror to thoſe to whom he manifeſts himſelf; when they come to underſtand him aright the Terror will be over. (2.) Be not afraid of the Tempeſt, of the Winds and Waves, tho' noiſy and very threatning, fear them not while I am ſo near you, I am he that concern myſelf for you, and will not ſtand by and ſee you periſh. Note, Nothing need be a Terror to thoſe that have Chriſt near them, and know he is theirs, no, not Death itſelf.

2. Between him and Peter, v. 28.—31. where obſerve,

1. Peter's Courage, and Chriſt's countenancing that.

(1.) It was very bold in Peter that he would venture to come to Chriſt upon the Water, v. 28. Lord, if it be thou, bid me come to thee. Courage was Peter's Maſter Grace, and that made him ſo forward above the reſt to expreſs his Love to Chriſt, tho' others perhaps loved him as well.

1. It is an Inſtance of Peter's Affection to Chriſt that he deſired to come to him. When he ſees Chriſt, whom doubtleſs during the Storm he had many a time wiſh'd for, he is impatient to be with him. He doth not ſay, Bid me walk upon the Waters, as deſiring it for the Miracles ſake, but bid me come to thee, as deſiring it for Chriſt's ſake. Let me come to thee, no matter how. Note, True Love will break thro' Fire and Water, if duly call'd to it to come to Chriſt. Chriſt was coming to them to ſuccour and deliver them, Lord, ſaith Peter, bid me come to thee. Note, When Chriſt is coming towards us in a way of Mercy, we muſt go forth to meet him in a way of Duty, and herein we muſt be willing and bold to venture with him, and venture for him. Thoſe that would have Benefit by Chriſt as a Saviour, muſt thus by Faith come to him. Chriſt had been now for ſome time abſent, and hereby it appears why he abſented himſelf, 'twas to endear himſelf ſo much the more to his Diſciples at his Return, to make it highly ſeaſonable, and doubly acceptable. Note, When for a ſmall Moment Chriſt has forſaken his People, his Returns are welcome, and moſt affectionately embrac'd; when gracious Souls after long ſeeking find their Beloved at laſt, they hold him, and will not let him go, Cant. 3. 4.

2. It is an Inſtance of Peter's Caution and due Obſervance of the Will of Chriſt, that he would not come without a Warrant. Not, If it be thou, I will come, but, If it be thou, bid me come. Note, The boldeſt Spirits muſt wait for a Call to hazardous Enterprizes, and we muſt not raſhly and preſumptuouſly thruſt ourſelves upon them. Our Will to Services and Sufferings is interpreted not Willingneſs, but Wilfulneſs, if it hath not a regard to the Will of Chriſt, and be not regulated by his Call and Command. Such extraordinary Warrants as this to Peter we are not now to expect, but muſt have recourſe to the general Rules of the Word, which how to apply to particular Caſes, with the help of providential Hints, Wiſdom is profitable to direct.

3. It is an Inſtance of Peter's Faith and Reſolution that he ventur'd upon the Water when Chriſt bid him. To quit the Safety of the Ship, and throw himſelf into the Jaws of Death, to deſpiſe thoſe threatning Waves he ſo lately dreaded, argued a very ſtrong Dependance upon the Power and Word of Chriſt; what Difficulty or Danger could ſtand before ſuch a Faith and ſuch a Zeal.

(2.) It was very kind and condeſcending in Chriſt that he was pleaſed to own him in it, v. 29. He might have condemned the Propoſal as fooliſh and raſh, nay, as proud and aſſuming. Shall Peter pretend to do as his Maſter doth? but Chriſt knew that it came from a ſincere and zealous Affection to him, and graciouſly accepted of it. Note, Chriſt is well pleaſed with the Expreſſions of his Peoples Love, tho' mix'd with manifold Infirmities, and makes the beſt of them.

1. He bid him come. When the Phariſees ask'd a Sign, they had not only a Repulſe, but a Reproof for it, becauſe they did it with a deſign to tempt Chriſt; when Peter ask'd a Sign he had it, becauſe he did it with a Reſolution to truſt Chriſt. The Goſpel Call is Come, come to Chriſt, venture all in his Hand, and commit the keeping of your Souls to him; venture thro' a ſtormy Sea, a troubleſome World, to Jeſus Chriſt.

2. He bore him out when he did come. He walked upon the Water. The Communion of true Believers with Chriſt is repreſented by their being quickned with him, and raiſed up with him, and made to ſit with him, Eph. 2. 5, 6. and their being crucified with him, Gal. 2. 20. Now methinks it is repreſented in this Story by their walking with him on the Water, thro' the Strength of Chriſt we are born up above the World, are enabled to trample upon it, kept from ſinking into it, from being overwhelm'd by it, obtain a Victory over it, 1 John 5. 4. by Faith in Chriſt's Victory, John 16. ult. and with him are crucified to it, Gal. 6. 14. See bleſſed Paul walking upon the Water with Jeſus, and more than a Conqueror thro' him, and treading upon all the threatning Waves, as not able to ſeparate him from the Love of Chriſt, Rom. 8. 35, &c. Thus the Sea of the World is become like a Sea of Glaſs, congealed ſo as to bear, and they that have gotten the Victory ſtand upon it and ſing, Rev. 15. 2, 3.

He walked upon the Water, not for Diverſion or Oſtentation, but to go to Jeſus, and in that he was thus wonderfully born up. Note, When our Souls are following hard after God, then it is that his Right-hand upholds us; 'twas David's Experience, Pſal. 63. 8. Special Supports are promiſed, and are to be expected only in ſpiritual Purſuits. When God bears his Iſrael upon Eagles Wings, 'tis to bring them to himſelf, Exod. 19. 4. Nor can we ever come to Jeſus, unleſs we be upheld by his Power; 'tis in his own Strength that we wreſtle with him, that we reach after him, that we preſs forward toward the Mark, being kept by the Power of God, which Power we muſt depend upon, as Peter when he walked upon the Water; and there is no danger of ſinking while underneath are the everlaſting Arms.

2. Here's Peter's Cowardice, and Chriſt's reproving him, and ſuccouring him. Chriſt bid him come, not only that he might walk upon the Water, and ſo know Chriſt's Power, but that he might ſink, and ſo know his own Weakneſs; for as he would encourage his Faith, ſo he would check his Confidence, and make him aſhamed of it. Obſerve then,

1. Peter's great Fear, v. 30. He was afraid. The ſtrongeſt Faith and the greateſt Courage has a Mixture of Fear; thoſe that can ſay, Lord I believe, muſt ſay, Lord help my Unbelief. Nothing but perfect Love will quite caſt out Fear. Good Men often fail in thoſe Graces they are moſt eminent for, and which they have then in Exerciſe, to ſhew that they have not yet attained. Peter was very ſtout at firſt, but afterwards his Heart failed him. The lengthening out of a Trial diſcovers the Weakneſs of Faith.

Here's 1. The Cauſe of this Fear. He ſaw the Wind boiſterous. While Peter kept his Eye fix'd upon Chriſt, and upon his Word and Power, he walked upon the Water well enough, but when he took notice withal of the Danger he was in, and obſerv'd how the Floods lift up their Waves, then he feared. Note, Looking at Difficulties with an Eye of Senſe, more than at Precepts and Promiſes with an Eye of Faith, is at the bottom of all our inordinate Fears, both as to publick and perſonal Concerns. Abraham was ſtrong in Faith, becauſe he conſidered not his own Body, Rom. 4. 19. He minded not the diſcouraging Improbabilities which the Promiſe lay under, but kept his Eye on God's Power, and ſo againſt Hope believed in Hope, v. 18. Peter when he ſaw the Wind boiſterous ſhould have remembred what he had ſeen, Chap. 8. 27. when the Winds and the Sea obey'd Chriſt; but therefore we fear continually every Day, becauſe we forget the Lord our Maker, Iſa. 51. 12, 13.

2. The Effect of this Fear, he began to ſink. While Faith kept up he kept above Water, but when Faith ſtagger'd he began to ſink.

Note, The ſinking of our Spirits is owing to the Weakneſs of our Faith; we are upheld (but it is as we are ſav'd) thro' Faith, 1 Pet. 1. 5. and therefore when our Souls are caſt down and diſquieted, the ſovereign Remedy is to hope in God, Pſal. 43. 5. It is likely Peter, being bred a Fiſherman, could ſwim very well, it ſhould ſeem ſo by John 21. 7. and perhaps he truſted in part to that when he caſt himſelf into the Sea; if he could not walk he could ſwim; but Chriſt let him begin to ſink, to ſhew him that it was Chriſt's Right-hand and his holy Arm, not any Skill of his own that was his Security. It was Chriſt's great Mercy to him, that upon the failing of his Faith he did not leave him to ſink outright, to ſink to the bottom as a Stone (Exod. 15. 5.) but gave him time to cry, Lord ſave me. Such is the Care of Chriſt concerning true Believers tho' weak, they do but begin to ſink; a Man is never ſunk, never undone, till he is in Hell. Peter walk'd as he believ'd; to him as to others the Rule held good, According to your Faith be it unto you.

3. The Remedy he had recourſe to in this Diſtreſs; the old tried approved Remedy, and that was Prayer; he cry'd, Lord ſave me. Obſerve (1.) the manner of his praying, 'tis fervent and importunate, he cried. Note, When Faith is weak, Prayer ſhould be ſtrong. Our Lord Jeſus has taught us in the Day of our Fear to offer up ſtrong Cries, Heb. 5. 7. Senſe of Danger will make us cry; Senſe of Duty and Dependance on God ſhould make us cry to him. (2.) The Matter of his Prayer was pertinent, and to the purpoſe; he cried, Lord ſave me. Chriſt is the great Saviour, he came to ſave; thoſe that would be ſav'd muſt not only come to him, but cry to him for Salvation; but we are never brought to this till we find ourſelves ſinking; Senſe of Need will drive us to him.

2. Chriſt's great Favour to Peter in this Fright. Tho' there was a Mixture of Preſumption with Peter's Faith in his firſt Adventure, and of Unbelief with his Faith in his after fainting, yet Chriſt did not caſt him off. For,

1. He ſaved him. He anſwered him with the ſaving Strength of his Right-hand, Pſal. 20. 6. for immediately he ſtretched forth his Hand and caught him. Note, Chriſt's Time to ſave is when we ſink, Pſal. 18. 4–7. He helps at a dead Lift. Chriſt's Hand is ſtill ſtretched out to all Believers to keep them from ſinking. Thoſe whom he hath once apprehended as his own, and hath ſnatched as Brands out of the burning, he will catch out of the Water too; tho' he may ſeem to have left his Hold, he doth but ſeem to do ſo, for they ſhall never periſh, neither ſhall any Man pluck them out of his Hand, John 10. 28. Never fear, he will hold his own. Our Deliverance from our own Fears, which elſe would overwhelm us, is owing to the Hand of his Power and Grace, Pſal. 34. 4.

2. He rebuked him, for as many as he loves and ſaves he reproves and chides: O thou of little Faith, wherefore didſt thou doubt? Note, (1.) Faith may be true and yet weak, at firſt like a Grain of Muſtard-Seed. Peter had Faith enough to bring him upon the Water, yet becauſe not enough to carry him thro, Chriſt tells him he had but a little. (2.) Our diſcouraging Doubts and Fears are all owing to the Weakneſs of our Faith; therefore we doubt, becauſe we are but of little Faith; 'tis the Buſineſs of Faith to reſolve Doubts, the Doubts of Senſe in a ſtormy Day, ſo as even then to keep the Head above Water; could we but believe more we ſhould doubt leſs. (3.) The Weakneſs of our Faith and the Prevalency of our Doubts is very diſpleaſing to our Lord Jeſus; 'tis true he doth not caſt off weak Believers, but it is as true that he is not pleaſed with weak Faith, no, not in thoſe that are neareſt to him. Wherefore didſt thou doubt? what reaſon was there for it? Note, Our Doubts and Fears would ſoon vaniſh before a ſtrict Enquiry into the Cauſe of them; for all things conſider'd, there's no good reaſon why Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould be of a doubtful Mind, no, not in a ſtormy Day, becauſe he is ready to them a very preſent Help.

Sixthly, The ceaſing of the Storm, v. 32. When Chriſt was come into the Ship they were preſently at the Shore. Chriſt walk'd upon the Water till he came to the Ship, and then took into that, when he could as eaſily have walked to the Shore; but when ordinary Means are to be had, Miracles are not to be expected; tho Chriſt needs not Inſtruments for the doing of his Work, he is pleaſed to uſe them. Obſerve, when Chriſt came into the Ship, Peter came in with him. Companions with Chriſt in his Patience, ſhall be Companions in his Kingdom, Rev. 1. 9. Thoſe that walk with him ſhall reign with him, that are expos'd, and ſuffer with him, ſhall triumph with him.

When they were come into the Ship, immediately the Storm ceaſed, for it had done its Work, its trying Work. He that has gathered the Wind into his Fiſts, and bound the Waters in a Garment, is the ſame that aſcended and deſcended, and his Word, his Will, even ſtormy Winds fulfil, Pſal. 148. 8. When Chriſt comes into a Soul he makes Winds and Storms to ceaſe there, and commands the Peace. Welcome Chriſt, and the Noiſe of her Waves will ſoon be quell'd. The way to be ſtill is to know that he is God, that he is the Lord with us.

Seventhly, The Adoration paid to Chriſt hereupon, v. 33. They that were in the Ship came and worſhipped him, and ſaid, Of a Truth thou art the Son of God. Two good Uſes they made of this Diſtreſs and this Deliverance.

1. It was a Confirmation of their Faith in Chriſt, and abundantly convinc'd them that the Fulneſs of the Godhead dwelt in him; for none but the World's Creator could multiply the Loaves, none but its Governor could tread upon the Waters of the Sea, they therefore yield to the Evidence, and make Confeſſion of their Faith, Thou truly art the Son of God. They knew before that he was the Son of God, but now they know it better. Faith after a Conflict with Unbelief is ſometimes the more active, and gets to greater degrees of Strength by being exercis'd. Now they know it of a Truth. Note, It is good for us to know more and more of the Certainty of thoſe things wherein we have been inſtructed, Luke 1. 4. Faith then grows when it arrives to a full Aſſurance, when it ſees clearly, and ſaith, Of a Truth.

2. They took occaſion from it to give him the Glory due unto his Name. They not only own'd that great Truth, but were ſuitably affected with it, they worſhipped Chriſt. Note, When Chriſt manifeſts his Glory for us, we ought to return it to him, Pſal. 50. 15. I will deliver thee, and thou ſhalt glorify me. Their Worſhip and Adoration of Chriſt was thus expreſs'd, Of a Truth thou art the Son of God. Note, The Matter of our Creed may and muſt be made the Matter of our Praiſe. Faith is the proper Principle of Worſhip, and Worſhip the genuine Product of Faith. He that comes to God muſt believe, and he that believes in God will come, Heb. 11. 6.

34 And when they were gone over, they came into the land of Genneſaret. 35 And when the men of that place had knowledge of him, they ſent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that were diſeaſed. 36 And beſought him that they might only touch the hem of his garment: and as many as touched were made perfectly whole.

We have here an account of Miracles by wholeſale which Chriſt wrought on the other ſide the Water, in the Land of Genneſaret. Wherever Chriſt went he was doing good. Genneſaret was a Tract of Land that lay between Bethſaida and Capernaum, and either gave the Name to, or took the Name from this Sea, which is called Luke 5. 1. the Lake of Genneſaret, it ſignifies the Valley of Branches, Obſerve here, Firſt, The Forwardneſs and Faith of the Men of that Place. Theſe were more noble than the Gergeſens their Neighbours, who were Borderers upon the ſame Lake. Thoſe beſought Chriſt to depart from them, they had no occaſion for him; theſe beſought him to help them, they had need of him. Chriſt reckons it the greateſt Honour we can do him to make uſe of him. Now here we are told,

1. How the Men of that Place were brought to Chriſt; they had Knowledge of him. 'Tis likely his miraculous Paſſage over the Sea, which they that were in the Ship would induſtriouſly ſpread the Report of, might help to make way for his Entertainment in thoſe Parts, and perhaps 'twas one thing Chriſt intended in it, for he has great Reaches in what he doth. This they had Knowledge of, and of other the Miracles Chriſt had wrought, and therefore they flock'd to him. Note, They that know Chriſt's Name will make their Application to him. If Chriſt were better known he would not be neglected as he is; he's truſted as far as he's known.

They had Knowledge of him, i. e. of his being among them, and that he would be but a while among them. Note, The diſcerning of the Day of our Opportunities is a good Step towards the Improvement of it. This was the Condemnation of the World, that Chriſt was in the World, and the World knew him not, John 1. 42. Jeruſalem knew not, Luke 19. 10. But there were ſome that when he was among them had Knowledge of him. It is better to know that there is a Prophet among us, than that there has been one, Ezek. 2. 5.

2. How they brought others to Chriſt, by giving notice to their Neighbours of Chriſt's being come into thoſe Parts. They ſent out into all that Country. Note, Thoſe that have got the Knowledge of Chriſt themſelves, ſhould do all they can to bring others acquainted with him too. We muſt not eat theſe ſpiritual Morſels alone; there is in Chriſt enough for us all, ſo that there is nothing got by monopolizing. When we have Opportunities of getting Good to our Souls, we ſhould bring as many as we can to ſhare with us. More than we think of would cloſe with Opportunities, if they were but call'd upon and invited to them. They ſent into their own Country, becauſe it was their own, and they deſired the Welfare of it. Note, We can no better teſtify our Love to our Country, than by promoting and propagating the Knowledge of Chriſt in it. Neighbourhood is an Advantage of doing Good, which muſt be improved. Thoſe that are near to us we ſhould contrive to do ſomething for, at leaſt by our Example to bring them near to Chriſt.

3. What their Buſineſs was with Chriſt; not only, perhaps not chiefly, if at all to be taught, but to have their Sick healed. They brought unto him all that were diſeaſed. If Love to Chriſt and his Doctrine will not bring them to him, yet Self-love would. Did we but rightly ſeek our own things, the things of our own Peace and Welfare, we ſhould ſeek the things of Chriſt. We ſhould do him Honour, and pleaſe him, by deriving Grace and Righteouſneſs from him. Note, Chriſt is the proper Perſon to bring the Diſeaſed to; whither ſhould they go but to the Phyſician, to the Son of Righteouſneſs, that hath healing under his Wings.

4. How they made their Application to him. They beſought him that they may only touch the Hem of his Garment, v. 36. They applied themſelves to him, (1.) with great Importunity, they beſought him. Well may we beſeech to be heal'd, when God by his Miniſters beſeecheth us that we will be heal'd. Note, The greateſt Favours and Bleſſings are to be obtain'd from Chriſt by Intreaty. Aſk and it ſhall be given. (2.) With great Humility; they came to him as thoſe that were ſenſible of their Diſtance, humbly beſeeching him to help them. And their deſiring to touch the Hem of his Garment, intimates, they thought themſelves unworthy that he ſhould take any particular Notice of them, that he ſhould ſo much as ſpeak to their Caſe, much leſs touch them for their Cure; but they will look upon it as a great Favour, if he will give them leave to touch the Hem of his Garment. The Eaſtern Nations ſhew reſpect to their Princes by kiſſing their Sleeve or Skirt. (3.) With great Aſſurance of the All-ſufficiency of his Power, not doubting but they ſhould be heal'd even by touching the hem of his Garment, that they ſhould receive abundant Communication from him by the ſmalleſt Token or Symbol of Communion with him. They did not expect the Formality of ſtriking his Hand over the Place or Perſons diſeaſed as Naaman did, 2 Kings 5. 11. but were ſure there was in him ſuch an overflowing fulneſs of healing Virtue, that they could not fail of a Cure, that were but admitted near him. It was in this Country and Neighbourhood that the Woman with the bloody Iſſue was cured by touching the Hem of his Garment, and was commended for her Faith, Mat. 9. 20, 21, 22. And thence probably they took Occaſion to aſk this. Note, The Experiences of others in their Attendance on Chriſt may be of uſe both to direct, and to encourage us in our Attendance on him. 'Tis good uſing thoſe Means and Methods, which others before us have ſped well in the Uſe of.

Secondly, The Fruit and Succeſs of this their Application to Chriſt. It was not in vain that theſe Sons of Jacob ſought him, for as many as touched were made perfectly whole. Note, (1.) Chriſt's Cures are perfect Cures, Thoſe that he heals, he heals perfectly. He doth not do his Work by Halves. Though ſpiritual Healing be not perfected at firſt, yet doubtleſs he that has begun the good Work, will perform it, Phil. 1. 6. (2.) There is abundance of healing Virtue in Chriſt for all that apply themſelves to him, be they never ſo many. That precious Ointmeut which was pour'd on his Head, ran down to the Skirts of his Garments, Pſal. 133. 2. The leaſt of Chriſt's Inſtitutions, like the Hem of his Garment, is replenished with the overflowing Fulneſs of his Grace, and he is able to ſave to the uttermoſt. (3.) The Healing Virtue that is in Chriſt, is put forth for the Benefit of thoſe that by a true and lively Faith touch him. Chriſt is in Heaven, but his Word is nigh us, and he himſelf in that Word. When we mix Faith with the Word, apply it to ourſelves, depend upon it, and ſubmit to the Influences and Commands of it; then we touch the Hem of Chriſt's Garment. 'Tis but thus touching; and we are made whole. On ſuch eaſy Terms are ſpiritual Cures offer'd by him, that may truly be ſaid to heal freely; ſo that if our Souls dye of their Wounds it is not long of our Phyſician, 'tis not for Want of Skill or Will in him; but it is purely long of our ſelves. He could have healed us, he would have healed us, but we would not be healed; ſo that our Blood will lye upon our own Heads.

CHAP. XV.

In this Chapter we have our Lord Jeſus, as the great Prophet teaching, as the great Phyſician healing, and as the great Shepherd of the Sheep feeding, as the Father of Spirits inſtructing them; as the Conqueror of Satan diſpoſſeſſing him, and as concern'd for the Bodies of his People, providing for them. Here, (1.) Chriſt's Diſcourſe with the Scribes and Phariſees about Humane Traditions and Injunctions, v. 1.—9. (2.) His Diſcourſe with the Multitude and with his Diſciples, concerning the things that defile a Man, v. 10.—20. (3.) His caſting the Devil out of the Woman of Canaan's Daughter, v. 21. 28. (4.) His Healing of all that were brought to him, v. 29—31. (5.) His Feeding four Thouſand Men, with ſeven Loaves and a few little Fiſhes, v. 32.—39.

THen came to Jeſus Scribes and Phariſees, which were of Jeruſalem, ſaying, 2 Why do thy Diſciples tranſgreſs the tradition of the elders? for they waſh not their hands when they eat bread. 3 But he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Why do you alſo tranſgreſs the commandment of God by your Tradition? 4 For God commanded, ſaying, Honour thy father and mother: and, He that curſeth father or mother, let him die the death. 5 But ye ſay, Whoſoever ſhall ſay to his father or his mother, It is a gift by whatſoever thou mighteſt be profited by me, 6 And honour not his father or his mother, he ſhall be free. Thus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition. 7 Ye hypocrites, well did Eſaias propheſy of you, ſaying, 8 This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips: but their heart is far from me. 9 But in vain they do worſhip me, teaching for Doctrines the commandments of men.

Evil Manners, we ſay, beget good Laws: The intemperate Heat of the Jewiſh Teachers for the Support of their Hierarchy, occaſion'd many excellent Diſcourſes of our Saviour's, for the Settling of the Truth, as here.

Firſt, Here's the Cavil of the Scribes and Phariſees at Chriſt's Diſciples, for eating with unwaſhen Hands. The Scribes and Phariſees were the Topping Men of the Jewiſh Church, Men, whoſe Gain was Godlineſs, great Enemies to the Goſpel of Chriſt, but colouring their Oppoſition with a Pretence of Zeal for the Law of Moſes; when really nothing was intended but the Support of their own Tyranny over the Conſciences of Men. They were Men of Learning, and Men of Buſineſs. Theſe Scribes and Phariſees here introduc'd were of Jeruſalem, the Holy City, the Head City, whither the Tribes went up, and where were ſet the Thrones of Judgment; they ſhould therefore have been better than others, but they were worſe. Note, External Privileges, if they be not duly improv'd, commonly ſwell Men up the more with Pride and Malignity. Jeruſalem ſhould have been a pure Spring, was now become a poiſon'd Sink. How is the faithful City become a Harlot!

Now if theſe great Men be the Accuſers, pray, what is the Accuſation? What Articles do they exhibit againſt the Diſciples of Chriſt? Why, truly the thing laid to their Charge is Nonconformity to the Canons of their Church, v. 2. Why do thy Diſciples tranſgreſs the Tradition of the Elders? This Charge they make good in a particular Inſtance, They waſh not their Hands when they eat Bread. A very high Miſdemeanor! 'Twas a Sign Chriſt's Diſciples carried themſelves inoffenſively, when this was the worſt thing they could charge them with.

Obſerve, 1. What was the Tradition of the Elders, That People ſhould often waſh their Hands, and always at Meat. This they plac'd a great deal of Religion in, ſuppoſing that the Meat they touch'd with unwaſhen Hands would be defiled to them. The Phariſees practiſed this themſelves, and with a great deal of Strictneſs impos'd it upon others, not under civil Penalties, but as Matter of Conſcience, and making it a Sin againſt God if they did not do it. Rabbi Joſes determin'd, That to eat with unwaſhen Hands was as great a Sin as Adultery. And Rabbi Akiba being kept a cloſe Priſoner, having Water ſent him both to waſh his Hands with and to drink with his Meat, the greateſt Part being accidentally ſhed, he waſh'd his Hands with the Remainder, though he left himſelf none to drink, ſaying, He would rather die than trangreſs the Tradition of the Elders. Nay, they would not eat Meat with one that did not waſh before Meat. This mighty Zeal in ſo ſmall a Matter would appear very ſtrange, if we did not ſtill ſee it incident to Church Oppreſſors, not only to be fond of practiſing their own Inventions, but to be furious in preſſing their own Impoſitions.

2. What was the Tranſgreſſion of this Tradition or Injunction by the Diſciples; it ſeems they did not waſh their Hands when they eat Bread, which was the more offenſive to the Phariſees, becauſe they were Men that in other things were ſtrict and conſcientious. The Cuſtom was innocent enough, and had a Decency in its Civil Uſe; We read of the Water for purifying at the Marriage where Chriſt was preſent, John 2. 6. though Chriſt turned it into Wine, and ſo put an end of that Uſe of it. But when it came to be practis'd and impos'd as a Religious Rite and Ceremony, and ſuch a Streſs laid upon it; the Diſciples tho' weak in Knowledge, yet were ſo well taught, as not to comply with it or obſerve it; no, not when the Scribes and Phariſees had their Eye upon them. They had already learned St. Paul's Leſſon, All things are lawful for me, no doubt 'tis lawful to waſh before Meat; but I will not be brought under the Power of any, eſpecially not of thoſe who ſaid to their Souls, Bow down that we may go over, 1 Cor. 6. 12.

3. What was the Complaint of the Scribes and Phariſees againſt them: They quarrel with Chriſt about it, ſuppoſing that he allow'd them in it, as he did no doubt by his own Example. Why do thy Diſciples tranſgreſs the Canons of the Church, and why doſt thou ſuffer them to do it? 'Twas well the Complaint was made to Chriſt; for the Diſciples themſelves, though they knew their Duty in this Caſe, yet perhaps were not ſo well able to give a Reaſon for what they did, as were to be wiſh'd.

Secondly, Here is Chriſt's Anſwer to this Cavil, and his Juſtification of the Diſciples in that which was charg'd upon them as a Tranſgreſſion. Note, While we ſtand faſt in the Liberty wherewith Chriſt has made us free, he will be ſure to bear us out in it.

Two Ways Chriſt replies upon them,

1. By Way of Recrimination, v.—6. They were ſpying Motes in the Eyes of his Diſciples, but Chriſt ſhews them a Beam in their own. But that which he charges upon them, is not barely a Recrimination, for it will be no Vindication of ourſelves, to condemn our Reprovers; but it is ſuch a Cenſure of their Tradition (and the Authority of that was it they built their Charge upon) as makes not only a Non-compliance lawful, but an Oppoſition a Duty. That human Authority muſt never be ſubmitted to, which ſets up in Competition with divine Authority.

The Charge in general is, You tranſgreſs the Commandment of God, by your Tradition. They call'd it the Tradition of the Elders, laying Streſs upon the Antiquity of the Uſage, and the Authority of them that impos'd it, as the Church of Rome doth upon Fathers and Councils; but Chriſt calls it their Tradition. Note, Illegal Impoſitions will be laid to the Charge of thoſe that ſupport and maintain them, and keep them up, as well as of thoſe who firſt invented and enjoyn'd them, Mic. 6. 16. You tranſgreſs the Commandment of God. Note, Thoſe that are moſt zealous of their own Impoſitions are commonly moſt careleſs of God's Commands; which is a good reaſon why Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould ſtand upon their Guard againſt ſuch Impoſitions, leſt tho' at firſt they ſeem only to infringe the Liberty of Chriſtians, they come at length to confront the Authority of Chriſt. Tho' the Phariſees in this Command of waſhing before Meat, did not intrench upon any Command of God; yet becauſe in other Inſtances they did, he juſtifies his Diſciples Diſobedience to this.

(2.) The Proof of this Charge is in a particular Inſtance, that of their Tranſgreſſing the fifth Commandment.

1. Let us ſee what the Command of God is, v. 4. what the Precept, and what the Sanction of the Law is.

The Precept is, Honour thy Father and thy Mother; this is enjoyn'd by the common Father of Mankind, and by paying Reſpect to them, whom Providence has made the Inſtruments of our Being, we give Honour to him who is the Author of it, who has thereby, as to us put ſome of his Image upon them. The whole of Childrens Duty to their Parents is included in this of honouring them, which is the Spring and Foundation of all the reſt: If I be a Father, where is my Honour? Our Saviour here ſuppoſes it to mean the Duty of Childrens maintaining their Parents, and miniſtring to their Wants, if there be occaſion, and being every way ſerviceable to their Comfort. Honour Widows, i. e. maintain them, 1 Tim 5. 3.

The Sanction of this Law is the fifth Commandment, is a Promiſe, that thy Days may be long; but our Saviour waves that, leſt any ſhould thence infer it to be only a thing commendable and profitable, and inſiſts upon the Penalty annex'd to the Breach of this Commandment in another Scripture, which ſpeaks the Duty highly and indiſpenſably neceſſary; he that curſeth Father, or Mother, let him dye the Death: This Law we have, Exod. 21. 17. The Sin of Curſing Parents, is here oppos'd to the Duty of honouring them. Thoſe that ſpeak Ill of their Parents, or wiſh Ill to them, that mock at them, or give them taunting and opprobrious Language, break this Law. If to call a Brother Raca be ſo penal, what is it to call a Father ſo? By our Saviour's Application of this Law, it appears, that denying Service or Relief to Parents, is included in Curſing of them. Tho' the Language be reſpectful enough, and nothing abuſive in it, yet what will that avail if the Deeds be not agreeable? 'tis but like him that ſaid, I go Sir, and went not, Mat. 21. 30.

2. Let us ſee what was the Contradiction which the Tradition of the Elders gave to this Command. 'Twas not direct, and downright, but implicit; their Caſuiſts gave them ſuch Rules as furniſhed them with an eaſy Evaſion from the Obligation of this Command, v. 5, 6. You hear what God ſaith, but ye ſay ſo and ſo. Note, That which Men ſay, even great Men, and learned Men, and Men in Authority, muſt be examin'd by that which God ſaith, and if it be found either contrary or inconſiſtent, it may, and muſt be rejected, Acts 4. 19. Obſerve,

1. What their Tradition was; that a man could not in any caſe beſtow his Worldly Eſtate better than to give it to the Prieſts, and devote it to the Service of the Temple: And that when any thing was ſo devoted, it was not only unlawful to alienate it, but all other Obligations, tho' never ſo juſt and ſacred, were thereby ſuperſeeded, and a Man was thereby diſcharg'd from them. And this proceeded partly from their Ceremoniouſneſs, and the ſuperſtitious Regard they had to the Temple, and partly from their Covetouſneſs, and Love of Money; for what was given to the Temple they were gainers by. The former was in Pretence, the latter was in Truth, at the bottom of this Tradition.

2. How they allow'd the Application of this to the Caſe of Children. When their Parents Neceſſities call for their Aſſiſtance, they pleaded, That all they could ſpare from themſelves and their Children, they had devoted to the Treaſury of the Temple. It is a Gift by whatſoever thou mighteſt be profited by me, and therefore their Parents muſt expect nothing from them; ſuggeſting withal that the ſpiritual Advantage of what was ſo devoted would redound to the Parents, who muſt live upon that Air. This they taught was a good and valid Plea, and many undutiful, unnatural Children made uſe of it, and they juſtified them in it, and ſaid, He ſhall be free; ſo we ſupply the Senſe: Some go further, and ſupply it thus, He doth well, his Days ſhall be long in the Land, and he ſhall be look'd upon as having duly obſerv'd the fifth Commandment. The Pretence of Religion would make his Refuſal to provide for his Parents not only paſſable, but plauſible. But the Abſurdity, and Impiety of this Tradition was very evident; for revealed Religion, was intended to improve, not to overthrow natural Religion, one of the fundamental Laws, of which is this of honouring our Parents, and had they known what that meant, I will have Juſtice, and Mercy, and not Sacrifice, they had not thus made the moſt arbitrary Rituals deſtructive of the moſt neceſſary Morals. This was making the Commandment of God of none effect. Note, Whatever leads to, or countenanceth Diſobedience, doth in effect make void the Command; and they that take upon them to diſpenſe with God's Laws, do in Chriſt's Account repeal and diſanul it. To break the Law is bad, but to teach Men ſo, as the Scribes and Phariſees did, is much worſe, Mat. 5. 19. To what Purpoſe is the Command given, if it be not obey'd? The Rule is, as to us, of none effect, if we be not rul'd by it. It's time for the Lord to work, high time for the great Reformer, the great Refiner to appear; for they have made void the Law, Pſal. 119. 126. Not only Sinn'd againſt the Commandment, but as far as in them lay, ſinn'd away the Commandment. But thanks be to God, in ſpite of them, and all their Traditions, the Command ſtands in full Force, Power, and Virtue.

2. The other part of Chriſt's Anſwer is by way of Reprehenſion, and that which he here chargeth them with is Hypocriſy, ye Hypocrites, v. 7. Note, It is the Prerogative of him who ſearcheth the Heart, and knows what is in Man, to pronounce who are Hypocrites. The Eye of Man can perceive open Profaneneſs, but it is only the Eye of Chriſt that can diſcern Hypocriſy, Luke 16. 15. And as it is a Sin which his Eye diſcovers, ſo it is a Sin, which of all other his Soul hates.

Now Chriſt fetches his reproof from Iſa. 29. 13. Well did Eſaias Propheſy of you. Iſaiah ſpoke it of the Men of that Generation, to whom he propheſied, yet Chriſt applies it to theſe Scribes and Phariſees. Note, The Reproofs of Sin and Sinners, which we find in Scripture, were deſign'd to teach the like Perſons and Practices to the end of the World; for they are not of private Interpretation, 2 Pet. 1. 20. The Sinners of the latter Days are propheſied of, 1 Tim. 4. 1. 2 Tim. 3. 1. 2 Pet. 3. 3. Threatnings directed againſt others belong to us, if we be guilty of the ſame Sins. Iſaiah propheſied not of them only, but of all other Hypocrites, againſt whom that Word of his is ſtill level'd, and ſtands in force. The Propheſies of Scripture are every Day in the fulfilling.

This Prophecy doth exactly decypher an hypocritical Nation, Iſa. 9. 17.—10. 6. Here is

1. The Deſcription of Hypocrites, in two things.

1. In their own Performances of Religious Worſhip, v. 8. When they draw nigh to God with their Mouth, and honour him with their Lips, their Heart is far from him. Obſerve,

(1.) How far an Hypocrite goes; he draws nigh to God, and honours him. He is in Profeſſion a Worſhipper of God. The Phariſee went up to the Temple to Pray; he doth not ſtand at that diſtance which thoſe are at that live without God in the World, but has a Name among the People near unto him. They honour him, i. e. they take on them to honour God, they joyn with thoſe that do ſo. Some Honour God has even from the Services of Hypocrites, as they help to keep up the Face and Form of Godlineſs in the World, whence God fetches Honour to himſelf, tho' they intend it not to him. When God's Enemies ſubmit themſelves but feignedly, when they lye unto him; ſo the Word is, Pſal. 66. 3. it redounds to his Honour, and he gets himſelf a Name.

(2.) Where he reſts and takes up; this is done but with his Mouth, and with his Lips. 'Tis Piety but from the Teeth outward; he ſhews much Love, and that's all, there is in his Heart no true Love; they make their Voice to be heard, Iſa. 58. 4. mention the Name of the Lord, Iſa. 48. 1. Hypocrites are thoſe that only make a Lip-labour of Religion and Religious Worſhip. In Word and Tongue the worſt Hypocrites may do as well as the beſt Saints, and ſpeak as fair with Jacob's Voice.

(3.) What that is wherein he comes ſhort, it is in the main matter, their Heart is far from me, habitually alienated and eſtrang'd, Eph. 4. 18. actually wandring, and dwelling upon ſomething elſe; no ſerious Thoughts of God, no pious Affections towards him, no Concern about the Soul and Eternity, no Thoughts agreeable to the Service. God is near in their Mouth, but far from their Reins, Jer. 12. 2. Ezek. 33. 31. The Heart, with the Fool's Eyes, in the ends of the Earth. 'Tis a ſilly Dove that is without Heart, and ſo 'tis a ſilly Duty, Hoſ. 7. 11. An Hypocrite ſaith one thing, but thinks another. The great thing that God looks at and requires is the Heart, Prov. 21. 26. if that be far from him, 'tis not a reaſonable Service, and therefore not an acceptable one, it is the Sacrifice of Fools, Eccl. 5. 1.

2. In their Preſcriptions to others; this is an Inſtance of their Hypocriſy, that they Teach for Doctrines the Commandments of Men. The Jews then, as the Papiſts ſince, paid the ſame reſpect to oral Tradition that they did to the Word of God, receiving it, pari pietatis affectu ac reverentia, Conc. Trident. Seſ. 4. Decr. 1. When Men's Inventions are tack'd to God's Inſtitutions, and impos'd accordingly, this is Hypocriſy, a meer human Religion. The Commandments of Men are properly converſant about the things of Men, but God will have his own Work done by his own Rules, and expects not that which he did not himſelf appoint. That only comes to him that comes from him.

2. The Doom of Hypocrites, 'tis put in a little compaſs, in vain do they Worſhip me. Their Worſhip doth not attain the End for which it was appointed, 'twill neither pleaſe God, nor profit themſelves. If it be not in Spirit, 'tis not in Truth, and ſo 'tis all nothing. That Man who only ſeems to be Religious, but is not ſo, his Religion is vain, Jam. 1. 26. and if our Religion be a vain Oblation, a vain Religion, How great is that Vanity! How ſad is it to live an Age of Prayers, and Sermons, and Sabbaths, and Sacraments in vain, to beat the Air in all theſe, 'tis ſo, if the Heart be not with God in them, Lip-labour is loſt-labour, Iſa. 1. 11. Hypocrites ſow the Wind, and reap the Whirlwind; truſt in Vanity, and Vanity will be their Recompence.

Thus Chriſt juſtifies his Diſciples in their Diſobedience to the Traditions of the Elders, and this the Scribes and Phariſees got by their Cavilling; we read not of any Reply they made, if they were not ſatisfied, yet they were ſilenc'd, and could not reſiſt the Power wherewith Chriſt ſpoke.

10 And he called the multitude, and ſaid unto them, Hear and underſtand. 11 Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man: but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man. 12 Then came his diſciples and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the Phariſees were offended after they heard this ſaying? 13 But he anſwered and ſaid,

Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted ſhall be rooted up. 14 Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both ſhall fall into the ditch. 15 Then anſwered Peter and ſaid unto him, Declare unto us this parable. 16 And Jeſus ſaid, Are ye alſo yet without underſtanding? 17 Do not ye yet underſtand, that whatſoever entereth in at the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is caſt out into the draught? 18 But thoſe things which proceed out of the mouth, come forth from the heart, and they defile the man. 19 For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, falſe witneſs, blaſphemies. 20 Theſe are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwaſhen hands, defileth not a man.

Chriſt having prov'd that the Diſciples in eating with unwaſhen Hands, were not to be blam'd, as tranſgreſſing the Traditions and Injunctions of the Elders, comes here to ſhew, that they were not to be blam'd as having done any thing that was in it ſelf evil. In the former part of his Diſcourſe he overturn'd the Authority of the Law, and in this the Reaſon of it. Obſerve, Firſt, The ſolemn Introduction to this Diſcourſe, v. 10. He called the Multitude. They were withdrawn while Chriſt diſcours'd with the Scribes and Phariſees, probably thoſe proud Men order'd them to withdraw, as not willing to talk with Chriſt in their hearing; Chriſt muſt favour them at their pleaſure with a Diſcourſe in private. But Chriſt had a regard to the Multitude, he ſoon diſpatch'd the Scribes and Phariſees, and then turn'd them off, and invited the Mob, the Multitude to be his Hearers; Thus the Poor are Evangeliz'd, and the fooliſh things of the World, and things that are deſpis'd hath Chriſt choſen. The humble Jeſus embraceth thoſe whom the proud Phariſees look'd upon wtih diſdain, and to them he deſign'd it for a Mortification. He turns from them as wilful and unteachable, and turns to the Multitude, who tho' weak, were humble, and willing to be taught. To them he ſaid, Hear, and underſtamd. Note, What we hear from the Mouth of Chriſt, we muſt give all diligence to underſtand. Not only Scholars, but even the Multitude, the ordinary People muſt apply their Minds to underſtand the Words of Chriſt. He therefore calls upon them to underſtand, becauſe the Leſſon he was now about to teach them was contrary to the Notions they had ſuck'd in with their Milk from their Teachers, and overturn'd many of the Cuſtoms and Uſages which they were wedded to, and laid ſtreſs upon. Note, There's need of a great Intention of Mind, and clearneſs of Underſtanding, to free Men from thoſe corrupt Principles and Practices which they have been bred up in, and long accuſtom'd to; for in that caſe the Underſtanding is commonly brib'd and byaſs'd by Prejudice.

Secondly, The Truth it ſelf laid down, v. 11. in two Propoſitions, which are oppoſite to the vulgar Errors of that time, and were therefore ſurpriſing.

1. Not that which goes into the Mouth defiles the Man. It is not the Kind, or Quality of our Food, nor the Dirtineſs of our Hands that affects the Soul with any moral Pollution or Defilement. The Kingdom of God is not Meat and Drink, Rom. 14. 17. That defiles the Man, by which Guilt is contracted before God, and the Man is render'd offenſive to him, and diſfitted for Communion with him; now what we eat, if we do not eat unſeaſonably and immoderately, doth not this; for to the pure all things are pure, Tit. 1. 15. The Phariſees carried the Ceremonial Pollutions by eating ſuch and ſuch Meats, much further than the Law intended, and burthen'd it with Additions of their own; which our Saviour witneſſeth againſt, intending hereby to pave the Way to a Repeal of the Ceremonial Law in that matter. He was now beginning to teach his Followers to call nothing common or unclean, and if Peter, when he was bid to kill and eat, had remembred this Word, he would not have ſaid, Not ſo, Lord, Acts 10. 13, 14, 15, 28.

2. But that which comes out of the Mouth, this defiles a Man. We are polluted, not by the Meat we eat with unwaſhen Hands, but by the words we ſpeak from an unſanctified Heart, ſo it is that the Mouth cauſeth the Fleſh to Sin, Eccl. 5. 6. Chriſt in a former Diſcourſe had laid a great Streſs upon our words, Matt. 12. 36, 37. and that was intended for Reproof and Warning to thoſe that cavil'd at him: This here is intended for Reproof and Warning to thoſe that cavil'd at the Diſciples, and cenſur'd them. 'Tis not the Diſciples that defile themſelves with what they eat, but the Phariſees that defile themſelves with what they ſpeak ſpitefully and cenſoriouſly of them. Note, Thoſe who charge Guilt upon others for tranſgreſſing the Commandments of Men, many times bring greater guilt upon themſelves by tranſgreſſing the Law of God againſt raſh Judging. Thoſe moſt defile themſelves, who are moſt forward to cenſure the Defilements of others.

Thirdly, The Offence that was taken at this Truth, and the Account brought to Chriſt of that Offence, v. 12. The Diſciples ſaid unto him, knoweſt thou that the Phariſees were offended, and didſt thou not foreſee that they would be ſo at this Saying? and would think the worſe of thee, and of thy Doctrine for it, and be the more enrag'd at thee.

1. It was not ſtrange that the Phariſees ſhould be offended at this plain Truth, for they were Men made up of Error and Enmity, Miſtake and Malice. Sore Eyes cannot bear clear Light, and nothing is more provoking to proud Impoſers than the undeceiving of thoſe whom they have firſt blind-folded, and then enſlav'd. It ſhould ſeem that the Phariſees, who were the ſtrict obſervers of the Traditions, were more offended than the Scribes, who were the Teachers of them; and perhaps they were as much gall'd with the latter part of Chriſt's Doctrine, which taught a ſtrictneſs in the Government of our Tongue, as with the former part, which taught an Indifferency about waſhing our Hands. Great Contenders for the Formalities of Religion, being commonly as great Contemners of the Subſtantials of it.

2. The Diſciples thought it ſtrange their Maſter ſhould ſay that which he knew would give ſo much offence, he did not uſe to do ſo; ſure, think they, if he had conſider'd how provoking it would be, he would not have ſaid it. But he knew what he ſaid, and to whom he ſaid it, and what would be the effect of it, and would teach us, That tho' in indifferent things we muſt be tender of giving Offence, yet we muſt not for fear of that balk any Truth of Duty. Truth muſt be own'd, and Duty muſt be done, and if any be offended, 'tis their own fault; 'tis not Scandal given, but taken.

Perhaps the Diſciples were themſelves ſtumbled at the Word Chriſt ſaid, which they thought bold, and ſcarce reconcileable with the difference that was put by the Law of God between clean and unclean Meats, and therefore objected this to Chriſt, that they might themſelves be better inform'd. They ſeem likewiſe to have a concern upon them for the Phariſees, tho' they had quarrel'd with them, which teacheth us to forgive, and ſeek the Good, eſpecially the ſpiritual Good of our Enemies, Perſecutors, and Slanderers. They would not have the Phariſees, go away diſpleas'd at any thing Chriſt had ſaid; and therefore tho' they do not deſire him to retract it, yet they hope he will explain, correct, and mollify it. Weak Hearers are ſometimes more ſollicitous than they ſhould be, not to have wicked Hearers offended. But if we pleaſe Men with the Concealment of Truth, and the indulging of their Errors and Corruptions, we are not the Servants of Chriſt.

Fourthly, The Doom paſt upon the Phariſees, and their corrupt Traditions; which comes in as a Reaſon why Chriſt car'd not, tho' he offended them, and therefore why the Diſciples ſhould not care, becauſe they were a Generation of Men that hated to be reform'd, and were mark'd out for Deſtruction. Two things Chriſt here foretels concerning them.

1. The rooting out of them and their Traditions, v. 13. Every Plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted ſhall be rooted up, Not only the corrupt Opinions, and ſuperſtitious Practiſes of the Phariſees, but their Sect, and Way, and Conſtitution were Plants, not of God's planting: The Rules of their Profeſſion were no Inſtitutions of his, but ow'd their Original to Pride and Formality. The People of the Jews were planted a noble Vine, but now they are become the degenerate Plant of a ſtrange Vine, God diſown'd them, as not of his planting. Note, 1. In the viſible Church, 'tis no ſtrange thing to find Plants that our heavenly Father has not planted. 'Tis imply'd, that whatever is good in the Church is of God's planting, Iſa. 41. 19. But let the Huſbandman be never ſo careful, his Ground will caſt forth Weeds of it ſelf, more or leſs, and there is an Enemy buſie ſowing Tares. What is corrupt, tho' of God's permitting, is not of his planting, he ſowes nothing but good Seed in his Field. Let us not therefore be deceiv'd, as if all muſt needs be right that we find in the Church, and all thoſe Perſons and things our Father's Plants that we find in our Father's Garden; believe not every Spirit, but try the Spirits: See Jer. 19. 5.—23. 31, 32. (2.) Thoſe that are of the Spirit of the Phariſees, proud, formal, and impoſing, what Figure ſoever they make, and of what Denomination ſoever they be, God will not own them as of his planting; by their Fruits you ſhall know them. (3.) Thoſe Plants that are not of God's planting, ſhall not be of his protecting, but ſhall undoubtedly be rooted up. What is not of God ſhall not ſtand, Acts 5. 38. What things are unſcriptural will wither and dye of themſelves, or be juſtly exploded by the Churches; however, in the great Day theſe Tares that offend will be bundled for the Fire. What's gone with the Phariſees and their Traditions? they are long ſince abandon'd, but the Goſpel of Truth is great, and will remain. It cannot be rooted up.

2. The Ruin of them and their Followers, that had their Perſons and Principles in admiration, v. 14. Where

1. Chriſt bids his Diſciples let them alone. Have no Converſe with them, or Concern for them; neither court their Favour, nor dread their Diſpleaſure; care not tho' they be offended, they will take their Courſe, and let them take the Iſue of it: They are wedded to their own Fancies, will have every theing their own way, and let them alone. Seek not to pleaſe a Generation of Men that pleaſe not God, (1 Theſ. 2. 15.) and will be pleas'd with nothing leſs than an abſolute Dominion over your Conſciences. They are joyned to Idols, as Ephraim, Hoſ. 4. 17. the Idols of their own Fancy, let them alone, let them be filthy ſtill, Rev. 22. 11. The Caſe of theſe Sinners is ſad indeed, whom Chriſt orders his Miniſters to let alone.

2. He gives them two Reaſons for it. Let them alon, for

1. They are proud and ignorant, two bad Qualities that often meet, and render a Man incurable in his Folly, Prov. 26. 12. They be blind leaders of the blind. They are groſly ignorant in the things of God, and ſtrangers to the ſpiritual Nature of the divine Law, and yet ſo proud, that they think they ſee better and further than any, and therefore undertake to be leaders of others, to ſhew others the way to Heaven, when they themſelves knew not one ſtep of the way, and accordingly they preſcribe to all, and preſcribe thoſe who will not follow them. Tho' they were blind, if they had own'd it, and come to Chriſt for Eye-ſalve they might have ſeen, but they took the Intimation of ſuch a thing very heinouſly. John 9. 40. Are we blind alſo? and were confident that they themſelves were guides of the blind, Rom. 1. 19, 20. were appointed to be ſo, and fit to be ſo; that every thing they ſaid was an Oracle, and a Law: Therefore let them alone, their Caſe is deſperate, do not meddle with them, you may ſoon provoke them, but never convince them. How miſerable was the Caſe of the Jewiſh Church now when their Leaders were blind; were ſo Self-conceitedly fooliſh as to be peremptory in their Conduct, while the People were ſo ſottiſhly fooliſh, as to follow them with an implicit Faith and Obedience, and willingly walk after the Commandment, Hoſ. 5. 11. Now the Prophecy was fulfill'd, Iſa. 29. 10, 14. And 'tis eaſie to imagine what will be in the end hereof, when the Prophets prophecy falſly, and the Prieſts bear Rule by their means, and the People love to have it ſo, Jer. 5. ult.

2. They are poſting to Deſtruction, and will ſhorly be plunged in it. Both ſhall fall into the Ditch. This muſt needs be the end of it, if both be ſo blind, and yet both ſo bold, venturing forwards, and yet not aware of Danger. Both will be involv'd in the general Deſolation coming upon the Jews, and both drown'd in Eternal Deſtruction and Perdition. The blind Leaders and the blind Followers will periſh together. We find Rev. 22. 15. that Hell is the Portion of thoſe that make a Lye, and of thoſe that love it, when it is made. The Deceived, and the Deceiver are obnoxious to the Judgment of God, Job 12. 16. Note, 1. Thoſe that by cunning Craftineſs draw others to Sin and Error, yet ſhall not with all their Craft and Cunning eſcape Ruin themſelves. If both fall together into the Ditch, the the blind Leaders will fall undermoſt, and have the worſt of it. See Jer. 14. 15, 16. The Prophets ſhall be conſumed firſt, and then the People to whom they prophecy, Jer. 20. 6.—28. 15, 16. (2.) The Sin and Ruin of the Deceivers will be no ſecurity to thoſe that are deceived by them. Tho' the Leaders of this People cauſe them to err, yet they that are led of them are deſtroy'd, Iſa. 9. 16. becauſe they ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light, which would have rectify'd their Miſtake. Seneca complaing of moſt People's being led by common Opinion and Practice, unuſquiſque mavult credere quam judicare, things are taken upon truſt, and never examin'd, concludes inde eſta tanta coacervatio aliorum ſuper alios ruentium. De. Vit. Beat. The falling of both together will aggravate the Fall of both; for they that have thus mutually increaſed each other's Sin, will mutually exaſperate each other's Ruin.

Fifthly, Inſtruction given to the Diſciples concerning the Truth Chriſt had laid down, v. 10. Tho' Chriſt rejects the willfully ignorant that care not to be taught, he can have compaſſion on the ignorant that are willing to learn Heb. 5. 2. If the Phariſees that made void the Law be offended, let them be offended; but this great Peace have they that love the Law, that nothing ſhall offend them, but ſome way or other the Offence ſhall be taken off. Pſal. 119. 165.

Here's 1. Their deſire to be better inſtructed in this matter, v. 15. and in this Requeſt, as in many other, Peter was their ſpeaker, the reſt, 'tis probable, putting him on to ſpeak, or intimating their Concurrence. Declare unto us this Parable. What Chriſt ſaid was plain, but becauſe it agreed not with the Notions they had imbib'd, tho' they would not contradict it, yet they call it a Parable, and cannot underſtand it. Note, (1.) Weak Underſtandings are apt to turn plain Truths into Parables, and to ſeek for a Knot in a Bulruſh: The Diſciples often did ſo, as John 16. 17. Even the Graſs-hopper is a burthen to a weak Stomach, and Babes in underſtanding cannot bear and digeſt ſtrong Meat. (2.) Where a weak Head doubts concerning any Word of Chriſt, an upright Heart, and a willing Mind will ſeek for Inſtruction. The Phariſees were offended, but kept it to themſelves, hating to be reform'd, they hated to be inform'd; but the Diſciples, tho' offended, ſought for Satisfaction, imputing the Offence not to the Doctrine deliver'd, but to the Shallowneſs of their own Capacity.

2. The Reproof Chriſt gave them for their Weakneſs and Ignorance, v. 16. Are ye alſo without underſtanding? As many as Chriſt loves and teaches he thus rebukes. Note, They are very ignorant indeed, who underſtand not that moral Pollutions are abundantly worſe, and more dangerous than ceremonial ones. And two things aggravate their Dulneſs and Darkneſs.

(1.) That they were the Diſciples of Chriſt. Are ye alſo without Underſtanding? you whom I have admitted into ſo great a degree of Familiarity with me, are you ſo unſkilful in the Word of Righteouſneſs? Note, The Ignorance and Miſtakes of thoſe that profeſs Religion, and enjoy the Privileges of Church-memberſhip, is juſtly a Grief to the Lord Jeſus. No wonder the Phariſees underſtand not this Doctrine, who know nothing of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, but you that have heard of it, and embrac'd it your ſelves, and preach it to others, are you alſo ſuch Strangers to the Spirit and Genius of it?

(2.) That they had been a great while Chriſt's Scholars, are you yet ſo? after you have been ſo long under my teaching. Had they been but of yeſterday in Chriſt's School it had been another matter, but to have been for ſo many Months Chriſt's conſtant Hearers, and yet to be without Underſtanding, was a great Reproach to them. Note, Chriſt expects from us ſome proportion of Knowledge, and Grace, and Wiſdom, according to the Time and Means we have had. See John 14. 9. Heb. 5. 12. 2 Tim. 3. 7, 8.

3. The Explication Chriſt gave them of this Doctrine of Pollutions. Tho' he chid them for their Dulneſs, he did not caſt them off, but pity'd them, and taught them, as Luke 24. 25, 26, 27. He here ſhews us,

1. What little danger we are in of Pollution from that which entereth in at the Mouth, v. 17. An inordinate Appetite, Intemperance, and Exceſs in Eating comes out of the Heart, and is defiling; but Meat in it ſelf is not ſo, as the Phariſees ſuppos'd. What there is of Dregs and Defilement in our Meat, Nature, (or rather the God of Nature) has provided a way to clear us of it, it goes in at the Belly, and is caſt out into the Draught, and nothing remains to us but pure Nouriſhment. So fearfully and wonderfully are we made, and preſerv'd, and our Souls held in Life. The expulſive Faculty is as neceſſary in the Body as any other, for the Diſcharge of that which is ſuperfluous, noxious, or excrementitious, ſo happily is Nature enabled to help it ſelf, and ſhift for its own Good: By this means nothing defiles; if we eat with unwaſhen Hands, and ſo any Dirt ſtick to our Meat, Nature will ſeparate it, and caſt it out, and it will be no Defilement to us. So that tho' it may be a piece of cleanlineſs, 'tis no Point of Conſcience to waſh before Meat, and we go upon a great Miſtake if we place Religion in it. It is not the Practice it ſelf, but the Opinion it is built upon that Chriſt condemns, as if Meat commended us to God, 1 Cor. 8. 8. Whereas Chriſtianity ſtands not in ſuch Obſervances.

2. What great Danger we are in of Pollution from that which proceeds out of the Mouth, (v. 18.) i. e. out of the abundance of the Heart. Compare Matt. 12 34. There's no Defilement in the Products of God's Bounty, the Defilement ariſeth from the Products of our Corruption. Now here we have

1. The corrupt Fountain of that which proceeds out of the Mouth, it comes from the Heart; that's the Spring and Source of all Sin, Jer. 8. 7. 'Tis the Heart that is ſo deſperately wicked, Jer. 17. 9. for there is no Sin in Word or Deed, but it was firſt in the Heart. There is the Root of Bitterneſs which bears Gall and Wormwood. 'Tis the inward part of a Sinner that is very Wickedneſs, Pſal 5. 9. All evil Speaking comes forth from the Heart, and are defiling; from the corrupt Heart comes the corrupt Communication.

2. Some of the corrupt Streams which flow from this Fountain inſtanc'd in; tho' they do not all come out of the Mouth, yet they all come out of the Man, and are the Fruits of that Wickedneſs which is in the Heart, and is wrought there, Pſal. 58. 2.

1. Evil Thoughts, Sins againſt all the Commandments, therefore David puts vain Thoughts in oppoſition to the whole Law, Pſal. 119 113. Theſe are the Firſt born of the corrupt Nature, the beginning of its Strength, and do moſt reſemble it. Theſe as the Son and Heir abide in the Houſe, and lodge within us. There is a great deal of Sin that begins and ends in the Heart, and goes no further. Carnal Fancies and Imaginations are evil Thoughts, Wickedneſs in the Contrivance, Διαλογισμοὶ πονηροὶ, are wicked Plots, Purpoſes, and Devices of Miſchief to others, Mic. 2. 1.

2. Murthers, Sins againſt the ſixth Commandment. Theſe come from a Malice in the Heart againſt our Brother's Life, or a Contempt of it. Hence he that hates his Brother, is ſaid to be a Murtherer; he is ſo at God's Bar, 1. John 3. 15. War is in the Heart, Pſal. 55. 21. James 4. 1.

3. Adulteries and Fornications, Sins againſt the ſeventh Commandment, thoſe come from the wanton, unclean, carnal Heart, and the Luſts that reign there, is conceiv'd there, and brings forth theſe ſins, James 1. 15. There is Adultery in the Heart firſt, and then in the Act, Matt. 5. 28.

4. Thefts, Sins againſt the eighth Commandment, Cheats, Wrongs, Rapins, and all injurous Contracts; the Fountain of theſe is in the Heart, that's it that is exercis'd in theſe Covetous Practiſes, 2 Pet. 2. 14. that is ſet upon Riches, Pſal. 62. 10. Achan coveted, and then took, Joſh. 7. 20.

5. Falſe Witneſs, againſt the Ninth Commandment; this comes from a Complication of Falſhood and Covetouſneſs, or Falſhood and Malice in the Heart. If Truth, Holineſs, and Love, which God requires in the inward part, reign'd as they ought, there would be no falſe Witneſs-bearing, Pſal, 64. 6. Jer. 9 8.

6. Blaſphemies, ſpeaking Evil of God againſt the Third Commandment ſpeaking Evil of our Neighbour, againſt the Ninth Commandment; theſe come from a Contempt and Diſeſtteem of both in the Heart, thence the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt proceeds, Matt. 12. 33, 34. Thoſe are the Overflowings of the Gall within.

Now theſe are the things which defile a Man, v. 20. Note, Sin is defiling to the Soul, renders it unlovely and abominable in the Eyes of the pure and holy God, unfit for Communion with him, and for the enjoyment of him in the New Jeruſalem, into which nothing ſhall enter that defileth or worketh Iniquity. The Mind and Conſcience defiled by Sin, and that makes every thing elſe ſo, Tit. 1. 15. This Defilement by Sin was ſignified by the Ceremonial Pollutions which the Jewiſh Doctors added to, but underſtand not, ſee Heb. 9. 13, 14. 1 John 1. 7.

Theſe therefore are the things we muſt carefully avoid, and all approaches towards them, and not lay ſtreſs upon the waſhing of the Hands. Chriſt doth not yet repeal the Law of the diſtinction of Meats, that was not done till Act 10. but the Tradition of the Elders, which was tack'd to that Law; and therefore he concludes to eat with unwaſhen Hands, (which was the matter now in variance) this defileth not a Man. If he waſh he is not the better before God, if he waſh not he is not the worſe.

21 Then Jeſus went thence, and departed into the coaſts of Tyre and Sidon. 22 And behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the ſame coaſts, and cried unto him, ſaying, have Mercy on me, O Lord, thou Son of David; my daughter is grievouſly vexed with a devil. 23 But he anſwered her not a word. And his diſciples came and beſought him, ſaying, Send her away, for ſhe crieth after us. 24 But he anſwered and ſaid, I am not ſent, but unto the loſt ſheep of the houſe of Iſrael. 25 Then came ſhe and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, help me. 26 But he anſwered and ſaid, It is not meet to take the childrens bread and to caſt it to dogs. 27 And ſhe ſaid, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their maſters table. 28 Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto her, O woman great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

We have here that famous Story of Chriſt's caſting the Devil out of the Woman of Canaan's Daughter, it has ſomething in it ſingular, and very ſurprizing, and which looks favourable upon the poor Gentiles, and is an Earneſt of that Mercy which Chriſt had in ſtore for them. Here's a Gleam of that Light which was to lighten the Gentiles, Luke 2. 32. Chriſt came to his own and his own received him not, but many of them quarrel'd with him, and where offended in him, and obſerve what follows, v. 21.

1. Jeſus went thence. Note, Juſtly is the Light taken from thoſe that either play by it, or rebel againſt it. When Chriſt and his Diſciples could not be quiet among them, he left them, and ſo left an Example to his own Rule, Mat. 10. 14. Shake off the Duſt of your Feet. Tho' Chriſt endure long, he will not always endure the Contradiction of Sinners againſt him. He had ſaid, v. 14. Let them alone, and he did ſo Note, Wilful Prejudices againſt the Goſpel, and Cavils at it, often provoke Chriſt to withdraw, and to remove the Candleſtick out of his Place, Acts 13. 45, 51.

2. When he went thence he departed into the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon, not to thoſe Cities, they were excluded from any ſhare in Chriſt's mighty Works, Mat. 11. 21, 22 But into that part of the Land of Iſrael which lay that way. Thither he went, as Elias to Sarepta, a City of Sidon, Luke 4. 25. Thither he went to look after this poor Woman, whom he had Mercy in reſerve for. While he went about doing Good, he was never out of his Way. The dark corners of the Country which lay moſt remote ſhall have their ſhare of his benign Influences; and as now the ends of the Lands, ſo afterwards the ends of the Earth ſhall ſee his Salvation, Iſa. 49. 6. Here 'twas that this Miracle was wrought, in the Story of which, we may obſerve, Firſt, The Addreſs of the Woman of Canaan to Chriſt, v. 22. She was a Gentile, a ſtranger to the Common-wealth of Iſrael; probably, one of the Poſterity of thoſe accurſed Nations, that were devoted by that Word, curſed be Canaan. Note, The Doom of Political Bodies doth not always reach every individual Member of them, God will have his Remnant out of all Nations; choſen Veſſels in all Coaſts, even the moſt unlikely. She came out of the ſame Coaſts. If Chriſt had not now made a Viſit to theſe Coaſts, tho' the Mercy was worth travelling far for, 'tis probable ſhe had never come to him. Note, 'Tis often an Excitement to a dormant Faith and Zeal, to have Opportunities of Acquaintance with Chriſt brought to our Doors, to have the Word nigh us.

Her Addreſs was very importunate, ſhe cried to Chriſt as one in earneſt; cried, as being at ſome diſtance from him, not daring to approach too near, being a Canaanite, leſt ſhe ſhould give Offence. In her Addreſs

1. She relates her Miſery; My Daughter is grievouſly vexed with a Devil, κακῶς δαιμονίζεται, ſhe is ill bewitch'd, or poſſeſs'd; there were degrees of that Miſery, and this was of the worſt ſort. 'Twas a common Caſe at that time, and very calamitous. Note, The Vexations of Children are the Trouble of Parents, and nothing ſhould be more ſo than their being under the Power of Satan. Tender Parents very ſenſibly feel the Miſeries of thoſe that are pieces of themſelves; tho' vexed with the Devil, yet ſhe is my Daughter ſtill. The greateſt Afflictions of our Relations do not diſſolve our Obligations to them, and therefore ought not to alienate our Affections from them. It was the Diſtreſs and Trouble of her Family that now brought her to Chriſt; ſhe came to him, not for Teaching, but for Healing, yet becauſe ſhe came in Faith he did not reject her. Tho. 'tis Need that drives us to Chriſt, yet we ſhould not therefore be driven from him. 'Twas the Affliction of her Daughter that gave her this Occaſion of applying to Chriſt. 'Tis good to make others Afflictions our own in Senſe and Sympathy, that we may make them our own in Improvement and Advantage.

2. She requeſts for Mercy. Have Mercy on me, O Lord, thou Son of David. In calling him Lord, the Son of David, ſhe owns him to be the Meſſiah, that's the great thing which Faith ſhould faſten upon, and fetch comfort from. From the Lord we may expect Acts of Power, he can command Deliverances; from the Son of David we may expect all that Mercy and Grace which was foretold concerning him. Tho' a Gentile, ſhe owns the Promiſe made to the Fathers of the Jews, and the Honour of the Houſe of David. The Gentiles muſt receive Chriſtianity, not only as an Improvement of Natural Religion; but as the Perfection of the Jewiſh Religion, with an Eye to the Old Teſtament.

Her Petition is, Have Mercy on me. She doth not limit Chriſt to this or that particular Inſtance of Mercy, but Mercy, Mercy is the thing ſhe begs. She pleads not Merit, but depends upon Mercy. Have Mercy upon me. Mercies to the Children are Mercies to the Parents, Favours to ours are Favours to us, and are ſo to be accounted. Note, It's the Duty of Parents to Pray for their Children, and to be earneſt in Prayer for them, eſpecially for their Souls. I have a Son, a Daughter grievouſly vexed with a proud Devil, an unclean Devil, a malicious Devil, led captive by him at his Will, Lord, help them. This is a Caſe more deplorable than that of a bodily Poſſeſſion. Bring them to Chriſt by Faith and Prayer, who alone is able to heal them. Parents ſhould look upon it as a great Mercy to themſelves to have Satan's Power broken in the Souls of their Children.

Secondly, The Diſcouragements ſhe met with in this Addreſs. In all the Story of Chriſt's Miniſtry, we do not meet with the like. He was wont to countenance and encourage all that came to him, and either to anſwer before they call'd, or to hear while they were yet ſpeaking; but here was one otherwiſe treated. And what ſhould be the reaſon of it? (1.) Some think Chriſt ſhew'd himſelf backward to gratify this poor Woman, becauſe he would not give offence to the Jews, by being as free and forward in his Favours to the Gentiles as to them. He had bid his Diſciples not go into the way of the Gentiles, Chap. 10. 5. and therefore would not himſelf ſeem ſo inclinable to them as to others, but rather more ſhy. Or rather, (2.) Chriſt treated her thus to try her, he knows what is in the Heart, knew the ſtrength of her Faith, and how well able ſhe was by his Grace to break through ſuch Diſcouragements, and therefore met her with them; that the Tryal of her Faith might be found unto Praiſe, and Honour, and Glory, 1 Pet. 1. 6, 7. This was like God's tempting Abraham, Gen. 22. 1. like the Angels wreſtling with Jacob, only to put him upon wreſtling, Gen 32. 24. Many of the Methods of Chriſt's Providence, and eſpecially of his Grace in dealing with his People, which are dark and perplexing, may be explain'd with the Key of this Story, which is for that end left upon Record, to teach us that there may be Love in Chriſt's Heart while there are Frowns in his Face, and to encourage us therefore, tho' he ſlay us, yet to truſt in him. Obſerve the particular Diſcouragements given her.

(1.) When ſhe cried after him, he anſwered her not a word, v. 23. His Ear was wont to be always open and quiet to the Cries of poor Supplicants, and his Lips which dropt as the Honey-comb, always ready to give an anſwer of Peace; but to this poor Woman he turn'd a deaf Ear, and ſhe could get neither an Alms, nor an Anſwer. It was a wonder ſhe did not fly off in a Fret, and ſay, is this he that is ſo fam'd for Clemency and Tenderneſs? Have ſo many been heard and anſwer'd by him as they talk, and muſt I be the firſt rejected Suitor? Why ſo ſtiff to me, if it be true that he hath ſtoop'd to ſo many? But Chriſt knew what he did, and therefore did not anſwer, that ſhe might be the more earneſt in Prayer. He heard her, and was pleas'd with her, and ſtrengthen'd her with ſtrength in her Soul to proſecute her Requeſt, (Pſal. 138. 3. Job 23. 6.) tho' he did not immediately give her the Anſwer ſhe expected. By ſeeming to draw away the deſired Mercy from her, he drew her on to be ſo much the more importunate for it. Note, Every accepted Prayer is not preſently an anſwered Prayer. Sometimes God ſeems not to regard his Peoples Prayers, like a Man aſleep, or aſtoniſhed, Pſal. 44. 3. Jer. 14. 9. Pſal. 22. 1, 2. nay, to be angry at them, Pſal. 80. 4. Lam. 3. 8, 44. But it is to prove, and ſo to improve their Faith, and to make his after-appearances for them the more glorious to himſelf, and the more welcome to them, for the Viſion at the end ſhall ſpeak and ſhall not lye, Hab. 2. 3. See Job 35. 14.

(2.) When the Diſciples ſpoke a good word for her, he gave a reaſon why he refus'd her, which was yet more diſcouraging.

(1.) 'Twas ſome little Relief that the Diſciples interpos'd on her behalf. They ſaid, ſend her away, for ſhe crieth after us. It is deſireable to have an Intereſt in the Prayers of good People, and we ſhould be deſirous of it. Yet the Diſciples, tho' wiſhing ſhe might have what ſhe came for, yet therein to conſult rather their own Eaſe, than the poor Woman's Satisfaction; ſend her away with a Cure, for ſhe cries, and is in good earneſt; ſhe cries after us, and is troubleſome to us, and ſhames us. Continued Importunity may be uneaſy to Men, even to good Men, but Chriſt loves to be cry'd after.

(2.) Chriſt's Anſwer to the Diſciples quite daſh'd her Expectations; I am not ſent but to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael. You know I am not, ſhe is none of them, and would you have me go beyond my Commiſſion? Importunity ſeldom conquers the ſettled Reaſon of a wiſe Man, and thoſe Refuſals are moſt ſilencing which are ſo back'd. He doth not only not anſwer her, but he argues againſt her, and ſtops her Mouth with a Reaſon. 'Tis true ſhe is a loſt Sheep, and hath as much need of his Care as any, but ſhe is not of the Houſe of Iſrael, (to whom he was firſt ſent, Acts 3. ult.) and therefore not immediately intereſted in it, and entitled to it. Chriſt was a Miniſter of the Circumciſion, Rom. 15. 8. And tho' he was intended for a Light to the Gentiles, yet the fulneſs of time for that was not now come, the Vail was not yet rent, nor the Partition-wall taken down; Chriſt's Perſonal Miniſty was to be the Glory of his People Iſrael. And if I am ſent to them, what have I to do with thoſe that are none of them? Note, It is a great Tryal, when we have occaſion given us to queſtion, whether we be of thoſe to whom Chriſt was ſent. But bleſſed be God, no room is left for that Doubt; the Diſtinction between Jew and Gentile is taken away. We are ſure he gave his Life a Ranſom for many, and if for many why not for me?

3. When ſhe continued her Importunity, he inſiſted upon the Unfitneſs of the thing, and gave her not only a Repulſe, but a ſeeming Reproach too, v. 26. it is not meet to take the Childrens Bread, and to caſt it unto Dogs. This ſeems to cut her off from all Hope, and might have driven her to Deſpair, if ſhe had not had a very ſtrong Faith indeed Goſpel Grace, and miraculous Cures (the Appurtenances of it) were Childrens Bread; they belong'd to them to whom pertained the Adoption, Rom. 9. 4. and lay not upon the ſame level with that Rain from Heaven, and thoſe fruitful Seaſons, which God gave to the Nations whom he ſuffer'd to walk in their own Ways, Acts 14. 16, 17. No, theſe were peculiar Favours appropriated to the peculiar People, the Garden incloſ'd. Chriſt Preach'd to the Samaritans, John 4. 41. but we read not of any Cures he wrought among them: That Salvation was of the Jews; it is not meet therefore to alienate them. The Gentiles were look'd upon by the Jews with great Contempt, were called and counted Dogs, and in Compariſon with the Houſe of Iſrael, who were ſo dignifi'd and privileg'd, Chriſt here ſeems to allow it; and therefore thinks it not meet that the Gentiles ſhould ſhare in the Favours beſtow'd on the Jews. But ſee how the Tables are turn'd; after the bringing the Gentiles into the Church, the Jewiſh Zealots for the Law, are call'd Dogs, Phil. 3. 2.

Now this Chriſt urgeth againſt this Woman of Canaan. How could ſhe expect to eat of the Children's Bread, who was not of the Family? Note, 1. Thoſe whom Chriſt intends moſt ſignally to honour, he firſt humbles and lays low, in a Senſe of their own Meanneſs and Unworthineſs. We muſt firſt ſee our ſelves to be as Dogs, leſs than the leaſt of all God's Mercies, before we are fit to be dignified and privilledged with them. (2.) Chriſt delights to exerciſe great Faith with great Trials, and ſometimes reſerves the ſharpeſt for the laſt, that being tried we may come forth like Gold. This general Rule is applicable to other Caſes for Direction, though here us'd only for Trial. Special Ordinances and Church Privileges are Children's Bread, and muſt not be proſtituted to the groſly ignorant and profane. Common Charity muſt be extended to all, but ſpiritual Dignities are appropriated to the Houſhold of Faith, and therefore promiſcuous Admiſſion to them, without Diſtinction, waſtes the Children's Bread, and is the giving of that which is holy to the Dogs, Mat. 7. 6. Procul hinc, procul inde profani.

Thirdly, Here's the Strength of her Faith and Reſolution, in breaking thro' all theſe Diſcouragements. Many a one thus tried, would either have ſunk down into Silence, or broke out into a Paſſion. Here's cold Comfort, might ſhe have ſaid, for a poor diſtreſſed Creature; As good for me have ſtaid at Home, as come hither to be taunted and abus'd at this rate; not only to have a piteous Caſe ſlighted, but to be call'd a Dog. A proud unhumbled Heart would not have born it. The Reputation of the Houſe of Iſrael was not now ſo great in the World, but that this Slight put upon the Gentiles was capable of being retorted, had the poor Woman been ſo minded. It might have occaſion'd a Reflection upon Chriſt, and might have been a Blemiſh upon his Reputation, as well as a Shock to the good Opinion ſhe had entertain'd of him; for we are apt to judge of Perſons, as we our ſelves find them, and think that they are, what they are to us. Is this the Son of David? might ſhe have ſaid; is this he that has ſuch a Reputation for Kindneſs, and Tenderneſs, and Compaſſion? I'm ſure, I have no Reaſon to give him that Character, for I was never treated ſo roughly in my Life; he might have done as much for me, as for others: Or if not, he need not to have ſet me with the Dogs of his Flock. I am not a Dog, I am a Woman, and an honeſt Woman, and a Woman in Miſery; and I am ſure, it is not meet to call me Dog. No, here is not a Word of this. Note, A humble believing Soul that truly loves Chriſt, takes every thing in good part, that he ſaith and doth, and puts the beſt Conſtruction upon it.

She breaks thro' all theſe Diſcouragements.

1. With a holy Earneſtneſs of Deſire in proſecuting her Petition. This appear'd upon the former Repulſe, v. 25. Then came ſhe and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord help me. (1.) She continued to pray. What Chriſt ſaid ſilenc'd the Diſciples, you hear no more of them, they took the Anſwer, but the Woman did not. Note, The more ſenſible we feel the Burthen, the more reſolutely we ſhould pray for the Removal of it. And it is the Will of God, that we ſhould continue inſtant in Prayer, ſhould always pray, and not faint. (2.) She improved in Prayer. Inſtead of blaming Chriſt, or charging him with Unkindneſs, ſhe ſeems rather to ſuſpect her ſelf, and lay the Fault upon her ſelf. She fears, leſt in her firſt Addreſs ſhe had not been humble and reverent enough, and therefore now ſhe came and worſhipped him, and paid him more reſpect than ſhe had done; or, that ſhe had not been earneſt enough, and therefore now ſhe cries, Lord help me. Note, When the Anſwers of Prayers are defer'd, God is thereby teaching us to pray more and pray better. 'Tis then time to enquire wherein we have come ſhort in our former Prayers, that what has been amiſs may be amended for the future. Diſappointments in the Succeſs of Prayer muſt be Excitements to the Duty of Prayer. Chriſt in his Agony pray'd more earneſtly.

(3.) She waves the Queſtion, whether ſhe was of thoſe to whom Chriſt was ſent, or no; ſhe will not argue that with him, though perhaps ſhe might have claimed ſome Kindred to the Houſe of Iſrael; but whether an Iſraelite, or no, I come to the Son of David for Mercy, and I will not let him go, except he bleſs me. Many weak Chriſtians perplex themſelves with Queſtions and Doubts about their Election, whether they are of the Houſe of Iſrael, or no, ſuch had better mind their Errand to God, and continue inſtant in Prayer for Mercy and Grace, throw themſelves by Faith at the Feet of Chriſt, and ſay, If I periſh, I will periſh here; and then that Matter will by degrees clear it ſelf. If we cannot reaſon down our Unbelief, let us pray it down. A fervent Affectionate Lord help me, will help us over many of the Diſcouragements which are ſometimes ready to bear us down, and overwelm us.

(4.) Her Prayer is very ſhort, but comprehenſive, and fervent; Lord help me. Take this (1.) as lamenting her Caſe. If the Meſſiah be ſent only to the Houſe of Iſrael, the Lord help me, what will become of me, and mine. Note, It is not in vain for broken Hearts to bemoan themſelves; God looks upon them then, Jer. 31. 18. Or (2.) As begging Grace to aſſiſt her in this Hour of Temptation. She found it hard to keep up her Faith, when it was thus frowned upon, and therefore prays, Lord help me, Lord, ſtrengthen my Faith now; Lord, let thy right Hand uphold me, while my Soul is following hard after thee, Pſal. 63. 8. Or, (3.) As enforcing her original Requeſt. Lord, help me, i. e. Lord, give me what I come for. She believed that Chriſt could and would help her, though ſhe was not of the Houſe of Iſrael; elſe ſhe would have dropt her Petition. Still ſhe keeps up good Thoughts of Chriſt, and will not quit her Hold. Lord, help me, is a good Prayer, if well put up, and it's Pity it ſhould be turned into a By-word, and that we ſhould take God's Name in vain in it.

2. With a holy Skilfulneſs of Faith, ſuggeſting a very ſurprizing Plea. Chriſt had placed the Jews with the Children, as Olive-plants round about God's Table, and had put the Gentiles with the Dogs, under the Table; and ſhe doth not deny the Aptneſs of the Similitude. Note, There is nothing got by contradicting any Word of Chriſt, though it bear never ſo hard upon us. But this poor Woman, ſince ſhe cannot object againſt it, reſolves to make the beſt of it, v. 27. Truth Lord, yet the Dogs eat of the Crumbs. Now here,

1. Her Acknowledgment was very humble, Truth Lord. Note, You cannot ſpeak ſo meanly and ſlightly of a humble Believer, but he is ready to ſpeak as meanly and ſlightly of himſelf. Some that ſeem to diſpraiſe and diſparage themſelves, will yet take it as an Affront, if others do ſo too; but one that is humbled aright, will ſubſcribe to the moſt abaſing Challenges, and not call them abuſing ones. Truth Lord, I cannot deny it; I am a Dog, and have no Right to the Childrens Bread. David, Thou haſt done fooliſhly, very fooliſhly; Truth Lord. Aſaph, Thou haſt been as a Beaſt before God. Agur, Thou art more brutiſh than any Man; Truth Lord. Paul, Thou haſt been the chief of Sinners, art leſs than the leaſt of Saints, not meet to be call'd an Apoſtle; Truth Lord.

2. Her improvement of this into a Plea was very Ingenious. Yet the Dogs eat of the Crumbs. 'Twas by a ſingular Acumen, and ſpiritual Quickneſs and Sagacity, that ſhe diſcern'd Matter of Argument in that which look'd like a Slight. Note, A lively active Faith will make that to be for us, which ſeems to be againſt us; will fetch Meat out of the Eater, and Sweetneſs out of the ſtrong. Unbelief is apt to miſtake Recruits for Enemies, and to draw diſmal Concluſions even from comfortable Promiſes, (Jud. 13. 22, 23.) but Faith can find Encouragement even in that which is diſcouraging, and get nearer to God by taking hold on that Hand, which is ſtretch'd out to puſh it away. So good a thing is it to be of quick Underſtanding in the Fear of the Lord, Iſa. 11. 3.

Her Plea is, Yet the Dogs eat of the Crumbs. 'Tis true, the full and regular Proviſion is intended for the Children only, but the ſmall caſual neglected Crumbs are allow'd to the Dogs, and are not grudg'd them; that is, to the Dogs under the Table that attend there expecting them. We poor Gentiles cannot expect the ſtated Miniſtry and Miracles of the Son of David, that belongs to the Jews; but they begin now to be weary of their Meat, and to play with it, they find Fault with it, and crumble it away: Surely then ſome of the broken Meat may fall to a poor Gentile. I beg a Cure by the by, which is but as a Crumb, though of the ſame precious Bread, yet but a ſmall inconſiderable Piece, compar'd with the Loaves which they have. Note, When we are ready to ſurfeit on the Childrens Bread, we ſhould remember how many there are that would be glad of the Crumbs. Our broken Meat in ſpiritual Privileges would be a Feaſt to many a Soul, as Acts 13. 42. Obſerve here,

1. Her Humility and Neceſſity made her glad of Crumbs. Thoſe who are conſcious to themſelves that they deſerve nothing, will be thankful for any thing. And then we are prepar'd for the greateſt of God's Mercies, when we ſee ourſelves leſs than the leaſt of them. The leaſt of Chriſt is precious to a Believer, and the very Crumbs of the Bread of Life.

2. Her Faith encourageth her to expect theſe Crumbs. Why ſhould it not be at Chriſt's Table, as at a great Man's, where the Dogs are fed as ſure as the Children. Obſerve, ſhe calls it their Maſter's Table: If ſhe were a Dog, ſhe was his Dog, and it cannot be ill with us, if we ſtand but in the meaneſt Relation to Chriſt. Though unworthy to be called Children, yet make me as one of the hired Servants; nay, rather let me be ſet with the Dogs, than turn'd out of the Houſe, for in my Father's Houſe there is not only Bread enough, but to ſpare, Luke 15. 17, 19. It's good lying in God's Houſe, tho' we lye at the Threſhold there.

Fourthly, The happy Iſſue and Succeſs of all this. She came off with Credit and Comfort from this Struggle, and tho' a Canaanite, approv'd herſelf a true Daughter of Iſrael, who like a Prince had Power with God, and prevail'd. Hitherto Chriſt hid his Face from her, but now gathers her with everlaſting Kindneſs v. 27. Then Jeſus ſaid, O Woman, great is thy Faith. This was like Joſeph's making himſelf known to his Brethren, I am Joſeph, ſo here in effect, I am Jeſus. Now he begins to ſpeak like himſelf, and put on his own Countenance. He will not contend for ever.

1. He commended her Faith. O Woman, great is thy Faith. Obſerve (1.) 'Tis her Faith that he commends. There were ſeveral other Graces that ſhone bright in her Conduct of this Affair, Wiſdom, Humility, Meekneſs, Patience, Perſeverance in Prayer, but theſe were the Product of her Faith, and therefore Chriſt faſtens upon that as moſt commendable. Becauſe of all Graces Faith honours Chriſt moſt, therefore of all Graces Chriſt honours Faith moſt.

(1.) 'Tis the Greatneſs of her Faith. Note, 1. Though the Faith of all the Saints be alike precious, yet it is not in all alike ſtrong. All Believers are not of the ſame Size and Stature. 2. The greatneſs of Faith conſiſts much in a reſolute Adherence to Jeſus Chriſt, as an all-ſufficient Saviour, even in the Face of Diſcouragements; to love him and truſt him, as a Friend, even then when he ſeems to come forth againſt us as an Enemy. This is great Faith. 3. Tho' weak Faith, if true, ſhall not be rejected, yet great Faith ſhall be commended; and ſhall appear greatly well-pleaſing to Chriſt; for in them that thus believe, he is moſt admir'd. Thus Chriſt commended the Faith of the Centurion, and he was a Gentile too: He had a ſtrong Faith in the Power of Chriſt; this Woman in the Good-will of Chriſt. Both were acceptable.

2. He cur'd her Daughter. Be it unto thee even as thou wilt. I can deny thee nothing, take what thou cameſt for. Note, Great Believers may have what they will for the asking. When our Will conforms to the Will of Chriſt's Precept, his will concur with the Will of our Deſire. Thoſe that will deny Chriſt nothing, ſhall find he will deny them nothing at laſt, tho' for a time he ſeem to hide his Face from them. Thou wouldſt have thy Sins pardon'd, thy Corruptions mortified, thy Nature ſanctified, Be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And what canſt thou deſire more? When we come as this poor Woman did, to pray againſt Satan, and his Kingdom, we concur with the Interceſſion of Chriſt, and it ſhall be accordingly. Tho' Satan may ſift Peter, and buffet Paul, yet thro' Chriſt's Prayer and the Sufficiency of his Grace, we ſhall be more than Conquerors, Luke 22. 31, 32. 2 Cor. 12. 7, 9. Rom. 16. 20.

The Event was anſwerable to the Word of Chriſt. Her Daughter was made whole from that very Hour: from thence forward was never vexed with the Devil any more. The Mother's Faith prevail'd for the Daughter's Cure. Though the Patient was at Diſtance, that was no Hindrance to the Efficacy of Chriſt's Word. He ſpake and it was done.

29 And Jeſus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the ſea of Galilee, and went up into a mountain, and ſat down there. 30 And great multitudes came unto him, having with them thoſe that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and caſt them down at Jeſus feet, and he healed them. 31 Inſomuch that the multitude wondered, when they ſaw the dumb to ſpeak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to ſee: and they glorified the God of Iſrael. 32 Then Jeſus called his diſciples unto him, and ſaid, I have compaſſion on the multitude, becauſe they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not ſend them away faſting, leſt they faint in the way. 33 And his diſciples ſay unto him, Whence ſhould we have ſo much bread in the wilderneſs, as to fill ſo great a multitued? 34 And Jeſus ſaith unto them, How many Loves have ye? and they ſaid, Seven, and a few little fiſhes. 35 And he commanded the multitude to ſit down on the ground. 36 And he took the ſeven loaves and the fiſhes, and gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his diſciples, and the diſciples to the multitude. 37 And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the broken meat that was left, ſeven baſkets full. 38 And they that did eat, were four thouſand men, beſide women and children. 39 And he ſent away the multitude, and took ſhip, and came into the coaſts of Magdala.

Here's 1. A general Account of Chriſt's Cures; his curing by Wholeſale. The Tokens of Chriſt's Power and Goodneſs are neither ſcarce, nor ſcanty; for there is in him an overflowing Fulneſs. Now obſerve,

1. The Place were theſe Cures were wrought. 'Twas near the Sea of Galilee, a Part of the Country Chriſt was pretty much converſant with. We read not of any thing he did in the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon, but the caſting of the Devil out of the Woman of Canaan's Daughter, as if he took that Journey on Purpoſe, with that in Proſpect. Let not Miniſters grudge their Pains to do good tho' but to few. He that knows the Worth of Souls, would go a great way to help to ſave one from Death, and Satan's Power.

But Jeſus departed thence, having let fall that Crumb under the Table, he here returns to make a full Feaſt for the Children. We may do that occaſionally for one, which we may not make a conſtant Practice of. Chriſt ſteps into the Coaſts of Tyre and Sidon, but he ſits down by the Sea of Galilee, v. 29. ſits down, not on a ſtately Throne or Tribunal of Judgment, but on a Mountain. So mean and homely were his moſt ſolemn Appearances in the Days of his Fleſh. He ſate down on a Mountain, that all might ſee him, and have free Acceſs to him; for he is an open Saviour. He ſate down there, as one tir'd with his Journey, and willing to have a little Reſt; or rather, as one waiting to be gracious. He ſate expecting Patients, as Abraham at his Tent-door, ready to entertain Strangers. He ſettled himſelf to this good Work.

2. The Multitudes and Maladies that were healed by him, v. 30. Great Multitudes came to him, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd, unto him ſhall the gathering of the People be, Gen. 49. 10. If Chriſt's Miniſters could cure bodily Diſeaſes as Chriſt did, there would be more flocking to them than there is. But bodily Pain and Sickneſs is a thing we are ſoon ſenſible of, but few are concern'd about their Souls, and their ſpiritual Diſeaſes.

Now (1.) Such was the Goodneſs of Chriſt, that he admitted all Sorts of People. The Poor as well as the Rich are welcome to Chriſt, and with him there's room enough for all Comers. He never complain'd of Crouds or Throngs of Seekers, or look'd with Contempt upon the Vulgar, the Herd, as they are called; for the Souls of Peaſants are as precious with him as the Souls of Princes.

(2.) Such was the Power of Chriſt, that he healed all ſorts of Diſeaſes. Thoſe that came to him brought their ſick Relations and Friends along with them, and caſt them down at Jeſus Feet, v. 30. We read not of any thing they ſaid to him, but they laid them down before him, as Objects of Pity, to be look'd upon by him. Their Calamities ſpoke more for them than the Tongue of the moſt eloquent Orator could. David ſhew'd before God his Trouble, that was enough, he then left it with him, Pſal. 142. 2. Whatever our Caſe is, the only way to find Eaſe and Relief, is to lay it at Chriſt's Feet, to ſpread it before him, and refer it to his Cognizance, and then ſubmit it to him, and refer it to his Diſpoſe. Thoſe that would have ſpiritual Healing from Chriſt, muſt lay themſelves at his Feet, to be ruled and ordered as he pleaſeth.

Here were Lame, Blind, Dumb, Maimed, and many others brought to Chriſt; ſee what Work Sin has made, it has turned the World into an Hoſpital; what various Diſeaſes are human Bodies ſubject to; ſee what work the Saviour makes, he conquers thoſe Hoſts of Enemies to Mankind. Here were ſuch Diſeaſes as a Flame of Fancy could contribute neither to the Cauſe of nor to the Cure of, as lying not in the Humours, but in the Members of the Body, and yet theſe were ſubject to the Commands of Chriſt; he ſent his Word and healed them. Note, All Diſeaſes are at the Command of Chriſt, to go and come as he bids them. This is an Inſtance of Chriſt's Power, which may comfort us in all our Weakneſſes, and of his Pity, which may comfort us in all our Miſeries.

3. The Influence that this had upon the People, v. 31.

1. They wonder'd; and well they might. Chriſt's Works ſhould be our Wonder. 'Tis the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous, Pſal. 118. 23. The ſpiritual Cures that Chriſt works are wonderful. When blind Souls are made to ſee by Faith, the Dumb to ſpeak in Prayer, the Lame to walk in holy Obedience, 'tis to be wonder'd at. Sing unto the Lord a new Song, for thus he has done marvellous things.

2. They glorified the God of Iſrael, whom the Phariſees, when they ſaw theſe things, blaſphemed. Miracles, which are the Matter of our Wonder, muſt be the Matter of our Praiſe; and Mercies, which are the Matter of our Rejoycing, muſt be the Matter of our Thankſgiving. Thoſe that were healed glorified God; if he heal our Diſeaſes, all that is within us muſt bleſs his holy Name; and if we have been graciouſly preſerved from Blindneſs, and Lameneſs, and Dumbneſs, we have as much reaſon to bleſs God as if we had been cur'd of them, Nay, and the Standers-by glorified God. Note, God muſt be acknowledg'd with Praiſe and Thankfulneſs in others Mercies as in our own. They glorified him as the God of Iſrael, his Church's God, a God in Covenant with his People, who hath ſent the Meſſiah promiſed, and this he; ſee Luke 1. 68. Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael. This was done by the Power of the God of Iſrael, and no other could do it.

2. Here's a particular Account of his feeding four thouſand Men with ſeven Loaves and a few little Fiſhes, as he had lately fed five thouſand with five Loaves. The Gueſts indeed were now not quite ſo many as then, and the Proviſion a little more, which does not intimate that Chriſt's Arm was ſhortned, but that he wrought his Miracles as the Occaſion requir'd, and not for Oſtentation, and therefore he ſuited them to the Occaſion. Both then and now he took as many as were to be fed, and made uſe of all that was at hand to feed them with. When once the utmoſt Powers of Nature are exceeded, we muſt ſay, This is the Finger of God, and it is neither here nor there how far they are out-done; ſo that this is no leſs a Miracle than the former.

Here's 1. Chriſt's Pity, v. 32. I have Compaſſion on the Multitude. He tells his Diſciples this, both to try and excite their Compaſſion. When he was about to work this Miracle he call'd them to him, and made them acquainted with his Purpoſe, and diſcourſed them about it, not becauſe he needed their Advice, but becauſe he would give an Inſtance of his condeſcending Love to them. He call'd them not Servants, vants, for the Servant knows not what his Lord doth, but treated them as his Right-truſty and well-beloved Couſins and Counſellors. Shall I hide from Abraham the thing that I do? Gen. 18. 17. In what he ſaid to them obſerve,

1. The Caſe of the Multitude. They continue with me now three Days, and have nothing to eat This is an Inſtance of their Zeal, and the Strength of their Affection to Chriſt and his Word, that they not only left their Callings to attend upon him on Week-days, but underwent a deal of Hardſhip to continue with him, they wanted their natural Reſt, and for ought appear'd lay like Soldiers in the Field, they wanted neceſſary Food, and had ſcarce enough to keep Life and Soul together. In thoſe hotter Countries they could better bear long faſting than we can in theſe colder Climates, but however it could not but be grievous to the Body, and might endanger their Health, yet the Zeal of God's Houſe thus eat them up, and they eſteem'd the Words of Chriſt more than their neceſſary Food. We think three Hours too much to attend upon publick Ordinances, but theſe People ſtaid together three Days, and yet ſnuffed not at it, nor ſaid, Behold, what a Wearineſs is it! Obſerve with what Tenderneſs Chriſt ſpoke of it, I have Compaſſion on them. It had become them to have Compaſſion on him, who took ſo much Pains with them for three Days together, and was ſo indefatigable in teaching and healing; ſo much Virtue had gone out of him, and yet for ought appears he was faſting too, but he prevented them with his Compaſſion. Note, Our Lord Jeſus keeps an Account how long his Followers continue their Attendance on him, and takes notice of the Difficulty they ſuſtain in it, Rev. 2. 2. I know thy Works, and thy Labour, and thy Patience, and it ſhall in no wiſe loſe its Reward.

Now the Exigence the People were reduc'd to ſerves to magnify (1.) The Mercy of their Supply; he fed them when they wery hungry, and then Food was doubly welcome; he treated them as he did Iſrael of old, he ſuffer'd them to hunger, and then fed them, Deut. 8. 3. for that's ſweet to the hungry Soul, which the full Soul loaths. (2.) The Miracle of their Supply. Having been ſo long faſting, their Appetites were the more craving; if two hungry Meals make the third a Glutton, what would three hungry Days do? and yet they did all eat, and were filled. Note, There is Mercy and Grace enough with Chriſt to give the moſt earneſt and enlarg'd Deſire an abundant Satisfaction. Open thy Mouth wide and I will fill it. He repleniſheth even the hungry Soul.

2. The Care of our Maſter concerning them. I will not ſend them away faſting, leſt they ſhould faint by the Way, which would be a Diſcredit to Chriſt and his Family, and a Diſcouragement both to them and to others. Note, It is the Unhappineſs of our preſent State, that when our Souls are in ſome meaſure elevated and enlarg'd, yet our Bodies cannot keep pace with them in good Duties The Weakneſs of the Fleſh is a great Grievance to the Willingneſs of the Spirit; 'twill not be ſo in Heaven, where the Body ſhall be made ſpiritual, where they reſt not Day or Night from praiſing God, and yet faint not, where they hunger no more, nor thirſt any more, Rev. 7. 16.

2. Chriſt's Power. His Pity of their Wants ſets his Power on work for their Supply. Now obſerve,

1. How his Power was dſtiruſted by his Diſciples, v. 33. Whence ſhould we have ſo much Bread in the Wilderneſs? A proper Queſtion one would think, like that of Moſes, Numb. 11. 22. Shall the Flocks and the Herds be ſlain to ſuffice them? But it was here an improper Queſtion, conſidering not only the general Aſſurance the Diſciples had of the Power of Chriſt, but the particular Experience they lately had of a ſeaſonable and ſufficient Proviſion by Miracle in a like Caſe. They had been not only the Witneſſes, but the Miniſters of the former Miracle, the multiplied Bread went thro' their Hands; ſo that it was an Inſtance of great Weakneſs for them to ask, Whence ſhall we have Bread? Could they be to ſeek while they had their Maſter with them? Note, Forgetting former Experiences leaves us under preſent Doubts.

Chriſt knew how ſlender the Proviſion was, but he would know it from them, v. 34. How many Loaves have ye? Before he would work he would have it ſeen how little he had to work on, that his Power might ſhine the brighter. What they had they had for themſelves, and it was little enough for their own Family, but Chriſt would have them beſtow it all upon the Multitude, and truſt Providence for more. Note, It becomes Chriſt's Diſciples to be generous, their Maſter was ſo; what we have we ſhould be free of, as there is Occaſion; given to Hoſpitality. Not like Nabal, 1 Sam. 25. 11. but like Eliſha, 2 Kings 4. 42. Niggardlineſs to-day, out of Thoughtfulneſs for to-morrow, is a Complication of corrupt Affections that ought to be mortified. If we be prudently kind and charitable with what we have, we may piouſly hope that God will ſend more. Jehovah jireh, the Lord will provide. The Diſciples aſk'd, Whence ſhould we have Bread? Chriſt aſk'd, How many Loaves have ye? Note, When we cannot have what we would we muſt make the beſt of what we have, and do good with it as far as it will go. We muſt not think ſo much of our Wants as of our Havings. Chriſt herein went according to the Rule he gave to Martha, not to be troubled about many things, nor cumber'd about much Serving. Nature is content with little, Grace with leſs, but Luſt with nothing.

2. How his Power was diſcover'd to the Multitude in the plentiful Proviſion he made for them, the Manner of which is much the ſame as before, Chap. 14. 18, &c. Obſerve here,

1. The Proviſion that was at hand, ſeven Loaves, and a few little Fiſhes. The Fiſh not proportionable to the Bread, for Bread is the Staff of Life. 'Tis likely the Fiſh was ſuch as they had themſelves taken, for they were Fiſhers, and were now near the Sea, Note, It is comfortable eating the Labour of our Hands, Pſal. 128. 2. and enjoying that which is any way the Product of our own Induſtry, Prov. 12. 27. And what we have got by God's Bleſſing on our Labour we ſhould be free of, for therefore we muſt labour that we may have to give, Eph. 4. 28.

2. The putting of the People in a Poſture to receive it, v. 35. He commanded the Multitude to ſit down on the Ground They ſaw but very little Proviſion, yet they muſt ſit down, in Faith that they ſhould have a Meals Meat out of it. They who would have ſpiritual Food from Chriſt, muſt ſit down at his Feet to hear his Word, and expect it to come in an unſeen way.

3. The diſtributing of the Proviſion among them. He firſt gave Thanks, ἐυχαεισήσας. The Word us'd in the former Miracle was ἐυλόγησε, he bleſſed. It comes all to one; Giving Thanks to God is a proper Way of craving a Bleſſing from God. And when we come to ask and receive further Mercy, we ought to give Thanks for the Mercies we have receiv'd. He then brake the Loaves (for it was in the breaking that the Bread multiplied) and gave to his Diſciples, and they to the Multitude. Though the Diſciples had diſtruſted Chriſt's Power, yet he made uſe of them now as before; he is not provok'd, as he might be, by the Weakneſſes, and Infirmities of his Miniſters, to lay them aſide; but ſtill he gives to them, and they to his People of the Word of Life.

4. The Plenty there was among them, v. 37. They did all eat, and were fill'd. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt feeds he fills. While we labour for the World, we labour for that which ſatisfieth not, Iſa. 55. 2. but thoſe that duly wait on Chriſt, ſhall be abundantly ſatisfied with the Goodneſs of his Houſe, Pſal. 65. 4. Chriſt thus fed People once and again to intimate, that though he was call'd Jeſus of Nazareth, yet he was of Bethlehem, the Houſe of Bread; or rather, that he was himſelf the Bread of Life.

To ſhew that they had all enough, there was a graet deal left; Seven Baſkets full of broken Meat; and not ſo much as there was before, becauſe they did not gather after ſo many Eaters, but enough to ſhew, that with Chriſt there is Bread enough and to ſpare; Supplies of Grace for more than ſeek it, and for thoſe that ſeek more.

5. The Account taken of the Gueſts, not that they might pay their Ordinary; here was no Reckoning to be diſcharged, they were fed gratis, but that they might be Witneſſes to the Power and Goodneſs of Chriſt; and that this might be ſome Reſemblance of that univerſal Providence that gives Food to all Fleſh, Pſal. 136. 25 Here were Four Thouſand Men fed, but what were they to that great Family, which is provided for by the divine Care every Day? God is a great Houſe-keeper, on whom the Eyes of all the Creatures wait, and he giveth them their Food in due Seaſon, Pſal. 104 27 — 145. 15.

Laſtly, The Diſmiſſion of the Multitude, and Chriſt's Departure to another Place, v. 39. He ſent away the People. Though he had fed them twice, they muſt not expect Miracles to be their daily Bread. Let them now go home to their Callings, and to their own Tables. And he himſelf departed by Ship to another Place; for being the Light of the World, he muſt be ſtill in Motion, and go about to do good.

CHAP. XVI.

None of Chriſt's Miracles are recorded in this Chapter, but Four of his Diſcourſes. Here's (1.) A Conference with the Phariſees, who challenged him to ſhew them a Sign from Heaven, v. 1.—4. (2.) Another with his Diſciples about the Leaven of the Phariſees, v. 5.—12. (3.) Another with them concerning himſelf, as the Chriſt, and concerning his Church built upon him. v. 13.—20. (4.) Another concerning his Sufferings for them, and theirs for him, v. 21—28. And all theſe are written for our Learning.

THE Phariſees alſo with the Sadducees, came, and tempting, deſir'd him that he would ſhew them a ſign from Heaven. 2 He anſwered and ſaid unto them, When it is evening, ye ſay, It will be fair weather: for the skie is red. 3 And in the morning, It will be foul weather to day: for the skie is red and lowring. O ye hypocrites, ye can diſcern the face of the skie, but can ye not diſcern the ſigns of the times? 4 A wicked and adulterous generation ſeeketh after a ſign, and there ſhall no ſign be given unto it, but the ſign of the Prophet Jonas. And he left them and departed

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with the Phariſees and Sadducees, Men at Variance among themſelves, as appears, Acts 23. 7, 8. and yet unanimous in their Oppoſition to Chriſt; becauſe his Doctrine did equally overthrow the Errors and Hereſies of the Sadducees, who denied the Exiſtence of Spirits, and a future State; and the Pride, Tyranny, and Hypocriſy of the Phariſees, who were the great Impoſers of the Traditions of the Elders. Chriſt and Chriſtianity meet with Oppoſition on all hands. Obſerve, Firſt, Their Demand, and the Deſign of it.

The Demand was of a Sign from Heaven, this they deſired him to ſhew them; pretending they were very willing to be ſatisfied and convinc'd, when really they were far from being ſo, but ſought Excuſes for an obſtinate Infidelity. That which they pretended to deſire was,

(1.) Some other Sign than what they had yet had. They had great plenty of Signs, every Miracle Chriſt wrought was a Sign; for no Man cou'd do what he did unleſs God were with him: But this will not ſerve, they muſt have a Sign of their own chuſing; they deſpis'd thoſe Signs which reliev'd the Neceſſity of the Sick and Sorrowful, and inſiſted upon ſome Sign which would gratify the Curioſity of the Proud. 'Twas fit the Proofs of divine Revelation ſhould be choſen by the Wiſdom of God, not by the Follies and Fancies of Men. The Evidence that is given, is ſufficient to ſatisfy an unprejudiced Underſtanding, but was not intended to pleaſe a vain Humour. And it is an Inſtance of the deceitfulneſs of the Heart, to think that we ſhould be wrought upon by the Means and Advantages which we have not, while we ſlight thoſe we have. If we hear not Moſes and the Prophets, neither would we be wrought upon, tho' one roſe from the Dead.

(2.) It muſt be a Sign from Heaven. They would have ſuch Miracles to prove his Commiſſion as were wrought at the giving of the Law upon Mount Sinai, Thunder and Lightning, and the Voice of Words were the Sign from Heaven they requir'd. Whereas the ſenſible Signs, and terrible ones were not agreeable to the ſpiritual and comfortable Diſpenſation of the Goſpel. Now the Word comes more nigh us, Rom. 10. 8. and therefore the Miracles do ſo, and do not oblige us to keep ſuch a diſtance as theſe did, Heb. 12. 18.

2. The Deſign was to tempt him, not to be taught by him, but to enſnare him. If he ſhould ſhew them a Sign from Heauen, they would attribute it to a Confederacy with the Prince of the Power of the Air: If he ſhould not, as they ſuppos'd he would not, they would have that to ſay for themſelves, why they did not believe on him. They now tempted Chriſt as Iſrael did, 1 Cor. 11. 9. And obſerve their Perverſeneſs; then when they have had Signs from Heaven, they tempted Chriſt, ſaying, Can he furniſh a Table in the Wilderneſs? Now he had furniſh'd a Table in the Wilderneſs, they tempted him, ſaying, Can he give us a Sign from Heaven?

Secondly, Chriſt's Reply to this Demand; leſt they ſhould be wiſe in their own Conceit, he anſwer'd theſe Fools according to their Folly, Prov. 26. 5. In his Anſwer,

1. He condemns their Inadvertency of the Signs they had, v. 2, 3. They were ſeeking for the Signs of the Kingdom of God, when it was already among them. The Lord was in this place, and they knew it not. Thus their unbelieving Anceſtors, when Miracles were their daily Bread, yet aſked, Is the Lord among us, or is he not?

To expoſe this, he obſerves to them,

(1.) Their Skilfulneſs and Sagacity in other things, particularly in natural Prognoſtications of the Weather, you know that a red Sky over Night is a Preſage of fair Weather, and a red Sky in the Morning of foul Weather. There are common Rules drawn from Obſervation and Experience, by which it is eaſy to foretel very probably what Weather it will be. When ſecond Cauſes have begun to work, we may eaſily gueſs at their Iſſue, ſo uniform is Nature in its Motions, and ſo inconſiſtent with it ſelf, We know not the ballancings of the Clouds, Job 37. 16. but we may ſpell ſomething from the Faces of them. This gives no countenance at all to the wild and ridiculous Predictions of the Aſtrologers, the Star-gazer, and the Monthly Prognoſticators, (Iſa. 47. 13.) concerning the Weather, long before, with which weak and fooliſh People are impos'd upon; we are ſure in general that Seed-time, and Harveſt, Cold, and Heat, Summer, and Winter, ſhall not ceaſe. But as to the Particulars, till by the Weather-Glaſſes, or otherwiſe we perceive the immediate Signs and Harbingers of the Change of Weather: It is not for us to know, no, not that concerning the Time and Seaſons. Let it ſuffice, that it ſhould be what Weather pleaſeth God, and that which pleaſeth God ſhould not diſpleaſe us.

(2.) Their Sottiſhneſs and Stupidity in the Concerns of their Souls; Can ye not diſcern the Signs of the Times?

1. Do you not ſee that the Meſſiah is come? The Sceptre was departed from Judah, Daniel's Weeks were upon expiring, and yet they regarded not. The Miracles Chriſt wrought, and the gathering of the People to him, were plain indications, that the Kingdom of Heaven was at hand, that this was the Day of their Viſitation. Note, (1.) There are Signs of the Times, by which wiſe and upright Men are able to make moral Prognoſtications, and ſo far to underſtand the Motions and Method of Providence, as from thence to take their Meaſures, and to know what Iſrael ought to do, as the Men of Iſſachar, as the Phyſician from ſome certain Symptoms finds a Criſis form'd. (2.) There are many who are ſkilful enough in other things, and yet cannot, or will not diſcern the Day of their Opportunities, are not aware of the Wind when its fair for them, and ſo let ſlip the Gale, See Jer. 8. 7. Iſa. 1. 3. (3.) It's great Hypocriſy when we ſlight the Signs of God's Ordaining, to ſeek for Signs of our own preſcribing.

2. Do not you foreſee your own Ruin coming for rejecting him? You will not entertain the Goſpel of Peace, and can you not evidently diſcern that hereby you pull an inevitable deſtruction upon your own Heads. Note, It is the undoing of Multitudes, that they are not aware of what will be in the end of their refuſing Chriſt.

2 He denies to give them any other Sign, v. 4. as he had done before in the ſame words. Chap, 12. 39. Thoſe that perſiſt in the ſame Iniquities, muſt expect to meet with the ſame Reproofs. Here as there, (1.) he calls them an adulterous Generation; becauſe while they profeſſed themſelves of the true Church, and Spouſe of God, they treacherouſly departed from him, and broke their Covenants with him. The Phariſees were a Generation pure in their own Eyes, having the way of the adulterous Woman, that thinks ſhe has no Wickedneſs, Prov. 30. 20. (2.) He refuſeth to gratify their Deſire, Chriſt will not be preſcrib'd to, we aſk, and have not, becauſe we aſk amiſs. 3. He refers them to the Sign of the Prophet Jonas, which ſhould yet be given them; his Reſurrection from the Dead, and his Preaching by his Apoſtles to the Gentiles, theſe were reſerv'd for the laſt and higheſt Evidences of his divine Miſſion. Note, Tho' the Fancies of proud Men ſhall not be humour'd, yet the Faith of the Humble ſhall be ſupported, and the Unbelief of them that periſh, left inexcuſable, and every Mouth ſhall be ſtop'd.

This Diſcourſe broke of abruptly, he left them, and departed; Chriſt will not tarry long with them that tempt him, but juſtly withdraws from thoſe that are diſpos'd to quarrel with him. He left them as irreclaimable; Let them alone. He left them to themſelves, left them in the Hands of their own Counſels, ſo he gave them up to their own Hearts Luſts.

5 And when his diſciples were come to the other ſide, they had forgotten to take bread. 6 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Phariſees, and of the Sadduces, 7 And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, It is becauſe we have taken no bread. 8 Which when Jeſus perceived, he ſaid unto them, O ye of little faith, why reaſon ye among your ſelves, becauſe ye have brought no bread? 9 Do ye not yet underſtand, neither remember the five loaves of the five thouſand, and how many baskets ye took up? 10 Neither the ſeven loaves of the four thouſand, and how many baskets ye took up? 11 How is it that ye do not underſtand, that I ſpake it not to you concerning bread, that ye ſhould beware of the leaven of the Phariſees and of the Sadducees? 12 Then underſtood they how that he bad them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Phariſees, and of the Sadducees.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples concerning Bread, in which, as in many other, he ſpeaks to them of ſpiritual things under a Similitude, and they miſunderſtand him of carnal things. The occaſion of it was their forgetting to Victual their Ship, and to take along with them Proviſions for their Family on the other ſide the Water; uſually they carry'd Bread along with them, becauſe ſometimes they were in deſart Places, and when they were not, yet they would not be burthenſome. But now they forgot, we will hope 'twas becauſe their Minds and Memories were fill'd with better things. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples are often ſuch as have no great Forecaſt for the World.

Firſt, Here's the Caution Chriſt gave them to beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees. He had now been diſcourſing with the Phariſees and Sadduces, and ſaw them to be Men of ſuch a Spirit, that 'twas neceſſary to caution his Diſciples to have nothing to do with them, Diſciples are in moſt danger from Hypocrites, againſt thoſe that are openly vicious they ſtand upon their Guard, but againſt Phariſees that are great Pretenders to Devotion, and Sadduces that pretend to a free and impartial ſearch after Truth, they commonly lye unguarded. And therefore the Caution is doubled, Take heed, and beware.

The corrupt Principles and Practiſes of the Phariſees and Sadducees are compar'd to Leaven; they were ſowing and ſwelling, and ſpreading like Leaven; they fermented wherever they came.

Secondly, Their Miſtake concerning this Caution, v. 7. They thought Chriſt hereby upbraided them with their Improvidence and Forgetfulneſs, that they were ſo buſy attending to his Diſcourſe with the Phariſees, that therefore they forgot their private Concerns. Or, becauſe having no Bread of their own with them, they muſt be beholden to their Friends for Supply, he would not have them to aſk it of the Phariſees and Sadducees, nor to receive of their Alms, becauſe he would not ſo far Countenance them; or for fear, leſt under pretence of feeding them they ſhould do them a miſchief. Or, they took it for a Caution, not to be familiar with the Phariſees and Sadducees, not to eat with them, Prov. 23. 6. whereas the Danger was not in their Bread, Chriſt himſelf did eat with them, Luke 7. 36. 14, 1.—11. 37. but in their Principles.

Thirdly, The Reproof Chriſt gave them for this.

1. He reproves their Diſtruſt of his Ability and Readineſs to ſupply them in this Strait, v. 8. O ye of little Faith, why are ye in ſuch Perplexity becauſe ye have taken no Bread? that you can mind nothing elſe, that you think your Maſter is as full of it as you, and apply every thing he ſaith to that. He doth not chide them for their little Forecaſt, as they expected he would. Note, Parents and Maſters muſt not be angry at the forgetfulneſs of their Children and Servants, more than is neceſſary, to make them take more heed another time, we are all apt to be forgetful of our Duty. This ſhould ſerve to excuſe a Fault, peradventure it was an overſight, See how eaſily Chriſt forgave his Diſciples Careleſneſs, tho' it was in ſuch a material Point, as taking Bread, and do likewiſe. But that which he chides them for is their little Faith.

(1.) He would have them to depend upon him for Supply, tho' it were in a Wilderneſs, and not to diſquiet themſelves with anxious Thoughts about it. Note, Tho' Chriſt's Diſciples be brought into Wants and Staits thro' their own Careleſneſs and Incogitancy, yet he encourageth them to truſt in him for Relief. We muſt not therefore uſe this as an excuſe for our Charity to thoſe that are really poor, that they ſhould have minded their own Affairs better, and then they would not have been in need. It may be ſo, but they muſt not therefore be left to ſtarve when they are in need.

(2.) He is diſpleas'd at their Solicitude in this Matter. The Weakneſs and Shiftleſneſs of good People in their worldly Affairs, is that for which Men are apt to condemn them, but it is not ſuch an Offence to Chriſt as their inordinate Care and Anxiety about thoſe things. We muſt endeavour to keep the mean between the Extreams of Careleſneſs and Carefulneſs, but of the two the exceſs of Thoughtfulneſs about the World worſt becomes Chriſt's Diſciples. O ye of little Faith, why are ye diſquieted for want of Bread? Note, To diſturſt Chriſt, and diſturb our ſelves when we are in Straits and Difficulties, is an evidence of the Weakneſs of our Faith, which if it were in exerciſe as it ſhould be, would eaſe us of the burthen of Care, by caſting it on the Lord, who careth for us.

(3.) The Aggravation of their Diſtruſt was, the experience they had ſo lately had of the Power and Goodneſs of Chriſt in providing for them, v. 9, 10. Tho' they had no Bread with them, they had him with them that could provide Bread for them. If they had not the Ciſtern, they had the Fountain. Do not ye underſtand, neither remember? Note, Chriſt's Diſciples are often to be blamed for the Shallowneſs of their Underſtandings, and the ſlipperineſs of their Memories. Have you forgot thoſe repeated Inſtances of merciful and miraculous ſupplies; five Thouſand fed with five Loaves, and four Thouſand with ſeven Loaves, and yet they had enough, and to ſpare. Remember how many Baſkets ye took up, which were intended for Memorials, by which to keep the Mercy in remembrace, as the Pot of Manna which was preſerv'd in the Ark, Exod. 16. 32. The Fragments of thoſe Meals would be a Feaſt now; and he that could furniſh them with ſuch an overplus then, could furniſh them with with what was neceſſary now. That Meat for their Bodies was intended to be Meat for their Faith, (Pſal. 74. 14.) which therefore they ſhould have liv'd upon now they had forgotten to take Bread. Note, We are therefore perplex'd with preſent Care and Diſtruſts, becauſe we do not duly remember our former Experiences of divine Power and Goodneſs.

2. He reproves their Miſunderſtanding of the Caution he gave them, v. 11. How is it that ye do not underſtand? Note, Chriſt's Diſciples may well be aſham'd of the Slowneſs and Dulneſs of their Apprehenſions in divine Things; eſpecially when they have long enjoy'd the Means of Grace. I ſpake it not unto you concerning Bread. He took it ill (1.) that they ſhould think him as thoughtful about Bread as they were; whereas his Meat and Drink was to do his Father's Will. (2.) That they ſhould be ſo little acquainted with his way of Preaching, as to take that literally which he ſpoke by way of Parable, and ſhould thus make themſelves like the Multitude, who when Chriſt ſpoke to them in Parables, ſeeing, ſaw not, and hearing, heard not, Mat. 13. 13.

Fourthly, The rectifying this Miſtake by this Reproof, v. 12. Then underſtood they what he meant. Note, Chirſt therefore ſhews us our Folly and Weakneſs, that we may ſtir up our ſelves to take things right. He did not tell them expreſly what he meant, but repeated what he had ſaid, that they ſhould beware of the Leaven, and ſo oblig'd them, by comparing this with his other Diſcourſes, to bolt out the Senſe of it in their own Thoughts. Thus Chriſt teacheth by the Spirit of Wiſdom in the Heart, opening the Underſtanding to the Spirit of Revelation in the Word. And thoſe Truths are moſt precious which we have thus dig'd for, and have found out, after ſome Miſtakes. Tho' Chriſt did not tell them plainly, yet now they were aware, that by the Leaven of the Phariſees and Sadduces, he meant their Doctrine and Way, which was Corrupt, and Vicious, but as they manag'd it, was very apt to inſinuate it ſelf into the Minds of Men, like Leaven, and to eat like a Canker. They were leading Men, and were had in Reputation, which made the Danger of Infection by their Errors the greater. In our Age we may reckon Atheiſm and Deiſm to be the Leaven of the Sadduces, and Popery to be the Leaven of the Phariſees, againſt both which it concerns all Chriſtians to ſtand upon their Guard.

13 When Jeſus came into the coaſts of Ceſarea Philippi, he asked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom do men ſay, that I, the Son of man, am? 14 And they ſaid, Some ſay that thou art John the Baptiſt, ſome Elias, and others Jeremias, or one of the prophets. 15 He ſaith unto them, but whom ſay ye that I am? 16 And Simon Peter anſwered and ſaid, Thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God. 17 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Bleſſed art thou Simon Bar-jona: for fleſh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. 18 And I ſay alſo unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church: and the gates of hell ſhall not prevail againſt it. 19 And I will give nnto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatſoever thou ſhalt bind on earth ſhall be bound in heaven: and whatſoever thou ſhalt looſe on earth, ſhall be looſed in heaven. 20 Then charged he his diſciples that they ſhould tell no man that he was Jeſus the Chriſt.

We have here a private Conference which Chriſt had with his Diſciples concerning himſelf. 'Twas in the Coaſts of Caſarea Philippi, the utmoſt borders of the Land of Canaan, Northward; there in that remote corner, perhaps there was leſs flocking after him than in other Places, which gave him leiſure for this private Converſation with his Diſciples. Note, When Miniſters are abridg'd in their publick Work, they ſhould endeavour to do the more in their own Families

Chriſt is here Catechizing his Diſciples.

Firſt, He enquires what the Opinion of others were concerning him. Whom do Men ſay, that I the Son of Man am?

1. He calls himſelf the Son of Man; which may be taken, either (1.) as a Title common to him with others. He was called, and juſtly, the Son of God, for ſo he was, Luke 1. 35. but he called himſelf the Son of Man; for he is really and truly Man, made of a Woman. In Courts of Honour, 'tis a Rule to diſtinguiſh Men by their higheſt Titles; but Chriſt having now emptied himſelf, tho' he was the Son of God, yet will he be known by the Style and Title of the Son of Man. Ezekiel was often call'd ſo to keep him humble, Chriſt call'd himſelf ſo, to ſhew that he was humble. Or, (2.) As a Title peculiar to him as Mediator. He is made known in Daniel's Viſiou as the Son of Man, Dan. 7. 13. I am the Meſſiah, that Son of Man that was promis'd. But,

2. He enquires what People's Sentiments were concerning him. Whom do Men ſay that I am? The Son of Man. So I think it might better be read; Do they own me for the Meſſiah? He aſks not; Whom do the Scribes and Phariſees ſay that I am? They were prejudic'd againſt him, and ſaid that he was a Deceiver, and in League with Satan; but whom do Men ſay that I am? The common People whom the Phariſees deſpis'd, to them Chriſt had a regard. Chriſt aſk'd this Queſtion, not as one that knew not; for if he knows what Men think, much more what they ſay; nor as one deſirous to hear his own Praiſes, but to make the Diſciples ſollicitous concerning the Succeſs of their Preaching, by ſhewing that he himſelf was ſo. The common People convers'd more familiarly with the Diſciples than they did with their Maſter, and therefore from them he might better know what they ſaid. Chriſt had not plainly ſaid who he was, but left People to refer it from his Works, Joh. 10. 24, 25. Now he would know what Inferences the People drew from them, and from the Miracles which his Apoſtles wrought in his Name.

3. To this Queſtion the Diſciples gave him an Anſwer, v. 14. Some ſay, thou art John Baptiſt, &c. There were ſome that ſaid, He was the Son of David, Mat. 12. 43. and the great Prophet, John 6. 10. But the Diſciples do not mention that, but only thoſe that were wide, which they had gathered up from their Country-men. Obſerve,

1. They are different Opinions, ſome ſay one thing, and others another. Truth is one, but thoſe that vary from that, commonly vary one from another. Thus Chriſt came eventually to ſend Diviſion, Luke 12. 51. Being ſo noted a Perſon, every one would be ready to paſs his Verdict upon him, and many Men, many Minds; thoſe that were not willing to own him to be the Chriſt, wander'd in endleſs Mazes, and follow'd the Chaſe of every uncertain Gueſs, and wild Hypotheſis.

2. They are honourable Opinions, and ſpeak the Reſpect they had for him, according to the beſt of their Judgment. Theſe were not the Sentiments of his Enemies, but the ſober Thoughts of thoſe that follow'd him with Love and Wonder. Note, 'Tis poſſible Men may have good Thoughts of Chriſt, and yet not right ones, a high Opinion of him, and yet not high enough.

3. They all ſuppoſe him to be one riſen from the Dead, which perhaps aroſe from a confuſed Notion they had of the Reſurrection of the Meſſiah before his publick Preaching, as of Jonas. Or their Notions aroſe from an over-value for Antiquity; as if it were not poſſible for an excellent Man to be produc'd in their own Age, but it muſt be one of the Ancients return'd to Life again.

4. They are all falſe Opinions, and built upon Miſtakes, and wilful Miſtakes. Chriſt's Doctrine and Miracles ſpoke him an extraordinary Perſon; but becauſe of the Meanneſs of his Appearance, ſo different from what they expected, they would not own him to be the Meſſiah, but will grant him to be any thing rather than that.

1. Some ſay, Thou art John Baptiſt, Herod ſaid ſo, Chap. 14. 2. and thoſe about him would be apt to ſay as he ſaid. And this Notion might be ſtrengthened by an Opinion they had, that thoſe who dy'd as Martyrs ſhould riſe again before others; which ſome think the ſecond of the ſeven Sons refers to in his Anſwer to Antiochus, 2 Mac. 7. 9. The King of the World ſhall raiſe us up who have dy'd for his Laws unto Everlaſting Life.

2. Some Elias; taking occaſion, no doubt, from the Prophecy of Malachi, Chap. 4, 5. Behold I will ſend you Elijah. And the rather, becauſe Elijah, (as Chriſt) Did many Miracles, and was himſelf in his Tranſlation the greateſt Miracle of all.

3. Others Jeremias; they faſten upon him, either becauſe he was the weeping Prophet, and Chriſt was oft in Tears; or, becauſe God had ſet him over the Kingdoms and Nations, Jer. 1. 10. which they thought agreed with their Notion of the Meſſiah.

4. Or, one of the Prophets. This ſhews what an honourable account they made of the Prophets, and yet they were the Children of them that Perſecuted and Slew them Mat. 23, 29. Rather than they would allow Jeſus of Nazareth one of their own Country, to be ſuch an extraordinary Perſon as his Works ſpoke him to be, they would ſay, It was not he, but one of the old Prophets.

Secondly, He enquires what their Thoughts were concerning him; But whom ſay ye that I am? v. 15. You tell me what other People ſay of me, can you ſay better? (1.) the Diſciples had themſelves been better taught than others, had by their Intimacy with Chriſt greater advantages of getting Knowledge than others had. Note, It is juſtly expected that thoſe who enjoy greater Plenty of the Means of Knowledge and Grace than others, ſhould have a more clear and diſtinct knowledge of the things of God than others. Thoſe that have more acquaintance with Chriſt than others, ſhould have truer Sentiments concerning him, and be able to give a better account of him than others. (2.) The Diſciples were train'd up to teach others, and therefore 'twas highly requiſite they ſhould underſtand the Truth themſelves. Ye that are to Preach the Goſpel of the Kingdom, what are your notions of him that ſends you? Note, Miniſters muſt be examin'd before they be ſent forth, eſpecially what their Sentiments are of Chriſt, and whom they ſay that he is, for how can they be own'd as Miniſters of Chriſt, that are either ignorant or erroneous concerning Chriſt? This is a Queſtion we ſhould every one of us be frequently putting to our ſelves, whom do we ſay, what kind of one do we ſay that the Lord Jeſus is? Is he precious to us? Is he in our Eyes the chief of ten thouſand? Is he the beloved of our Souls? 'Tis well or ill with us, according as our Thoughts are right or wrong concerning Jeſus Chriſt.

Well, this was the Queſtion, now let us obſerve,

1. Peter's Anſwer to this Queſtion, v. 16. To the former Queſtion concerning the Opinion others had of Chriſt, ſeveral of the Diſciples anſwer'd, according as they heard People talk; but to this Peter anſwers in the Name of all the reſt, they all conſenting to it, and concurring in it. Peter's Temper led him to be forward in ſpeaking upon all ſuch Occaſions, and ſometimes he ſpoke well, ſometimes amiſs; in all Companies there are found ſome warm bold Men, to whom a Precedency of Speech falls of courſe; Peter was ſuch a one, yet we find other of the Apoſtles ſometimes ſpeaking as the Mouth of the reſt; as John, Mark ix. 38. Thomas and Philip, and Jude, John xiv. 5, 8, 22. So that this is far from being a Proof of ſuch a Primacy and Superiority of Peter above the reſt of the Apoſtles, as the Church of Rome aſcribes to him; they will needs advance him to be a Judge, when the utmoſt they can make of him is, that he was but Foreman of the Jury, to ſpeak for the reſt, and that only pro hac vice, not the perpetual Dictator or Speaker of the Houſe, only Chair-man upon this Occaſion.

Peter's Anſwer is ſhort, but it is full, and true, and to the Purpoſe, Thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God. Here's a Confeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, addreſs'd to Chriſt, and ſo made an Act of Devotion. Here's a Confeſſion of the True God, as the living God, in oppoſition to dumb and dead Idols, and of Jeſus Chriſt whom he hath ſent, whom to know is Life Eternal. This is the Concluſion of the whole Matter.

(1.) The People call'd him a Prophet, that Prophet, John 6. 14. but the Diſciples own him to be the Chriſt, the anointed one; the great Prophet, Prieſt, and King of the Church; the true Meſſiah promis'd to the Fathers, and depended on by them as he that ſhould come. 'Twas a great thing to believe this concerning one whoſe outward Appearance was ſo contrary to the general Idea the Jews had of the Meſſiah.

(2.) He called himſelf the Son of Man, but they own'd him to be the Son of the living God. The People's Notion of him was, that he was the Ghoſt of a dead Man, Elias, or Jeremias, but they know and believe him to be the Son of the living God, who has Life in himſelf, and has given to his Son to have Life in himſelf, and to be the Life of the World. If he be the Son of the living God, he is of the ſame Nature with him; and tho' his Divine Nature was now vail'd with the Cloud of Fleſh, yet there were thoſe who look'd through it and ſaw his Glory, the Glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of Grace and Truth. Now can we with an Aſſurance of Faith ſubſcribe to this Confeſſion? Let us then with a Fervency of Affection and Adoration go to Chriſt and tell him ſo, Lord Jeſus, Thou art the Chriſt the Son of the living God.

3. Chriſt's Approbation of this Anſwer, v. 17, 18, 19. In which Peter is reply'd to both as a Believer, and as an Apoſtle.

1. As a Believer, v. 17. Chriſt ſhews himſelf well pleas'd with Peter's Confeſſion, that it was ſo clear and expreſs, without ifs or ands, as we ſay. Note, The Proficiency of Chriſt's Diſciples in Knowledge and Grace is very acceptable to him; and Chriſt ſhews him whence he receiv'd the Knowledge of this Truth. At the firſt Diſcovery of this Truth in the dawning of the Goſpel-day, it was a mighty thing to believe it, All Men had not this Knowledge, had not this Faith. But

(1.) Peter had the Happineſs of it. Bleſſed art thou, Simon Barjona. He minds him of his Riſe and Original, the meanneſs of his Parentage, the obſcurity of his Extraction, he was Bar-jonas, (the Son of a Dove, ſo ſome.) Let him remember the Rock, out of which he was hewn, that he might ſee he was not born to this Dignity, but prefer'd to it by the Divine Favour; 'twas free Grace that made him to differ. Thoſe that have receiv'd the Spirit, muſt remember who is their Father, 1 Sam. 10, 12. And having minded him of this, he makes him ſenſible of his great Happineſs as a Believer; bleſſed art thou. Note, True Believers are truly bleſſed, and thoſe are bleſſed indeed whom Chriſt pronounceth bleſſed; his ſaying they are ſo makes them ſo. Peter, Thou art a happy Man, who thus knoweſt the joyful ſound, Pſal. 89. 15. Bleſſed are your Eyes, Mat. 13. 16. All Happineſs attends the right Knowledge of Chriſt.

(2.) God muſt have the glory of it, for Fleſh and Blood has not revealed it to thee. Thou had'ſt this neither by the Invention of thy own Wit and Reaſon, nor by the Inſtruction and Information of others; this Light ſprung neither from Nature nor Education, but from my Father which is in Heaven. Note, (1.) The Chriſtian Religion is a revealed Religion, has its riſe in Heaven; 'tis a Religion from above, given by Inſpiration of GOD, not the Learning of Philoſophers, or the Politicks of Stateſmen. (2.) Saving Faith is the Gift of God, and wherever it is, is wrought by him, as the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt for his ſake, and upon the Score of his Mediation, Phil. 1. 29. Therefore thou art bleſſed, becauſe my Father has revealed it to thee. Note, The revealing of Chriſt to us, and in us, is a diſtinguiſhing Token of God's Good-will, and a firm Foundation of true Happineſs, and bleſſed are they that are thus highly favour'd.

Perhaps Chriſt diſcern'd ſomething of Pride and Vain-glory in Peter's Confeſſion, a ſubtil Sin, and which is apt to mingle it ſelf even with our good Duties. 'Tis hard for good Men to compare themſelves with others, and not to have too great a Conceit of themſelves; to prevent which, we ſhould conſider that our Preference above others is no Atchivement of our own, but the free Gift of God's Grace to us, and not to others, ſo that we have nothing to boaſt of, Pſal. 115. 1. 1 Cor. 4. 7.

2. Chriſt replies to him as an Apoſtle, or Miniſter, v. 18, 19. Peter, in the Name of the Church had confeſs'd Chriſt, and to him therefore the Promiſe intended for the Church is directed. Note, There's nothing loſt by being forward to confeſs Chriſt; for thoſe who thus honour him, he will honour.

Upon occaſion of this great Confeſſion made of Chriſt, which is the Churches Homage and Allegiance, he ſign'd and publiſh'd this Royal, this Divine Charter, by which that Body Politick is incorporated. Such is the Communion between Chriſt and the Church, the Bridegroom and the Spouſe. God had a Church in the World from the Beginning, and it was built upon the Rock of the promiſed Seed, Gen. 3. 15. But now that promiſed Seed was come, 'twas requiſite the Church ſhould have a new Charter, as Chriſtian, and ſtanding in relation to a Chriſt already come. Now here we have that Charter, and a thouſand pities it is that this Word, which is the great ſupport of the Kingdom of Chriſt, ſhould be wreſted, and preſt into the Service of Anti-chriſt. But the Devil has employ'd his Subtilty to pervert it, as he did that Promiſe, Pſal. 91, 11. which he perverted to his own Purpoſe, Mat. 4. 6. and perhaps both that Scripture and this he thus perverted, becauſe they ſtood in his Way, and therefore he ow'd them a Spite.

Now the purport of this Charter is,

1. To eſtabliſh the Being of the Church. I ſay alſo unto thee. 'Tis Chriſt that makes the Grant, he that is the Church's Head and Ruler, to whom all Judgment is committed, and from whom all Power is deriv'd. He that makes it purſuant to the Authority received from the Father, and his Undertaking for the Salvation of the Elect, The Grant is put into Peter's hand, I ſay it to thee. The Old Teſtament Promiſes relating to the Church, were given immediately to particular Perſons, eminent for Faith and Holineſs as to Abraham and David, which yet gave no Supremacy to them, much leſs to any of their Succeſſors, ſo the New Teſtament Charter is here deliver'd to Peter as an Agent, but to the uſe and behoof of the Church in all Ages, according to the Purpoſes therein ſpecified and contain'd. Now it is here promis'd.

1. That Chriſt would build his Church upon a Rock. This Body Politick is incorporated by the Style and Title of Chriſt's Church. 'Tis a number of the Children of Men call'd out of the World, and ſet apart from it, and dedicated to Chriſt. 'Tis not thy Church but mine; Peter remember'd this, when he caution'd Miniſters, not to Lord it over God's Heritage. The Church is Chriſt peculiar appropriated to him. The World is God's, and they that dwell therein, but the Church is a choſen Remnant that ſtands in Relation to God through Chriſt as Mediator. It bears his Image and Superſcription.

(1.) The Builder and Maker of the Church is Chriſt himſelf, I will build it. The Church is a Temple, which Chriſt is the builder of, Zech. 6. 11, 13. Herein Solomon was a Type of Chriſt and Cyrus, Iſa. 44. 28. The Materials and Workmanſhip are his. By the working of his Spirit with the Preaching of his Word, he adds Souls to his Church, and ſo builds it up with living Stones, 1 Pet. ii. 5. Ye are God's Building, and Building is a progreſſive Work, the Church in this World is but in fieri, like a Houſe in the Building. 'Tis comfort to all thoſe who wiſh well to the Church, that Chriſt who has a Divine Wiſdom and Power undertakes to build it.

(2.) The Foundation on which it is built is this Rock. Let the Architect do his part never ſo well, if the Foundation be rotten the Building will not ſtand; let us therefore ſee what the Foundation is, and it muſt be meant of Chriſt, for other Foundation can no Man lay. See Iſa. 28. 16.

(1.) The Church is built upon a Rock, a firm, ſtrong, and laſting Foundation, which Time will not waſte, nor will it ſink under the Weight of the Building. Chriſt would not build his Houſe upon the Sand, for he knew that Storms would ariſe. A Rock is high, Pſal. 6. 2. Chriſt's Church doth not ſtand upon a level with this World. A Rock is large, and extends far, ſo doth the Church's Foundation, and the more large, the more firm; thoſe are not the Church's Friends that narrow its Foundation.

(2.) 'Tis built upon this Rock. Thou art Peter, which ſignifies a Stone or Rock; Chriſt gave him that Name when he firſt call'd him John 1. 42. and there he confirms it; Peter, thou doſt anſwer thy Name, thou art a ſolid, ſubſtantial Diſciple, fix'd and ſtay'd, and one that there is ſome hold of; Peter is thy Name, and Strength, and Stability are with thee, Thou art not ſhaken with the Waves of Men's fluctuating Opinions concerning me, but eſtabliſh'd in the preſent Truth, 2 Pet. 1. 12. And from the mention of this ſignificant Name occaſion is taken for this Metaphor of building upon a Rock.

1. Some by this Rock underſtand Peter himſelf as an Apoſtle, the Chief, tho' not the Prince of the Twelve; Senior among them, but not Superior over them. The Church is built upon the Foundation of the Apoſtles, Eph. 2. 20. The firſt Stones in that building were laid in, and by their Miniſtry, hence their Names are ſaid to be written in the Foundation of the new Jeruſalem, Rev. 21. 14. Now Peter being that Apoſtle, by whoſe hand the firſt Stones of the Church were laid both in Jewiſh Converts, Acts 2. and in the Gentile Converts, Acts 10. he might in ſome ſenſe be ſaid to be the Rock on which it was built. Cephas was one that ſeemed to be a Pillar, Gal. 2. 9. But it ſounds very harſh, to call a Man that only lays the firſt Stone of a Building, which is a tranſient Act, the Foundation on which it is built, which is an abiding thing. Yet if it were ſo, this would not ſerve to ſupport the Pretentions of the Biſhop of Rome; for Peter had no ſuch Headſhip as he clams, much leſs could he derive it to his Succeſſors, leaſt of all to the Biſhops of Rome, who whether they are ſo in place or no, is a Queſtion, but that they are not ſo in the Truth of Chriſtianity, is paſt all queſtion.

2. Others by this Rock underſtand Chriſt. Thou art Peter, thou haſt the name of a Stone, but upon this Rock, pointing to himſelf, I will build my Church; perhaps he laid his hand on his Breaſt, as when he ſaid, Deſtroy this Temple, John 2. 19. When he ſpake of the Temple of his Body. Then he took occaſion from the Temple where he was ſo to ſpeak of himſelf, and gave occaſion to ſome to underſtand him of that; ſo here he took occaſion from Peter to ſpeak of himſelf as the Rock, and gave occaſion to ſome to miſunderſtand him of Peter. But this muſt be explain'd by thoſe many Scriptures which ſpeak of Chriſt as the only Foundation of the Church, ſee 1 Cor. 3. 11. 1 Pet. 2. 6. Chriſt is both its Founder, and its Foundation; he draws Souls, and he draws them to himſelf, to him they are united, and on him they reſt, and have a conſtant Dependance.

3. Others by this Rock, underſtand this Confeſſion which Peter made of Chriſt, and this comes all to one with underſtanding it of Chriſt himſelf. 'Twas a good confeſſion which Peter witneſſed, Thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God, the reſt concur'd with him in it. Now ſaith Chriſt, this is that great Truth upon which I will build my Church. (1.) Take away this Truth it ſelf, and the univerſal Church falls to the Ground. If Chriſt be not the Son of God, Chriſtianity is a Cheat, and the Church is a meer Chimera, our Preaching is vain, your Faith is vain, and you are yet in your Sins, 1 Cor. 15. 14, 17. If Jeſus be not the Chriſt, thoſe that own him are not of the Church, but Deceivers and Deceived. (2.) Take away the Faith and Confeſſion of this Truth from any particular Church, and it ceaſeth to be a part of Chriſt's Church, and relapſeth to State and Character of Infidelity. This is Articulus ſtantis & cadentis Eccleſiæ, the main Hinge on which the Door of Salvation turns, thoſe who let go this do not hold the Foundation, and tho' they may call themſelves Chriſtians, they give themſelves the Lye; for the Church is a Sacred Society, incorporated upon the Certainty and Aſſurance of this great Truth, and great it is and has prevail'd.

2. Chriſt here promiſeth to preſerve and ſecure his Church when it is built. The Gates of Hell ſhall not prevail againſt it; neither againſt this Truth, nor againſt the Church which is built upon it.

1. This implies that the Church has Enemies that fight againſt it and endeavour its Ruin and Overthrow, here repreſented by the Gates of Hell, i. e. the City of Hell, which is directly oppoſite to this Heavenly City, this City of the Living God, the Devil's Intereſt among the Children of Men. The Gates of Hell are the Powers and Policies of the Devil's Kingdom; the Dragon's Heads and Horns, by which he makes War with the Lamb. All that comes out of Hell-gates, as being hatch'd and contriv'd there. Theſe fight againſt the Church, by oppoſing Goſpel-truths, corrupting Goſpel-ordinances, Perſecuting good Miniſters, and good Chriſtians; drawing or driving, perſwading by Craft, or forcing by Cruelty to that which is inconſiſtent with the Purity of Religion. This is the Deſign of the Gates of Hell, to root out the Name of Chriſtianity, Pſal, 83. 4. to devour the Man-child, Rev. 12. 9. to raſe this City to the Ground.

2. This aſſures us that the Enemies of the Church ſhall not gain their Point. While the World ſtands Chriſt will have a Church in it, in which his Truths and Ordinances ſhall be own'd and kept up, in ſpite of all the Oppoſition of the Powers of Darkneſs, they ſhall not prevail againſt it, Pſal. 129. 1, 2. This gives no Security to any particular Church, or Church-governours that they ſhall never err, never Apoſtatize, or be deſtroy'd, but that ſome where or other the Chriſtian Religion ſhall have a Being; tho' not always in the ſame degree of Purity and Splendor, yet ſo as that the Entail of it ſhall never be quite cut off. The Woman lives tho' in a Wilderneſs, Rev. 14. 12. caſt down, but not deſtroy'd, 2 Cor. 4. 9. as dying, and behold we live, 2 Cor. 6. 9. Corruptions grieving, Perſecutions grievous, but neither fatal. The Church may be foil'd in particular Encounters, but in the main Battle it ſhall come off more than a Conquerer. Particular Believers are kept by the Power of God through Faith unto Salvation, 1 Pet. 1. 5.

2. The other part of this Character, is to ſettle the Order and Government of the Church, v. 19. When a City or Society is Incorporated, Officers are appointed, and empower'd to act for the common Good. A City without Government is a Chaos. Now this Conſtituting of the Government of the Church, is here expreſs'd by the delivering of the Keys, and with them a Power to bind and looſe. This is not to be underſtood of any particular Power that Peter was inveſted with, as if he were ſole Door-keeper of the Kingdom of Heaven; and had that Key of David which belongs only to the Son of David; no, this inveſts all the Apoſtles and their Succeſſors with a Miniſterial Power to guide and govern the Church of Chriſt, as it exiſts in particular Congregations or Churches, according to the Rulers of the Goſpel. Claves Regni Cœlorum in B. Petro Apoſtolo cuncti ſuſcepimus Sacerdotes. So Ambroſe, de Dignit. Sacred. Only the Keys were firſt put into Peter's hand, becauſe he was the firſt that open'd the Door of Faith to the Gentiles, Acts 10. 28. As the King in giving a Charter to a Corporation, impowers the Magiſtrates to hold Courts in his Name, to try Matters of Fact, and determine therein according to Law, confirming what was ſo done regularly, as if done in any of the Superior Courts, ſo Chriſt having incorporated his Church, hath appointed the Office of the Miniſtry for the keeping up of Order and Government, and to ſee that his Laws be duly obſerv'd. I will give thee the Keys. He doth not ſay, He has given them, or doth now, but he will do it after his Reſurrection, when he aſcended on high he gave thoſe Gifts, Eph. 4. 8. Then his Power was actually given, not to Peter only, but to all the reſt, Mat. 28. 19, 20. John 20. 21. He doth not ſay, the Keys ſhall be given, but I will give them, for Miniſters derive their Authority from Chriſt, and all their Power is to be us'd in his Name, 1 Cor. 5. 4.

Now 1. The Power here delegated is a Spiritual Power, 'tis a Power pertaining to the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. to the Church, that part of it which is militant here on Earth, to the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, that's it about which the Apoſtolical and Miniſterial Power is wholly converſant. 'Tis not any civil ſecular Power that is hereby convey'd, Chriſt's Kingdom is not of this World. Their Inſtructions afterwards were in things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, Acts 1. 3.

2. It is the Power of the Keys that is given; alluding to the cuſtom of inveſting Men with Authority in ſuch a Place, by delivering to them the Keys of the Place. Or as the Maſter of the Houſe gives the Keys to the Steward, the Keys of the Stores, where the Proviſions are kept, that he may give to every one in the Houſe their Portion of Meat in due Seaſon, Luke 12. 42. and deny it, as there is occaſion, according to the Rules of the Family. Miniſters are Stewards, 1 Cor. 4. 1. Tit. 1. 7. Eliakim that had the Key of the Houſe of David was over the Houſhold, Iſa. 22. 22.

3. It is a Power to bind and looſe, i. e. (following the Metaphor of the Keys) to ſhut and open. Joſeph that was Lord of Pharaoh's Houſe, and Steward of the Stores, had Power to bind his Princes, and to teach his Senators Wiſdom, Pſal. 105. 21, 22. When the Stores and Treaſures of the Houſe are ſhut up from any, they are bound, interdico tibi aqua & igne; when they are open'd to them again they are looſed from that Bond, are diſcharged from the Cenſure, and reſtor'd to their Liberty.

4. It is a Power which Chriſt has promis'd to own the due Adminiſtration of, to ratifie his Sentences of his Steward with his own Approbation; it ſhall be bound in Heaven, and looſ'd in Heaven. Not that Chriſt hath hereby oblig'd himſelf to confirm all Church Cenſures, right or wrong, but ſuch as are duly paſt according to the Word, Clave non Errante, they are Seal'd in Heaven, i. e. the Word of the Goſpel in the Mouth of faithful Miniſters is to be look'd upon, not as the Word of Man, but as the Word of God, and to be receiv'd accordingly, 1 Theſ. 2. 13. John 13. 20.

Now the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven are

(1.) The Key of Doctrine, call'd the Key of Knowledge, your buſineſs ſhall be to explain to the World the Will of God, both as to Truth and Duty, and for this you ſhall have your Commiſſions Credentials, and full Inſtructions to bind and looſe, in the common Speech of the Jews, at that time ſignifi'd to prohibit and permit; to teach, or declare a thing to be unlawful, was to bind, to be lawful, was to looſe. Now the Apoſtles had an extraordinary Power of this kind; ſome things forbidden by the Law of Moſes were now to be allow'd, as the eating of ſuch and ſuch Meats, ſome things allowed there were now to be forbidden, as Divorce, and the Apoſtles were impower'd to declare this to the World, and Men might take it upon their Words. When Peter was firſt taught himſelf, and then taught others to call nothing common or unclean, this Power was exercis'd. There is alſo an ordinary Power hereby conveyed to all Miniſters to preach the Goſpel as appointed Officers, to tell People in God's Name and according to the Scriptures, what is good, and what the Lord requires of them, and they who declare the whole Council of God uſe thoſe Keys well, Acts. 20. 27.

Some make the giving of the Keys to allude to the Cuſtom of the Jews in creating a Doctor of the Law, which was to put into his Hand the Keys of the Cheſt where the Book of the Law was kept, noting his being authoriz'd to take and read it. And the binding and looſing to allude to the Faction about their Books which were in Rolls, they ſhut them by binding them up with a String, which they unty'd when they open'd them; Chriſt gives his Apoſtles Power to ſhut or open the Book of the Goſpel to People, as the Caſe requir'd. See the Exerciſe of this Power, Acts 13. 46.—18. 6. When Miniſters preach Pardon and Peace to the penitent, Wrath and the Curſe to the impenitent, in Chriſt's Name, they act then purſuant to this Authority of binding and looſing.

(2.) The Key of Diſcipline, which is but the Application of the former to particular Perſons, upon a right Eſtimate of their Characters and Actions. 'Tis not a Legiſlative Power that is hereby confer'd, but judicial. The Judge doth not make the Law, but only declare what is Law, and upon an impartial Enquiry into the Merits of the Cauſe give Sentence accordingly; ſuch is the Power of the Keys, (wherever it is lodg'd) with Reference to Church-memberſhip, and the Priviledges thereof. (1.) Chriſt's Miniſters have a power to admit into the Church; Go, diſciple all Nations baptizing them; thoſe who profeſs Faith in Chriſt and Obedience to him, admit them and their Seed Members of the Church by Baptiſm. Miniſters are to let in to the Wedding-Feaſt thoſe that are bidden, and to keep out ſuch as are apparently unfit for ſo holy a Communion. (2.) They have a Power to expel and caſt out ſuch as have forfeited their Church-Memberſhip. That's binding, refuſing to Unbelievers the Application of Goſpel-Promiſes, and the Seals of them, and declaring to ſuch as appear to be in the Gall of Bitterneſs, and bond of Iniquity, that they have no Part or Lot in the Matter, as Peter did to Simon Magus, though he had been baptiz'd; and this is a binding over to the Judgment of God. (3.) They have a Power to reſtore, and to receive in again upon their Repentance, ſuch as had been thrown out, to looſe thoſe whom they had bound; declaring to them, that if their Repentance be ſincere, the Promiſe of Pardon belong to them. The Apoſtles had a miraculous Gift of diſcerning Spirits, yet even they went by the Rule of outward Appearances, as Acts 8. 21. 1 Cor. 5. 1. 2 Cor. 2. 7. 1 Tim. 1. 20. which Miniſters may ſtill make a Judgment upon, if they be ſkilful and faithful.

Laſtly, Here's the Charge which Chriſt gave his Diſciples to keep this private for the preſent, v. 20. They muſt tell no Man that he was Jeſus the Chriſt. What they had profeſs'd to him, they muſt not yet publiſh to the World for ſeveral Reaſons, (1.) Becauſe this was the time of Preparation for his Kingdom. The great thing now preach'd was, that the Kingdom of Heaven was at hand, and therefore thoſe things were now to be inſiſted on, which were proper to make way for Chriſt, as the Doctrine of Repentance, not this great Truth in and with which the Kingdom of Heaven was to be actually ſet up. Every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon, and 'tis good Advice Prepare thy Work and afterwards build, Prov. 24. 27. (2.) Chriſt would have his Meſſiah-ſhip prov'd by his Works, and would rather they ſhould teſtify of him, than that his Diſciples ſhould, becauſe their Teſtimony was but as his own, which he inſiſted not on; ſee John 5. 31, 34. He was ſo ſecure of the Demonſtration of his Miracles that he wav'd other Witneſſes, John 10. 25, 38. (3.) If they had known that he was Jeſus and Chriſt they would not have crucified the Lord of Glory, 1 Cor. 2. 8. (4.) Chriſt would not have the Apoſtles preach this, till they had the moſt convincing Evidence ready to alledge in Confirmation of it. Great Truths may ſuffer Damage by being aſſerted before they can be ſufficiently prov'd. Now the great Proof of Jeſus being the Chriſt, was his Reſurrection; by that he was declar'd to be the Son of God with Power, and therefore the Divine Wiſdom would not have this Truth preach'd, till that could be alledg'd for Proof of it. (5.) 'Twas requiſite that the Preachers of ſo great a Truth ſhould be furniſhed with greater Meaſures of the Spirit than the Apoſtles as yet had; therefore the open aſſerting it was adjourn'd, till the Spirit ſhould be pour'd out upon them. But when Chriſt was glorify'd, and the Spirit pour'd out, we find Peter proclaiming upon the Houſe-tops what was here ſpoken in a Corner; Acts 2. 36. That God hath made this ſame Jeſus both Lord and Chriſt; for as there is a time to keep Silence, ſo there is a time to ſpeak.

21 From that time forth began Jeſus to ſhew unto his Diſciples, how that he muſt go unto Jeruſalem, and ſuffer many things of the elders and chief prieſts, and ſcribes, and be killed, and be raiſed again the third day. 22 Then Peter took him, and began to rebuke him, ſaying, Be it far from thee, Lord: this ſhall not be unto thee. 23 But he turned and ſaid unto Peter, Get thee behind me, Satan, thou art an offence unto me: for thou favoureſt not the things that be of God, but thoſe that be of men.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples concerning his own Sufferings. In which obſerve, Friſt, Chriſt's foretelling his Sufferings. Now he began to do it, and from this time frequently ſpoke of them. Some Hints he had already given of Sufferings, as when he ſaid, Deſtroy this Temple, when he ſpoke of the Son of Man being lifted up, and of eating his Fleſh, and drinking his Blood; but now he began to ſhew it to ſpeak plainly and expreſly of it. Hithereto he had not touch'd upon this, becauſe the Diſciples were weak, and could not well bear the Notice of a thing ſo very ſtrange and ſo very melancholy. But now they were more ripe in Knowledge and ſtrong in Faith, he began to tell them this. Note, Chriſt reveals his Mind to his People gradually, and lets in Light as they can bear it, and are fit to receive it.

From that time, when they had made that full Confeſſion of Chriſt, that he was the Son of God, then he began to ſhew them this; when he found them knowing in one Truth, he taught them another, for to him that has ſhall be given. Let them firſt be eſtabliſh'd in the Principles of the Doctrine of Chriſt, and then go on to Perfection, Heb. 6. 1. If they had not been well grounded in the Belief of Chriſt's being the Son of God, it would have been a great ſhaking to their Faith. All Truths are not be ſpoken to all Perſons at all times; but ſuch as are proper and ſuitable to the preſent State. Now obſerve,

1. What he foretold concerning his Sufferings; the Particulars and Circumſtances of them, and all ſurprizing.

1. The Place where he ſhould ſuffer. He muſt go to Jeruſalem, the Head City, the Holy City, and ſuffer there. Though he liv'd moſt of his time in Galilee, he muſt dye at Jeruſalem, there all the Sacrifices were offer'd there, therefore he muſt dye, who is the great Sacrifice, Luke 13. 34.

2. The Perſons by whom he ſhould ſuffer; the Elders and Chief Prieſts, and Scribes; theſe made up the great Sanhedrin, which ſat at Jeruſalem, and was had in Veneration by the People. Thoſe that ſhould have been moſt forward in owning and admiring Chriſt, were the moſt bitter in perſecuting him. 'Twas ſtrange that Men of Knowledge in the Scripture, who profeſs'd to expect the Meſſiah's coming, and pretended to have ſomething ſacred in their Character, ſhould uſe him thus barbarouſly when he did come. 'Twas the Roman Power that condemn'd and crucified Chriſt, but he lays it at the Door of the Chief Prieſts and Scribes, who were the firſt Movers.

3. What he ſhould ſuffer. He muſt ſuffer many things, and be kill'd His Enemies inſatiable Malice, and his own invincible Patience appears in the Variety and Multiplicity of his Sufferings; he ſuffer'd many things; and in the Extremity of them; nothing leſs than his Death would ſatisfy them, he muſt be kill'd. The Suffering of many things, if not unto Death, is more tolerable, for while there's Life there's Hope; And Death without ſuch Prefaces would be leſs terrible; but he muſt firſt ſuffer many things, and then be kill'd.

4. What ſhould be the happy Iſſue of all his Sufferings, he ſhall be raiſed again the third Day. As the Prophets, ſo Chriſt himſelf when he teſtified before-hand his Sufferings, teſtified withal the Glory that ſhould follow, 1 Pet. 1. 11. His Riſing again the third Day prov'd him to be the Son of God, notwithſtanding his Sufferings, and therefore he mentions that to keep up their Faith. When he ſpoke of the Croſs and the Shame, he ſpoke in the Breath of the Joy ſet before him, in the proſpect of which he endur'd the Croſs, and deſpiſed the Shame. Thus we muſt look upon Chriſt's Sufferings for us, ſee his Suffering the way to his Glory; and thus we muſt look upon our Suffering for Chriſt, look through it to the Recompence of Reward; if we ſuffer with him, we ſhall reign with him.

2. Why he foretold his Sufferings. (1.) To ſhew that they were the Product of an eternal Councel and Conſent; were agreed upon between the Father and the Son from Eternity. Thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer. The Matter was ſettled in the determinate Counſel and Foreknowledge, in Purſuance of his own voluntary Suſception and Undertaking for our Salvation; his Sufferings were no Surprize to him, did not come upon him as a Snare, but he had a diſtinct and certain Fore-ſight of them, which greatly magnifies his Love, John 18. 4. (2.) To rectify the Miſtakes of his Diſciples concerning the external Pomp and Power of his Kingdom, which they had inbib'd Notion of. Believing him to be the Meſſiah, they counted upon nothing but Dignity and Authority in the World; but here Chriſt reads them another Leſſon, tells them of the Croſs and Sufferings; Nay, and that the Chief Prieſts and the Elders, whom 'tis likely they expect to be the Supports of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, ſhould be the great Enemies and Perſecutors of it; this would give them quite another Idea of that Kingdom, which they themſelves had preach'd the Approach of; and 'twas repuiſite this Miſtake ſhould be rectify'd. Thoſe that follow Chriſt muſt be dealt plainly with, and warn'd not to expect great things in this World. (3.) 'Twas to prepare them for the Share at leaſt of Sorrow and Fear, which they muſt have in his Sufferings, When he ſuffer'd many things, the Diſciples could not but ſuffer ſome; and if their Maſter be kill'd, they will be ill frighned; Let them know it before, that they may provide accordingly, and being forewarn'd may be fore-arm'd.

Secondly, The Offence which Peter took at this; He ſaid, Be it far from thee, Lord, and 'tis likely ſpoke the Senſe of the Reſt of the Diſciples, as before, for he was Chief-ſpeaker. He took him, and began to rebuke him. Perhaps Peter was a little elevated with the great things Chriſt had now ſaid to him, which made him more bold with Chriſt than did become him; ſo hard is it to keep the Spirit low and humble in the midſt of great Advancements.

1. It did not become Peter to contradict his Maſter, or take upon him to advice him. He might have wiſh'd that if it were poſſible, this Cup might paſs away, without ſaying ſo peremptorily, this ſhall not be, when Chriſt had ſaid, it muſt be. Shall any teach God Knowledge? He that reproveth God let him anſwer it. Note, when God's Diſpenſations are either intricate or croſs to us, it becomes us ſilently to acquieſe in, and not to preſcribe to the Divine Will. God knows what he has to do without our teaching. Unleſs we know the Mind of the Lord, it is not for us to be his Counſellors, Rom. 11. 34.

2. It ſavour'd much of fleſhly Wiſdom, for him to appear ſo warmly againſt Suffering, and to ſtartle thus at the Offence of the Croſs 'Tis the corrupt part of us that is thus ſollicitous to ſleep in a whole Skin. We are apt to look upon Sufferings as they relate to this preſent Life, to which they are uneaſy. but there are other Rules to meaſure them by, which if duly obſerv'd, will enable us to make nothing of them, Rom. 8. 18. See how paſſionately Peter ſpeaks, Be it far from thee Lord. God forbid, that thou ſhouldſt ſuffer and be kill'd, we cannot bear the Thoughts of it. Maſter ſpare thy ſelf, So it might be read; ἵλεώς σοι Κύριε, Be merciful to thy ſelf, and then no one elſe can be cruel to thee. Pity thy ſelf, and then this ſhall not be to thee. He would have Chriſt to dread Suffering as much as he did; But we miſtake if we meaſure Chriſt's Love and Patience by our own. He intimates likewiſe the Improbility of the thing, humanly ſpeaking; This ſhall not be unto thee, 'Tis impoſſible that one who hath ſo great an Intereſt in the People as thou haſt, ſhould be cruſhed by the Elders, who fear the People. This can never be, we that have follow'd thee will fight for thee if Occaſion be, and there are thouſands that will ſtand by us.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Diſpleaſure againſt Peter for this Suggeſtion of his, v. 23. We do not read of any thing ſaid or done by any of his Diſciples, at any time, that he reſented ſo very ill as this here, tho' they oft offended.

Obſerve 1. How he expreſs'd his Diſpleaſure. He turn'd upon Peter, and (we may ſuppoſe) with a Frown ſaid, Get thee behind me Satan. He did not ſo much as take time to deliberate upon it, but gave an immediate Reply to the Temptation, which was ſuch as made it to appear how heniouſly he took it. Juſt now he had ſaid, Bleſſed art thou Simon, and had even laid him in his Boſom, but here, Get thee behind me, Satan, and there was Cauſe for both. Note, A good Man may by a Surprize of Temptation ſoon grow very unlike himſelf. He anſwer'd him as he did Satan himſelf, Mat. 4. 10. Note, (1.) It is the Subtlety of Satan to ſend Temptations to us by the unſuſpected Hands of our beſt and deareſt Friends. Thus he aſſaulted Adam by Eve, Job by his Wife, and here Chriſt by his beloved Peter. It concerns us therefore not to be ignorant of his Devices, but to ſtand againſt his Wiles and Depths, by ſtanding always upon our Guard againſt Sin, whoever moves us to it. Even the Kindneſſes of our Friends are often abus'd by Satan, and made uſe of as Temptatiuns to us. (2.) Thoſe who have their ſpiritual Senſes exercis'd will be aware of the Voice of Satan, even in a Friend, a Diſciple, a Miniſter that diſſwades them from their Duty. We muſt not regard who ſpeaks ſo much as what is ſpoken; we ſhould learn to know the Devil's Voice, when he ſpeaks in a Saint, as well as when he ſpeaks in a Serpent. Whoever takes us off from that which is good, and would have us afraid of doing too much for God, ſpake Satan's Language, (3.) We muſt be free and faithful in reproving the deareſt Friend we have, that ſaith or doth amiſs, through it may be under Colour of Kindneſs to us. We muſt not complement but rebuke miſtaken Courteſies Faithful are the Wounds of a Friend; ſuch Smitings muſt be accounted Kindneſſes, Pſal. 141. 5. (4.) Whatever appears to be a Temptation to Sin muſt be reſiſted with Abhorrence, and not parley'd with.

2. What was the Ground of this Diſpleaſure; Why did Chriſt thus reſent a Motion that ſeem'd not only harmleſs but kind. Two Reaſons are given,

1. Thou art an Offence to me. Σκάνδαλόν μου εἶ Thou art my Hindrance, ſo it may be read; Thou ſtandeſt in my way. Chriſt was haſting on in the Work of our Salvation, and his Heart was ſo much upon it, that he took it ill to be hinder'd, or tempted to ſtart back from the hardeſt and moſt diſcouraging Part of his Undertaking. So ſtrongly was he engag'd for our Redemption, that they who but indirectly endeavour'd to divert him from it, touch'd him in a very tender and ſenſible Part. Peter was not ſo ſharply reprov'd for diſowning and denying his Maſter in his Sufferings, as he was for diſſwading him from them, tho' that was the Defect, this the Exceſs of Kindneſs. It argues a very great Firmneſs and Reſolution of Mind in any Buſineſs, when it is an Offence to be diſſwaded, and a Man will not endure to hear any thing to the contrary like that of Ruth, Intreat me not to leave thee. Our Lord Jeſus preſer'd our Salvation before his own Eaſe and Safety, for even Chriſt pleaſed not himſelf, Rom. 15. 3. He came into the World not to ſpare himſelf, as Peter adviſ'd, but to ſpend himſelf.

See why he call'd Peter, Satan, when he ſuggeſted this to him, becauſe whatever ſtood in the Way of our Salvation, he look'd upon as coming from the Devil, who is a ſworn Enemy to it. The ſame Satan that afterwards enter'd into Judas maliciouſly to deſtroy him in his Undertaking, here prompted Peter plauſibly to divert him from it. Thus he changes himſelf into an Angel of Light.

Thou art an Offence to me. Note, 1. Thoſe that engage in any great and good Work, muſt expect to meet with Hindrance and Oppoſition, from Friends and Foes, from within and from without. 2. Thoſe that obſtruct our Progreſs in any Duty muſt be look'd upon as an Offence to us. Then we do the Will of God, as Chriſt did, whoſe Meat and Drink it was to do it, when it is a Trouble to us to be ſollicited from our Duty. Thoſe that hinder us from doing or ſuffering for God, when we are call'd to it, whatever they are in other things, in that they are Satans, Adverſaries to us.

2. Thou ſavioureſt not the things that be of God, but thoſe that be of Men. Note, (1.) The things that be of God, that is, the Concerns of his Will and Glory do often claſh and interfere with the things that be of Men, that is, with our own Wealth, Pleaſure, and Reputation. While we mind Chriſtian Duty as our Way and Work, and the Divine Favour as our End and Portion, we ſavour the things of God; but if theſe be minded the Fleſh muſt be deny'd, Hazzards muſt be run, and Hardſhips born, and here's the Trial which of the two we ſavour, (2.) Thoſe that inordinately fear, and induſtriouſly decline Suffering for Chriſt, when they are call'd to it, ſavour more of the things of Man, than of the things of God, they reliſh thoſe things more themſelves, and make it appear to others that they do ſo.

24 Then ſaid Jeſus unto his diſciples, if any man will come after me, let him deny himſelf, and take up his croſs, and follow me, 25 for whoſoever will ſave his life, ſhall loſe it: and whoſoever will loſe his life for my ſake, ſhall find it. 26 For what is a man profited, if he ſhall gain the whole world, and loſe his own Soul? or what ſhall a man give in exchange for his Soul? 27 For the Son of man ſhall come in the glory of his Father, with his angels: and then he ſhall reward every man according to his works. 28 Verily, I ſay unto you, There be ſome ſtanding here, which ſhall not taſte of death, till they ſee the Son of man coming in his kingdom.

Chriſt having ſhew'd his Diſciples that he muſt ſuffer, and that he was ready and willing to ſuffer, here ſhews them, that they muſt ſuffer too, and muſt be ready and willing to it. 'Tis a weighty Diſcourſe that we have in theſe Verſes.

Firſt, Here's the Law of Diſciple-ſhip laid down, and the Terms fix'd upon which we may have the Honour and Benefit of it, v. 24. He ſaid this to his Diſciples, not only that they might inſtruct others concerning it but that by this Rule they might examine their own Sincerity.

Obſerve, (1.) What it is to be a Diſciple of Chriſt. It is to come after him. When Chriſt call'd Diſciples, this was the Word of Command, Follow me. A true Diſciple of Chriſt is one that doth follow him in Duty, and ſhall follow him to Glory. He is one that comes after Chriſt, not one that preſcribes to him, as Peter now undertook to do, forgetting his Place. A diſciple of Chriſt comes after him, as the Sheep after the Shepherd, the Servant after his Maſter, the Soldiers after their Captain; He is one that aims at the ſame end that Chriſt aim'd at, the Glory of God, and the Glory of Heaven; and one that walks in the ſame Way, that he walk'd in, is led by his Spirit, treads in his Steps, ſubmits to his Conduct, and follows the Lamb whitherſoever he goes, Rev. 14. 4.

(2.) What are the great things requir'd of thoſe that will be Chriſt's Diſciples. If any Man will come εἴ τις θέλει, If any Man be willing to come. It notes a delibrate Choice, and Chearfulneſs and Reſolution in that Choice. Many are Diſciples more by Chance, or the Will of others, than by an Act of their own Will; but Chriſt will have his People Voluntiers, Pſal. 110. 3. 'Tis as if Chriſt had ſaid, if any of the People, that are not my Diſciples, be ſtedfaſtly minded to come to me; and if you that are be in like manner minded to ſtick to me, 'tis upon theſe Terms, theſe and no other; you muſt follow me in Sufferings, as well as in other things, and therefore when you ſit down to count the Coſt, reckon upon it.

Now what are theſe Terms?

1. Let him deny himſelf. Peter had adviſ'd Chriſt to ſpare himſelf, and would be ready in the like Caſe to take the Advice, but Chriſt tells them all, they muſt be ſo far from ſparing themſelves, that they muſt deny themſelves. Herein they muſt come after Chriſt, for his Birth, and Life, and Death, were all a continued Act of Self-denial, a ſelf emptying, Phil. 2. 7, 8. If Self-denial be a hard Leſſon, and againſt the Grain to Fleſh and Blood, it is no more than what our Maſter learn'd and practis'd before us, and for us, both for Redemption, and for our Inſtruction, and the Servant is not above his Lord, Note, All the Diſciples and Followers of Jeſus Chriſt muſt deny themſelves. It is the fundamental Law of Admiſſion into Chriſt's School, and the firſt and great Leſſon to be learn'd in his School, to deny ourſelves; 'tis both the ſtrait Gate, and the narrow Way; 'tis neceſſary in order to our learning all the other good Leſſons that are there taught. We muſt deny our ſelves abſolutely, we muſt not admire our own Shadow, nor gratify our own Humour, we muſt not lean to our own Underſtanding, nor ſeek our own things, nor be our own End. We muſt deny our ſelves comparatively, we muſt deny our ſelves for Chriſt, and his Will and Glory, and the Service of his Intereſt in the World; we muſt deny our ſelves for our Brethren, and for their good; and we muſt deny our ſelves for our ſelves, deny the Appetites of the Body, for the Benefit of the Soul.

2. Let him take up his Croſs. The Croſs is here put for all Sufferings, as Men or Chriſtians; providential Afflictions, Perſecutions for Righteouſneſs ſake, every Trouble that befals us either for doing well, or not for doing ill. The Troubles of Chriſtians are fitly call'd Croſſes, in Alluſion to the Death of the Croſs, which Chriſt was obedient to, it ſhould reconcile us to Troubles, and take off the Terror of them, that they are what we bear in common with Chriſt, and ſuch as he hath born before us. Note, 1. Every Diſciple of Chriſt hath his Croſs, and muſt count upon it; as each hath his ſpecial Duty to be done, ſo each hath his ſpecial Trouble to be born and every one feels moſt from his own Burden. Croſſes are the common Lot of God's Children, but of this common Lot each hath his particular Share. That's our Croſs which infinite Wiſdom hath appointed for us, and a ſovereign Providence has laid on us, as fitteſt for us. 'Tis good for us to call the Croſs we are under our own, and entertain it accordingly. We are apt to think we could bear ſuch a one's Croſs better than our own, but that's beſt which is, and we ought to make the beſt of it. (2.) Every Diſciple of Chriſt muſt take up that which the wiſe God hath made his Croſs. It is an Alluſion to the Roman Cuſtom of compelling thoſe that were condemn'd to be crucified to carry their Croſs; when Simon carry'd Chriſt's Croſs after him this Phraſe was illuſtrated. (1.) It is ſuppos'd that the Croſs lies in our Way, and is prepar'd for us. We muſt not make Croſſes to our ſelves, but muſt accommodate our ſelves to thoſe which God has made for us. Our Rule is, not to go a Step out of the Way of Duty, either to meet a Croſs, or to miſs one. We muſt not by our Raſhneſs and Indiſcretion pull Croſſes down upon our own Heads, but muſt take them up when they are laid in our Way. We muſt ſo manage an Affliction, as that it may not be a Sumbling-block or Hindrance to us in any Service we have to do for God. We muſt take it up out of our Way, by getting over the Offence of the Croſs. None of theſe things move me; and we muſt then go on with it in our Way, tho' it lie heavy. (2.) That which we have to do is not only to bear the Croſs; that a Stock, or a Stone, or a Stick may do; not only to be ſilent under it, but we muſt take up the Croſs, muſt improve it to ſome good Advantage. Not ſay, This is an Evil, and I muſt bear it, becauſe I cannot help it; but, this is an Evil, and I will bear it, becauſe it ſhall work for my good. When we rejoice in our Afflictions, and glory in them, then we take up the Croſs. This fitly follows upon denying our ſelves; for he that will not deny himſelf the Pleaſures of Sin, and the Advantages of this World for Chriſt, when it comes to the puſh will never have the Heart to take up his Croſs. "He that cannot take up "a Reſolution to live a Saint, has a Demonſtration within himſelf, "that he is never like to dye a Martyr. So Arch-biſhop Tillotſon.

3. Let him follow me in this particular of taking up the Croſs. Suffering Saints muſt look unto Jeſus, and take from him both Direction and Encouragement in Suffering. Do we bear the Croſs? we therein follow Chriſt, who bears it before us, bears it for us, and ſo bears it off us. He bore the heavy End of the Croſs, the End that had the Curſe upon it, that was a heavy End, and ſo made the other light and eaſy for us. Or we may take it in general, we muſt follow Chriſt in all Inſtances of Holineſs and Obedience. Note, The Diſciples of Chriſt muſt ſtudy to imitate their Maſter, and conform themſelves in every thing to his Example, and continue in well-doing, whatever Croſſes lie in their Way. To do well and to ſuffer ill is to follow Chriſt. If any Man will come after me, let him follow me; that ſeems to be idem per idem, what's the Difference? ſurely 'tis this, If any Man will come after me in Profeſſion, and ſo have the Name and Credit of a Diſciple, let him follow me in Truth, and ſo do the Work and Duty of a Diſciple. Or thus, If any Man will ſet out after me in good Beginnings, let him continue to follow me with all Perſeverance. That's following the Lord fully, as Caleb did. Thoſe that come after Chriſt muſt fulfil after him.

Secondly, Here are Arguments to perſwade us to ſubmit to theſe Laws, and come up to theſe Terms. Self-denial and patient Suffering are hard Leſſons, which will never be learned if we conſult with Fleſh and Blood, let us therefore conſult with our Lord Jeſus, and ſee what Advice he gives us. And here he gives us,

1. Some Conſiderations proper to engage us to theſe Duties of Self-denial, and ſuffering for Chriſt. Conſider,

1. The Weight of that Eternity which depends upon our preſent Choice, v. 25. Whoſoever will ſave his Life by denying Chriſt, ſhall loſe it, and whoſoever is content to loſe his Life, for owning Chriſt, ſhall find it. Here's Life and Death, Good and Evil, the Bleſſing and the Curſe ſet before us. Obſerve,

(1.) The Miſery that attends the moſt plauſible Apoſtacy. Whoſoever will ſave his Life in this World, if it be by Sin, he ſhall loſe it in another; he that forſakes Chriſt to preſerve a temporal Life, and avoid a temporal Death, will certainly come ſhort of eternal Life, and will be hurt of the Second Death, and eternally held by it. There cannot be a fairer Pretence for Apoſtacy and Iniquity, than ſaving the Life by it, ſo cogent is the Law of Self-preſervation, and yet even that is Folly, for it will prove in the End, Self-Deſtruction. The Life ſav'd is but for a Moment, the Death ſhun'd is but a Sleep; but the Life loſt is everlaſting, and the Death run upon is the Depth and Complement of all Miſery, and an endleſs Separation from all Good. Now let any rational Man conſider of it, take Advice, and ſpeak his Mind, whether there's any thing got at long run by Apoſtacy, tho' a Man ſave his Eſtate, Preferment, or Life by it.

(2.) The Advantage that attends the moſt perilous and expenſive Conſtancy. Whoſoever will loſe his Life for Chriſt's ſake in this World, ſhall find it in a better, infinitely to his Advantage. Note, 1. There's many a Life loſt for Chriſt's ſake, in doing Work, by labouring fervently for his Name, in ſuffering Work, by chuſing rather to dye than to deny him, or his Truths and Ways. Chriſt's holy Religion is handed down to us ſealed with the Blood of Thouſands, that have not known their own Souls, but have deſpiſed their Lives (as Job ſpeaks in another Caſe) though very valuable ones, when they have ſtood in Competition with their Duty, and the Teſtimony of Jeſus, Rev. 20. 4. (2.) Though many have been Loſers for Chriſt, even of Life it ſelf, yet never any one was, or will be a Loſer by him in the End. The Loſs of other Comforts for Chriſt may poſſibly be made up in this World, Mark 10.30. The loſs of Life cannot, but it ſhall be made up in the other World, in an eternal Life. The believing Proſpect of which hath been the great Support of ſuffering Saints in all Ages. And Aſſurance of the Life they ſhould find in lieu of the Life they hazzarded, hath enabled them to triumph over Death in all its Terrors, to go ſmiling to a Scaffold, and to ſtand ſinging at a Stake, and to call the utmoſt Inſtances of their Enemies Rage but a light Affliction.

2. The Worth of the Soul, which lies at Stake and the Worthleſneſs of the World in Compariſon of it, v. 26. What is a Man profitted if he gain the whole World, and loſe his own Soul, τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ; the ſame Word which is tranſlated, his Life, v. 25. for the Soul is the Life, Gen. 2. 7. This alludes to that common Principle, That whatever a Man gets, if he loſe his Life, 'twill do him no good, he cannot enjoy his gains. But it looks higher, and ſpeaks of the Soul as immortal, and a Loſs of it beyond Death, which cannot be compenſated by the Gain of the whole World. Note, (1.) Every Man has a Soul of his own. The Soul is the ſpiritual and immortal Part of Man, which thinketh and reaſoneth, has a Power of Reflection and Proſpect, which acts the Body now, and will ſhortly act in a Separation from the Body. Our Souls are our own, not in Reſpect of Dominion and Propriety, for we are not our own, All Souls are mine, ſaith God; but in Reſpect of Nearneſs and Concern, our Souls are our own, for they are our ſelves. (2.) It is poſſible the Soul may be loſt and there is danger of it. The Soul is loſt, when it is eternally ſeperated from all the good to all the evil that a Soul is capable of; when it dies, as a Soul can die, when it is ſeparated from the Favour of God, and ſunk under his Wrath and Curſe. A Man is never undone, till he is in Hell. (3.) If the Soul be loſt it is of the Sinners own loſing. The Man loſeth his own Soul, for he doth that which is certainly deſtroying to it, and neglects that which alone would be ſaving. Hoſ. 13. 9. The Sinner dies becauſe he will die, his Blood is on his own Head. (4.) One Soul is more worth than all the World, our own Souls that we have, of greater Value to us than all the Wealth, Honour, and Pleaſures of this preſent time, if we had it. Here's the whole World ſet in the Scale againſt one Soul, and Tekel written upon it; 'tis weigh'd in the Balance, and found too light to weigh it down. This is Chriſt's Judgment upon the Matter, and he is a competent Judge; he had reaſon to know the Price of Souls, for he redeem'd them, nor would he under rate the World, for he made it. (5.) The wenning of the World is oftentimes the loſing of the Soul. Many a one has ruin'd his eternal Intereſts, by his prepoſterous and inordinate Care to ſecure and advance his temporal ones. 'Tis the Love of the World and the eagar Perſuit of it, that drown Men in Deſtruction and Perdition. (6.) The Loſs of the Soul is ſo great a Loſs, that the Gain of the whole World will not countervail it, or make it up. He that loſes his Soul, though it be to gain the World, makes a very bad bargain for himſelf, and will ſit down at laſt an unſpeakable Loſer. When he comes to balance the Account, and to compare Profit and Loſs, he will find, that inſtead of the Advantage he promis'd himſelf, he is ruin'd to all Intents and Purpoſes, is irreparable broken.

What ſhall a Man give in Exchange for his Soul? Note, If once the Soul be loſt, it is loſt for ever, There is no ἀντάλλαγμα, no Counter price than can be paid, or will be accepted. 'Tis a Loſs that can never be repair'd, never be retriev'd. If after that great Price which Chriſt laid down to redeem our Souls, and to reſtore us to the Poſſeſſion of them, they be ſo neglected for the World, as that they come to be loſt, that new Mortgage will never be taken off; there remains no more Sacrifices for Sin, nor Price for Souls, but the Equity of Redemption is eternally precluded. Therefore it is good to be wiſe in time, and do well for our ſelves.

2. Here are ſome Conſiderations proper to encourage us in Self-denial, and Suffering for Chriſt.

1. The Aſſurance we have of Chriſt's Glory at his ſecond coming to judge the World, v. 27. If we look to the End of all theſe things, the Period of the World, and the Poſture of Souls then, we ſhall from thence from a very different Idea of the preſent State of things. If we ſee things as they will appear then, we ſhall ſee them as they ſhould appear now.

The great Encouragement to Stedfaſtneſs in Religion is taken from the ſecond Coming of Chriſt, conſidering it.

(1.) As his Honour. The Son of Man ſhall come in the Glory of his Father, with his Angels. To look upon Chriſt in his State of Humiliation, ſo abaſed, ſo abuſed, a Reproach of Men, and deſpiſed of the People, would diſcourage his Followers from taking any Pains, or running any Hazzards for him, but with an Eye of Faith to ſee the Captain of our Salvation coming in his Glory, in all the Pomp and Power of the upper World, will animate us, and make us think nothing too much to do, or too hard to ſuffer for him. The Son of Man ſhall come. He here gives himſelf the Title of his humble State, he is the Son of Man, to ſhew that he is not aſhamed to own it. His firſt coming was in the Meanneſs of his Children, who being Partakers of Fleſh, he took Part of the ſame; but his ſecond coming will be in the Glory of his Father. In his firſt coming he his attended with poor Diſciples, in his ſecond coming he will be attended with glorious Angels, and if we ſuffer with him, we ſhall be glorified with him, 2 Tim. 2. 12.

(2.) As our Concern. Then he ſhall reward every Man according to his Works. Obſerve, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt will come as a Judge, to diſpenſe Rewards and Puniſhments, infinitely exceeding the greateſt that any Earthly Potentate has the diſpenſing of. The Terror of Men's Tribunal, (Mat. 10. 18.) will be taken off by a believing Proſpect of the Glory of Chriſt's Tribunal. (2.) Men will then be rewarded, not according to their Gains in this World, but according to their Works, according to what they were, and did. In that Day the Treachery of Backſliders will be puniſhed with eternal Deſtruction, and the conſtancy of faithful Souls recompens'd with a Crown of Life. (3.) The beſt Preparative for that Day, is to deny our ſelves, and take up our Croſs and follow Chriſt; for ſo we ſhall make the Judge our Friend, and theſe things will then paſs well in the Account. (4.) The rewarding of Men according to their Works is defer'd till that Day. Here Good and Evil ſeem to be diſpens'd promiſcuouſly; we ſee not Apoſtacy puniſh'd with immediate Strokes, nor Fidelity encourag'd with immediate Smiles from Heaven; but in that Day all will be ſet to rights. Therefore judge nothing before the time, 2 Tim. 4. 6, 7, 8.

2. The near approach of his Kingdom in this World, v. 28. 'Twas ſo near that there were ſome attending him that ſhould live to ſee it. As Simeon was aſſur'd that he ſhould not ſee Death till he had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt come in the Fleſh; ſo ſome here are aſſur'd that they ſhall not taſte Death. (Death is a ſenſible thing, its Terrors are ſeen, its Bitterneſs is taſted) till they had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt coming in his Kingdom. At the end of Time he ſhall come in his Father's Glory, but now in the fulneſs of Time he was to come in his own Kingdom, his Mediatorial Kingdom; Some little Specimen was given of his Glory a few Days after this in his Transfiguration, Chap. 17. 1. then he try'd his Robes. But this points at Chriſt's coming, by the pouring out of his Spirit, the planting of the Goſpel-Church, the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the taking away of the Place and Nation of the Jews, who were the moſt bitter Enemies to Chriſtianity. Here was the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom. Many then preſent liv'd to ſee it, particularly John, who liv'd till after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and ſaw Chriſtianity planted in the World. Let this encourage the then followers of Chriſt to ſuffer for him. (1.) That their Undertaking ſhall be ſucceeded; the Apoſtles were employ'd in ſetting up Chriſt's Kingdom, let them know for their comfort, that whatever Oppoſition they meet with, yet they ſhould carry their Point, ſhould ſee of the Travel of their Soul. Note, It is a great Encouragement to ſuffering Saints to be aſſur'd, not only of the Safety, but of the Advancement of Chriſt's Kingdom among Men; not only notwithſtanding their Sufferings, but by their Sufferings. A believing Proſpect of the Succeſs of the Kingdom of Grace, as well as of our ſhare in the Kingdom of Glory, may carry us cheafully through our Suffering. (2.) That their Cauſe ſhall be pleaded; their Deaths ſhall be reveng'd, and their Perſecutors reckon'd with. (3.) That this ſhall be done ſhortly, in the preſent Age. Note, The nearer the Church's Deliverances are, the more chearful ſhould we be in our Sufferings for Chriſt. Behold, the Judge ſtandeth before the Door. It is ſpoken as a Favour to thoſe that ſhould ſurvive the preſent cloudy Time, that they ſhould ſee better Days. Note, 'Tis deſirable to ſhare with the Church in her Joys, Dan. 12. 12. Obſerve, Chriſt ſaith, Some ſhall live to ſee thoſe glorious Days, not all; ſome ſhall enter into the promiſed Land, but others ſhall fall in the Wilderneſs. He doth not tell them who ſhould live to ſee this Kingdom, leſt if they had known, they ſhould have put off the Thoughts of Dying, but ſome of them ſhall; behold the Lord is at hand, The Judge ſtandeth before the Door; be patient therefore Brethren.

CHAP. XVII.

In this Chapter we have (1.) Chriſt in his Pomp and Glory transfigured, v. 1.—13. (2.) Chriſt in his Power and Grace caſting the Devil out of a Child, v. 14—21. And (3.) Chriſt in his Poverty and great Humiliation, (1.) foretelling, his own Sufferings v. 22, 23. (2.) Paying Tribute, v. 24.—27. So that here's Chriſt, the brightneſs of his Father's Glory by himſelf, purging our Sins, paying our Debts, and deſtroying for us him that had the Power of Death, that is the Devil. Thus were the ſeveral Indications of Chriſt's gracious Intentions admirably interwoven.

AND after ſix days, Jeſus taketh Peter, James and John his brother, and bringeth them up into an high mountain apart, 2 And was transfigured before them, and his face did ſhine as the ſun, and his raiment was white as the light. 3 And behold, there appeared unto them Moſes and Elias talking with him. 4 Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid unto Jeſus, Lord, it is good for us to be here; if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moſes, and one for Elias. 5 While he yet ſpake, behold, a bright cloud overſhadowed them: and behold, a voice out of the cloud, which ſaid, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleaſed; hear ye him. 6 And when the diſciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were ſore afraid. 7 And Jeſus came and touched them, and ſaid, Ariſe, and be not afraid. 8 And when they had lift up their eyes, they ſaw no man, ſave Jeſus only. 9 And as they came down from the mountain, Jeſus charged them, ſaying, Tell the viſion to no man, until the Son of man be riſen again from the dead. 10 And his diſciples asked him, ſaying, Why then ſay the ſcribes, that Elias muſt firſt come? 11 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Elias truly ſhall firſt come, and reſtore all things: 12 But I ſay unto you, that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but have done unto him whatſoever they liſted: likewiſe ſhall alſo the Son of man ſuffer of them. 13 Then the diſciples underſtood that he ſpake unto them of John the Baptiſt.

We have here the Story of Chriſt's Transfiguration; he had ſaid that the Son of Man ſhould ſhortly come in his Kingdom, to which Promiſe all the three Evangeliſts induſtriouſly connect this Story; as if Chriſt's Transfiguration were intended for a Specimen and an Earneſt of the Kingdom of Chriſt, and of that Light and Love of his, which therein appears to his Select and Sanctified ones. Peter ſpeaks of this as the Power and coming of our Lord Jeſus, 2 Pet. 1. 16. becauſe it was an Emanation of his Power, and a previous notice of his coming, which it was fit ſhould be introduc'd by ſuch proper Prefaces.

When Chriſt was here in his Humiliation, tho' his State for the main was a State of Abaſement and Affliction, yet there were ſome Glimpſes of his Glory intermix'd, that he himſelf might be the more encourag'd in his Sufferings, and others the leſs offended. His Birth, his Baptiſm, his Temptation, and his Death were the moſt remarkable Inſtances of his Humiliation; and theſe were each of them attended with ſome ſignal Points of Glory, and the Smiles of Heaven, But the Series of his publick Miniſtry being a continued Humiliation, here juſt in the midſt of that comes in this diſcovery of his Glory. As now he is in Heaven he has his Condeſcenſions, ſo when he was on Earth he had his Advancements.

Now concerning Chriſt's Transfiguration. Obſerve,

Firſt, The Circumſtances of it, which are here noted, v. 1.

1. The Time, ſix Days after he had had that ſolemn Conference with his Diſciples, Chap. 16. 21. St Luke ſaith, it was about eight Days after, ſix whole Days intervening, and this the eight Day, that Day Seven-night. Nothing is recorded to be ſaid or done by our Lord Jeſus, for ſix Days before his Transfiguration; thus before ſome great Appearances there was Silence in Heaven for the ſpace of half an hour, Rev. 8. 1. Then when Chriſt ſeems to be doing nothing for his Church, expect e'er long ſomething more than ordinary.

2. The Place, it was on the top of a high Mountain apart. Chriſt choſe a Mountain (1.) as a ſecret place, he went apart; for tho' a City upon a Hill can hardly be hid, two or three Perſon upon a Hill can hardly be found; therefore their private Oratories were commonly on Mountains. Chriſt choſe a retired Place to be Transfigured in, becauſe his appearing publickly in his Glory was not agreeable to his preſent State, and thus he would ſhew his Humility, and teach us, that Privacy doth much befriend our Communion with God. Thoſe that would maintain an Intercourſe with Heaven muſt frequently withdraw from the Converſe and Buſineſs of this World, and they will find themſelves never leſs alone, than when alone, for the Father is with them, (2.) Tho' a ſublime place, elevated above things below. Note, Thoſe that would have a transforming Fellowſhip with God, muſt not only retire, but aſcend; lift up their Hearts, and ſeek things above. The Call is come up hither, Rev. 6. 1.

3. The witneſſes of it. He took with him Peter, and James, and John. (1.) He took three, a competent number, to teſtifie what they ſhould ſee; for out of the Mouth of two or three Witneſſes ſhall every Word be eſtabliſh'd. Chriſt makes his Appearances certain enough, but too common, not to all the People, but to Witneſſes, Acts 10. 41. that they might be bleſſed, who have not ſeen, and yet have believ'd. (2.) He took theſe three becauſe they were the chief of his Diſciples, the firſt three of the Worthies of the Son of David, probably they excell'd in Gifts and Graces; they were Chriſt's Favourites, ſingled out to be the Witneſſes of his Retirements. They were preſent when he rais'd the Damſel to Life, Mark 5. 37. They were afterwards to be the Witneſſes of his Agony, and this was to prepare them for that. Note, A ſight of Chriſt's Glory while we are here in this World, is a good Preparative for our Sufferings with him, as theſe are Preparatives for the ſight of his Glory in the other World. Paul that had abundance of Trouble, had abundance of Revelations.

Secondly, The manner of it, v. 2. He was transfigured before them. The Subſtance of his Body remain'd the ſame, but the Accidents and Appearances of it were greatly alter'd; he was not turn'd into a Spirit, but his Body which had appear'd in Weakneſs and Diſhonour, now appear'd in Power and Glory. He was transfigured, μετεμορφώθη he was Metamorphos'd. The profane Poets amus'd and abus'd the World with idle extravagant Stories of Metamorphoſes, eſpecially the Metamorphoſes of their gods, and ſuch as were diſparaging and diminiſhing to them, which were equally falſe and ridiculous; to theſe ſome think Peter has an eye, when being about to mention this Transfiguration of Chriſt, he ſaith, We have not followed cunningly deviſed Fables, when we made it known unto you, 2 Pet. 1. 16. Chriſt was both God and Man, but in the Days of his Fleſh he took on him the form of a Servant, μορφὴν δȣ́λȣ, Phil. 2. 7. He drew a Vail over the Glory of his Godhead; but now in his Transfiguration he put by that Vail, appear'd ἐν μορφῇ Θεȣ̃ in the Form of God, Phil. 2. 6. gave his Diſciples a glimpſe of his Glory, which could not but change his Form.

The great Truth which we declare is, that God is Light, 1 John 1. 5. dwells in light, 1 Tim. 6. 16. covers himſelf with Light, Pſal. 104. 2. And therefore when Chriſt would appear in the Form of God, he appear'd in Light, the moſt glorious of all viſible Beings, the Firſt-born of the Creation, and moſt nearly reſembling the Eternal Parent. Chriſt is the Light, while he was in the World he ſhined in Darkneſs, and therefore the World knew him not, John 1. 5, 10. But at this time that Light ſhined out of the Darkneſs.

Now his Transfiguration appear'd in two things.

1. His Face did ſhine as the Sun. The Face is the principle part of the Body, by which we are known; therefore ſuch a Brightneſs was put on Chriſt's Face, that Face which afterwards he hid not from ſhame and Spitting. It ſhone as the Sun when it goes forth in his Strength, ſo clear, ſo bright, for he is the Sun of Righteouſneſs, the Light of the World. The Face of Moſes ſhone but as the Moon with a borrowed reflected light, but Chriſt ſhone as the Sun, with an innate inherent Light, which was the more ſenſibly glorious, becauſe it ſuddenly broke out as it were from behind a black Cloud.

2. His Raiment was white as the Light. All his Body was alter'd as his Face was; ſo that Beams of Light darting from every part through his Clothes made them white, and glittering. The ſhining of the Face of Moſes was ſo weak, that it could eaſily be conceal'd by a thin Vail, but ſuch was the Glory of Chriſt's Body, that his Clothes were enlighten'd by it.

Thirdly, The Companions of it; he will come at laſt with ten thouſands of his Saints, and as a Specimen of that, there now appear'd unto them, Moſes and Elias talking with him, v. 3. Obſerve (1.) There were glorified Saints attending him, that when there were three to bear Record on Earth, Peter, James and John, there might be ſome to bear Record from Heaven too. Thus here was a lively reſemblance of Chriſt's Kingdom, which is made up of Saints in Heaven, and Saints on Earth, and to which belong the Spirits of juſt Men made perfect. We ſee here that they which are fallen aſleep in Chriſt are not periſhed, but do exiſt in a ſeperate State, and ſhall be forth-coming when there is occaſion. (2.) Theſe two were Moſes and Elias, Men very eminent in their Day. They had both faſted forty Days, and forty Nights, as Chriſt did, and wrought other Miracles, and were both remarkable at their going out of the World, as well as in their living in the World. Elias was carried to Heaven in a fiery Chariot, and died not. The Body of Moſes was never found, poſſibly it was preſerv'd from Corruption, and reſerv'd for this Appearance. The Jews had great Reſpect for the Memory of Moſes and Elias, and therefore they came to witneſs of him, they came to carry tidings concerning him to the upper World. In them the Law and the Prophets did honour to Chriſt and bore Teſtimony to him. Moſes and Elias appear'd to the Diſciples, they ſaw them, and heard them talk, and either by their Diſcourſe, or by information from Chriſt they knew them to be Moſes and Elias; glorified Saints ſhall know one another in Heaven. They talked with Chriſt. Note, Chriſt has Communion with the Bleſſed, and will be no ſtranger to any of the Members of that glorified Corporation. Chriſt was now to be Seal'd in his Prophetical Office, and therefore theſe two great Prophets were fitteſt to attend him, as transferring all their Honour and Intereſt to him, for in theſe laſt Days God ſpeaks to us by his Son; Heb. 1. 1.

Fourthly, The great Pleaſure and Satisfaction that the Diſciples took in the ſight of Chriſt's Glory. Peter, as uſual, ſpoke for the reſt. Lord it is good for us to be here. Peter here expreſſeth.

1. The Delight they had in this Converſe, Lord, it is good to be here. Tho' upon a high Mountain, which we may ſuppoſe rough and unpleaſant, black, and cold, yet it's good to be here. He ſpeaks the Senſe of his Fellow-Diſciples; 'tis not only good for me, but good for us. He did not covet to monopolize this Favour, but gladly takes them in. He ſaith this to Chriſt. Pious and devout Affections love to pour out themſelves before the Lord Jeſus. The Soul that loves Chriſt, and loves to be with him, loves to go and tell him ſo: Lord it is good for us to be here; this intimates a thankful Acknowledgment of his Kindneſs in admitting them to this Favour. Note, Communion with Chriſt is the Delight of Chriſtians. All the Diſciples of the Lord Jeſus reckon it is good for them to be with him in the holy Mount. It is good to be here where Chriſt is, and brings us along with him by his Appointment; it is good to be here, retir'd, and alone with Chriſt; to be here where we may behold the Beauty of the Lord Jeſus, Pſal. 27. 4. 'Tis pleaſant to hear Chriſt compare Notes with Moſes and the Prophets, to ſee how all the Inſtitutions of the Law, and all the Predictions of the Prophets pointed at Chriſt, and were filled in him.

2. The deſire they had of the continuance of it. Let us make here, three Tabernacles. There was in this, as in many other of Peter's Sayings, a mixture of Weakneſs, and of Good-will, more Zeal than Diſcretion.

1. Here was a Zeal for this Converſe with Heavenly Things, a laudable Complacency in the ſight they had of Chriſt's Glory. Note, Thoſe that by Faith behold the Beauty of the Lord in his Houſe, cannot but deſire to dwell there all the Days of their Life. It's good having a Nail in God's holy Place, Ezra 9. 8. A conſtant Abode, to be in holy Ordinances, as a Man at home, not as a Way-faring Man. Peter thought this Mountain was a fine ſpot of Ground to Build upon, and he was for making Tabernacles there, as Moſes in the Wilderneſs made a Tabernacle for the Schechinah, or Divine Glory

It argued great Reſpect for his Maſter and the Heavenly Gueſts. with ſome commendable Forgetfulneſs of himſelf and his Fellow Diſciples, that he would have Tabernacles for Chriſt, and Moſes and Elias, but none for himſelf. He would be content to lie in the open Air, on the cold Ground in ſuch good Company; if his Maſter have but where to lay his head, no matter whether he himſelf has or no.

2. Yet in this Zeal he betray'd a great deal of Weakneſs and Ignorance; What need had Moſes and Elias of Tabernacles? they belong'd to that bleſſed World, where they hunger no more, nor doth the Sun light upon them. Chriſt had lately foretold his Sufferings, and bid his Diſciples expect the like; Peter forgets that, or to prevent it, will needs be building Tabernacles in the Mount of Glory, out of the way of Trouble. Still he harps upon, Maſter ſpare thy ſelf, tho' he had been ſo lately check'd for it. Note, There is a Proneneſs in good Men to expect the Crown without the Croſs. Peter was for laying hold of this as the Prize, tho' he had not yet fought his Fight, nor finiſhed his Courſe; as theſe other Diſciples, Mat. 20. 21. We are out in our Aim, if we look for a Heaven here upon Earth. It is not for Strangers and Pilgrims, (ſuch we are in our beſt Circumſtances in this World) to talk of Building, or expect a continuing City.

Yet it is ſome excuſe to the Incongruity of Peter's Propoſal, not only that he knew not what he ſaid Luke 9. 33. but alſo that he ſubmitted the Propoſal to the Wiſdom of Chriſt; If thou wilt, let us make Tabernacles. Note, Whatever Tabernacles we propoſe to make to our ſelves in this World, we muſt always remember to ask Chriſt leave.

Now to this which Peter ſaid there was no Reply made; the diſappearing of the Glory would ſoon anſwer it. They that promiſe themſelves great things on this Earth, will ſoon be undeceived by their own Experience.

Fifthly, The glorious Teſtimony which God the Father gave to our Lord Jeſus, in which he received from him Honour and Glory, (2 Pet. 1. 17.) when there came this Voice from the excellent Glory. This was like proclaming the Titles of Honour, or the Royal Style of a Prince, when at his Coronation he appears in his Robes of State; and be it known, to the comfort of Mankind the Royal Style of Chriſt is taken from him his Mediation. Thus in Viſion he appear'd with a Rainbow, the Seal of the Covenant about his Throne, Rev. 4. 3. for 'tis his Glory to be our Redeemer.

Now concerning this Teſtimony from Heaven to Chriſt, Obſerve,

1. How it came, and in what manner it was introduc'd.

1. There was a Cloud. We find often in the Old Teſtament, that a Cloud was the viſible Token of God's Preſence; he came down upon Mount Sinai in a Cloud, Exod. 19. 9. and ſo to Moſes, Exod. 34. 5. Numb. 11. 25. He took Poſſeſſion of the Tabernacle in a Cloud, and afterwards of the Temple, where Chriſt was in his Glory the Temple was, and there God ſhew'd himſelf preſent. We know not the ballancings of the Clouds, but we know that much of the Intercourſe and Communication between Heaven and Earth is maintain'd by them. By the Clouds Vapours aſcend, and Rains deſcend; therefore God is ſaid to make the Clouds his Chariots, ſo he did here when he deſcended upon this Mount.

2. It was a bright Cloud, under the Law it was commonly a thick and dark Cloud that God made the Token of his Preſence; he came down upon Mount Sinai in a thick Cloud, Exod. 19. 16. and ſaid he would dwell in the thick Darkneſs; ſee 1 Kings 8. 1. But we are not now come to that Mount that was cover'd with Blackneſs and Darkneſs, Heb. 12. 18. but to the Mount that is crown'd with a bright Cloud. Both the Old Teſtament, and the New Teſtament Diſpenſation had Tokens of God's Preſence, but that was a Diſpenſation of Darkneſs, and Terror, and Bondage, this of Light, Love, and Liberty.

3. It overſhadow'd them. This Cloud was intended to break the force of that great Light, which otherwiſe would have overcome the Diſciples, and have been intolerable 'twas like the Veil which Moſes put upon his Face when it ſhone. God in manifeſting himſelf to his People, conſiders their Frame. This Cloud was to their Eyes, as Parables to their Underſtandings, to convey ſpiritual things by things ſenſible, as they were able to bear them.

4. There came a Voice out of the Cloud. and it was the Voice of God, who now, as of old, ſpake in the cloudy Pilar, Pſal. 49. 7. Here was no Thunder, or Lightning, or Voice of a Trumpet, as there was when the Law was given by Moſes, but only a Voice, ſtill ſmall Voice, and that not uſher'd in with a ſtrong Wind, or an Eearthquake, or Fire, as when God ſpake to Elias, 1 Kings 10. 11, 13. Moſes then, and Elias were witneſſes, that in theſe laſt Days God hath ſpoken to us by his Son in another way, than he ſpoke formerly to them. This Voice came from the excellent Glory, 2 Pet. 1. 17. the Glory which excelleth, in compariſon of which the former had no Glory; tho' the excellent Glory was clouded, ye thence came a Voice, for Faith comes by Hearing.

2. What this Teſtimony from Heaven was. This is my beloved Son, hear ye him. Here we have.

1. The great Goſpel-Myſtery reveal'd; This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleaſed. This was the very ſame that was ſpoken from Heaven at his Baptiſm, Chap. 3. 17. And it was the beſt News that ever came from Heaven to Earth ſince Man Sin'd. 'Tis to the ſame purpoſe with that great Doctrine, 2 Cor. 5. 19. That God was in Chriſt, reconciling the World to himſelf. Moſes and Elias were great Men, and Favourites of Heaven, yet they were but Servants, and Servants that God was not always well pleaſed in; for Moſes ſpake unadviſedly, and Elias was a Man ſubject to Paſſions; but Chriſt is a Son, and in him God was always well pleaſed. Moſes and Elias where ſometimes Inſtruments of Reconciliation between God and Iſrael, Moſes was a great Interceſſor, and Elias a great Reformer, but in Chriſt God is reconciling the World, his Interceſſion is more prevalent than that of Moſes, and his Reformation more effectual than that of Elias.

This Repetition of the ſame Voice that came from Heaven at his Baptiſm, was no vain Repetition; but, like the doubling of Pharaoh's Dream, was to ſhew the thing was eſtabliſh'd. What God hath thus ſpoken once, yea, twice, no doubt, he will ſtand to, and he expects we ſhould take notice of it. It was ſpoken at his Baptiſm, becauſe then he was entring upon his Temptation, and his publick Miniſtry; and now it was repeated becauſe he was entring upon his Sufferings, which are to be dated from hence, for now, and not before he began to foretel them, and immediately after his Transfiguration it is ſaid, Luke 9. 51. that the time was come that he ſhould be received up; this therefore was then repeated to arm him againſt the Terror, and his Diſciples againſt the Offence of the Croſs. When Sufferings begin to abound, Conſolations are given in moſt abundantly, 2 Cor. 1 3.

2. The great Goſpel Duty requir'd, and it is the condition of our Benefit by Chriſt, hear ye him. God is well pleas'd with none in Chriſt but thoſe that hear him. 'Tis not enough to give him the hearing, (what will that avail us?) but we muſt hear him, and believe him as the great Prophet and Teacher, hear him, and be rul'd by him, as the great Prince and Lawgiver; hear him, and heed him. Whoever will know the Mind of God, muſt hearken to Jeſus Chriſt; for by him God has in theſe laſt Days ſpoken to us. This Voice from Heaven has made all the Sayings of Chriſt as authentick as if they had been thus ſpoken out of a Cloud. God doth here as it were turn us over to Chriſt for all the Revelations of his Mind; and it refers to that Prediction concerning the Prophet God would raiſe up like unto Moſes, Deut. 18. 18. him ſhall ye hear.

Chriſt now appear'd in Glory, and the more we ſee of Chriſt's Glory, the more cauſe we ſhall ſee to hearken to him; but the Diſciples were gazing on that Glory of his which they ſaw, they are therefore bid not to look at him, but to hear him. Their ſight of his Glory was ſoon intercepted by the Cloud, but their buſineſs was to hear him. We walk by Faith, which comes by Hearing, not by Sight, 2 Cor. 5. 7.

Moſes and Elias were now with him, the Law and the Prophets, hitherto it was ſaid, hear them, Luke 16. 29. The Diſciples were ready to equal them with Chriſt, when they muſt have Tabernacles for them as well as for him. They had been talking with Chriſt, and probably, the Diſciples were very deſirous to know what they ſaid, and to hear ſomething more from them; no ſaith God, hear him, and that's enough; him, and not Moſes and Elias, who were preſent, and whoſe Silence gave conſent to this Voice; they had nothing to ſay to the contrary, whatever Intereſt they had in the World as Prophets, they were willing to ſee it all transfer'd to Chriſt, that in all things he might have the Preheminence. Be not troubled that Moſes and Elias make ſo ſhort a ſtay with you, hear Chriſt, and you will not want them.

Sixthly, The Fright which the Diſciples were put into by this Voice, and the Encouragement Chriſt gave them.

1. The Diſciples fell on their Faces and were ſore afraid. The greatneſs of the Light, and the Surprize of it might have a natural Influence upon them to diſpirit them. But that was not all, ever ſince Man ſin'd and heard God's Voice in the Garden, extraordinary Appearances of God have ever been terrible to Man; who knowing he has no reaſon to expect any Good, has been afraid to hear any thing immediately from God. Note, Even then when fair Weather comes out of the ſecret place, yet with God is terrible Majeſty, John 37. 22. See what dreadful work the Voice of the Lord makes, Pſal. 29. 4. 'Tis well for us that God ſpeaks to us by Men like our ſelves, whoſe Terror ſhall not make us afraid.

2. Chriſt graciouſly rais'd them up with abundance of tenderneſs. Note, The Glories and Advancements of our Lord Jeſus, do not at all leſſen his regard to, and concern for his People that are compaſs'd about with Infirmity. 'Tis comfortable to think, that now he is in his exalted State, he has a Compaſſion for, and condeſcends to the meaneſt true Believer. Obſerve here (1.) What he did, he came and touched them. His Approaches baniſh'd their Fears; and when they apprehended that they were apprehended of Chriſt, there needed no more to make them eaſie. Chriſt laid his right hand upon John in a like caſe, and upon Daniel, Rev. 1. 17. Dan. 8. 18.—10. 18. Chriſt's Touches were often healing, and here they were ſtrengthning and comforting. (2.) What he ſaid; Ariſe and be not afraid. Note, Tho' a fear of Reverence in our converſe with Heaven is pleaſing to Chriſt, yet a fear of Amazement is not ſo, but muſt be ſtriven againſt. Chriſt ſaid, Ariſe. Note, It is Chriſt by his Word, and the Power of his Grace going along with it that raiſeth up good Men from their Dejections, and ſilenceth their Fears, and none but he can do it. Ariſe, be not afraid. Note, Cauſeleſs Fears would ſoon vaniſh, if we would not yield to them, and lye down under them, but get up, and do what we can againſt them. Conſidering what they had ſeen and heard, they had more reaſon to rejoyce than to fear, and yet it ſeems they needed this Caution. Note, Through the Infirmity of the Fleſh, we oft frighten our ſelves with that wherewith we ſhould encourage our ſelves. Obſerve, after they had an expreſs Command from Heaven to hear Chriſt, the firſt Word they had from him was, Be not afraid, hear that. Note, Chriſt's Errand into the World was to give comfort to good People, that being deliver'd out of the Hands of their Enemies, they might ſerve God without fear, Luke 1. 74. 75.

Seventhly, The diſappearing of the Viſion, v, 8. They lift up themſelves, and then lift up their Eyes, and ſaw no Man, ſave Jeſus only. Moſes and Elias were gone, the Rays of Chriſt's Glory were laid aſide or vail'd again. They hoped this had been the Day of Chriſt's entrance into his Kingdom, and publick Appearance in that external Splendor which they dream'd of, but ſee how they are diſappointed. Note. It is not Wiſdom to raiſe our expectations high in this World, for the moſt valuable of our Glories and Joys here are vaniſhing, even thoſe of near Communion With God are ſo; not a continual Feaſt, but a running Banquet. If ſometimes we are favour'd with ſpecial Manifeſtations of Divine Grace, Glimpſes, and Pledges of future Glory, yet they are withdrawn preſently; two Heavens are too much for thoſe to expect that never deſerve one. Now they ſaw no Man ſave Jeſus only. Note, Chriſt will tarry with us when Moſes and Elias are gone. The Prophets do not live for ever, Zech. 1. 5. and we ſee the Period of our Miniſters Converſation, but Jeſus Chriſt is the ſame, yeſterday, to day, and for ever, Heb. 13. 7, 8.

Eighthly, The Diſcourſe between Chriſt and his Diſciples as they came down from the Mountain, v. 9--13.

Obſerve (1.) They came down from the Mountain. Note, Even the holy Mountains where we have Communion with God, and Complacency in that Communion, and of which we are ſaying, it is good to be here, yet we muſt come down from, even there we have no continuing City; bleſſed be God there is a Mountain of Glory and Joy before, whence we ſhall never come down. But obſerve, when the Diſciples came down, Jeſus came with them. Note, When we return to the World again after an Ordinance, it muſt be our care to take Chriſt with us, and then it may be our comfort that he is with us.

(2.) As they came down they talk'd of Chriſt. Note, When we are returning from holy Ordinances, 'tis good to entertain our ſelves, and one another with Diſcourſe, ſuitable to the Work we have been about. That Communication which is good to the uſe of edifying, is then in a ſpecial manner ſeaſonable, as on the contrary, that which is corrupt is worſe then than at another Time.

Here's. The Charge that Chriſt gave the Diſciples to keep the Viſion very private for the preſent, v. 9. Tell it to no Man till the Son of Man is riſen. If they had proclaim'd it, the Credibility of it would have been ſhock'd by his Sufferings, which were now haſtening on. But let the Publication of it be adjourn'd till after his Reſurrection, and then that, and his ſubſequent Glory will be a great confirmation of it. Note, Chriſt obſerv'd a Method in the Manifeſtation of himſelf, would have his Works put together, mutually to explain and illuſtrate each other, that they might appear in their full ſtrength, and convincing Evidence. Every thing is beautiful in its ſeaſon. Chriſt's Reſurrection was properly the beginning of the Goſpel-ſtate and Kingdom, to which all before was but Preparatory, and by way of Preface; and therefore tho' this was tranſacted before, yet it muſt not be produc'd as Evidence till then, (and then it appears to have been much inſiſted on by 2 Pet. 1. 16, 17, 18.) when the Religion it was deſign'd for the Confirmation of was brought to its full Conſiſtence and Maturity. Chriſt's Time is the beſt and fitteſt for the manifeſting of himſelf, and muſt be attended by us.

2. An Objection which the Diſciples made againſt ſomething Chriſt had ſaid, v. 10. Why then ſay the Scribes that Elias was firſt come? If Elias make ſo ſhort a ſtay, and is gone ſo ſuddenly and we muſt ſay nothing of him; why have we been taught out of the Law to expect his publick Appearance in the World immediately before the ſetting up of the Meſſiah's Kingdom? Muſt the coming of Elias be a Secret which every body looks for? Or, thus; If the Reſurrection of the Meſſiah, and with it the beginningng of his Kingdom be at hand, what comes of that glorious Preface and Introduction to it, which we expect in the coming of Elias. The Scribes, who were the publick Expoſitors of the Law, ſaid this according to the Scripture, Mal. 4. 5. Behold I ſend you Elijah the Prophet. The Diſciples ſpoke the common Language of the Jews, who made that the Saying of the Scribes which was the Saying of the Scripture; whereas what Miniſters ſpake to us according to the Word of God, we ſhould ſay, God ſpeaks it to us not the Miniſters; for we muſt not receive it as the Word of Men, 1 Theſ. 2. 13. Obſerve, When the Diſciples could not reconcile what Chriſt ſaid with what they had heard out of the Old Teſtament, they deſired him to explain it to them. Note, When we are puzzled with Scripture-difficulties, we muſt apply ourſelves to Chriſt by Prayer for his Spirit to open our Underſtandings, and lead us into all Truth.

3. The ſolving of this Objection. Aſk, and it ſhall be given, aſk Inſtruction, and it ſhall be given.

1. Chriſt allows the Prediction, v. 11. Elias truly ſhall firſt come and reſtore all things, ſo far you are in the right; Chriſt did not come to alter or invalidate any thing foretold in the Old Teſtament. Note, Corrupt and miſtaken Gloſſes may be ſufficiently rejected and exploded without diminiſhing or derogating from the Authority or Dignity of the Sacred Text. New Teſtament Prophecies are true and good, and to be received and improved, tho' ſome hot fooliſh Men may have miſinterpreted them, and drawn wrong Inferences from them. He ſhall come and reſtore all things, not reſtore them to their former State; John Baptiſt went not about to do that, but he ſhall accompliſh all things, ſo it may be read; to wit, all things that were written of him, all the Predictions of the coming of Elias. John Baptiſt came to reſtore things Spiritually, to revive the Decays of Religion, to turn the Hearts of the Fathers to their Children, which means the ſame with this here, he ſhall reſtore all things. John Preach'd Repentance, and that reſtores all things.

2. He aſſerts the Accompliſhment. The Scribes ſay true, that Elias ſhall come, but I ſay unto you what the Scribes could not ſay, that Elias is come. v. 12. Note, God's Promiſes are often fulfill'd; and Men perceive it not, but enquire, Where is the Promiſe? when it is already perform'd. Elias is come, and they knew him not, they know him not to be the Elias promis'd, the forerunner of the Meſſiah. The Scribes buſi'd themſelves in criticizing upon the Scripture, but underſtood not by the Signs of the Times the fulfilling of the Scripture. Note, It's eaſier to explain the Word of God, than to apply it, and make a right uſe of it. But it is no wonder that the Morning-Star was not obſerv'd, when he who is the Sun it ſelf was in the World, and the World knew him not.

Becauſe they knew him not, they have done to him whatſoever they liſted; if they had known, they would not have Crucified Chriſt, or Beheaded John, 1 Cor. 2. 8. They ridicul'd John, perſecuted him and at laſt put him to Death, which was Herod's doing, but is here charged upon the whole Generation of unbelieving Jews, and particularly the Scribes, who, tho' they could not proſecute John themſelves, yet were pleas'd with what Herod did. He adds, Likewiſe alſo ſhall the Son of Man ſuffer of them. Marvel not that Elias ſhould be abus'd, and killed by thoſe who pretended with a great deal of Reverence to expect him, when the Meſſiah himſelf will be in like manner treated. Note, The Sufferings of Chriſt took off the Strangeneſs of all other Sufferings, John 15. 18. when they had imbrued their Hands in the Blood of John Baptiſt, they were ready to do the like at Chriſt. Note, As Men deal with Chriſt's Servants, ſo they would deal with himſelf; And they that are drunk with the Blood of the Martyrs, ſtill cry, Give, give, Acts 12. 1, 2, 3.

4. The Diſciples Satisfaction in Chriſt's Reply to their Objection, v. 13. they underſtood that he ſpake unto them of John the Baptiſt. He did not name John, but gives them ſuch a Deſcription of him as would put them in mind of what he had ſaid to them formerly concerning him; This is Elias. This is a profitable way of teaching, it engageth the Learner's own Thoughts, and makes them, if not their own Teachers, yet their own Remembrances, and thus Knowledge becomes eaſie to him that underſtandeth. When we diligently uſe the Means of Knowledge, how ſtrangely are Miſts ſcatter'd, and Miſtakes rectify'd?

14 And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and ſaying, 15 Lord, have mercy on my ſon, for he is lunatick, and ſore vexed: for oft-times he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water. 16 And I brought him to thy diſciples, and they could not cure him. 17 Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, O faithleſs and perverſe generation, how long ſhall I be with you? how long ſhall I ſuffer you? bring him hither to me. 18 And Jeſus rebuked the devil, and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour. 19 Then came the diſciples to Jeſus apart, and ſaid, Why could not we caſt him out? 20 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Becauſe of your unbelief: for verily I ſay unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of muſtard-ſeed, ye ſhall ſay unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it ſhall remove; and nothing ſhall be unpoſſible unto you. 21 Howbeit this kind goeth not out, but by prayer and faſting.

We have here the miraculous Cure of a Child that was Lunatick, and vexed with a Devil. Obſerve, Firſt, A melancholy Repreſentation of the caſe of this Child made to Chriſt by the afflicted Father. This was immediately upon his coming down from the Mountain where he was transfigur'd. Note, Chriſt's Glories do not make him unmindful of us, and of our Wants and Miſeries. Chriſt when he came down from the Mount, where he had Converſation with Moſes and Elias, did not take State upon him, but was as eaſie of acceſs, as ready to poor Beggars, and as familiar with the Multitude as ever he us'd to be. This poor man's Addreſs was very importunate, he came kneeling to Chriſt. Note, Senſe of Miſery will bring People to their Knees. Thoſe who ſee their Need of Chriſt will be earneſt, will be in good earneſt in their Applications to him, and he delights to be thus wreſtled with.

Two things the Father of the Child complains of.

1. The Diſtreſs of his Child, v. 15. Lord, have mercy on my Son. The Affliction of the Children cannot but affect the tender Parents, for they are Pieces of themſelves. And the caſe of afflicted Children ſhould be preſented to God by faithful and fervent Prayer. This Child's Diſtemper probably diſabled him to pray for himſelf. Note, Parents are doubly concern'd to pray for their Children, not only that are weak and cannot, but much more that are wicked, and will not pray for themſelves. Now, (1.) The Nature of this Child's Diſeaſe was very ſad, he is lunatick, and ſore vexed. A Lunatick is properly one whoſe Diſtemper lies in the Brain, and returns with the Change of the Moon. The Devil by the divine Permiſſion, either caus'd this Diſtemper, or at leaſt concur'd with it to highten and aggravate it. The Child had the Falling-Sickneſs, and the Hand of Satan was in it, by it he tormented then, and made it much more grievous than ordinarily it is. And thoſe whom Satan got poſſeſſion of, he afflicted by thoſe diſeaſes of the Body which do moſt affect the Mind; for 'tis the Soul that he aims to do miſchief to. The Father in his Complaint, ſaith, he is lunatick, taking notice of the Effect; but Chriſt in the Cure rebuked the Devil, and ſo ſtruck at the Cauſe. Thus he doth in Spiritual Cures. (2.) The Effects of the Diſeaſe were very deplorable, he oft falls into the Fire, and into the Water: If the Force of the Diſeaſe made him to fall, the Malice of the Devil made him fall into the Fire, or Water; ſo miſchievous is he where he gains Poſſion and Power in any ſoul. He ſeeks to devour, 1 Pet. 5. 8.

2. The Diſappointment of his Expectation from the Diſciples, v, 16. I brought him to thy Diſciples, and they could not cure him. Chriſt gave his Diſciples Power to caſt out Devils, Mat. 10. 1, 8. and therein they were ſucceſsful, Luke. 10. 17. yet at this time they fail'd in the Operation, tho' they were nine of them together, and before a great Multitude. Chriſt permitted this (1.) to keep them humble, and to ſhew them their Dependance upon him, that without him they could do nothing. (2.) To glorifie himſelf and his own Power. 'Tis for the Honour of Chriſt to come in with Help at a dead lift, when other Helpers cannot help. Eliſha's Staff in Gehazi's Hand will not raiſe the Child, he muſt come himſelf. Note, There are ſome ſpecial Favours which Chriſt reſerves to himſelf the beſtowing of, and ſometimes he keeps the Ciſtern empty, that he may bring us to himſelf the Fountain. But the Failures of inſtruments ſhall not hinder the Operations of his Grace, which will work, if not by them, yet without them.

Secondly, The rebukes that Chriſt gave to the People firſt, and then to the Devil.

1. He chid thoſe about him, v. 17. O faithleſs and perverſe Generation. This is not ſpoken to the Diſciples, but to the People, and perhaps eſpecially to the Scribes, who are mention'd in Mark 9. 14. and who, as it ſhould ſeem, inſulted over the Diſciples, becauſe they had now met with a Caſe that was too hard for them. Chriſt himſelf could not do many mighty Works among a People, in whom Unbelief reign'd. It was here owing to the Faithleſneſs of this Generation that they could not obtain thoſe Bleſſings from God, that otherwiſe they might have had, as it was owing to the Weakneſs of the Diſciples Faith that they could not do thoſe Works for God, which otherwiſe they might have done. They were Faithleſs and Perverſe. Note. Thoſe that are Faithleſs will be Perverſe, and Perverſeneſs is Sin in its worſt Colours. Faith is Compliance with God; Unbelief is Oppoſition and Controdiction to God. Iſrael of old was perverſe, becauſe Faithleſs, Pſal. 95. 9. froward, for in them is no Faith, Deut. 32. 20.

Two things he upbraids them with. (1.) His Preſence with them ſo long, how long ſhall I be with you? Will you always need my bodily Preſence, and never come to ſuch Maturity as to be fit to be left, the People to the Conduct of the Diſciples, and the Diſciples to the Conduct of the Spirit, and of their Commiſſion? Muſt the Child be always carried, and will it never learn to go alone? (2.) His Patience with them ſo long? How long ſhall I ſuffer you? Note, (1.) The Faithleſneſs and Perverſneſs of thoſe who enjoy the Means of Grace, is a great Grief to the Lord Jeſus. Thus did he ſuffer the Manners of Iſrael of old, Acts 13. 18. (2.) The longer Chriſt has born with a perverſe and Faithleſs People, the more he is diſpleas'd with their Perverſneſs and Unbelief; and he is God, and not Man, elſe he would not ſuffer ſo long, nor bear ſo much as he doth.

2. He cur'd the Child, and ſet him to rights again. he call'd, Bring him hither to me. Tho' the People were Perverſe, and Chriſt was provoked, yet care was taken of the Child. Note, Tho' Chriſt may be angry, he is never unkind, nor doth he in the greateſt of his Diſpleaſure ſhut up the Bowels of his Compaſſion from the Miſerable. Bring him to me, Note, When all other Helps and Succours fail, we are welcome to Chriſt, and may be confident in him, and in his Power and Goodneſs.

See here an Emblem of Chriſt's Undertaking as our Redeemer.

1. He breaks the Power of Satan, v. 18. Jeſus rebuked the Devil, as one having Authority, that could back with force his Word of Command, Note, Chriſt's Victories over Satan are obtain'd by the Power of his Word, the Sword that comes out of his Mouth, Rev. 19. 21. Satan cannot ſtand before the Rebukes of Chriſt, tho' his Poſſeſſion has been never ſo long. 'Tis comfortable to thoſe who are wreſtling with Principalities and Powers, that Chriſt hath ſpoiled them, Col. 2. 15. The Lion of the Tribe of Judah will be too hard for the roaring Lion that ſeeks to devour.

2. He redreſſeth the Grievances of the Children of Men. The Child was cur'd from that very hour. 'Twas an immediate Cure, and a perfect one. This is an encouragement to Parents to bring their Children to Chriſt, whoſe Souls are under Satan's Power; he is able to heal them, and as willing as he is able. Not only bring them to Chriſt by Prayer, but bring them to the Word of Chriſt, the ordinary means by which Satan's ſtrong Holds are demoliſh'd in the Soul. Chriſt's Rebukes brought home to the Heart will ruin Satan's Power there.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples hereupon.

1. They ask the Reaſon why they could not caſt out the Devil at this time, v. 19. They came to Jeſus apart. Note, Miniſters that are to deal for Chriſt in publick, have need to keep up a private Communion with him, that they may in ſecret, where no Eyes ſee, bewail their Weakneſs and Straitneſs, their Follies and Infirmities in their publick Performances, and enquire into the Cauſe of them. We ſhould make uſe of that Liberty of Acceſs we have to Jeſus apart, where we may be free and particular with him. Such Queſtions as the Diſciples put to Chriſt, we ſhould put to our ſelves in communing with our own Hearts upon our Beds. What was the reaſon we were ſo dull and careleſs at ſuch a time, we came ſo much ſhort in ſuch a Duty, that finding out what was amiſs, it may be amended?

2. Chriſt gives them two Reaſons why they fail'd.

1. It was becauſe of their Unbelief, v. 20. When he ſpoke to the Father of the Child, and to the People, he charg'd it upon their Unbelief, when he ſpoke to his Diſciples he charg'd it upon theirs; for the truth was, there were Faults on both ſides, but we are more concern'd to hear of our own Faults than of other people's, and to impute Amiſſes to our ſelves than to others. When the Preaching of the Word ſeems not to be ſo ſucceſsful, as ſometimes it has been, the People are apt to lay all the fault upon the Miniſters, and the miniſters upon the People; whereas it is more becoming for each to own their own Faultineſs, and to ſay, 'Tis long of me. Miniſters in reproving, muſt learn thus to give to each their Portion of the Word, and to take People off from judging others, by teaching all to judge themſelves. 'Tis becauſe of your Unbelief. Tho' they had Faith, yet that Faith was weak and ineffectual. Note, (1.) As far as Faith falls ſhort of its due Strength, Vigour, and Activity, it may truly be ſaid, there is Unbelief; many are chargeable with Unbelief, that yet are not to be called Unbelievers. (2.) 'Tis becauſe of our Unbelief that we bring ſo little to paſs in Religion, and ſo oft miſcarry and come ſhort in that which is good.

Our Lord Jeſus takes this occaſion to ſhew them the Power of Faith, that they might not be defective in that another time, as they were now. if ye have Faith as a grain of Muſtard-ſeed, ye ſhall do Wonders, v. 20. Some make the Compariſon to refer to the Quality of the Muſtard-ſeed, which is, when bruis'd, ſharp and penetrating if you have an active growing Faith, not dead, flat, or inſipid, you will not be baffled and balk'd thus, But it rather refers to the Quantity, if you had but a grain of true Faith, tho' ſo little that it were like that which is the leaſt of all ſeeds, you would do Wonders: Faith in general is a firm Aſſent to, a Compliance with, and a Confidence in all Divine Revelation? the Faiah here repuir'd is that which had for his Object that particular Revelation, by which Chriſt gave his Diſciples power to work Miracles in his Name for the Confirmation of the Doctrine they Preach'd; 'twas a Faith in this Revelation that they were defective in, either doubting the Validity of their Commiſſion, or fearing it was expir'd with their firſt Miſſion, and was not to continue when they were return'd to their Maſters; or that it was ſome way or other forfeited or withdrawn, perhaps their Maſter's Abſence with the three chief of his Diſciples, with a Charge to the reſt not to follow them, might occaſion ſome Doubts concerning their Power, or rather the Power of the Lord with them to do this; however there was not at preſent ſuch a ſtrong actual Dependance upon, and Confidence in the Promiſe of Chriſt's Preſence with them as there ſhould have been. It is good for us to be diffident of our ſelves, and of our own Strenght, but it is diſpleaſing to Chriſt when we diſtruſt any Power derived from him, or granted by him.

If ye have never ſo little of his Faith in Sincerity, if you truly rely upon the Powers committed to you, ye ſhall ſay to this Mountain remove. This is a Proverbial Expreſſion, noting that which follows, and no more, nothing ſhall be unpoſſible to you. They had a full Commiſſion, among other things, to caſt out Devils without Exception; but this Devil being more than ordinary Malicious and Inveterate, they diſtruſted the Power they had received, and ſo fail'd To convince them of this, Chriſt ſhews them what they might have done, Note, An active Faith can remove Mountains, not of it ſelf, but in the Virtue of a Divine Power engag'd by a Divine Promiſe, both which Faith faſtens upon.

2. Becauſe there was ſomething in the kind of the Malady which render'd the Cure more than ordinary difficult, v. 21. This kind goes not out by Prayer and faſting. This Poſſeſſion which works by a Falling-Sickneſs, or this kind of Devils that are thus furious, is not caſt out ordinarily, but by great acts of Devotion and therein you were defective. Note, (1.) Tho' the adverſaries we wreſtle with be all Principalities and Powers, yet ſome are ſtronger than others, and their Powers more hardly broken. (2.) The extraordinary Power of Satan muſt not diſcourage our Faith, but quicken us to a greater Intenſeneſs in the acting of it, and more earneſtneſs in praying to God for the increaſe of it, and ſo ſome underſtand it here, this kind of Faith (which removeth Mountains) doth not proceed, i. e. is not obtained from God, nor is it carry'd up to its full Growth, nor drawn out into Act and Exerciſe but by earneſt Prayer. (3.) Faſting and Prayer are proper means for the bringing down of Satans Power againſt us, and the fetching in of Divine Power to our aſſiſtance. Faſting is of uſe to put an edge upon Prayer, it is an Evidence and Inſtance of Humiliation which is neceſſary in Prayer, and is a means of mortifying ſome corrupt Habits, and ſo diſpoſing the Body to ſerve the Soul in Prayer. When the Devil's Intereſt in the Soul is confirm'd by the Temper and Conſtitution of the Body, Faſting muſt be joyn'd with Prayer to keep under the Body.

22 And while they abode in Galilee, Jeſus ſaid unto them, The Son of man ſhall be betrayed into the hands of men: 23 And they ſhall kill him, and the third day he ſhall be raiſed again: and they were exceeding ſorry.

Chriſt here foretels his own Sufferings, he began to do it before, Chap 16. 21. and finding that it was to his Diſciples a hard ſaying, he ſaw it neceſſary to repeat it; there are ſome things which God ſpeaketh once, yea, twice, and yet Man perceiveth it not. Obſerve here,

1. What he foretold concerning himſelf, that he ſhould be betray'd and kill'd He perfectly knew before all things that ſhould come to him, and yet undertook the Work of our Redemption, which greatly commendeth his Love; nay, his clear Foreſight of them was a kind of ante-paſſion, had not his Love to Man made all eaſie to him.

(1.) He tells them that he ſhould be betray'd into the hands of men. He ſhall be deliver'd up, ſo it might be read, and underſtood of his Father's delivering him up by his determined Counſel and Foreknowledge, Acts 4. 23. Rom. 8. 32. But as we render it, it refers to Judah's betraying him into the Hands of the Prieſts, and their betraying him into the Hands of the Romans. He was betray'd into the Hands of Men, Men to whom he was allay'd by Nature, and from whom therefore he might expect Pity and Tenderneſs; Men whom he had undertaken to ſave, and from whom therefore he might expect Honour and Gratitude, yet theſe are his perſecutors and Murtherers.

(2.) That they ſhould kill him; nothing leſs than that would ſatisfie their Rage 'twas his Blood, his precious Blood they thirſted after, This is the Heir, come let us kill him; and nothing leſs would ſatisfie God's Juſtice, and anſwer his Undertaking; if he be a Sacrifice of Atonement, he muſt be kill'd, without Blood no Remiſſion.

(3.) That he ſhall be raiſed again the third day, Still when he ſpoke of his Death, he gave a hint of his Reſurrection, the Joy ſet before him, in the proſpect of which he endured the Croſs, and deſpiſed the Shame, This was an encouragement, not only to him, but to his Diſciples; for if he riſe the third Day, his Abſence from them will not be long, and his Return to them will be glorious.

2. How the Diſciples reſented this, they were exceeding ſorry. Herein appear'd their Love to their Maſter's Perſon, but withal their Ignorance and Miſtake concerning his Undertaking. Peter indeed durſt not ſay any thing againſt it, as he had done before, Chap. 16. 22. having then been ſoundly chidden for it, but he and the reſt of them greatly lamented it, as it would be their own Loſs, their Maſter's Grief, and the Sin and Ruin of them that did it.

24 And when they were come to Capernaum, they that received tribute-money, came to Peter, and ſaid, Doth not your Maſter pay tribute? 25 He ſaith, Yes. And when he was come into the houſe, Jeſus prevented him, ſaying, what thinkeſt thou, Simon? of whom do the kings of the earth take cuſtom or tribute? of their own children, or of ſtrangers? 26 Peter ſaid unto him, Of ſtrangers. Jeſus ſaith unto him, Then are the children free. 27 Notwithſtanding, leſt we ſhould offend them, go thou to thee ſea, and caſt an hook, and take up the fiſh that firſt cometh up; and when thou haſt opened his mouth, thou ſhalt find a peice of money, that take, and give unto them for me and thee.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's paying Tribute.

Firſt, Obſerve, How it was demanded, v. 24. Chriſt was now at Capernaum, his Head-quarters, where he moſtly reſided; he did not keep from thence to decline being call'd upon for his Dues, but the rather came thither to be ready to pay them.

(1.) The Tribute demanded was not any civil Payment to the Roman Powers, that was ſtrictly exacted by the Publicans, but the Church Duties, the half ſhekel, about fifteen Pence, which was required from every Perſon for the Service of the Temple, and the defraying the Expences of the Worſhip there,; 'tis call'd a ranſom for the Soul, Exod. 30. 12. &c. This was not ſo ſtrictly exacted now, as ſometimes it had been, eſepecially not in Galilee.

(2.) The Demand was very modeſt, the Collectors ſtood in ſuch Awe of Chriſt's becauſe of his mighty Works, that they durſt not ſpeak to him about it, but applied themſelves to Peter, whoſe houſe was in Capernaum, and probably in his Houſe Chriſt lodg'd, and therefore he was fitteſt to be ſpoken to as the Houſe-keeper, and they preſum'd he knew his Maſter's Mind. Their Queſtion is, Doth not your Maſter pay Tribute? Some think they ſought an occaſion againſt him, deſigning, if he refus'd to preſent him as diſaffected to the Temple-Servite, and his Followers as lawleſs People, that would pay neither Toll, Tribute, nor Cuſtom, Ezra 4. 13. It ſhould rather ſeem they ask'd this with Reſpect, intimating, that if he had any Privilege to exempt him from this Payment, they would not inſiſt upon it.

Peter preſently paſt his Word for his Maſter; yes, ſure, my Maſter pays Tribute, 'tis his Principle and Practice, you need not fear moving it to him. (1.) He was made under the Law, Gal. 4. 4. therefore under this Law, he was paid for at Forty Days old Luke 2. 22. and now he paid for himſelf; as one that in his Eſtate of Humiliation had taken upon him the from of a Servant, Phil. 2. 7, 8. (2.) He was made Sin for us, and was ſent forth in the likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. Now this Tax paid to the Temple is call'd an Atonement for the Soul, Exod. 30. 15. Chriſt that in every thing he might appear in the likeneſs of Sinners, paid it tho' he had no Sin to atone for. (3.) Thus it became him to fulfil all Righteouſneſs, Mat. 4. 15. He did this to ſet us an Example (1.) of rendering to all their Due, Tribute to whom Tribute is due, Rom. 13. 7. The Kingdom of Chriſt not being of this World, the Favourites and Officers of it are ſo far from having a Power granted them as ſuch to tax other People's Purſes, that theirs are made liable to the Powers that be. (2.) Of contributing to the Support of the publick Worſhip of God in the Places where we are. If we reap ſpiritual things, 'tis fit we ſhould return carnal things. The Temple was now made a Den of Thieves, and the Temple Worſhip a Pretence for the Oppoſition which the chief Prieſts gave to Chriſt and his Doctrine, and yet Chriſt paid this Tribute. Note, Church Duties legally impos'd are to be paid, notwithſtanding Church-Corruptions. We muſt take heed of uſing our Liberty as a Cloak of Covetouſneſs, or Maliciouſneſs, 1 Pet. 2. 16. If Chriſt pay Tribute, who can pretend an Exemption?

Secondly, How it was diſputed, v. 25. not with the Collectors themſelves, leſt they ſhould be irritated, but with Peter that he might be ſatisfied in the Reaſon why Chriſt paid Tribute, and might not miſtake about it. He brought the Collectors into the Houſe, but Chriſt prevented him, to give him a Proof of his Omniſcience, and that no Thought can be witholden from him; the Diſciples of Chriſt are never attack'd but he knows it.

Now (1.) He appeals to the way of the Kings of the Earth which is to take Tribute of Strangers, of the Subjects of their Kingdom, or Foreigners that deal with them, but not their own Children that are of their Families; there is ſuch a Community of Goods between Parents and Children, and a Joynt intereſt in what they have, that it would be abſurd for the Parents to levy Taxes upon the Children, or demand any thing from them, 'tis like one hand taxing the other.

(2.) He applies this to himſelf, then are the Children free. Chriſt is the Son of God, and Heir of all things, the Temple is his Temple, Mal. 3. 1. his Father's Houſe, John 2. 16. in it he is faithful as a Son in his own Houſe, Heb 3. 6. and therefore not oblig'd to pay this Tax for the Service of the Temple. Thus Chriſt aſſerts his Right, leſt his paying this Tribute ſhould be miſimprov'd to the weakning of his Title, as the Son of God, and the King of Iſrael, and ſhould have look'd like a diſowning of it himſelf. Theſe Immunities of the Children are to be extended no further than our Lord Jeſus himſelf; God's Children by Grace and Adoption are freed from the Slavery of Sin and Satan, but not from their Subjection to civil Magiſtrates in civil things; here the Law of Chriſt is expreſs, Let every Soul (ſanctified Souls not accepted) be ſubject to the higher Powers; Render to Cæſar the things that are Cæſars.

Thirdly, How it was paid notwithſtanding, v. 27.

1. For what Reaſon Chriſt wav'd his Privilege, and paid this Tribute, tho' he was entitled to an Exemption, leſt we ſhould offend them. Few knew as Peter did, that he was the Son of God, and it would have been a Diminution to the Honour of that great Truth, which was yet a Secret, to advance it now to ſerve ſuch a Purpoſe as this: Therefore Chriſt drops that Argument, and conſiders, that if he ſhould refuſe this Payment, it would increaſe People's Prejudice againſt him and his Doctrine, and alienate their Affections from him, and therefore reſolves to pay it. Note, Chriſtian Prudence and Humility teach us in many cauſes to recede from our Right, rather than give Offence by inſiſting upon it. We muſt never decline our Duty for fear of giving Offence; Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles offended them, yet he went on with them, Mat. 15. 12, 13. Better offend Men than God; but we muſt deny our ſelves in that which is our ſecular Intereſt ſometimes, rather than give Offence, as Paul, 1 Cor. 8. 13. Rom. 14. 13.

2. What courſe he took for the Payment of this Tax; he furniſh'd himſelf with Money for it out of the Mouth of a Fiſh, v. 27. Wherein appears,

1. The Poverty of Chriſt; he had not fifteen Pence at command to pay his Tax with, tho' he cur'd ſo many that were Diſeaſed; it ſeems he did all gratis, for our ſakes he became poor. 2 Cor. 8. 9. In his ordinary expences he liv'd upon Alms, Luke 8. 3. and in extraordinary ones he liv'd upon Miracles. He did not order Judas to pay this out of the Bag which he carried, that was for Subſiſtence, and he would not order that for his particular uſe which was intended for the Benefit of the Community.

2. The Power of Chriſt in fetching Money out of a Fiſh's Mouth for this purpoſe. Whether his Omnipotence put it there, or his Omniſcience knew that it was there, it comes all to one, 'twas an Evidence of his Divinity, and that he is Lord of Hoſts. Thoſe Creatures that are moſt remote from Man are at the Command of Chriſt, even the Fiſhes of the Sea are under his Feet, Pſal. 8. 5. And to evidence his Dominion in this lower World, and to accommodate himſelf to his preſent State of Humiliation, he choſe to take it out of a Fiſh's Mouth, when he could have taken it out of an Angel's Hand. Now obſerve,

1. Peter muſt catch the Fiſh by Angling. Even in Miracles he would uſe Means to encourage Induſtry and Endeavour, Peter has ſomething to do, and it is in the way of his old Calling too, to teach us Diligence in the Employment we are called to, and called in. Do we expect Chriſt ſhould give to us, let us be ready to work for him?

2. The Fiſh came up with Money in the Mouth of it, which repreſents to us the Reward of Obedience in Obedience. What Work we do at Chriſt's Command brings its own Pay along with it, Pſal. 19. 11. In keeping God's Commands, as well as after keeping them, there is a great Reward. Peter was made a Fiſher of Men, and thoſe that he caught thus came up; where the Heart is open'd to entertain Chriſt's Word, the Hand is open to encourage his Miniſters.

3. The piece of Money was juſt enough to pay the Tax for Chriſt and Peter. Thou ſhalt find a Stater, the value of a Jewiſh Shekel, which would pay the Poll-tax for two, for it was half a Shekel, Exod. 30. 13. Chriſt could as eaſily have commanded a Bag of Money, as a Piece of Money, but he would teach us not to covet Superfluities, but having enough for our preſent Occaſions, therewith to be content, and not to diſtruſt God, tho' we live but from Hand to Mouth. Chriſt made the Fiſh his Caſh-keeper, and why may not we make God's Providence our Store-houſe and Treaſury? And if we have a Competency for to Day, let to Morrow take thought for the things of it ſelf. Chriſt paid for himſelf and Peter; becauſe, 'tis probable here he only was aſſeſs'd, and of him it was at this time demanded; perhaps the reſt had paid already, or were to pay elſewhere. The Papiſts make a great Myſtery of Chriſt's praying for Peter, as if this made him the Head and Repreſentative of the whole Church; whereas the Payment of Tribute for him was rather a ſign of Subjection than of Superiority. His pretended Succeſſors pay no Tribut, but exact it. Peter fiſh'd for this Money, and therefore part of it went for his uſe. Thoſe that are workers together with Chriſt in winning Souls, ſhall be ſharers with him in his Glory, and ſhall ſhine with him, Give it for thee and me. What Chriſt paid for himſelf was look'd upon as a Debt, what he paid for Peter was a Courteſie to him. Note, It is a deſirable thing, if God ſo pleaſe, to have wherewithal of this World's Goods, not only to be juſt, but to be kind; not only to be charitable to the Poor, but obliging to our Friends. What is a great Eſtate good for, but that it enables a Man to do ſo much the more good, Laſtly, Obſerve, That here is recorded the Orders Chriſt gave to Peter what to do, the Warrant he had; the Effect is not particularly mention'd, but taken for granted, and juſtly; for with Chriſt, ſaying and doing are the ſame thing.

CHAP. XVIII.

The Goſpels are in ſhort a Record of what Jeſus began both to do and to teach. In the foregoing Chapter we had an account of his Doings, in this of his Teachings; probably not all at the ſame time in a continued Diſcourſe, but at ſeveral times, upon divers Occaſions here put together as near akin. We have here (1.) Instructions concerning Humility, v. 1.—6. (2.) Concerning Offences in general, v. 7. particularly Offences given. (1.) By us to our ſelves, v. 8. 9. (2.) By us to others, v. 10.—14. (3.) By others to us, which are of two ſorts. 1. Scandalous Sins that are to be reproved, v. 15—20. 2. Perſonal Wrongs that are to be forgiven, v. 21.—35. See how practical Chriſt's Preaching was, he could have reveal'd Myſteries, but he preſs'd plain Duties, eſpecially thoſe that are moſt diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood.

AT the ſame time came the diſciples unto Jeſus, ſaying, Who is the greateſt in the Kingdom of heaven? 2 And Jeſus called a little child unto him, and ſet him in the midſt of them, 3 And ſaid, Verily I ſay unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye ſhall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. 4 Whoſoever therefore ſhall humble himſelf as this little child, the ſame is greateſt in the kingdom of heaven. 5 And whoſo ſhall receive one ſuch little child in my name, receiveth me. 6 But whoſo ſhall offend one of theſe little ones believe in me, it were better for him that a milſtone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the ſea.

As there never was a greater Pattern of Humility, ſo there never was a greater Preacher of it than Chriſt; he took all Occaſions to command it, to commend it to his Diſciples and Followers.

Firſt, The occaſion of this Diſcourſe here concerning Humility was an unbecoming Conteſt among the Diſciples for Precedency: they came to him, ſaying among themſelves, (for they were aſham'd to ask him, Mark 9. 34.) Who is the greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven?

They mean not who by Character, then the Queſtion had been good, that they might know what Graces and Duties to excel in, but who by Name. They had heard much and preach'd much of the Kingdom of Heaven, the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, his Church in this World, but as yet they were ſo far from having any clear Notion of it, that they dreamt of a temporal Kingdom, and the external Pomp and Power of it. Chriſt had lately foretold his Suffering, and the Glory that ſhou'd follow, that he ſhould riſe again, from whence they expected his Kingdom would commence, and now they thought it was time to put in for their Places in it; 'tis good in ſuch Caſes to ſpeak early. Upon other Diſcourſes of Chriſt to that Purpoſe, Debates of this Kind aroſe, Mat. 20. 19, 20. Luke 22. 22. 24. He ſpoke many Words of his Sufferings, but only one of his Glory, yet they faſten upon that, and over-look the other; and inſtead of asking how they might have Strength and Grace to ſuffer with him, they ask him who ſhall be higheſt in reigning with him? Note, many love to hear and ſpeak of Privileges and Glory, that are willing to paſs by the thoughts of Work and Trouble. They look ſo much at the Crown, that they forget the Yoke, and the Croſs. So the Diſciples here did when they ask'd Who is the greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven?

1. They ſuppoſe that all that have a Place in that Kingdom are great, for it is a Kingdom of Prieſts. Note, Thoſe are truly great that are truly good, and they will appear ſo at laſt, when Chriſt ſhall own them as his, though never ſo mean and poor in the World.

2. They ſuppoſe that there are Degrees in this Greatneſs. All the Saints are honourable, but not all alike ſo; one Star differs from another Star in Glory. All David's Officers were not Worthies, nor all his Worthies of the firſt three.

3. They ſuppoſe it muſt be ſome of them that muſt be prime Miniſters of State. To whom ſhould King Jeſus delight to do honour, but to them who had left all for him, and were now his Companions in Pataience and Tribulation.

4. They ſtrive who it ſhould be, each having ſome Pretence or other to it. Peter was always the chief Speaker, and already had the Keys given him, and he expects to be Lord Chancellour, or Lord Chamberlain of the Houſhold, and ſo to be the greateſt. Judas had the Bag, and therefore he expects to be Lord Treaſurer, which though now he come laſt, he hopes will then denominate him the greateſt. Simon and Jude are nearly related to Chriſt, and they hope to take place of all the great Officers of State, as Princes of the Blood. John is the Beloved Diſciple, the Favourite of the Prince, and therefore hopes to be greateſt. Andrew was firſt call'd, and why ſhould not he be firſt prefer'd? Note, We are very apt to amuſe and humour our ſelves with fooliſh Fancies of things that will never be.

Secondly, The Diſcourſe it ſelf, which is a juſt rebuke to the Queſtion, Who ſhould be greateſt? And we have abundant Reaſon to think, that if Chriſt ever intended that Peter, and his Succeſſors at Rome, ſhould be Heads of the Church, and his chief Vicars on Earth, having ſo far on Occaſion given him, he would now have let his Diſciples know it; but ſo far is he from this, that his Anſwer diſallows and condemns the thing it ſelf. Chriſt will not lodge ſuch an Authority or Supremacy any where in his Church; whoever pretend to it are Uſurpers; inſtead of ſetting any of the Diſciples in this Dignity, he warns them all not to put in for it.

Chriſt here teacheth them to be humble.

1. By a Sign, v. 2. He call'd a little Child to him, and ſet him in the midſt of them. Chriſt often taught by Signs or ſenſible Repreſentations, Compariſons to the Eye, as the Prophets of old. Note, Humility is a Leſſon ſo hardly learn'd, that we have need by all ways and means to be taught it. When we look upon a little Child, we ſhould be put in Mind of the Uſe Chriſt made of this Child: Senſible things muſt be improv'd to ſpiritual Purpoſes. He ſet him in the midſt of them, not that they might play with him, but learn by him. Grown Men and great Men ſhould not diſdain the Company of little Children, or think it below them to take notice of them. They may either ſpeak to them, and give Inſtruction to them, or look upon them, and receive Inſtruction from them. Chriſt himſelf when a Child, was in the midſt of the Doctors, Luke 2. 46.

2. By a Sermon upon his Sign, in which he ſhews them and us,

1. The Neceſſity of Humility, v. 3. His Preface is ſolemn, and commands both Attention and Aſſent, Verily I ſay unto you, I, the Amen, the faithful Witneſs, ſay it, Except ye be converted and become as little Children, ye ſhall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Here obſerve,

1. What it is that he requires and inſiſts upon.

(1.) You muſt be converted; you muſt be of another Mind, and in another Frame, and Temper, muſt have other Thoughts both of you ſelves, and of the Kingdom of Heaven, before you be fit for a Place in it. This Pride, Ambition, and Affectation of Honour and Dominion, which appears in you, muſt be repented of, mortified, and reform'd, and you muſt come to your ſelves. Note, Beſides the firſt Converſion of a Soul from a State of Nature to a State of Grace, there are After-Converſions from particular Paths of Backſliding, which are equally neceſſary to Salvation. Every Step out of the Way by Sin, muſt be a Step into it again by Repentance. When Peter repented of his denying his Maſter he was converted. (2.) You muſt become as little Children. Note, Converting Grace makes us like little Children, not fooliſh as Children, 2 Cor. 14. 20. nor fickle, Eph. 4. 14. nor playful, Mat. 11. 16. But as Children we muſt deſire the ſincere Milk of the Word, 1 Pet. 2. 2. as Children we muſt be careful for nothing, but leave it to our heavenly Father to care for us, Mat. 6. 31. We muſt as Children be harmleſs and inoffenſive, and void of Malice 1 Cor. 14. 20. governable and under Command, Gal. 4. 2. And (which is here chiefly intended) we muſt be humble as little Children, who do not take State upon them, nor ſtand upon the Punctilio's of Honour; the Child of a Gentleman will play with the Child of a Beggar, Rom. 12. 16. The Child in Rags, if it have the Breaſt, is well enough pleas'd, and envies not the Gaiety of the Child in Silk; little Children have no great Aims at great Places, nor Projects to raiſe themſelves in the World; they exerciſe not themſelves in things too high for them, and we ſhould in like manner behave and quiet our ſelves, Pſal. 131. 3, 2. As Children are little in Body, and low in Statute, ſo we muſt be little and low in Spirit, and in our Thoughts of our ſelves. This is a Temper which leads to other good Diſpoſitions; the Age of Childhood is the learning Age.

2. What Streſs he lay upon this. Without this you ſhall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Note, Diſciples of Chriſt have need to be kept in awe by Threatnings, that they may fear leſt they ſeem to come ſhort, Heb. 4. 1. The Diſciples when they put that Queſtion, v. 1. thought themſelves ſure of the Kingdom of Heaven, but Chriſt awakens them to be jealous of themſelves, they were ambitious of being greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven, Chriſt tells them, that except they came to better Temper they ſhould never come thither. Note, Many that ſet up for great ones in the Church, prove not only little, but nothing, and are found to have no Part or Lot in the Matter. Our Lord deſigns here to ſhew the great Danger of Pride and Ambition; whatever Profeſſion Men make, if they allow themſelves in this Sin, they will be rejected both from God's Tabernacle, and from his holy Hill. Pride threw the Angels that ſin'd out of Heaven, and will keep us out, if we be not converted from it. They that are lifted up with Pride, fall into the Condemnation of the Devil; to prevent this we muſt become as little Children, and in order to that muſt be born again, muſt put on a new Man, muſt be like the holy Child Jeſus; So he is call'd even after his Aſcenſion, Acts 4. 27.

2. He ſhews the Honour and Advancement that attends Humility v. 4. which is a direct, but ſurprizing Anſwer to their Queſtion; he that humbles himſelf as a little Child, though he may fear that hereby he will render himſelf contemptible, as low Spirits do, that thereby throw themſelves out of the way of Preferment, yet the ſame is greateſt in the Kingdom of Heaven. Note, The humbleſt Chriſtians are the beſt Chriſtians, and moſt like to Chriſt, and higheſt in his Favour, are beſt diſpoſed for the Communications of Divine Grace, and fitteſt to ſerve God in this World, and enjoy him in another. They are great, for God overlooks Heaven and Earth to look on ſuch, and certainly thoſe are to be moſt reſpected, and honour'd in the Church that are moſt humble and ſelf-denying; for tho' they leaſt ſeek it, they beſt deſerve it.

3. The ſpecial Care Chriſt takes for thoſe that are humble, he eſpouſeth their Cauſe, protects them, intereſts himſelf in their Concerns, and will ſee that they are not wrong'd, but they ſhall be righted.

Thoſe that thus humble themſelves will be afraid,

1. That no Body will receive them; and as to that Fear, v. 5, Whoſo ſhall receive one ſuch little Child in my Name, receiveth me. Whatever Kindneſſes are done to ſuch, Chriſt takes as done to himſelf; whoſo entertains a meek and humble Chriſtian, keeps him in Countenance, will not let him loſe by his Modeſty, takes him into his Love and Friendſhip, and Society, and Care, and ſtudies to do him a Kindneſs, and doth this in Chriſt's Name, for his ſake, becauſe he bears the Image of Chriſt, ſerves Chriſt, and becauſe Chriſt has receiv'd him; this ſhall be accepted, and recompens'd as an acceptable price of Reſpect to Chriſt: Obſerve, Tho' it be but one ſuch little Child that is received in Chriſt's Name, it ſhall be accepted. Note, The tender Regard Chriſt has to his Church extends it ſelf to every particular Member, even the meaneſt, not only the whole Family, but to every Child of the Family; the leſs they are in themſelves to whom we ſhew Kindneſs, the more there is of Good-will in it to Chriſt; the leſs 'tis for their ſakes, the more 'tis for his, and he takes it accordingly. If Chriſt were perſonally among us we think we ſhould never do enough to welcome him, the poor, the poor in Spirit, we have always with us, and they are his Receivers; ſee Mat. 25. 35.—40.

2. They will be afraid that every Body will abuſe them. The baſeſt Men delight to trample upon the humble, vexat Cenſura Columbas; this Objection he obviates, v. 6. where he warns all People as they will anſwer it at their utmoſt Peril, not to offer any Injury to one of Chriſt's little ones. This Word makes a Wall of Fire about them; he that toucheth them, toucheth the Apple of God's Eye.

Obſerve, 1. The Crime ſuppos'd, offending one of theſe little ones, that believe in Chriſt. Their believing in Chriſt, though they be little ones unites them to him, ſo that as they partake of the Benefit of his Sufferings, ſo he partakes in the Wrong of theirs, and intereſts him in their Cauſe. Even the little ones that believe have the ſame Privilege with the great ones, for they have all obtain'd like precious Faith. There are thoſe that offend theſe little ones, by drawing them to Sin, 1 Cor. 8. 10, 11. grieving and vexing their righteous Souls; diſcouraging them, taking occaſion from their Mildneſs to make a Prey of them in their Perſons, Families, Goods or Good Name. Thus the beſt Men have oft met with the worſt Treatment in this World.

2. The Puniſhment of this Crime; intimated in that Word, better for him that he were drown'd in the Depth of the Sea. The Sin is ſo heinous and the Ruin proportionably ſo great, that he had better undergo the ſoreſt Puniſhments inflicted on the worſt of Malefactors, which can only kill the Body. Note, (1.) Hell is worſe than the Depth of the Sea, for it is a bottomleſs Pit, and it is a burning Lake. The Depth of the Sea is only Killing, but Hell is tormenting. We meet with one that had Comfort in the Depth of the Sea, 'twas Jonah, chap. 2. 2, 4, 9. but never any had the leaſt Grain or Glimpſe of Comfort in Hell, nor will have to Eternity. (2.) The irreſiſtible, irrevocable Doom of the great Judge will ſink ſooner and ſurer, and bind faſter than a Milſtone hang'd about the Neck: It fixeth a great Gulf that can never be broke through, Luke 16. 26. Offending Chriſt's little ones, though by Omiſſion, is aſſign'd as the Reaſon of that dreadful Sentence, Go ye curſed, which will at laſt be the Doom of proud Perſecutors.

7 Wo unto the world becauſe of offences: for it muſt needs be that offences come: but wo to that man by whom the offence cometh. 8 Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and caſt them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be caſt into everlaſting fire, 9 And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and caſt it from the: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be caſt into Hell-fire. 10 Take heed that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones: for I ſay unto you, That in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven, 11 For the Son of man is come to ſave that which was loſt. 12 How think ye? if a man have an hundred ſheep, and one of them be gone aſtray, doth not he leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and ſeeketh that which is gon aſtray. 13 And if ſo be that he find it, verily I ſay unto you, he rejoyceth more over that ſheep, then of the ninety and nine which went not aſtray, 14 Even ſo it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven that one of theſe little ones ſhould periſh.

Our Saviour here ſpeaks of Offences or Scandals;

1. In general, v. 7. He takes Occaſion from the Mention of the offending the little ones to ſpeak more generally of Offences. That's an Offence, (1.) Which occaſions Guilt, which by Enticement or Affrightment tends to draw Men from that which is good, to that which is evil. (2.) Which occaſions Grief, which makes the Heart of the Righteous ſad. Now concerning Offences, Chriſt here tells them.

(1.) That they were certain things. It muſt needs be that Offences come. When we are ſure there is Danger, we ſhould be the better arm'd. Not that Chriſt's Word neceſſitates any Man to offend, but it is a Prediction upon a View of the Cauſes; conſidering the Subtlety and Malice of Satan, the Weakneſs and Pravity of Men's Hearts, and the Fooliſhneſs that is found there, 'tis morally impoſſible but that there ſhould be Offences? and God has determin'd to permit them for wiſe and holy Ends, that both they which are perfect, and they which are not, may be made manifeſt; ſee 1 Cor. 11. 19. Dan. 11. 35. Being told before that there will be Seducers. Tempters, Perſecutors, and many ill Examples, let us ſtand upon our Guard, Mat. 24. 24. Acts 20. 29, 30.

2. That they would be woful things, and the Conſequences of them fatal. Here's a double Wo annex'd to Offences.

1. A Wo to the careleſs and unguarded to whom the Offence is given. Wo to the World becauſe of Offences. The Obſtructions and Oppoſitions given to Faith and Holineſs in all Places are the Bane and Plague of Mankind, and the Ruin of Thouſand. This preſent World is an evil World. 'tis ſo full of Offences of Sins, and Snares, and Sorrows; a dangerous Road we travel, full of Stumbling-blocks, Precipices, and falſe Guides. Wo to the World. As for thoſe whom God hath choſen and called out of the World, and deliver'd from it they are preſerv'd by the Power of God, from the Prejudice of theſe Offences, are help'd over all theſe Stones of Stumbling: They that love God's Law have great Peace, and nothing ſhall offend them, Pſal. 119. 165.

2. A Wo to the wicked that wilfully give the Offence. But Wo to that Man by whom the Offence comes. Though it muſt needs be that the Offence will come, yet that will be no Excuſe for the Offenders. Note, Though God makes the Sins of Sinners to ſerve his Purpoſes, yet that will not ſecure them from his Wrath. And the Guilt will be laid at the Door of thoſe that give the Offence, though they alſo fall under a Wo that take it. Note, They who any way hinder the Salvation of others, will find their own Condemnation the more intolerable, like Jeroboam that ſinn'd, and made Iſrael to ſin, This Wo is the Moral of that judicial Law, Exod. 21. 33, 34.—22. 6. that he who openeth the Pit, and kindled the Fire, was accountable for all the Damage that enſued. The Antichriſtian Generation by whom came the great Offence, will fall under this Wo, for their Deluſions of Sinners, 2 Theſ. 2. 11, 12. And their Perſecutions of Saints, Rev. 17. 1, 2, 6. For the righteous God will reckon with thoſe that ruin the eternal Intereſts of precious Souls, and the temporal Intereſts of precious Saints; for precious in the Sight of the Lord is the Blood of Souls, and the Blood of Saints; and Men will be reckon'd with not only for their Doings, but for the Fruit of their Doings, the Miſchief done by them.

2. In particular, Chriſt ſpeaks here of Offences given.

Firſt, By us to our ſelves, which is expreſs'd by our Hand or Foot, offending us; in ſuch a Caſe it muſt be cut off. v. 8. 9. This Chriſt had ſaid before, Mat. 5. 29, 30. where it eſpecially refers to the Seventh Commandment Sins, here it is taken more generally. Note, Thoſe hard Sayings of Chriſt which are diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood, need to be repeated to us again and again, and all little enough. Now obſerve,

1. What it is that is here enjoyn'd. We muſt part with an Eye, or a Hand, or a Foot, i. e. that, whatever it is, which is dear to us, when it proves unavoidably an Occaſion of Sin to us. Note, (1.) many prevailing Temptations to Sin, ariſe from within our ſelves; our own Eyes and Hands offend us; if there were never a Devil to tempt us we ſhould be drawn away of our own Luſt. Nay, thoſe things which in themſelves are good, and may be us'd as Inſtruments of good, yet through the Corruptions of our Hearts proves Snares to us, incline us to Sin, and hinder us in Duty. (2.) In ſuch a Caſe, we muſt as far as lawfully we may, part with that which we cannot keep without being entangled in Sin by it. (1.) It is certain the inward Luſt muſt be mortified, though it be dear to us as an Eye or a Hand. The Fleſh with its Affections and Luſts muſt be mortified, Gal. 5. 24. the Body of Sin muſt be deſtroy'd, corrupt Inclinations and Appetites muſt be check'd and croſs'd; the beloved Luſt that has been roll'd under the Tongue as a ſweet Morſal, muſt be abandon'd with Abhorrence, (2.) The outward Occaſions of Sin muſt be avoided, though we thereby put as great a Violence upon our ſelves, as it would be to cut off a Hand, or pluck out an Eye, When Abraham quitted his native Country, for Fear of being enſnared in the Idolatry of it, and when Moſes quitted Pharoh's Court, for Fear of being entangled in the ſinful Pleaſures of it, there was a Right hand cut off. We muſt think nothing too dear to part with for the keeping of a good Conſcience.

2. Upon what Inducement this is requir'd. It is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two Hands to be caſt into Hell. The argument is taken from the future State, from Heaven and Hell. thence are fetch'd moſt cogent Diſſwaſion from Sin. the Argument is the ſame with that of the Apoſtle, Rom. 8. 13. (1.) If we live after the Fleſh we muſt dye, having two Eyes, no Breaches made upon the Body of Sin, inbred Corruption like Adonijah never diſpleaſed, we ſhall be caſt into Hell fire, (2.) If we through the Spirit mortifie the Deeds of the Body, we ſhall live, that's meant by our entring into Life maimed, i. e. the Body of Sin maim'd, and it is but maimed at the beſt, while we are in this World. If the Right-hand of the old Man be cut off, and its Right Eye be plucked out, its chief Policies blaſted, and Powers broken, it is well, but there is ſtill an Eye and a Hand remaining, with which it will ſtruggle. They that are Chriſt's have nail'd the Fleſh to the Croſs, but it is not yet dead. Its Life is prolong'd, but its Dominion taken away, Dan. 7. 12. and the deadly Wound given it that ſhall not be heal'd.

Secondly, Concerning Offences given by us to others, eſpecially Chriſt's little ones, which we are here charg'd to take heed of, purſuant to what he had ſaid, v. 6. Obſerve,

1. The Caution it ſelf, Take heed that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones. This is ſpoken of the Diſciples. As Chriſt will be diſpleas'd with the Enemies of his Church, if they wrong any of the Members of it, even the leaſt, ſo he will be diſpleas'd with the great ones of the Church, if they diſpiſe the little ones of it. You that are ſtriving who ſhall be greateſt, take heed leſt in this Conteſt you deſpiſe the little ones. We may underſtand it literally of little Children, of them Chriſt was ſpeaking, v. 2, 4. The infant-ſeed of the faithful belong to the Family of Chriſt, and are not to be diſpiſed. Or figuratively, True, but weak Believers are theſe little ones, that in their outward Condition, or the Frame of their Spirits are like little Children the lambs of Chriſt's Flock.

(1.) We muſt not deſpiſe them, not think meanly of them as Lamps deſpiſ'd, Job 12. 5. We muſt not make a Jeſt of their infirmities, not look upon them with Contempt, nor carry it ſcornfully or diſdainfully towards them, as if we car'd not what became of them; we muſt not ſay, tho' they be offended, and griv'd, and ſtumbled, what's that to us, nor make a ſlight Matter of doing that which will entangle and perplex them. This Diſpiſing of the little ones is what we are largely caution'd againſt, Rom. 14. 3, 10, 15, 20, 21. we muſt not impoſe upon the Conſciences of others, nor bring them into Subjection to our Humours, as they do, who ſay to Men's Souls, bow down that we may go over. There is a Reſpect owing to every Man's Conſcience that appears to be conſcientious.

(2.) We muſt take heed that we do not deſpiſe them; we muſt be afraid of the Sin, and be very cautious what we ſay and do, leſt we ſhould through Inadvertancy give Offence to Chriſt's little ones, leſt we put Contempt upon them, and are not aware of it. There were thoſe that hated them, and caſt them out, and yet ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified. And we muſt be afraid of the Puniſhment; take heed of deſpiſing them for it is at your Peril if you do.

2. The Reaſons to enforce the Caution. we muſt not look upon theſe little ones as contemptible, becauſe really they are conſiderable; let not Earth deſpiſe thoſe whom Heaven reſpects, nor let them be look'd upon by us with Diſdain, whom God has put Honour upon, and looks upon with Reſpect as his Favourites. To prove that the little ones which believe in Chriſt are worthy to be reſpected. Conſider,

1. The Miniſtration of the good Angels about them. In Heaven their Angels always behold the Face of my Father. This Chriſt ſaith to us, and we may take it upon his Word, who came from Heaven to let us know what is done there by the World of Angels. Two things he lets us know concerning them,

(1.) That they are the little ones Angels. God's Angels are theirs, for all his is ours, if we be Chriſt's, 1 Cor. 3. 22. They are theirs, for they have a Charge concerning them to miniſter for their good, Heb. 1. 14. to pitch their Tents about them, and bear them up in their Arms. Some have imagin'd that every particular Saint has a Guardian Angel, but what need we ſuppoſe that, when we are ſure every particular Saint, when there is Occaſion, has a Guard of Angels. This is particularly applied here to the little ones, becauſe they are moſt deſpis'd and moſt expos'd, they have but little that they can call their own, but they can look by Faith on the Heavenly Hoſts, and call them theirs. While the great ones of the World have honourable Men for their Retinue and Guards, the little ones of the Church are attended with glorious Angels; which ſpeaks not only their Dignity, but the Danger thoſe run themſelves upon, that deſpiſe and abuſe them. It's ill being Enemies to thoſe who are ſo guarded; and it's good having God for our God, for then we have his Angels for our Angels.

(2.) That they always behold the Face of the Father in Heaven, This ſpeaks (1.) The Angels continual Felicity and Honour. The Happineſs of Heaven conſiſts in the Viſion of God, ſeeing him Face to Face, as he is, beholding his Beauty; this the Angels have without Interruption, when they are miniſtering to us on Earth, yet even then by the Contemplation they behold the Face of God, for they are full of Eyes within. Gabriel when ſpeaking to Zacharias, yet ſtands in the Preſence of God, Rev. 4. 8. Luke 1. 19. The Expreſſion intimates, as ſome think, the ſpecial Dignity and Honour of the little ones Angels; the prime Miniſters of State are ſaid to ſee the King's Face, Eſth. 1. 14. as if the ſtrongeſt Angels had the Charge of the weakeſt Saints. (2.) It ſpeaks their continual Readineſs to miniſter to the Saints. They behold the Face of God, expecting to receive Orders from him what to do for the good of the Saints. As the Eyes of the Servant are to the Hand of his Maſter, ready to go or come upon the leaſt Beck, ſo the Eyes of the Angels are upon the Face of God, waiting for the Intimations of his Will, which thoſe winged Meſſengers fly ſwiftly to fulfil; they go and return like a flaſh of Lightning, Ezek. 1. 14. If we would behold the Face of God in Glory hereafter, as the Angels do, Luke 20. 36. we muſt behold the Face of God now, in readineſs to our Duty, as they do, Acts 9. 6.

2. The gracious Deſign of Chriſt concerning them, ver. 11. For the Son of Man is come to ſave that which was loſt. This is a reaſon (1.) Why the little ones Angels have ſuch a Charge concerning them, and to attend upon them; 'tis in purſuance of Chriſt's Deſign to ſave them, Note, The Miniſtration of Angels is ſounded in the Mediation of Chriſt; through him Angels are reconcil'd to us, and when they celebrat'd Gods Good-will towards Men, to it they annex'd their own (2.) Why they are not to be deſpis'd, becauſe Chriſt came to ſave them to ſave them that are loſt, i. e. the little ones that are loſt in their own Eyes, Iſa. 56. 3. that are at a loſs within themſelves. Or, rather the Children of Men. Note, (1.) Our Souls by Nature are loſt Souls, as a Traveller is loſt that is out of his way, as a convicted Priſoner is loſt; God loſt the Service of fallen Man, loſt the Honour he ſhould have had from him. (2.) Chriſt's Errand into the World was to ſave that which was loſt, to reduce us to our Allegiance, reſtore us to our Work, re-inſtate us in our Privileges, and ſo to put us into the right Way that leads to our great End; to ſave thoſe that are ſpiritually loſt, from being eternally ſo. (3.) This is a good Reaſon, why the leaſt and weakeſt Believers ſhould not be deſpis'd or offended. If Chriſt put ſuch a Value upon them, let not us undervalue them. If he deny'd himſelf ſo much for their Salvation, ſure we ſhould deny our ſelves for their Edification and Conſolation. See this Argument urged, Rom. 14. 15. 1 Cor. 8. 11, 12. Nay, if Chriſt came into the World to ſave Souls, and his Heart is ſo much upon it at Work, he will reckon ſeverely with thoſe that obſtruct and hinder it, by obſtructing the Progreſs of thoſe that are ſetting their Faces Heaven-wards, and ſo thwart his great Deſign.

3. The tender Regard which our heavenly Father has to theſe little ones, and his Concern for their Welfare. This is illuſtrated by a Compariſon, ver. 12. 13, 14. Obſerve the Gradation of the Argument; the Angels of God are their Servants, the Son of God is their Saviour, and to compleat their Honour, God himſelf is their Friend. None ſhall pluck them out of my Father's Hand, John 10. 24.

Here's 1. The Compariſon, v. 12, 13. The Owner that has loſt one Sheep out of a hundred, doth not ſlight it, but diligently enquires after it, is hugely pleas'd when he has found it, and has in that a ſenſible and affecting Joy, more than in the ninety and nine that wandered not. The Fear he was in of loſing that one, and the Surprize of finding it adds to the Joy. Now this is applicable (1.) To the State of fallen Man in general, he is ſtray'd like a loſt Sheep; the Angels that ſtood, were as the ninety and nine that never went aſtray; wandering Man is ſought upon the Mountains, which Chriſt in a great Fatigue travers'd in purſuit of him, and he is found; which is Matter of Joy: Greater Joy there is in Heaven for returning Sinners than for remaining Angels. (2.) To particular Believers that are offended, and put out of their way by the Stumbling-blocks that are laid in their way, or the Wiles of thoſe that ſeduce them out of the way. Now though but one of a hundred ſhould hereby be driven off, as Sheep eaſily are, yet that one ſhould be look'd after with a great deal of Care, the Return of it welcom'd with a great deal of Pleaſure, and therefore the wrong done to it, no doubt, will be reckon'd for with a great deal of Diſpleaſure. If there be Joy in Heaven for the finding of one of theſe little ones, there is Wrath in Heaven for the offending of them. Note, God is graciouſly concern'd, not only for his Flock in general, but for every Lamb or Sheep that belongs to it. Though they are many, yet out of thoſe many he can eaſily miſs one, for he is a great Shepherd; but not ſo eaſily loſe it, for he is a good Shepherd, and takes a more particular Cognizance of his Flock than ever any did; for he calls his own Sheep by Name, John 10. 3. See a full Expoſition of this Parable, Ezek. 34. 2, 10, 16, 19.

2. The Reddition of this Compariſon, v. 14. It is not the Will of your Father, that one of theſe little ones ſhould periſh; more is implied than is expreſs'd: It is not his Will that any ſhould periſh, but (1.) It is his Will that theſe little ones ſhould be ſav'd; 'tis the Will of his Deſign and Delight, he has deſign'd it, and his Heart is upon it, and he will effect it; 'tis the Will of his Precept that all ſhould do what they can to further it, and nothing to hinder it. (2.) This Care extends it ſelf to every particular Member of the Flock, even the meaneſt. We think if but one or two be offended and enſnar'd, 'tis no great Matter, we need not mind it: but God's Thoughts of Love and tenderneſs are above ours. (3.) 'Tis intimated, that thoſe who do any thing, by which any of theſe little ones are brought into Danger of periſhing, contradict the Will of God, and highly provoke him; and though they cannot prevail in it, yet they will be reckon'd with for it, by him, who in his Saints, as in other things, is jealous of his Honour, and will not bear to have it trampled on. See Iſa. 3. 15. What mean ye that ye beat my People? Pſal. 76. 8, 9.

Obſerve that, v. 19. Chriſt call'd God, my Father which is in Heaven; v. 14. he calls him, your Father which is in Heaven, intimating that he is not aſhamed to call his poor Diſciples Brethren, for have not he and they one Father? John 20. 17. I aſcend to my Father and your Father; therefore ours becauſe his. This intimates likewiſe the Ground of the Safety of his little ones, that God is their Father, and is therefore inclin'd to ſuccour them. A Father takes Care of all his Children, but is particularly tender of the little ones (Gen. 14. 20.) He is their Father in Heaven, a Place of Proſpect, and therefore he ſees all the Indignites offer'd them; and a Place of Power, therefore he is able to avenge them. This comforts offended little ones, that their Witneſs is in Heaven, Job 16. 19. their Judge is there, Pſal. 68. 45.

15 Moreover, if thy brother ſhall treſpaſs againſt thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he ſhall hear thee, thou haſt gained thy Brother. 16
But if he will not hear thee, take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witneſſes every word may be eſtabliſhed. 17 And if he ſhall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the Church: but if he neglect to hear the Church, let him be unto thee as an heathen Man, and a publican. 18 Verily I ſay unto you, Whatſoever ye ſhall bind in earth, ſhall be bound in heaven:
and whatſoever ye ſhall looſe on earth, ſhall be looſed in heaven. 19 Again I ſay unto you, that if two of you ſhall agree on earth as touching any thing that they ſhall ask, it ſhall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven. 20 For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midſt of them.

Chriſt having caution'd his Diſciples not to give Offence, comes next to direct them what they muſt do in Caſe of Offences given them; which may be underſtood either of perſonal Injuries, and then theſe Directions are intended for the preſerving the Peace of the Church; or of publick Scandals, and then they are intended for the preſerving of the Purity and Beauty of the Church. Let us conſider it both Ways.

Firſt, Let us apply it to the Quarrels that happen among Chriſtians upon any Account. If thy Brother treſpaſs againſt thee, by grieving thy Soul, 1 Cor. 8. 12. by affronting thee, or putting Contempt or Abuſe upon thee, if he blemiſh thy good Name by falſe Reports or Tale-bearing, if he encroach on thy Rights, or be any way injurious to thee in thy Eſtate; if he be guilty of any of thoſe Treſpaſſes that are inſtanc'd in, Lev. 6. 2, 3. If he tranſgreſs the Laws of Juſtice, Charity, or Relative Duties; theſe are Treſpaſſes againſt us, and often happen among Chriſt's Diſciples, and ſometimes for want of Prudence are of very ill Conſequence. Now obſerve what is the Rule preſcrib'd in this Caſe.

1. Go and tell him his Fault between him and thee alone. Let this be compar'd with and explain'd by Lev. 19. 17. Thou ſhalt not hate thy Brother in thy Heart, i. e. if thou haſt conceiv'd a Diſpleaſure at thy Brother for any Injury he hath done thee, do not ſuffer thy Reſentments to ripen into a ſecret Malice, like a Wound that's moſt dangerous, when it bleeds inwardly, but give Vent to them in a mild and grave Admonition, let them ſo ſpend themſelves, and they will expire the ſooner; do not go and rail againſt him behind his Back, but thou ſhall in any ways reprove him. If he has indeed done thee a conſide-

rable Wrong, endeavour to make him ſenſible of it, but let the Rebuke be private, between the and him alone; if thou would'ſt convince him, do not expoſe him, for that will but exaſperate him, and make the Reproof look like a Revenge. This agrees with Prov. 25. 8, 9. Go not forth haſtily to ſtrive, but debate thy Cauſe with thy Neighbour himſelf, argue it calmly and amicably, and if he ſhall hear thee, well and good, thou haſt gain'd thy Brother, there's an end of the Controverſie, and it's a happy End; let no more be ſaid of it, but let the falling out of Friends be the renewing of Friendſhip.

2. If he will not hear thee, if he will not own himſelf in a fault, nor come to an Agreement, yet do not deſpair, but try what he will ſay to it if thou take one or two more, not only to be Witneſſes of what paſſeth, but to reaſon the Caſe further with him; he will be the more likely to hearken to them becauſe they are diſintereſted; and if Reaſon will rule him, the Word of Reaſon, in the Mouth of two or three Witneſſes will be better ſpoken to him, (plus vident oculi quam oculus) and more regarded by him, and perhaps 'twill influence him to acknowledge his Error, and to ſay, I repent.

3. If he ſhall neglect to hear them, and will not refer the Matter to their Arbitration, then tell it to the Church, to the Miniſters, Elders, or other Officers, or the moſt conſiderable Perſons in the Congregation you belong to, make them the Referees to accommodate the Matter, and do not preſently appeal to the Magiſtrate, or fetch a Writ for him; this is fully explain'd by the Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 6. where he reproves thoſe that went to Law before the unjuſt, and not before the Saints, v. 1. and would have the Saints to judge thoſe ſmall Matters, v. 2. that pertain to this Life. v. 3. If you aſk who is the Church, that muſt be told, the Apoſtle directs there, v. 5. Is there not a wiſe Man among you? Thoſe of the Church that are preſum'd moſt capable of determining ſuch Matters; and he ſpeaks ironically, when he ſaith, v. 4. Set them to judge who are leaſt eſteemed in the Church; thoſe, if there be no better, thoſe, rather than ſuffer an irreconcileable Breach between two Church-Members. This Rule was then in a ſpecial manner requiſite, when the civil Government was in the hands of ſuch as were not only Aliens, but Enemies.

4. If he will not hear the Church, will not ſtand to their Award, but perſiſts in the Wrong he has done thee, and proceeds to do thee further Wrong, let him be to thee as an Heathen Man, and a Publican, take the Benefit of the Law againſt him, but let that always be the laſt Remedy; appeal not to the Courts of Juſtice till thou haſt firſt try'd all other Means to comprimiſe the Matter in variance. Or thou may'ſt, if thou wilt break off thy Friendſhip and Familiarity with him; tho' thou muſt by no means ſtudy Revenge, yet thou may'ſt chuſe whether thou wilt have any Dealings with him, at leaſt in ſuch a way as may give him an opportunity of doing the like again. Thou would'ſt have heal'd him, would'ſt have preſerv'd his Friendſhip, but he would not, and ſo has forfeited it: If a Man cheat, and abuſe me once, 'tis his fault, if twice, 'tis my own.

Secondly, Let us apply it to ſcandalous Sins, which are an offence to the little ones, of ill Example to thoſe that are weak and pliable, and of great grief to thoſe that are weak and timerous. Chriſt having taught us to indulge the weakneſs of our Brethren, here cautions us not to indulge their Wickedneſs under pretence of that. Chriſt deſigning to erect a Church for himſelf in the World, here took care for the Preſervation (1.) of its Purity, that it might have an expulſive Faculty, a Power to cleanſe and clear it ſelf, like a Fountain of living Waters, which is neceſſary as long as the Net of the Goſpel brings up both good Fiſh and bad. (2.) Of its Peace and Order, that every Member may know his Place and Duty, and the Purity of it may be preſerv'd in a regular way, and not tumultuouſly. Now let us ſee,

1. What is the Caſe ſuppos'd If thy Brother treſpaſs againſt thee. (1.) The Offender is a Brother, one that is in Chriſtian Communion, that is Baptized, that hears the Word, and Prays with thee, with whom thou joyneſt in the Worſhip of God, Statedly, or Occaſionally. Note, Church Diſcipline is for Church-Members. Them that are without, God judgeth, 1 Cor. 5. 12, 13. When any Treſpaſs is done againſt us, 'tis good to remember that the Treſpaſſer is a Brother, which furniſheth us with qualifying Conſideration. (2.) The Offence is a Treſpaſs againſt thee; if thy Brother Sin againſt thee, ſo the Word is; if he do any thing which is offenſive to thee as a Chriſtian. Note, A groſs Sin againſt God is a Treſpaſs againſt his People that have a true Concern for his Honour. Chriſt and Believers have twiſted Intereſts; what is done againſt them, Chriſt takes as done againſt himſelf, and what is done againſt him, they cannot but take as done againſt themſelves. The Reproacher of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me, Pſal. 69. 9.

2. What is to be done in this Caſe. We have here;

1. The Rules preſcrib'd, v. 15, 16, 17. Proceed in this Method.

(1.) Go and tell him his Fault between thee and him alone. Do not ſtay till he comes to thee, but go to him, as the Phyſician viſits the Patient, and the Shepherd goes after the loſt Sheep. Note, We ſhould think no Pains too much to take for the recovering of a Sinner to Repentance. Tell him his Fault, mind him of what he has done, and of the Evil of it, ſhew him his Abominations. Note, People are loth to ſee their Faults, and have need to be told of them. Tho' the Fact is plain, and the Fault too, yet they muſt be put together with Application. Great Sins often amuze Conſcience, and for the preſent ſtupifie and ſilence it, and there's need of help to awaken it. David's own Heart ſmote him when he had cut off Saul's Skirt, and when he had number'd the People, but (which is very ſtrange) we do not find that it ſmote him in the Matter of Uriah, till Nathan told him, Thou art the Man.

Tell him his Fault, ἔλεγξον αὐτὸν, argue the Caſe with him; ſo the word ſignifies, and do it with Reaſon and Argument, not with Paſſion. Where the Fault is plain and great, the Perſon proper for us to deal with, and we have an opportunity for it, and there is no apparent danger of doing more hurt than good; we muſt with Meekneſs and Faithfulneſs tell People of what is amiſs in them. Chriſtian Reproof is an Ordinance of Chriſt for the bringing of Sinners to Repentance, and muſt be manag'd as an Ordinance. Let the Reproof be private, between thee and him alone; that it may appear you ſeek not his Reproach but his Repentance. Note, it is a good Rule, which ſhould ordinarily be obſerv'd among Chriſtians, not to ſpeak of our Brethren's Faults to others, till we have firſt ſpoken of them to themſelves; this would make leſs Reproaching, and more Reproving, that is, leſs Sin committed, and more Duty done. It will be likely to work upon an Offender, when he ſees his Reprover concern'd, not only for his Salvation, in telling him his Fault, but for his Reputation in telling him of it privately.

If he ſhall hear thee, that is, heed thee, if he be wrought upon by the Reproof, it is well, thou haſt gain'd thy Brother, thou haſt help'd to ſave him from Sin and Ruin, and it will be thy Credit, and Comfort, James 5. 19, 20. Note, The Converting of a Soul is the winning of that Soul, Prov. 11. 30. And we ſhould covet it, and labour after it as Gain to us; and if the loſs of a Soul be a great Loſs, the gain of a Soul is ſure no ſmall Gain.

2. If that doth not prevail, then take with thee one or two more, v. 16. Note, We muſt not be weary of well-doing, tho' we ſee not preſently the good Succeſs of it. If he will not hear thee, yet do not give him up as in a deſperate Caſe; ſay not, it will be to no purpoſe to deal with him any further, but go on in the uſe of other Means, even thoſe that harden their Necks muſt be often reprov'd, and thoſe that oppoſe themſelves inſtructed in Meekneſs. In Work of this kind we muſt travel in Birth again, Gal. 4. 19. and it is after many Pains and Throws that the Child is born.

Take with thee one or two more (1.) to aſſiſt thee; they may ſpeak ſome pertinent convincing Word which thou didſt not think of, and may manage the Matter with more prudence than thou didſt. Note, Chriſtians ſhould ſee their Need of Help in doing good, and pray in the Aid one of another, as in other things, ſo in giving Reproofs, that the Duty may be done, and may be done well. (2.) To affect him; he will be the more likely to be humbled for his Fault, when he ſees it witneſſed againſt by two or three, Deut. 19. 15. Note, Thoſe ſhould think it high time to repent and reform that ſee their Miſcarriages become a general Offence and Scandal. Tho' in ſuch a World as this, 'tis rare to find one good whom all Men ſpeak well of, yet 'tis more rare to find one good whom all Men ſpeak ill of. (3.) To be witneſſes of his Carriage, in caſe the Matter ſhould afterwards be brought before the Church. None ſhould come under the Cenſure of the Church as Obſtinate and Contumacious, till it be very well prov'd that they are ſo.

3. If he neglect to hear them, and will not be humbled then, tell it the Church, v. 17. There are ſome ſtubborn Spirits, to whom the likelieſt Means of Conviction prove ineffectual, yet ſuch muſt not be given over as incurable, but let the Matter be made more publick, and further help call'd in. Note, 1. Private Admonitions muſt always go before publick Cenſures; if gentler Methods will do the Work, thoſe that are more rough and ſevere muſt not be us'd, Tit. 3. 10. Thoſe that will be reaſon'd out of their Sins, need not be ſhamed out of them. Let God's Work be done effectually, but with as little noiſe as may be, his Kingdom comes with Power, but not with Obſervation. But (2.) where private Admonition doth not prevail, here publick Cenſure muſt take place. The Church muſt receive the Complaints of the Offended, and rebuke the Sins of the Offenders, and judge between them, after an impartial Enquiry made into the Merits of the Cauſe.

Tell it to the Church. 'Tis a thouſand pities that this Appointment of Chriſt which was deſign'd to end Differences, and remove Offences, ſhould it ſelf be ſo much a Matter of Debate, and occaſion Differences and Offences through the Corruption of Men's Hearts. What Church muſt be told? is the great Queſtion; the civil Magiſtrate, ſay ſome, the Jewiſh Sanhedrin, then in being, ſay others; but by what follows, v. 18. 'tis plain he means a Chriſtian Church, which tho' not yet form'd, was now in the Embryo. Tell the Church, i. e. that particular Church, in the Communion of which the Offender liveth; make the Matter known to thoſe of that Congregation, who are by conſent appointed to receive Informations of that kind. Tell it to the Guides and Governours of the Church, the Miniſters, the Elders, or Deacons, or, (if ſuch the Conſtitution of the Society be) tell it to the Repreſentatives, or Heads of the Congregation, or to all the Members of it; let them examine the Matter, and if they find the Complaint; frivolous and groundleſs, let them rebuke the Complainant; if they find it juſt, let them rebuke the Offender, and call him to Repentance, and this will be likely to put an Edge, and an Efficacy upon the Reproof, becauſe given (1.) with greater Solemnity, and (2.) with greater Authority. 'Tis an awful thing to receive a Reproof from a Church, from a Miniſter, a Reprover by Office, and therefore the more regarded by ſuch as pay any deference to an Inſtitution of Chriſt and his Embaſſadors.

4. If he neglect to hear the Church, if he ſlight the Admonition, and will neither be aſham'd of his Faults, nor amend them, let him be unto thee as a heathen Man, and a Publican; let him be caſt out of the Communion of the Church, ſecluded from ſpecial Ordinances, degraded from the Dignity of a Church-member, let him be put under Diſgrace, and let the Members of the Society be warn'd to withdraw from him, that he may be aſham'd of his Sin, and they may not be infected by it, or chargeable with it. Thoſe who put Contempt on the Orders and Rules of a Society, and bring Reproach upon it, forfeit the Honours and Privileges of it, and are juſtly laid aſide till they repent and ſubmit, and reconcile themſelves to it again. Chriſt has appointed this Method for the vindicating of the Church's Honour, the preſerving of its Purity, and the Conviction and Reformation of thoſe that are ſcandalous. But obſerve, he doth not ſay, Let him be to thee as a Devil, or damned Spirit, as one whoſe caſe is deſperate, but as a Heathen and a Publican, as one in a capacity of being reſtor'd, and receiv'd in again. Count him not as an Enemy, but admoniſh him as a Brother. The Directions given to the Church of Corinth concerning the inceſtuous Perſon, agrees with the Rules here; he muſt be taken away from among them, 1 Cor. 5 2. muſt be deliver'd to Satan; for if he be caſt out of Chriſt's Kingdom, he is look'd upon as belonging to Satan's Kingdom, they muſt not keep company with him, v. 11. 13. But when by this he is humbled, and reclaim'd, he muſt be welcom'd into Communion again, and all ſhall be well.

2. Here's a Warrant ſign'd for the Ratification of all the Churches Proceedings according to theſe Rules, v. 18. What was ſaid before to Peter, is here ſaid to all the Diſciples, and in them to all the faithful Office-bearers in the Church to the World's end; while Miniſters preach the Word of Chriſt faithfully, and in their Government of the Church ſtrictly adhere to his Laws, clave non errante, they may be aſſur'd he will own them, and ſtand by them, and will rectify what they ſay and do, ſo that it ſhall be taken as ſaid, and done by himſelf. He will own them,

1. In their Sentence of Suſpenſion; Whatſoever ye ſhall bind on Earth, ſhall be bound in Heaven. If the Cenſures of the Church duly follow the Inſtitution of Chriſt, his Judgments will follow the Cenſures of the Church, his Spiritual Judgments which are the reſt of all other, ſuch as the rejected Jews fell under, Rom. 11. 8. a Spirit of Slumber; for Chriſt will not ſuffer his own Ordinances to be trampled upon, but will ſay, Amen to the righteous Sentences which the Church paſſeth on obſtinate Offenders. How light ſoever proud Scorners may make of the Cenſures of the Church, let them know that they are confirm'd in the Court of Heaven, and 'tis in vain for them to appeal to that Court, for Judgment is there already given againſt them. They that are ſhut out from the Congregation of the Righteous now, ſhall not ſtand in it in the great Day, Pſal. 1. 5. Chriſt will not own thoſe as his, nor receive them to himſelf whom the Church has duly deliver'd to Satan; but if through Error or Envy the Cenſure of the Church be unjuſt, Chriſt will graciouſly find thoſe who are ſo caſt out, John 9. 34, 35.

2. In their Sentence of Abſolution. Whatſoever ye ſhall looſe on Earth, ſhall be looſed in Heaven. Note, (1.) No Church-cenſures bind ſo faſt, but that upon the Sinners Repentance and Reformation they may, and muſt be looſed again. Sufficient is the Puniſhment which has attain'd its End, and the Offender muſt then be forgiven and comforted, 2 Cor. 2. 6. There's no unpaſſable Gulph fix'd but that between Hell and Heaven. (2.) Thoſe that upon their Repentance are received by the Church into Communion again, may take the comfort of their Abſolution in Heaven, if their Hearts be upright with God. As Suſpenſion is for the Terror of the Obſtinate, ſo Abſolution is for the Encouragement of the Penitent. St. Paul ſpeaks in the Perſon of Chriſt, when he ſaith, To whom ye forgive any thing, I forgive alſo, 2 Cor. 2. 10.

Now 'tis a great Honour which Chriſt here puts upon the Church, that he will condeſcend, not only to take cognizance of their Sentences, but to confirm them; and in the following Verſes we have two things laid down as the Ground of this.

1. God's readineſs to anſwer the Church's Prayers, v. 19. If two of you ſhall agree harmoniouſly, touching any thing that they ſhall ask, it ſhall be done for them. Apply this,

(1.) In general, to all the Requeſts of the faithful praying Seed of Jacob, they ſhall not ſeek God's Face in vain. Many Promiſes we have in Scripture of a gracious Anſwer to the Prayers of Faith, but this here gives a particular Encouragement to Joynt-Prayer; the Requeſts which two of you agree in, much more which many agree in. No Law of Heaven limits the number of Petitioners. Note, Chriſt has been pleas'd to put an Honour upon, and to allow a ſpecial Efficacy in the Joynt Prayers of the Faithful, and the common Supplications they make to God. If they joyn in the ſame Prayer, if they meet by appointment to come together to the Throne of Grace on ſome ſpecial Errand, or tho' at a diſtance agree in ſome particular Matter of Prayer, they ſhall ſpeed well. Beſides the general regard God has to the Prayers of the Saints, he is particularly pleas'd with their Union and Communion in thoſe Prayers. See 2 Chron. 5. 13. Acts 4. 24.

(2.) In particular, to theſe Requeſts that are put up to God about Binding and Looſing; to which this Promiſe ſeems more eſpecially to refer. Obſerve, (1.) That the Power of Church-Diſcipline is not here lodg'd in the hand of a ſingle Perſon, but two at leaſt are ſuppos'd to be concern'd in it. When the inceſtuous Corinthian was to be caſt out, the Church was gather'd together, 1 Cor. 5. 4. and it was a Puniſhment inflicted of many, 2 Cor. 2. 6. In an Affair of ſuch Importance, two are better than one, and in multitude of Counſellors there is ſafety. (2.) It is good to ſee thoſe that have the management of Church-Diſcipline agreeing in it. Heats and Animoſities among them, whoſe Work it is to remove Offences, will be the greateſt Offence of all. (3.) Prayer muſt evermore go along with Church-Diſcipline. Paſs no Sentence, which you cannot in Faith ask of God to confirm. The Binding and Looſing ſpoken of, Chap. 16. 17. was done by Preaching, this by Praying. Thus the whole Power of Goſpel-Miniſters is reſolv'd into the Word and Prayer, to which they muſt wholly give themſelves. He doth not ſay, If you ſhall agree to Sentence and Decree a thing, it ſhall be done; as if Miniſters were Judges and Lords, but if you agree to ask it of God, from him you ſhall obtain it. Prayer muſt go along with all our Endeavours for the Converſion of Sinners; ſee James 5. 16. (4.) The unanimous Petitions of the Church of God for the Ratification of their juſt Cenſures ſhall be heard in Heaven, and obtain an Anſwer. It ſhall be done, it ſhall be bound and looſed in Heaven; God will ſet his Fiat to the Appeals and Applications you make to him. If Chriſt, (who here ſpeaks as one having Authority) ſay it ſhall be done, we may be aſſur'd it is done, tho' we ſee not the effect in that way that we look for it. God doth eſpecially own and accept us when we are praying for thoſe that have offended him and us. The Lord turn'd the Captivity of Job, not when he pray'd for himſelf, but when he pray'd for his Friends, who had treſpaſſed againſt him.

2. The Preſence of Chriſt in the Aſſemblies of Chriſtians, v. 20. Every Believer hath the Preſence of Chriſt with him, but where two or three are gather'd in his Name, not only for Diſcipline, but for Religious Worſhip, or any Act of Chriſtian Communion. Meetings of Chriſtians for holy Purpoſes are hereby appointed, directed and encourag'd.

1. They are hereby appointed; the Church of Chriſt in the World exiſts moſt viſibly in Religious Aſſemblies, which it is the Will of Chriſt ſhould be ſet up, and kept up for the Honour of God, the Edification of Men, and the preſerving of a Face of Religion upon the World. When God intends ſpecial Anſwers to Prayer, he calls for a ſolemn Aſſembly, Joel 2. 15, 16. If there be no liberty and opportunity for large and numerous Aſſemblies, yet then 'tis the Will of God that two or three ſhould gather together to ſhew their Good-will to the great Congregation. Note, When we cannot do what we would in Religion, we muſt do as we can, and God will accept us.

2. They are hereby directed to gather together in Chriſt's Name. In the Exerciſe of Church-Diſcipline they muſt come together in the Name of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 5. 4. That Name gives what they do an Authority on Earth, and an Acceptableneſs in Heaven. In meeting for Worſhip we muſt have an Eye to Chriſt; muſt come together by virtue of his Warrant and Appointment, in token of our Relation to him, profeſſing Faith in him, and in Communion with all that in every place call upon him. When we come together to worſhip God in a dependance upon the Spirit and Grace of Chriſt as Mediator for Aſſiſtance, and upon his Merit and Righteouſneſs as Mediator for Acceptance, having an actual Regard to him as our way to the Father, and our Advocate with the Father, then we are met together in his Name.

3. They are hereby encouraged with an aſſurance of the Preſence of Chriſt, there am I in the midſt of them. By his common Preſence, he is in all Places as God, but this is a Promiſe of his ſpecial Preſence; where his Saints are, his Sanctuary is, and there he will dwell, 'tis his Reſt, Pſal. 132. 14. 'tis his Walk, Rev. 2. 1. he is in the midſt of them, to quicken and ſtrengthen them, to refreſh and comfort them, as the Sun in the midſt of the Univerſe. He is in the midſt of them, i. e. in their Hearts, 'tis a ſpiritual Preſence, the Preſence of Chriſt's Spirit with their Spirit that is here intended, There am I, not only I will be there, but I am there, as if he came firſt, is ready before them, they ſhall find him there; he repeated this Promiſe at parting, Mat. 28. 20. Lo, I am with you always. Note, The Preſence of Chriſt in the Aſſemblies of Chriſtians is promis'd, and may in Faith be pray'd for, and depended on; there am I. This is equivalent to the Schechinah, or ſpecial Preſence of God in the Tabernacle and Temple of old, Exod. 40. 24. 2 Chron. 5. 14.

Tho' but two or three are met together, Chriſt is among them; this is an encouragement to the meeting of a few, when it is either (1.) of Choice. Beſides the ſecret Worſhip perform'd by particular Perſons, and the publick Services of the whole Congregation, there may be occaſion ſometimes for two or three to come together, either for mutual aſſiſtance in Conference, or Joynt Aſſiſtance in Prayer, not in contempt of publick Worſhip, but in concurrence with it, there Chriſt will be preſent. Or, (2.) by Conſtraint; when there are not more than two or three to come together, or if there be, they dare not for fear of the Jews, yet Chriſt will be in the midſt of them; for it is not the Multitude, but the Faith and ſincere Devotion of the Worſhippers that invites the Preſence of Chriſt; and tho' there be but two or three, the ſmalleſt number that can be, yet if Chriſt make one among them, who is the principal one, their Meeting is as honourable and comfortable, as if they were two or three thouſand.

21 Then came Peter to him, and ſaid, Lord, how oft ſhall my brother ſin againſt me, and I forgive him? till ſeven times? 22 Jeſus ſaith unto him, I ſay not unto thee, Until ſeven times: but until ſe-venty times ſeven. 23 Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king which would take an account of his ſervants. 24 And when he had

had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him which ought him ten thouſand talents. 25 But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be ſold, and his wiſe and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made. 26 The ſervant therefore fell down and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. 27 Then the lord of that ſervant was moved with compaſſion, and looſed him, and forgave him the debt. 28 But the ſame ſervant went out, and found one of his fellow-ſervants which ought him an hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, ſaying, Pay me that thou oweſt. 20 And his fellow-ſervant fell down at his feet, and beſought him, ſaying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. 30 And he would not: but went and caſt him into priſon, till he ſhould pay the debt. 31 So when his fellow-ſervants ſaw what was done, they were very ſorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done. 32 Then his lord, after that he had called him, ſaid unto him, O thou wicked ſervant, I forgave thee all that debt, becauſe thou deſiredſt me: 33 Shouldſt not thou alſo have had compaſſion on thy fellow-ſervant, even as I had pity on thee? 34 And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he ſhould pay all that was due unto him, 35 So likewiſe ſhall my heavenly father do alſo unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their treſpaſſes.

This part of the Diſcourſe concerning Offences, is certainly to be underſtood of perſonal Wrongs, which it is in our Power to forgive. Now obſerve,

1. Peter's Queſtion concerning this Matter, v. 21. Lord, how oft ſhall my Brother treſpaſs againſt me, and I forgive him? Will it ſuffice to do it ſeven times.

1. He takes it for granted, that he muſt forgive; Chriſt had before taught his Diſciples this Leſſon, Mat. 6. 14, 15. and Peter has not forgot it. He knows he muſt not only not bear a Grudge againſt his Brother, or meditate Revenge, but he muſt be as good a Friend as ever, and forget the Injury.

2. He thinks it a great matter to forgive till ſeven times, he means not ſeven times a Day, as Chriſt ſaid, Luke 17. 4. but ſeven times in his Life; ſuppoſing, that if a Man had any way abus'd him ſeven times, tho' he were never ſo deſirous to be reconcil'd, he might then abandon his Society, and have no more to do with him. Perhaps Peter had an eye to, Prov. 24. 16. A juſt Man falleth ſeven times; or to the mention of three Tranſgreſſions, and four, which God would no more paſs by, Amos 2 1. Note, There is a Proneſs in our corrupt Nature to ſtint our ſelves in that which is good, and to be afraid of doing too much in Religion, particularly of forgiving too much, tho' we have ſo much forgiven us.

2. Chriſt's direct Anſwer to Peter's Queſtion. I ſay not unto thee till ſeven times, never intended to ſet up any ſuch bounds, but until ſeventy times ſeven, a certain number for an indefinite one, but a great one. Note, It doth not look well for us to keep count of the Offences done againſt us by our Brethren: There is ſomething of ill Nature in ſcoring up the Injuries we forgive, as if we would allow our ſelves to be reveng'd when the Meaſure is full. God keeps an account, Deut. 32. 34. becauſe he is the Judge, and Vengeance is his; but we muſt not, leſt we be found ſtepping into his Throne. It is neceſſary to the Preſervation of Peace both within and without, to paſs by Injuries, without reckoning how often; to forgive and forget. God multiplies his Pardons, and ſo ſhould we, Pſal. 78. 38. 40. It intimates that we ſhould make it our conſtant practice to forgive Injuries, and ſhould accuſtom our ſelves to it till it becomes habitual.

3. A further Diſcourſe of our Saviour's, by way of Parable, to ſhew the Neceſſity of forgiving the Injuries that are done to us. Parables are of uſe, not only for the explaining of Chriſtian Doctrines, but for the preſſing of Chriſtian Duties; for they make and leave an Impreſſion. The Parable is a Comment upon the fifth Petition of the Lord's Prayer, Forgive us our Treſpaſſes, as we forgive them that treſpaſs againſt us. Thoſe, and thoſe only may expect to be forgiven of God, who forgive their Brethren. The Parable repreſents the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. the Church and the Adminiſtration of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation in it. The Church is God's Family, 'tis his Court, there he dwells, there he rules, God is our Maſter, his Servants we are, at leaſt in Profeſſion and Obligation. In general, the Parable intimates how much Provocation God has from his Family on Earth, and how untoward his Servants are.

There are three Things in the Parable.

Firſt, The Maſter's wonderful Clemency to his Servant who was indebted to him, he forgave him ten thouſand Talents out of pure Compaſſion to him, v. 23—27. Where obſerve,

1. Every Sin we commit is a Debt to God; not like a Debt to an equal, contracted by Buying, or Borrowing, but to a Superior, like a Debt to a Prince when a Recognizance is forfeited, or a Penalty incur'd by a Breach of the Law, or Breach of the Peace; like this Debt of a Servant to his Maſter, by witholding his Service, waſting his Lord's Goods, breaking his Indentures, and incurring the Penalty. We are all Debtors, we owe Satisfaction, and are liable to the Proceſs of the Law.

2. There is an account kept of theſe Debts, and we muſt ſhortly be reckon'd with for them. This King would take account of his Servants. God now reckons with us by our own Conſciences; Conſcience is an Auditor for God in the Soul, to call us to account, and to account with us. One of the firſt Queſtions that an awaken'd Chriſtian asks, is, How much oweſt thou unto my Lord? And unleſs it be brib'd it will tell the truth, and not write fifty for a hundred. There is another Day of reckoning coming, when theſe Accounts will be call'd over, and either paſs'd or diſallow'd, and nothing but the Blood of Chriſt will ballance the Account.

3. The Debt of Sin is a very great Debt, and ſome are more in debt, by reaſon of Sin than others. When he began to reckon, one of the firſt Fore-faulters appear'd to owe ten thouſand Talents. There's no evading the Enquiries of Divine Juſtice, your Sin will be ſure to find you out. The Debt was ten Thouſand Talents, a vaſt Sum, amounting by Computation to one Million, eight hundred, ſeventy five thouſand Pounds Sterling, a King's Ranſom, or a Kingdoms Subſidy, more likely than a Servant's Debt; ſee what our Sins are; (1.) For the Heinouſneſs of their Nature they are Talents, the greateſt Denomination that ever was us'd in the account of Money or Weight. Every Sin is the Load of a Talent, a Talent of Lead, this is Wickedneſs, Zech. 5. 7, 8. The Truſts committed to us as Stewards of the Grace of God, are each of them a Talent, Mat 25. 15. a Talent of Gold, and for every one of them bury'd, much more for every one of them waſted we are a Talent in debt, and this raiſes the Account. (2.) For the vaſtneſs of their Number, they are ten Thouſand, a Myriad, more than the Hairs on our Head, Pſal. 40. 12. who can underſtand the number of his Errors, or tell how oft he offends, Pſal. 19. 12.

4. The Debt of Sin is ſo great, that we are not able to pay it, he had not to pay: Sinners are Inſolvent Debtors, the Scripture which concludeth all under Sin is a Statute of Bankrupt againſt us all. Silver and Gold would not pay our Debt, Pſal. 49. 6, 7. Sacrifice and Offering would not do it, our good Works are but God's Work in us, and cannot make Satisfaction; we are without Strength, and cannot help our ſelves.

5. if God would deal with us in ſtrict Juſtice, we ſhould be condemn'd as Inſolvent Debtors, and God might exact the Debt by glorifying himſelf in our utter Ruin. Juſtice demands Satisfaction, currat Lex, Let the Sentence of the Law be executed. The Servant had contracted this Debt by his waſtefulneſs and wilfulneſs, and therefore might juſtly be left to lie by it. His Lord commanded him to be ſold as a Bondſlave into the Gallies, ſold to grind in the Priſon-houſe, his Wife and Children to be ſold, and all that he had and Payment to be made. See here what every Sin deſerves, this is the Wages of Sin (1.) to be ſold. Thoſe that ſell themſelves to work Wickedneſs, muſt be ſold to make Satisfaction. Captives to Sin are Captives to Wrath. He that is ſold for a Bondſlave is depriv'd of all his Comforts, and has nothing left him but his Life, that he may be ſenſible of his Miſeries; which is the Caſe of damned Sinners. (2.) Thus he would have Payment to be made, i. e. ſomething done towards it; tho' 'tis impoſſible that the Sale of one ſo worthleſs ſhould amount to the Payment of ſo great a Debt. By the Damnation of Sinners Divine Juſtice will be to Eternity in the ſatisfying, but never ſatisfied.

6. Convinced Sinners cannot but humble themſelves before God, and pray for Mercy. The Servant under this Charge, and this Doom, fell down at the Feet of his Royal Maſter, and worſhipped him; or as ſome Copies reads it, he beſought himſelf; his Addreſs was very ſubmiſſive, and very importunate, have patience with me and I will pay thee all, v. 26. The Servant knew before that he was ſo much in Debt, and yet was under no Concern about it, till he was call'd to an account. Sinners are commonly careleſs about the Pardon of their Sins, till they come under the Arreſts of ſome awakening Word, ſome ſtartling Providence, or an approaching Death, and then wherewith ſhall I come before the Lord? Mich. 6. 6. How eaſily, how quickly can God bring the proudeſt Sinner to his Feet, Ahab to his Sacloth, Manaſſeh to his Prayers, Pharaoh to his Confeſſions, Judas to his Reſtitution, Simon Magus to his Supplication, Belſhazzar and Felix to their Tremblings; the ſtouteſt Heart will truckle when God ſets the Sins in order before it. This Servant doth not deny the Debt, nor ſeek occaſions, or go about to abſcond.

But (1.) He begs Day; have patience with me. Patience and Forbearance is a great Favour, but it's Folly to think that that alone will ſave us; Reprieves are not Pardons. Many are born that are not thereby brought to Repentance, Rom. 2. 4. and then their being born with doth them no kindneſs.

(2.) He promiſeth Payment. Have Patience a while, and I will pay thee all. Note, It is the Folly of many that are under Convictions of Sin, to imagine that they can make God Satisfaction for the Wrong they have done him; as thoſe, that like a compounding Bankrupt would diſcharge the Debt, by giving their firſt born for their Tranſgreſſion, Mic. 6. 7. that go about to eſtabliſh their own Righteouſneſs, Rom. 10. 3. He that had nothing to pay, v. 25. yet fancied he could pay all: See how cloſe Pride ſticks, even to awaken'd Sinners; they are convinced, but not humbled.

7. The God of infinite Mercy is very ready out of pure Compaſſion to forgive the Sins of thoſe that humble themſelves before him, v. 27. The Lord of that Servant, when he might juſtly have ruin'd him, mercifully releas'd him, and ſince he could not be ſatisfied by the Payment of the Debt, he would be glorified by the Pardon of it. The Servant's Prayer was, Have patience with me: the Maſter's Grant is a Diſcharge in full. Note, 1. The Pardon of Sin is owing to the Mercy of God, to his tender Mercy, Luke 1. 77, 78. He was moved with Compaſſion. God's Reaſons of Mercy are fetch'd from within himſelf. He has Mercy becauſe he will have Mercy. God look'd with Pity on Mankind in general, becauſe miſerable, and ſent his Son to be a Surety for them; he looks with Pity on particular Penitents, becauſe ſenſible of their Miſery, their Hearts broken and contrite, and accepts them in the beloved. 2. There is Forgiveneſs with God for the greateſt Sins, if they be repented of. Tho' the Debt was vaſtly great he forgave it all, v. 32. Tho' our Sins be very numerous, and very heinous, yet upon Goſpel-Terms they may be pardon'd. 3. The forgiving of the Debt is the looſing of the Debtor. He looſed him. The Obligation is cancell'd, the Judgment vacated, we never walk at liberty till our Sins are forgiven. But obſerve, tho' he diſcharg'd him from the Penalty as a Debtor, he did not diſcharge him from his Duty as a Servant. The Pardon of Sin doth not ſlacken, but ſtrengthen our Obligations to Obedience. And we muſt reckon it a Favour that God is pleas'd to continue ſuch waſteful Servants as we have been in ſuch a gainful Service as his is, and ſhould therefore deliver us that we might ſerve him, Luke 1. 74. I am thy Servant, for thou haſt looſed my Bonds.

Secondly, The Servants unreaſonable Severity towards his Fellow-Servant, notwithſtanding his Lord's Clemency towards him, v. 28, 29, 30. This repreſents the Sin of thoſe, who, tho' they are not unjuſt in demanding that which is not their own, yet are rigorous and unmerciful in demanding that which is their own; to the utmoſt of Right, which ſometimes proves a real Wrong. Summum jus ſumma injuria. To exact Satisfaction for Debts of Injury, which tend neither to reparation, nor to the publick Good, but purely for Revenge; tho' the Law may allow it in terrorem, and for the Hardneſs of Men's Hearts, yet ſavours not of a Chriſtian Spirit. To ſue for Money-Debts when the Debtor cannot poſſibly pay them, and ſo to let him rot in Priſon, argues a greater love of Money, and a leſs love of our Neighbour than we ought to have, Neh. 5. 7.

See here, 1. How ſmall the Debt was, how very ſmall, compar'd with the ten thouſand Talents which his Lord forgave him. He ow'd him a hundred Pence, about three Pounds and half a Crown of our Money. Note, Offences done to Men are nothing to thoſe which are committed againſt God. Diſhonours done to a Man like our ſelves are but as Pence, Motes, Gnats, but Diſhonours done to God are as Talents, Beams, Camels. Not that therefore we may make light of wronging our Neighbour, for that's alſo a Sin againſt God; but therefore we ſhould make light of our Neighbours wronging us, and not aggravate it, or ſtudy Revenge. David was unconcern'd at the Indignities done to him, I as a deaf Man heard not, but laid much to Heart the Sins committed againſt God, for them Rivers of Tears run down his Eyes.

2. How ſevere the Demand was; he laid Hands on him, and took him by the Throat. Proud and angry Men think if the Matter of their Demand be juſt, that will bear them out, tho' the manner of it be never ſo cruel and unmerciful, but it will not hold. What needed all this Violence? The Debt might have been demanded without taking the Debtor by the Throat, without ſending for a Writ, or ſetting the Bayliff upon him. How Lordly is this Man's Carriage, and yet how baſe and ſervile is his Spirit. If he had been himſelf going to Priſon for his Debt to his Lord, his Occaſions would have been ſo preſſing, that he might have had ſome pretence for going to this extremity in requiring his own; but many times Pride and Malice prevail more to make Men ſevere than the moſt urgent Neceſſity would do.

3. How ſubmiſſive the Debtor was. His fellow Servant, tho' his Equal, yet knowing how much he lay at his Mercy, fell down at his Feet, and humbled himſelf to him for this trifling Debt, as much as he did to his Lord for that great Debt, for the Borrower is Servant to the Lender, Prov. 22. 7. Note, Thoſe that cannot pay their Debts, yet ought to be very reſpectful to their Creditors, and not only give them good words, but do them all the good Offices they poſſibly can. They muſt not be angry at thoſe who claim their own, nor ſpeak ill of them for it, no, not tho' they do it in a rigorous manner but in that caſe leave it to God to plead their Cauſe. The poor Man's Requeſt is, Have patience with me; he honeſtly confeſſeth the Debt, and puts not his Creditor to the charge of proving it, only begs time. Note, Forbearance, 'tho it be no Acquittance, is ſometimes a piece of needful and laudable Charity. As we muſt not be hard, ſo we muſt not be haſty in our Demands, but think how long God bears with us.

4. How implacable and furious the Creditor was, v. 30. He would not have patience with him, would not hearken to his fair Promiſe, but without Mercy caſt him into Priſon. How inſolently did he trample upon one as good as himſelf that ſubmitted to him? How cruelly did he uſe one that had done him no harm, and tho' it would be no advantage to himſelf? In this, as in a Glaſs, unmerciful Creditors may ſee their own Faces, who take pleaſure in nothing more than to ſwallow up and to deſtroy, 2 Sam. 20. 19. and glory in having their poor Debtor's Bones.

5. How much concern'd the reſt of the Servants were, they were very ſorry, v. 31. ſorry for the Creditor's Cruelty, and for the Debtor's Calamity. Note, The Sins and Sufferings of our Fellow-ſervants ſhould be matter of Grief and Trouble to us. 'Tis ſad that any of our Brethren ſhould either make themſelves Beaſts of Prey by Cruelty and Barbarity, or be made Beaſts of Slavery by the inhuman Uſage of thoſe that have Power over them. To ſee a Fellow-ſervant either raging like a Bear, or trampled on like a Worm, cannot but occaſion great Regret to all that have any Jealouſie for the Honour, either of their Nature, or of their Religion. See with what Eye Solomon look'd both upon the Tears of the Oppreſſed, and the Power of the Oppreſſors, Eccl. 4. 4. 1.

6. How the notice of it was brought to the Maſter, they come and told their Lord. They durſt not reprove their Fellow-ſervant for it, he was ſo unreaſonable and outragious. Let a Bear rob'd of her Whelps meet a Man, rather than ſuch a Fool in his Folly; but they went to their Lord, and beſought him to appear for the Oppreſſed againſt the Oppreſſor. Note, That which gives us occaſion for Sorrow ſhould give us occaſion for Prayer. Let our Complaints, both of the Wickedneſs of the Wicked, and of the Afflictions of the Afflicted be brought to God, and left with him.

Thirdly, The Maſter's juſt Reſentment of the Cruelty his Servant was guilty of. If the Servant took it ſo heinouſly much more would the Maſter, whoſe Compaſſions are infinitely above ours. Now obſerve here,

1. How he reprov'd his Servant's Cruelty, v. 32, 33. O thou wicked Servant. Note, Unmercifulneſs is Wickedneſs, 'tis great Wickedneſs. (1.) He upbraids him with the Mercy he had found with his Maſter. I forgave thee all that Debt. Thoſe that will uſe God's Favours ſhall never be upbraided with them, but they that abuſe them may expect it, Mat. 11. 20. Conſider, it was all that Debt, that great Debt. Note, The greatneſs of Sin magnifies the Riches of pardoning Mercy. We ſhould think how much has been forgiven us, Luke 7. 47. (2.) He thence ſhews him the Obligation he was under to be merciful to his Fellow-ſervant. Should'ſt not thou alſo have had compaſſion on thy Fellow-ſervant, even as I had pity on thee? Note, It's juſtly expected, that ſuch as have receiv'd Mercy, ſhould ſhew Mercy. Dat ille veniam facile cui venia eſt opus. Senec. Agam. He ſhews him, (1.) That he ſhould have been more compaſſionate to the Diſtreſs of his Fellow-ſervant, becauſe he had himſelf experienced the ſame Diſtreſs. What we have had the feeling of our ſelves, we can the better have the Fellow-feeling of with our Brethren. The Iſraelites know the Heart of a Stranger for they were Strangers; and this Servant ſhould have better known the Heart of an arreſted Debtor, than to have been thus hard upon ſuch a one. (2.) That he ſhould have been more conformable to the Example of his Maſter's Tenderneſs, having himſelf experienc'd it ſo much to his Advantage. Note, The comfortable Senſe of pardoning Mercy tends much to the diſpoſing of our Hearts to forgive our Brethren. It was in the cloſe of the Day of Atonement that the Jubilee Trumpet ſounded a Releaſe of Debts, Lev. 25. 9. For we muſt have compaſſion on our Brethren as God has on us.

2. How he revok'd his Pardon, and cancell'd the Acquittance, ſo that the Judgment againſt him reviv'd, v. 34. He deliver'd him to the Tempters, till he ſhould pay all that was due unto him. Tho' the Wickedneſs was very great, his Lord laid upon him no other Puniſhment but the Payment of his own Debt, Note, Thoſe that will not come up to the Terms of the Goſpel, need be no more miſerable than to be left open to the Law, and to let that have its courſe againſt them. See how the Puniſhment anſwers the Sin; he that would not forgive ſhall not be forgiven. He deliver'd him to the Tormentors; the utmoſt he could do to his Fellow-ſervant, was but to caſt him into Priſon, but he was himſelf deliver'd to the Tormentors. Note, The Power of God's Wrath to ruin us, goes far beyond the utmoſt extent of any Creatures Strength and Wrath. The Reproaches and Terrors of his own Conſcience would be his Tormentors, for that's a Worm that dies not; Devils, the Executioners of God's Wrath that are Sinners Temptors, now will be their Tormentors, for ever. He was ſent to Bridewell till he ſhould pall all. Note, Our Debts to God are never Compounded, either all is forgiven, or all is exacted: Glorified Saints in Heaven are pardon'd all through Chriſt's compleat Satisfaction; damned Sinners in Hell are paying all that is, are puniſh'd for all. The Offence done to God by Sin is in point of Honour, which cannot be compounded for without ſuch a Diminution as the Caſe will by no means admit, and therfore ſome way or other, by the Sinner, or by his Surety it muſt be ſatisfied.

Laſtly, Here is the Reddition of the whole Parable, v. 35. So likewiſe ſhall my heavenly Father do unto you. The Title Chriſt here gives to God was made uſe of, v. 19. in a comfortable Promiſe, it ſhall be done for them of my Father which is in Heaven; here 'tis made uſe of in a terrible Threatning. If God's Government be Fatherly, it follows thence that it is not Righteous, but it doth not therefore follow that it is not Rigorous, or that under his Government we muſt not be kept in awe by the fear of Divine Wrath. When we pray to God as our Father in Heaven, we are taught to aſk for the Forgiveneſs of Sins as we forgive our Debtors. Obſerve here,

1. The Duty of Forgiving, we muſt from our Hearts forgive. Note, We do not forgive our offending Brother aright, nor acceptably if we do not forgive from the Heart; for that's it that God looks at. No

Malice muſt be harbour'd there, or Ill-will to any Perſon, one or another; no projects of Revenge muſt be hatch'd there, or deſires of it, as there are in many who outwardly appear peaceable and reconcil'd. Yet this is not enough, we muſt from the Heart deſire and endeavour the Welfare, even of thoſe that have offended us.

2. The danger of not forgiving, ſo ſhall your Heavenly Father do. (1.) This is not intended to teach us that God reverſeth his Pardons to any, but that he denies them to thoſe that are unqualified for them, according to the Tenor of the Goſpel, tho' having ſeemd to be humbled like Ahab, they thought themſelves, and others thought them in a Pardon'd State, and they made bold with the Comfort of it. Intimations enough we have in Scripture of the Forfeiture of Pardons for Caution to the Preſumptuous, and yet ſecurity enough of the continuance of them for Comfort to thoſe that are ſincere, but timorous, that the one may fear, and the other may hope. Thoſe that do not forgive their Brother's Treſpaſſes, did never truly repent of their own, nor ever truly believe the Goſpel; and therefore that which is taken away is only that they ſeemed to have, Luke 8. 13. (2.) This is intended to teach us, that they ſhall have Judgement without Mercy that have ſhewd no Mercy, Jam. 2. 13. It is indiſpenſibly neceſſary to Pardon and Peace, that we not only do juſtly, but love Mercy. It is an eſſential Part of that Religion which is pure and undefiled before God and the Father of that Wiſdom from above which is gentle and eaſie to be intreated. Look how they will anſwer, it another day, who, tho' they bear the Chriſtian Name, Perſiſt in the moſt rigorous and unmerciful Treatment of their Brethern, as if the ſtricteſt Laws of Chriſt might be diſpens'd with for the gratifying of their unbridled Paſſions, and ſo they curſe themſelves every time they ſay the Lord's Prayer.

CHAP. XIX.

In this Chapter we have (1.) Chriſt changing his Quarters, leaving Galilee, and coming into the Coaſts of Judea, v. 1. 2. (2.) His Diſpute with the Phariſees about Divorce, and his Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon occaſion of it, v. 3.—12. (3.) The kind Entertainment he gave to ſome little Children which were brought to him, v. 13.—15. (4.) An account of what paſs'd between Chriſt and a hopeful young Gentleman that apply'd himſelf to him, v. 16.—22. (5.) His Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon that occaſion, concerning the Difficulty of the Salvation of thoſe that have much in the World, and the certain Recompence of thoſe that leave all for Chriſt, v. 23.—30.

AND it came to paſs, that when Jeſus had finiſhed theſe ſayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coaſts of Judea, beyond Jordon: 2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

We have here an account of Chriſt's Remove. Obſerve,

1. He left Galilee. There he had been brought up, and had ſpent the greateſt part of his Life in that remote deſpicable part of the Country; 'twas only upon occaſion of the Feaſts that he came up to Jeruſalem, and Manifeſted himſelf, there; and we may ſuppoſe, that having no conſtant Reſidence there, when he did come his Preaching and Miracles were the more obſervable and acceptable. But it was an Inſtance of his Humiliation, and in this, as in other things he appear'd mean, that he would go under the Character of a Galilean, a North-Country Man, the leaſt polite and refin'd part of the Nation. Moſt of Chriſt's Sermons hitherto had been Preach'd, and Moſt of his Miracles wrought in Galilee; but now having finiſhed theſe ſayings, he departed from Galilee, and it was his final Farewel; for (unleſs his paſſing through the midſt of Samaria and Galilee, Luke 17. 11. was after this, which yet was but a Viſit in tranſitu) he never came to Galilee again till after his Reſurrection; which makes this Tranſition very remarkable; Chriſt did not take his leave of Galilee till he had done his Work there, and then he departed thence. Note, As Chriſt's faithful Miniſters are not taken out of the World, ſo they are not remov'd from any place till they have finiſhed their Teſtimony in that place, Rev. 11. 7. This is very comfortable to thoſe that follow not their own Humours, but God's Providence in their Removes, that their Sayings ſhall be finiſhed before they depart. And who would deſire to continue any where, longer than he has Work to do for God there?

2. He came into the Coaſts of Judea, beyond Jordan, that they might have their Day of Viſitation as well as Galilee, for they alſo belong'd to the loſt Sheep of the houſe of Iſrael. But ſtill Chriſt kept to thoſe Parts of Canaan that lay towards other Nations, Galilee is call'd Galilee of the Gentiles, and the Syrians dwelt beyond Jordan: Thus Chriſt intimated, that while he kept within the Confines of the Jewiſh Nation he had his eye upon the Gentiles, and his Goſpel was aiming and coming towards them.

3. Great Multitudes followed him; where Shilo is, there will the gathering of the People be. The Redeemed of the Lord are ſuch as follow the Lamp whitherſoever he goes, Rev. 14. 4. When Chriſt departs, it's beſt for us to follow him. It was a piece of reſpect to Chriſt, and yet it was a continual Trouble to be thus crowded after wherever he went; but he ſought not his own Eaſe, nor conſidering how mean and contemptible this Mob was, (as ſome would call them) his own Honour much, in the eye of the World, he went about doing Good; for ſo it follows, he healed them there. This ſhews what they follow'd him for, to have their Sick heal'd, and they found him as able and ready to help here as he had been in Galilee; for wherever this Son of Righteouſneſs aroſe, it was with healing under his Wings. He healed them there, becauſe he would not have them follow him to Jeruſalem, leſt it ſhould give Offence. He ſhall not ſtrive, nor cry.

3 The Phariſees alſo came unto him, tempting him, and ſaying unto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cauſe? 4 And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female? 5 And he ſaid, For this cauſe ſhall a man leave father and mother, and ſhall cleave to his wife; and they twain ſhall be one fleſh. 6 Wherefore they are no more twain, but one fleſh, What therefore God hath joyned together, let not man put aſunder. 7 They ſay unto him, Why did Moſes then command to give a writing of divorcement and to put her away? 8 He ſaith unto them, Moſes, becauſe of the hardneſs of your hearts, ſuffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not ſo. 9 And I ſay unto you, Whoſoever ſhall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and ſhall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoſo marrieth her which is put away, doth commit adultery. 10 His diſciples ſay unto him, If the caſe of a man be ſo with his wife, it is not good to marry. 11 But he ſaid unto them, All men cannot receive this ſaying, ſave they to whom it is given. 12 For there are ſome eunuchs, which were ſo born from their mothers womb: and there are ſome eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themſelves eunuchs for the kingdom of heavens ſake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it.

We have here the Law of Chriſt in the Caſe of Divorce, occaſion'd as ſome other Declarations of his Will by a Diſpute with the Phariſees, ſo patiently did he endure the Contradiction of Sinners, that he turn'd it into Inſtructions to his own Diſciples. Obſerve, here.

Firſt, The Caſe propos'd by the Phariſees, v. 13. Is it lawful for a Man to put away his Wife? This they ask'd, tempting him, not deſiring to be taught by him. Some time ago he had in Galilee declar'd his Mind in this Matter againſt that, which was the common Practice, Mat. 5. 31, 32. And if he would in like manner declare himſelf now againſt Divorce, they would make uſe of it for the prejudicing and incenſing of the People of this Country againſt him, who would look with a jealous eye upon one that attempted to cut them ſhort in a Liberty they were fond of. They hoped he would loſe himſelf in the Affections of the People, as much by this as by any of his Precepts. Or, the Temptation might be deſign'd thus; if he ſhould ſay that Divorces were not lawful, they would reflect upon him as an Enemy to the Law of Moſes which allowed them; if he ſhould ſay they were, they would repreſent his Doctrine as not having that Prefection in it which was expected in the Doctrine of the Meſſiah, ſince tho' Divorces were tolerated, they were look'd upon by the ſtricter ſort of People as not of good Report. Some think, tho' the Law of Moſes did permit Divorce, yet in aſſigning the juſt Cauſes for it, there was a Controverſie between the Phariſees among themſelves, and they deſir'd to know what Chriſt ſaid to it. Matrimonial Caſes have been numerous, and ſometimes intricate and perplex'd, made ſo, not by the Law of God, but by the Luſts and Follies of Men; and many times in theſe caſes People reſolve before they as'k, what they will do.

Their Queſtion is, Whether a Man may put away his Wife for every Cauſe; that it might be done for ſome Cauſe, even for that of Fornication was granted: But may it be done as now it commonly was done by the looſer ſort of People for every Cauſe, for any Cauſe that a Man ſhall think fit to aſſign, tho' never ſo frivolous, upon every Diſlike or Diſpleaſure; the Toleration in this caſe permitted it, in caſe ſhe found no favour in his eyes, becauſe he hath found ſome uncleanneſs in her, Deut. 24. 1. This they interpreted ſo largely as to make any diſguſt, tho' cauſeleſs the ground of a Divorce.

Secondly, Chriſt's anſwer to this Queſtion, tho' it was propos'd to tempt him, yet being a Caſe of Conſcience, and a weighty one, he gave a full Anſwer to it, not a direct one, but an effectual one; laying down ſuch Principles as undeniably prove that ſuch arbitrary Divorces as were then in uſe, which made the Matrimonial Bond ſo very precarious, were by no means lawful. Chriſt himſelf would not give the Rule without a reaſon, nor lay down his Judgement without Scripture Proof to ſupport it. Now his Argument is this; if Husband and Wife are by the Will and Appointment of God joyned together in the ſtricteſt and cloſeſt Union, then they are not to be lightly, and upon every occaſion ſeparated; if the Knot be Sacred it cannot be eaſily unty'd. Now to prove that there is ſuch a Union between Man and Wife, he urgeth three things:

1. The Creation of Adam and Eve; concerning which he appeals to their own knowledge of the Scriptures; Have ye not read? It is ſome advantage in arguing to deal with thoſe that own and have read the Scriptues; you have read, (but have not conſider'd) that he which made them at the beginning, made them Male and Female, Gen. 1. 27. 5.—2. Note, It will be of great uſe to us often to think of our Creation, how, and by whom, what, and for what we were created. He made them Male and Female, one Female for one Male, ſo that Adam could not Divorce his Wife, and take another; for there was no other to take. It likewiſe intimated as inſeparable Union between them; Eve was a Rib out of Adam's ſide ſo that he could not put her away but he muſt put away a peice of himſelf, and contradict the manifeſt Indications of her Creation. Chriſt hints briefly at this, but in appealing to what they had read, he refers them to the original Record, where 'tis obſervable, that tho' the reſt of the living Creatures were made Male and Female, yet it is not ſaid ſo concerning any of them, but only concerning Mankind; becauſe between Man and Woman the Conjunction is rational, and intended for nobler Purpoſes than meerly the pleaſing of Senſe, and the preſerving of a Seed, and it is therefore more cloſe and firm than that between Male and Female among the Brutes, who were not capable of being ſuch helps met for one another as Adam and Eve were. Hence the manner of Experſſion is ſome what ſingular, Gen. 1. 27. in the Image of God Created he him, Male and Female, Created he them; him and them are us'd promiſcuouſly, being one by Creation before they were two, when they became one again by Marriage-Covenant, that Oneneſs could not but be cloſer and undiſſolvable.

2. The fundamental Law of Marriage, which is, that a Man ſhall leave Father and Mother, and ſhall cleave to his Wife, v. 5. The Relation between Husband and Wife is nearer than that between Parents and Children; now if the final Relation may not eaſily be violated, much leſs may the Marriage-Union be broken. May a Child deſert his Parents, or may a Parent abandon his Children for any Cauſe? for every Cauſe? No, by no means; much leſs may a Husband put away his Wife, betwixt whom, tho' not by Nature, yet by Divine Appointment the Relation is nearer, and the Bond of Union ſtronger than between Parents and Children, for that is in a great meaſure ſuperſeded by Marriage; when a Man muſt leave his Parents to cleave to his Wife. See here the Power of a Divine Inſtitution, that the Reſult of it is a Union ſtronger than that which reſults from the higheſt Obligations of Nature.

3. The Nature of the Marriage-Contract; it is a Union of Perſons, they twain ſhall be one Fleſh, ſo that v. 6. they are no more twain, but one Fleſh. A Man's Children are peices of himſelf, but his Wife is himſelf. As the conjugal Union is cloſer than that between Parents and Children, ſo it is in a manner equivalent to that between one Member and another in the natural Body. As this is a Reaſon why Husbands ſhould love their Wives, ſo it is a reaſon why they ſhould not put away their Wives, for no man ever yet hated his own Fleſh, or cut it off, but nouriſheth and cheriſheth it, and doth all he can to preſerve it. They two ſhall be one, therefore there muſt be but one Wife, for God made but one Eve for one Adam, Mal. 2. 15.

From hence he infer, What God hath joyned together, let not Man put aſunder, Note, (1.) Husband and Wife are of God's joyning together, συνέζευξεν, he hath yok'd them together, ſo the Word is, and it is very ſignificant; God himſelf Inſtituted the Relation between Husband and Wife in the State of Innocency. Marriage and the Sabbath are the moſt ancient of Divine Ordinance. Tho' Marriage be not peculiar to the Church, but common to the World, yet being ſtamp'd with a Divine Inſtitution, and here ratified by our Lord Jeſus, it ought to be manag'd after a godly ſort and ſanctified by the Word of God and Prayer. A conſciencious Regard to God in this Ordiance would have a good Influence upon the Duty, and conſequently upon the Comfort of the Relation. (2.) Husband and Wife being joyn'd together by the Ordinance of God, are not to be put aſunder by any Ordinance of Man. Let not Man put them aſunder, not the Husband himſelf, or any one for him; not the Magiſtrate, God never gave him Authority to do it. The God of Iſrael hath ſaid, that he hateth putting away, Mal. 2. 16. 'Tis a general Rule, that Man muſt not go about to put aſunder what God hath joynd together.

Thirdly, An Objection ſtarted by the Phariſees againſt this, and it has colour enough, v. 7. Why did Moſes command to give a Writing of Divorcement, in caſe a Man did put away his Wife. he urg'd Scripture-reaſon againſt Divorce they alledge Scripture Authority for it. Note, The ſeeming Contradictions that are in the Word of God are great Stumbling-blocks to Men of corrupt Minds. It is true, Moſes was faithful to him that appointed him, and commanded nothing but what he recieved from the Lord; but as to the thing it ſelf, what they call a Command was only an Allowance, (Deut. 24. 1.) and deſign'd rather to reſtrain the Exhorbitances of it, than to give countenance to the thing itſelf. And the Jewiſh Doctors themſelves obſerve ſuch Limitations in that Law, as that it could not be done without great Deliberation. A particular Reaſon muſt be aſſign'd, the Bill of Divorce muſt be written, and as a judicial Act, muſt have all the Solemnities of a Deed executed and inroll'd. It muſt be given into the Hands of the Wife her ſelf; and (which would oblige Men, if they had any Conſideration in them to conſider) they were expreſly forbidden ever to come together again.

Fourthly, Chriſt's Anſwer to this Objection, in which

1. He rectifies their Miſtake concerning the Law of Moſes; they call'd it a Command, Chriſt calls it but a Permiſſion, a Toleration; carnal Hearts will take an Ell, if but an Inch be given them. The Law of Moſes in this caſe was a political Law, which God gave as the Governour of that People, and it was for Reaſons of State that Divorces were tolerated. The ſtrictneſs of the Marriage-Union being the Reſult, not of a natural, but a poſitive Law, the Wiſdom of God diſpens'd with Divorces in ſome caſes, without any Impeachment to his Holineſs.

But Chriſt tells them there was a Reaſon for this Toleration, not at all for their Credit, it was becauſe of the hardneſs of your Hearts that you were permitted to put away your Wives. Moſes complain'd of the People of Iſrael in his time that their Hearts were hardned, Deut. 9. 6.—31. 27. Hardened againſt God, this here is meant of their being hardened againſt their Relations; they were generally violent and outragious, which was ſoever they took, both in their Appetites and in their Paſſions; and therefore if they had not been allow'd to put away their Wives when they had conceiv'd a Diſlike of them, they would have us'd them cruelly, would have beaten and abus'd them, and perhaps have murther'd them. Note, There is not a greater piece of Hardheartedneſs in the World, than for a Man to be harſh and ſevere with his own Wife. The Jews, it ſeems, were infamous for this, and therefore were allow'd to put them away; better Divorce them than do worſe, than that the Altar of the Lord ſhould be cover'd with Tears, Mal. 2. 13. A little Compliance to humour a Mad-man, or a Man in a Fenzy may prevent a greater Miſchief. Poſitive Laws may be diſpens'd with for the Preſervation of the Law of Nature, for God will have Mercy, and not Sacrifies; but then thoſe are hardhearted Wretches that have made it neceſſary. And none can wiſh to have the liberty of Divorce, but they muſt own the hardneſs of their Hearts. Obſerve, he ſaith, 'tis for the hardneſs of your Hearts, not only theirs who liv'd then, but all their Seed. Note, God not only ſees, but foreſees the Hardneſs of Men's Hearts; he ſuited both the Ordinances and Providences of the Old Teſtament to the Temper of that People, both in Terror, Further, obſerve, The Law of Moſes conſider'd the hardneſs of Men's Hearts, but the Goſpel of Chriſt cures it, and his Grace takes away the Heart of Stone, and gives a Heart of Fleſh. By the Law was the Knowledge of Sin, but by the Goſpel was the Conqueſt of it.

2. He reduceth them to the Original Inſtitution, but from the beginning it was not ſo. Note, Corruptions that are crept into any Ordinance of God muſt be purged out by having recourſe to the Primitive Inſtitution. If the Copy be vicious, it muſt be examin'd and corrected by the Original, Thus when St. Paul would redreſs the Grievances in the Church of Corinth about the Lord's Supper, he appeal'd to the Appointment, 1 Cor. 11. 23. So and ſo I receiv'd it from the Lord. Truth was from the beginning, we muſt therefore enquire for the good old way, Jer. 6. 16. and muſt reform, not by later Patterns, but by antient Rules.

3. He ſettles the Point by an expreſs Law; I ſay unto you, v. 9. and it agrees with what he ſaid before, Chap. 5. 32. There 'twas ſaid in Preaching, here in diſpute, but the ſame, for Chriſt is conſtant to himſelf. Now in both theſe places.

1. He allows Divorce in caſe of Adultery. The Reaſon of the Law againſt Divorce being this, they two ſhall be one Fleſh; if the Wiſe play the Harlot, and make her ſelf one Fleſh with an Adulterer, the Reaſon of the Law ceaſeth, and ſo doth the Law. By the Law of Moſes Adultery was puniſh'd with Death, Deut. 22. 22. Now our Saviour mitigates the Rigor of that, and appoints Divorce to be the Penalty. Dr. Whitby underſtands this not of Adultery, but (becauſe our Saviour uſeth the word πορνεία, Fornication) of Uncleanneſs committed before Marriage, but diſcover'd afterwards, becauſe if it were committed after it was a capital Crime, and there needed no Divorce.

2. He diſallows it in all other Caſes, whoſoever puts away his Wiſe, except for Fornication, and Marries another, commits Adultery. This is a direct Anſwer to their Query, that it is not lawful. In this, as in other things, Goſpel-times are Times of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. The Law of Chriſt tends to re-inſtate Man in his primitive Integrity; the Law of Love, conjugal Love, is no new Commandment, but was from the beginning. If we conſider what Miſchiefs to Families and States, what Confuſions and Diſorders would follow upon arbitrary Divorces, we ſhall ſee how much this Law of Chriſt is for our own Benefit, and what a Friend Chriſtianity is to our ſecular, Intereſts.

The Law of Moſes allowing Divorce for the hardneſs of Mens Hearts and the Law of Chriſt forbidding it, intimates, that Chriſtians being under a Diſpenſation of Love and Liberty, Tenderneſs of Heart may juſtly be expected among them, that they will not be hard-hearted, like Jews, for God has call'd us to Peace. There will be no occaſion for Divorces if we for bear one another, and forgive one another in Love, as thoſe that are, and hope to be forgiven, and have found God not forward to put us away, Iſa. 50. 1. No need of Divorces if Husbands love their Wives, and Wives be obedient to their Husbands, and they live together as heirs of the Grace of Life, and theſe are the Laws of Chriſt, ſuch as we find not in all the Law of Moſes.

Fifthly, Here's a Suggeſtion of the Diſciples againſt this Law of Chriſt, v. 10, If the Caſe of a Man be ſo with his Wife, it is better not to marry. It ſeems the Diſciples themſelves were loth to give up the Liberty of Divorce, thinking it a good Expedient for preſerving Comfort in the Married State; and therefore, like ſullen Children, if they may not have what they would have, they will throw away what they have. If they may not be allow'd to put away their Wives when they pleaſe, they will have no Wives at all; tho' from the beginning, when no Divorce was allow'd, God ſaid, It is not good for Man to be alone, and bleſſed them, pronounc'd them bleſſed who were thus ſtrictly joyn'd together, yet unleſs they may have a liberty of Divorce, they think 'tis good for a Man not to Marry. Note, (1.) Corrupt Nature is impatient of Reſtraint, and would fain break Chriſt's Bonds in ſunder, and have a liberty for its own Luſts. (2.) It is a fooliſh peviſh thing for Men to abandon the Comforts of this Life, becauſe of the Croſſes that are commonly woven in with them. As if we muſt needs go out of the World becauſe we have not every thing to our mind in the World, or muſt enter into no uſeful Calling or Condition becauſe it is made our Duty to abide in it; no, what ever our Condition is we muſt bring our Minds to it, be thankful for its Comforts, ſubmiſſive to its Croſſes, and as God has done, ſet the one over againſt the other, and make the beſt of that which is, Eccl. 7. 14. If the Yoak of Marriage may not be thrown off at pleaſure, it doth not follow that therefore we muſt not come under it, but therefore when we do come under it, we muſt reſolve to comport with it by Love, and Meekneſs, and Patience, which will make Divorce the moſt unneceſſary undeſirable thing that can be.

Sixthly, Chriſt's Anſwer to this Suggeſtion, v. 11, 12. In which

1. He allows it good for ſome not to Marry. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it, Chriſt allow'd what the Diſciples ſaid, It is good not to Marry, not as an Objection againſt the Prohibition of Divorce, as they intended it, but as giving them a Rule, (perhaps no leſs unpleaſing to them) that they who have the Gift of Continency, and are not under any neceſſity of Marrying, do beſt if they continue ſingle, 1 Cor. 7. 1. for they that are unmarried have opportunity, if they have but a heart to care more for the things of the Lord, how they may pleaſe the Lord, 1 Cor. 7. 32, 34. being leſs incumber'd with the Cares of this Life, and having a greater vacancy of Thoughts and Time to mind better things. The Increaſe of Grace is better than the increaſe of the Family, and fellowſhip with the Father, and with his Son Jeſus Chriſt, is to be prefer'd before any other Fellowſhip.

2. He diſallows it, as utterly miſchievous to forbid Marriage, becauſe all Men cannot receive this Saying, indeed few can, and therefore the Croſſes of the Married State muſt be born, rather than that Men ſhould run themſelves into Temptation to avoid them; better Marry than burn.

Chriſt here ſpeaks of a two-fold unaptneſs to Marriage.

1. That which is a Calamity, by the Providence of God, ſuch are they under that are born Eunuchs, or made ſo by Men, that being uncapable of anſwering one great End of Marriage, ought not to Marry. But to that Calamity let them oppoſe the Opportunity that there is in the ſingle State of ſerving God better to ballance it.

2. That which is a Virtue, by the Grace of God; ſuch is their who have made themſelves Eunuchs for the Kingdom of Heavens ſake. This is not meant of an unaptneſs for Marriage in Body, (which ſome, through miſtake of this Scripture have fooliſhly and wickedly brought upon themſelves) but in Mind. Thoſe have thus made themſelves Eunuchs, who have attain'd a holy Indifferency to all the Delights of the Marry'd State, have a fix'd Reſolution in the ſtrength of God's Grace, wholly to obtain from them, and by faſting and other Inſtances of Mortification have ſubdued all Deſires toward them. Theſe are they that can receive this Saying; and yet theſe are not to bind themſelves by a Vow that they will never Marry, only that in the Mind they are now in, they purpoſe not to Marry.

Now (1.) This affection to the ſingle State muſt be given of God; for none can receive it, ſave they to whom it is given. Note, Continence is a ſpecial Gift of God to ſome, and not to others; and when a Man in a ſingle State finds by experience that he has this Gift, he may determine with himſelf, and (as the Apoſtle ſpeaks, 1 Cor. 7. 37.) ſtand ſtedfaſt in his Heart having no neceſſity, but having Power over his own Will, that he will keep himſelf ſo. But Men in this caſe muſt take heed leſt they boaſt of a falſe Gift, Prov. 25. 14.

(2.) The ſingle State muſt be choſen for the Kingdom of Heaven's ſake. Thoſe who reſolve never to Marry only that they may ſave Charges, or may gratifie a moroſe ſelfiſh Humour, or have a greater liberty to ſerve other Luſts and Pleaſures, in them it is ſo far from being a Virtue that it is an ill natur'd Vice; but when it is for Religion's ſake, not as in it ſelf a meritorious Act (which the Papiſts make it) but only as a means to keep our Minds more intire for, and more intent upon the Services of Religion, and having no Families to provide for, we may do the more in Works of Charity, then it is approved and accepted of God. Note, That Condition is beſt for us, and to be choſen and ſtuck to accordingly, which is beſt for our Souls, and tends moſt to the preparing of us for, and the preſerving of us to the Kingdom of Heaven.

13 Then were there brought unto him little children, that he ſhould put his hands on them, and pray: and the diſciples rebuked them. 14 But Jeſus ſaid, Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come unto me: for of ſuch is the kingdom of heaven. 15 And he laid his hands on them, and departed thence.

We have here the Welcome which Chriſt gave to ſome little Children that were brought to him. Obſerve, Firſt, The Faith of thoſe that brought them. How many they were that were brought, we are not told, but they were ſo little as to be taken up in Arms, a Year old it may be, or two at moſt. The account here given of it is, That there were brought unto him little Children, that he ſhould put his hand on them and pray, v. 13. Probably they were their Parents, Guardians, or Nurſes that brought them; and herein (1.) they teſtified their reſpect to Chriſt, and the value they had for his Favour and Bleſſing. Note, Thoſe who glorifie Chriſt by coming to him themſelves, ſhould further glorifie him by bringing all they have, or have Influence upon to him likewiſe. Thus give him the Honour of his unſearchable Riches of Grace his overflowing, never failing Fulneſs. We cannot better honour Chriſt than by making uſe of him. (2.) They did a kindneſs to their Children, not doubting but they would fare the better in this World and the other for the Bleſſing and Prayers of the Lord Jeſus, whom they look'd upon at leaſt as an extraordinary Perſon, as a Prophet, if not as a Prieſt and King, and the Bleſſings of ſuch were valu'd and deſir'd. Others brought their Children to Chriſt to be healed when they were ſick; but theſe Children were under no preſent Malady, only they deſired a Bleſſing for them. Note, It is a good thing when we come to Chriſt our ſelves, and bring our Children to him before we are driven to him, (as we ſay) by Wo-need; not only to viſit him when we are in trouble, but to addreſs our ſelves to him in a Senſe of our general Dependance on him, and of the Benefit we expect by him, this is pleaſing to him.

They deſired that he would put his Hands on them and Pray. Impoſition of Hands was a Ceremony us'd, eſpecially in paternal Bleſſing, Jacob us'd it when he Bleſſed and adopted the Sons of Joſeph, Gen. 48. 14. It intimates ſomething of Love and Familiarity, mix'd with Power and Authority, and ſpeaks an Efficacy in the Bleſſing. Whom Chriſt prays for in Heaven, he puts his Hand upon by his Spirit. Note, (1.) Little Children may be brought to Chriſt as needing, and being capable of receiving Bleſſings from him, and having an Intereſt in his Interceſſion. (2.) Therefore they ſhould be brought to him. We cannot do better for our Children than to commit them to the Lord Jeſus, to be wrought upon and pray'd for by him. We can but beg a Bleſſing for them, 'tis Chriſt only that can command the Bleſſing.

Secondly, the Fault of the Diſciples in rebuking them. They diſcountenanc'd the Addreſs as vain and frivolous, and reproved them that made it as impertinent and troubleſome; either they thought it below their Maſter to take notice of little Children, except any thing in particular ail'd them. Or, they thought he had Toil enough with his other Work, and would not have him diverted from it; or, they thought if ſuch an Addreſs as this were encouraged, all the Country would bring their Children to him, and they ſhould never ſee an end of it. Note, It is well for us that Chriſt has more Love and Tenderneſs in him then the beſt of his Diſciples have. And let us learn of him not to diſcountenance any willing well meaning Souls in their enquiries after Chriſt, tho' they are but weak. If he do not break the bruiſed Reed, we ſhould not. Thoſe that ſeek unto Chriſt, muſt not think it ſtrange if they meet with Oppoſition and Rebuke, even from good Men who think they know the Mind of Chriſt better than they do.

Thirdly, The Favour of our Lord Jeſus. See how he carry'd it here.

1. He rebuked the Diſciples, v. 14. Suffer little Children, and forbid them not; and he rectifies the Miſtake they went upon, of ſuch is the Kingdom of Heaven. Note, (1.) The Children of believing Parents belonged to the Kingdom of Heaven, and are Members of the viſible Church. Of ſuch, not only of ſuch in Diſpoſition and Affection, that might have ſerv'd for a Reaſon why Doves or Lambs ſhould be brought to him, but of ſuch in age is the Kingdom of Heaven; to them pertain the Privileges of viſible Church-memberſhip, as among the Jews of old. The Promiſe is to you, and to your Children. I will be a God to thee and thy Seed. (2.) That for this Reaſon they are welcome to Chriſt, who is ready to entertain thoſe that when they cannot come themſelves are brought to him. And this (1.) in reſpect to the little Children themſelves, whom he has upon all occaſions expreſs'd a Concern for, and who having participated of the malignant Influences of the firſt Adam's Sin, muſt needs ſhare in the Riches of the Second Adam's Grace, elſe that would come of the Apoſtles Parallel, 1 Cor. 15. 22. Rom. 5. 14, 15, &c. Thoſe that are given to Chriſt as part of his Purchaſe, he will in no wiſe caſt out. (2.) With an Eye to the Faith of the Parents that brought them, and preſented them as living Sacrifices; Parents are Truſtees of their Children's Wills, are impower'd by Nature to tranſact for their Benefit, and therefore Chriſt accepts their Dedication of them as their Act and Deed, and will own theſe dedicated things in the Day he makes up his Jewels. (3.) Therefore he takes it ill at thoſe who forbid them, and exclude thoſe whom he has receiv'd, who caſt them out from the Inheritance of the Lord, and ſay, ye have no part in the Lord; ſee Joſh. 22. 27. and who forbid Water that they ſhould be Baptiz'd, who if that Promiſe be fulfill'd, Iſa. 44. 3. have receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt as well as we, for ought we know.

2. He received the little Children, and did as he was deſir'd, he laid his Hands on them, that is he bleſs'd them. The ſtrongeſt Believer lives not ſo much by apprehending Chriſt, as by being apprehended of him, Phil. 3. 12. not ſo much by knowing God, as by being known of him, Gal. 4. 9. and this the leaſt Child is capable of, if they cannot ſtretch out their Hands to Chriſt, yet he can lay his Hands on them, and ſo make them his own, and own them for his own.

Methinks it hath ſomething obſervable in it, that when he had done this he departed thence, v. 5. As if he reckon'd he had done enough there when he had thus aſſerted the Rights of the Lambs of his Flock, and made this Proviſion for a Succeſſion of Subjects in his Kingdom.

16 And behold, one came and ſaid unto him, Good Maſter, what good thing ſhall I do, that I may have eternal life? 17 And he ſaid unto him, why calleſt thou me good, there is none good, but one, that is God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments. 18 He ſaith unto him, which? Jeſus ſaid, Thou ſhalt do no murder, Thou ſhalt not commit adultery, Thou ſhalt not ſteal, thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſs. 19 Honour thy father and thy mother: and, Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf. 20 The young man ſaith unto him, All theſe things have I kept from my youth up: what lack I yet? 21 Jeſus ſaid unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and ſell that thou haſt, and give to the poor, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven: and come and follow me. 22 But when the young man heard that ſaying, he went away ſorrowful: for he had great poſſeſſions.

Here's an Account of what paſs'd between Chriſt and a hopeful young Gentleman that addreſs'd himſelf to him upon a ſerious Errand; he is ſaid to be a young Man, v. 22. and I call him a Gentleman, not only becauſe he had great Poſſeſſions, but becauſe he was a Ruler, Luke 18. 18. a Magiſtrate, a Juſtice of the Peace in his Country; 'tis probable he was of pregnant Parts beyond his Years, elſe his Youth would have debar'd him from the Magiſtracy.

Now concerning this young Gentleman, we are told how fair he bid for Heaven, and yet came ſhort.

1. How fair he bid for Heaven, and how kindly and tenderly Chriſt treated him in favour to good Beginnings. Here's

(1.) The Gentleman's ſerious Addreſs to Jeſus Chriſt, v. 16. Good Maſter, what good thing ſhall I do that I may have eternal Life? Not a better Queſtion could be ask'd, nor more gravely.

1. He gives Chriſt an honourable Title, Good Maſter. Διδάσκαλε ἀγαθέ. It ſignifies not a Ruling, but a Teaching Maſter. His calling him Maſter, ſpeaks his Submiſſiveneſs, and Willingneſs to be taught; and good Maſter his Affection and peculiar Reſpect to the Teacher, like that of Nicodemus, thou art a Teacher come from God. We read not of any that addreſs'd themſelves to Chriſt more reſpectfully than that Maſter in Iſrael, and this Ruler. It is a good thing when Men's Quality and Dignity increaſes their Civility and Courteſie. 'Twas Gentleman-like to give this Title of Reſpect to Chriſt, notwithſtanding the preſent Meanneſs of his Appearence. It was not uſual among the Jews to accoſt their Teachers with the Title of Good, and therefore this ſpeaks the ſingular uncommon Reſpect he had for Chriſt. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is a good Maſter, the beſt of Teachers; none teacheth like him, he is famous for his Goodneſs, for he can have Compaſſion on the ignorant; he is meek and lowly in Heart.

2. He comes to him upon an Errand of importance, none could be more ſo, and he came not to tempt him, but ſincerely deſiring to be taught by him. His Queſtion is, What good thing ſhall I do that I may have eternal Life? By this it appears (1.) that he had a firm Belief of eternal Life; he was no Sadducee. He was convinc'd that there is a Happineſs prepar'd for thoſe in the other World, that are prepar'd for it in this World. (2.) That he was concern'd to make it ſure to himſelf that he ſhould live Eternally, and was deſirous of that Life more than of any of the Delights of this Life. It was a rare thing for one of his Age and Quality to appear ſo much in care about another World. The Rich are apt to think it below them to make ſuch an Enquiry as this, and young People think it time enough yet; but here was a young Man, and a rich Man ſollicitous about his Soul and Eternity. (3.) That he was ſenſible ſomething muſt be done, ſome good thing for the attainment of this Happineſs. 'Tis by patient continuance in well-doing, that we ſeek for Immortality, Rom. 2. 7. We muſt be doing and doing that which is good. The Blood of Chriſt is the only Purchaſe of eternal Life, he merited it for us, but Obedience to Chriſt is the appointed way to it, Heb. 5. 9. (4.) That he was or at leaſt thought himſelf willing to do what was to be done for the obtaining of his Eternal Life. Thoſe that know what it is to have eternal Life and what it is to come ſhort of it, will be glad to accept of it upon any Terms. Such a holy Violence doth the Kingdom of Heaven ſuffer. Note, While there be many that ſay, Who will ſhew us any Good, one great enquiry ſhould be what we ſhall do that we may have eternal Life, what we ſhall do to be for ever happy, happy in another World; for this World has not that in it that will make us happy.

(2.) The Encouragement that Jeſus Chriſt gave to this Addreſs. He doth not uſe to ſend any away without an Anſwer, that come to him no ſuch an Errand, for nothing pleaſeth him more, v. 17. In his Anſwer,

1. He tenderly aſſiſts his Faith; for doubtleſs, he did not mean it for a Reproof, when he ſaid, Why calleſt thou me Good? But would ſeem to find that Faith in what he ſaid, when he call'd him good Maſter, which the Gentleman perhaps was not conſcious to himſelf of; he intended no more but to own and honour him as a good Man, but Chriſt would lead him to own and honour him as a good God, for there is none good but one, that is God. Note, As Chriſt is graciouſly ready to make the beſt that he can be of what is ſaid, or done amiſs; ſo he is ready to make the moſt that can be of what is well ſaid, and well done. His Conſtructions are often better than our Intentions; as in that, I was hungry, and you gave me Meat. Tho' you little thought it was to me. Chriſt will have this young Man either know him to be God, or not call him Good, to teach us to transfer to God all the Praiſe that is at any time given to us; Do any call us Good? tell them all Goodneſs is from God, and therefore not to us, but to him give Glory. All Crowns muſt lye before the Throne. Note, God only is good, and there is none eſſenſially, originally, and unchangeably Good but God only. His goodneſs is of, and from himſelf, and all the Goodneſs in the Creature is from him, he is the Fountain of Goodneſs, and whatever the Streams are, all the Springs are in him, James 1. 17. He is the great Pattern and Sampler of Goodneſs, by him all Goodneſs is to be meaſur'd; that is good which is like him, and agreeable to his Mind. We in our Language call him God, becauſe he is Good. In this as in other things, our Lord Jeſus was the Brightneſs of his Glory, (and his Goodneſs is his Glory) and the expreſs Image of his Perſon, and therefore fitly call'd Good Maſter.

2. He plainly directs his Practice, in anſwer to his Queſtion. He ſtarted that Thought of his being Good, and therefore God; but did not ſtay upon it, leſt he ſhould ſeem to divert from, and ſo to drop the main Queſtion, as many do in needleſs Diſputes, and Strifes of Words. Now Chriſt's Anſwer is in ſhort this, if thou wilt enter into Life, keep the Commandments.

(1.) The End propos'd is entring into Life. The young Man in his Queſtion ſpoke of eternal Life, Chriſt in his Anſwer ſpeaks of Life; to teach us, that eternal Life is the only true Life. The words concerning that are the words of this Life, Acts 5. 20. The preſent Life ſcarce deſerves the name of Life, for in the midſt of Life we are in Death. Or, into Life, i. e. that ſpiritual Life which is the Beginning and Earneſt of eternal Life. He deſired to know how he might have eternal Life, Chriſt tells him how he might enter into it; we have it by the Merit of Chriſt, a Myſtery which was not as yet fully reveal'd, and therefore Chriſt waves that; but the way of entering into it is by Obedience, and Chriſt directs us in that. By the former we make our Title, by this, as by our Evidence we prove it; 'tis by adding to Faith Virtue, that an entrance, (the word here us'd) is Miniſter'd to us into the everlaſting Kingdom, 2 Pet. 1. 5. 11. Chriſt who is our Life is the way to the Father, and to the Viſion and Fruition of him, he is the only way, but Duty and the Obedience of Faith is the way to Chriſt. There is an entrance into Life hereafter, at Death, at the great Day, a compleat Entrance, and thoſe only ſhall then enter into Life that do their Duty; 'tis the diligent faithful Servant that ſhall then enter into the Joy of his Lord, and that Joy will be his eternal Life. There is an entrance into Life now, we which have believed do enter into Reſt, Heb. 4. 3. We have Peace and Comfort, and Joy in the believing Proſpect of the Glory to be reveal'd, and to this alſo ſincere Obedience is indiſpenſibly neceſſary.

(2.) The way preſcrib'd is keeping the Commandments. Note Keeping the Commandments of God, according as they are reveal'd and made known to us, is the only way to Life and Salvation, and Sincerity herein is accepted through Chriſt as our Goſpel perfection, proviſion being made of Pardon upon Repentance, wherein we come ſhort. Through Chriſt we are deliver'd from the condemning Power of the Law, but the commanding Power of it is lodg'd in the Hand of the Mediator, and under that in that hand we ſtill are, under the Law of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 9. 12. under it is a Rule, tho' not as a Covenant. Keeping the Commandments, includes Faith in Jeſus Chriſt, for that is the great Commandment, 1 John 3. 23. and it was one of the Laws of Moſes, that when the great Prophet ſhould be raiſed up they ſhould hear him. Obſerve, in order to our happineſs here and for ever, it is not enough for us to know the Commandments of God, but we muſt keep them, keep in them as our way, keep to them as our Rule, keep them as our Treaſure, and with care, as the Apple of our Eye.

3. At his further Inſtance and Requeſt he mentions ſome particular Commandments which he muſt keep, v. 18. 19. The young Man ſaith unto him, which? Note, Thoſe that would do the Commandments of God muſt ſeek them diligently, and enquire after them, what they are. Ezra ſet himſelf to ſeek the Law, and to do it, Ezr. 7. 10. There were many Commandments in the Law of Moſes, good Maſter, let me know which thoſe are, the keeping of which is neceſſary to Salvation.

In anſwer to this, Chriſt inſtanceth in ſeveral, eſpecially the Commandments of the ſecond Table. (1.) That which concerns our own, and our Neighbour's Life, Thou ſhalt do no Murder. (2.) Our own and our Neighbours Chaſtity which ſhould be as dear to us as Life it ſelf. Thou ſhalt not commit Adultery. (3.) Our own and our Neighbours Wealth and outward Eſtate, as hedg'd about by the Law of Property. Thou ſhalt not Steal. (4.) That which concerns Truth, and our own and our Neighbours good Name, Thou ſhalt not bear falſe Witneſs, neither for thy ſelf, nor againſt thy Neighbour; for ſo it is here left at large. (5.) That which concerns the Duties of particular Relations, Honour thy Father and Mother. (6.) That comprehenſive Law of Love, which is the Spring and Summary of all theſe Duties, whence they all flow, on which they are all founded, and in which they are all fulfill'd. Thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf, Gal. 5. 14. Rom. 13. 9. that royal Law, Jam. 2. 8. Some think this comes in here, not as the Sum of the ſecond Table, but as the particular Import of the Tenth Commandment; Thou ſhalt not covet, which in Mark is, Defraud not; intimating, that it is not lawful for me to deſign Advantage or Gain to my ſelf by the Diminution or Loſs of another; for that is to covet, and to love my ſelf better than my Neighbour, whom I ought to love as my ſelf, and to treat, as I would my ſelf be treated.

Our Saviour here inſtanceth in ſecond Table Duties only; not as if the firſt were of leſs account, but (1.) becauſe they that now ſate in Moſes's Seat, either wholly neglected, or greatly corrupted theſe Precepts in their Preaching. While they preſs'd the Tithing of Mint, Anniſe, and Cummin, Judgment, and Mercy, and Faith, the Summary of ſecond Table Duties were overlook'd, Mat. 23. 23. Their Preaching run out all in Rituals, and nothing in Morals, and therefore Chriſt preſs'd that moſt which they leaſt inſiſted on. As one Truth, ſo one Duty muſt not juſtle out another, but each muſt know its place, and be kept in it; but Equity requires that that be help'd up which is moſt in danger of being thruſt out. That's the preſent Truth we are call'd to bear our Teſtimony to, not only which is oppos'd, but which is neglected. (2.) Becauſe he would teach him and us all, that moral Honeſty is a neceſſary Branch of true Chriſtianity, and to be minded accordingly. Tho' a meer moral Man comes ſhort of being a compleat Chriſtian, yet an immoral Man is certainly no true Chriſtian; for the Grace of God teacheth us to live Soberly and Righteouſly, as well as Godly. Nay, tho' firſt Table Duties have in them more of the Eſſence of Religion, yet ſecond Table Duties have in them more of the Evidence of it. Our Light burns in Love to God, but it ſhines in Love to our Neighbour.

2. See here how he came ſhort, tho' he bid thus fair, and wherein he fail'd, he fail'd by two things.

1. By Pride, and a vain conceit of his own Merit and Strength; this is the ruin of thouſands, who keep themſelves miſerable by fancying themſelves happy. When Chriſt told him what Commandments he muſt keep, he anſwer'd very ſcornfully, All theſe things have I kept from my Youth up, v. 20.

Now, (1.) According as he underſtood the Law, as prohibiting only the outward Acts of Sin, I am apt to think he ſaid true, and Chriſt knew it, for he did not contradict him; nay, 'tis ſaid in Mark he loved him, ſo far was very good, and pleaſing to Chriſt. St. Paul reckons it a Privilege not contemtible in it ſelf, tho' 'twas Droſs in compariſon with Chriſt, that he was as touching the Righteouſneſs that is in the Law blameleſs, Phil. 3. 6. His Obſervance of theſe Commands was univerſal, all theſe have I keep, 'twas early and conſtant, from my Youth up. Note, A Man may be free from groſs Sin, and yet come ſhort of Grace and Glory. His Hands may be clean from external Pollutions, and yet he may periſh eternally in his Heart-Wickedneſs. What ſhall we think then of thoſe who do not attain to this? whoſe Fraud and Injuſtce, Drunkenneſs and Uncleanneſs witneſs againſt them, that all theſe they have broken from their Youth up, tho' they have named the Name of Chriſt; well, it is ſad to come ſhort of thoſe that come ſhort of Heaven.

It was commendable alſo that he deſir'd to know further what his Duty was; What lack I yet? He was convinc'd he wanted ſomething to fill up his Works before God, and was therefore deſirous to know it, becauſe, if he was not miſtaken in himſelf, he was willing to do it, Having not yet attained, he thus ſeemed to preſs forward. And he applied himſelf to Chriſt, whoſe Doctrine was ſuppos'd to improve and perfect the Moſaick Inſtitution. He deſir'd to know what were the peculiar Precepts of his Religion, that he might have all that was in them to poliſh and accompliſh him. Who could bid fairer?

But (2.) even in this that he ſaid he diſcover'd his Ignorance and Folly. (1.) Taking the Law in its ſpiritual Senſe, as Chriſt expounded it, no doubt, in many things he had offended againſt all theſe Commands. Had he been acquainted with the extent and ſpiritual meaning of the Law, inſtead of ſaying, All theſe have I kept, What lack I yet? He would have ſaid with Shame and Sorrow, All theſe have I broken, what ſhall I do to get my Sins pardon'd? (2.) Take it how you will, what he ſaid ſavour'd of Pride and Vain-glory, and had in it too much of that Boaſting which is excluded by the Law of Faith, Rom. 3. 27. and which doth exclude from Juſtification, Luk. 18. 11, 14. He valued himſelf too much, as the Phariſees did, upon the Plauſibleneſs of his Profeſſion before Men, and was proud of that, which ſpoil'd the Acceptableneſs of it. That word, What lack I yet? perhaps was not ſo much a deſire of further Inſtruction, as a Demand of the Praiſe of his preſent fancy'd Perfection, and a Challenge to Chriſt himſelf to ſhew him any one Inſtance wherein he was deficient.

2. He came ſhort by an inordinate Love of the World, and his Enjoyments in it. This was the fatal Rock on which he ſplit. Obſerve.

1. How he was try'd in this matter, v. 21. Jeſus ſaid unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and ſell that thou haſt. Chriſt waved the Matter of his boaſted Obedience to the Law, and let that drop, becauſe this would be a more effectual way of diſcovering him, than a Diſpute of the extent of the Law. Come, ſaith Chriſt, If thou wilt be perfect, if thou wilt approve thy ſelf ſincere in thine Obedience; for Sincerity is our Goſpel-perfection? If thou wilt come up to that which Chriſt has added to the Law of Moſes; if thou wilt be perfect, i. e. if thou wilt enter into Life, and ſo be perfectly happy; for that which Chriſt here preſcribes is not a thing of Supererogation, or a Perfection we may be ſaved without, but in the main ſcope and intendment of it, it is our neceſſary and indiſpenſible Duty. What Chriſt ſaid to him, he thus far ſaid to us all, that if we will approve our ſelves Chriſtians indeed, and would be found at laſt the Heirs of eternal Life, we muſt do theſe two things.

1. We muſt practically prefer the heavenly Treaſures before all the Wealth and Riches in this World. That Glory muſt have the Preheminence in our Judgment and Eſteem before this Glory. No thanks to us to prefer Heaven before Hell, the worſt Man in the World would be glad of that Jeruſalem for a Refuge when he can ſtay no longer here, and to have it in reſerve; but to make it our choice, and to perfer it before this Earth, that's to be a Chriſtian indeed.

Now as an Evidence of this.

(1.) We muſt diſpoſe of what we have in this World for the Honour of God, and in his Service. Sell that thou haſt, and give to the Poor, If the occaſions of Charity be very preſſing, ſell thy Poſſeſſions that thou may'ſt have to give to them that need; as the firſt Chriſtians did, with an eye to this Precept, Acts 4. 34. Sell what thou can'ſt ſpair for pious Uſes, all thy Superfluities; if thou can'ſt not otherwiſe do good with it, ſell it. Sit looſe to it, be willing to part with it for the Honour of God, and the Relief of the Poor. A gracious Contempt of the World, and Compaſſion of the poor and afflicted ones in it, is in all a neceſſary Condition of Salvation, and in thoſe that have wherewithal, giving of Alms is as neceſſary and Evidence of that contempt of the World, and Compaſſion to our Brethren; by this the Trial will be at the great Day, Mat. 25. 35. Tho' many that call themſelves Chriſtians do not act as if they liev'd it. 'Tis certain, when we embrace Chriſt we muſt let go the World, for we cannot ſerve God and Mammon. Chriſt knew that Covetouſneſs was the Sin that did moſt eaſily beſet this young Man, that tho' what he had he had got honeſtly, yet he could not chearfully part with it, and by this he diſcover'd his Inſincerity. This Command was like the Call to Abraham, Get thee out of thy Country, to a Land that I will ſhew thee. As God tries Believers by their ſtrongeſt Graces, ſo Hypocrites by their ſtrongeſt Corruptions. (2.) We muſt depend upon what we hope for in t'oher World as an abundant Recompence for all we have left, or loſt, or laid out for God in this World. Thou ſhalt have Treaſure in Heaven. We muſt in the way of chargeable Duty truſt God for a Happineſs out of ſight, which will make us rich amends for all our Expences in God's Service. The Precept ſounded hard and harſh, ſell that thou haſt, and give it way; and the Objection againſt it would ſoon ariſe, That Charity begins at home; therefore Chriſt immediately annexeth this Aſſurance of a Treaſure in Heaven. Note, Chriſt's Promiſes makes his Precepts eaſie, and his Yoke not only tolerable, but pleaſant, and ſweet, and very comfortable; yet this Promiſe was as much a Trial of this young Man's Faith, as the Precept was of his Charity, and Contempt of the World.

2. We muſt devout ourſelves entirely to the Conduct and Government of our Lord Jeſus; come and fellow me. It ſeems here to be meant of a cloſe and conſtant Attendance upon his Perſon, ſuch as the ſelling of what he had in the World was neceſſary to, as it was to the other Diſciples to quit their Callings; but of us it is requir'd that we follow Chriſt, that we duly attend upon his Ordinances, ſtrictly conform to his Pattern, and chearfully ſubmit to his Diſpoſals, and by upright and univerſal Obedience to obſerve his Statutes, and keep his Laws, and all this from a Principal of Love to him, and Dependance on him, and with a holy Contempt of every thing elſe in compariſon of him, and much more in competition with him. This is to follow Chriſt fully. To ſell all and give to the Poor will not ſerve, unleſs we come and follow Chriſt If I give all my Goods to feed the Poor, and have not Love, it profits me nothing. Well, on theſe Terms, and no lower is Salvation to be had, and they are very eaſie and reaſonable Terms, and will appear ſo to thoſe who are brought to be glad of it upon any Terms.

2. See how he was diſcover'd, v. 22. This touch'd him in a tender part, v. 22. When he heard that Saying, he went away ſorrowful, for he had great Poſſeſſions.

1. He was a rich Man, and lov'd his Riches, and therefore went away. He did not like eternal Life upon theſe Terms. Note, (1.) Thoſe that have much in the World are in the greateſt Temptation to love it, and to ſet their Hearts upon it. Such is the bewitching nature of wordly Wealth, that thoſe who want it leaſt deſire it moſt; when Riches increaſe, then is the danger of ſetting the Heart upon them, Pſal. 62. 10. If he had had but two Mites in all the World, and had been commanded to give them to the Poor, or but one handful of Meal in the Barrel, and a little Oil in the Cruſe, and had been bidden to make a Cake of that for a poor Prophet, the Trial, one would think had been much greater, and yet thoſe Trials have been overcome, Luke 21. 4. and 1 Kings 17. 14. Which ſhews that the Love of the World draws ſtronger than the moſt preſſing Neceſſities. (2.) The reigning Love of this World keeps many from Chriſt that ſeem to have had ſome good Deſires towards him. A great Eſtate as to thoſe who are got above it 'tis a great furtherance; ſo to thoſe who are entangled in the Love of it, 'tis a great hindrance in the way to Heaven.

Yet ſomething of Honeſty there was in it, that when he did not like the Terms he went away, and would not pretend to that which he could not find in his heart to come up to the ſtrictneſs of; better ſo than do as Demas did, who having known the way of Righteouſneſs, afterwards turn'd aſide out of Love to this preſent World, to the greater Scandal of Profeſſion; ſince he could not be a complete Chriſtian, he would not be an Hypocrite.

2. Yet he was a thinking Man, and well-inclin'd, and therefore went away ſorrowful: He had a good mind to Chriſt, and was loth to part with him. Note, Many a one is ruin'd by the Sin he commits with Reluctancy; leaves Chriſt ſorrowfully, and yet is never truly ſorry for leaving him, for if he were he would return to him. Thus this Man's Wealth was Vexation of Spirit to him, then when it was his Temptation; What then would the Sorrow be afterwards when his Poſſeſſions would be gone, and all Hopes of eternal Life gone too?

23 Then ſaid Jeſus unto his diſciples, Verily I ſay unto you, that a rich man ſhall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven. 24 And again I ſay unto you, It is eaſier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. 25 When his diſciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, ſaying, Who then can be ſaved? 26 But Jeſus beheld them, and ſaid unto them, With men this is unpoſſible, but with God all things are poſſible. 27 Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid unto him, Behold, we have forſaken all, and followed thee; what ſhall we have therefore? 28 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, that ye which have followed me in the regeneration, when the Son of man ſhall ſit in the throne of his glory, ye alſo ſhall ſit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Iſrael. 29 And every one that hath forſaken houſes, or brethren, or ſiſters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my names ſake, ſhall receive an hundred-fold, and ſhall inherit everlaſting life. 30 But many that are firſt ſhall be laſt: and the laſt ſhall be firſt.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples, upon occaſion of the rich Man's breaking with Chriſt.

Firſt, Chriſt took occaſion from thence to ſhew the Difficulty of the Salvation of rich People, v. 23.—26.

1. That it is a very hard thing for a rich Man to get to Heaven, ſuch a rich Man as this here. Note, From the Harms and Falls of others, 'tis good for us to infer, that which will be of Caution to us.

Now (1.) This is vehemently aſſerted by our Saviour, v. 23. 24. He ſaid this to his Diſciples, who were poor, and had but little in the World, to reconcile them to their Condition with this, That the leſs they had of wordly Wealth, the leſs hindrance they had in the way to Heaven. Note, It ſhould be a Satisfaction to them who are in a low Condition, that they are not expos'd to the Temptations of a high and proſperous Condition: If they live more hardly in this World than the Rich, yet if withal they get more eaſily to a better World, they have no reaſon to complain. This Saying is ratified, v. 23. Verily, I ſay unto you. He that has Reaſon to know what the way to Heaven is, for he has laid it open; he tells us this is one of the greateſt Difficulties in that way. It is repeated, v. 24. Again I ſay unto you: Thus he ſpeaketh once, yea twice, that which Man is loth to perceive, and more loth to believe.

1. He ſaith, That it is a hard thing for a rich Man to be a good Chriſtian, and to be ſaved; to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, either here or hereafter. The way to Heaven is to all a narrow Way, and the Gate that leads into it a ſtrait Gate, but it is particularly ſo to rich People. More Duties are expected from them than from others, which they can hardly do; and more Sins do eaſily beſet them which they can hardly avoid. Rich People have great Temptations to reſiſt, and ſuch as are very inſinuating; 'Tis hard not to be charm'd with a ſmiling World; very hard when our Bellies are fill'd with theſe hid Treaſures not to take up with them for a Portion. Rich People have a great Accompt to make up for their Eſtates, their Intereſt, their Time, and their Opportunities of doing and getting Good above others. It muſt be a great Meaſure of Divine Grace that will enable a Man to break through theſe Difficulties.

2. He ſaith, That the Converſion and Salvation of a rich Man is ſo extremely difficult, that it is eaſier for a Camel to go through the Eye of a Needle, v. 24. This is a proverbial Expreſſion, noting a Difficulty altogether unconquerable by the Art and Power of Man; nothing leſs than the Almighty Grace of God will enable a rich Man to get over this Difficulty. The Difficulty of the Salvation of Apoſtates, Heb. 6. 4. and of old Sinners, Jer. 13. 23. is thus repreſented as an Impoſſibility. The Salvation of any is ſo very difficult, even the Righteous ſcarcely are ſaved, that where there is a peculiar Difficulty, 'tis fitly ſet forth thus: 'Tis very rare for a Man to be rich, and not to ſet his Heart upon his Riches; and it is utterly impoſſible for a Man that ſets his Heart upon his Riches to get to Heaven; for if any Man love the World, the Love of the Father is not in him, 1 Joh. 2. 15. Jam. 4. 4. (1.) The way to Heaven is very fitly compared to a Needles Eye, which 'tis hard to hit, and hard to get though. (2.) A rich Man is fitly compar'd to a Camel, a Beaſt of Burthen, for he has Riches, as a Camel has his Load, he carries it, but it is anothers, he has it from others, ſpends it for others, and muſt ſhortly leave it to others; 'tis a Burthen, for Men load themſelves with thick Clay, Hab. 2. 6. A Camel is a large Creature, but unwieldly.

(2.) This Truth is very much admir'd, and ſcarce credited by the Diſciples, v. 25. They were exceedingly amazed, ſaying, who then can be ſaved? Many ſurprizing Truths Chriſt told them, which they were aſtoniſhed at, and knew not what to make of, and this was one, and their Weakneſs was the Cauſe of their Wonder. 'Twas not in Contradiction to Chriſt, but for awakening to themſelves that they ſaid, Who then can be ſaved? Note, Conſidering the many Difficulties that are in the way of Salvation, it is really ſtrange that any are ſaved. When we think how good God is, it may ſeem a wonder that ſo few are his; but when we think how bad Man is, 'tis more a wonder that ſo many are, and Chriſt will be eternally admir'd in them. Who then can be ſaved? Since ſo many are rich, and have great Poſſeſſions, and ſo many more would be rich, and are well affected to great Poſſeſſions, who can be ſaved? If Riches are a hindrance to rich People, are not Pride and Luxury incident to thoſe that are not rich, and as dangerous to them, and who then can get to Heaven? This is a good Reaſon why rich People ſhould ſtrive againſt the Stream.

2. That tho' it be hard, yet it is not impoſſible but that rich People may be ſaved, v. 26. Jeſus beheld them, turn'd and look'd wiſtly upon his Diſciples, to ſhame them out of their fond Conceit of the Advantages rich People had in Spiritual Things: He beheld them as Men that had got over this Difficulty, and were in a fair way for Heaven, and the more ſo becauſe poor in this World; and he ſaid unto them, With Men this is unpoſſible, but with God all things are poſſible. This ſpeaks a great Truth in general, that God is able to do that which quite exceeds all created Power; that nothing is too hard for God, Gen. 18. 14. Num. 11. 23. when Men are at a loſs, God is not, for his Power is infinite, and irreſiſtable; but this Truth is here applied. (1.) To the Salvation of any. Who can be ſaved, ſay the Diſciples? None, ſaith Chriſt, by any created Power. With Men this is Impoſſible: The Wiſdom of Man would ſoon be non-plus'd in contriving, and the Power of Man baffled in effecting the Salvation of a Soul. No Creature can work the Change that is neceſſary to the Salvation of a Soul, either in it ſelf or in any one elſe: With Men it is impoſſible, that ſo ſtrong a Stream ſhould be turned, ſo hard a Heart ſoftned, ſo ſtubborn a Will bow'd. 'Tis a Creation, 'tis a Reſurrection, and with Men this is impoſſible; it can never be done by Philoſophy, Medicine, or Politicks, but with God all things are poſſible. Note, The Beginning, Progreſs, and Perfection of the Work of Salvation depends intirely upon the Almighty Power of God, to which all things are poſſible. Faith is wrought by that Power, Eph. 1. 19. and is kept by it, 1 Pet. 1. 5. Job's Experience of God's convincing humbling Grace made him acknowledge more than any thing elſe, I know that thou canſt do every thing, Job 42. 2. (2.) To the Salvation of rich People eſpecially; it is impoſſible with Men that ſuch ſhould be ſav'd, but with God even this is poſſible, not that rich People ſhould be ſaved in their worldlineſs, but that they ſhould be ſaved from it. Note, The Sanctification and Salvation of ſuch as are ſurrounded with the Temptations of this World is not to be deſpair'd of; it is poſſible it may be brought about by the All-ſufficiency of the Divine Grace, and when ſuch are brought to Heaven, they will be there everlaſting Monuments of the Power of God. I am willing to think, that in this Word of Chriſt there is an Intimation of Mercy Chriſt had yet in ſtore for this young Gentleman, that was now gone away ſorrowful; it was not impoſſible to God yet to recover him, and bring him to a better Mind.

Secondly, Peter took occaſion from hence to enquire what they ſhould get by it, who had come up to theſe Terms, upon which this young Man broke with Chriſt, and had left all to follow him, v. 27, &c. where we have the Diſciples Expectations from Chriſt, and his Promiſes to them.

1. We have their Expectations from Chriſt; Peter in the Name of the reſt ſignifies that they depend upon him for ſomething conſiderable in lieu of what they had left for him. Behold we have forſaken all, and have follow'd thee, what ſhall we have therefore? Chriſt had promiſed the young Man, that if he would ſell all, and come and follow him, he ſhould have Treaſure in Heaven; now Peter deſires to know.

(1.) Whether they had ſufficiently come up to thoſe Terms, they had not ſold all, for they had many of them Wives and Families to provide for, but they had forſaken all; they had not given it to the Poor, but they had renounc'd it as far as it might be any way a hinderance to them in ſerving Chriſt. Note, when we hear what are the Characters of thoſe that ſhall be ſav'd, it concerns us to enquire whether, we through Grace, anſwer thoſe Characters. Now Peter hopes, that as to the main Scope and Intendment of the Condition, they had come up to it, for God had wrought in them a holy Contempt of the World, and the things that are ſeen in compariſon with Chriſt, and the things that are not ſeen; and how this muſt be evidenced, no certain Rule can be given, but according as we are called,

Lord, ſaith Peter, we have forſaken all, Alas; it was but a poor All that they had forſaken; one of them had indeed quitted a Place in the Cuſtom-houſe, but Peter and the moſt of them had only left a few Boats and Nets, and the Appurtenances of a poor Fiſhing-Trade; And yet ſee how big Peter there ſpeaks of it, as if it had been ſome mighty thing: Behold, we have forſaken all. Note, We are too apt to make the moſt of our Services and Sufferings, our Expences and Loſſes for Chriſt, and to think we have made him much our Debtor.

However Chriſt doth not upbraid them with this; tho' it was but little they had forſaken, yet it was their All, like the Widow's two Mites, and was as dear to them as if it had been more, and therefore Chriſt took it kindly that they left it to follow him; for he accepts according to what a Man hath.

(2.) Whether therefore they might expect that Treaſure; the young Man ſhall have it if he will ſell All. Lord, ſaith Peter, ſhall we have it who have left All? All People are for what they can get, and Chriſt's Followers are allow'd to conſult their own true Intereſt, and to ask, What ſhall we have? Chriſt look'd at the Joy ſet before him, and Moſes at the Recompence of Reward. For this End 'tis ſet before us, that by a patient Continuance in well doing we might ſeek for it. Chriſt encourageth us to ask what we ſhall gain by leaving All to follow him, that we may ſee he doth not call us to our Prejudice, but unſpeakably to our Advantage. As it is the Language of an obediential Faith, to ask, What ſhall we do? with an Eye to the Precepts; ſo it is of a hoping truſting Faith, to ask, What ſhall we have? with an Eye to the Promiſes. But obſerve, the Diſciples had long ſince left All to engage themſelves in the Service of Chriſt, and yet never till now ask'd, What ſhall we have? tho' there was no viſible proſpect of Advantage by it; they were ſo well aſſured of his Goodneſs, that they knew they ſhould not loſe by him at laſt, and therefore referr'd themſelves to him, in what way he would make up their Loſſes to them; minded their Work, and asked not what ſhould be their Wages. Note, It honours Chriſt to truſt him and ſerve him, and not to indent with him. Now this young Man was gone from Chriſt to his Poſſeſſions, 'twas time for them to think which they ſhould take to, what they ſhould truſt to; when we ſee what others keep by their Hypocriſy and Apoſtacy, 'tis proper for us to conſider what we hope through Grace to gain, not for, but by our Sincerity and Conſtancy, and then we ſhall ſee more Reaſon to pity them than to envy them.

2. We have here Chriſt's Promiſes to them, and to all others that tread in the Steps of their Faith and Obedience: What there was either of Vain-glory, or of Vain-hopes in that which Peter ſaid, Chriſt overlooks, and is not extreme to mark it, but takes this occaſion to give the Bond of a Promiſe;

1. To his immediate Followers, v. 28. They had ſignaliz'd their Reſpects to him, as the firſt that followed him, and to them he promiſeth not only Treaſure, but Honour in Heaven; and here they have a Grant or Patent for it from him, who is the Fountain of Honour in that Kingdom; Ye which have followed me in the Regeneration ſhall ſit upon twelve Thrones. Obſerve,

1. The Preamble to the Patent, or the Conſideration of the Grant, which, as uſual, is a Recital of their Services; you have follow'd me in the Regeneration, and therefore this will I do for you. The Time of Chriſt's appearing in this World was a time of Regeneration, of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. when old Things began to paſs away, and all Things to look new. The Diſciples had follow'd Chriſt when the Church was yet in the Embryo, when the Goſpel-Temple was but in the framing, when they had more of the Work and Service of Apoſtles than of the Dignity and Power that belong'd to their Office. Now they follow'd Chriſt with a conſtant Fatigue, when few did, and therefore on them he will put particular Marks of Honour. Note, Chriſt hath ſpecial Favour for thoſe that begin early with him, that truſt him further than they can ſee him, as they did who follow'd him in the Regeneration. Obſerve, Peter ſpoke of their forſaking all to follow him, Chriſt only ſpeaks of their following him, which was the main Matter.

2. The Date of their Honour, which fixeth the time when it ſhould commence, not immediately from the Day of the Date of theſe Preſents; no, they muſt continue a while in Obſcurity, as they were: But when the Son of Man ſhall ſit in the Throne of his Glory; and to this ſome refer that, in the Regeneration; You which now have follow'd me, ſhall in the Regeneration be thus dignified. Chriſt's ſecond Coming will be a Regeneration, when there ſhall be new Heavens, and a new Earth, and the reſtitution of all things. All that partake of the Regeneration in Grace, (John 3. 3.) ſhall partake of the Regeneration in Glory; for as Grace is the firſt Reſurrection, Rev. 20. 6. ſo Glory is the ſecond Regeneration.

Now their Honour being adjourn'd till the Son of Man's ſitting in the Throne of his Glory, intimates (1.) That they muſt ſtay for their Advancement till then. Note, As long as their Maſter's Glory is delay'd, 'tis fit that ours ſhould be ſo too, and that we ſhould wait for it with an earneſt Expectation as of a Hope not ſeen, Rom. 8. 19. We muſt live and work and ſuffer in Faith, and Hope, and Patience, which therefore muſt be try'd by theſe Delays. (2.) That they muſt ſhare with Chriſt in his Advancement; their Honour muſt be a Communion with him in his Honour. They having ſuffered with a ſuffering Jeſus, muſt reign with a reigning Jeſus, for Both here and hereafter Chriſt will be all in all; we muſt be where he is, John 12. 26. muſt appear with him, Col. 3. 4. And this will be an abundant Recompence, not only for our Loſs, but for the Delay, and when our Lord comes, we ſhall receive, not only our own, but our own with Uſury. The longeſt Voyages make the richeſt Returns.

3. The The Honour it ſelf hereby granted, Ye ſhall alſo ſit upon twelve Thrones, judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael. It is hard to determine the particular Senſe of this Promiſe; and whether it was not to have many Accompliſhments, which I ſee no harm in admitting; (1.) When Chriſt is aſcended to the Right Hand of the Father, and ſits on the Throne of his Glory, there the Apoſtles ſhall receive Power by the Holy Ghoſt, (Acts 1. 8.) ſhall be ſo much advanced above themſelves, as they are now, that they ſhall think themſelves upon Thrones in promoting the Goſpel, they ſhall deliver it with Authority, as a Judge from the Bench: They ſhall then have their Commiſſion enlarg'd, and ſhall publiſh the Laws of Chriſt, by which the Church, God's Spiritual Iſrael, (Gal. 6. 16.) ſhall be govern'd, and Iſrael according to the Fleſh that continues in Infidelity, with all others that do likewiſe, ſhall be condemn'd. This Honour and Power given them, may be explain'd by Jer. 1. 10. See I have ſet thee over the Nations, and Ezek. 20. 4. Wilt thou judge them? And Dan. 7. 18. The Saints ſhall take the Kingdom; and Rev. 12. 11. where the Doctrine of Chriſt is called a Crown of twelve Stars. (2.) When Chriſt appears for the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, Matt. 24. 30. then the Apoſtles ſhall be ſent to judge the Jewiſh Nation, becauſe in that Deſtruction their Predictions, according to the Word of Chriſt, would be accompliſh'd. (3.) Some think it has reference to the Converſion of the Jews, which is yet to come, at the latter end of the World, after the Fall of Anti-Chriſt; ſo Dr. Whitby, and that "it reſpects the Apoſtles Government of the twelve "Tribes of Iſrael, not by a Reſurrection of their Perſons, but by a "Reviveſcence of that Spirit which reſided in them, and of that Purity and Knowledge which they deliver'd to the World, and chiefly "by Admiſſion of their Goſpel to be the Standard of their Faith, and "the direction of their Lives." (4.) It is certainly to have its full accompliſhment at the ſecond coming of Jeſus Chriſt, when the Saints in general ſhall judge the World, and the twelve Apoſtles eſpecially as Aſſeſſors with Chriſt, in the Judgment of the great Day, when all the World ſhall receive their final Doom, and they ſhall ratifie and applaud the Sentence. But the Tribes of Iſrael are nam'd, partly becauſe the Number of the Apoſtles was deſignedly the ſame with the Number of the Tribes; partly becauſe the Apoſtles were of the Jewiſh Nation, befriended them moſt, but were moſt ſpitefully perſecuted by them; and it intimates, that the Saints will get their Acquaintance and Kindred according to the Fleſh, and will in the great Day judge thoſe they had a Kindneſs for, will judge their Perſecutors, who in this World judged them.

But the general Intendment of this Promiſe, is to ſhew the Glory and Dignity reſerv'd for the Saints in Heaven, which will be an abundant Recompence for the Diſgrace they ſuffer'd here in Chriſt's Cauſe. There are higher Degrees of Glory for thoſe that have done and ſuffer'd moſt. The Apoſtles in this World were hurry'd and toſs'd, there they ſhall ſit down at reſt and eaſe: Here Bonds, and Afflictions, and Deaths did abide them, but there they ſhall ſit on Thrones of Glory. Here they were dragg'd to the Bar, there they ſhall be advanced to the Bench; here the twelve Tribes of Iſrael trampled upon them, there they ſhall tremble before them; and will not this be Recompence enough to make up all their Loſſes and Expences for Chriſt? See Luke 22. 29.

4. The Ratification of this Grant, 'tis firm, 'tis inviolably immutably ſure; for Chriſt hath ſaid, Verily I ſay unto you, I the Amen, the faithful Witneſs, who am empower'd to make this Grant; I have ſaid it, and it cannot be diſannull'd.

2. Here is a Promiſe to all others that ſhould in like manner leave all to follow Chriſt. It was not peculiar to the Apoſtles to be thus prefer'd, but this Honour have all his Saints; Chriſt will take care they ſhall none of them loſe by him, v. 29. Every one that has forſaken any thing for Chriſt ſhall receive.

1. Loſſes for Chriſt are here ſuppoſ'd; Chriſt had told them that his Diſciples muſt deny themſelves in all that's done to them in this World; now here he inſtanceth in Particulars, for it's good to count upon the worſt; if they have not forſaken all, as the Apoſtles did, yet they have forſaken a great deal, Houſes ſuppoſe, and have turn'd themſelves out to wander in Deſarts, or dear Relations, that would not go with them to follow Chriſt. Theſe are particularly mention'd, as hardeſt for a tender gracious Spirit to part with, Brethren, or Siſters, or Father, or Mother, or Wife, or Children; and Lands are added in the Cloſe, the Profits of which were the Support of the Family.

Now (1.) The Loſs of theſe Things is ſuppoſed to be for Chriſt's Name ſake, elſe he doth not oblige himſelf to make it up. Many forſake Brethren, and Wife and Children, in Humour and Paſſion, as the Bird that wanders from her Neſt; that's a ſinful Deſertion: But if we forſake them for Chriſt's ſake, becauſe we cannot keep them, and keep a good Conſcience, we muſt either quit them, or quit our Intereſt in Chriſt, not quit our Concern for them, or our Duty to them, but our Comfort in them, and will do it rather than deny Chriſt; and this with an Eye to him, and to his Will and Glory; this is that which ſhall be thus recompenc'd: 'Tis not the Suffering but the Cauſe that makes both the Martyr and the Confeſſor.

(2.) It is ſuppoſed to be a great Loſs, and yet Chriſt undertakes to make it up, for he is able to do it, be it never ſo great. See the Barbarity of the Perſecutors, that they ſtript innocent People of all they had, for no other Crime, but becauſe they adher'd to Chriſt. See the Patience of the Perſecuted, and the Strength of their Love to Chriſt, which was ſuch as all theſe Waters could not quench.

2. A Recompence of theſe Loſſes is here ſecured: Thouſands have dealt with Chriſt and have truſted him far, but never any one loſt by him, never any one but was an unſpeakable Gainer by him, when the Account came to be ballanc'd. Chriſt here gives his Word for it, that he will not only indemnify his ſuffering Servants, and ſave them harmleſs, but will abundantly reward them. Let them make a Schedule of their Loſſes for Chriſt, and they ſhall be ſure to receive,

1. A hundred fold in this Life, ſometimes in Kind, in the things themſelves they have parted with; God will raiſe up for his ſuffering Servants more Friends, that will be ſo to them for Chriſt's ſake, than they have left that were ſo for their own Sakes. The Apoſtles whereever they came met with thoſe that were kind to them, and entertain'd them, and open'd their Hearts and Doors to them. However, they ſhall receive a hundred Fold in Kindneſs in thoſe things that are abundantly better and more valuable. Their Graces ſhall increaſe, their Comforts abound, they ſhall have Tokens of God's Love, more free Communion with him, more full Communications from him, clearer Foreſights, and ſweeter Foretaſtes of the Glory to be revealed, and then they may truly ſay they have received a hundred times more Comfort in God and Chriſt, than they could have had in Wiſe or Children.

2. Eternal Life at laſt; The former is Reward enough, if there were no more, Cent. per. Cent. is great Profit, what then is a hundred to one? But this comes in over and above, as it were into the Bargain. The Life here promis'd, includes in it all the Comforts of Life in the higheſt Degree, and all Eternal. Now if we could but mix Faith with this Promiſe, and truſt Chriſt for the Performance of it, ſurely we ſhould think nothing too much to do, nothing too hard to ſuffer, nothing too dear to part with for him.

Our Saviour in the laſt Verſe obviates a Miſtake of ſome, as if Preheminence in Glory went by Providence in time, rather than the Meaſure and Degree of Grace; no, Many that are firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt firſt, v. 30. God will croſs Hands, will reveal that to Babes which he hid from the Wiſe and Prudent, will reject unbelieving Jews, and receive believing Gentiles. The Heavenly Inheritance is not given as Earthly Inheritances commonly are, by ſeniority of Age, and Priority of Birth, but according to God's Pleaſure. This is the Text of another Sermon, which we ſhall meet with in the next Chapter.

CHAP. XX.

We have four things in this Chapter, (1.) The Parable of the Labourers in the Vineyard, v. 1.—16. (2.) A Prediction of Chriſt's approaching Sufferings, v. 17.—19. (3.) The Petition of two of the Diſciples, by their Mother, reprov'd, v. 20.—28. (4.) The Petition of the two blind Men granted, and their Eyes open'd, v. 29.—34.

FOR the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto a man that is an houſholder, which went out early in the morning to hire labourers into his Vineyard. 2 And when he had agreed with the labourers for a peny a day, he ſent them into his vineyard. 3 And he went out about the third hour, and ſaw others ſtanding idle in the market place, 4 And ſaid unto them, Go ye alſo into the vineyard, and whatſoever is right, I will give you. And they went their way. 5 Again he went out about the ſixth and ninth hour, and did likewiſe. 6 And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others ſtanding idle, and ſaith unto them, Why ſtand ye here all the day idle? 7 They ſay unto him, becauſe no man hath hired us. He ſaith unto them, Go ye alſo into the vineyard, and whatſoever is right, that ſhall ye receive. 8 So when even was come, the Lord of the vineyard ſaith unto his Steward, Call the Labourers, and give them their hire, beginning from the laſt unto the firſt. 9 And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a peny. 10 But when the firſt came, they ſuppoſed that they ſhould have received more, and they likewiſe received every man a peny. 11 And when they had received it, they murmured againſt the good-man of the houſe, 12 Saying, Theſe laſt have wrought but one hour, and thou haſt made them equal unto us, which have born the burden and heat of the day. 13 But he anſwered one of them, and ſaid, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didſt not thou agree with me for a peny? 14 Take that thine is, and go thy way: I will give unto the laſt, even as unto thee. 15 Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own? Is thine eye evil becauſe I am good? 16 So the laſt ſhall be firſt, and the firſt laſt: for many be called, but few choſen.

This Parable of the Labourers in the Vineyard is intended,

1. To repreſent to us the Kingdom of Heaven, v. 1. that is, the way and method of the Goſpel Diſpenſation. The Laws of that Kingdom are not wrapt up in Parables, but plainly ſet down, as in the Sermon upon the Mount; but the Myſteries of that Kingdom are delivered in Parables, in Sacraments, as here, and Mat. 13. The Duties of Chriſtianity are more neceſſary to be known than the Notions of it; and yet the Notions of it more neceſſary to be illuſtrated than the Duties of it; which is that that Parables are deſign'd for.

2. In particular to repreſent to us, that concerning the Kingdom of Heaven, which he had ſaid in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, that many that are firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt firſt; to which this Parable is connected: that Truth having in it a ſeeming Contradiction, needed farther Explication.

Nothing was more a Myſtery in the Goſpel Diſpenſation than the rejection of the Jews, and the calling in of the Gentiles; ſo the Apoſtle ſpeaks of it, Eph. 3. 3.—6. That the Gentiles ſhould be fellow-heirs: Nor was any thing more provoking to the Jews, than the Intimations of it. Now this ſeems to be the principal Scope of this Parable, to ſhew that the Jews ſhould be firſt call'd into the Vineyard, and many of them ſhould come at the Call; but at length the Goſpel ſhould be preach'd to the Gentiles, and they would receive it, and be admitted to equal Privileges and Advantages with the Jews, ſhould be fellow Citizens with the Saints, with the Jews, even thoſe of them that believed, would be very much diſguſted at, but without Reaſon.

But the Parable may be apply'd more generally, and ſhews us (1.) That God is a Debtor to no Man: A great Truth, which the Contents in our Bible give as the Scope of this Parable. (2.) That many who begin laſt, and promiſe little in Religion, ſometimes, by the Bleſſing of God, arrive to greater Attainments in Knowledge, Grace and Uſefulneſs, than others whoſe Entrance was more early, and who promiſs'd fairer; Tho' Cuſhi gets the ſtart of Ahimaaz, yet Ahimaaz chuſing the Way of the Plain, out-runs Cuſhi: John is ſwifter of foot, and comes firſt to the Sepulchre, but Peter has more Courage, and goes firſt into it: Thus many that are laſt ſhall be firſt. Some make it a Caution to the Diſciples, who had boaſted of their timely and zealous embracing of Chriſt; they had left all to follow him: But let them look to it that they keep up that Zeal, let them preſs forwards and perſevere, elſe their good Beginnings will avail them little; they that ſeem'd to be firſt would be laſt. Sometimes thoſe that are converted later in their Lives, out-ſtrip thoſe that are converted earlier; Paul was as one born out of due time, yet came not behind the chief of the Apoſtles, and out-did thoſe that were in Chriſt before him. Something of Affinity there is between this Parable and that of the Prodigal Son, where he that return'd from his wandring, was as dear to his Father, as he was that never went aſtray; firſt and laſt alike. (3.) That the Recompence of Reward will be given to the Saints, not according to the time of their Converſion, but according to the Preparations for it by Grace in this World; not according to the Seniority, (as Gen. 43. 33.) but according to the meaſure of the Stature of the fulneſs of Chriſt. Chriſt had promis'd the Apoſtles, who follow'd him in the Regeneration, at the beginning of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, great Glory, Chap. 19. 28. but tells them, thoſe that are in like manner faithful to him, even in the latter end of the World, ſhall have the ſame Reward, ſhall ſit with Chriſt on his Throne as well as the Apoſtles, Rev. 2. 26.—3. 21. Sufferers for Chriſt in the latter Days ſhall have the ſame Reward with the Martyrs and Confeſſors of the Primitive Times, tho' they are more celebrated; and faithful Miniſters now, the ſame with the firſt Fathers.

We have two things in the Parable; the Agreement with the Labourers, and the Account with them.

Firſt, Here's the Agreement made with the Labourers, v. 1.—7. And here it will be ask'd as uſual,

1. Who hires them? A man that is an Houſholder. God is the great Houſholder, whoſe we are, and whom we ſerve; As a Houſholder, he has Work that he will have to be done, and Servants that he will have to be doing; he hath a great Family in Heaven and Earth, which is named from Jeſus Chriſt, Eph. 3. 16. which he is Owner and Ruler of: God hires Labourers, not becauſe he needs them, or their Services, for if we be righteous, what do we unto him? but as ſome charitable generous Houſholders keep poor Men to work, in Kindneſs to them, to ſave them from Idleneſs and Poverty, and pay them for working for themſelves.

2. Whence they are hir'd? Out of the Market-place, where till they are hir'd into God's Service, they ſtand idle, v. 3. all the Day idle, v. 6. Note, (1.) The Soul of Man ſtands ready to be hir'd into ſome Service or other; 'twas (as all the Creatures were) created to work, and is either a Servant to Iniquity, or a Servant to Righteouſneſs, Rom. 6. 19. The Devil by his Temptations is hiring Labourers into his Field to feed Swine; God by his Goſpel is hiring Labourers into his Vineyard to dreſs it, and keep it, Paradiſe Work: We are put to our Choice, for hir'd we muſt be. Joſh. 24. 15. Chooſe ye this Day whom ye will ſerve. (2.) 'Till we are hir'd into the Service of God, we are ſtanding all the Day idle; a ſinful State, tho' a State of Drudgery to Satan, may really be call'd a State of Idleneſs; Sinners are doing nothing, nothing to the Purpoſe, nothing of the great Work they were ſent into the World about; nothing that will paſs well in the Account. (3.) The Goſpel-Call is given to thoſe that ſtand idle in the Market-place. The Market-place is a place of Concourſe, and there Wiſdom cries, Prov. 1. 20, 21. 'tis a place of Sport, there the Children are playing, Chap. 11. 16. and the Goſpel calls us from Vanity to Seriouſneſs. 'Tis a Place of Buſineſs, of Noiſe and Hurry, and from that we are call'd to retire. Come, come from this Market-place.

3. What are they hir'd to do? To labour in his Vineyard. Note, (1.) The Church is God's Vineyard; 'tis of his planting, watering, and fencing, and the Fruits of it muſt be to his Honour and Praiſe. (2.) We are all call'd upon to be Labourers in this Vineyard. The Work of Religion is Vineyard-Work, Pruning, Dreſſing, Digging, Watering, Fencing, Weeding; we have each of us our own Vineyard to keep, our own Soul, and it is God's, and to be kept and dreſs'd for him. In this Work we muſt not be ſlothful, not Loiterers, but Labourers, working, and working out our own Salvation: Work for God will not admit of trifling. A man may go idle to Hell, but he that will go to Heaven muſt be buſy.

4. What ſhall be their Wages? He promiſeth (1.) A Penny, v. 2. The Roman Penny was in our Money of the value of ſeven pence halfpenny, a Days Wages for a Days Work, and the Wages ſufficient for the Days Maintenance. This doth not prove that the Reward of our Obedience to God is of Work, or of Debt; no, it is of Grace, free Grace, Rom. 4. 4. or that there is any Proportion between our Services and Heaven's Glories; no, when we have done all, we are unprofitable Servants, but 'tis to ſignifie that there is a Reward ſet before us, and a ſufficient One. (2.) Whatſoever is right, v. 4. 7. Note, God will be ſure not to be behind-hand with any for the Service they do him. Never any loſt by working for God. The Crown ſet before us is a Crown of Righteouſneſs, which the righteous Judge ſhall give.

5. For what Term are they hir'd? For a Day: 'Tis but a Day's Work that is here done. The Time of Life is the Day, in which we muſt work the Works of him that ſent us into the World, 'Tis a ſhort Time, the Reward is for Eternity, the Work is but for a Day; Man is ſaid to accompliſh as a Hireling his Day, Job 14. 16. This ſhould quicken us to Expedition and Diligence in our Work, that we have but a little Time to Work in, and the Night is haſtening on when no Man can work; and if our great Work be undone when our Day is done, we are undone for ever. It ſhould alſo encourage us in reference to the Hardſhips and Difficulties of our Work, that 'tis but for a Day; the approaching Shadow: which the Servant earneſtly deſireth, will bring with it both Reſt and the Reward of our Work, Job 7. 2. Hold out Faith and Patience yet a little while.

6. Notice is taken of the ſeveral Hours of the Day, at which the Labourers were hir'd. The Apoſtles were ſent forth at the firſt and third Hour of the Goſpel-Day, they had a firſt and a ſecond Miſſion while Chriſt was on Earth, and their Buſineſs was to call in the Jews; After Chriſt's Aſcenſion, about the ſixth and ninth Hour they went out again on the ſame Errand, preaching the Goſpel to the Jews only, to them in Judea firſt, and afterwards to them of the Diſperſion; but at length, as it were about the 11*th* Hour, they called the Gentiles to the ſame Work and Priviledge with the Jews, and told them that in Chriſt Jeſus there ſhould be no difference made between Jew and Greek.

But this may be, and commonly is applied to the ſeveral Ages of Life, in which Souls are converted to Chriſt. The common Call is promiſcuous, to come work in the Vineyard, but the effectual Call is particular, and 'tis then effectual when we come at the Call.

(1.) Some are effectually call'd and begin to work in the Vineyard, when they are very young, are ſent in early in the Morning, whoſe tender Years are ſeaſon'd with Grace, and the Remembrance of their Creator. John Baptiſt was ſanctified from the Womb, and therefore great, Luke 1. 15. Timothy from a Child, 2*Tim.* 3. 15. Obadiah feared the Lord from his youth. Thoſe that have ſuch a Journey to go had need ſet out betimes, the ſooner the better.

(2.) Others are ſavingly wrought upon in middle Age, to work in the Vineyard, at the third, ſixth, or ninth Hour. The Power of Divine Grace is magnified in the Converſion of ſome, when they are in the midſt of their Pleaſures, and worldly Purſuits, as Paul. God has Work for all Ages; no time amiſs to turn to God. None can ſay it's all in good time, for whatever Hour of the Day it is with us, the time paſt of our Life may ſuffice that we have ſerved Sin; Go ye alſo into the Vineyard. God turns away none that are willing to be hired, for yet there is room.

(3.) Others are hired into the Vineyard in old Age, at the eleventh hour, when the Day of Life is far ſpent, and there is but one hour of the twelve remaining. None are hired at the twelfth hour, when Life is done, Opportunity is done; but while there's Life, there's Hope. (1.) There is hopes for old Sinners, for if in Sincerity they turn to God, they ſhall doubtleſs be accepted. True Repentance is never too late; And (2.) There is hopes of old Sinners, that they may be brought to true Repentance; nothing is too hard for Almighty Grace to do, that can change the Ethiopian's Skin, and the Leopard's Spots; can ſet thoſe to work who have contracted a habit of Idleneſs. Nicodemus may be born again when he is old, and the old Man may be put off which is corrupt.

Yet let none upon this Preſumption put off their Repentance till they are old. Theſe were ſent into the Vineyard, 'tis true, at the eleventh hour, but no Body had hir'd them, or offer'd to hire them before. The Gentiles came in at the eleventh hour, but it was becauſe the Goſpel had not been before preached to them. Thoſe that have had Goſpel-Offers made them at the third or ſixth Hour, and have reſiſted and refuſed them, will not have that to ſay for themſelves at the eleventh Hour that theſe had, No Man has hired us, nor can they be ſure that any Man will hire them at the ninth or eleventh Hour; and therefore not to diſcourage any, but to awaken all, be it remember'd, That now is the accepted time; if we will hear his Voice it muſt be to Day.

Secondly, Here's the Account with the Labourers. Obſerve 1. When the Account was taken; when the Evening was come, then as uſual the Day-Labourers were called and pay'd. Note, Evening-time is the Reckoning-time; the particular Account muſt be given up in the evening of our Life; for after Death the Judgment. Faithful Labourers ſhall receive their Reward when they die; 'tis defer'd till then that they may wait with Patience for it; but no longer, for God will obſerve his own Rule, the Hire of the Labourers ſhall not abide with thee all Night until the Morning, ſee Deut. 24. 15. When Paul that faithful Labourer departs, he is with Chriſt preſently. The Payment ſhall not be wholly defer'd till the Morning of the Reſurrection; but then in the evening of the World will be the general Account, when every one ſhall receive according to the things done in the Body. When Time ends, and with it the World of Work and Opportunity, then the State of Retribution commenceth. Then call the Labourers and give them their Hire; Miniſters call them into the Vineyard, to do their Work, Death calls them out of the Vineyard to receive their Penny; and thoſe to whom the Call into the Vineyard is effectual, the Call out of it will be joyful. Obſerve, They did not come for their Pay till they were called; we muſt with Patience wait God's Time for our Reſt and Recompence, go by our Maſter's Clock. The laſt Trumpet at the great Day ſhall call the Labourers, 1 Theſſ. 4. 16. Then ſhalt thou call, ſaith the good and faithful Servant, and I will anſwer. In calling the Labourers they muſt begin from the laſt, and ſo to the firſt: Let not thoſe that come in at the eleventh Hour be put behind the reſt, but leſt they ſhould be diſcouraged, call them firſt. At the great Day, tho' the Dead in Chriſt ſhall riſe firſt, yet they which are alive and remain, on whom the Ends of the World (the eleventh Hour of its Day) comes, ſhall be caught up together with them in the Clouds; no Preference ſhall be given to Seniority, but every Man ſhall ſtand in his own Lot at the end of the Days.

2. What the Account was; and in that obſerve,

1. The general Pay, v. 9, 10. they received every Man a Penny. Note, All that by patient Continuance in well-doing, Seek for Glory, Honour, and Immortality, ſhall undoubtedly obtain eternal Life, Rom. 2. 7. not as Wages for the value of their Work, but as the Gift of God. Tho' there be Degrees of Glory in Heaven, yet it will be to all a compleat Happineſs: They that come from the Eaſt and Weſt, and ſo come in late, that are pick'd up out of the High-Ways and the Hedges, yet ſhall ſit down with Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob at the ſame Feaſt, Mat. 8. 11. In Heaven every Veſſel will be full, brimful, tho' every Veſſel is not alike large and capacious. In the Diſtributions of future Joys, as it was in the gathering of the Manna; he that ſhall gather much will have nothing over, and he that ſhall gather little will have no lack, Exod. 16. 18. Thoſe whom Chriſt fed miraculouſly, tho' of different Sizes, Men, Women and Children, yet did all eat and were filled.

The giving of a whole Days Wages to thoſe that had not done the tenth part of a Days Work, is deſign'd to ſhew that God diſtributes his Rewards by Grace and Sovereignty, and not of Debt. The beſt of the Labourers, and thoſe that begin ſooneſt, yet having ſo many empty Spaces in their Time, and their Works not bing filled up before God, may truly be ſaid to labour in the Vineyard ſcarce one Hour of their twelve; but becauſe we are under Grace, and not under the Law, even ſuch defective Services done in Sincerity, ſhall not only be accepted, but by free Grace richly rewarded. Compare Luke 17. 7, 8. with Luke 12. 37.

2. The particular pleading with thoſe that were offended with this Diſtribution in Gavel-Kind. The Circumſtances of this ſerve to adorn the Parable, but the general Scope is plain, that the laſt ſhall be firſt. We have here,

1. The Offence taken, v. 11, 12. They murmured at the good Man of the Houſe; not that there is, or can be any Diſcontent or Murmuring in Heaven, for that's both Guilt and Grief, and in Heaven there is neither; but there may be, and often is Diſcontent and Murmuring concerning Heaven, and heavenly Things, while they are in proſpect and promiſe in this World. This ſignifies the Jealouſie which the Jews were provoked to by the admiſſion of the Gentiles into the Kingdom of Heaven. As the elder Brother in the Parable of the Prodigal repin'd at the Reception of his younger Brother, and complained of his Father's Generoſity to him; ſo theſe Labourers quarrel'd with their Maſter and found fault, not becauſe they had not enough, ſo much as becauſe others were made equal with them. They boaſt, as the Prodigal's elder Brother did, of their good Services, We have born the burthen and heat of the Day; that was the moſt they could make of it: Sinners are ſaid to labour in the very Fire, Heb. 2. 13. whereas God's Servants at the worſt do but labour in the Sun, not in the heat of the Iron Furnace, but only in the heat of the Day: Now theſe laſt have work'd but one Hour, and that too in the cool of the Day, and yet thou haſt made them equal with us. The Gentiles that are newly called in have as much of the Priviledges of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, as the Jews have that have ſo long been labouring in the Vineyard of the Old Teſtament-Church, under the Yoke of the Ceremonial Law, in expectation of that Kingdom. Note, there is a great proneneſs in us to think that we have too little, and others too much of the Tokens of God's Favour; and that we do too much, and others too little in the Work of God. Very apt we all are to under-value others Deſerts, and to over-value our own. Perhaps Chriſt here gives an Intimation to Peter not to boaſt too much, as he ſeemed to do, of his having left all to follow Chriſt, as if becauſe he and the reſt of them had born the burthen and heat of the Day thus, they muſt have a Heaven by themſelves. 'Tis hard for thoſe that do or ſuffer more than ordinary for God, not to be elevated too much with the Thought of it, and to expect to merit by it. Bleſſed Paul guarded againſt this, when, tho' the chief of the Apoſtles, he own'd himſelf to be nothing, to be leſs than the leaſt of all Saints.

2. The Offence removed. Three things the Maſter of the Houſe urgeth in anſwer to this ill-natur'd Surmize.

1. That the Complainant had no reaſon at all to ſay, he had any Wrong done unto him, v. 13, 14. Here he aſſerts his own Juſtice, Friend, I do thee no wrong. He calls him Friend, for in reaſoning with others, we ſhould uſe ſoft Words, and hard Arguments; if our Inferiors are peeviſh and provoking, yet we ſhould not thereby be put into a Paſſion, but ſpeak calmly to them. (1.) It is unconteſtably true that God can do no wrong. This is the Prerogative of the King of Kings. Is there Unrighteouſneſs with God? The Apoſtle ſtartles at the thought of it, God forbid, Rom. 3. 5, 6. His Word ſhould ſilence all our Murmurings, that whatever God doth to us, or withholds from us, he doth us no wrong. (2.) If God gives that Grace to others which he denies to us, 'tis Kindneſs to them, but no Injuſtice to us, and Bounty to another; while 'tis no Injuſtice to us, we ought not to find fault with. Becauſe it is free Grace that is given to thoſe that have it, Boaſting is for ever excluded; and becauſe it is Free Grace that is with-held from thoſe that have it not, murmuring is for ever excluded. Thus ſhall every Mouth be ſtop'd, and all Fleſh be ſilent before God.

To convince the Murmurer that he did no wrong, he refers him to the Bargain, Did'ſt not thou agree with me for a Penny? and if thou had'ſt what thou did'ſt agree for, thou haſt no reaſon to cry out of Wrong; thou ſhalt have what we agreed for. Tho' God is a Debtor to none, yet he is graciouſly pleaſed to make himſelf a Debtor by his own Promiſe, for the Benefit of which, through Chriſt, Believers agree with him, and he will ſtand to his part of the Agreement. Note, It is good for us often to conſider what it was that we agreed with God for. (1.) Carnal Worldlings agree with God for their Penny in this World, they chuſe their Portion in this Life, Pſal. 17. 14. In theſe things they are willing to have their Reward, Mat. 6. 2, 5. their Conſolation, Luke 6. 24. their good things, Luke 16. 25. And with theſe they ſhall be put off, ſhall be cut off from Spiritual and Eternal Bleſſings. And herein God doth them no wrong; they have what they choſe, the Penny they agreed for, ſo ſhall their Doom be, themſelves have decided it; 'tis concluſive againſt them. (2.) Obedient Believers agree with God for their Penny in the other World, and they muſt remember that they have ſo agreed. Did'ſt not thou agree to take God's Word for it? thou did'ſt, and wilt thou go and agree with the World. Did'ſt not thou agree to take up with Heaven as thy Portion, thy All, and to take up with nothing ſhort of it? and wilt thou ſeek for a Happineſs in the Creature, or think from thence to make up the Deficiencies of thy Happineſs in God?

He therefore, 1. tyes him to his Bargain, v. 14. Take that thine is, and go thy way. If we underſtand it of that which is ours by Debt, or abſolute Propriety, it would be a dreadful Word; we are all undone if we be put off with that only which we can call our own. The higheſt Creature muſt go away into nothing, if he muſt go away with that only which is his own. But if we underſtand it of that which is ours by Gift, the free Gift of God, it teacheth us to be content with ſuch things as we have. Inſtead of repining that we have no more, let us take what we have, and be thankful. If God be better in any reſpect to others than to us, yet we have no reaſon to complain while he is ſo much better to us than we deſerve; in giving us our Penny; tho' we are unprofitable Servants. 2. He tells him, that thoſe he envy'd ſhould fare as well as he did, I will give unto this laſt, even as unto thee, I am reſolv'd I will. Note, The unchangeableneſs of God's Purpoſes in diſpenſing his Gifts ſhould ſilence our Murmurings. If he will do it, 'tis not for us to gainſay; for he is in one mind, and who can turn him? neither giveth he an account of any of his Matters; nor is it fit he ſhould.

2. He had no reaſon to quarrel with the Maſter, for what he gave was abſolutely his own, v. 15. As before he aſſerted his Juſtice, ſo here his Sovereignty; Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with my own? Note, (1.) God is the owner of all Good, his propriety in it is Abſolute, Sovereign, and Unlimited. (2.) He may therefore give or with-hold his Bleſſings as he pleaſeth. What we have is not our own, and therefore 'tis not lawful for us to do what we will with it, but what God has is his own. And this will juſtifie him (1.) in all the Diſpoſals of his Providence, when God takes from us that which was dear to us, and which we could ill ſpare, we muſt ſilence our Diſcontents with this, May he not do what he will with his own? Abſtulit, ſed & dedit. It is not for ſuch depending Creatures as we are to quarrel with our Sovereign. (2.) In all the Diſpenſations of his Grace, God gives or with-holds the means of Grace, and the Spirit of Grace, as he pleaſeth. Not but that there is a Counſel in every Will of God, and what ſeems to us to be done Arbitrarily, will appear at length to have been done wiſely, and for holy Ends: But this is enough to ſilence all Murmurers and Objectors that God is ſovereign Lord of all, and may do what he will with his own. We are in his Hand as Clay in the hand of the Potter, and it is not for us to preſcribe to him, or ſtrive with him.

3. He had no reaſon to envy his Fellow-ſervant, or to grudge at him; not to be angry that he came into the Vineyard no ſooner, for he was not ſooner called; not to be angry that the Maſter had given him Wages for the whole Day, when he had idled away the greateſt part of it; for is thine Eye Evil, becauſe I am Good? See here,

(1.) The nature of Envy, it is an evil Eye. The Eye is oftentimes both the In-let, and Out-let of this Sin. Saul ſaw that David proſper'd, and he eyed him, 1 Sam. 18. 9, 15. 'Tis an evil Eye, being diſpleaſed at the Good of others, and deſiring their Hurt; What can have more Evil in it? 'Tis Grief to our ſelves, Anger to God, and Ill-will to our Neighbour, and it is a Sin that has neither Pleaſure, Profit, nor Honour in it; 'tis an Evil, an only Evil.

(2.) The Aggravation of it, 'tis becauſe I am good. Envy is unlikeneſs to God, who is good, and doth good, and delights in doing good; nay, it is an Oppoſition and Contradiction to God, 'tis a Diſlike of his Proceedings, and a Diſpleaſure at what he doth, and is pleas'd with. It is a direct Violation of both the two great Commandments at once; both that of Love to God, in whoſe Will we ſhould acquieſce, and Love to our Neighbour, in whoſe Welfare we ſhould rejoyce. Thus Man's badneſs takes occaſion from God's Goodneſs to be more exceeding ſinful.

Laſtly. Here is the Reddition of the Parable, v. 16. in that Obſervation which occaſion'd it, Chap. 19. 30. ſo the firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt firſt. There were many that followed Chriſt now in the Regeneration, when the Goſpel-Kingdom was firſt ſet up, and theſe Jewiſh Converts ſeem'd to have got the ſtart of others; but Chriſt, to obviate and ſilence their Boaſting here, tells them,

1. That they might poſſibly be out-ſtrip'd by their Succeſſors in Profeſſion, and tho' they were before others in Profeſſion, might be found inferior to them in Knowledge, Grace and Holineſs. The Gentile Church, which was as yet unborn, the Gentile World, which as yet ſtood idle in the Market place, would produce greater numbers of eminent uſeful Chriſtians than were found among the Jews. More and more excellent ſhall be the Children of the Deſolate, than thoſe of the marry'd Wife, Iſa. 54. 1. Who knows but that the Church in its old Age may be more fat and flouriſhing than ever, to ſhew that the Lord is upright. Tho' Primitive Chriſtianity had more of the Purity and Power of that holy Religion than is to be found in the degenerate Age wherein we live, yet what Labourers may be ſent into the Vineyard in the eleventh Hour of the Church's Day, in the Philadelphian Period, and what plentiful Effuſions of the Spirit may then be, above what has been yet, who can tell?

2. That they had reaſon to fear, leſt they themſelves ſhould be found Hypocrites at laſt; for many are called, but few are choſen. This is apply'd to the Jews, Chap. 22. 14. It was ſo then, it is too true ſtill; many are called with a common Call that are not choſen with a ſaving Choice. All that are choſen from Eternity are effectually called in the fulneſs of time, Rom. 8. 30. So that in making our effectual Calling ſure, we make ſure our Election, 2 Pet. 1. 10. But it is not ſo as to the outward Call. Many are called, and yet refuſe, Prov. 1. 24. Nay, as they are called to God, ſo they go from him, Hoſ. 11. 2, 7. By which it appears they were not choſen, for the Election will obtain, Rom. 11. 7. Note, There are but few choſen Chriſtians, in compariſon with the many that are only called Chriſtians; it therefore highly concerns us to build our Hope for Heaven upon the Rock of an eternal Choice, and not upon the Sand of an external Call; and we ſhould fear leſt we be found but ſeeming Chriſtians, and ſo ſhould really come ſhort; nay, leſt we be found blemiſh'd Chriſtians, and ſo ſhould ſeem to come ſhort, Heb. 4. 1.

17 And Jeſus going up to Jeruſalem, took the twelve diſciples apart in the way, and ſaid unto them, 18 Behold we go up to Jeruſalem, and the Son of man ſhall be betrayed unto the chief prieſts, and unto the ſcribes, and they ſhall condemn him to death, 19 And ſhall deliver him to the Gentiles, to mock, and to ſcourge, and to crucifie him: and the third day he ſhall riſe again.

This is the third time that Chriſt gave his Diſciples notice of his approaching Sufferings; he was now going up to Jeruſalem to celebrate the Paſſover, and to offer up himſelf the great Paſſover; both muſt be done at Jeruſalem, there the Paſſover muſt be kept, Deut. 12. 5. And there a Prophet muſt periſh, becauſe there the great Sanhedrin ſate, who were Judges in that caſe, Luke 13. 33.

Obſerve, 1. The Privacy of this Prediction, he took the twelve Diſciples apart in the way. This was one of thoſe things which was told to them in darkneſs, but which they were afterwards to ſpeak in the Light, Mat. 10. 27. His Secret was with them as his Friends, and this particularly. 'Twas a hard Saying, and if any could bear it they could. They would be more immediately expoſed to Peril with him, and therefore 'twas requiſite they ſhould know of it, that being fore-warn'd, they might be fore-arm'd. It was not fit to be ſpoken publickly as yet, (1.) becauſe many that were cool towards him, would hereby have been driven to turn their backs upon him; the ſcandal of the Croſs would have frightned them from following him any longer. (2.) Becauſe many that were hot for him would hereby be driven to take up Arms in his Defence, and it might have occaſioned an Uprear among the People, Mat. 26. 5. which would have been laid to his charge, if he had told them of it publickly before. And beſides that, ſuch Methods are utterly diſagreeable to the Genius of his Kingdom, which is not of this World, he never countenanced any thing which had a tendency to prevent his Sufferings. This Diſcourſe was not in the Synagogue, or in the Houſe, but in the Way as they travelled along, which teaches us in our Walks or Travels with our Friends, to keep up ſuch Diſcourſe as is good, and to the uſe of edifying, ſee Deut. 16. 7.

2. The Prediction it ſelf, v. 18, 19. Obſerve,

1. It is but a Repetition of what we had once and again ſaid before, Chap. 16. 21.—17. 22, 23. This intimates, that he not only ſaw clearly what Troubles lay before him, but that his Heart was upon his Suffering-work, it fill'd him, not with Fear, then he would have ſtudy'd to avoid it, and could have done it, but with Deſire and Expectation. He ſpoke thus frequently of his Sufferings, becauſe through them he was to enter into his Glory. Note, It is good for us to be often thinking and ſpeaking of our Death, and of the Sufferings which 'tis likely we may meet with betwixt this and the Grave. And thus by making them more familiar, they would become leſs formidable. This is one way of dying daily, and of taking up our Croſs daily, to be daily ſpeaking of the Croſs, and of Dying, which would come neither the ſooner, nor the ſurer, but much the better for our Thoughts and Diſcourſes of them.

2. He is more particular here in foretelling his Sufferings, than any time before. He had ſaid, Chap. 16. 21. That he ſhould ſuffer many things, and be killed, and Chap. 17. 22. that he ſhould be betrayed into the hands of Men, and they ſhould kill him. But here he adds, that he ſhall be condemn'd, and deliver'd to the Gentiles, that they ſhall Mock him, and Scourge him, and Crucifie him. Theſe are frightful things, and the certain foreſight of them was enough to damp an ordinary Reſolution, yet (as was foretold concerning him, Iſa. 42. 4.) he did not fail, nor was diſcourag'd, but the more clearly he foreſaw his Sufferings, the more chearfully he went forth to meet them. He foretels by whom he ſhould ſuffer, by the Chief Prieſts and the Scribes, ſo he had ſaid before, but here he adds, they ſhall deliver him to the Gentiles, that he might be the better underſtood; for the Chief Prieſts and Scribes had no power to put him to Death, nor was Crucifying a manner of Death in uſe among the Jews. Chriſt ſuffer'd from the Malice both of Jews and Gentiles, becauſe he was to ſuffer for the Salvation both of Jews and Gentiles. Both had a hand in his Death, becauſe he was to reconcile both by his Croſs. Eph. 2. 16.

3. Here, as before, he annexeth the mention of his Reſurrection and his Glory, to that of his Death and Sufferings. The third Day he ſhall riſe again. He ſtill brings this in (1.) to encourage himſelf in his Sufferings, and to carry him chearfully through them. He endured the Croſs, for the Joy ſet before him; he foreſaw he ſhould riſe again, and riſe quickly, the third Day. He ſhall be ſtraightway glorified, John 13. 32. The Reward is not only ſure, but very near. (2.) To encourage his Diſciples, and comfort them, who would be overwhelm'd, and greatly terrified by his Sufferings. (3.) To direct us under all the Sufferings of this preſent time, to keep up a believing Proſpect of the Glory to be reveal'd; to look at the things that are not ſeen, that are Eternal, which will enable us to call the preſent Afflictions Light, and but for a moment.

20 Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children, with her ſons, worſhipping him, and deſiring a certain thing of him. 21 And he ſaid unto her, What wilt thou? She ſaith unto him, Grant that theſe my two ſons may ſit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left in thy kingdom. 22 But Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I ſhall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptiſm that I am baptized with? They ſay unto him, We are able. 23 And he ſaith unto them, Ye ſhall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptiſm that I am baptized with: but to ſit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. 24 And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation againſt the two brethren. 25 But Jeſus called them unto him, and ſaid, Ye know that the princes of the Gentiles exerciſe dominion over them, and they that are great, exerciſe Authority upon them. 26 But it ſhall not be ſo among you: but whoſoever will be great among you, let him be your miniſter. 27 And whoſoever will be chief among you, let him be your ſervant. 28 Even as the Son of man came not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter, and to give his life a ranſom for many.

Here's Firſt, The Requeſt of the two diſciples to Chriſt, and the rectifying of the Miſtake upon which that was grounded, v. 20.---23. The Sons of Zebedee were James and John, two of the firſt three of Chriſt's Diſciples, Peter and they were his Favourites; John was the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved, yet none were ſo often reproved as they, whom Chriſt loves beſt, he reproves moſt, Rev. 3. 19.

1. Here's the ambitious Addreſs they made to Chriſt, that they might ſit the one on his right-hand, and the other on his left in his Kingdom, v. 20, 21. 'Twas a great degree of Faith, that they were confident of his Kingdom, tho' now he appear'd in Meanneſs; but a great degree of Ignorance, that they ſtill expected a temporal Kingdom with Worldly Pomp and Power, when Chriſt had ſo often told them of Sufferings and Self-denial. This Kingdom they expected to be Grandees in. They ask not for Employment in this Kingdom, but for Honour only, and no place would ſerve them in this imaginary Kingdom but the higheſt, next to Chriſt, and above every body elſe. 'Tis likely the laſt Word in Chriſt's foregoing Diſcourſe gave occaſion to this Requeſt, that the third day he ſhould riſe again. They concluded that his Reſurrection would be his entrance upon his kingdom, and therefore were reſolved to put in betimes for the beſt Place; nor would they loſe it for want of ſpeaking early. What Chriſt ſaid to comfort them, they thus abus'd, and were puff'd up with. Some cannot bear Comforts, but they turn them to a wrong Purpoſe; as Sweet-meats in a foul Stomach breed Choler. Now obſerve,

(1.) There was Policy in the Management of this Addreſs, that they put their Mother on to preſent it, that it might be look'd upon as her Requeſt, and not theirs. Tho' proud People think well of themſelves, they would not be thought to do ſo, and therefore affect nothing more than a Shew of Humility, Col. 2. 18. and others muſt be put on to court that Honour for them which they are aſham'd to court for themſelves. The Mother of James and John was Salome, as appears by comparing Mat. 27. 46. with Mark 15. 40. Some think ſhe was Daughter of Cleophas, or Alpheus, and Siſter, or Couſin German to Mary the Mother of our Lord. She was one of thoſe Women that attended Chriſt, and Miniſter'd to him; and they thought ſhe had ſuch an Intereſt in him, that he could deny her nothing, and therefore they make her their Advocate. Thus when Adonijah had an unreaſonable Requeſt to make to Solomon, he put Bathſheba on to ſpeak for him. 'Twas their Mother's Weakneſs thus to become the Tool of their Ambition, which ſhe ſhould have given a Check to. Thoſe that are wiſe and good would not be ſeen in an ill-favour'd thing. In gracious Requeſts we ſhould learn this Wiſdom, to deſire the Prayers of thoſe that have an Intereſt at the Throne of Grace; ſhould beg of our praying Friends to Pray for us, and reckon it a real Kindneſs.

It was likewiſe Policy to ask firſt for a general Grant, that he would do a certain thing for them, not in Faith, but in Preſumption upon that general Promiſe, Ask, and it ſhall be given you; in which is implied this Qualification of our Requeſt, that it be according to the revealed Will of God, otherwiſe we ask, and have not, if we ask to conſume it upon our Luſts, James 4. 3.

(2.) There was Pride at the bottom of it, a proud conceit of their own Merit, a proud Contempt of their Brethren, and a proud deſire of Honour and Preferment; Pride is a Sin that doth moſt eaſily beſet us, and which it is hard to get clear of. 'Tis a holy Ambition to ſtrive to excel others in Grace and Holineſs, but it is a ſinful Ambition to covet to exceed others in Pomp and Grandeur; ſeekeſt thou great things thy ſelf, when thou haſt juſt now heard of thy Maſter's being Mock'd, and Scourg'd, and Crucified, for ſhame ſeek them not, Jer. 45. 45.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Addreſs, v. 22, 23. directed not to the Mother, but to the Sons that ſet her on. Tho' others be our Mouth in Prayer, the Anſwer will be given to us according as we ſtand affected. Chriſt's Anſwer is very mild, they were overtaken in the Fault of Ambition, but Chriſt reſtored them with the Spirit of Meekneſs. Obſerve,

(1.) How he reprov'd the Ignorance and Error of their Petition. Ye know not what ye ask. (1.) They were much in the dark concerning the Kingdom they had their eye upon; they dream'd of a Temporal Kingdom, whereas Chriſt's Kingdom is not of this World. They knew not what it was to ſit on his right hand, and on his left; they talk'd of it as blind Men do of others. Our Apprehenſions of that Glory which is yet to be revealed, are like the Apprehenſions which a Child has of the Preferments of grown Men: If at length through Grace we arrive at Perfection, we ſhall then put away ſuch Childiſh Fancies, when we come to ſee face to face, we ſhall know what we enjoy; but now, alas, we know not what we ask; we can but ask for the Good as it lies in the Promiſe, Tit. 1. 2. what it will be in the performance, Eye has not ſeen, nor Ear heard. (2.) They were much in the dark concerning the way to that Kingdom. They know not what they ask, that as for the End, but overlooks the Means, and ſo put aſunder what God has joyned together. The Diſciples thought when they had left what little All they had for Chriſt, and had gone about the Country a while Preaching the Goſpel of the Kingdom, all their Service and Sufferings was over, and 'twas now time to ask, What ſhall we have? As if nothing were now to be look'd for but Crowns and Garlands; whereas there were far greater Hardſhips and Difficulties before them than they had yet met with; they imagin'd their Warfare was accompliſh'd when it was ſcarce begun, and they had yet but run with the Footmen. They dream of being in Canaan preſently, and conſider not what they ſhall do in the Swellings of Jordan. Note, 1. We are all apt when we are but girding on the Harneſs, to boaſt as tho' we had put it off. 2. We know not what we ask when we ask for the Glory of wearing the Crown, and ask not for Grace to bear the Croſs in our way to it.

(2.) How he repreſs'd the Vanity and Ambition of their Requeſt. They were pleaſing themſelves with the Fancy of ſitting on his right-hand, and on his left in great State; now to check this, he leads them to the Thoughts of their Sufferings, and leaves them in the dark about their Glory.

1. He leads them to the Thoughts of their Suffering, which they were not ſo mindful of as they ought to have been. They look'd ſo earneſtly upon the Crown, the Prize, that they were ready to plunge headlong, and unprepar'd, into the foul way that led to it; and therefore he thinks it neceſſary to put them in mind of the Hardſhips that were before them, that they might be no Surprize or Terror to them.

Obſerve, 1. How fairly he puts the Matter to them concerning theſe Difficulties, v. 22. You would ſtand Candidates for the firſt Poſt of Honour in the Kingdom, but are you able to drink of the Cup that I ſhall drink of? You talk of what great things you muſt have when you have done your Work, but are you able to hold out to the end of it? Put the Matter ſeriouſly to your ſelves. Theſe ſame two Diſciples once knew not what manner of Spirit they were of when they were diſturb'd with Anger, Luke 9. 55. and now were not awar what was amiſs in their Spirits when they were lifted up with Ambition, Chriſt ſees that Pride in us which we diſcern not in our ſelves.

Note, 1. That to ſuffer for Chriſt is to drink of a Cup, and to be Baptized with a Baptiſm. In this Deſcription of Sufferings, (1.) it is true that Affliction doth abound. 'Tis ſuppos'd to be a bitter Cup, that is drunk of, Wormwood and Gall, thoſe Waters of a full Cup that are wrung out to God's People, Pſal. 73. 10. A Cup of Trembling indeed, but not of Fire and Brimſtone, the Portion of the Cup of wicked Men, Pſal. 11. 6. 'Tis ſuppos'd to be a Baptiſm, a Waſhing with the Waters of Affliction; ſome are dip'd in them, the Waters compaſs them about even to the Soul, John 2. 5. Others have but a ſprinkling of them; both are Baptiſms, ſome are overwhelm'd in them, as in a Deluge, others ill wet, as in a ſharp Shower. But (2.) even in this Conſolation doth more abound. 'Tis but a Cup, not an Ocean; 'tis but a Draught, bitter perhaps, but we ſhall ſee the bottom of it, 'tis a Cup in the Hand of a Father, John 18. 11. and it is full of mixture, Pſal. 75. 8. 'Tis but a Baptiſm, if dip'd, that's the worſt of it, not drown'd, perplex'd, but not in deſpair. Baptiſm is an Ordinance by which we joyn our ſelves to the Lord in Covenants and Communion, and ſo is Suffering for Chriſt, Ezek. 20. 37. Iſa. 48. 10. Baptiſm is an outward and viſible Sign of an inward and ſpiritual Grace, and ſo is ſuffering for Chriſt, for unto us it is given, Phil. 1. 29.

2. It is to drink of the ſame Cup that Chriſt drunk of, and to be Baptiz'd with the ſame Baptiſm that he was baptiz'd with. Chriſt is before-hand with us in Sufferings, and in that, as in other things, left us an Example. (1.) It ſpeaks the Condeſcenſion of a Suffering Chriſt, that he would drink of ſuch a Cup, John 18. 11. nay, and ſuch a Brook, Pſal. 110. 7. and drink ſo deep, and yet ſo chearfully, that he would be Baptiz'd with ſuch a Baptiſm, and was ſo forward to it, Luke 12. 50. 'Twas much he would be Baptiz'd with Water as a common Sinner, much more with Blood as an uncommon Malefactor. But in all this he was made in the likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, and was made Sin for us. (2.) It ſpeaks the Conſolation of ſuffering Chriſtians, that they do but pledge Chriſt in the bitter Cup, are partakers of his Sufferings, and fill up that which is behind of them; we muſt therefore arm our ſelves with the ſame Mind, and go to him without the Camp.

3. It is good for us to be often putting it to ourſelves, whether we be able to drink of this Cup, and to be Baptized with this Baptiſm. We muſt expect Suffering, and look upon it as a hard thing to ſuffer well, and as becomes us. Are we able to ſuffer chearfully, and in the worſt of Times ſtill to hold faſt our Integrity? What can we afford to part with for Chriſt? How far will we give him Credit? Could I find in my Heart to drink of a bitter Cup, and to be Baptized with a bloody Baptiſm, rather than let go my hold for Chriſt? The Truth is, Religion, if it be worth any thing, is worth every thing; but it's worth little, if it be not worth ſuffering for. Now let us ſit down and count the coſt of dying for Chriſt, rather than denying him, and ask, Can we take him upon theſe Terms?

2. See how boldly they engage for themſelves, they ſaid, we are able, in hopes of ſitting on his right-hand, and on his left; but at the ſame time fondly hoped that they ſhould never be try'd. As before, they knew not what they ask'd, ſo now they knew not what they anſwer'd. We are able, they would have done well to put in, Lord, by thy Strength, and in thy Grace we are able, otherwiſe we are not. But the ſame that was Peter's Temptation, to be confident of his own Sufficiency, and preſume upon his own Strength, was here the Temptation of James and John, and 'tis a Sin we are all prone to. They knew not what Chriſt's Cup was, nor what his Baptiſm, and therefore they were thus bold in promiſing for themſelves. But thoſe are commonly moſt confident that are leaſt acquainted with the Croſs.

3. See how plainly and poſitively their Sufferings are here foretold, v. 23. Ye ſhall drink of my Cup. Sufferings foreſeen will be the eaſier born, eſpecially if look'd upon under a right Notion, as drinking of his Cup, and being Baptiz'd with his Baptiſm. Chriſt begun in Suffering for us, and expects we ſhould pledge him in ſuffering for him. Chriſt will have us know the worſt, that we may make the beſt of our way to Heaven. Ye ſhall drink, i. e. ye ſhall ſuffer. James drunk the bloody Cup firſt of all the Apoſtles, Acts 12. 2. John, tho' at laſt he dy'd in his Bed, if we may credit the Eccleſiaſtical Hiſtorians, yet often drunk of this bitter Cup, as when he was baniſh'd into the Iſle Patmos, Rev. 1. 9. And when, (as they ſay) at Epheſus he was put into a Caldron of boiling Oyl, but was miraculouſly preſerv'd. He was as the reſt of the Apoſtles in Deaths oft. He took the Cup, offer'd himſelf to the Baptiſm, and it was accepted.

2. He leaves them in the dark about the degrees of their Glory. To carry them chearfully through their Sufferings, it was enough to be aſſur'd that they ſhould have a Place in his Kingdom: The loweſt Seat in Heaven is an abundant Recompence for the greateſt Sufferings on Earth. But as to the Preferments there, 'twas not fit there ſhould be any intimation given for whom they were intended; for the Infirmity of the preſent State could not bear ſuch a diſcovery with any evenneſs. To ſit on my right-hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, and therefore 'tis not for you to ask it, or to know it, but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. Note, 1. 'Tis very probable there are degrees of Glory in Heaven; for our Saviour ſeems to allow that there are ſome that ſhall ſit on his right-hand, and on his left, in the higheſt Places. 2. As the future Glory it ſelf, ſo the degrees of it are purpoſed and prepar'd in the eternal Counſel of God; as the common Salvation, ſo the more peculiar Honours are appointed, the whole Affair is long ſince ſettled, and there is a certain Meaſure of the Stature, both in Grace and Glory, Eph. 4. 13. 3. Chriſt in diſpenſing the Fruits of his own Purchaſe goes exactly by the Meaſures of his Father's Purpoſe. 'Tis not mine to give, ſave to thoſe (ſo it may be read) for whom it is prepared. Chriſt has the ſole power of giving Eternal Life, but then it is to as many as were given him, John 17. 2. it is not mine to give, i. e. to promiſe now, that matter is already ſettled and concerted, and the Father and Son underſtand one another perfectly well in this matter. It is not mine to give to thoſe that ſeek it, and are ambitious of it, but to thoſe that by great Humility and Self-denial are prepared for it.

Secondly, Here is the Reproof and Inſtruction which Chriſt gave to the other ten Diſciples for their Diſpleaſure at the Requeſt of James and John. He had ſomething to do with them all, they were ſo weak in Knowledge and Grace, yet he bore their Manners.

1. The Fret that the ten Diſciples were in, v. 24. They were moved with Indignation againſt the two Brethren; not becauſe they were deſirous to be prefer'd, which was their Sin, and for which Chriſt was diſpleaſed with them, but becauſe they were deſirous to be prefer'd before them, which was a Reflection upon them; many ſeem to have Indignation at Sin, but it is not becauſe it is Sin, but becauſe it toucheth them. They will inform againſt a Man that ſwears, but it's only if he ſwear at them, and affront them, not becauſe he diſhonours God. Theſe Diſciples were angry at their Brethrens Ambition, tho' they themſelves, nay, becauſe they themſelves were as ambitious. Note, It is common for thoſe People to be angry at thoſe Sins in others, which they allow of, and indulge in themſelves. Thoſe that are proud and covetous themſelves, yet do not care to ſee others ſo. Nothing makes more Miſchief among Brethren, nor is the cauſe of more Indignation and Contention, than Ambition and Deſire of Greatneſs. We never find Chriſt's Diſciples quarrelling, but ſomething of this was at the bottom of it.

2. The check that Chriſt gave them, which was very gentle, rather by way of Inſtruction what they ſhould be, than by way of Reprehenſion for what they were. He had reprov'd this very Sin before, Chap. 18. 3. and told them they muſt be humble as little Children, yet they relaps'd into it, and yet he reproved them for it thus mildly.

He called them unto him, which intimates great Tenderneſs and Familiarity. He did not in anger bid them get out of his Preſence, but call'd them in love to come into his Preſence; for therefore he is fit to teach, and we are invited to learn of him, becauſe he is meek and lowly in Heart. What he had to ſay concern'd both the two Diſciples, and the ten, and therefore he will have them all together. And he tells them, that whereas they were asking, which of them ſhould have Dominion in a temporal Kingdom, there was really no ſuch Dominion reſerv'd for any of them. For,

1. They muſt not be like the Princes of the Gentiles. Chriſt's Diſciples muſt not be like Gentiles, no, not like Princes of the Gentiles. Principality doth no more become Miniſters, than Gentiliſm doth Chriſtians.

Obſerve, 1. What is the way of the Princes of the Gentiles, v. 25. to exerciſe Dominion and Authority over their Subjects, and (if they can but win the upper-hand with a ſtrong hand) over one another too. And that which bears them up in it, is, that they are great, and great Men think they may do any thing. Dominion and Authority is the thing which the Princes of the Gentiles purſue, and pride themſelves in; they would bear ſway, would carry all before them, have every body truckle to them, and every Sheaf bow to theirs. They would have it cry'd before them, Bow the Knee, like Nebuchadnezzar, who ſlew and kept alive at pleaſure.

2. What is the Will of Chriſt concerning his Apoſtles and Miniſters in this matter.

1. It ſhall not be ſo among you. The Conſtitution of the Spiritual Kingdom is quite different from this. You are to teach the Subjects of this Kingdom, to inſtruct and beſeech them, to counſel and comfort them, to take pains with them, and ſuffer with them, not to exerciſe Dominion or Authority over them; you are not to Lord it over God's Heritage, 1 Pet. 5. 3. but to labour in it. This forbids, not only Tyrranny, and Abuſe of Power, but the claim or uſe of any ſuch ſecular Authority as the Ptinces of the Gentiles lawfully exerciſe. So hard is it for vain Men, even good Men, to have ſuch Authority, and not to be puff'd up with it, and do more hurt than good with it, that our Lord Jeſus ſaw fit wholly to baniſh it out of his Church. Paul himſelf diſowns Dominion over the Faith of any, 2 Cor. 1. 1. The Pomp and Grandeur of the Princes of the Gentiles ill becomes Chriſt's Diſciples. Now if there were no ſuch Power and Honour intended to be in the Church, it was nonſenſe for them to be ſtriving who ſhould have it. They knew not what they ask'd.

2. How then ſhall it be among the Diſciples of Chriſt? Something of Greatneſs among them Chriſt himſelf had intimated, and here he explains it: He that will be great among you, that will be chief, that would really be ſo, and would be found to be ſo at laſt, let him be your Miniſter, your Servant, v. 26, 27. Here obſerve, (1.) That it is the Duty of Chriſt's Diſciples to ſerve one another for mutual Edification. This includes both Humility and Uſefulneſs. The Followers of Chriſt muſt be ready to ſtoop to the meaneſt Offices of Love for the Good of one another, muſt ſubmit one to another, 1 Pet. 5. 5. Eph. 5. 21. and edifie one another, Rom. 14. 19. Pleaſe one another for Good, Rom. 15. 2. The great Apoſtle made himſelf every one's Servant. See 1 Cor. 9. 19. (2.) It is the Dignity of Chriſt's Diſciples faithfully to diſcharge this Duty. The way to be Great and Chief, is to be humble and ſerviceable. Thoſe are to be beſt accounted of, and moſt reſpected in the Church, and will be ſo by all that underſtand things aright, not that are dignified with high and mighty Names, like the Names of the great ones of the Earth, that appear in Pomp, and aſſume to themſelves a Power proportionable; but thoſe that are moſt humble and ſelf-denying, and lay out themſelves moſt to do good, tho' to the diminiſhing of themſelves. Theſe honour God moſt, and thoſe he will honour. As he muſt become a Fool that would be wiſe, ſo he muſt become a Servant that would be chief. St. Paul was a great Example of this, he labour'd more abundantly than they all, made himſelf (as ſome would call it) a drudge to his Work, and is not he chief? Do we not by conſent call him the great Apoſtle? tho' he call'd himſelf leſs than the leaſt. And perhaps our Lord Jeſus had an eye to him, when he ſaid, there were laſt that ſhould be firſt; for Paul was one born out of due time, 1 Cor. 15. 8. Not only the youngeſt Child of the Family of the Apoſtles, but a poſthumous one, yet he became greateſt. And perhaps he it was for whom the firſt Poſt of Honour in Chriſt's Kingdom was reſerv'd, and prepared of his Father, not for James who ſought it; and therefore juſt before Paul began to be famous as an Apoſtle, Providence ordered it ſo that James was cut off, Acts 12. 1. that in the Colledge of the Twelve, Paul might be ſubſtituted in his room.

2. They muſt be like the Maſter himſelf, and 'tis very fit they ſhould; that while they were in the World, they ſhould be as he was when he was in the World; for to both, the preſent State is a ſtate of Humiliation, the Crown and Glory was reſerv'd for both in the future State. Let them conſider that the Son of Man came not to be Miniſter'd to, but to Miniſter, and to give his Life a Ranſom for many, v. 28. Our Lord Jeſus here ſets himſelf before his Diſciples as a Pattern of thoſe two things before recommended, Humility and Uſefulneſs.

1. Never was there ſuch an Example of Humility and Condeſcenſion as there was in the Life of Chriſt, who came not to be Miniſter'd unto, but to Miniſter. When the Son of God came into the World, his Embaſſador to the Children of Men, one would think he ſhould have been Miniſter'd to, ſhould have appear'd in an Equipage agreeable to his Perſon and Character, but he did not ſo; he made no figure, had no pompous Train of State-Servants to attend him, nor was he clad in Robes of Honour, for he took upon him the Form of a Servant. He was indeed Miniſter'd to as a poor Man, which was a part of his Humiliation, there were thoſe that Miniſter'd to him of their Subſtance, Luke 8. 2, 3. But he was never Miniſter'd to as a Great Man; never took State upon him, was not waited on at Table; he once waſh'd his Diſciples Feet, but we never read that they waſh'd his Feet. He come to Miniſter Help to all that were in Diſtreſs; he made himſelf a Servant to the Sick and Diſeaſed; was as ready to their Requeſts as ever any Servant was to the Beck of his Maſter, and took as much pains to ſerve them; he attended continually to this very thing, and deny'd himſelf both Food and Reſt to attend to it.

2. Never was there ſuch an Example of Beneficence and Uſefulneſs as there was in the Death of Chriſt, who gave his Life a Ranſom for many. He liv'd as a Servant, and went about doing Good; but he dy'd as a Sacrifice, and in that did the greateſt Good of all. He came into the World on purpoſe to give his Life a Ranſom, it was firſt in his Intention. The aſpiring Princes of the Gentiles make the Lives of many a Ranſom for their own Honour, and perhaps a Sacrifice to their own Humour. Chriſt doth not do ſo, his Subjects Blood is precious to him, and he is not prodigal of it, Pſal. 72. 14. But on the contrary he gives his Honour and Life too a Ranſom for his Subjects. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt laid down his Life for a Ranſom. Our Lives were forfeited into the Hands of divine Juſtice by Sin; Chriſt by parting with his Life made Attonement for Sin, and ſo reſcued ours; he was made Sin, and a Curſe for us, and dy'd, not only for our Good, but in our ſtead, Acts 20. 28. 1 Pet. 1. 18, 19. (2.) 'Twas a Ranſom for many, ſufficient for all, effectual for many; and if for many, then, ſaith the poor doubting Soul, why not for me? for many, that by him many may be made Righteous. Theſe many were his Seed, for which his Soul travelled, Iſa. 53. 10, 11. For many, ſo they will be when they come all together, tho' now they appear but a little Flock.

Now this is a good Reaſon why we ſhould not ſtrive for Precedency, becauſe the Croſs is our Banner, and our Maſter's Death is our Life. 'Tis a good Reaſon why we ſhould ſtudy to do Good, and in conſideration of the Love of Chriſt in dying for us, not ſtick at laying down our Lives for the Brethren, 1 John 3. 16. Miniſters ſhould be more forward than others to ſerve and ſuffer for the Good of Souls, as bleſſed Paul was, Acts 20. 24. Phil. 2. 17. And the nearer we are all concern'd in, and the more we are advantag'd by the Humility and Humiliation of Chriſt, the more ready and careful we ſhould be to imitate it.

29 And as they departed from Jericho, a great multitude followed him. 30 And behold two blind men ſitting by the way-ſide, when they heard that Jeſus paſſed by, cried out, ſaying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou ſon of David. 31 And the multitude rebuked them, becauſe they ſhould hold their peace: but they cried the more, ſaying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou ſon of David. 32 And Jeſus ſtood ſtill, and called them, and ſaid, What will ye that I ſhall do unto you? 33 They ſay unto him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened. 34 So Jeſus had compaſſion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received ſight, and they followed him.

We have here an account of the Cure of two poor blind Beggars; in which we may obſerve,

1. Their Addreſs to Chriſt, v. 29, 30. And in this,

1. The Circumſtances of it are obſervable: 'Twas as Chriſt and his Diſciples departed from Jericho; that devoted Place which was rebuilt under a Curſe, Chriſt took his leave of with this Bleſſing, for he received Gifts, even for the Rebellious: 'Twas in the preſence of a great Multitude that follow'd him. Chriſt had a numerous, tho' not a pompous Attendance, and did good to them, tho' he did not take State to himſelf. This Multitude that followed Chriſt was a mixt Multitude: Some follow'd him for Loaves, and ſome for Love; ſome for Curioſity, and ſome in expectation of his temporal Reign, which the Diſciples themſelves dream'd of, and very few with deſire to be taught their Duty; yet for the ſake of thoſe few, he confirm'd his Doctrine by Miracles wrought in the preſence of great Multitudes; who, if they were not convinc'd by them, would be the more inexcuſable. Two blind Men concur'd in their Requeſt; for Joynt-prayer is pleaſing to Chriſt, Mat. 18. 19. Theſe Joynt-Sufferers were Joynt-ſutors, being Companions in the ſame Tribulation, they were Partners in the ſame Supplication. Note, 'Tis good for thoſe that are labouring under the ſame Calamity, or Infirmity of Body or Mind, to joyn together in the ſame Prayer to God for Relief, that they may quicken one another's Fervency, and encourage one another's Faith. There is Mercy enough in Chriſt for all the Petitioners. Theſe blind Men were ſitting by the way ſide, as blind Beggars us'd to do. Note, Thoſe that would receive Mercy from Chriſt, muſt place themſelves there where his out-goings are; where he uſeth to manifeſt himſelf to thoſe that ſeek him. 'Tis good thus to Way-lay Chriſt, to be in his Road.

They heard that Jeſus paſſed by. Tho' they were blind, they were not deaf. Seeing and Hearing are the learning Senſes. 'Tis a great Calamity to want either; but the defect of one may be, and often is made up in the Acuteneſs of the other; and therefore it has been obſerv'd by ſome, as an Inſtance of the Goodneſs of Providence, that none were ever known to be born both Blind and Deaf; but that one way or other they might be in a capacity of receiving Knowledge. Theſe blind Men had heard of Chriſt by the hearing of the Ear, but they deſir'd that their Eyes might ſee him. When they heard that Jeſus paſſed by, they ask'd no further Queſtions who were with him, or whether he was in haſte, but immediately cried out. Note, It is good to improve the preſent Opportunity, to make the beſt of the Price now in the hand, becauſe if once let ſlip, it may never return; theſe blind Men did ſo, and did wiſely; for we do not find that Chriſt ever came to Jericho again. Now is the accepted time.

2. The Addreſs it ſelf is more obſervable. Have Mercy on us, O Lord, thou Son of David, repeated again, v. 31. Four things are recommended to us for an example in this Addreſs; for tho' the Eye of the Body was dark, the Eye of the Mind was enlightned, concerning Truth, Duty, and Intereſt.

1. Here's an Example of Importunity in Prayer. They cry'd out as Men in earneſt; Men in want uſe to be ſo. Cold deſires do but beg Denials. Thoſe that would prevail in Prayer, muſt ſtir up themſelves to take hold on God in the Duty. When they were diſcountenanc'd in it, they cried the more. The Stream of Fervency, if it be ſtop'd, will riſe and ſwell the higher. This is wreſtling with God in Prayer, and makes us the fitter to receive Mercy; for the more it is ſtriven for, the more 'twill be priz'd, and thankfully acknowledg'd.

2. Of Humility in Prayer: In that word, have mercy on us, not ſpecifying the Favour, or preſcribing what, much leſs pleading Merit, but caſting themſelves upon, and referring themſelves chearfully to the Mediator's Mercy, in what way he pleaſeth, only have Mercy. They ask not for Silver and Gold, tho' they were poor, but Mercy, mercy. This is that which our hearts muſt be upon when we come to the Throne of Grace, that we may find Mercy, Heb. 4. ult. Pſal. 130. 7.

3. Of Faith in Prayer: In the Title they gave to Chriſt, which was in the nature of a Plea, O Lord, thou Son of David. They confeſs that Jeſus Chriſt is Lord, and therefore had Authority to command Deliverance for them. Surely it was by the Holy Ghoſt that they called Chriſt Lord, 1 Cor. 12. 3. Thus they take their Encouragement in Prayer from his Power, as in calling him the Son of David, they take encouragement from his Goodneſs, as Meſſiah, of whom ſo many kind and tender things had been foretold, particularly his Compaſſion to the Poor and Needy, Pſal. 72. 12, 13. It is of excellent uſe in Prayer to eye Chriſt in the Grace and Glory of his Meſſiah-ſhip; remember that he is the Son of David, whoſe Office it is to help, and ſave, and plead it with him.

4. Of Perſeverance in Prayer, notwithſtanding Diſcouragement. The Multitude rebuked them, as noiſy, and clamorous, and impertinent, and bid them hold their Peace, and not diſturb the Maſter, who perhaps at firſt himſelf ſeemed not to regard them. In following Chriſt with our Prayers, we muſt expect to meet with Hindrances, and manifold Diſcouragements from within, and from without, ſomething or other that bids us hold our Peace. Such Rebukes are permitted, that Faith and Fervency, Patience and Perſeverance may be try'd: Theſe poor blind Men were rebuked by the Multitude that follow'd Chriſt. Note, The ſincere and ſerious Beggars at Chriſt's Door commonly meet with the worſt Rebukes from thoſe that follow him but in Pretence and Hypocriſy: But they would not be beaten off ſo: when they were in purſuit of ſuch a Mercy, it was no time to Complement, or to be meal-mouth'd; no, they cried the more. Note, Men ought always to pray, and not to faint, to pray with all Perſeverance, Luke 18. 1. to continue in Prayer with Reſolution, and not to yield to Oppoſition.

2. The Anſwer of Chriſt to this Addreſs of theirs: The Multitude rebuked them, but Chriſt encouraged them. 'Twere ill for us if the Maſter were not more kind and tender than the Multitude; but he loves to countenance thoſe with ſpecial Favour that are under Frowns, and Rebukes and Contempts from Men. He will not ſuffer his humble Supplicants to be run down and daſh'd out of Countenance.

1. He ſtood ſtill, and called them, v. 32. He was now going up to Jeruſalem, and was ſtraiten'd till his Work there was accompliſhed, and yet he ſtood ſtill to cure theſe blind Men. Note, when we are never ſo much in haſte about any Buſineſs, yet we ſhould be willing to ſtand ſtill to do Good. He called them, not becauſe he could not cure them at a Diſtance, but becauſe he would do it in the moſt obliging and inſtructing way, and would countenance weak but willing Patience, and Petitioners. Chriſt doth not only enjoin us to pray, but invites us; holds out the Golden Sceptre to us, and bids us come touch the top of it.

2. He enquired farther into their Caſe; What will ye that I ſhall do unto you? Which ſpeaks (1.) a very fair Offer. Here I am, let me know what you would have, and you ſhall have it; and what would we more? he is able to do for us, and as willing as he is able. Ask, and it ſhall be given you. (2) A Condition annexed to this Offer, which is a very eaſy and reaſonable one, that they ſhould tell him what they would have him do for them: One would think this a ſtrange Queſtion, any one might tell what they would have, Chriſt knew well enough, but he would know it from them, whether they begg'd only for an Alms, as from a common Perſon, or for a Cure, as from the Meſſiah. Note, It is the Will of God that we ſhould in every thing make our Requeſts known to him, by Prayer and Supplication; not to inform or move him, but to qualifie our ſelves for the Mercy. The Water-Man in the Boat, that with his Hook takes hold of the Shore, doth not thereby pull the Shore to the Boat, but the Boat to the Shore. So in Prayer we do not draw the Mercy to our ſelves, but our ſelves to the Mercy.

They ſoon made known their Requeſt to him, ſuch a one as they never made to any one elſe, Lord, that our Eyes may be opened. The Wants and Burthens of the Body we are ſoon ſenſible of, and can readily relate, ubi dolor, ibi digitus; O that we were but as apprehenſive of our Spiritual Maladies, and could as feelingly complain of them, eſpecially our Spiritual Blindneſs; Lord, that the Eyes of our Mind may be opened. Many are ſpiritually blind, and yet ſay they ſee, Joh. 9. 41. Were we but ſenſible of our Darkneſs, we ſhould ſoon apply our ſelves to him, who alone has the Eye-Salve, with this Requeſt, Lord, that our Eyes may be opened.

3. He cured them, when he encouraged them to ſeek him, he did not ſay, ſeek in vain: What he did was an Inſtance,

1. Of his Pity; He had Compaſſion on them: Miſery is the Object of Mercy. They that are poor and blind, are wretched and miſerable, Rev. 3. 17. and the Objects of Compaſſion. 'Twas the tender Mercy of our God that gave Light and Sight to them that ſat in Darkneſs, Luk. 1. 78, 79. We cannot help thoſe that are under ſuch Calamities as Chriſt did, but we may, and muſt pity them as Chriſt did, and draw out our Soul to them.

2. Of his Power: He that formed the Eye, can he not heal it? Yes, he can, he did, he did it eaſily, he touched their Eyes, he did it effectually, immediately their Eyes received Sight. Thus he not only proved that he was ſent of God, but ſhew'd on what Errand he was ſent, to give Sight to thoſe that are ſpiritually Blind, to turn them from Darkneſs to Light.

Laſtly, Theſe blind Men, when they had received Sight, followed him. Note, None followed Chriſt blindfold: He firſt by his Grace opens Mens Eyes, and ſo draws their Hearts after him. They followed Chriſt as his Diſciples, to learn of him, and as his Witneſſes, Eye-Witneſſes to bear their Teſtimony to him, and to his Power and Goodneſs. The beſt Evidence of Spiritual Illumination, is a conſtant inſeparable Adherence to Jeſus Chriſt, as our Lord and Leader.

CHAP. XXI.

The Death and Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt, are the two main Hinges upon which the Door of Salvation turns; He came into the World on purpoſe to give his Life a Ranſom, ſo he had lately ſaid, chap. 20. 28. And therefore the Hiſtory of his Sufferings, even unto Death, and his riſing again, is more particulary recorded by all the Evangeliſts than any other part of his Story; and to that this Evangeliſt now haſtens apace. For at this Chapter begins that which they call the Paſſion-Week: He had ſaid to his Diſciples more than once, Behold, we go up to Jeruſalem, and there the Son of Man muſt be betray'd; a great deal of good Work he did by the way, and now at length he is come up to Jeruſalem, and here we have (1.) The publick Entry which he made into Jeruſalem, upon the firſt Day of the Paſſion-Week, v. 1—11. (2.) The Authority he exerciſed there; in cleanſing the Temple, and driving out of it the Buyers and Sellers, v. 12—16. (3.) The Emblem he gave of the State he gave of the Jewiſh Church, in curſing the barren Fig-Tree, and his Diſcourſe with his Diſciples thereupon, v. 17.—22. (4.) His juſtifying his own Authority, by appealing to the Baptiſm of John, v. 23.—27. (5.) His ſhaming the Infidelity and Obſtinacy of the chief Prieſts and Elders, with the Repentance of the Publicans, illuſtrated by the Parable of the two Sons, v. 29.—32. (6.) His reading the Doom of the Jewiſh Crurch for its unfruitfulneſs, in the Parable of the Vineyard, let out to unthankful Husbandmen, v. 33.—46.

AND when they drew nigh unto Jeruſalem, and were come to Bethpage, unto the mount of Olives, then ſent Jeſus two diſciples, 2 Saying unto them, Go into the village over againſt you, and ſtraightway ye ſhall find an aſs tied, and a colt with her: looſe them, and bring them unto me. 3 And if any man ſay ought unto you, ye ſhall ſay, The Lord hath need of them; and ſtraightway he will ſend them. 4 All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the prophet, ſaying, 5 Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Behold, thy king cometh unto thee, meek, and ſitting upon an aſs, and a colt the fole of an aſs. 6 And the diſciples went, and did as Jeſus commanded them, 7 And brought the aſs, and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and then ſet him thereon. 8 And a very great multitude ſpread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees, and ſtrawed them in the way. 9 And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, ſaying, Hoſanna to the ſon of David: Bleſſed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord, Hoſanna in the higheſt. 10 And when he was come into Jeruſalem, all the city was moved, ſaying, Who is this? 11 And the multitude ſaid, This is Jeſus the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee.

All the four Evangeliſts take notice of this Paſſage of Chriſt's riding in triumph into Jeruſalem, five Days before his Death; the Paſſover was on the fourteenth Day of the Month, and this was the tenth; on which Day the Law appointed that the Paſchal Lamb ſhould be taken up, Exod. 12. 3. and ſet apart for that Service; on that Day therefore Chriſt our Paſſover, who was to be ſacrificed for us, was publickly ſhewed. So that this was the Prologue to his Paſſion: He had lodg'd at Bethany, a Village not far from Jeruſalem for ſome time; at a Supper there, the Night before Mary had anointed his Feet, Joh. 12. 2. But as is uſual with Ambaſſadors, he deferr'd his publick Entry till ſome time after his Arrival. Our Lord Jeſus travelled much, and his Cuſtom was to travel on foot from Galilee to Jeruſalem; ſome ſcores of Miles, which was both mean and toilſome; many a dirty weary Step he had when he went about doing Good; how ill doth it become Chriſtians to be inordinately ſollicitous about their own Eaſe and State, when their Maſter had ſo little of either; yet once in his Life he rode in triumph, and it was now when he went into Jeruſalem to ſuffer and dye, as if that were the Pleaſure and Preferment he courted; and then he thought himſelf begin to look great.

Now here we have,

Firſt, The Proviſion that was made for this Solemnity; and it was very poor and ordinary, and ſuch as beſpoke his Kingdom, not of this World: Here were no Heralds at Arms provided, no Trumpets ſounded before him, no Chariots of State, no Liveries; ſuch things as theſe, were not agreeable to his preſent State of Humiliation; but will be far out-done at his ſecond coming; to which his magnificent Appearance is reſerved, when the laſt Trumpet ſhall ſound, the glorious Angels ſhall be his Heralds and Attendants, and the Clouds his Chariots. But in this publick appearance,

1. The Preparation was ſudden and off-hand; for his Glory in the other World, and ours with him, Preparation was made before the Foundation of the World, for that was the Glory his Heart was upon; his Glory in this World he was dead to, and therefore tho' he had it in proſpect, did not forecaſt for it, but took what came next. They were come to Bethpage, which was the Suburbs of Jeruſalem, and was accounted (ſay the Jewiſh Doctors) in all things, as Jeruſalem, a long ſcattering Street, that lay towards the Mount of Olives; when he enter'd upon that, he ſent two of his Diſciples, ſome think Peter and John, to fetch him an Aſs, for he had none laid ready for him.

2. It was very mean: He ſent only for an Aſs and her Colt, v. 2. Aſſes were much uſed in that Country for Travel, Horſes were kept only by great Men, and for War; Chriſt could have ſummon'd a Cherub to carry him, Pſal. 18. 10. But tho' by his Name Jah, which ſpeaks him God, he rides upon the Heavens, yet now by his Name Jeſus, Immanuel, God with us, in his State of Humiliation he rides upon an Aſs; yet ſome think he had herein an Eye to the Cuſtom in Iſrael, for the Judges to ride upon white Aſſes, Jud. 5. 10. and their Sons on Aſs-colts, Jud. 12. 14. And Chriſt would thus enter, not as a Conqueror, but as the Judge of Iſrael, who for Judgment came into this World.

3. It was not his own, but borrow'd; tho' he had not a Houſe of his own, yet one would think, like ſome Way-faring Men that live upon their Friends, he might have an Aſs of his own to carry him about; but for our Sakes he became in all reſpects poor, 2 Cor. 8. 9. 'Tis commonly ſaid, they that live on borrowing, live on ſorrowing; in this therefore, as in other Things, Chriſt was a Man of ſorrows, that he had nothing of this World's Goods but what was given him or lent him.

The Diſciples who were ſent to borrow this Aſs, are directed to ſay, The Lord has need of him? Thoſe that are in need muſt not be aſham'd to own their Need, nor ſay as the unjuſt Steward, to beg I am aſhamed, Luke 16. 3. As on the other Hand none ought to impoſe upon the Kindneſs of their Friends, by going to beg or borrow when they have not need. In the borrowing of this Aſs,

1. We have an Inſtance of Chriſt's Knowledge; tho' the thing was altogether contingent, yet Chriſt could tell his Diſciples where they ſhould find an Aſs ty'd, and a Colt with her: his Omniſcience extends it ſelf to the meaneſt of his Creatures; Aſſes and their Colts, and their being bound or looſed: Doth God take care for Oxen! 1 Cor. 9. 9. no doubt he doth, and would not ſee Balaam's Aſs abuſed. He knows all the Creatures, ſo as to know, and to make them ſerve his own Purpoſes.

2. We have an Inſtance of his Power over the Spirits of Men; the Hearts of the meaneſt Subjects, as well as of Kings, are in the Hand of the Lord. Chriſt aſſerts his Right to uſe the Aſs, in bidding them bring it to him; the fulneſs of the Earth is the Lord Chriſt; but he foreſees ſome hindrance which the Diſciples might meet with in this Service; they muſt not take them clan & ſecretò, but in the ſight of the owner, much leſs vi & armis, but with the conſent of the Owner, which he undertakes they ſhall have; If any Man ſay ought to you, ye ſhall ſay, The Lord has need of them. Note, What Chriſt ſets us to do, he will bear us out in the doing of, and furniſh us with Anſwers to the Objections we may be aſſaulted with, and make them prevalent, as here, ſtraightway he will ſend them. Chriſt in commanding the Aſs into his Service, ſhew'd that he is Lord of Hoſts, and in inclining the Owner to ſend him without further Security, ſhewed that he is the God of the ſpirits of all Fleſh, and can bow Men's Hearts.

3. We have an Example of Juſtice and Honeſty, in not uſing the Aſs, tho' for ſo ſmall a piece of Service as riding the length of a Street or two without the Owner's Conſent: And as ſome read the latter Clauſe, it gives us a further Rule of Juſtice, you ſhall ſay the Lord has need of them, and he (that is, the Lord) will preſently ſend them back, and take care that they be ſafely delivered to the Owner, as ſoon as he has done with them. Note, What we borrow we muſt reſtore in due time, and in good Order; for the wicked borrows and pays not again. Care muſt be taken of borrow'd Goods, that they be not damag'd. Alas, Maſter, for it was borrow'd.

Secondly, The Prediction that was fulfilled in this, v. 4, 5. Our Lord Jeſus in all he did and ſuffered, had very much his Eye upon this, That the Scriptures might be fulfill'd. As the Prophets look'd forward to him, to him they all bare Witneſs, ſo he look'd back upon them, that all things which were written of the Meſſiah might be punctually accompliſh'd in him. This particularly which was written of him, Zech. 9. 9. where it uſhers in a large Prediction of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, Tell the Daughter of Sion, Behold thy King cometh, muſt be accompliſhed. Now obſerve here,

1. How the coming of Chriſt is foretold; Tell ye the Daughter of Sion, the Church, the Holy Mountain, Behold thy King cometh unto thee. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt is the Churches King, one of our Brethren, like unto us, according to the Law of the Kingdom, Deut. 17. 15. He is appointed King over the Church, Pſal. 2. 6. He is accepted King by the Church, the Daughter of Sion ſwears Allegiance to him, Hoſ. 1. 11. (2.) Chriſt, the King of his Church, came to his Church, even in this lower World; he comes to thee, to rule thee, to rule in thee, to rule for thee, he is Head over all things to the Church: He came to Sion, Rom. 11. 26. that out of Sion the Law might go forth; for the Church and its Intereſts were all in all with the Redeemer. (3.) Notice was given to the Church before hand of the coming of her King; Tell the Daughter of Sion. Note, Chriſt will have his coming look'd for, and waited for, and his Subjects big with Expectation of it; Tell the Daughters of Sion, that they may go forth and behold King Solomon, Cant. 3. 11. Notices of Chriſt's coming are uſually uſher'd in with a Behold! a Note commanding both Attention and Admiration; Behold thy King cometh; Behold and wonder at him, behold and welcome him. Here's a Royal Progreſs truly admirable, Pilate, like Caiphas, ſaid he knew not what, in that great Word, Joh. 19. 14. Behold your King.

2. How his coming is deſcribed; when a King comes, ſomething great and magnificent is expected, eſpecially when he comes to take poſſeſſion of his Kingdom; the King, the Lord of Hoſts, was ſeen upon a Throne high and lifted up, Iſa. 6. 1. But here's nothing of that here, Behold, he comes to thee, meek, and ſitting upon an Aſs; when Chriſt would appear in his Glory, 'tis in his Meekneſs, not in his Majeſty.

1. His Temper is very mild; He comes not in Wrath, to take Vengeance, but in Mercy to work Salvation; he is meek to ſuffer the greateſt Injuries and Indignities for Sion's Cauſe; meek to bear with the Follies and Unkindneſſes of Sion's own Children: He is eaſy of acceſs, eaſy to be intreated. He is not only meek as a Teacher, but meek as a Ruler; he rules by Love. His Government is mild and gentle, and his Laws not written in the Blood of his Subjects, but in his own: His Yoke eaſy.

2. As an Evidence of this, his Appearance is very mean, ſitting upon an Aſs, a Creature made not for State, but Service, not for Battles, but for Burthens; ſlow in its motions, but ſure and ſafe, and conſtant. The foretelling of this ſo long before, and the care taken that it ſhould be exactly fulfilled, intimates it to have a peculiar ſignificancy, for the encouragement of poor Souls to apply themſelves to Chriſt: Sion's King comes riding, not on a prancing Horſe, which the timorous Petitioner dares not come near, or a running Horſe, which the ſlow-footed Petitioner cannot keep pace with, but on a quiet Aſs, that the pooreſt of his Subjects may not be diſcouraged in their Acceſs to him. Mention is made in the Prophecy of a Colt, the Fole of an Aſs; and therefore Chriſt ſent for the Colt with the Aſs, that the Scripture might be fulfilled.

Thirdly, The Proceſſion it ſelf, which was anſwerable to the Preparation, both being deſtitute of wordly Pomp, and yet both accompany'd with a Spiritual Power.

Obſerve 1. His Equipage. The Diſciples did as Jeſus commanded them, v. 6. they went to fetch the Aſs and the Colt, not doubting but to find them, and to find the Owner willing to lend them. Note, Chriſt's Commands muſt not be diſputed, but obey'd, and thoſe that ſincerely obey them ſhall not be balk'd or baffled in it; they brought the Aſs and the Colt. The meanneſs and contemptibleneſs of the Beaſt Chriſt rode on, might have been made up with the richneſs of the Trappings, but thoſe were like all the reſt, ſuch as come next hand; They had not ſo much as a Saddle for the Aſs, but the Diſciples threw ſome of their Clothes upon it, and that muſt ſerve for want of better Accommodations. Note, We ought not to be nice or curious, or to affect Exactneſs in outward Conveniencies; a holy Indifferency and Neglect well becomes us in theſe things; 'Twill evidence that our Heart is not upon them, and that we have learn'd the Apoſtle's Rule, Rom. 12. 16. Marg. To be content with mean things: Any thing will ſerve Travellers; and there is a Beauty in ſome ſort of Careleſneſs; a noble Negligence. Yet the Diſciples furniſh him with the beſt they had, and did not object the ſpoiling of their Clothes, when the Lord had need of them. Note, We muſt not think the Clothes on our Backs too dear to part with for the Service of Chriſt; for the clothing of his poor deſtitute and afflicted Members, I was naked and you clothed me, Matt. 25. 36. Chriſt ſtript himſelf for us.

2. His Retinue; and there was nothing in this ſtately or magnificent: Sion's King comes to Sion, and the Daughter of Sion was told of his coming long before, and yet he is not attended by the Gentlemen of the Country, nor met by the Magiſtrates of the City in their Formalities; as one might have expected; he ſhould have had the Keys of the City preſented to him, and ſhould have been conducted with all poſſible conveniency to the Thrones of Judgment, the Thrones of the Houſe of David; but here's nothing of all this, yet he has his Attendants, a very great Multitude, they were only the common People, the Mob, (the Rabble, we ſhould have been apt to call them) that grac'd the Solemnity of Chriſt's Triumph, and none but they: The Chief Prieſts and the Elders afterwards herded themſelves with the multitude that abuſed him upon the Croſs; but we find none of them here joining with the Multitude that did him Honour. Ye ſee here your calling Brethren, not many mighty or noble attend on Chriſt, but the fooliſh things of this World and baſe things, which are deſpiſed, 1 Cor. 1. 26, 28. Note, Chriſt is honour'd by the Multitude, more than by the Magnificence of his Followers, for he values Men by their Souls, not by their Preferments, Names, or Titles of Honour.

Now concerning this great Multitude, we are here told,

1. What they did; according to the beſt of their Capacity they ſtudy'd to do Honour to Chriſt. (1.) They ſpread their Garments in the way, that he might ride upon them. When Jeſus was proclaim'd King, the Captains put their Garments under him, in Token of their Subjection to him. Note, thoſe that take Chriſt for their King, muſt lay their All under his Feet: The Clothes in token of the Heart; for when Chriſt comes, tho' not when any elſe comes, it muſt be ſaid to the Soul, Bow down, that he may go over. Some think theſe Garments were ſpread, not upon the Ground, but on the Hedges or Walls, to adorn the Roads, as to beautify a Cavalcade, the Balconies are hung with Tapeſtry. This was but a poor piece of State; yet Chriſt accepted their good Will, and we are hereby taught to contrive how to make Chriſt welcome; Chriſt and his Grace, Chriſt and his Goſpel, into our Hearts and Houſes; how ſhall we expreſs our Reſpects to Chriſt? What Honour and what Dignity ſhall be done to him? (2.) Others cut down Branches from the Trees, and ſtrewed them in the Way, as they us'd to do at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, in token of Liberty, Victory and Joy; for the Myſtery of that Feaſt is particularly ſpoken of as belonging to Goſpel-Times, Zech. 14. 16.

2. What they ſaid; They that went before, and they that follow'd, were in the ſame Tune; both thoſe that gave notice of his coming, and thoſe that attended him with their Applauſes; they cried, ſaying, Hoſanna to the Son of David, v. 9. when they carried Branches about at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, they were wont to cry Hoſanna, and from thence to call their Bundles of Branches their Hoſanna's; Hoſanna ſignifies, ſave now, we beſeech thee; referring to Pſal. 118. 25, 26. where the Meſſiah is propheſied of, as the Head-ſtone of the Corner, tho' the Builders refus'd him; and all his loyal Subjects are brought in triumphing in him, and attending him with hearty good Wiſhes, to the Proſperity of all his Enterprizes; Hoſanna to the Son of David, is this we do in Honour of the Son of David.

The Hoſanna's with which Chriſt was attended ſpeak two Things.

1. Their welcoming his Kingdom. Hoſanna ſpeaks the ſame with, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord. 'Twas foretold concerning this Son of David, That all Nations ſhall call him Bleſſed, Pſal. 72. 17. Theſe here began, and all true Believers in all Ages concur in it, and call him Bleſſed; 'tis the genuine Language of Faith. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt comes in the Name of the Lord; he is ſanctified, and ſent into the World as Mediator, Him hath God the Father ſealed. 2. The coming of Chriſt in the Name of the Lord is worthy of all Acceptation, and we all ought to ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh; praiſe him, and be pleaſed in him; let his coming in the Name of the Lord be mentioned with ſtrong Affections to our Comfort, and joyful Acclamations to his Glory. Well may we ſay, Bleſſed is he, for it is in him that we are bleſſed: Well may we follow him with our Bleſſings that meets us with his.

2. Their wiſhing well to his Kingdom, intimated in their Hoſanna, earneſtly deſiring that Proſperity and Succeſs may attend it, and that it might be a victorious Kingdom; ſend now Proſperity to that Kingdom. If they underſtood it of a temporal Kingdom, and had their Hearts carry'd out thus towards that, it was their Miſtake, which a little time would rectify, however, their good Will was accepted. Note, It is our Duty earneſtly to deſire and pray for the Proſperity and Succeſs of Chriſt's Kingdom in the World. Thus Prayer muſt be made for him continually, Pſal. 72. 15. that all Happineſs may attend his Intereſt in the World, and that tho' he ride on an Aſs, yet in his Majeſty he may ride proſperouſly, becauſe of that Meekneſs, Pſ. 45. 4. This we mean when we pray, Thy Kingdom come: They add, Hoſanna in the Higheſt: Let Proſperity in the higheſt Degree attend him, let him have a Name above every Name, a Throne above every Throne; or let us praiſe him in the beſt manner, with exalted Affections; or let our Prayers for his Church aſcend to Heaven, to the higheſt Heavens, and fetch in Peace and Salvation from thence. See Pſal. 20.6. The Lord ſaveth his Anointed, and will hear from his high, his holy Heaven.

3. We have here his Entertainment in Jeruſalem, v. 10. When he was come into Jeruſalem, all the City was moved, every one took Notice of him, ſome were moved with Wonder at the Novelty of the Thing, others with Laughter at the Meanneſs of it; ſome perhaps were mov'd with Joy, who waited for the Conſolation of Iſrael; others of the Phariſees Kidney were mov'd with Envy and Indignation; ſo various are the Motions in the Minds of Men upon the Approach of Chriſt's Kingdom.

Upon this Commotion we are further told,

1. What the Citizens ſaid; Who is this? (1.) They were, it ſeems, ignorant concerning Chriſt, tho' he was the Glory of his Temple Iſrael, yet Iſrael knew him not; tho' he had diſtinguiſh'd himſelf by the many Miracles he wrought among them, yet the Daughters of Jeruſalem knew him not from another Beloved, Cant. 5. 9. The Holy One unknown in the Holy City; In Places where the cleareſt Light ſhines, and the greateſt Profeſſion of Religion is made, there is more Ignorance than we are aware of. (2.) Yet they were inquiſitive concerning him; who is this that is thus cry'd up, and comes with ſo much Obſervation? Who is this King of Glory, that demands Admiſſion into our Hearts? Pſal. 24. 8. Iſa. 63. 1.

2. How the Multitude anſwer'd them; This is Jeſus, v. 11. The Multitude were better acquainted with Chrſt than the great Ones; Vox Populi is ſometimes Vox Dei. Now in the Account they give of him; (1.) They were right in calling him the Prophet, that great Prophet; hitherto he had been known as a Prophet, teaching and working Miracles, now they attend him as a King; Chriſt's Prieſtly Office was, of all the three, laſt diſcover'd. (2.) Yet they miſs'd it in ſaying he was of Nazareth, and it help'd to confirm ſome in their Prejudices againſt him. Note, Some that are willing to honour Chriſt, and bear their Teſtimony to him, yet labour under Miſtakes concerning him, which would be rectified if they would take Pains to inform themſelves.

12 And Jeſus went into the temple of God, and caſt out all them that ſold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the ſeats of them that ſold doves, 13 And ſaid unto them, It is written, My houſe ſhall be called the houſe of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves. 14 And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple, and he healed them, 15 And when the chief prieſts and ſcribes ſaw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and ſaying, Hoſanna to the ſon of David, they were ſore diſpleaſed, 16
And ſaid unto him, Heareſt thou what theſe ſay? And Jeſus ſaith unto them, Yea; have ye never read, Out of the mouth of babes and ſucklings thou haſt perfected praiſe? 17 And he left them, and went out of the city into Bethany, and he lodged there.

When Chriſt came into Jeruſalem, he did not go up to the Court, or the Palace, tho' he came in as a King, but into the Temple; for his Kingdom is Spiritual, and not of this World, 'tis in holy Things that he rules, in the Temple of God that he exerciſeth Authority. Now what did he do there?

Firſt, Thence he drove the Buyers and Sellers. Abuſes muſt firſt be purged out, and the Plants not of God's planting be plucked up, before that which is right can be eſtabliſhed; The great Redeemer appears as a great Reformer, that turns away Ungodlineſs, Rom. 11. 26. Here we are told,

1. What he did, v. 12. he caſt out all them that ſold and bought; he had done this once before, John 2. 14, 15. but there was occaſion to do it again. Note, Buyers and Sellers driven out of the Temple, will return and neſtle there again, if there be not a continual care and overſight to prevent it, and if the Blow be not follow'd and oft repeated.

1. The Abuſe was buying and ſelling, and changing Money in the Temple. Note, Lawful Things ill-tim'd and ill-placed may become ſinful Things: That which was decent enough in another Place, and not only lawful, but laudable on another Day, yet defiles the Sanctuary, and profanes the Sabbath. This buying and ſelling, and changing Money, tho' ſecular Employments, yet had the pretence of being in ordine ad ſpritualia; they ſold Beaſts for Sacrifice, for the Convenience of thoſe that could eaſier bring their Money with them than their Beaſt; and they changed Money for thoſe that wanted the half Shekel, which was their yearly Poll, or Redemption-Money, or upon the Bills of Return; ſo that this might paſs for the outward Buſineſs of the Houſe of God, and yet Chriſt will not allow of it. Note, Great Corruptions and Abuſes come into the Church by the Practices of thoſe whoſe Gain is Godlineſs, that is, that make worldly Gain the End of their Godlineſs, and counterfeit Godlineſs their way to worldly Gain, 1 Tim. 6. 5. ſuch, and from ſuch turn away.

2. The purging out of this Abuſe; Chriſt caſt them out that ſold: He did it before with a Scourge of ſmall Cords, John 2. 13. Now he did it with a Look, with a Frown, with a Word of Command. Some reckon this none of the leaſt of Chriſt's Miracles, that he ſhould himſelf thus clear the Temple, and not be oppoſed in it by them, who by this Craft got their living, and were back'd in it by the Prieſts and Elders. 'Tis an Inſtance of his Power over the Spirits of Men, and the Hold he has of them by their own Conſciences. This was the only Act of Regal Authority and Co-ercive Power that Chriſt did in the Days of his Fleſh, he began with it, John 2. and here ended with it. Tradition ſaith, That his Face ſhone, and Beams of Light darted from his bleſſed Eyes, which aſtoniſhed theſe Market-people, and compelled them to yield to his Command; if ſo, the Scripture was fulfill'd, Prov. 20. 8. The King that ſitteth on the Throne of Judgment ſcattereth away all evil with his Eyes. He overthrew the Tables of the Money-changers; he did not take the Money to himſelf, but ſcattered it, threw to the Ground, the fitteſt Place for it. The Jews in Eſther's Time on the Spoil laid not their Hand, Eſt. 9. 10.

2. What he ſaid, to juſtify himſelf, and to convict them, v. 13. It is written. Note, In the Reformation of the Church the Eye muſt be upon the Scripture, and that muſt be adher'd to as the Rule, the Pattern in the Mount; and we muſt go no farther than we can juſtify our ſelves with, It is written. Reformation is then right, when corrupted Ordinances are reduced to their primitive Inſtitution.

1. He ſhews from a Scripture-Prophecy what the Temple ſhould be, and was deſign'd to be, My Houſe ſhall be called the Houſe of Prayer, which is quoted from Iſa. 56.7. Note, All the Ceremonial Inſtitutions were intended to be ſubſervient to Moral Duties: The Houſe of Sacrifices was to be a Houſe of Prayer, for that was the Subſtance and Soul of all thoſe Services; The Temple was in a ſpecial manner ſanctified to be a Houſe of Prayer, for it was not only the Place of that Worſhip, but the medium of it, ſo that the Prayers made in, or towards that Houſe, had a particular promiſe of Acceptance, 2 Chron. 6. 21. as it was a Type of Chriſt; therefore Daniel look'd that way in Prayer; and ſo no Houſe or Place is now or can be a Houſe of Prayer, for Chriſt is our Temple; yet in ſome Senſe the appointed Places of our religious Aſſemblies may be ſo called, as Places where Prayer is wont to be made, Acts 16. 13.

2. He ſhews from a Scripture Reproof, how they had abus'd the Temple, and perverted the Intention of it, Ye have made it a Den of Thieves; This is quoted from Jer. 7. 11. Is this Houſe become a Den of Robbers in your Eyes? When diſſembled Piety is made the Cloke and Cover of Iniquity, it may be ſaid, That the Houſe of Prayer is become a Den of Thieves, in which they lurk and ſhelter themſelves. Markets are too often Dens of Thieves, ſo many are the corrupt and cheating Practices in buying and ſelling; but Markets in the Temple are certainly ſo, for they rob God of his Honour, the worſt of Thieves, Mal. 3.8. The Prieſts liv'd, and liv'd plentifully upon the Altar, but not content with that, they found other Ways and Means to ſqueeze Money out of the People; and therefore Chriſt here calls them Thieves, for they exacted that which did not belong to them.

Secondly, There, in the Temple, he healed the Blind and the Lame, v. 14. when he had driven the Buyers and Sellers out of the Temple, he invited the Blind and Lame into it; for he he filleth the Hungry with good Things, but the rich he ſends empty away. Chriſt in the Temple, by his Word there preached, and in anſwer to the Prayers there made, heals thoſe that are ſpiritually Blind and Lame. It's good coming to the Temple when Chriſt is there, who, as he ſhews himſelf jealous for the Honour of his Temple, in expelling thoſe that profane it, ſo he ſhews himſelf gracious to thoſe who humbly ſeek him. The Blind and the Lame were debarr'd David's Palace, 2 Sam. 5. 8. but were admitted into God's Houſe; for the State and Honour of his Temple lies not in thoſe Things, wherein the Magnificence of Princes Palaces is ſuppoſed to conſiſt; from them Blind and Lame muſt keep their Diſtance, but from God's Temple only the Wicked and Profane. The Temple was profan'd and abuſed when 'twas made a Market-place, but it was graced and honoured when it was made an Hoſpital; to be doing Good in God's Houſe is more honourable, and better becomes it, than to be getting Money there. Chriſt's healing was a real Anſwer to that Queſtion, Who is this? His Works teſtify'd of him more than the Hoſanna's; and his healing in the Temple was the fulfilling of the Promiſe, That the Glory of the latter Houſe ſhould be greater than the Glory of the former.

There alſo he ſilenced the Offence which the Chief Prieſts and Scribes took at the Acclamations with which he was attended, v. 15, 16. They that ſhould have been moſt forward to give him Honour, were his worſt Enemies.

1. They were inwardly vexed at the wonderful Things that he did; They could not deny them to be true Miracles, and therefore were cut to the Heart with Indignation at them, as Acts 4. 16.—5. 33. The Works that Chriſt did, recommended themſelves to every Man's Conſcience, if they had any Senſe, they could not but own the Miracle of them, and if any good Nature, could not but be in love with the Mercy of them, yet becauſe they were reſolved to oppoſe him for theſe, they envy'd him, and bore him a Grudge.

2. They openly quarrel'd at the Children's Hoſanna's; they thought hereby an Honour was given him which did not belong to him, and that it look'd like Oſtentation. Proud Men cannot bear that Honour ſhould be done to any but to themſelves, and are uneaſy at nothing more than at the juſt Praiſes of deſerving Men. Thus Saul envy'd David the Women's Songs; and who can ſtand before Envy? When Chriſt is moſt honoured, his Enemies are moſt diſpleaſed.

Juſt now we had Chriſt preferring the Blind and the Lame before the Buyers and Sellers; now here we have him, v. 16. taking part with the Children againſt Prieſts and Scribes.

Obſerve, 1. The Children were in the Temple, perhaps playing there; and no wonder when the Rulers made it a Market-place, that the Children made it a Place of Paſtime, but we are willing to hope many of them were worſhipping there. Note, 'Tis good to bring Children betimes to the Houſe of Prayer, for of ſuch is the Kingdom of Heaven. Let Children be taught to keep up the form of Godlineſs, it will help to lead them to the Power of it: Chriſt has a tenderneſs for the Lambs of his Flock.

2. They were there crying Hoſanna to the Son of David. This they learned from thoſe that were grown up, little Children ſay and do as they hear others ſay, and ſee others do; ſo eaſily do they imitate: And therefore great Care muſt be taken to ſet them good Examples, and no ill ones: Maxima debetur puero reverentia. Children will learn of thoſe that are with them, either to Curſe and Swear, or to Pray and Praiſe. The Jews did betimes teach their Children to carry Branches at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, and to cry Hoſanna, but God taught them here to apply it to Chriſt. Note, Hoſanna to the Son of David well becomes the Mouths of little Children, who ſhould learn young the Language of Canaan.

3. Our Lord Jeſus not only allowed it, but was very well pleaſed with it, and quoted a Scripture which was fulfilled in it, (Pſ. 8. 2.) or at leaſt may be accommodated to it; Out of the Mouth of Babes and Sucklings thou haſt perfected Praiſe, which ſome think refers to the Children's joining in the Acclamations of the People, and the Women's Songs with which David was honoured, when he returned from the ſlaughter of the Philiſtines, and therefore is very fitly applied here to the Hoſanna's, with which the Son of David was cryed up, now he was entring upon his conflict with Satan, that Goliah. Note, (1.) Chriſt is ſo far from being aſhamed of the Services of little Children, that he takes particular Notice of them, (and Children love to be taken notice of) and is well pleaſed with them. If God may be honoured by Babes and Sucklings, who are made to hope at the beſt, much more by Children that are grown up to Maturity, and ſome Capacity. (2.) Praiſe is perfected out of the Mouth of ſuch; it has a peculiar Tendency to the Honour and Glory of God for little Children to join in his Praiſes: The Praiſe would be accounted defective and imperfect if they had not their ſhare in it; which is an Encouragement for Children to be good betimes, and to Parents to teach them to be ſo; the Labour neither of the one nor of the other ſhall be in vain: In the Pſalm it is, Thou haſt ordained Strength. Note, God perfecteth Praiſe, by ordaining Strength out of the Mouths of Babes and Sucklings, when great things are brought about by weak and unlikely Inſtruments, God is thereby much honour'd, for his Strength is perfected in Weakneſs, and the Infirmities of the Babes and Sucklings, ſerve for a Foil to the Divine Power. That which follows in the Pſalm, that thou mighteſt ſtill the Enemy, and the Avenger, was very applicable to the Prieſts and Scribes, but Chriſt did not apply it to them, but left it to them to apply it.

Laſtly, Chriſt having thus ſilenced them, forſook them, v. 17. he left them, in Prudence, leſt they ſhould now have ſeized him before his Hour was come; in Juſtice, becauſe they had forfeited the Favour of his Preſence: By repining at Chriſt's Praiſes, we drive him from us. He left them as incorrigble, and he went out of the City to Bethany, which was a more quiet retired Place, not ſo much that he might ſleep undiſturb'd, as that he might pray undiſturb'd. Bethany was but two little Miles from Jeruſalem, thither he now went on Foot, to ſhew that when he rode, 'twas only to fulfil the Scripture: He was not lifted up with the Hoſanna's of the People, but as having forgot them, ſoon returned to his mean and toilſome way of Travelling.

18 Now in the morning as he returned into the city, he hungred. 19 And when he ſaw a fig-tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but Leaves only, and ſaid unto it, Let no fruit grow on thee henceforward for ever. And preſently the fig-tree withered away. 20 And when the diſciples ſaw it, they marvelled, ſaying, How ſoon is the fig-tree withered away? 21 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, If ye have faith and doubt not, ye ſhall not only do this which is done to the fig-tree, but alſo if ye ſhall ſay unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou caſt into the ſea; it ſhall be done. 22 And all things whatſoever ye ſhall aſk in prayer, believing, ye ſhall receive.

Obſerve 1. Chriſt returned in the Morning to Jeruſalem, v. 18. ſome think he went out of the City over-night, becauſe none of his Friends there durſt entertain him, for fear of the great Men, yet having Work to do there he returned. Note, We muſt never be driven off from our Duty, either by the Malice of our Foes, or the Unkindneſs of our Friends. Tho' he knew that in this City Bonds and Affliction did abide him, yet none of theſe things moved him: Paul followed him when he went bound in the Spirit to Jeruſalem, Acts 20. 22.

2. As he went he hungered. He was a Man, and ſubmitted to the Infirmities of our Nature; He was an active Man, and was ſo intent upon his Work, that he neglected his Food, and came out faſting; for the Zeal of God's Houſe did even eat him up, and his Meat and Drink was to do his Father's Will: He was a poor Man, and had no preſent Supply; He was a Man that pleaſed not himſelf, for he would willingly have taken up with green raw Figs for his Breakfaſt, when it was fit he ſhould have had ſomething warm.

Chriſt therefore hungred, that he might have occaſion to work this Miracle, in curſing and ſo withering, the barren Fig-tree, and therein might give us an Inſtance of his Juſtice, and his Power, and both inſtructive.

1. See his Juſtice, v. 19. He went to it, expecting Fruit, becauſe it had Leaves, but finding none, he ſentenc'd it to a perpetual Barrenneſs. This Miracle had its Significancy, as well as other his Miracles; All Chriſt's Miracles hitherto were wrought for the Good of Men, and proved the Power of his Grace and Bleſſing, (the ſending of the Devils into the Herd of Swine, was but a Permiſſion;) all he did was for the Benefit and Comfort of his Friends, none for the Terror or Puniſhment of his Enemies; but now at laſt to ſhew that all Judgment is committed to him, and that he is able, not only to ſave, but to deſtroy, he would give a Specimen of the Power of his Wrath and Curſe, yet this not on any Man, Woman or Child, becauſe the great Day of his Wrath is not yet come, but on an inanimate Tree: But that is ſet for an Example; Come learn a Parable of the Fig-tree, Mat. 24. 32. The Scope of it is the ſame with the parable of the Fig-tree, Luke 13. 6.

1. This curſing of the barren Fig-tree repreſents the State of Hypocrites in general; and ſo it teacheth us, (1.) That the Fruit of Fig-trees may juſtly be expected from thoſe that have the Leaves. Chriſt looks for the Power of Religion from thoſe that make profeſſion of it, the ſavour of it from thoſe that have the ſhew of it. Grapes from the Vineyard that is planted in a fruitful Hill, he hungers after it, his Soul deſires the firſt ripe Fruits.

(2.) Chriſt's juſt Expectations from flouriſhing Profeſſors are often fruſtrated and diſappointed: He comes to many ſeeking Fruit, and finds Leaves only, and he diſcovers it. Many have a Name to live, and are not alive indeed; dote on the form of Godlineſs, and yet deny the Power of it.

(3.) The Sin of Barrenneſs is juſtly puniſh'd with the Curſe and Plague of Barrenneſs; Let no Fruit grow on thee henceforward for ever. As one of the chiefeſt Bleſſings, and which was the firſt, is, Be fruitful; ſo one of the ſaddeſt Curſes is, Be no more fruitful. Thus the Sin of Hypocrites is made their Puniſhment; they would not do good, and therefore they ſhall do none: He that is fruitleſs, let him be fruitleſs ſtill, and loſe his Honour and Comfort.

(4.) A falſe and hypocritical Profeſſion commonly withers in this World, and 'tis the Effect of Chriſt's Curſe; the Fig-tree that had no Fruit ſoon loſt its Leaves. Hypocrites may look plauſible for a time, but having no Principle, no Root in themſelves, their Profeſſion will ſoon come to nothing; the Gifts wither, common Graces decay, the Credit of the Profeſſion declines and ſinks, and the Falſeneſs and Folly of the Pretender is manifeſted to all Men.

2. It repreſents the State of the Nation, and People of the Jews in particular: They were a Fig-tree planted in Chriſt's way, as a Church. Now obſerve,

1. The Diſappointment they gave to our Lord Jeſus; He came among them, expecting to find ſome Fruit, ſomething that would be pleaſing to him; he hungred after it, not that he deſir'd a Gift, he needed it not, but Fruit that might abound to a good Account, but his Expectations were fruſtrated, he found nothing but Leaves, they call'd Abraham their Father, but did not do the Works of Abraham; they profeſs'd themſelves Expectants of the promiſed Meſſiah, but when he came they did not receive and entertain him.

2. The Doom he paſt upon them, That never any Fruit ſhould grow upon them, or be gathered from them, as a Church, or as a People, from henceforward for ever. Never any Good came from them, (except the particular Perſons among them that believed) after they rejected Chriſt, they went worſe and worſe; Blindeſs and Hardneſs happen'd to them, and grew upon them, till they were unchurch'd, unpeopled, and undone, and their Place and Nation rooted up; their Beauty was defac'd, their Privileges and Ornaments, their Temple, and Prieſthood, and Sacrifices, and Feſtivals, and all the Glories of their Church and State fell like Leaves in Autumn; How ſoon did their Fig-tree wither away, after they ſaid, His Blood be on us and on our Children, and the Lord was righteous in it!

2. See the Power of Chriſt; the former is wrap'd up in the Figure, but this more fully diſcourſed of, Chriſt intending hereby to direct his Diſciples in the uſe of their Powers.

1. The Diſciples admired the Effect of Chriſt's Curſe, v. 20. they marvelled, no Power could do it but his, who ſpake and it was done. They admired at the ſuddenneſs of the thing, How ſoon is the Fig-tree withered away? There was no viſible cauſe of the Fig-trees withering, but it was a ſecret Blaſt, a Worm at the Root; 'twas not only the Leaves of it that withered, but the Body of the Tree; it withered away in an Inſtant, and became like a dry Stick. Goſpel-Curſes are upon this Account the moſt dreadful, that they work inſenſibly, and ſilently, by a Fire not blown, but effectually.

2. Chriſt empower'd them by Faith to do the like, v. 21, 22. as he ſaid, Joh. 14. 12. Greater Works than theſe ſhall ye do.

Obſerve 1. The Deſcription of this Wonder-working Faith; If ye have Faith and doubt not. Note, Doubting of the Power and Promiſe of God, is the great Thing that ſpoils the Efficacy and Succeſs of Faith: If ye have Faith and diſpute not, ſo ſome read not, diſpute not with your ſelves, diſpute not with the Promiſe of God; if you ſtagger not at the Promiſe, (Rom. 4. 20.) for as far as we do ſo our Faith is deficient; as certain as the Promiſe is, ſo confident our Faith ſhould be

2. The Power and Prevalency of it expreſs'd figuratively; If ye ſhall ſay to this Mountain, meaning the Mount of Olives, Be thou removed, it ſhall be done. There might be a particular Reaſon for his ſaying ſo of this Mountain, for there was a Prophecy, that the Mount of Olives, which is before Jeruſalem, ſhould cleave in the midſt, and then remove, Zech. 14. 4. and whatever was the Intent of that Word, the ſame muſt be the Expectation of Faith, how impoſſible ſoever it might appear to Senſe. But this is a proverbial Expreſſion, intimating, that we are to believe that nothing is impoſſible with God, and therefore what he has promiſed ſhall certainly be performed, tho' to us it ſeem impoſſible. It was among the Jews a uſual Commendation of their learned Rabbins, that they were Removers of Mountains, i. e. could ſolve the greateſt Difficulties; now this may be done by Faith acted on the Word of God, which will bring great and ſtrange Things to paſs.

3. The way and means of exerciſing this Faith, and of doing that which is to be done by it; All things whatſoever ye ſhall ask in Prayer believing, ye ſhall receive. Faith is the Soul, Prayer is the Body, both together make a compleat Man for any Service: Faith, if it be right, will excite Prayer, and Prayer is not right, if it do not ſpring from Faith. This is the condition of our receiving, we muſt ask in Prayer believing. The Requeſts of Prayer ſhall not be deny'd; the Expectations of Faith ſhall not be fruſtrated. We have many Promiſes to this Purpoſe from the Mouth of our Lord Jeſus, and all to encourage Faith, the principal Grace, and Prayer the principal Duty of a Chriſtian: 'Tis but ask and have, believe and receive, and what would we more? Obſerve how comprehenſive the Promiſe is of all things whatſoever ye ſhall ask; this is like all and every the Premiſes in a Conveyance: All things is General whatſoever brings it to Particulars, tho' Generals included Particulars, yet ſuch is the Folly of our Unbelief, that tho' we think we aſſent to Promiſes in the general, yet we fly off when it comes to Particulars, and therefore that we might have ſtrong Conſolation, 'tis thus copiouſly expreſs'd, All things whatſoever.

23 And when he was come into the temple, the chief prieſts and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and ſaid, By what authority doſt thou theſe things? and who gave thee this authority? 24 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, I alſo will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in likewiſe will tell you by what authority I do theſe things. 25 The baptiſm of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heaven; he will ſay unto us, Why did ye not then believe him? 26 But if we ſhall ſay, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet. 27 And they anſwered Jeſus, and ſaid, We cannot tell. And he ſaid unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do theſe things.

Our Lord Jeſus (like St. Paul after him) preached his Goſpel with much Contention; his firſt appearance was in a Diſpute with the Doctors in the Temple, when he was twelve Years old, and here juſt before he dy'd we have him engaged. In this Senſe he was like Jeremiah, a Man of Contention, not ſtriving, but ſtriven with; the great Contenders with him were the Chief Prieſts and the Elders; the Judges of two diſtinct Courts; the Chief Prieſts preſided in the Eccleſiaſtical Court, in all Matters of the Lord, as they are called; the Elders of the People were Judges of the Civil Courts in temporal Matters; ſee an Idea of both, 2 Chron. 19. 5, 8, 11. Theſe joined to attack Chriſt, thinking they ſhould find or make him obnoxious, either to the one, or to the other: See how wofully degenerate that Generation was, when the Governours both in Church and State, that ſhould have been the great Promoters of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, were the great oppoſers of it: Here we have them diſturbing him when he was preaching, v. 23. They would neither receive his Inſtructions themſelves, or let others receive them. Obſerve,

1. As ſoon as he came into Jeruſalem he went to the Temple, tho' he had been affronted there the Day before, was there in the midſt of Enemies, and in the Mouth of Danger, yet thither he went, for there he had a fairer opportunity of doing good to Souls than any where elſe in Jeruſalem; tho' he came Hungry to the City, and was diſappointed of a Breakfaſt at the barren Fig-tree, yet for ought appears, he went ſtraight to the Temple, as one that eſteemed the Words of God's Mouth, the preaching of them, more than his neceſſary Food.

2. In the Temple he was teaching; he had called it a Houſe of Prayer, V. 13. and here we have him preaching there. Note, In the ſolemn Aſſemblies of Chriſtians, Praying and Preaching muſt go together, and neither muſt encroach upon, or juſtle out the other: To make up a Communion with God, we muſt not only ſpeak to him in Prayer, but hear what he has to ſay to us by his Word; Miniſters muſt give themſelves both to the Word and to Prayer, Acts 6. 4. Now Chriſt taught in the Temple that Scripture was fulfilled, Iſa. 2. 3. Let us go up to the Houſe of the Lord, and he will teach us his ways; The Prieſts of old often taught there the good Knowledge of the Lord, but they never had ſuch a Teacher as this.

When Chriſt was teaching the People, the Prieſts and Elders came upon him, and challenged him to produce his Orders; the Hand of Satan was in this to hinder him in his Work. Note, It cannot but be a Trouble to a faithful Miniſter, to be taken off, or diverted from plain and practical Preaching, by an unavoidable neceſſity of engaging in Controverſies, yet Good was brought out of this Evil, for hereby occaſion was given to Chriſt to diſpel the Objections that were advanced againſt him, to the greater Satisfaction of his Followers; and while his Adverſaries thought by their Power to have ſilenc'd him, he by his Wiſdom ſilenc'd them.

Now in this Diſpute with them we may obſerve,

Firſt, How he was aſſaulted by their inſolent Demand; By what Authority doſt thou theſe things? and who gave thee this Authority? Had they duly conſider'd his Miracles, and the Power by which he wrought them, they needed not to have asked this Queſtion; but they muſt have ſomething to ſay for the Shelter of an obſtinate Infidelity: Thou rideſt in Triumph into Jeruſalem, receiveſt the Hoſanna's of the People, controuleſt in the Temple, driveſt out ſuch as had Licenſe to be there from the Rulers of the Temple, and paid them Rent; thou art here preaching a new Doctrine, whence hadſt thou a Commiſſion to do all this? Was it from Cæſar? or from the High-Prieſt? or from God? Produce thy Warrant, thy Credentials; Doſt not thou take too much upon thee? Note, It is good for all that take upon them to act with Authority, to put this Queſtion to themſelves, Who gave them that Authority? For unleſs a Man be clear in his own Conſcience concerning that, he cannot act with any Comfort, or hope of Succeſs: They who run before their Warrant, run without their Bleſſing, Jer. 23. 21, 22.

Chriſt had often ſaid it, and prov'd it beyond Contradiction, and Nicodemus a Maſtear in Iſrael had own'd it, that he was a Teacher ſent from God, Joh. 3. 2. yet at this time of Day, when that Point had been ſo fully cleared and ſettled, they come to him with this Queſtion; (1.) In the Oſtentation of their own Power, as Chief Prieſts and Elders, which they thought authorized them to call him to an account in this manner: How haughtily do they ask, Who gave this Authority? intimating that he could have no Authority, becauſe he had none from them, 1 Kings 22. 24. Jer. 20. 1. Note, It is common for the greateſt Abuſers of their Power to be the moſt rigorous Aſſertors of it, and to take a Pride and Pleaſure in any thing that looks like the Exerciſe of it. (2.) It was to enſnare and entangle him; ſhould he deny to anſwer this Queſtion, they would enter Judgment againſt him upon nihil dicit, would condemn him as ſtanding Mute, and would inſinuate to the People, that his Silence was a tacit confeſſing of himſelf a Uſurper; ſhould he plead an authority from God, they would as formerly demand a ſign from Heaven, or make his Defence his Offence, and accuſe him of Blaſphemy for it.

Secondly, How he anſwered this Demand with another, which would help them to anſwer it themſelves, v. 24, 25. I alſo will ask you one thing: He declined giving them a direct Anſwer, leſt they ſhould take advantage againſt him, but anſwers them with a Queſtion; Thoſe that are as ſheep in the midſt of Wolves have need to be wiſe as Serpents: The Heart of the Wiſe ſtudieth to anſwer. We muſt give a Reaſon of the Hope that is in us, not only with Meekneſs, but with Fear, 1 Pet. 3. 15. with prudent Caution, leſt Truth be damag'd, or our ſelves endangered.

Now this Queſtion is concerning John's Baptiſm, here put for his whole Miniſtry, Preaching as well as Baptizing; Was this from Heaven, or of Men? One of the two it muſt be, either what he did was of his own Head, or he was ſent of God to do it; Gamaliel's Argument turn'd upon this Hinge, Acts 5. 38, 39. either this Counſel is of Men, or of God: Tho' that which is manifeſtly bad cannot be of God, yet that which is ſeemingly good may be of Men, nay, of Satan, when he transforms himſelf into an Angel of Light. This Queſtion was not at all ſhuffling, to evade theirs. But,

1. If they anſwer this Queſtion, it would anſwer theirs; if they ſhould ſay againſt their Conſciences that John's Baptiſm was of Men, yet it would be eaſy to anſwer, John did no Miracle, (John 10. 41.) Chriſt did many; but if they ſhould ſay, as they could not but own, that John's Baptiſm was from Heaven, (which was ſuppoſed in the Queſtions ſent him, John 1. 21. Art thou Elias, or that Prophet?) then their Demand was anſwered, for he bare Teſtimony to Chriſt. Note, Truths appear in the cleareſt Light when they are taken in their due Order; the reſolving of the previous Queſtion will be a Key to the main Queſtion.

2. If they refuſe to anſwer it, that will be a good Reaſon why he ſhould not offer Proofs of his Authority to Men that were obſtinately prejudiced againſt the ſtrongeſt Conviction; 'twas but to caſt Pearls before Swine. Thus he taketh the Wiſe in their own Craftineſs, 1. Cor. 3. 19. and thoſe that would not be convinced of the plaineſt Truths ſhall be convicted of the vileſt Malice againſt John firſt, then againſt Chriſt, and in both againſt God.

Thirdly, How they were hereby baffled and run aground; they knew the Truth, but would not own it, and ſo were taken in the Snare they laid for our Lord Jeſus. Obſerve,

1. How they reaſoned with themſelves, not concerning the Merits of the Cauſe, what Proofs there were of the Divine Original of John's Baptiſm; no, their Care was how to make their Part good againſt Chriſt: Two things they conſider'd and conſulted in this reaſoning with themſelves, their Credit, and their Safety, the ſame things which they principally aim at, that ſeek their own things.

(1.) They conſider their own Credit, which they would endanger if they ſhould own John's Baptiſm to be of God, for then, Chriſt would ask them before all the People, Why did ye not believe him? And to acknowledge that a Doctrine is from God, and yet not to receive and entertain it, is the greateſt Abſurdity and Iniquity that a Man can be charged with: Many that will not be kept by the Fear of Sin from neglecting and oppoſing that which they know to be true and good, yet are kept by the fear of Shame from owning that to be true and good, which they neglect and oppoſe. Thus they reject the Counſel of God againſt themſelves, in not ſubmitting to John's Baptiſm, and were left without Excuſe.

(2.) They conſider their own Safety, that they would expoſe themſelves to the Reſentments of the People, if they ſhould ſay, that John's Baptiſm was of Men; we fear the People, for all hold John as a Prophet. It ſeems then (1.) That the People had righter Sentiments of John than the Chief Prieſts and the Elders had, or at leaſt were more free and faithful in declaring their Sentiments. This People, of whom they ſaid in their Pride, that they knew not the Law, and were curſed, John 7. 49. it ſeems knew the Goſpel and were bleſſed. (2.) that the Chief Prieſts and Elders ſtood in awe of the Common People, which is an Evidence that Things were in diſorder among them, and that mutual Jealouſies were at a great height; That the Government was become obnoxious to the Hatred and Scorn of the People, and the Scripture was fulfilled, I have made you contemptible and baſe, Mal. 2. 8, 9. If they had kept their Integrity, and done their Duty they had kept up their Authority, and needed not to fear the People: We find ſometimes that the People feared them, and it ſerved them for a Reaſon why they did not confeſs Chriſt, John 9. 22.—12. 44. Note, Thoſe cannot but fear the People, who ſtudy'd only how to make the People fear them. (3.) That it is uſually the Temper, even of common People, to be zealous for the Honour of that which they account ſacred and divine. If they account John as a Prophet, they will not endure it ſhould be ſaid his Baptiſm was of Men; hence the hotteſt Conteſts have been about holy Things. (4.) That the Chief Prieſts and Elders were kept from an open denial of the Truth, even againſt the Conviction of their own Minds, not by the fear of God, but purely by the Fear of the People; as the Fear of Man may bring good People into a Snare, Prov. 29. 25. ſo ſometimes it may keep bad People from being overmuch wicked, leſt they ſhould dye before their time, Eccleſ. 7. 17. Many ill People would be a deal worſe than they are if they durſt.

2. How they reply'd to our Saviour, and ſo dropt the Queſtion: They fairly confeſs'd we cannot tell; that is, we will not, οὐκ οἴδαμεν, we never knew; the more ſhame for them, while they pretended to be Leaders of the People, and by their Office were oblig'd to take Cognizance of ſuch things; when they would not confeſs their Knowledge, they were conſtrain'd to confeſs their Ignorance. And obſerve by the way, when they ſaid We cannot tell, They told a Lye, for they knew that John's Baptiſm was of God. Note, there are many who are more afraid of the Shame of Lying than of the Sin; and therefore ſcruple not to ſpeak that which they know to be falſe concerning their own Thoughts and Apprehenſions, their Affections and Intenſions, or their remembring or forgetting of Things, becauſe in thoſe Things they know no Body can diſprove them.

Thus Chriſt avoided the Snare they laid for him, and juſtified himſelf in refuſing to gratifie them, neither tell I you by what Authority I do theſe things: If they be ſo wicked and baſe, as either not to believe, or not to confeſs that the Baptiſm of John was from Heaven, (tho' it oblig'd to Repentance, that great Duty, and ſealed the Kingdom of God at hand, that great Promiſe) were not fit to be diſcourſed with concerning Chriſt's Authority; for Men of ſuch a Diſpoſition could not be convinced of the Truth, nay, they could not but be provoked by it, and therefore he that is thus ignorant, let him be ignorant ſtill. Note, Thoſe that impriſon the Truths they know in unrighteouſneſs, either by not profeſſing them, or by not practiſing according to them, are juſtly deny'd the further Truths they enquire after, Rom. 1. 18, 19. Take away the Talent from him that buried it; thoſe that will not ſee, ſhall not ſee.

28 But what think you? A certain man had two ſons, and he came to the firſt, and ſaid, Son, go work to day in my vineyard. 29 He anſwered and ſaid, I will not: but afterward he repented, and went. 30 And he came to the ſecond, and ſaid likewiſe. And he anſwered and ſaid, I go, ſir; and went not. 31 Whether of them twain did the will of his father? They ſay unto him, The firſt. Jeſus ſaith unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you. 32 For John came unto you in the way of righteouſneſs, and ye believed him not: but the publicans and the harlots believed him. And ye when ye had ſeen it, repented not afterward, that ye might believe him.

As Chriſt inſtructed his Diſciples by Parables, which made the Inſtructions the more eaſy, ſo ſometimes he convinced his Adverſaries by Parables, which bring Reproofs more cloſe, and make Men, or ever they are aware, to reprove themſelves. Thus Nathan convinced David by a Parable, 2 Sam. 12. 1. and the Woman of Tekoa ſurprized him in like manner, 2 Sam. 14. 2. Reproving Parables are Appeals to the Offenders themſelves, and judge them out of their own Mouths. This Chriſt deſigns here, as appears by the firſt Words, v. 28. But what think you?

In theſe Verſes we have the Parable of the two Sons ſent to work in the Vineyard, the Scope of which is to ſhew, that they who knew not John's Baptiſm to be of Men, were aſhamed even by the Publicans and Harlots, who knew it, and own'd it. Here's,

Firſt, The Parable it ſelf, which repreſents two ſorts of Perſons; ſome that prove better than they promiſe, repreſented by the firſt of thoſe Sons; others that promiſe better than they prove, repreſented by the ſecond.

1. They had both one and the ſame Father, which ſignifie that God is a common Father to all Mankind. There are Favours which all alike receive from him, and Obligations which all alike lie under to him; Have we not all one Father? Yes, and yet there is a vaſt difference between Mens Characters.

2. They had both the ſame Command given them: Son, go work to Day in my Vineyard. Parents ſhould not breed up their Children in idleneſs; nothing more pleaſing, and yet nothing more pernicious to Youth than that, Lam. 3. 27. God ſets his Children to work, tho' they are all Heirs: This Command is given to every one of us. Note, 1. The Work of Religion which we are call'd to engage in, is Vineyard-work, creditable, profitable and pleaſant. By the Sin of Adam we were turn'd out to work upon the Common, and to eat the Herb of the Field; but by the Grace of our Lord Jeſus we are call'd to work again in the Vineyard. 2. The Goſpel-Call to work in the Vineyard requires preſent Obedience; Son, go work to Day, while it is call'd to Day, becauſe the Night comes when no Man can work; we were not ſent into the World to be idle, nor had we Daylight given us to play by, and therefore if ever we mean to do any thing for God and our Souls, why not now? Why not to Day? 3. The Exhortation to go work to Day in the Vineyard, ſpeaketh unto us, as unto Children, Heb. 12. 5. Son, go work; 'tis the Command of a Father, which carries with it both Authority and Affection, a Father that pities his Children, and conſiders their Frame, and will not over-task them, Pſal. 103. 13, 14. a Father that is very tender of his Son that ſerves him, Mal. 3. 17. if we work in our Father's Vineyard we work for our ſelves.

3. Their Carriage is very different.

1. One of the Sons did better than he ſaid, prov'd better than he promiſed: His Anſwer was ill, but his Actions well.

(1.) Here's the untoward Anſwer that he gave to his Father; he ſaid flat and plain, I will not: See to what a degree of Impudence the corrupt Nature of Man riſeth, to ſay, I will not, to the Command of a Father; ſuch a Command of ſuch a Father, they are impudent Children, and ſtiff-hearted: Thoſe that will not bend, ſurely they cannot bluſh; if they had any degree of Modeſty left them, they could not ſay, We will not, Jer. 2. 25. Excuſes are bad, but downright Denials are worſe; yet ſuch peremptory Refuſals do the Calls of the Goſpel often meet with. (1.) Some love their Eaſe, and will not work; they would live in the World, as Leviathans in the Waters, to play therein, Pſal. 104. 26. they do not love working. (2.) Their Hearts are ſo much upon their own Fields, that they are not for working in God's Vineyard. They love the Buſineſs of the World better than the Buſineſs of their Religion. Thus ſome by the delights of Senſe, and others by the Employments of the World, are kept from doing that great Work which they were ſent into the World about, and ſo ſtand all the Day idle.

(2.) Here's the happy Change of his Mind, and of his Way upon ſecond Thoughts. Afterwards he repented, and went. Note, There are many that in their beginning are wicked and wilful, and very unpromiſing, who afterwards repent and mend, and come to ſomething. Some that God hath choſen, are ſuffered for a great while to run to a great exceſs of Riot; ſuch were ſome of you, 1 Cor. 6. 11. Theſe are ſet forth for Patterns of long Suffering, 1 Tim. 1. 16 afterwards he repented. Repentance is Μετάνοια, an After-wit; and Μεταμέλεια, an After-care; better late than never. Obſerve, When he repented he went, that was the Fruit meet for Repentance: The only Evidence of our Repentance for our former Reſiſtance, is immediately to comply, and ſet to work, and then what's paſt ſhall be pardon'd, and all ſhall be well. See what a kind Father God is; he reſents not the affront of our Refuſals, as juſtly he might. He that told his Father to his face, he would not do as he bid him, deſerv'd to be kick'd out of doors, and diſinherited; but our God waits to be Gracious, and notwithſtanding our former Follies, if we repent and mend, will favourably accept of us; bleſſed be God, we are under a Covenant that leaves room for ſuch a Repentance.

2. The other Son ſaid better than he did, promis'd better than he prov'd; his Anſwer was well, but his Actions ill. To him the Father ſaid likewiſe, v. 30. The Goſpel-call, tho' very different in the effect, is the ſame to all, and is carry'd on with an even Tenor. We all have the ſame Commands, Engagements, Encouragements, tho' to ſome they are a ſavour of Life unto Life, to others of Death unto Death. Obſerve,

1. How fairly this other Son promiſed. He ſaid, I go, Sir. He gives his Father a Title of Reſpect, Sir. Note, It becomes Children to ſpeak reſpectfully to their Parents. 'Tis one Branch of that Honour which the Fifth Commandment requires. He profeſſes a ready Obedience. I go; not, I will go by and by, but ready, Sir, you may depend upon it, I go juſt now. This Anſwer we ſhould give from the Heart heartily to all the Calls and Commands of the Word of God. See Jer. 3. 22. Pſal. 27. 8.

2. How he fail'd in the Performance, he went not. Note, There are many that give good Words, and make fair Promiſes in Religion, and thoſe from ſome good Motions for the preſent, and reſt there, and go no further, and ſo come to nothing. Saying and Doing are two things, and many there are that ſay, and do not; 'tis particularly charged upon the Phariſees, Mat. 23. 3. Many with their Mouth ſhew much Love, but their Heart goes another way. They had a good mind to be religious, but they met with ſomething to be done that was too hard, or ſomething to be parted with that was too dear, and ſo the Purpoſes are to no purpoſe. Buds and Bloſſoms are not Fruit.

Secondly, A general Appeal upon the Parable; Whether of them did the Will of his Father? v. 31. They both had their Faults, one was rude, and the other was falſe; ſuch variety of Exerciſes Parents ſometimes have in the different Humours of their Children, that they have need of a great deal of Wiſdom and Grace to know what is the beſt way of managing them. But the Queſtion is, Which was the better of the two, and the leſs faulty? And it was ſoon reſolv'd; the firſt, becauſe his Actions were better than his Words, and his latter End than his Beginning. This they had learn'd from the Common Senſe of Mankind, who will much rather deal with one that will be better than his Word, than with one that will be falſe to his Word: And in the intention of it, they had learn'd from the account God gives of the Rule of his Judgment, Ezek. 18. 21, 22. That if the Sinner turn from his Wickedneſs, he ſhall be pardon'd. And if the righteous Man turn from his righteouſneſs, he ſhall be rejected. The Tenor of the whole Scripture gives us to underſtand, that thoſe are accepted as doing their Father's Will, who, wherein they have miſs'd it, are ſorry for it, and do better.

Thirdly, A particular Application of it to the matter in hand, v. 31, 32. The Primary ſcope of the Parable is, to ſhew how the Publicans and Harlots, who never talk'd of the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, yet entertain'd the Doctrine, and ſubmitted to the Diſcipline of John Baptiſt his Fore-runner, when the Prieſts and Elders, who were big with Expectations of the Meſſiah, and ſeem'd very ready to go into his Meaſures, ſlighted John Baptiſt, and run counter to the deſigns of his Miſſion. But it was a further reach, the Gentiles were ſometimes diſobedient, had been long ſo, Children of Diſobedience, like the elder Son, Tit. 3. 3, 4. Yet when the Goſpel was Preached to them, they became obedient to the Faith; whereas the Jews who ſaid, I go, Sir, promis'd fair, Exod. 24. 7. Joſh. 24. 24. yet went not; they did but flatter God with their Mouth, Pſal. 78. 36.

In Chriſt's Application of this Parable, obſerve,

1. How he proves that John's Baptiſm was from Heaven, and not of Men. If you cannot tell, (ſaith Chriſt) you might tell.

(1.) By the Scope of his Miniſtry. John came unto you in the way of Righteouſneſs. Would you know whether John had his Commiſſion from Heaven, remember the Rule of Tryal, by their Fruits ye ſhall know them; the Fruits of their Doctrines, the Fruits of their Doings. Obſerve but their Way, and you may trace out both their Riſe and their Tendency. Now it was evident that John came in the Way of Righteouſneſs. In his Miniſtry he taught People to repent, and to work the works of Righteouſneſs: In his Converſation, he was a great Example of Strictneſs, and Seriousneſs, and Contempt of the World, denying himſelf, and doing good to every body elſe; Chriſt therefore ſubmitted to the Baptiſm of John, becauſe it became him to fulfil all Righteouſneſs: Now if John thus came in the way of Righteouſneſs, could they be ignorant that his Baptiſm was from Heaven, or make any doubt of it?

(2.) By the Succeſs of his Miniſtry. The Publicans and the Harlots believed him; he did abundance of good among the worſt ſort of People. St. Paul proves his Apoſtleſhip by the Seals of his Miniſtry, 1 Cor. 9. 2. If God had not ſent John Baptiſt, he would not have crown'd his Labours with ſuch wonderful Succeſs, nor have made him ſo Inſtrumental as he was for the Converſion of Souls. If Publicans and Harlots believe his Reports, ſurely the Arm of the Lord is with him. The Peoples profiting is the Miniſter's beſt Teſtimonial.

2. How he reproves them for their Contempt of John's Baptiſm, which yet, for fear of the People, they were not willing to own. And to ſhame them for it, he ſets before them the Faith, Repentance, and Obedience of the Publicans and Harlots, which aggravated their Unbelief and Impenitence; as he ſhews, Mat. 11. 21. that the leſs likely would have repented, ſo here that the leſs likely did repent.

1. The Publicans and Harlots were like the firſt Son in the Parable, from whom little of Religion was expected. They promis'd little good, and thoſe that knew them promis'd themſelves little good from them: Their Diſpoſition was generally rude, and their Converſation profligate and debauch'd, and yet many of them were wrought upon by the Miniſtry of John, who came in the Spirit and Power of Elias. See Luke 7. 29. And theſe fitly repreſented the Gentile World; for (as Dr. Whitby obſerves) the Jews generally rank'd the Publicans with the Heathen; nay, and the Heathen were repreſented by the Jews as Harlots, and born of Harlots, John 8. 41.

2. The Scribes and Phariſees, the Chief Prieſts and Elders, and indeed the Jewiſh Nation in general, were like the other Son that gave good words, they made a ſpecious Profeſſion of Religion, and yet when the Kingdom of the Meſſiah was brought among them by the Baptiſm of John, they ſlighted it, they turned their back upon it, nay, they lift up the Heel againſt it. An Hypocrite is more hardly convinc'd and converted than a groſs Sinner; the Form of Godlineſs, if that be reſted in, becomes one of Satan's ſtrong Holds, by which he oppoſeth the Power of Godlineſs. 'Twas an Aggravation of their Unbelief, (1.) That John was ſuch an excellent Perſon, that he came, and came to them in the way of Righteouſneſs. The better the means are, the greater will the account be if not improv'd. (2.) That when they ſaw the Publicans and Harlots go before them into the Kingdom of Heaven, they did not afterwards repent and believe; were not thereby provok'd to an holy Emulation, Rom. 11. 14. Shall Publicans and Harlots go away with Grace and Glory, and ſhall not we put in for a ſhare? Shall our Inferiors be more holy and more happy than we? They had not the Wit and Grace that Eſau had, who was mov'd to take other Meaſures than he had done, by the Example of his younger Brother, Gen. 28. 6. Theſe proud Prieſts, that ſet up for Leaders, ſcorn'd to follow, tho' it were into the Kingdom of Heaven, eſpecially to follow Publicans; through the Pride of their Countenance they would not ſeek after God, after Chriſt, Pſal. 10. 4.

33 Hear another parable: There was a certain houſholder which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a wine-preſs in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country. 34 And when the time of the fruit drew near, he ſent his ſervants to the husbandmen, that he might receive the fruits of it. 35 And the husbandmen took his ſervants, and beat one, and killed another, and ſtoned another. 36 Again, he ſent other ſervants, mo than the firſt: and they did unto them likewiſe. 37 But laſt of all he ſent unto them his ſon, ſaying, They will reverence my ſon. 38 But when the husbandmen ſaw the ſon, they ſaid among themſelves, This is the heir, come, let us kill him, and let us ſeize on his inheritance. 39 And they caught him, and caſt him out of the vineyard, and ſlew him. 40 When the Lord therefore of the vineyard cometh, what will he do unto thoſe husbandmen? 41 They ſay unto him, He will miſerably deſtroy thoſe wicked men, and will let out his vineyard unto other husbanmen, which ſhall render him the fruits in their ſeaſons. 42 Jeſus ſaith unto them, Did ye never read in the Scriptures, The ſtone which the builders rejected, the ſame is become the head of the corner: this is the Lords doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

43 Therefore I ſay unto you, The Kingdom of God ſhall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof. 44 And whoſoever ſhall fall on this ſtone ſhall be broken: but on whomſoever it ſhall fall, it will grind him to powder. 45 And when the chief Prieſts and Phariſees had heard his parables, they perceived that he ſpake of them: 46 But when they ſought to lay hands on him, they feared the multitude, becauſe they took him for a prophet.

This Parable plainly ſets forth the Sin and Ruin of the Jewiſh Nation; they and the Leaders are the Husbandmen here, and what is ſpoken for Conviction to them, is ſpoken for Caution to all that enjoy the Priviledges of the viſible Church, not to be high-minded, but fear.

Firſt, We have here the Priviledges of the Jewiſh Church repreſented, by the letting out of a Vineyard to the Husbandmen; they were as Tenants holding by, from, and under God the great Houſholder. Obſerve,

1. How God eſtabliſh'd a Church for himſelf in the World. The Kingdom of God upon Earth is here compar'd to a Vineyard, furniſh'd with all things requiſite to an advantageous management and improvement of it. (1.) He planted this Vineyard. The Church is the planting of the Lord, Iſa. 61. 3. The forming of a Church is a Work by it ſelf, like the planting of a Vineyard, which requires a great deal of Coſt and Care. 'Tis the Vineyard which his right-hand has planted, Pſal. 80. 15. planted with the chiefeſt Vine, Iſa. 5. 2. a noble Vine, Jer. 2. 21. The Earth of it ſelf produceth Thorns and Briars, but Vines muſt be planted. The Being of a Church is owing to God's diſtinguiſhing Favour, and his manifeſting himſelf to ſome, and not to others. (2.) He hedg'd it round about. Note, God's Church in the World is taken under his ſpecial Protection. 'Tis a Hedge round about, like that about Job on every ſide, Job 1. 10. a Wall of Fire, Zech. 2. 5. Wherever God has a Church, it is, and will always be his peculiar Care. The Covenant of Circumciſion and the Ceremonial Law were a Hedge, or Wall of Partition about the Jewiſh Church, which is taken down by Chriſt; who yet has appointed a Goſpel-order and Diſcipline to be the Hedge of his Church. He will not have his Vineyard to lie in common, that thoſe that are without may thruſt in at pleaſure; nor to lie at large, that thoſe that are within may laſh out at pleaſure, but care is taken to ſet bounds about this holy Mountain. (3.) He dig'd a Wine-preſs, and built a Tower. The Altar of Burnt-offerings was the Wine-preſs, to which all the Offerings were brought. God inſtituted Ordinances in his Church, for the due over-ſight of it, and for the promoting of its Fruitfulneſs. What could have been done more to make it every way convenient?

2. How he intruſted theſe viſible Church-priviledges with the Nation and People of the Jews, eſpecially their chief Prieſts and Elders; he let it out to them as Husbandmen, not becauſe he had need of them, as Landlords have of their Tenants; but becauſe he would try them, and be honour'd by them. When in Judah God was known, and his Name was great; when they were taken to be to God for a People, and for a Name, and for a Praiſe, Jer. 13. 11. when he revealed his Word unto Jacob, Pſal. 147. 19. when the Covenant of Life and Peace was made with Levi, Mal. 2. 4, 5. then this Vineyard was let out. See an Abſtract of the Leaſe, Cant. 8. 11, 12. The Lord of the Vineyard was to have a thouſand Pieces of Silver, (compare Iſa. 7. 13.) the main Profit was to be his; but the Keepers were to have two hundred, a competent and comfortable Encouragement. And then he went into a far Country. When God had in a viſible Appearance ſettled the Jewiſh Church at Mount Sinai, he did in a manner withdraw; they had no more ſuch open Viſion, but were left to the written Word. Or, they imagin'd that he was gone into a far Country, as Iſrael when they made the Calf, fancy'd that Moſes was gone. They put far from them the evil Day.

Secondly, God's expectation of Rent from theſe Husbandmen, v. 34. And good Reaſon; for who plants a Vineyard, and eats not of the Fruit thereof? Note, From thoſe that enjoy Church-priviledges, both Miniſters and People, God looks for Fruit accordingly. (1.) His Expectations were not haſty; he did not demand a Fore-rent, tho' he had been at ſuch Expence upon it; but ſtaid till the time of the Fruit drew near, as it did: now John Preach'd, the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; God waits to be gracious that he may give us time. (2.) They were not high, he did not require them to come at their Peril, upon Penalty of forfeiting their Leaſe if they run behind-hand, but he ſent his Servants to them, to mind them of their Duty, and of the Rent-day, and to help them in gathering in the Fruit, and making return of it. Theſe Servants were the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, who were ſent, and ſometimes directly to the People of the Jews, to reprove, and inſtruct them. (3.) They were not hard, 'twas only to receive the Fruits. He did not demand more than they could make of it, but ſome Fruit of that which he himſelf planted, and obſervance of the Laws and Statutes he gave them. What could have been done more reaſonable? But his Expectations were fruſtrated, he found none. Iſrael was an empty Vine, nay, 'twas become the degenerate Plant of a ſtrange Vine, and brought forth wild Grapes.

Thirdly, The Husbandmens Baſeneſs in abuſing the Meſſengers that were ſent to them.

1. When he ſent them his Servants, they abuſed them, tho' they repreſented the Maſter himſelf, and ſpoke in his Name. Note, The Calls and Reproofs of the Word, if they do not engage, will but exaſperate. See here what hath all along been the Lot of God's faithful Meſſengers, more or leſs, (1.) to ſuffer, ſo perſecuted they the Prophets, they were hated with a cruel Hatred; they not only deſpis'd and reproach'd them, but treated them as the worſt of Malefactors, they beat them, and kill'd them, and ſton'd them. They beat Jeremiah, kill'd Iſaiah, ſton'd Zecharia the Son of Jehojadah in the Temple. If they that live godly in Chriſt Jeſus themſelves ſhall ſuffer Perſecution, much more they that preſs others to it. This was God's old Quarrel with the Jews, miſuſing his Prophets, 2 Chron. 36. 16. (2.) It has been their lot to ſuffer from their Maſter's own Tenants. They were the Husbandmen that treated them thus, the chief Prieſts and Elders that ſate in Moſes*'s Chair*, that profeſs'd Religion, and Relation to God; theſe were the moſt bitter Enemies of the Lord's Prophets, that caſt them out and killed them, and ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified, Iſa. 66. 5. See Jer. 20. 1, 2.—26. 11.

Now ſee, 1. How God perſever'd in his Goodneſs to them. He ſent other Servants more than the firſt, tho' the firſt ſped not, but were abus'd. He ſent them John Baptiſt, and him they had beheaded, and yet he ſent them his Diſciples to prepare his way. O the Riches of the Patience and Forbearance of God, in keeping up in his Church a deſpiſed, perſecuted Miniſtry!

2. How they perſiſted in their Wickedneſs. They did unto them likewiſe. One Sin makes way for another of the ſame kind. They that are drunk with the Blood of the Saints, add Drunkenneſs to Thirſt, and ſtill cry, Give, give.

3. At length he ſent them his Son; we have ſeen God's Goodneſs in ſending, and their Badneſs in abuſing the Servants, but in the latter Inſtance both theſe exceed themſelves.

1. Never did Grace appear more Gracious than in ſending the Son. This was done laſt of all. Note, All the Prophets were Harbingers and Fore-runners to Chriſt. He was ſent laſt; for if nothing elſe would work upon them, ſure this would; it was therefore reſerv'd for the Ratio ultima, the laſt Expedient. Surely they will reverence my Son, and therefore I'll ſend him. Note, It might reaſonably be expected, that the Son of God, when he came to his own ſhould be reverenc'd. And Reverence to Chriſt would be a powerful and effectual Principle of Fruitfulneſs and Obedience to the Glory of God; if they will but reverence the Son, the Point is gain'd. Surely they will reverence my Son, for he comes with more Authority than the Servants could; Judgment is committed to him, that all Men ſhould honour him. There is greater danger in refuſing him, than in deſpiſing Moſes's Law.

2. Never did Sin appear more ſinful than in the abuſing of him, which was now to be done in two or three Days. Obſerve,

1. How it was plotted, v. 38. When they ſaw the Son, when he came whom the People own'd and followed as the Meſſiah, who would either have the Rent paid, or diſtrain for it; this touch'd their Copy-hold, and they were reſolv'd to make one bold puſh for it, and to preſerve their Wealth and Grandeur by taking him out of the way, who was the only hindrance of it, and Rival with them. This is the Heir, come, let us kill him. Pilot and Herod the Princes of this World knew not; for if they had known, they would not have Crucified the Lord of Glory, 1 Cor. 2. 8. But the chief Prieſts and Elders knew that this was the Heir, at leaſt ſome of them; and therefore come, let us kill him, many are killed for what they have. The chief thing they envy'd him, and for which they hated and fear'd him, was his Intereſt in the People, and their Hoſanna's, which if he were taken off, they hop'd to ingroſs ſecurely to themſelves. They pretended he muſt die to ſave the People from the Romans, John 11. 50. but really he muſt die to ſave their Hypocriſie and Tyranny from that Reformation which the expected Kingdom of the Meſſiah would certainly bring along with it. He drives the Buyers and Sellers out of the Temple, and therefore let us kill him; and then, as if the Promiſes muſt of courſe go to the Occupant, let us ſeize on his Inheritance. They thought, if they could but get rid of this Jeſus, they ſhould carry all before them in the Church without controul, might impoſe what Traditions, and force the People to what Submiſſions they pleas'd. Thus they take Counſel againſt the Lord and his Anointed; but he that ſits in Heaven, laughs to ſee them out-ſhot in their own Bow; for while they thought to kill him, and ſo to ſeize on his Inheritance, he went by his Croſs to his Crown, and they were broke in pieces with a Rod of Iron, and their Inheritance ſeiz'd, Pſal. 2. 2, 3, 6, 9.

2. How this Plot was executed, v. 39. While they were ſo ſet upon killing him, in purſuance of their Deſign to ſecure their own Pomp and Power, and while he was ſo ſet upon dying, in purſuance of his Deſign to ſubdue Satan, and ſave his choſen, no wonder if they ſoon caught him, and ſlew him when his hour was come. Tho' the Roman Power condemn'd him, yet ſtill 'tis charged upon the chief Prieſts and Elders; for they were not only the Perſecutors, but the principal Agents, and had the greater Sin. Ye have taken, Acts 2. 23. nay, looking upon him to be as unworthy to live, as they were unwilling he ſhould, they caſt him out of the Vineyard, out of the holy Church, which they ſuppoſed themſelves to have the Key of, and out of the holy City, for he was Crucified without the Gate, Heb. 13. 12. as if he had been the Shame and Reproach, who was the greateſt Glory of his People Iſrael. Thus they who Perſecuted the Servants, Perſecuted the Son; as Men treat God's Miniſters, they would treat Chriſt himſelf if he were with them.

Fourthly, Here is their Doom read out of their own Mouths, v. 40, 41. He puts it to them, When the Lord of the Vineyard comes, what will he do unto theſe Husbandmen? He puts it to themſelves, for their ſtronger Conviction, that knowing the Judgment of God againſt them which do ſuch things, they might be the more inexcuſable. Note, God's Proceedings are ſo unexceptionable, that there needs but an Appeal to Sinners themſelves concerning the Equity of them; God will be juſtified when he ſpeaks. They could readily anſwer, He will miſerably deſtroy thoſe wicked Men. Note, Many can eaſily prognoſticate the diſmal Conſequences of other People's Sins, that ſee not what will be the end of their own.

1. Our Saviour in his Queſtion ſuppoſeth, that the Lord of the Vineyard will come and reckon with them. God is the Lord of the Vineyard, the Property is his, and he will make them know it, who now Lord it over his Heritage, as if it were all their own. The Lord of the Vineyard will come. Perſecutors ſay in their Hearts, he delays his coming, he doth not ſee, he will not require, but they ſhall find, tho' he bear long with them, he will not bear always. 'Tis comfort to abuſed Saints and Miniſters, that the Lord is at hand, the Judge ſtands before the Door. When he comes, what will he do to carnal Profeſſors? What will he do to cruel Perſecutors? They muſt be called to account, they have their Day now, but he ſees that his Day is coming.

2. They in their Anſwer ſuppoſe that it will be a terrible Reckoning, the Crime appearing ſo very black, you may be ſure.

1. That he will miſerably deſtroy thoſe wicked Men, 'tis Deſtruction that is their Doom. κακοὺς κακῶς ἀπολέσει, malos malè perdit. Let Men never expect to do ill, and fare well. This was fulfilled upon the Jews, in that miſerable Deſtruction which was brought upon them by the Romans, and was compleated about forty Years after this; an unparallel'd Ruin, attended with all the moſt diſmal aggravating Circumſtances. It will be fulfilled upon all that tread in the Steps of their Wickedneſs; Hell is everlaſting Deſtruction, and it will be the moſt miſerable Deſtruction to them of all others, that have enjoy'd the greateſt Share of Church-Priviledges and have not improv'd them. The hotteſt Place in Hell will be the Portion of Hypocrites and Perſecutors.

2. That he will let out his Vineyard to other Husbandmen. Note, God will have a Church in the World, notwithſtanding the Unworthineſs and Oppoſition of many that abuſe the Priviledges of it. The Unbelief and Forwardneſs of Man ſhall not make the Word of God of none effect. If one will not, another will. The Jews Leavings were the Gentiles Feaſt. Perſecutors may deſtroy the Miniſters, but cannot deſtroy the Church. The Jews imagin'd, that no doubt but they were the People, and Wiſdom and Holineſs muſt die with them; and if they were cut off, what would God do for a Church in the World? But when God makes uſe of any to bear up his Name; 'tis not becauſe he needs them, nor is he at all beholden to them. If we were made a Deſolation and an Aſtoniſhment, God could build a flouriſhing Church upon our Ruins; for he is never at a loſs what to do for his Great Name, whatever becomes of us, and of our Place and Nation.

Fifthly, The further Illuſtration and Application of this by Chriſt himſelf, telling them in effect, they had rightly judged.

1. He illuſtrates it, by referring to a Scripture fulfill'd in this, v. 42. Did ye never read in the Scripture? Yes, no noubt, they had often read and ſung it, but had not conſider'd it. We loſe the Benefit of what we read for want of Meditation. The Scripture he quotes is, Pſal. 118. 22, 23. the ſame Context, out of which the Children fetch'd their Hoſanna's. The ſame word yields matter of Praiſe and Comfort to Chriſt's Friends and Followers, which ſpeaks Conviction and Terror to his Enemies. Such a two-edged Sword is the Word of God. That Scripture, the Stone which the Builders refuſed, is become the head Stone of the corner, illuſtrates the preceeding Parable, eſpecially that part of it which refers to Chriſt.

1 The Builders rejecting the Stone, is the ſame with the Husbandmen's abuſing the Son that was ſent to them. The chief Prieſts and the Elders were the Builders, had the Overſight of the Jewiſh Church, which was God's Building: And they would not allow Chriſt a Place in their Building, would not admit his Doctrine or Laws into their Conſtitution; they threw him aſide as a deſpiſed broken Veſſel, a Stone that would ſerve only for a Stepping-Stone, to be trampled upon.

2. The advancing of this Stone to be the Head of the Corner, is the ſame with letting out the Vineyard to other Husbandmen. He who was rejected by the Jews, was embrac'd by the Gentiles; and to that Church, where there is no difference of Circumciſion or Uncircumciſion, Chriſt is all, and in all. His Authority over the Goſpel-Church, and Influence upon it, his ruling it as the Head, and uniting it as the Corner-ſtone, is the great Inſtance of his Exaltation. Thus in ſpite of the Malice of the Prieſts and Elders he divided a Portion with the Great, and received his Kingdom, tho' they would not have him to reign over them.

3. The Hand of God was in all this; this is the Lord's doing. Even the rejecting of him by the Jewiſh Builders was by the determinate Counſel and Fore-knowledge of God, he permitted and over-ruled it; much more was his Advancement to the Head of the Corner; his Right-hand and his holy Arm brought it about, 'twas God himſelf that highly exalted him, and gave him the Name above every Name, and it is marvellous in our Eyes. The Wickedneſs of the Jews that rejected him is marvellous; that Men ſhould be ſo prejudic'd againſt their own Intereſt; ſee Iſa. 29. 9, 10, 14. The Honour done him by the Gentile World, notwithſtanding the Abuſes done him by his own People, is marvellous. That he whom Men deſpis'd and abhor'd ſhould be adorn'd by Kings, Iſa. 49. 7. but it is the Lord's doing.

2. He applies it to them, and Application is the Life of Preaching.

1. He applies the Sentence which they had paſt, v. 41. and turns it upon themſelves; not the former part of it concerning the miſerable Deſtruction of the Husbandmen, he could not bear to ſpeak of that, but the latter part of letting out the Vineyard to others, he makes Application of; becauſe tho' it lock'd back upon the Jews, it ſpoke Good to the Gentiles. Know then,

(1.) That the Jews ſhall be unchurch'd; the Kingdom of God ſhall be taken from you. This turning out of the Husbandmen, ſpeaks the ſame Doom with that of diſmantling the Vineyard, and laying it common, Iſa. 5. 5. To the Jews had long pertain'd the Adoption, and the Glory, Rom. 9. 4. to them were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. and the ſacred Truſt of revealed Religion, and bearing up God's Name in the World, Pſal. 76. 1, 2. But now it ſhall be ſo no longer. They were not only unfruitful in the uſe of their Priviledges, but under pretence of them oppoſed the Goſpel of Chriſt, and ſo forfeited them, and it was not long e'er the Forfeiture was taken. Note, It is a righteous thing with God to remove Church-Priviledges from thoſe that not only Sin againſt them, but Sin with them, Rev. 2. 4, 5. The Kingdom of God was taken from the Jews, not only by the Temporal Judgments that befel them, but by the Spiritual Judgment they lay under, their Blindneſs of Mind, hardneſs of Heart, and Indignation at the Goſpel, Rom. 11. 8, 9, 10. 1 Theſ. 2. 15.

(2.) That the Gentiles ſhall be taken in. God needs not ask us leave, whether he ſhall have a Church in the World; tho' his Vine be pluck'd up in one place, he will find another to plant in it. He will give it ἔθνει to the Gentile World, that will bring forth the Fruit of it. They who had been not a People, and had not obtained Mercy, became Favourites of Heaven. This is the Myſtery which bleſſed Paul was ſo much affected with, Rom. 11. 30, 33. and which the Jews were ſo much affronted by, Acts 22. 21, 22. At the firſt planting of Iſrael in Canaan, the Fall of the Gentiles was the Riches of Iſrael, Pſal. 135. 10, 11. So at their Extirpation the Fall of Iſrael was the Riches of the Gentiles, Rom. 11. 12. It ſhall go to a Nation bringing forth the Fruits thereof. Note, Chriſt knows before-hand who will bring forth Goſpel-fruits in the uſe of Goſpel-means; becauſe our Fruitfulneſs is all the Work of his own Hands, and known unto God are all his Works. They ſhall bring forth the Fruits better than the Jews had done; God has had more Glory from the New Teſtament Church, than from that of the Old Teſtament, for when he changeth, it ſhall not be to his Loſs.

2. He applies the Scripture which he had quoted, v. 42. to their Terror, v. 44. This Stone which the Builders refuſed is ſet for the Fall of many in Iſrael; and we have here the Doom of two ſorts of People, for whoſe Fall it proves that Chriſt is ſet.

1. Some through Ignorance ſtumble at Chriſt in his Eſtate of Humiliation; when this Stone lies on the Earth, where the Builders threw it, they through their Blindneſs and Careleſneſs fall on it, and they ſhall be broken: The Offence they take at Chriſt will not hurt him, no more than he that ſtumbles hurts the Stone he ſtumbles at, but it will hurt themſelves; they will fall, and be broken, and ſnar'd, Iſa. 8. 14. 1 Pet. 2. 7, 8. The Unbelief of Sinners will be their Ruin.

2. Others through Malice oppoſe Chriſt, and bid defiance to him in his Eſtate of Exaltation; when this Stone is advanced to the Head of the Corner, and on them it ſhall fall, for they pull it on their own Heads, as the Jews did by that Challenge, his Blood be upon us, and upon our Children, and it will grind them to Powder. The former ſeems to ſpeak the Sin and Ruin of all Unbelievers; this is the greater Sin, and ſorer Ruin of Perſecutors that kick againſt the Pricks, and perſiſt in it. Chriſt's Kingdom will be a burthenſome Stone to all thoſe that attempt to overthrow it, or heave it out of its place; ſee Zech. 12. 3. This Stone, cut out of the Mountain without Hands, will break in pieces all oppoſing Power, Dan. 2. 34, 35. Some make this an alluſion to the manner of Stoning to Death among the Jews. The Malefactors were firſt thrown down violently from a high Scaffold upon a great Stone, which would much bruiſe them; but then they threw another great Stone upon them, which would cruſh them to pieces; one way or other Chriſt will utterly deſtroy all thoſe that fight againſt him. If they be ſo ſtout-hearted that they are not deſtroy'd by falling on this Stone, yet it ſhall fall on them, and do their buſineſs. He will ſtrike through Kings, he will fill the Places with dead Bodies, Pſal. 110. 5, 6. None ever hardned his Heart againſt God and proſper'd.

Laſtly, The Entertainment which this Diſcourſe of Chriſt met with among the chief Prieſts and Elders that heard his Parables.

1. They perceived that he ſpake of them, (v. 45.) and that in what they ſaid, v. 41. they had but read their own Doom. Note, A guilty Conſcience needs no Accuſer, and ſometimes will ſave a Miniſter the labour of ſaying, Thou art the Man. Mutato nomine de te Fabula narratur. So quick and powerful is the Word of God, and ſuch a diſcerner of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart, that 'tis eaſie for bad Men, (if Conſcience be not quite ſear'd,) to perceive that it ſpeaks of them.

2. They ſought to lay hands on him. Note, When thoſe who hear the Reproofs of the Word, perceive that it ſpeaks of them, if it do not do them a great deal of good, it will certainly do them a great deal of hurt. If they be not prick'd to the Heart with Conviction and Contrition as they were, Acts 2. 37. they will be cut to the Heart with Rage and Indignation, as they were, Acts 5. 33.

3. They durſt not do it for fear of the Multitude, who took him for a Prophet, tho' not for the Meſſiah; this ſerv'd to keep the Phariſees in awe. The Fear of the People reſtrain'd them from ſpeaking ill of John, v. 26. and here from doing ill to Chriſt. Note, God has many ways of reſtraining the Remainders of Wrath, as he has of making that which breaks out to redound to his Praiſe, Pſal. 76. 10.

CHAP. XXII.

This Chapter is a Continuation of Chriſt's Diſcourſes in the Temple, two or three Days before he dy'd. His Diſcourſes then are largely recorded, as being of ſpecial Weight and Conſequence. In this Chapter we have (1.) Instruction given by the Parable of the Marriage Supper, concerning the Rejection of the Jews, and the Calling of the Gentiles, v. 1.—10. And by the Doom of the Gueſt that had not the Wedding Garment, the Danger of Hypocriſie in the Profeſſion of Chriſtianity, v. 11.—14. (2) Diſputes with the Phariſees, Sadducees and Scribes, who oppos'd Chriſt. (1.) Concerning paying Tribute to Cæſar, v. 15.—22. (2.) Concerning the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the future State, v. 23.—33. (3.) Concerning the great Commandment of the Law, v. 34.—40. (4.) Concerning the Relation of the Meſſiah to David, v. 41.—46.

AND Jeſus anſwered and ſpake unto them again by parables, and ſaid, 2 The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a marriage for his ſon; 3 And ſent forth his ſervants to call them that were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come. 4 Again, he ſent forth other ſervants, ſaying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come unto the marriage. 5 But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandiſe: 6 And the remnant took his ſervants, and entreated them ſpitefully, and ſlew them. 7 But when the king heard thereof, he was wroth: and he ſent forth his armies, and deſtroyed thoſe murderers, and burnt up their city. 8 Then ſaith he to his ſervants, The wedding is ready, but they which were bidden, were not worthy. 9 Go ye therefore into the high-ways, and as many as ye ſhall find, bid to the marriage. 10 So thoſe ſervants went out into the high-ways, and gathered together all, as many as they found, both bad and good: and the wedding was furniſhed with gueſts. 11 And when the king came in to ſee the gueſts, he ſaw there a man which had not on a wedding-garment. 12 And he ſaith unto him, Friend, How cameſt thou in hither, not having a wedding-garment? And he was ſpeechleſs. 13 Then ſaid the king to the ſervants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and caſt him into outer darkneſs: there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth. 14 For many are called, but few are choſen.

We have here the parable of the Gueſts invited to the Wedding-Feaſt. In this it is ſaid, v. 1. Jeſus anſwered, not to what his Opposers ſaid, for they were put to Silence, but to what they thought, when they were wiſhing for an opportunity to lay hands on him, Chap. 21. 46. Note, Chriſt knows how to anſwer Men's Thoughts, for he is a diſcerner of them. Or, he anſwer'd, i. e. he continu'd his Diſcourſe to the ſame purpoſe; for this parable repreſents the Goſpel-offer, and the Entertainment it meets with, as the former, but under another Similitude. The Parable of the Vineyard repreſents the Sin of the Rulers that perſecuted the Prophets; this ſhews alſo the Sin of the People, who generally neglected the Meſſage, while their great Ones were perſecuting the Meſſengers.

Firſt, Goſpel-preparations are here repreſented by a Feaſt which a King made at the Marriage of his Son. Such is the Kingdom of Heaven, ſuch the Proviſion made for precious Souls, in, and by the new Covenant. The King is God, a great King, King of Kings. Now,

1. Here is a Marriage made for his Son. Chriſt is the Bridegroom, the Church is the Bride. The Goſpel-day is the Day of his Eſpouſals, Cant. 3. ult. Behold by Faith the Church of the Firſt-born, that are written in Heaven, and were given to Chriſt by him whoſe they were, and in them you ſee the Bride, the Lamb's Wife, Rev. 21. 9. The Goſpel-covenant is a Marriage-covenant betwixt Chriſt and Believers, and 'tis a Marriage of God's making. This Branch of the Similitude is only mention'd, and not proſecuted here.

2. Here is a Dinner prepar'd for this Marriage, v. 4. All the Priviledges of Church-memberſhip, and all the Bleſſings of the new Covenant, Pardon of Sin, the Favour of God, Peace of Conſcience, the Promiſes of the Goſpel, and all the Riches contain'd in them; Acceſs to the Throne of Grace, the Comforts of the Spirit, and a well grounded Hope of Eternal Life. Theſe are the Preparations for this Feaſt, a Heaven upon Earth now, and a Heaven in Heaven ſhortly. God has prepar'd it in his Counſel, in his Covenant. 'Tis a Dinner, noting preſent Priviledges in the midſt of our Day, beſides the Supper at Night in Glory.

1. It is a Feaſt. Goſpel-preparations were Propheſied of as a Feaſt, Iſa. 25. 6. a Feaſt of fat things, and were typify'd by the many Feſtivals of the Ceremonial Law, 1 Cor. 5. 8. Let us keep the Feaſt. A Feaſt is a good Day, Eſth. 8. 17. So is the Goſpel, 'tis a continual Feaſt. Oxen and Fatlings are kill'd for this Feaſt, no Niceties, but ſubſtantial Food, enough, and enough of the beſt. The Day of a Feaſt is a Day of Slaughter, or Sacrifice, Jam. 5. 5. Goſpel-Preparations are all founded in the Death of Chriſt, his Sacrifice of himſelf. A Feaſt was made for Love, 'tis a Reconciliation Feaſt, a Token of God's Good-will towards Men. 'Twas made for Laughter, Eccl. 10. 19. 'tis a rejoycing Feaſt. 'Twas made for Fulneſs; the deſign of the Goſpel was to fill every hungry Soul with good things. 'Twas made for Fellowſhip, to maintain an Intercourſe between Heaven and Earth. We are ſent for to the Banquet of Wine, that we may tell what is our Petition, and what is our Requeſt.

2. It is a Wedding Feaſt; Wedding Feaſts uſe to be moſt rich, and free, and moſt joyful. The firſt Miracle Chriſt wrought was, to make plentiful Proviſion for a Wedding Feaſt, John 2. 7. and ſurely then he will not be wanting in Proviſion for his own Wedding Feaſt. When the Marriage of the Lamb is come, and the Bride has made herſelf ready, a victorious, triumphant Feaſt, Rev. 19. 7, 17, 18.

3. It is a Royal Wedding Feaſt, 'tis the Feaſt of a King, 1 Sam. 25. 36. At the Marriage, not of a Servant, but of a Son, and then, if ever he will, like Ahaſuerus, ſhew the Riches of his glorious Kingdom, Eſth. 1. 4. The Proviſion made for Believers in the Covenant of Grace, is not ſuch as becomes ſuch worthleſs Worms as we are to receive, but ſuch as becomes the King of Glory to give. He gives like himſelf, for he gives himſelf to be to them El-ſhaddai, a God that is enough, a Feaſt indeed for a Soul.

Secondly, Goſpel Calls and Offers are repreſented by an Invitation to this Feaſt. Thoſe that make a Feaſt will have Gueſts to Grace the Feaſt with. God's Gueſts are the Children of Men, Lord, what is man that he ſhould be thus dignified? The Gueſts that were firſt invited were the Jews; wherever the Goſpel is Preach'd, this Invitation is given. Miniſters are the Servants that are ſent to invite, Prov. 9. 4, 5.

Now, 1. The Gueſts are call'd, bidding to the Wedding. All that are within, hearing of the joyful Sound of the Goſpel, to them is the Word of this Invitation ſent. The Servants that bid have not their Names ſet down in a Paper, that needs not, ſince none are excluded but thoſe that exclude themſelves. Thoſe that are bidden to the Dinner, are bidden to the Wedding; for all that partake of Goſpel-priviledges, are to give a due and reſpectful Attendance on the Lord Jeſus, as the faithful Friends, and humble Servants of the Bridegroom. They are bidden to the Wedding, that they may go forth to meet the Bridegroom; for it is the Father's Will that all Men ſhould Honour the Son.

2. The Gueſts are call'd upon; for in the Goſpel there are not only gracious Propoſals made, but gracious Perſwaſives. We perſwade Men, we beſeech them in Chriſt's ſtead, 2 Cor. 5. 11, 20. See how much Chriſt's Heart is ſet upon the Happineſs of poor Souls: He not only provides for them, in conſideration of their Want, but ſends to them in conſideration of their Weakneſs and Forgetfulneſs. When the invited Gueſts were ſlack in coming, the King ſent forth other Servants, v. 4. When the Prophets of the Old Teſtament prevailed not, nor John Baptiſt, nor Chriſt himſelf, who told them Dinner was almoſt ready The Kingdom of God was at hand; the Apoſtles and Miniſters of the Goſpel were ſent after Chriſt's Reſurrection, to tell them, It was come. It was quite ready, and to perſwade them to accept the Offer. One would think it had been enough to give Men an Intimation that they had leave to come, and ſhould be welcome; that during the Solemnity of the Wedding, the King kept open Houſe; but becauſe the natural Man diſcerns not, and therefore deſires not the things of the Spirit of God, we are preſs'd to accept the Call by the moſt powerful Inducements, drawn with the Cords of a Man, and all the Bonds of Love. If the Repetition of the Call will move us, Behold, the Spirit ſaith, Come, and the Bride ſaith, Come, let him that hears, ſay come, let him that is athirſt come, Rev. 22. 17. If the Reaſon of the Call will work upon us, Behold, the Dinner is prepar'd, the Oxen and Fatlings are kill'd, and all things are ready; the Father is ready to accept of us, the Son to intercede for us, the Spirit to Sanctifie us; Pardon is ready, Peace ready, Comforts ready, the Promiſes ready, as Wells of living Water for ſupply, Ordinances ready as golden Pipes for conveyance, Angels ready to attend us, Creatures ready to be in league with us, Providences ready to work for our Good, and Heaven at laſt ready to receive us; 'tis a Kingdom prepar'd, ready to be reveal'd in the laſt time. Is all this ready, and ſhall we be unready? Is all this Preparation made for us, and is there any room to doubt of our Welcome, if we come in a right manner? Come therefore, O come to the Marriage, we beſeech you receive not all this Grace of God in vain, 2 Cor. 6. 1.

Thirdly, The ill Entertainment which the Goſpel of Chriſt often meets with among the Children of Men, repreſented by the cold Treatment that this Meſſage met with, and the hot Treatment that the Meſſengers met with, and in both the King himſelf and the Royal Bridegroom are affronted. This reflects primarily upon the Jews, who rejected the Counſel of God againſt themſelves. But it looks further to the Contempt that would by many in all Ages be put upon, and the Oppoſition that would be given to the Goſpel of Chriſt.

1. The Meſſage was baſely ſlighted, v. 3. they would not come. Note, The reaſon why Sinners come not to Chriſt, and Salvation by him, is not becauſe they cannot, but becauſe they will not, John 5. 40. Ye will not come unto me. This will aggravate the Miſery of Sinners, that they might have had Happineſs for the coming for, but it was their own Act and Deed to refuſe it. I would, and ye would not. But this was not all, v. 5. they made light of it. They thought it not worth coming for, thought the Meſſengers made more ado than needs; let them magnifie the Preparations never ſo much, they could dine as well at home. Note, Making light of Chriſt, and of the great Salvation wrought out by him, is the damning Sin of the World. ἀμελήσαντες. They were careleſs. Note, Multitudes periſh eternally through meer Careleſneſs; that have not any direct Averſion to, but a prevailing Indifferency in the Matters of their Souls, and an unconcernedneſs about them.

And the reaſon why they made light of the Marriage-feaſt, was becauſe they had other things that they minded more, and had more mind to. They went their ways, one to his Farm, and another to his Merchandize. Note, The Buſineſs and Profit of worldly Employments, proves to many a great hindrance in cloſing with Chriſt. None turn their Back on the Feaſt, but with ſome plauſible Excuſe or other, Luke 14. 18. The Country People have their Farms to look after, about which there's always ſomething or other to do; the Town's People muſt tend their Shops, and be conſtant upon the Exchange; they muſt Buy, and Sell, and get Gain: And it is true, that both Farmers and Merchants muſt be diligent in their Buſineſs, but not ſo as to keep them from making Religion their main Buſineſs. Licitis perimus omnes. Theſe lawful things undo us, when they are unlawfully manag'd, when we are ſo careful and troubled about many things, as to neglect the one thing needful. Obſerve, Both the City and the Country has its Temptations, the Merchandize in the one, and the Farms in the other; ſo that whatever we have of the World in our hands, our Care muſt be to keep it out of our Hearts, leſt it come between us and Chriſt.

2. The Meſſengers were baſely abus'd. The Remnant, or the reſt of them, that is, thoſe who did not go to the Farms, or Merchandize, were neither Huſbandmen nor Tradeſmen, but Eccleſiaſticks, the Scribes, and Phariſees, and chief Prieſts; theſe were the Perſecutors, theſe took the Servants and intreated them ſpitefully, and ſlew them. This in the Parable is unaccountable, never any could be ſo rude and barbarous as this to Servants that came to invite them to a Feaſt; but in the Reddition of the Parable 'twas Matter of Fact. They whoſe Feet ſhould have been beautiful, becauſe they brought the glad Tidings of the ſolemn Feaſts, (Nahum 1. 15.) were treated as the Off-ſcouring of all things, 1 Cor. 4. 13. The Prophets, and John Baptiſt had been thus abus'd already, and the Apoſtles and Miniſters of Chriſt muſt count upon the ſame. The Jews were either directly, or indirectly Agents in moſt of the Perſecutions of the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel; witneſs the Hiſtory of the Acts, i. e. the Sufferings of the Apoſtles.

Fourthly, The utter Ruin that was coming upon the Jewiſh Church and Nation, is here repreſented by the Revenge which the King in Wrath took on theſe inſolent Recuſants, v. 7. He was wrath; the Jews that had been the People of God's Love and Bleſſing, by rejecting the Goſpel, became the Generation of his Wrath and Curſe; Wrath came upon them to the uttermoſt, 1 Theſ. 2. 16. Now obſerve here,

1. What was the crying Sin that brought the Ruin, it was their being Murtherers. He doth not ſay, he deſtroy'd thoſe Deſpiſers of his Call, but thoſe Murtherers of his Servants; as if God were more jealous for the Lives of his Miniſters, than for the Honour of his Goſpel; he that toucheth them, toucheth the Apple of his Eye. Note, Perſecution of Chriſt's faithful Miniſters fills the Meaſure of Guilt more than any thing. Filling Jeruſalem with innocent Blood, was that Sin of Manaſſeh, which the Lord would not pardon, 2 Kings 24. 4.

2. What was the Ruine it ſelf that was coming, He ſent forth his Armies. The Roman Armies were his Armies, of his raiſing, of his ſending againſt the People of his Wrath, and he gave them a charge to tread them under foot, Iſa. 10. 6. God is the Lord of Men's Hoſts, and makes what uſe he pleaſeth of them, to ſerve his own Purpoſes, tho' they mean not ſo, neither doth their Heart think ſo, Mic. 4. 11, 12. His Armies deſtroy'd thoſe Murtherers, and burnt up their City. This ſpeaks very plainly the Deſtruction of the Jews, and the burning of Jeruſalem by the Romans, forty Years after this. No Age ever ſaw a greater Deſolation than that, nor more of the direful Effects of Fire and Sword. Tho' Jeruſalem had been a holy City, the City that God had choſen, to put his Name there; Beautiful for Situation, the Joy of the whole Earth. Yet that City being now become a Harlot, Righteouſneſs being no longer lodg'd in it, but Murtherers, the worſt of Murtherers, (as the Prophet ſpeaks, Iſa. 1. 21.) Judgment came upon it, and Ruin without Remedy: And it is ſet forth for an Example to all that ſhould oppoſe Chriſt and his Goſpel. It was the Lord's doing, to avenge the Quarrel of his Covenant.

Fifthly, the repleniſhing of the Church again by the bringing in of the Gentiles, is here repreſented by the furniſhing of the Feaſt with Gueſts out of the High-ways, v. 8, 9, 10.

Here's 1. The Complaint of the Maſter of the Feaſt concerning thoſe that were firſt bidden, v. 8. The Wedding is ready, the Covenant of Grace ready to be ſeal'd, a Church ready to be founded, but they which were bidden, i.e. the Jews, to whom pertained the Covenant and the Promiſes, by which they were of old invited to the Feaſt of fat things; they were not worthy, i. e. they were utterly unworthy, and by their Contempt of Chriſt had forfeited all the Priviledges they were invited to. Note, It is not long of God that Sinners periſh, but of themſelves. Thus when Iſrael of old was within ſight of Canaan, the Land of Promiſe was ready, the Milk and Honey ready, but their Unbelief, and Murmuring, and Contempt of that pleaſant Land ſhut themſelves out, and their Carcaſſes were left to periſh in the Wilderneſs; and theſe things happen'd to them for Enſamples. See 1 Cor. 10. 11. Heb. 3. 16.—4. 1.

2. The Commiſſion he gave to the Servants to invite other Gueſt; the Inhabitants of the City, (v. 7.) had refus'd, Go to the High-ways then; into the Way of the Gentiles, which at firſt they were to decline, Mat. 10. 5. Thus by the Fall of the Jews Salvation is come to the Gentiles, Rom. 11. 11, 12. Eph. 3. 8. Note, Chriſt will have a Kingdom in the World, tho' many reject the Grace, and reſiſt the Power of that Kingdom. Tho' Iſrael be not gathered, he will be glorious. The Offer of Chriſt and Salvation to the Gentiles was (1.) unlook'd for, and unexpected; ſuch a Surprize as it would be to Wayfaring-men upon the Road, to be met with an Invitation to a Wedding-feaſt. The Jews had notice of the Goſpel long before, and expected the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, but to the Gentiles it was all new; and what they had never heard of before, Acts 17. 19, 20. nor thought did belong to them. See Iſa. 65. 1, 2. (2.) It was univerſal and diſtinguiſhing. Go and bid as many as you find. The High-ways are publick places, and there Wiſdom cries, Prov. 1. 20. Ask them that go by the way, i. e. Ask any body, John 21. 29. High and Low, Rich and Poor, Bond and Free, Young and Old, Jew and Gentile; tell them all they ſhall be welcome to Goſpel-priviledges, upon Goſpel-terms. Whoever will, let him come without Exception.

3. The Succeſs of this ſecond Invitation; if ſome will not come, others will, v. 10. They gathered together all, as many as they found. The Servants obey'd their Orders; Jonah was ſent into the High-ways, but was ſo tender of the Honour of his Country, that he avoided the Errand; but Chriſt's Apoſtles, tho' Jews, preferr'd the Service of Chriſt before their Reſpects to their Nation; and St. Paul, tho' ſorrowing for the Jews, yet magnifies his Office as the Apoſtle of the Gentiles. They gather'd together all. The deſign of the Goſpel is, (1.) To gather Souls together, not the Nation of the Jews only, but all the Children of God, who were ſcatter'd abroad, John 11. 52. The other Sheep that were not of that fold, John 10. 16. They were gather'd into one Body, one Family, one Corporation. (2.) To gather them together to the Wedding-Feaſt, to pay their Reſpects to Chriſt, and to partake of the Priviledges of the New Covenant. Where the Dole is, there will the Poor be gather'd together.

Now the Gueſts that were gather'd were (1.) a Multitude, all, as many as they found, ſo many, that the Gueſt-Chamber was fill'd. The ſealed ones of the Jews were numbred, but thoſe of other Nations were without number; a very great Multitude, Rev. 7. 9. See Iſa. 60. 4, 8. (2.) A mixt Multitude, both bad and good. Some that before their Converſion were ſober and well inclin'd, as the devout Greeks, Acts 17. 4. and Cornelius, others that had run to an Exceſs of Riot, as the Corinthians, 1 Cor. 6. 11. Such were ſome of you. Or, ſome that after their Converſion prov'd bad, that turn'd not to the Lord with all their Heart, but feignedly; others that were upright, and ſincere, and prov'd well. Miniſters in caſting the Net of the Goſpel, incloſe both good Fiſh and bad, but the Lord knows them that are his.

Sixthly, The Caſe of Hypocrites that are in the Church, but not of it, that have a name to live, but are not alive indeed, is repreſented by the Gueſt that had not on the Wedding-Garment; one of the bad that were gather'd in. Thoſe come ſhort of Salvation by Chriſt, not only who refuſe to take upon them the Profeſſion of Religion, but who are not ſound at Heart in that Profeſſion. Concerning this Hypocrite, obſerve,

1. His Diſcovery, how he was found out, v. 11.

(1.) The King came in to ſee the Gueſts, to bid thoſe welcome that came prepar'd, and to turn thoſe out that came otherwiſe. Note, The God of Heaven takes particular notice of thoſe who profeſs Religion, and have a Place and a Name in the viſible Church. Our Lord Jeſus walks among the golden Candleſticks, and therefore knows their Works, See Rev. 2. 1, 2. Cant. 7. 12. Let this be a warning to us againſt Hypocriſie, that diſguiſes will ſhortly be ſtript off, and every Man will appear in his own Colours, and an Encouragement to us in our Sincerity, that God is a witneſs to it.

Obſerve, This Hypocrite was never diſcover'd to be without a Wedding-Garment, till the King himſelf came in to ſee the Gueſts. Note, It is God's Prerogative to know who are ſound at Heart in their Profeſſion, and who are not. We may be deceiv'd in Men, either one way or other, but he cannot. The Day of Judgment will be the great diſcovering Day, when all the Gueſts will be preſented to the King, then he will ſeparate between the precious and the vile, Mat. 25. 32. the Secrets of all Hearts will then be made manifeſt, and we ſhall infallibly diſcern between the Righteous and the Wicked, which now is not eaſy to do: It concerns all the Gueſts to prepare for that Scrutiny, and to conſider how they will paſs the piercing Eye of the Heart-ſearching God.

(2.) As ſoon as he came in, he preſently eſpy'd the Hypocrite; he ſaw there a Man which had not on a Wedding-garment, though but one, he ſoon had his Eye upon him: There's no hope of being hid in a Crowd from the Arreſts of Divine Juſtice, he had not on a Wedding-Garment; he was not dreſs'd as became a Nuptial Solemnity, he had not his beſt Clothes on. Note, Many come to the Wedding-Feaſt without a Wedding-Garment. If the Goſpel be the Wedding-Feaſt, then the Wedding-Garment is a Frame of Heart, and a Courſe of Life agreeable to the Goſpel, and our Profeſſion of it, worthy of the Vocation wherewith we are called, Eph. 4. 1. as becomes the Goſpel of Chriſt, Phil. 1. 27. The Righteouſneſs of Saints, their real Holineſs, and Sanctification, and Chriſt made Righteouſneſs to them, is the clean Linnen, Rev. 19. 6. This Man was not naked, or in Rags, ſome Raiment he had, but not a Wedding-Garment: Thoſe, and thoſe only that put on the Lord Jeſus, that have Chriſtian Temper of Mind, and are adorn'd with Chriſtian Graces, that live by Faith in Chriſt, and to whom he is all in all, have the Wedding-Garment.

2. His Trial, v. 12. And there we may obſerve,

(1.) How he was arraign'd, v. 12. Friend, how cameſt thou in hither, not having a Wedding-Garment? A ſtartling Queſtion to one that was priding himſelf in the place he ſecurely poſſeſs'd at the Feaſt. Friend; that was a cutting Word, a ſeeming Friend, a pretended Friend, a Friend in Profeſſion, under manifold Ties and Obligations to be a Friend. Note, There are many in the Church that are falſe Friends to Jeſus Chriſt, that ſay they love him, but their Hearts are not with him. How cameſt thou in hither? He doth not chide the Servants for letting him in. The Wedding-Garment is an inward Thing, Miniſters muſt go according to that which falls within their Cognizance; but he checks his Preſumption in crowding in, when he knew his Heart was not upright; how durſt thou claim a Share in Goſpel-Benefits, when thou had'ſt no regard to Goſpel-Rules? What haſt thou to do to declare my Statutes? Pſal. 50. 16, 17. Such are Spots in the Feaſt, diſhonour the Bridegroom, affront the Company, and diſgrace themſelves, and therefore how cameſt thou in hither? Note, The Day is coming when Hypocrites will be called to an Account for all their preſumptuous Intruſion to Goſpel-Ordinances, and Uſurpation of Goſpel-Priviledges, who has required this at your Hand? Iſa. 1. 12. Deſpiſed Sabbaths, and abuſed Sacraments muſt be reckon'd for, and Judgment taken out upon an Action of Waſte againſt all thoſe who received the Grace of God in vain. How cameſt thou to the Lord's Table at ſuch a time unhumbled, and unſanctified? What brought thee to ſit before God's Prophets, as his People do, when thy Heart went after thy Covetouſneſs? How cameſt thou in? Not by the Door, but ſome other way, as a Thief and a Robber: 'Twas a tortious Entry, a Poſſeſſion without colour or Title. Note, It is good for thoſe that have a Place in the Church, often to put it to themſelves, How came I in hither? Have I a Wedding-Garment? If we would thus judge our ſelves, we ſhould not be judged.

(2.) How he was convicted; he was ſpeechleſs, ἐφιμώθη, he was muzzled, ſo the Word is uſed, 1 Cor. 9. 9. The Man ſtood mute upon his Arraignment, being convicted, and condemn'd by his own Conſcience. Note, They who live within the Church, and die without Chriſt, will not have one Word to ſay for themſelves in the Judgment of the great Day, they will be without Excuſe; ſhould they plead, We have eaten and drunken in thy preſence, as they do, Luke 13. 26. that's to plead guilty; for the Crime they are charged with, is thruſting themſelves into the Preſence of Chriſt, and to his Table, before they were called. They that never heard a Word of this Wedding-Feaſt, will have more to ſay for themſelves, their Sin will be more excuſable, and their Condemnation more tolerable than theirs who came to the Feaſt without the Wedding-Garment, and ſo Sin againſt the cleareſt Light and deareſt Love.

3. His Sentence, v. 13. Bind him hand and foot, &c.

1. He is order'd to be pinion'd, as condemn'd Malefactors are to be manacled, and ſhackled. Thoſe that will not work and walk as they ſhould, may expect to be bound Hand and Foot. There is a binding in this World by the Servants, the Miniſters, whoſe ſuſpending of Perſons that walk diſorderly, to the Scandal of Religion, is called binding of them, Matt. 18. 18. bind them up from partaking of Special Ordinances and the peculiar Priviledges of their Church-Memberſhip; bind them over to the righteous Judgment of God. In the Day of Judgment Hypocrites will be bound; the Angels ſhall bind up theſe Tares in Bundles for the Fire, Mat. 13. 41. Damned Sinners are bound Hand and Foot by an irreverſible Sentence; this ſignifies the ſame with the fixing of the great Gulf. They can neither reſiſt nor outrun their Puniſhment.

2. He is order'd to be carry'd off from the Wedding Feaſt; take him away. When the Wickedneſs of Hypocrites appears, they are to be taken away from the Communion of the Faithful, to be cut off as wither'd Branches. This ſpeaks the Puniſhment of Loſs in the other World, they ſhall be taken away from the King, from the Kingdom, from the Wedding Feaſt; Depart from me ye Curſed. It will aggravate their Miſery, that like the unbelieving Lord, (2 Kings 7. 2. they ſhall ſee all this Plenty with their Eyes, but ſhall not taſte of it) Note, Thoſe that walk unworthy of their Chriſtianity, forfeit all the Happineſs they preſumptuouſly laid claim to, and complemented themſelves with a groundleſs Expectation of.

3. He is order'd into a doleful Dungeon; caſt him into utter Darkneſs. Our Saviour here inſenſibly ſlides out of this Parable into the Reddition of it, the Damnation of Hypocrites in the other World; Hell is utter Darkneſs, 'tis Darkneſs out of Heaven, the Land of Light; or, 'tis extreme Darkneſs, Darkneſs to the laſt degree, without the leaſt Ray or Spark of Light, or hope of it, like that of Egypt, Darkneſs which might be felt; the Blackneſs of Darkneſs, as Darkneſs it ſelf, Job 10. 22. Note, Hypocrites go by the Light of the Goſpel it ſelf, down to utter Darkneſs: And Hell will be Hell indeed to ſuch a Condemnation more intollerable; There ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth. This our Saviour often uſeth as part of the Deſcription of Hell-Torments, which are hereby repreſented, not ſo much by the Miſery it ſelf, as by the Reſentment Sinners will have of it; there ſhall be weeping, an Expreſſion of great Sorrow and Anguiſh, not a guſh of Tears, which gives preſent Eaſe, but conſtant Weeping, which is conſtant Torment; and the gnaſhing of Teeth, is an Expreſſion of the greateſt Rage and Indignation: They will be like a wild Bull in a Net, full of the Fury of the Lord, Iſa. 51. 20.—8. 21, 22. Let us therefore hear and fear.

Laſtly, The Parable is concluded with that remarkable Saying which we had before, Matt. 20. 16. Many are called, but few are choſen, v. 14. Of the many that are called to the Wedding-Feaſt, if you ſet aſide all thoſe as unchoſen, that make light of it; and avowedly prefer other Things before it; if then you ſet aſide all that make a Profeſſion of Religion, but the Temper of their Spirits, and the Tenour of their Converſation is a conſtant Contradiction to it, ſet aſide all the Profane, and all the Hypocrites, and you will find they are few, very few that are choſen; many called to the Wedding Feaſt, but few choſen to the Wedding-Garment, i. e. to Salvation by Sanctification of the Spirit. This is the ſtrait Gait, and narrow Way, which few find.

15 Then went the Phariſees, and took counſel how they might intangle him in his talk. 16 And they ſent out unto him their diſciples, with the Herodians, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou art true, and teacheſt the way of God in truth, neither careſt thou for any man: for thou regardeſt not the perſon of men.
17 Tell us therefore, What thinkeſt thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Ceſar, or not? 18 But Jeſus perceived their wickedneſs, and ſaid, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites? 19 Shew me the tribute-money.
And they brought unto him a penny. 20 And he ſaith unto them, Whoſe is this image and ſuperſcription?
21 They ſay unto him, Ceſars. Then ſaith he unto them, Render therefore unto Ceſar the things which are Ceſars: and unto God, the things that are Gods. 22 When they had heard theſe Words, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

It was not the leaſt grievous of the Sufferings of Chriſt, that he endur'd the Contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf, and had Snares laid for him by thoſe that ſought how to take him off, with ſome Pretence. In theſe Verſes we have him attack'd by the Phariſees and Herodians, with a Queſtion about paying Tribute to Cæſar. Obſerve, Firſt, What their Deſign was, which they propoſed to themſelves, they took Counſel to intangle him in his Talk. Hitherto his Rencounters had been moſtly with the Chief Prieſts and the Elders, Men in Authority, who truſted more to their Power, than to their Policy, and examin'd him concerning his Commiſſion, Chap. 21. 23. But now he is ſet upon from another Quarter, the Phariſees will try whether they can deal with him by their Learning in the Law, and in Caſuiſtical Divinity, and they have a Tentamen novum for him. Note, It is vain for the beſt and wiſeſt of Men, to think that by their Ingenuity, or Integrity, or Induſtry, or by their Innocency and Integrity it ſelf, they can eſcape the Hatred and Ill-will of bad Men, or ſcreen themſelves from the Strife of Tongues. See how unwearied the Enemies of Chriſt and his Kingdom are in their Oppoſition.

(1.) They took Counſel: 'Twas foretold concerning him, that the Rulers would take Counſel againſt him, Pſal. 2. 2. and ſo perſecuted they the Prophets: Come, and let us deviſe Devices againſt Jeremiah. See Jer. 18. 18.—20. 10. Note, The more there is of Contrivance and Conſultation about Sin, the worſe it is. There is a particular Woe to them that deviſe Iniquity. Mic. 2. 1. The more there is of the wicked Wit in the contrivance of a Sin, the more there is of the wicked Will in the Commiſſion of it.

(2.) That which they aim'd at, was to entangle him in his Talk: They ſaw him free and bold in ſpeaking his Mind, and hoped by that, if they could bring him to ſome nice and tender Point, to get an Advantage againſt him. It has been the old Practice of Satan's Agents and Emiſſaries, to make a Man an Offender for a Word, a Word miſplaced, or miſtook, or miſ-underſtood; a Word, tho' innocently deſign'd, yet perverted by ſtrain'd Innuendo's; thus they lay a Snare for him that reproveth in the Gate, Iſa. 29. 21. and repreſent the greateſt Teachers, as the greateſt Troublers of Iſrael. Thus the Wicked plotteth againſt the Juſt, Pſal. 37. 12, 13.

There were two ways by which the Enemies of Chriſt might be reveng'd on him, and be rid of him, either by Law or by Force. By Law they could not do it, unleſs they could make him obnoxious to the Civil Government; for it was not lawful for them to put any Man to Death, John 18. 31. and the Roman Powers were not apt to concern themſelves about Queſtions of Words, and Names, and their Law, Acts 18. 14. By Force they could not do it, unleſs they could make him obnoxious to the People, who were always the Hands, whoever were the Heads in ſuch Violences, which they call'd the Beating of the Rebels; now the People took Chriſt for a Prophet, and therefore they could not get him Mob'd. Now (as the old Serpent was from the beginning more ſubtile than any Beaſt of the Field) the Deſign was to bring him into ſuch a Dilemma, that he muſt make himſelf liable to the Diſpleaſure, either of the Jewiſh Multitude, or of the Roman Magiſtrates, let him take which Side of the Queſtion he will, he ſhall run himſelf into a Premunire, and ſo they gain their Point, and make his own Tongue to fall upon him.

Secondly, The Queſtion which they put to him, purſuant to this Deſign, v. 16, 17. Having deviſed this Iniquity in Secret, in a cloſe Cabal, behind the Curtain, when they went abroad, without loſs of Time, they practis'd it. Obſerve,

1. The Perſons they employ'd: They did not go themſelves, leſt the Deſign ſhould be ſuſpected, and Chriſt ſhould ſtand the more upon his Guard, but they ſent their Diſciples, who would look leſs like Tempters, and more like Learners: Note, Wicked Men will never want wicked Inſtruments to be employ'd in carrying on their Wicked Counſels: Phariſees have their Diſciples at their Beck, that will go on any Errand for them, and ſay as they ſay; and they have this in their Eye when they are ſo induſtrious to make Proſelytes.

With them they ſent the Herodians, a Party among the Jews, who were for a cheerful and intire Subjection to the Roman Emperor, and to Herod his Deputy, and made it their Buſineſs to reconcile People to that Government, and preſs'd all to pay their Tribute; ſome think they were the Collectors of the Land Tax, as the Publicans were of the Cuſtoms, and they went with the Phariſees to Chriſt, with this Blind upon their Plot; that while the Herodians demanded the Tax, and the Phariſees deny'd it, they were both willing to refer it to Chriſt, as a proper Judge to deſide the Quarrel. Herod being oblig'd by the Charter of the Sovereignty, to take care of the Roman Tribute, theſe Herodians, by aſſiſting him in that, help'd to endear him to his great Friends at Rome. The Phariſees on the other Hand were zealous for the Liberty of the Jews, and did what they could to make them impatient of the Roman Yoke. Now if he ſhould countenance the paying of Tribute, the Phariſees would incenſe the People againſt him, if he ſhould diſcountenance or diſallow it, the Herodians would incenſe the Government againſt him. Note, 'Tis common for thoſe that oppoſe one another, to continue in an oppoſition to Chriſt and his Kingdom: Sampſon's Foxes look'd ſeveral ways, but met in one Firebrand; ſee Pſal. 83. 3, 5, 7, 8. If they are unanimous in oppoſing, ſhould not we be ſo in maintaining the Intereſts of the Goſpel?

2. The Preface with which they were plauſibly to introduce the Queſtion, and it is a mighty Complement upon our Saviour, v. 16. Maſter, we know that thou art true, and teacheſt the way of God in Truth. Note, It is a common thing for the moſt ſpiteful Projects to be cover'd with the moſt ſpecious Pretences. Had they come to Chriſt with the moſt ſerious Enquiry, and the moſt ſincere Intention, they could not have expreſs'd themſelves better; Here's Hatred cover'd with Deceit, and a wicked Heart with burning Lips, Prov. 26. 23. as Judas that kiſs'd and betray'd; Joab that kiſs'd and kill'd.

Now, 1. What they ſaid of Chriſt was right; and whether they knew it or no, bleſſed be God we know it.

(1.) That Jeſus Chriſt was a faithful Teacher; thou art true, and teacheſt the way of God in Truth: For himſelf he is True, the Amen, the faithful Witneſs; he is the Truth it ſelf. As for his Doctrine, the matter of his Teaching was the Way of God, the Way that God requires us to walk in; the Way of Duty that leads to Happineſs; that's the Way of God: The manner of it was in Truth, he ſhew'd People the right Way; the Way in which they ſhould go. He was a skilful Teacher, and they knew the Way of God, and a faithful Teacher, that would be ſure to let us know it; ſee Prov. 8. 6, 7, 8, 9. This is the Character of a good Teacher, to preach the Truth, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth, and not to balk, pervert, or ſtretch any Truth, for Favour or Affection, Hatred or Ill-will, either out of a Deſire to pleaſe, or a Fear to offend any Man.

(2.) That he was a bold Reprover: in preaching he cared not for any, to value no Man's Frowns or Smiles, he did not court, he did not dread either the Great or the Many, for he regarded not the Perſon of Man: In his Evangeſical Judgment he did not know Faces; that Lion of the Tribe of Judah turned not away for any, Prov. 30. 30. turned not a Step from the Truth, nor from his Work, for fear of the moſt formidable. He reprov'd with Equity, Iſa. 11. 4. and never with Partiality.

2. Tho' what they ſaid was true, for the Matter of it, yet there was nothing but Flattery and Treachery in the Intention of it. They call'd him Maſter, when they were contriving to treat him as the worſt of Malefactors; they pretended Reſpect for him, when they intended Miſchief againſt him, and they affronted his Wiſdom as Man, much more his Omniſcience as God, which he had ſo oft given pregnant Proofs of, when they imagin'd that they could impoſe upon him with theſe Pretences, and that he could not ſee through them. It is the groſſeſt Atheiſm, that is, the greateſt Folly in the World, to think to put a Cheat upon Chriſt, who ſearcheth the Heart, Rev. 2. 23. Thoſe that mock God do but deceive themſelves, Gal. 6. 7.

3. The Propoſal of the Caſe: What thinkeſt thou? q. d. Many Men are of many Minds in this Matter; 'tis a Caſe which relates to Practice, and occurs daily; let us have thy Thoughts freely in the Matter, Is it lawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, or not? Which implies a further Queſtion; Have they right to demand it. The Nation of the Jews was lately about a hundred Years before this, conquer'd by the Roman Sword, and ſo, as other Nations, made ſubject to the Roman Yoke, and became a Province of the Empire: accordingly Toll, Tribute and Cuſtom was demanded from them, and ſometimes Poll-Money. By this it appeared that the Scepter was departed from Judah, Gen. 40. 10. and therefore if they had underſtood the Signs of the Times, they muſt have concluded that Shiloh was come, and either this was he, or they muſt find out another more likely to be ſo.

Now the Queſtion was, Whether it was lawful to pay theſe Taxes voluntarily, or whether they ſhould not inſiſt upon the ancient Liberty of their Nation, and rather ſuffer themſelves to be diſtrain'd upon? The Ground of the Doubt was, that they were Abraham's Seed, and ſhould not by conſent be in Bondage to any Man, Joh. 8. 33. God had given them a Law, that they ſhould not ſet a Stranger over them; and whether that did not imply that they were not to yield any willing Subjection to any Prince, State or Potentate, that was not of their own Nation and Religion? This was an old Miſtake ariſing from that Pride and haughty Spirit, which brings Deſtruction and a Fall. Jeremiah in his Time, tho' he ſpake in God's Name, could not poſſibly beat them off it, nor perſuade them to ſubmit to the King of Babylon; and their Obſtinacy in that Matter was then their Ruin, Jer. 27. 12, 13. And now again they ſtumbled at the ſame Stone, and it was the very Thing which in a few Years after brought a final Deſtruction upon them by the Romans. They quite miſtook the Senſe both of the Precept and of the Priviledge, and under Colour of God's Word, contented with his Providence, when they ſhould have kiſſed the Rod, and accepted the Puniſhments of their Iniquity.

However, by this Queſtion they hoped to entangle Chriſt, and which way ſoever he reſolved it, to expoſe him to the Fury, either of the jealous Jews, or of the jealous Romans, and were ready to triumph, as Pharaoh did of Iſrael, that the Wilderneſs had ſhut him in; and his Doctrine would be concluded either injurious to the Rights of the Church, or hurtful to Kings and Provinces.

Thirdly, The breaking of this Snare by the Wiſdom of the Lord Jeſus.

1. He diſcovered it, v. 18. he perceived their Wickedneſs, for ſurely in vain is the Net ſpread in the ſight of any Bird, Prov. 1. 17. A Temptation perceiv'd, is half conquered, for our greateſt Danger lies from Snakes under the green Graſs; and he ſaid, Why tempt ye me ye Hypocrites? Note, Whatever Vizzard the Hypocrite puts on, our Lord Jeſus ſees through it; he perceives all the Wickedneſs that is in the Hearts of Pretenders, and can eaſily convict them of it, and ſet it in order before them. He cannot be impos'd upon, as we often are, by flatteries and fair Pretences: He that ſearcheth the Heart can call Hypocrites by their own Name, as Abijah did the Wife of Jeroboam, 1 Kings 14. 6. Why feigneſt thou thy ſelf to be another? Why tempt ye me ye Hypocrites? Note, Hypocrites tempt Jeſus Chriſt; they try his Knowledge, whether he can diſcover them through their Diſguiſes; they try his Holineſs and Truth, whether he will allow of them in his Church; but if they that of old tempted Chriſt, when he was but darkly reveal'd, were deſtroyed of Serpents; of how much ſorer Puniſhment ſhall they be thought worthy, who tempt him now in the midſt of Goſpel-Light and Love? Thoſe that preſume to tempt Chriſt, will certainly find him too hard for them, and that he is of more piercing Eyes than not to ſee, and more pure Eyes than not to hate the diſguiſed Wickedneſs of Hypocrites, that dig deep to hide their Counſel from him.

2. He evaded it; his convicting them of Hypocriſy might have ſerved for an Anſwer; ſuch captious, malicious Queſtions deſerve a Reproof, not a Reply; but our Lord Jeſus gave a full Anſwer to their Queſtion, and introduced it by an Argument ſufficient to ſupport it, ſo as to lay down a Rule for his Church in this Matter, and yet to avoid giving Offence, and to break the Snare.

1. He forced them e'er they were aware to confeſs Cæſar's Authority over them, v. 19, 20. in dealing with thoſe that are exceptious, 'tis good to give our Reaſons, and if poſſible, Reaſons of confeſſed Cogency, before we give our Reſolutions. Thus the Evidence of Truth may ſilence Gain-ſayers by ſurprize, while they only ſtood upon their Guard againſt the Truth it ſelf, not againſt the Reaſon of it; Shew me the Tribute-Money. He had none of his own to convince them by, it ſhould ſeem he had not ſo much as one piece of Money about him, for, for our Sakes he emptied himſelf, and became poor; he deſpiſed the Wealth of this World, and thereby taught us not to over-value it: Silver and Gold he had none, why then ſhould we covet to load our ſelves with that thick Clay? The Romans demanded their Tribute in their own Money, which was current among the Jews at that time: That therefore is call'd the Tribute-money; he doth not name what Piece, but the Tribute-Money, to ſhew that he did not mind things of that Nature, nor concern himſelf about them; his Heart was upon better Things, the Kingdom of God, and the Riches, and Righteouſneſs thereof, and ours ſhould be ſo too. They preſently brought him a Penny, a Roman Penny in Silver, in value about ſeven Pence half-penny of our Money, the moſt common Piece then in uſe: it was ſtamp'd with the Emperor's Image and Superſcription, which was the Warrant of the publick Faith, for the value of the Pieces ſo ſtamp'd; a Method agreed on by moſt Nations, for the more eaſy Circulation of Money with Satisfaction. The coining of Money has always been look'd upon as a Branch of the Prerogative, a Flower of the Crown, a Royalty belonging to the Sovereign Powers, and the admitting of that as the good and lawful Money of a Countrey, is an implicit Sumbiſſion to thoſe Powers, and an owning of them in Money Matters. How happy is our Conſtitution, and how happy we, who live in a Nation where, tho' the Image and Superſcription be the Sovereigns, the Property is the Subjects, under the Protection of the Laws, and that what we have we can call our own.

Chriſt asked them, Whoſe Image is this? And they own it to be Cæſar's, and thereby convicted thoſe of Falſhood, who ſaid, We were never in Bondage to any, and confirm'd, what afterward they ſaid, We have no King but Cæſar. It is a Rule in the Jewiſh Talmud, that he is the King of the Countrey, whoſe Coin is current in the Countrey: And ſome think the Superſcription upon this Coin was a Memorandum of the Conqueſt of Judea by the Romans, Anno poſt Captam Judæam, and they admitted that too.

2. From thence he inferr'd the lawfulneſs of paying Tribute to Cæſar, v. 21. Render therefore to Cæſar the things that are Cæſar's; not give it him, as they expreſs'd it, v. 17. but render it, return or reſtore it; if Cæſar fill the Purſes, let Cæſar Command them: It is too late now to diſpute paying Tribute to Cæſar, for you are become a Province of the Empire, and when once a Relation is admitted, the Duty of it muſt be performed; Render to all their due, and particularly Tribute to whom Tribute is due. Now by this Anſwer;

1. No Offence was given: It was much to the Honour of Chriſt and his Doctrine, that he did not interpoſe as a Judge, or a Divider in Matters of this Nature, but left them as he found them, for his Kingdom is not of this World; and in this he hath given an Example to his Miniſters, who deal in ſacred Things, not to meddle with Diſputes about things Secular, not to wade far into Controverſies relating to them, but leave that to thoſe whoſe proper Buſineſs it is. Miniſters that would mind their Buſineſs, and pleaſe their Maſter, muſt not entangle themſelves in the Affairs of this Life: They forfeit the Conduct of God's Spirit, and the Convoy of his Providence, when they thus go out of their way. Chriſt diſcuſſeth not the Emperor's Title, but ſubjoins a peaceable Subjection to the Powers that be: The Government therefore had no reaſon to take Offence at his Determination, but to thank him, for it would ſtrengthen Cæſar's Intereſt with the People that held him for a Prophet; and yet ſuch was the Impudence of his Proſecutors, that tho' he had expreſly charg'd them to render to Cæſar the things that are Cæſars, they laid the direct contrary in his Indictment, that he forbad to give Tribute to Cæſar, Luke 23. 2. As to the People, the Phariſees could not accuſe him to them, becauſe they themſelves had before they were aware yielded the Premiſes, and then it was too late to evade the Concluſion. Note, Tho' Truth ſeeks not a fraudulent Concealment, yet it ſometimes needs a prudent Management, to prevent the Offence, which may be taken at it.

2. His Adverſaries were reproved; (1.) Some of them would have had him made it unlawful to give Tribute to Cæſar, that they might have a Pretence to ſave their Money. Thus many excuſe themſelves from that which they muſt do, by arguing, whether they may do it or no. (2.) They all with-held from God his Dues, and are reprov'd for that; while they were vainly contending about their Civil Liberties, they had loſt the Life and Power of Religion, and needed to be put in mind of their Duty to God, with that to Cæſar.

3. His Diſciples were inſtructed, and ſtanding Rules left to the Church.

1. That the Chriſtian Religion is no Enemy to Civil Government, but a Friend to it: Chriſt's Kingdom doth not claſh or interfere with the Kingdoms of the Earth, in any thing that pertains to their Juriſdiction. By Chriſt Kings reign.

2. It is the Duty of Subjects to render to Magiſtrates, that which according to the Laws of their Countrey is their due. The higher Powers being intruſted with the publick Welfare, the Protection of the Subject, and the Conſervation of the Peace, is intitled, in conſideration thereof, to a juſt proportion of the publick Wealth, and the Revenue of the Nation, for this cauſe pay we Tribute, becauſe they attend continually to this very thing, Rom. 13. 6. and it is doubtleſs a greater Sin to cheat the Government, than to cheat a private Perſon, tho' 'tis the Conſtitution that determines what is Cæſar's, yet when that is determined, Chriſt bids us render it to him; my Coat is my Coat by the Law of Man, but he is a Thief by the Law of God that takes it from me.

3. When we render to Cæſar the things that are Cæſar's, we muſt remember withal to render to God the things that are God's. If our Purſes be Cæſar's, our Conſciences are God's; he hath ſaid, My Son, give me thy Heart; he muſt have the innermoſt and uppermoſt place there, we muſt render to God that which is his due out of our Time, and out of our Eſtates; from them he muſt have his Share, as well as Cæſar his, and if Cæſar's Commands intefere with God's, we muſt obey God rather than Men.

Laſtly, Obſerve, how they were daſh'd by this Anſwer; they marvelled, and left him, and went their way, v. 22. They admired his Sagacity, in diſcovering and evading a Snare, which they thought ſo craftily laid. Chriſt is, and will be the Wonder, not only of his beloved Friends, but of his baffled Enemies. One would think they ſhould have marvelled and followed him, marvelled and ſubmitted to him; no, they marvelled and left him. Note, There are many, in whoſe Eyes Chriſt is marvellous, and yet not precious: They admire his Wiſdom, but will not be guided by it, his Power, but will not ſubmit to it. They went their way, as Perſons aſhamed, and made an inglorious Retreat. The Stratagem being defeated, they quitted the Field. Note, There is nothing got by contending with Chriſt.

23 The ſame day came to him the Sadducees, which ſay that there is no Reſurrection, and asked him, 24 Saying, Maſter, Moſes ſaid, If a man die, having no children, his brother ſhall marry his wife, and raiſe up ſeed unto his brother. 25 Now there were with us ſeven brethren, and the firſt, when he had married a Wife, deceaſed, and having no iſſue, left his Wife unto his brother. 26 Likewiſe the ſecond alſo, and the third, unto the ſeventh, 27 And laſt of all the Woman died alſo. 28 Therefore in the reſurrection, whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe be of the ſeven? for they all had her. 29 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the ſcriptures, nor the power of God. 30 For in the reſurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage; but are as the angels of God in heaven. 31 But as touching the reſurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was ſpoken unto you by God, ſaying, 32 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.

We have here Chriſt's Diſpute with the Sadducees concerning the Reſurrection; and it was the ſame Day that he was attacked by the Phariſees about paying Tribute. Satan was now more buſy than ever to ruffle and diſturb him; 'Twas an hour of Temptation; Rev. 3. 10. The Truth as it is in Jeſus, will ſtill meet with Contradiction in ſome Branch or other of it. Obſerve here,

1. The oppoſition which the Sadducees made to a very great Truth of Religion, they ſay, There is no Reſurrection, as there are ſome Fools who ſay, There is no God. Theſe Hereticks were called Sadducees from one Sadoc, a Diſciple of Antigonus Sochæus, who flouriſhed about 284 Years before our Saviour's Birth: They lie under an ill Character among the Writers of their own Nation, as Men of baſe and debauched Converſations, which their Principles led them to. They were the feweſt in Number of all the Sects among the Jaws, but generally Perſons of ſome Rank. As the Phariſees and Eſſenes ſeem'd to follow Plato and Pythagoras, ſo the Sadducees were much of the Genius of the Epicureans; they deny'd the Reſurrection, they ſaid, There is no future State, no Life after this; that when the Body dies, the Soul is annihilated, and dies with it; that there is no State of Rewards or Puniſhments in the other World; no Judgment to come in Heaven or Hell. They maintain'd, that except God, there is no Spirit, Acts, 23. 8. nothing but Matter and Motion: They would not own the divine Inſpiration of the Prophet, nor any Revelation from Heaven, but what God himſelf ſpoke upon Mount Sinai. Now the Doctrine of Chriſt carry'd that great Truth of the Reſurrection and a future State much farther than it had yet been revealed, and therefore the Sadducees in a particular manner ſet themſelves againſt it. The Phariſees and Sadducees were contrary to each other, and yet Confederates againſt Chriſt: Chriſt's Goſpel hath always ſuffer'd between ſuperſtitious ceremonious Hypocrites, and Bigots on the one Hand, and profane Deiſts and Infidels on the other. The former abuſing, the latter deſpiſing the Form of Godlineſs, but both denying the Power of it.

2. The Objection they made againſt the Truth, which was taken from a ſuppoſed Caſe of a Woman that had ſeven Husbands ſucceſſively; now they take it for granted, if there be a Reſurrection, it muſt be a return to ſuch a State as this we are now in, and to the ſame Circumſtances, like the imaginary Platonick Year; and if ſo, 'tis an invincible Abſurdity, for this Woman in the future State to have ſeven Husbands, or elſe an inſuperable Difficulty, which of them ſhould have her, he whom ſhe had firſt, or he whom ſhe had laſt, or he whom ſhe lov'd beſt, or he whom ſhe liv'd longeſt with.

1. They ſuggeſt the Law of Moſes in this Matter, v. 24. that the next of Kin ſhould marry the Widow of him that dy'd Childleſs, Deut. 25. 5. we have it practiſed, Ruth 4. 5. 'Twas a political Law, founded in the particular Conſtitution of the Jewiſh Common-Wealth, to preſerve the diſtinction of Families, and Inheritances, of both which there were ſpecial Care taken in that Government.

2. They put a Caſe upon this Statute, which, whether it were a Caſe in fact, or only a Moot-Caſe, is not at all material; if it had not really occur'd, yet poſſibly it might; 'Twas of ſeven Brothers that marry'd the ſame Woman, v. 25, 26, 27. Now this Caſe ſuppoſeth,

(1.) The Deſolation that Death ſometimes makes in Families, when it comes with Commiſſion, how it often ſweeps away a whole Fraternity, in a little time. Seldom (as the Caſe is put) according to Seniority, the Land of Darkneſs is without any Order, but Heaps upon Heaps; it diminiſheth Families that had multiplied greatly, Pſal. 107. 28, 29. when there were ſeven Brothers grown up to Man's Eſtate, there was a Family very likely to be built up, and yet this numerous Family leaves neither Son nor Nephew, nor any remaining in their Dwellings, Job 18. 14. well may we ſay then, Except the Lord build the Houſe, they labour in vain that build it. Let none be ſure of the Advancement and Perpetuity of their Names and Families, unleſs they could make a Covenant of Peace with Death, and be at an Agreement with the Grave.

(2.) The Obedience of theſe ſeven Brothers to the Law, tho' they had a Power of Refuſal, under the Penalty of a Reproach, Deut. 25. 7. Note, Diſcouraging Providences ſhould not keep us from doing our Duty, becauſe we muſt be govern'd by the Rule, not by the Event. The ſeventh that ventur'd laſt to marry the Widow, many a one would ſay, was a bold Man, I would ſay, if he did it purely in Obedience to God, he was a good Man ; and one that made Conſcience of his Duty.

But laſt of all the Woman died alſo. Note, Survivorſhip is but a Reprieve ; they that live long and bury their Relations and Neighbours one after another, do not thereby acquire an immortality ; no, their Day will come to Fall. Death's bitter Cup goes round, and ſooner or later we muſt all pledge in it. Allu. Jer. 25. 26.

3. They propoſe a Doubt upon this Caſe, v. 28. In the Reſurrection, whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe be of the ſeven? You cannot tell whoſe, and therefore we muſt conclude there is no Reſurrection. The Phariſees who profeſſed to believe a Reſurrection had very groſs and carnal Notions concerning it, and concerning the future State, expecting to find there, as the Turks in their Paradiſe, the Delights and Pleaſures of the animal Life, which, perhaps, drove the Sadducees to deny the thing it ſelf; for nothing gives greater Advantage to Atheiſm and Infidelity, than the Carnality of thoſe that make Religion, either in its Profeſſion or in its Proſpects, a Servant to their ſenſual Appetites, or ſecular Intereſts ; while thoſe that are erroneous deny the Truth, thoſe that are ſuperſtitious betray it to them. Now they in this Objection went upon the Phariſees Hypotheſis. Note, It is not ſtrange that Carnal Minds have very falſe Notions of Spiritual and Eternal Things. The Natural Man receiveth not theſe things, for they are fooliſhneſs to him, 1 Cor. 2. 14. Let Truth be ſet in a clear Light, and then it appears in its full Strength.

3. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Objection herein, by reproving their Ignorance, and rectifying their Miſtake, he ſhews the Objection to be fallacious and unconcluding.

1. He reproves their Ignorance, v. 28. Ye do err. Note, Thoſe do greatly err in the Judgment of Chriſt, who deny the Reſurrection and a future State. Here Chriſt reproves with the Meekneſs of Wiſdom, and is not ſo ſharp upon them (whatever was the Reaſon) as ſometimes he was upon the Chief Prieſts and Elders, Ye are not knowing. Note, Ignorance is the Cauſe of Error ; thoſe that are in the Dark miſs their Way : The Patrons of Error do therefore reſiſt the Light, and do what they can to take away the Key of Knowledge ; Ye err in this Matter, not knowing. Note, Ignorance is the Cauſe of Error about the Reſurrection and a future State. What it is in its particular Inſtances, the wiſeſt and beſt know not ; it doth not yet appear what we ſhall be, 'tis a Glory that is to be revealed, when we ſpeak of the State of ſeparate Souls, the Reſurrection of the Body, and of Eternal Happineſs and Miſery, we are ſoon at a loſs ; we cannot order our Speech, by reaſon of Darkneſs, but that it is, is a Thing about which we are not left in the Dark, bleſſed be God we are not ; and thoſe who deny it are guilty of a willing and affected Ignorance. It ſeems there were ſome Sadducees, ſome ſuch Monſters among profeſſing Chriſtians, ſome among you that ſay there is no Reſurrection of the Dead, 1 Cor. 15. 12. and ſome that did in effect deny it, by turning it into an Allegory, ſaying, The Reſurrection is paſt already. Now obſerve,

(1.) They know not the Power of God, which ſpeaks it poſſible that there may be a Reſurrection, and a future State. Note. The Ignorance, Disbelief, or weak Belief of God's Power, is at the Bottom of many Errors, particularly theirs who deny the Reſurrection : When we are told of the Soul's Exiſtence and Agency in a State of a ſeparation from the Body, and eſpecially that a dead Body which has lain many Ages in the Grave, and is turn'd into common and undiſtinguiſh'd Duſt, that this ſhall be raiſed the ſame Body that it was, and live, and move, and act again, we are are ready to ſay, How can theſe things be? Nature allows it for a Maxim, à privatione ad habitum nondatur regreſſus ; If a Man dye ſhall he live again? And vain Men, becauſe they cannot comprehend the Way of it, queſtion the Truth of it ; whereas, if we firmly believe in God the Father Almighty, that nothing is impoſſible with God, all theſe Difficulties vaniſh. This therefore we muſt faſten upon in the firſt place, that God is Omnipotent, and can do what he will, and then no room is left for doubting, but that he will do what he has promiſed ; and if ſo, why ſhould it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God ſhould raiſe the Dead? Acts 26. 8. His Power far exceeds the Power of Nature.

(2.) They know not the Scriptures, which ſpeak it certain, that there ſhall be a Reſurrection and a future State. The Power of God, determin'd and engag'd by his Promiſe, is the Foundation for Faith to build upon. Now the Scripture ſpeaks plainly that the Soul is Immortal, and there is another Life after this ; 'tis the Scope both of the Law and of the Prophets, That there ſhall be a Reſurrection of the Dead, both of the Juſt, and of the Unjuſt, Acts 24. 14, 15. Job knew it, Job 12. 26. Ezekiel foreſaw it, Ezek. 37. and Daniel plainly foretold it, Dan. 12. 2. Chriſt roſe again according to the Scriptures, 1 Cor. 15. 3. and ſo ſhall we : Thoſe therefore who deny it, either have not convers'd with the Scriptures, or do not believe them, or do not take the true Senſe and Meaning of them. Note, Ignorance of the Scripture is the Riſe of abundance of Miſchief.

2. He rectifies their Miſtake, and v. 30. corrects thoſe groſs Ideas, which they had of the Reſurrection and a future State, and fixeth theſe Doctrines upon a true and laſting Baſis. Concerning that State, obſerve,

1. It is not like the State we are now in upon Earth ; They neither marry, nor are given in marriage. In our preſent State, Marriage is neceſſary, 'twas inſtituted in Innocency ; whatever Intermiſſion or Neglect there has been of other Inſtitutions, this was never laid aſide, nor will be to the end of Time. In the old World they were marrying, and given in marriage ; the Jews in Babylon, when cut off from other Ordinances, yet were bid to take them Wives, Jer. 29. 6. All civiliz'd Nations have had a Senſe of the Obligation of the Marriage-Covenant ; and 'tis requiſite for the gratifying of the Deſires, and recruiting the Deficiencies of the human Nature : But in the Reſurrection there is no occaſion for Marriage ; whether in glorified Bodies there will be any diſtinction of Sexes, ſome too curiouſly diſpute ; the Antients are divided in their Opinions about it ; but whether there will be a Diſtinction or no, 'tis certain there will be no Conjunction ; where God will be all in all, there needs no other meet-help ; the Body will be Spiritual, and there will be in it no carnal Deſires to be gratify'd : When the myſtical Body is compleated, there will be no further occaſion to ſeek a godly Seed, which was one end of the Inſtitution of Marriage, Mal. 2. 15. In Heaven there will be no decay of the Individuals, and therefore no eating and drinking, no decay of the Species, and therefore no marrying, where there ſhall be no more Deaths, Rev. 21. 4. there needs be no more Births. The marry'd State is a Compoſition of Joys and Cares, thoſe that enter upon it are taught to look upon it as ſubject to Changes, Richer and Poorer, Sickneſs and Health, and therefore 'tis fit for this mix'd, changing World ; but as in Hell, where there is no Joy, the Voice of the Bridegroom, and the Voice of the Bride, ſhall be heard no more at all ; ſo in Heaven, where there is all Joy, and no Care, or Pain, or Trouble, there will be no Marrying : The Joys of that State are pure and ſpiritual, and ariſe from the Marriage of all of them to the Lamb, not of any of them to one another.

2. It is like the State Angels are now in in Heaven ; They are as the Angels of God in Heaven, they are ſo, i. e. undoubtedly they ſhall be ſo : They are ſo already in Chriſt their Head, who has made them ſit with him in Heavenly Places, Eph. 2. 6. The Spirits of juſt Men already made perfect, are of the ſame Corporation with the innumerable Company of Angels, Heb. 12. 22, 23. Man in his Creation was a little lower than the Angels, Pſal. 8. 5. but in his compleat Redemption and Renovation will be as the Angels, pure and Spiritual as the Angels, knowing and loving as thoſe bleſſed Seraphims, ever praiſing God like them, and with them. The Bodies of the Saints ſhall be raiſed Incorruptible and Glorious, like the uncompounded Vehicles of thoſe pure and holy Spirits, 1 Cor. 15. 42, &c. Swift and ſtrong, like them. We ſhould therefore deſire and endeavour to do the Will of God now, as the Angels do it in Heaven, becauſe we hope ſhortly to be like the Angels, who always behold our Father's Face. He ſaith nothing of the State of the Wicked in the Reſurrection, but by Conſequence, they ſhall be like the Devils, whoſe Luſts they have done.

4. Chriſt's Argument to confirm this great Truth of the Reſurrection, and a future State ; the Matters being of great Concern, he did not think it enough (as in ſome other Diſputes) to diſcover the Fallacy and Sophiſtry of the Objections, but back'd the Truth with a ſolid Argument, for Chriſt brings forth Judgment to truth, as well as Victory ; and enables his Followers, to give a Reaſon of the Hope that is in them. Now obſerve,

1. From whence he fetch'd his Argument, from the Scripture ; that's the great Magazine or Armory, whence we may be furniſh'd with ſpiritual Weapons, offenſive and defenſive : It is written, is Goliah's Sword : Have ye not read that which was ſpoken to you by God? Note, (1.) What the Scripture ſpeaks, God ſpeaks. (2.) What was ſpoken to Moſes, was ſpoken to us, 'twas ſpoken and written for our Learning. (3.) It concerns us to read, and hear what God hath ſpoken, becauſe 'tis ſpoken to us : 'Twas ſpoken to you Jews in the firſt place, for to them were committed the Oracles of God. The Argument is fetch'd from the Books of Moſes, becauſe the Sadducees received them only, as ſome think, or however them chiefly, for Canonical Scriptures, Chriſt therefore fetch'd his Proof from the moſt indiſputable Fountain. The latter Prophets have more expreſs Proofs of a future State than the Law of Moſes has ; for tho' the Law of Moſes doth ſuppoſe the Immortality of the Soul, and a future State, as Principles of Religion, in ſome degree naturally, yet no new expreſs Revelation of it is made by the Law of Moſes, becauſe ſo much of that Law was peculiar to that People, and was therefore guarded, as municipal Laws us'd to be with temporal Promiſes and Threatnings, and the more expreſs Revelation of a future State was reſerv'd for the latter Days ; but our Saviour finds a very ſolid Argument for the Reſurrection, even in the Writings of Moſes. Much Scripture-Treaſure lies under Ground that muſt be digg'd for.

2. What his Argument was, v. 32. I am the God of Abraham : This was not an expreſs Proof, totidem verbis, and yet 'twas really a concluſive Argument. Conſequences from Scripture, if rightly deduced, muſt be receiv'd as Scripture ; for it was written for thoſe that have the uſe of Reaſon.

1. Now the Drift of the Argument is, to prove,

1. That there is a future State, another Life after this, in which the Righteous ſhall be truly and conſequently Happy : This is prov'd from what God ſaid, I am the God of Abraham.

(1.) For God to be any one's God, ſuppoſeth ſome very extraordinary Priviledge and Happineſs ; unleſs we know fully what God is, we could not comprehend the Riches of that Word, I will be to thee a God, i. e. a Benefactor like my ſelf. The God of Iſrael is a God to Iſrael, 1 Chron. 17. 29. A Spiritual Benefactor, for he is the Father of Spirits, and bleſſeth with Spiritual Bleſſings ; 'Tis to be an All- ſufficient Benefactor, a God that is enough, a compleat Good, and an Eternal Benefactor; for he is himſelf an Everlaſting God, and will be to thoſe that are in Covenant with him an everlaſting Good. This great Word God had often ſaid to Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and it was intended as a Recompence for their ſingular Faith and Obedience, in quitting their Country at God's Call. The Jews had a mighty Veneration for thoſe three Patriarchs, and would extend the Promiſe God made them to the uttermoſt.

(2.) It is manifeſt that theſe good Men had no ſuch extraordinary Happineſs befel them in this Life, as might look any thing like the Accompliſhment of ſo great a Word as that. They were ſtrangers in the Land of Promiſe, wandering, pinch'd with Famine, had not a foot of Ground of their own but a Burying-place (which directed them to look for ſomething beyond this Life.) In preſent Enjoyments they came far ſhort of their Neighbours, that were ſtrangers to this Covenant. What was there in this World to difference them and the Heirs of their Faith from other People any whit proportionable to the Dignity and Diſtinction of this Covenant? If no Happineſs had been reſerv'd for theſe great and good Men on the other ſide Death, that melancholy Word of poor Jacob's when he was old, Gen. 47. 9. Few and evil have the days of the Years of my Life been, would have been an eternal Reproach to the Wiſdom, Goodneſs, and Faithfulneſs of that God, who had ſo often call'd himſelf the God of Jacob.

(3.) Therefore there muſt certainly be a future State, in which as God will ever live, to be eternally rewarding; ſo Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob will ever live to be eternally rewarded. That of the Apoſtle, Heb. 11. 16. is a Key to this Argument, where when he had been ſpeaking of the Faith and Obedience of the Patriarchs in the Land of their Pilgrimage, he adds, therefore God is not aſhamed to be called their God; becauſe he has provided for them a City, a heavenly City; implying, that if he had not provided ſo well for them in the other World, conſidering how they ſped in this, he would have been aſham'd to have call'd himſelf their God; but now he is not, having done that for them which anſwers it in its true intent, and full extent.

2. That the Soul is Immortal, and the Body ſhall riſe again to be united; if the former Point be gain'd, theſe will follow, but are likewiſe prov'd by conſidering the Time when God ſpake this; 'twas to Moſes at the Buſh, long after Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob were dead and buried, and yet God ſaith, not I was, or have been, but I am the God of Abraham. Now God is not the God of the Dead, but of the Living. He is a living God, and communicates vital Influences to thoſe to whom he is a God. If when Abraham dy'd there had been an end of him, there had been an end likewiſe of God's Relation to him as his God; but at that time when God ſpoke to Moſes he was the God of Abraham, and therefore Abraham muſt be then alive; which proves the Immortality of the Soul in a State of Bliſs; and that by conſequence infers the Reſurrection of the Body; for there is ſuch an Inclination in the humane Soul to its body, as would make a final and eternal Separation inconſiſtent with the Bliſs of thoſe that have God for their God. The Sadducees Notion was, That the Union between Body and Soul is ſo cloſe, that when the Body dies, the Soul dies with it. Now upon the ſame Hypotheſis, if the Soul lives, as it certainly doth, the Body muſt ſome time or other live with it. And beſides the Lord is for the Body, 'tis an eſſential part of the Man, there is a Covenant with the Duſt, which will be remember'd, otherwiſe the Man would not be happy. The Charge which the dying Patriarchs gave concerning their Bones, and that in Faith, was an Evidence that they had ſome Expectation of the Reſurrection of their Bodies. But this Doctrine was reſerv'd for a more full Revelation after the Reſurrection of Chriſt, who was the firſt Fruits of them that ſlept.

Laſtly, We have the Iſſue of this Diſpute. The Sadducees were put to ſilence, v. 34. and ſo put to Shame. They thought by their Subtilty to put Chriſt to Shame, when they were preparing Shame for themſelves. But the Multitudes were aſtoniſh'd at his Doctrine, v. 33. (1.) Becauſe it was new to them. See to what a ſad paſs the Expoſition of Scripture was come among them, when People were aſtoniſh'd at it as a Miracle, to hear the fundamental Promiſe apply'd to this great Truth; they had ſorry Scribes, or this had been no News to them. (2.) Becauſe it had ſomething in it very good and great. Truth oft ſhines the brighter, and is the more admir'd for its being oppos'd. Obſerve, Many Gainſayers are ſilenc'd, and many Hearers aſtoniſh'd, when neither are ſavingly converted; yet even in the Silence and Aſtoniſhment of unſanctified Souls, God magnifies his Law, magnifies his Goſpel, and makes both honourable.

34 But when the Phariſees had heard that he had put the Sadduces to ſilence, they were gathered together. 35 Then one of them, which was a lawyer, asked him a queſtion, tempting him, and ſaying, 36 Maſter, which is the great commandment in the law? 37 Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy ſoul, and with all thy mind. 38 This is the firſt and great commandment. 39 And the ſecond is like unto it, Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf. 40 On theſe two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

Here's a Diſcourſe which Chriſt had with a Phariſee Lawyer, about the great Commandment of the Law. Obſerve,

1. The Combination of the Phariſees againſt Chriſt, v. 34. They heard that he had put the Sadducees to Silence, had ſtop'd their Mouths, tho' their Underſtandings were not open'd; and they were gather'd together, not to return him the Thanks of their Party, as they ought to have done, for his effectual aſſerting and confirming the Truth againſt the Sadducees, the common Enemies of their Religion; but to tempt him, in hopes to get the Reputation of puzzling him who had puzzled the Sadducees: They were more vex'd that Chriſt was honour'd, than pleas'd that the Sadducees were ſilenc'd; being more concern'd for their own Tyranny and Traditions, which Chriſt oppos'd, than for the doctrine of the Reſurrection, and a future State, which the Sadducees oppos'd. Note, It is an Inſtance of Phariſaical Envy and Malice, to be diſpleas'd at the maintaining of a confeſſed Truth, when 'tis done by thoſe we do not like; to ſacrifice a publick Good to private Piques and Prejudices. Bleſſed Paul was otherwiſe minded, Phil. 1. 18.

2. The Lawyer's Queſtion which he put to Chriſt. The Lawyers were Students in, and Teachers of the Law of Moſes, as the Scribes were; but ſome think in this they differ'd, that they dealt more in practical Queſtions than the Scribes; they ſtudy'd and profeſs'd Caſuiſtical Divinity. This Lawyer ask'd him a Queſtion, tempting him; not with any Deſign to enſnare him, as appears by St. Mark's Relation of this Story, where we find that this was he to whom Chriſt ſaid, Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God, Mark 12. 34. But only to ſee what he would ſay, and to draw on Diſcourſe with him, to ſatisfie his own, and his Friends Curioſity.

(1.) The Queſtion was, Maſter, which is the great Commandment of the Law? A needleſs Queſtion, when all the things of God's Law are great things, Hoſ. 8. 12. and the Wiſdom from above is without Partiality, Partiality in the Law, Mal. 2. 9. and hath reſpect to them all. Yet it is true, there are ſome Commands that are the Principles of the Oracles of God, more extenſive and incluſive than others. Our Saviour ſpeaks of the weightier Matters of the Law, Mat. 23. 23.

(2.) The Deſign was to try him, or tempt him; to try, not ſo much his Knowledge as his Judgment. It was a Queſtion diſputed among the Criticks in the Law: Some would have the Law of Circumciſion to be the great Commandment, others the Law of the Sabbath, others the Law of Sacrifices, according as they ſeverally ſtood affected, and ſpent their Zeal; now they would try what Chriſt ſaid to this Queſtion, hoping to incenſe the People againſt him, if he ſhould not anſwer according to the vulgar Opinion; and if he ſhould magnifie one Commandment, they would reflect on him as villifying the reſt. The Queſtion was harmleſs enough, and it appears by comparing Luke 10. 27, 28. that it was an adjudg'd Point among the Lawyers, that the Love of God and our Neighbour is the great Commandment, and the Sum of all the reſt, and Chriſt had there approv'd it; ſo that the putting of it to him here, ſeems rather a ſcornful Deſign to Catechiſe him as a Child, than a ſpiteful Deſign to diſpute him as an Adverſary.

3. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion, and it's well for us that ſuch a Queſtion was ask'd him, that we might have this Anſwer. 'Tis no diſparagement to great Men to anſwer plain Queſtions. Now Chriſt recommends to us thoſe as the great Commandments, not which are ſo excluſive of others, but which are therefore ſo, becauſe incluſive of others. Obſerve,

1. Which theſe great Commandments are, v. 37, 38, 39. not the Judicial Laws. Thoſe could not be the greateſt now, the People of the Jews, to whom they pertained, were ſo little; not the Ceremonial Laws, thoſe could not be the greateſt, now they were waxen old, and were ready to vaniſh away; nor any particular moral Precept; but the Love of God and our Neighbour, which are the Spring and Foundation of all the reſt, which (theſe being ſuppos'd) will follow of courſe.

(1.) All the Law is fulfill'd in one word, and that is Love. See Rom. 13. 10. All Obedience begins in the Affections, and nothing in Religion is done right, that is not done there firſt. Love is the leading Affection which gives Law, and gives Ground to the reſt, and therefore that as the main Fort is to be firſt ſecur'd, and Garriſon'd for God. Man is a Creature cut out for Love; thus therefore is the Law written in the Heart, that it is a Law of Love. Love is a ſhort and ſweet word, and if that be the fulfilling of the Law, ſurely the Yoke of the Command is very eaſie. Love is the Reſt and Satisfaction of the Soul, if we walk in this good old Way, we ſhall find Reſt.

(2.) The Love of God is the firſt and great Commandment of all, and the Summary of all the Commands of the firſt Table. The proper act of Love being Complacency, God is the proper Object of it. Now God being Good Infinitely, Originally, and Eternally, he is to be loved in the firſt place, and nothing lov'd beſide him, but what is lov'd for him. Love is the firſt and great thing that God demands from us, and therefore the firſt and great thing that we ſhould devote to him.

Now here we are directed,

1. To love God as ours. Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God as thine. The firſt Commandment is, Thou ſhalt have no other God; which implies, that we muſt have him for our God, and that will engage our Love to him. Thoſe that made the Sun and Moon their gods, loved them, Jer. 8. 2. Jud. 18. 24. To love God as ours, is to love him becauſe he is ours, our Creator, Owner, and Ruler, and to carry our ſelves to him as ours, with Obedience to him, and Dependance on him. We muſt love God, as reconcil'd to us, and made ours by Covenant, that's the Foundation of this, thy God.

2. To love him with all our Heart, and Soul, and Mind. Some make theſe to ſignify one and the ſame thing, love him with all thy Powers; others diſtinguiſh them, the Heart, Soul and Mind are the Will, Affections, and Underſtandings; or the Vital, Senſitive, and Intellectual Faculties. Our Love of God muſt be a ſincere Love, and not in Word and Tongue only, as theirs is, who ſay they love him, but their Hearts are not with him. It muſt be a ſtrong Love, we muſt love him in the moſt intenſe Degree; as we muſt praiſe him, ſo we muſt love him with all that is within us, Pſal. 103. 1. It muſt be a Singular and Superlative Love, we muſt love him more than any thing elſe; this way the ſtream of our Affections muſt entirely run. The heart muſt be united to love God, in oppoſition to a divided Heart. All our Love is too little to beſtow upon him, and therefore all the Powers of the Soul muſt be engaged for him, and carried out towards him. This is the firſt and great Commandment, for Obedience to this is the Spring of Obedience to all the reſt; which is then only acceptable when it flows from Love.

(3.) To love our Neighbours as our ſelves, is the ſecond great Commandment, v. 39. It is like unto that firſt; it is incluſive of all the Precepts of the ſecond Table, as that is of the firſt. 'Tis like it, for it is founded upon it, and flows from it; and a right Love to our Brother whom we have ſeen, is both an Inſtance, and an Evidence of our Love to God, whom we have not ſeen, 1 John 4. 20.

1. It is implied that we do, and ſhould love our ſelves. There is a Self-love which is corrupt, and the Root of the greateſt Sins, and it muſt be put off and mortified: But there is a Self-love which is natural, and the Rule of the greateſt Duty, and it muſt be preſerv'd and ſanctified. We muſt love our ſelves, i. e. we muſt have a due regard to the Dignity of our own Natures, and a due concern for the Welfare of our own Souls and Bodies.

2. It is preſcrib'd, that we love our Neighbour as our ſelves. We muſt honour and eſteem all Men, and muſt wrong and injure none; muſt have a Good will to all, and good Wiſhes for all, and as we have opportunity, muſt do Good to all. We muſt love our Neighbour as our ſelves, as truly and ſincerely as we love our ſelves, and in the ſame Inſtances, nay, in many Caſes we muſt deny our ſelves for the Good of our Neighbour, and muſt make our ſelves Servants to the true Welfare of others, and be willing to ſpend, and be ſpent for them, to lay down our Lives for the Brethren.

2. Obſerve what the Weight and Greatneſs of theſe Commandments is, v. 40. On theſe two Commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets, i. e. This is the Sum and Subſtance of all thoſe Precepts relating to practical Religion, which were written in Men's Hearts by Nature, reviv'd by Moſes, and back'd and enforc'd by the Preaching and Writing of the Prophets. All hang upon the Law of Love, take away this, and all falls to the ground, and comes to nothing. Rituals and Ceremonials muſt give way to theſe, as muſt all ſpiritual Gifts, for Love is the more excellent way. This is the Spirit of the Law which animates it, the Cement of the Law which joyns it, 'tis the Root and Spring of all other Duties, the Compendium of the whole Bible, not only of the Law and the Prophets, but the Goſpel too, only ſuppoſing this Love to be the Fruit of Faith, and that we Love God in Chriſt, and our Neighbour for his ſake. All hangs on theſe two Commandments, as the effect doth both on its efficient, and on its final Cauſe, for the fulfilling of the Law is Love, Rom. 13. 10. and the end of the Law is Love, 1 Tim. 1. 5. The Law of Love is the Nail, is the Nail in the ſure Place, faſtened by the Maſters of Aſſemblies, Eccl. 12. 11. on which is hung all the Glory of the Law and the Prophets, Iſa. 22. 24. a Nail that ſhall never be drawn; for on this Nail all the Glory of the New Jeruſalem ſhall eternally hang. Love never faileth. Into theſe two great Commandments therefore let our Hearts be deliver'd as into a Mold, in the Defence and Evidence of theſe let us ſpend our Zeal, and not in Notions, Names and Strifes of Words, as if thoſe were the mighty things on which the Law and the Prophets hung, and to them the Love of God and our Neighbour muſt be ſacrific'd; but to the commanding Power of theſe, let every thing elſe be made to truckle.

41 While the Phariſees were gathered together, Jeſus asked them, 42 Saying, What think ye of Chriſt? whoſe Son is he? They ſay unto him, The ſon of David. 43 He ſaith unto them, How then doth David in ſpirit call him, Lord, ſaying, 44 The LORD ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footſtool? 45 If David then call him Lord, how is he his ſon? 46 And no man was able to anſwer him a word, neither durſt any man (from that day forth) ask him any mo queſtions.

Many Queſtions the Phariſees had ask'd Chriſt, by which, tho' they thought to expoſe him, they did but expoſe themſelves; but now let him ask them a Queſtion, and he will do it when they are gather'd together, v. 41. He did not take ſome one of them apart from the reſt, (ne Hercules contra duos) but to ſhame them the more, he took them all together, when they were in Confederacy, and Conſult againſt him, and yet puzzled them. Note, God delights to baffle his Enemies, when they moſt ſtrengthen themſelves, gives them all the Advantages they can wiſh for, and yet conquers them. Aſſociate your ſelves, and you ſhall be broken in pieces, Iſa. 3. 9, 10. Now here,

1. Chriſt propoſeth a Queſtion to them, which they could eaſily anſwer, 'twas a Queſtion in their own Catechiſm; What think ye of Chriſt? Whoſe Son is he? Whoſe Son do you expect the Meſſiah to be, who was promis'd to the Fathers? This they could eaſily anſwer, The Son of David. 'Twas the common Periphraſis of the Meſſiah, they call'd him the Son of David. So the Scribes, who expounded the Scripture, had taught them from Pſal. 89. 35, 36. I will not lye unto David, his Seed ſhall endure for ever, Iſa. 9. 7. upon the Throne of David. And Iſa. 11. 1. A Rod out of the Stem of Jeſſe. The Covenant of Royalty made with David, was a Figure of the Covenant of Redemption made with Chriſt; who, as David, was made King with an Oath, and was firſt humbled, and then advanced. If Chriſt was the Son of David, he was really and truly Man; Iſrael ſaid, We have ten parts in David, and Judah ſaid, He is our Bone and our Fleſh; What part have we then in the Son of David, who took our Nature upon him?

What think ye of Chriſt? They had put Queſtions to him, one after another out of the Law; but he comes and puts a Queſtion to them upon the Promiſe: Many are ſo full of the Law, that they forget Chriſt, as if their Duties would ſave them without his Merit and Grace. It concerns each of us ſeriouſly to ask our ſelves, What think we of Chriſt? Some think not of him at all, he is not in all, not in any of their Thoughts; ſome think meanly, and ſome think hardly of him, but to them that believe he is precious; and how precious then are the Thoughts of him? While the Daughters of Jeruſalem think no more of Chriſt than of another Beloved, the Spouſe thinks of him as the Chief of ten Thouſands.

2. He ſtarts a Difficulty upon their Anſwer, which they could not ſo eaſily ſolve, v. 43, 44, 45. Many can ſo readily affirm the Truth, that they think they have Knowledge enough to be proud of, who, when they are call'd to confirm the Truth, and to vindicate and defend it, ſhew they have Ignorance enough to be aſham'd of. The Objection Chriſt rais'd was, If Chriſt be David's Son, how then doth David in Spirit call him Lord? He did not hereby deſign to enſnare them, as they did him, but to inſtruct them in a Truth, they were loth to believe that the expected Meſſiah is God.

(1.) It is eaſie to ſee that David calls Chriſt Lord, and this in Spirit, being Divinely Inſpired, and acted therein by a Spirit of Prophecy; for it was the Spirit of the Lord that ſpake by him, 2 Sam. 23. 1, 2. David was one of thoſe holy Men that ſpake as he was moved by the Holy Ghoſt, eſpecially in calling Chriſt Lord; for it was then, as it is ſtill, (1 Cor. 12. 3.) that no Man can ſay that Jeſus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghoſt. Now to prove that David in Spirit call'd Chriſt Lord, he quotes Pſal. 110. 1. Which Pſalm the Scribes themſelves underſtood of Chriſt; of him 'tis certain the Prophet there ſpeaks, of him, and of no other Man: And it is a Prophetical Summary of the Doctrine of Chriſt, it deſcribes him executing the Offices of a Prophet, Prieſt, and King, both in his Eſtate of Humiliation, and Exaltation.

Chriſt quotes the whole Verſe, which ſhews the Redeemer in his Exaltation. 1. Sitting at the right hand of God. His ſitting notes both Reſt and Rule; his ſitting at God's Right hand, notes Superlative Honour, and Sovereign Power. See in what great words this is expreſs'd, Heb. 8. 1. He is ſet on the Right-hand of the Throne of the Majeſty. See Phil. 2. 9. Eph. 1. 21. He did not take this Honour to himſelf, but was Entitled to it by Covenant with his Father, and Inveſted in it by Commiſſion from him, and here's that Commiſſion. 2. Subduing his Enemies. There he ſhall ſit till they be all made either his Friends, or his footſtool. The carnal Mind, wherever it is, is Enmity to Chriſt, and that is ſubdued in the Converſion of the willing People that are called to his Foot, as the Expreſſion is, Iſa. 41. 2. And in the Confuſion of his impenitent Adverſaries, that ſhall be brought under his Foot, as the Kings of Canaan were under the Feet of Joſhua.

But that which this Verſe is quoted for is, that David calls the Meſſiah his Lord, the Lord Jehovah, ſaid unto my Lord: This intimates to us, that in expounding Scripture, we muſt take notice of, and improve, not only that which is the main Scope and Senſe of a Verſe, but of the Words and Phraſes, by which the Spirit chuſeth to expreſs that Senſe, which have many times a very uſeful and inſtructive Significancy. Here's a good Note from that Word, My Lord.

(2.) It is not ſo eaſie for thoſe who believe not the God-head of the Meſſiah to clear this from an Abſurdity; if Chriſt be David's Son. 'Tis incongruous for the Father to ſpeak of his Son, the Predeceſſor of his Succeſſor, as his Lord. If David call him Lord, that is laid down, v. 45. as the magnis notum, the more evident Truth; for whatever is ſaid of Chriſt's Humanity, and Humiliation, muſt be conſtrued and underſtood in conſiſtency with the Truth of his Divine Nature and Dominion. We muſt hold this faſt, that he is David's Lord, and by that explain his being David's Son. The ſeeming Differences of Scripture, as here, may not only be accommodated, but contribute to the Beauty and Harmony of the whole. Amica Scripturarum lites, utinam & noſtræ.

3. We have here the Succeſs of this gentle Tryal which Chriſt made of the Phariſees Knowledge; in two things:

1. It puzzled them, v. 46. No man was able to anſwer him a word; either 'twas their Ignorance that they did not know, or their Impiety, that they would not own the Meſſiah to be God, which Truth was the only Key to unlock this Difficulty. What thoſe Rabbies could not then anſwer, bleſſed be God, the plaineſt Chriſtian that is led into the Underſtanding of the Goſpel of Chriſt can now account for; that Chriſt as God, was David's Lord, and Chriſt as Man, was David's Son. This he did not now himſelf explain, but reſerv'd it till the Proof of it was compleated by his Reſurrection; but we have it fully explain'd by him in his Glory, Rev. 22. 16. I am the Root, and Off-ſpring of David, Chriſt as God, was David's Root, Chriſt as Man, was David's Off-ſpring. If we hold not faſt this Truth, that Jeſus Chriſt is over all, God bleſſed for ever, we run our ſelves into inextricable Difficulties. And well might David, his remote Anceſtor, call him Lord, when Mary, his immediate Mother, after ſhe had conceiv'd him, call'd him Lord, and God her Saviour, Luke 1. 46, 47.

2. It ſilenc'd them, and all others that ſought occaſion againſt him; neither durſt any Man from that Day forth ask him any more ſuch captious, tempting, enſnaring Queſtions. Note, God will glorifie himſelf in the Silencing of many, whom he will not glorifie himſelf in the Salvation of. Many are convinced that are not converted by the Word. Had theſe been converted, they would have ask'd him more Queſtions, eſpecially that great Queſtion, What muſt we do to be ſaved? But ſince they could not gain their Point, they would have no more to do with him. But thus all that ſtrive with their Maſter ſhall be convinc'd, as theſe Phariſees and Lawyers here were, of the Inequality of the Match.

CHAP. XXIII.

In the foregoing Chapter we had our Saviour's Diſcourſes with the Scribes and Phariſees, here we have his Diſcourſe concerning them, or rather againſt them. (1.) He allows their Office, v. 2, 3. (2.) He warns his Diſciples not to imitate their Hypocriſie and Pride, v. 4.—12. (3.) He exhibits a Charge againſt them for divers high Crimes and Miſdemeanors, Corrupting the Law, Oppoſing the Goſpel, and treacherous Dealing both with God and Man; and to each Article he prefixes a Woe, v. 13.—33. (4.) He paſſeth Sentence upon Jeruſalem, and foretels the Ruin of the City and Temple, eſpecially for the Sin of Perſecution, v. 34—39.

THen ſpake Jeſus to the multitude, and to his diſciples, 2 Saying, The Scribes and the Phariſees ſit in Moſes ſeat. 3 All therefore whatſoever they bid you obſerve, that obſerve and do; but do not ye after their works: for they ſay, and do not. 4 For they bind heavy burdens, and grievous to be born, and lay them on mens ſhoulders, but they themſelves will not move them with one of their fingers. 5 But all their works they do, for to be ſeen of men: they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the borders of their garments. 6 And love the uppermoſt rooms at feaſts, and the chief ſeats in ſynagogues, 7 And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi. 8 But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your maſter, even Chriſt, and all ye are brethren. 9 And call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your father which is in heaven. 10 Neither be ye called maſters: for one is your maſter, even Chriſt. 11 But he that is greateſt among you, ſhall be your ſervant. 12 And whoſoever ſhall exalt himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that ſhall humble himſelf, ſhall be exalted.

We find not Chriſt in all his Preaching ſo ſevere upon any ſort of People as upon theſe Scribes and Phariſees; for the Truth is, nothing is more directly oppoſite to the Spirit of the Goſpel, than the Temper and Practice of that Generation of Men, who were made up of Pride, Worldlineſs, and Tyranny, under a Cloke and Pretence of Religion. Yet theſe were the Idols, and Darlings of the People, who thought, if but two Men went to Heaven, one would be a Phariſee. Now Chriſt directs his Diſcourſe here to the Multitude, and to his Diſciples, v. 1. to rectifie their Miſtakes concerning theſe Scribes and Phariſees, by painting them out in their true Colours, and ſo to take off the Prejudice which ſome of the Multitude had conceiv'd againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine; becauſe it was oppos'd by thoſe topping Men of their Church, that call'd themſelves the People's Guides. Note, It is good to know the true Characters of Men, that we may not be impos'd upon by great and mighty Names, Titles, and Pretenſions to Power. People muſt be told of the Wolves, Acts 20. 29, 30. the Dogs, Phil. 3. 2. the deceitful Workers, 2 Cor. 11. 13. that they may know where to ſtand upon their Guard. And not only the mixt Multitude, but even the Diſciples need theſe Cautions; for good Men are apt to have their Eyes dazzled with worldly Pomp.

Now in this Diſcourſe,

1. Chriſt allows their Office as Expoſitors of the Law. The Scribes and Phariſees, (that is, the whole Sanhedrin, who ſate at the Helm of Church-Government, who were all call'd Scribes, and were ſome of them Phariſees,) they ſit in Moſes Seat, v. 2. as publick Teachers and Interpreters of the Law; and the Law of Moſes being the municipal Law of their State, they were as Judges, or a Bench of Juſtices; Teaching and Judging ſeem to be equivalent, comparing 2 Chron. 17. 7, 9. with 2 Chron. 19. 5, 6, 8. They were not the itinerate Judges that rode the Circuit, but the ſtanding Bench that determin'd on Appeals, ſpecial Verdicts, or Writs of Error by the Law. They ſate in Moſes's Seat; not as he was Mediator between God and Iſrael, but only as he was Chief Juſtice, Exod. 18. 26. Or we may apply it, not to the Sanhedrin, but to the other Phariſees and Scribes that expounded the Law, and taught the People how to apply it to particular Caſes. The Pulpit of Wood, ſuch as was made for Ezra, that ready Scribe in the Law of God, (Neh. 8. 4.) is here call'd Moſes's Seat, becauſe Moſes had thoſe in every City, (ſo the Expreſſion is, Acts 15. 21.) which in thoſe Pulpits Preached him. This was their Office, and it was juſt and honourable. It was requiſite there ſhould be ſome, at whoſe Mouth the People might enquire the Law, Mal. 2. 7. Note, (1.) There's many a good Place fill'd with bad Men. 'Tis no new thing for the vileſt Men to be exalted even to Moſes's Seat, Pſal. 12. 8. And when it is ſo, the Men are not ſo much honour'd by the Seat, as the Seat is diſhonour'd by the Men. Now they that ſate in Moſes's Seat being ſo wretchedly degenerated as they were, it was time for the great Prophet to ariſe, like unto Moſes, to erect another Seat. (2.) Good and uſeful Offices and Powers are not therefore to be preſently condemn'd and aboliſh'd, becauſe they fall ſometimes into the Hands of ill Men that abuſe them. We muſt not therefore pull down Moſes's Seat, becauſe Scribes and Phariſees have got Poſſeſſion of it, rather than ſo, let both grow together until the Harveſt, Mat. 13. 30.

Hence he infers, v. 3. Whatſoever they bid you obſerve, that obſerve and do. As far as they ſit in Moſes's Seat, i. e. Read, and Preach the Law that was given by Moſes, (which as yet continued in full Force, Power, and Vertue) and judge according to that Law; ſo far you muſt hearken to them, as Remembrancers to you of the written Word. The Scribes and Phariſees made it their Buſineſs to ſtudy the Scripture, and were well acquainted with the Language, Hiſtory, and Cuſtoms of it, and its Style and Phraſeology: Now Chriſt would have the People to make uſe of the Helps they gave them for the underſtanding of the Scripture, and do accordingly. As long as their Comments did illuſtrate the Text, and not pervert it, did make plain, and not make void the Commandment of God, ſo far they muſt be obſerv'd and obey'd, but with Caution, and a Judgment of Diſcretion. Note, We muſt not think the worſe of good Truths, for their being Preach'd by bad Miniſters, nor of good Laws, for their being executed by bad Magiſtrates. Tho' 'tis moſt deſirable to have our Food brought by Angels, yet if God ſend it us by Ravens, if it be good and wholſome, we muſt take it, and thank God for it. Our Lord Jeſus premiſeth this, to prevent the Cavil which ſome would be apt to make at his following Diſcourſe; as if by condemning the Scribes and Phariſees, he deſign'd to bring the Law of Moſes into Contempt, and to draw People off from it; whereas he came not to deſtroy, but to fulfil. Note, 'Tis Wiſdom to obviate the Exceptions which may be taken at juſt Reproofs, eſpecially when there is occaſion to diſtinguiſh between Officers and their Offices, that the Miniſtry be not blam'd when the Miniſters are.

2. He condemns the Men. He had order'd the Multitude to do as they taught; but here he annexeth a Caution, not to do as they did, to beware of their Leaven. Do not ye after their Works. Their Traditions were their Works, were their Idols, the Works of their Fancy. Or, do not according to their Example. Doctrines and Practices are both Spirits that muſt be tried, and where there is occaſion, muſt be carefully ſeparated and diſtinguiſh'd. And as we muſt not ſwallow corrupt Doctrines for the ſake of any laudable Practices of thoſe that teach them, ſo we muſt not imitate any ill Examples for the ſake of the plauſible Doctrines of thoſe that give them. The Scribes and Phariſees boaſted as much of the goodneſs of their Works, as of the Orthodoxy of their Teaching, and hoped to be juſtified by them; 'twas the Plea they put in, Luke 18. 11, 12. And yet theſe things which they valued themſelves ſo much upon were an Abomination in the ſight of God.

Our Saviour here, and in the following Verſes, inſtances in divers Particulars of their Works, wherein we muſt not imitate them. In general they are charg'd with Hypocriſie, Diſſimulation, or double-Dealing in Religion; a Crime which cannot be enquir'd of at Men's Bar, becauſe we can only judge according to outward Appearance; but God, who ſearcheth the Heart, can convict of Hypocriſie, and nothing is more diſpleaſing to him, for he deſireth Truth.

Four Things are in theſe Verſes charg'd upon them.

Firſt, Their Saying and Doing were two Things.

Their Practice was no way agreeable, either with their Preaching, or with their Profeſſion; for the ſay and do not. They teach out of the Law that which is good, but their Converſation gives them the Lie, and they ſeem to have found another way to Heaven for themſelves, than what they ſhew to others. See this illuſtrated and charg'd home upon them, Rom. 2. 17,—24. Thoſe are of all Sinners moſt inexcuſable, that allow themſelves in the ſame Sins they condemn in others, or in worſe. This doth eſpecially touch wicked Miniſters, who will be ſure to have their Portion appointed them with Hypocrites, Mat. 24. 51. for what greater Hypocriſie can there be, than to preſs that upon others, to be believ'd and done, which they themſelves live in unbelief of, and diſobedience to, who pull down in their Practice what they build up in their Preaching; who when they are in the Pulpit, Preach ſo well, that it's pity they ſhould ever come out; but when they are out of the Pulpit, live ſo ill, that 'tis pity they ſhould ever come in; like Bells that call others to Church, but hang out themſelves, or mercurial Poſts that point the way to others, but ſtand ſtill themſelves; ſuch will be judged out of their own Mouths.

It is applicable to all others that ſay, and do not; that make a plauſible Profeſſion of Religion, but do not live up to that Profeſſion; that make fair Promiſes, but do not perform their Promiſes; are full of good Diſcourſe, and can lay down the Law to all about them, but are as empty of good Works, great Talkers, but little Doers; the Voice is Jacob's Voice, but the Hands are the Hands of Eſau. Vox & preterea nihil. They ſpeak fair, I go, Sir, but there's no truſting them, for there are ſeven Abominations in their Heart.

Secondly, They were very ſevere in impoſing upon others thoſe things, which they were not themſelves willing to ſubmit to the Burthen of, v. 4. They bind heavy Burthens, and grievous to be born; not only inſiſting upon the minute Circumſtances of the Law, which is call'd a Yoke, Acts 15. 10. and preſſing the Obſervation of them with more Strictneſs and Severity than God himſelf did; (whereas the Maxim of the Lawyers is, Apices Juris, non ſunt Jura) but by adding to his Words, and impoſing their own Inventions and Traditions under the higheſt Penalties. They lov'd to ſhew their Authority, and to exerciſe their domineering Faculty, Lording it over God's Heritage, and ſaying to Men's Souls, Bow down, that we may go over. Witneſs their many Additions to the Law of the Fourth Commandment, by which they made the Sabbath a Burthen on Men's Shoulders, which was deſign'd to be the Joy of their Hearts. Thus with Force and Cruelty did thoſe Shepherds rule the Flock, as of old, Ezek. 34. 4.

But ſee their Hypocriſie, they themſelves will not move them with one of their Fingers. (1.) They would not exerciſe themſelves in thoſe things which they impos'd upon others; they preſs'd upon the People a Strictneſs in Religion, which they themſelves would not be bound by; but ſecretly tranſgreſs'd their own Traditions, which they publickly inforc'd. They indulged their Pride in giving Law to others, but conſulted their Eaſe in their own Practice. Thus it has been ſaid to the Reproach of the Popiſh Prieſts, that they faſt with Wine and Sweetmeats, while they force the People to faſt with Bread and Water, and decline the Penances they enjoyn the Laity. (2.) They would not eaſe the People in theſe things, not put a Finger to lighten their Burthen, when they ſaw it pinch'd them. They could find out looſe Conſtructions to put upon God's Law, and could diſpence with that, but would not bate an ace of their own Impoſitions, nor diſpenſe with a Failure in the leaſt Punctilio of them. They allow'd no Chancery to relieve the Extremity of their common Law. How contrary to this was the Practice of Chriſt's Apoſtles, who would allow to others that uſe of Chriſtian Liberty, which for the Peace and Edification of the Church they would deny themſelves in. They would lay no other Burthen but neceſſary things, and thoſe eaſie, Acts 15. 28. How carefully doth Paul ſpare thoſe to whom he writes, 1 Cor. 7. 28.—9. 12.

Thirdly, They were all for Shew, and nothing for Subſtance in Religion, v. 5. All their Works they do to be ſeen of Men. We muſt do ſuch good Works, that they who ſee them may glorifie God; but we muſt not proclaim our good Works, with deſign that others may ſee them, and glorifie us; which our Saviour here chargeth upon the Phariſees in general, as he had done before in the particular Inſtances of Prayer, and giving of Alms. All their End was to be praiſed of Men, and therefore all their Endeavour was to be ſeen of Men, to make a fair ſhew in the Fleſh. In thoſe Duties of Religion, which fall under the Eye of Men, none ſo conſtant and abundant as they; but in what lies between God and their Souls, in the Retirements of their Cloſets, and the Receſſes of their Hearts, they deſire to be excus'd. The Form of Godlineſs will get them a Name to live, which is all they aim at, and therefore trouble not themſelves with the Power of it, which is eſſential to a Life indeed. He that doth all to be ſeen, doth nothing to the purpoſe.

He inſtanceth two things, which they did to be ſeen of Men.

1. They make broad their Phylacteries. Thoſe were little Scrolls of Paper, or Parchment, wherein were written, with great Niceneſs, theſe four Paragraphs of the Law, Exod. 13. 2, to v. 11. Exod. 13. 11,—16. Deut. 6. 4,—9. Deut. 11. 13,—21. Theſe were ſown up in Leather, and worn upon their Foreheads, and left Arms; 'twas a Tradition of the Elders, which had reference to Exod. 13. 9. and Prov. 7. 3. where the Expreſſions ſeem to be Figurative, intimating no more, but that we ſhould bear the things of God in our Minds as carefully, as if we had them bound between our Eyes. Now the Phariſees made broad theſe Phylacteries, that they might be thought more holy, and ſtrict, and zealous for the Law than others. 'Tis a gracious Ambition to covet to be really more holy than others; but it is a proud Ambition to covet to appear ſo. 'Tis good to excel in real Piety, but not to exceed in outward Shews, for over-doing is juſtly ſuſpected of Deſign, Prov. 27. 14. 'Tis the Guiſe of Hypocriſie to make more ado than needs in external Services, more than is needful, either to prove, or to improve the good Affections and Diſpoſitions of the Soul.

2. They enlarged the Borders of their Garments. God appointed the Jews to make Borders, or Fringes upon their Garments, Num. 15. 38. to diſtinguiſh them from other Nations, and to be a Memorandum to them of their being a peculiar People; but the Phariſees were not content to have theſe Borders like other Peoples, which might ſerve God's Deſign in appointing them: But they muſt be larger than ordinary, to anſwer their Deſign of making themſelves to be taken notice of, as if they were more Religious than others. But thoſe who thus inlarge their Phylacteries, and the Borders of their Garments, while their Hearts are ſtraitned, and deſtitute of the Love of God and their Neighbour; tho' they may now deceive others, will in the end deceive themſelves.

Fourthly, They much affected Preheminence and Superiority, and prided themſelves extremely in it. Pride was the darling, reigning Sin of the Phariſees, the Sin that did moſt eaſily beſet them, and which our Lord Jeſus takes all Occaſions to witneſs againſt.

1. He deſcribes their Pride, v. 6, 7. They courted and coveted,

(1.) Places of Honour and Reſpect. In all publick Appearances, as at Feaſts, and in the Synagogues, they expected, and had to their Hearts Delight, the uppermoſt Rooms, and the chief Seats. They took place of all others, and Precedency was adjudg'd to them as Perſons of the greateſt Note, and Merit; and 'tis eaſie to imagine what a Complacency they took in it; they loved to have the Preheminence, 3 John 9. It is not poſſeſſing the uppermoſt Rooms, nor ſitting in the chief Seats that is condemn'd, (ſome body muſt ſit uppermoſt) but loving them, for Men to value ſuch a little piece of Ceremony as ſitting higheſt, going firſt, taking the Wall, or the better Hand, and to value themſelves by it, and ſeek it, and reſent it, if they have it not; what is that but making an Idol of our ſelves, and then falling down and Worſhipping it? the worſt kind of Idolatry. 'Tis bad any where, but eſpecially in the Synagogues. There to ſeek Honour to our ſelves, where we come to give Glory to God, and to humble our ſelves before him, is indeed to mock God inſtead of ſerving him. David would willingly lie at the Threſhold in God's Houſe; ſo far was he from coveting the chief Seat there, Pſal. 84. 10. It ſavours much of Pride and Hypocriſie, when People do not care for going to Church, unleſs they could look fine, and make a Figure there.

(2.) Titles of Honour and Reſpect. They lov'd Greetings in the Markets, lov'd to have People put off their Hats to them, and ſhew them Reſpect when they met them in the Streets; O how it pleas'd them, and fed a vain Humour, digito monſtrari & dicier, hic eſt, to have way made for them in the Crowd of Market-people, ſtand off, here's a Phariſee coming, and to be complemented with the high and pompous Title of Rabbi, Rabbi; this was Meat, and Drink, and Dainties to them, and they took as great a Satisfaction in it as Nebuchadnezzar did in his Palace, when he ſaid, Is not this great Babylon that I have built? The Greetings would not have done them half ſo much good, if they had not been in the Markets, where every body might ſee how much they were reſpected, and how high they ſtood in the Opinion of the People. It was but a little before Chriſt's Time that the Jewiſh Teachers, the Maſters of Iſrael, had aſſum'd the Titles of Rabbi, Rab, and Rabban, which ſignifies Great, or Much, and was conſtrued as Doctor, or my Lord: And they laid ſuch a ſtreſs upon it, that they gave it for a Maxim, That he who ſaluteth his Teacher, and doth not call him Rabbi, provokes the Divine Majeſty to depart from Iſrael; ſo much Religion did they place in that which was but a piece of good Manners. For him that is taught in the Word, to give Reſpect to him that teacheth, is commendable enough in him that gives it; but for him that teacheth to love it, and demand it, and affect it, to be puffed up with it, and to be diſpleas'd if it be omitted, is ſinful and abominable, and inſtead of teaching, he has need himſelf to learn the firſt Leſſon in the School of Chriſt, which is Humility.

2. He cautions his Diſciples againſt being herein like them. Herein they muſt not do after their Works. But be not ye called ſo, for ye ſhall not be of ſuch a Spirit, v. 8, &c.

Here's 1. A Prohibition of Pride. They are here forbidden,

(1.) To challenge Titles of Honour and Dominion to themſelves, v. 8, 10. 'tis repeated twice, Be not called Rabbi, neither be ye called Maſter, or Guide, not that it is unlawful to give civil Reſpect to thoſe that are over us in the Lord; nay, it is an Inſtance of that Honour and Eſteem of them, which is our Duty. But (1.) Chriſt's Miniſters muſt not affect the Name of Rabbi, or Maſter, by way of Diſtinction from other People; 'tis not agreeable to the Simplicity of the Goſpel, for them to covet or accept the Honour which they have that are in Kings Palaces. (2) They muſt not aſſume the Authority and Dominion that is implied in thoſe Names; they muſt not be magiſterial, nor domineer over their Brethren, or over God's Heritage, as if they had Dominion over the Faith of Chriſtians: What they received of the Lord, all muſt receive from them, but in other things they muſt not make their Opinions and Wills a Rule and Standard to all other People; to be admitted with an implicit Faith, and ſubmitted to with an implicit Obedience. The Reaſons for this Prohibition are,

1. One is your Maſter, even Chriſt, v. 8. And again, v. 10. Note, 1. Chriſt is our Maſter, our Teacher, our Guide. Mr. George Herbert, when he named the Name of Chriſt, uſually added, My Maſter. (2.) Chriſt only is our Maſter; Miniſters are but Uſhers in the School, Chriſt only is the Maſter, that great Prophet, whom we muſt hear, and be rul'd and over-rul'd by, whoſe Word muſt be an Oracle and a Law to us; verily I ſay unto you, muſt be enough to us: And if he only be our Maſter, then for his Miniſters to ſet up for Dictators, and to pretend to a Supremacy, and an Infallibility, is a daring Uſurpation of that Honour of Chriſt, which he will not give to another.

2. All ye are Brethren. Miniſters are not only Brethren to one another, but to the People, and therefore it ill becomes them to be Maſters, when there are none for them to maſter it over but their Brethren; yea, and we are all younger Brethren, otherwiſe the eldeſt might claim an excellency of Dignity and Power, Gen. 49. 3. But to preclude that Chriſt himſelf is the firſt born among many Brethren, Rom. 8. 29. Ye are Brethren, as ye are all Diſciples of the ſame Maſter: School-Fellows are Brethren, and as ſuch ſhould help one another in getting their Leſſon, but it will by no means be allow'd that one of the Scholars ſtep into the Maſter's Seat, and give Law to the School. If we are all Brethren, we muſt not be many Maſters, Jam. 3. 1.

(2.) They are forbidden to aſcribe ſuch Titles to others, v. 9. Call no man your Father upon Earth: Conſtitute no Man the Father of your Religion, that is, the Founder, Author, Director, and Governour of it. The Fathers of our Fleſh muſt be call'd Fathers, and as ſuch we muſt give them Reverence, but God only muſt be owned as the Father of our Spirits, Heb. 12. 9. Our Religion muſt not be derived from, or made to depend upon any Man. We are born again to the Spiritual and Divine Life, not of corruptible Seed, but by the Word of God; not of the Will of the Fleſh, nor of the Will of Man, but of God. Now the Will of Man not being the Riſe of our Religion, muſt not be the Rule of it: We muſt not jurare in verba Magiſtri; not ſwear to the Dictates of any Creature, not the wiſeſt or beſt, nor pin our Faith on any Man's Sleeve, becauſe we know not whither he will carry it. St. Paul calls himſelf a Father to thoſe whoſe Converſion he had been an Inſtrument of, 1 Cor. 4. 10. Philem. 10. but he pretends to no Dominion over them, and uſeth that Title to note not Authority but Affections; therefore he calls them not his obliged, but his beloved Sons, 1 Cor. 4. 14.

The Reaſon given is, One is your Father which is in Heaven: God is our Father, and is all in all in our Religion. He is the Fountain of it, and its Founder; the Life of it, and its Lord; from whom alone, as the Original, our Spiritual Life is deriv'd, and on whom it doth depend. He is the Father of all Lights, Jam. 1. 17. that one Father, from whom are all things, and we in him, Eph. 4. 6. Chriſt having taught us to ſay, Our Father which art in Heaven; let us call no Man Father upon Earth; no Man, becauſe Man is a Worm, and the Son of Man is a Worm, hewn out of the ſame Rock with us, eſpecially not upon Earth, for Man upon Earth is a ſinful Worm; there is not a juſt Man upon Earth that doth Good and ſins not, and therefore not fit to be called Father.

2. Here's a Precept of Humility and mutual Subjection, v. 11. He that is greateſt among you ſhall be your Servant, not only call himſelf ſo; we know of one that ſtyles himſelf Servus Servorum Dei, but acts as Rabbi, and Father, and Maſter, and Dominus Deus noſter, and what not; but he ſhall be ſo: Take it as a Promiſe, he ſhall be accounted greateſt, and ſtand higheſt in the Favour of God, that is moſt ſubmiſſive and ſerviceable; or as a Precept, he that is advanc'd to any Place of Dignity, Truſt and Honour in the Church, let him be your Servant (ſome Copies read ἔςω for ἔςαι.) Let him not think that his Patent of Honour is a Writ of Eaſe; no, he that is greateſt is not a Lord but a Miniſter. St. Paul, who knew his Priviledge as well as Duty, tho' free from all, yet made himſelf Servant of all, 1 Cor. 9. 19. And our Maſter frequently preſs'd it upon his Diſciples to be humble and ſelf-denying, mild and condeſcending, and to abound in all Offices of Chriſtian Love, tho' mean, and to the meaneſt, and of this hath ſet us an Example.

3. Here's a good Reaſon for all this, v. 12. Conſider,

1. The Puniſhment intended for the Proud: Whoſoever ſhall exalt himſelf ſhall be abaſed. If God give them Repentance, they will be abaſed in their own Eyes, and will abhor themſelves for it; if they repent not ſooner or later, they will be abaſed before the World. Nebuchadnezzar in the height of his Pride, was turn'd to be a Fellow-Commoner with the Beaſts; Herod to be a Feaſt for the Worms, and Babylon, that ſate as a Queen, to be the Scorn of Nations. God made the proud and aſpiring Prieſts contemptible and baſe, Mal. 2. 9. and the lying Prophet to be the Tail, Iſa. 9. 15. But if proud Men have not Marks of Humiliation ſet upon them in this World, there is a Day coming when they ſhall riſe to everlaſting Shame and Contempt, Dan. 12. 2. ſo plentifully will he reward the proud Doer, Pſal. 31. 23.

2. The Preferment intended for the Humble; he that ſhall humble himſelf ſhall be exalted: Humility is that Ornament which is in the ſight of God of great Price. In this World the Humble have their Honour of being accepted with the Holy God, and reſpected by all wiſe and good Men, of being qualified for, and oft call'd out to moſt honourable Services; for Honour is like the Shadow, which flees from thoſe that purſue it, and graſp at it, but follows thoſe that flee from it. However in the other World, they that have humbled themſelves in Contrition for their Sin, in compliance with their God, and in condeſcention to their Brethren, ſhall be exalted to inherit the Throne of Glory; ſhall be not only own'd, but crown'd before Angels and Men.

13 But wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye ſhut up the kingdom of heaven againſt men; for ye neither go in your ſelves, neither ſuffer ye them that are entring to go in. 14 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye devour widows houſes, and for a pretence make long prayer; therefore ye ſhall receive the greater damnation. 15 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye compaſs ſea and land to make one proſelyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell then your ſelves. 16 Wo unto you, ye blind guides, which ſay, Whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the temple, it is nothing: but whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the gold of the temple, he is a debter. 17 Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that ſanctifieth the gold? 18 And whoſoever ſhall ſwear by the altar, it is nothing: but whoſoever ſweareth by the gift that is upon it, he is guilty. 19 Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or the altar that ſanctifieth the gift? 20 Whoſo therefore ſhall ſwear by the altar, ſweareth by it, and by all things thereon. 21 And whoſo ſhall ſwear by the temple, ſweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein. 22 And he that ſhall ſwear by heaven, ſweareth by the throne of God, and by him that ſitteth thereon. 23 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye pay tithe of mint, and aniſe, and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith: theſe ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. 24 Ye blind guides, which ſtrain at a gnat, and ſwallow a camel. 25 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye make clean the outſide of the cup, and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and exceſs. 26 Thou blind Phariſee, cleanſe firſt that which is within the cup and platter, that the outſide of them may be clean alſo. 27 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; for ye are like unto whited ſepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and of all uncleanneſs. 28 Even ſo ye alſo outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocriſie and iniquity. 29 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites; becauſe ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garniſh the ſepulchres of the righteous: 30 And ſay, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets. 31 Wherefore ye be witneſſes unto your ſelves, that ye are the children of them which killed the prophets. 32 Fill ye up then the meaſure of your fathers. 33 Ye ſerpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye eſcape the damnation of hell?

In theſe Verſes we have eight Woes levell'd directly againſt the Scribes and Phariſees by our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, like ſo many claps of Thunder, or Flaſhes of Lightning from Mount Sinai: Three Woes are made to look very dreadful, Rev. 8. 13—9. 10. But here are eight Woes in oppoſition to the eight Beatitudes, Mat. 5. 3. The Goſpel has its Woes as well as the Law, and Goſpel-Curſes are of all other the heavieſt. Theſe Woes are the more remarkable, not only becauſe of the Authority, but becauſe of the meekneſs and gentleneſs of him that denounced them. He came to bleſs, and lov'd to bleſs, but if his Wrath be kindled, to be ſure there's cauſe for it; and who ſhall intreat for him that the great Interceſſor pleads againſt? A Woe from Chriſt is a remedileſs Woe.

This is here the Burthen of the Song, and it is a heavy Burthen; Woe unto you Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites. Note, (1.) The Scribes and Phariſees were Hypocrites; that's it, in which all the reſt of their ill Characters are ſum'd up: 'Twas the Leaven which gave the reliſh to all they ſaid and did. An Hypocrite is a Stage-player in Religion; that's the primary Signification of the Word, he perſonates or acts the part of one that he neither is nor may be, or perhaps that he neither is nor would be. (2.) That Hypocrites are in a woful State and Condition. Woe to Hypocrites, ſo he ſaid, whoſe ſaying their Caſe is miſerable makes it ſo; while they live their Religion is vain, when they dye their Ruin is great.

Now each of theſe Woes againſt the Scribes and Phariſees has a Reaſon annex'd to it, containing a ſeveral Crime charg'd upon them, proving their Hypocriſy, and juſtifying the Judgment of Chriſt upon them; for his Woes, his Curſes are never cauſeleſs

Firſt, They were ſworn Enemies to the Goſpel of Chriſt, and conſequently to the Salvation of the Souls of Men, v. 13. They ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men, i. e. they did all they could to keep People from believing in Chriſt, and ſo entring into his Kingdom. Chriſt came to open the Kingdom of Heaven, that is, to lay open for us a new and living way into it, to bring Men to be Subjects of that Kingdom. Now the Scribes and Phariſees who ſate in Moſes's Seat, and pretended to the Key of Knowledge, ought to have contributed their Aſſiſtance herein, by opening thoſe Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which pointed at the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, in their true proper Senſe; they that undertook to expound Moſes and the Prophets, ſhould have ſhew'd the People how they teſtified of Chriſt; that Daniel's Weeks were expiring, the Scepter was departed from Judah, and therefore now was the time for the Meſſiah's appearing. Thus they might have facilitated that great Work, and have help'd thouſands to Heaven, but inſtead of this they ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven; they made it their Buſineſs to preſs the Ceremonial Law, which was now in the vaniſhing, and to ſuppreſs the Prophecies, which were now in the accompliſhing, and to beget and nouriſh up in the Minds of the People Prejudices againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine.

1. They would not go in themſelves; Have any of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees believed on him? Joh. 7 48. No, they were too proud to ſtoop to his Meanneſs, too formal to be reconciled to his Plainneſs; they did not like a Religion which inſiſted ſo much on Humility, Self-denial, Contempt of the World, and Spiritual Worſhip. Repentance was the Door of admiſſion into his Kingdom; and nothing could be more diſagreeable to the Phariſees, that juſtified themſelves, and admired themſelves, than to repent, that is, to accuſe, and abaſe and abhor themſelves: Therefore they went not in themſelves; but that was not all.

2. They would not ſuffer them that were entring to go in. 'Tis bad to keep away from Chriſt our ſelves, but it is worſe to keep others from him; yet that's commonly the way of Hypocrites, they do not love that any ſhould go beyond them in Religion, or be better than they. Their not going in themſelves was a hindrance to many; for having ſo great an Intereſt in the People, Multitudes rejected the Goſpel, only becauſe their Leaders did; but beſides that they oppos'd both Chriſt's entertaining of Sinners, Luke 7. 39. and Sinners entertaining of Chriſt; They perverted his Doctrine, confronted his Miracles, quarrell'd with his Diſciples, and repreſented him and his Inſtitutes and Oeconomy to the People in the moſt diſingenuous, diſadvantageous manner imaginable; they thundered out their Excommunications againſt thoſe that confeſs'd him, and us'd all their Wit and Power to ſerve their Malice againſt him: And thus they ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven; ſo that they who would enter into it muſt ſuffer Violence. Matt. 11. 12 and preſs into it, (Luke 16. 16.) through a Croud of Scribes and Phariſees, and all the Obſtructions and Difficulties they could contrive to lay in their way. How well is it for us that our Salvation is not intruſted in the Hands of any Man, or Company of Men in the World; if it were, we were undone: They that ſhut out of the Church, would ſhut out of Heaven, if they could, but the Malice of Men cannot make the Promiſe of God to his Choſen of none Effect, Bleſſed be God it cannot.

Secondly, They made Religion and the form of Godlineſs a Cloke and Stalking-horſe to their covetous Practices and Deſires, v. 14. Obſerve here,

1. What their wicked Practices were; they devour'd Widows Houſes, either by quartering themſelves and their Attendants upon them, for Entertainment, which muſt be of the beſt, for Men of their Figure, or by inſinuating themſelves into their Affections, and ſo getting to be the Truſtees of their Eſtates, which they could make an eaſy Prey of, for who could preſume to call ſuch as they were to an Account? The thing they aim'd at was to enrich themſelves, and this being their chief and higheſt End, all Conſideration of Juſtice and Equity were laid aſide, and even Widow's Houſes were ſacrificed to this. Widows are of its weaker Sex, in the weakeſt State, eaſily impos'd upon, and therefore they faſten'd on them to make a Prey of: They devour'd, thoſe, whom by the Law of God they were particularly obliged to protect, patronize, and relieve. There's a Woe in the Old Teſtament to thoſe that made Widows their Prey, Iſa. 10. 1, 2. and Chriſt here ſeconded it with his Woe. God is the Judge of the Widows, they are his peculiar Care, he eſtabliſheth their Border, Prov. 15. 25. and eſpouſeth their Cauſe, Exod. 22. 22, 23. yet theſe were they whoſe Houſes the Phariſees devour'd by wholeſale; ſo greedy were they to get their Bellies filled with the Treaſures of Wickedneſs: Their devouring notes not only Covetouſneſs, but Cruelty in their Oppreſſion, deſcrib'd Mic. 3. 3. They eat the Fleſh, and flay the Skin: and doubtleſs they did all this under Colour of Law, for they did it ſo artifully, that it paſſed uncenſur'd, and did not at all leſſen the People's Veneration for them.

2. What was the Cloke with which they cover'd this wicked Practice? For a Pretence they made long Prayers, very long indeed, if it be true, which ſome of the Jewiſh Writers tell us, that they ſpent three Hours at a time in the Formalities of Meditation and Prayer, and did it thrice every Day, which is more than an upright Soul, that makes Conſcience of being inward with God in the Duty, dares pretend ordinarily to do; but to the Phariſees it was eaſy enough, who never made a Buſineſs of the Duty, and always made a Trade of the outſide of it: By this Craft they got their Wealth, and maintain'd their Grandeur. It is not probable that theſe long Prayers were Extemporary, for then (as Mr. Baxter obſerves) the Phariſees had much more of the Gift of Prayer than Chriſt's Diſciples had, but rather that they were ſtated Forms of Words in uſe among them, which they ſaid over by Tale, as the Papiſts drop their Beads. Chriſt doth not here condemn long Prayers, as in themſelves hypocritical; nay, if there were not a great appearance of Good in them, they would not have been us'd for a Pretence, and the Cloke muſt be very thick, which was us'd to cover ſuch wicked Practices. Chriſt himſelf continued all Night in Prayer to God, and we are commanded to pray without ceaſing too ſoon; where there are many Sins to be confeſs'd, and many Wants to pray for the ſupply of, and many Mercies to give Thanks for, there is occaſion for long Prayers; but the Phariſees long Prayers were made up of vain Repetitions, and which was the End of them, they were for a Pretence. By them they got the Reputation of pious devout Men, that lov'd Prayer, and were the Favourites of Heaven; and by this Means People were made to believe it was not poſſible ſuch Men as they ſhould cheat them, and therefore happy the Widow that could get a Phariſee for her Truſtee and Guardian to her Children. Thus while they ſeem'd to ſoar Heavenwards upon the Wings of Prayer, their Eye, like the Kites, was all the while upon their Prey on Earth, ſome Widow's Houſe or other that lay convenient for them. Thus Circumciſion was the Cloke of the Shechemites Covetouſneſs, Gen. 34. 22, 23. and the payment of a Vow in Hebron, the Cover of Abſalom's Rebellion, 2 Sam. 15. 7. and a Faſt in Jezreel muſt patronize Naboth's Murther, and the Extirpation of Baal, is the Foot-ſtool of Jehu's Ambition. Popiſh Prieſts under pretence of long Prayers for the Dead, Maſſes, and Dirgees, and I know not what Stuff, enrich themſelves, by devouring the Houſes of the Widows and Fatherleſs. Note, It is no new thing for the ſhew and form of Godlineſs to be made a Cloke to the greateſt Enormities. But diſſembled Piety, however it paſſeth now, will be reckon'd for as double Iniquity in the Day when God ſhall judge the Secrets of Men.

3. The Doom paſt upon them for this; Therefore ye ſhall receive the greater Damnation. Note, 1. There are degrees of Damnation: there are ſome whoſe Sin being more inexcuſable, their Ruin will be more intollerable. 2. The Pretences of Religion, which Hypocrites uſe to diſguiſe or excuſe their Sin now, will aggravate their Condemnation ſhortly. Such is the deceitfulneſs of Sin, that that very thing, by which Sinners hope to expiate and attone for their Sins, will come againſt them, and make their Sins more exceeding ſinful: But 'tis ſad for the Criminal, when his Defence proves his Offence, and his Plea, we have propheſied in thy Name, and in thy Name made long Prayers, heightens the Charge againſt him.

Thirdly, While they were ſuch Enemies to the Converſion of Souls to Chriſtianity, they were very induſtrious in the Perverſion of them to their Faction. They ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven againſt thoſe that would turn to Chriſt, but at the ſame time compaſſed Sea and Land to make Proſelytes to themſelves, v. 15. Obſerve here,

1. Their commendable Induſtry in making Proſelytes to the Jewiſh Religion, not only Proſelytes of the Gate, who oblig'd themſelves to no more but the Obſervance of the ſeven Precepts of the Sons of Noah, but Proſelytes of Righteouſneſs, who addicted themſelves wholly to all the Rites of the Jewiſh Religion, for that was the Game they flew at; for this, for one ſuch, tho' but one, they compaſs Sea and Land, had many a cunning Reach, and laid many a Plot, rid, and run, and ſent, and wrote, and labour'd unweariedly; and what did they aim at? Not the Glory of God and the Good of Souls, but that they might have the Credit of making them Proſelytes, and the Advantage of making a Prey of them, when they were made. Note, 1. The making of Proſelytes, if it be to the Truth, and ſerious Godlineſs, and be done with a good Deſign, is a good Work, well worthy of the utmoſt Care and Pains. Such is the value of Souls, that nothing muſt be thought too much to do to ſave a Soul from Death. The Induſtry of the Phariſees herein may ſhew the Negligence of many, who would be thought to act from better Principles, but will be at no Pains or Coſt to propagate the Goſpel. 2. To make a Proſelyte, Sea and Land muſt be compaſſed; all Ways and Means muſt be try'd, firſt one way, and then another muſt be try'd, all little enough, but all well paid, if the point be gain'd. 3. Carnal Hearts ſeldom ſtick at Pains to carry on their Carnal Purpoſes: When a Proſelyte is to be made to ſerve a Turn for themſelves, they will compaſs Sea and Land to make him, rather than be balk'd.

2. Their curſed Impiety in abuſing their Proſelytes when they were made, ye make him the Diſciple of a Phariſee preſently, and he ſucks in all their Notions, and ſo ye make him twofold more the Child of Hell than yourſelves. Note, (1.) Hypocrites, while they fancy themſelves Heirs of Heaven, are in the Judgment of Chriſt the Children of Hell. The Riſe of their Hypocriſy is from Hell, for the Devil is the Father of Lies, and the Tendency of their Hypocriſy is towards Hell; that's the Country they belong to, the Inheritance they are Heirs to; they are call'd Children of Hell, becauſe of their rooted Enmity to the Kingdom of Heaven, which was the Principle and Genius of Phariſaiſm. (2.) Tho' all that maliciouſly oppoſe the Goſpel are Children of Hell, yet ſome are twofold more ſo than others, more furious and bigotted and malignant. (3.) Perverted Proſelytes are commonly the greateſt Bigots: The Scholars outdid their Maſters; (1.) In Fondneſs of Ceremony; the Phariſees themſelves ſaw the Folly of their own Impoſitions, and in their Hearts ſmil'd at the obſequiouſneſs of thoſe that conform'd to them, but their Proſelytes were eager for them. Note, Weak Heads commonly admire thoſe Shews and Ceremonies which wiſe Men (however for publick Ends they countenance them) cannot but think meanly of. (2.) In Fury againſt Chriſtianity; the Proſelytes readily imbibed the Principles which their crafty Leaders were not wanting to poſſeſs them with, and ſo became extream hot againſt the Truth. The moſt bitter Enemies the Apoſtles met with in all Places were the Helleniſt Jews, that were moſtly Proſelytes, Acts 13. 45—14. 2, 19.—17. 5—18. Paul a Diſciple of the Phariſees was exceedingly mad againſt the Chriſtians, Acts 26. 11. when his Maſter Gamaliel ſeems to have been more moderate.

Fourthly, Their ſeeking of their own worldly Gain and Honour, more than God's Glory, put them upon coining falſe and unwarrantable Diſtinctions, with which they led the People into dangerous Miſtakes, particularly in the matter of Oaths; which as an evidence of a univerſal Senſe of Religion, have been by all Nations accounted ſacred, v. 16. Ye blind Guides. Note, (1.) It is ſad to think how many are under the guidance of ſuch as are themſelves blind; who undertake to ſhew others that way which they are themſelves willingly ignorant of. His Watchmen are blind, Iſa. 56. 10. and too often the People love to have it ſo, and ſay to the Seers, ſee not. But the Caſe is bad when the Leaders of the People cauſe them to err, Iſa 9. 16. (2.) Tho' the condition of thoſe whoſe Guides are blind is very ſad, yet that of the blind Guides themſelves is yet more woful. Chriſt denounceth a Woe to the blind Guides, that have the Blood of ſo many Souls to anſwer for.

Now to prove their Blindneſs, he inſtanceth in the matter of Swearing, and ſhews what corrupt Caſuiſts they were.

1. He lays down the Doctrine they taught.

(1.) They allow'd Swearing by Creatures, provided they were conſecrated to the Service of God, and ſtood in any ſpecial Relation to him. They allow'd Swearing by the Temple, and the Altar, tho' they were the Work of Men's Hands, intended to be the Servants of God's Honour, not ſharers in it. An Oath is an Appeal to God, to his Omniſcience and Juſtice, and to make this Appeal to any Creature, is to put that Creature into the Place of God. See Deut. 6. 13.

(2.) They diſtinguiſhed between an Oath by the Temple, and an Oath by the Gold of the Temple, an Oath by the Altar, and by the Gift upon the Altar, making the latter binding, but not the former. Here was a double Wickedneſs: (1.) That there were ſome Oaths which they diſpens'd with, and made light of, and reckon'd a Man was not bound by, to aſſert the Truth, or perform a Promiſe. They ought not to have ſworn by the Temple or the Altar, but when they had ſo ſworn, they were taken in the Words of their Mouth; that Doctrine cannot be of the God of Truth, which gives Countenance to the Breach of Faith in any Caſe whatſoever. Oaths are Edge-Tools, and are not to be jeſted with. (2.) That they preferr'd the Gold before the Temple, and the Gift before the Altar, to encourage People to bring Gifts to the Altar, and Gold to the Treaſurers of the Temple, which they hoped to be Gainers by. They who had made Gold their Hope, and whoſe Eyes were blinded by Gifts in ſecret, were great Friends to the Corban; and Gain being their Godlineſs, by a thouſand Artifices they made Religion truckle to their worldly Intereſts. Corrupt Church-Guides make things to be Sin, or no Sin, as it ſerves their Purpoſes, and lay a much greater ſtreſs on that which concerns their own Gain, than that which is for God's Glory, and the Good of Souls.

2. He ſhews the Folly and Abſurdity of this Diſtinction, v. 17, 19. Ye Fools and Blind: 'Twas in the way of a neceſſary Reproof, not an angry Reproach, that Chriſt call'd them Fools. Let it ſuffice us from the Word of Wiſdom, to ſhew the Folly of ſinful Opinions and Practices, but for the faſtening of the Character upon particular Perſons, leave that to Chriſt, who knows what is in Man, and hath forbidden us to ſay, Thou Fool.

To convict them of Folly, he appeals to themſelves, Whether is greater, the Gold, (the golden Veſſels and Ornaments, or the Gold in the Treaſury) or the Temple that ſanctifies the Gold? The Gift, or the Altar that ſanctifies the Gift? Any one will own, Propter quod aliquid eſt tale, id eſt magis tale; They that ſwear by the Gold of the Temple had an Eye to it as Holy; but what was it that made it Holy, but the Holineſs of the Temple, to the Service to which it was appropriated? And therefore the Temple cannot be leſs Holy than the Gold, but muſt be more ſo; for the leſs is bleſſed, and ſanctified of the better, Heb. 7. 7. The Temple and Altar were dedicated to God fixedly, the Gold and Gift but ſecondarily. Chriſt is our Altar, Heb. 13. 10. our Temple, Joh. 2. 21. for 'tis he that ſanctifies all our Gifts, and puts an acceptableneſs in them, 1 Pet. 2. 5. Thoſe that put their own Works into the Place of Chriſt's Righteouſneſs, in Juſtification, are guilty of the Phariſees Abſurdity, that preferr'd the Gift before the Altar. Every true Chriſtian is a living Temple, and by Vertue thereof common things are ſanctified to him, unto the Pure all things are Pure, Tit. 1. 15. and the unbelieving Husband is ſanctified by the believing Wife, 1. Cor. 7. 14.

3. He rectifies the Miſtake, v 20, 21, 22. by reducing all thoſe Oaths they had invented to the true Intent of an Oath, which is, By the Name of the Lord; ſo that tho' an Oath by the Temple, or the Altar, or Heaven, be formally bad, yet they are binding; Quod fieri non debuit factum valet. A Man ſhall never take advantage of his own Fault.

(1.) He that ſwears by the Altar, let him not think to ſhake off the Obligation of it, by ſaying, the Altar is but Wood, and Stone, and Braſs, for his Oath ſhall be conſtrued moſt ſtrongly againſt himſelf, becauſe he was culpable, and ſo as that the Obligation of it may be preſerv'd, ut res potius valeat quàm pereat. And therefore an Oath by the Altar ſhall be interpreted by it, and by all things thereon; for the Appurtenances paſs with the Principal: And the things thereon being offer'd up to God, to ſwear by it and them, was in effect to call God himſelf to witneſs; for it was the Altar of God, and he that went to that, went to God, Pſal. 43 4.—26. 6.

(2.) He that ſwears by the Temple, if he underſtand what he doth, cannot but apprehend that the Ground of ſuch a Reſpect to it is, not becauſe it is a fine Houſe, but becauſe it is the Houſe of God, dedicated to his Service, the Place which he hath choſen to put his Name there; and therefore he ſwears by it, and by him that dwelleth therein; there he was pleaſed in a peculiar manner to manifeſt himſelf, and give Tokens of his Preſence; ſo that whoſo ſwear by it, ſwear by him, who had ſaid, This is my Reſt, here will I dwell. Good Chriſtians are God's Temples, and the Spirit of God dwells in them, 1 Cor. 3. 16.—6. 19. and God takes what's done to them as done to himſelf; he that grieves a gracious Soul, grieves it, and the Spirit that dwells in it, Eph. 4. 30.

(3.) If a Man ſwear by Heaven, he ſins, Matt. 5. 34. yet he ſhall not therefore be diſcharg'd from the Obligation of his Oath; no, God will make him know that the Heaven he ſwears by is his Throne, Iſa. 66. 1. and he that ſwears by the Throne, appeals to him that ſits upon it; who as he repreſents the Affront done to him, in the form of the Oath, ſo he will certainly revenge the greater Affront done to him by the Violation of it. Chriſt will not countenance the Evaſion of a ſolemn Oath, tho' never ſo plauſible.

Fifthly, They were very ſtrict and preciſe in the ſmaller Matters of the Law, but as careleſs and looſe in the weightier Matters, v. 23, 24. They were partial in the Law, Mal. 2. 9. would pick and chooſe their Duty, according as they were intereſted, or ſtood affected. Sincere Obedience is univerſal, and he that from a right Principle obeys any of God's Precepts, will have reſpect to them all, Pſal. 119. 6. But Hypocrites, who act in Religion for themſelves, and not for God, will do no more in Religion than they can ſerve a turn by for themſelves. The Partiality of the Scribes and Phariſees appears here in two Inſtances.

1. They obſerved ſmaller Duties, but omitted greater; they were very exact in paying Tythes, till it came to Mint, Anniſe, and Cummin, their exactneſs in tything of which, would not coſt them much, but would be cry'd up, and they ſhould buy Reputation pretty cheap. The Phariſee boaſted of this; I give Tythes of all that I poſſeſs, Luk. 18. 12. But 'tis likely they had Ends of their own to ſerve, and would find their own Account in it; for the Prieſts and Levites, to whom the Tythes were paid, were in their Intereſts, and knew how to return their Kindneſs. Paying Tythes was their Duty, and what the Law requir'd, Chriſt tells them, they ought not to leave it undone. Note, All ought in their Places to contribute to the Support and Maintenance of a ſtanding Miniſtry: With-holding Tythes is call'd robbing God, Mal. 3. 8, 9, 10. They that are taught in the Word, and do not communicate to them that teach them, that love a cheap Goſpel, come ſhort of the Phariſees.

But that which Chriſt here condemns them for is, that they omitted the weightier Matters of the Law, Judgmeut, Mercy and Faith; and their niceneſs in paying Tythes was, if not to attone God, yet at leaſt to excuſe, and palliate to Men the omiſſion of thoſe. All the Things of God's Law are weighty, but thoſe are moſt weighty which are moſt expreſſive of inward Holineſs in the Heart, the Inſtances of Self-denial, Contempt of the World, and Reſignation to God, in which lies the Life of Religion. Judgment and Mercy towards Men, and Faith towards God, are the weighty Matters of the Law, the good things which the Lord our God requires, Mic. 6. 8. to do juſtly, and love Mercy, and humble our ſelves by Faith, to walk with God. This is the Obedience which is better than Sacrifice or Tythe; Judgment is preferr'd before Sacrifice, Iſa. 1. 11. To be juſt to the Prieſts in their Tythes, and ye to cheat and defraud every body elſe, is but to mock God, and deceive our ſelves. Mercy alſo is preferr'd before Sacrifice, Hoſ. 6. 6. To feed thoſe who made themſelves fat with the Offerings of the Lord, and at the ſame time to ſhut up the Bowels of Compaſſion from a Brother or a Siſter, that is naked and deſtitute of daily Food, to pay Tythe-Mint to the Prieſt, and to deny a Crumb to Lazarus, is to lie open to that Judgment without Mercy, which is awarded to thoſe who pretended to Judgment, and ſhew'd no Mercy; nor will Judgment and Mercy ſerve without Faith in Divine Revelation; for God will be honour'd in his Truths as well as in his Laws.

2. They avoided leſſer Sins, but committed greater, v. 24. Ye blind Guides; ſo he had call'd them before, v. 16. for their corrupt teaching, here he calls them ſo for their corrupt living, for their Example was leading as well as their Doctrine; and in this alſo they were blind and partial: They ſtrain'd at a Gnat, and ſwallow'd a Camel. In their Doctrine they ſtrain'd at Gnats, warn'd People againſt every the leaſt Violation of the Tradition of the Elders. In their Practice they ſtrain'd at Gnats, heav'd at them, with a ſeeming Dread, as if they had a great abhorrence of Sin, and were afraid of it in the leaſt Inſtance; but they made no difficulty of thoſe Sins, which, in compariſon with them, were as a Camel to a Gnat; when they devour'd Widows Houſes, they did indeed ſwallow a Camel; when they gave Judas the Price of innocent Blood, and yet ſcrupled to put the return'd Money into the Treaſury, Matt. 27. 6. when they would not go into the Judgment-Hall, for fear of being defiled, and yet would ſtand at the Door, and cry out againſt the Holy Jeſus, Joh. 18. 28. when they quarrel'd with the Diſciples for eating with unwaſhen Hands, and yet for the filling of the Corban, taught People to break the fifth Commandment, they ſtrain'd at Gnats, or leſs things, and yet ſwallow'd Camels. It is not the ſcrupling of a little Sin that Chriſt here reproves, if it be a Sin, tho' but a Gnat, it muſt be ſtrain'd at, but the doing of that, and then ſwallowing a Camel; in the leſſer Matters of the Law to be Superſtitious, and to be profane in the greater, is the Hypocriſy here condemn'd.

Sixthly, They were all for the outſide, and not at all for the inſide of Religion: They were more deſirous and ſollicitous to appear pious to Men, than to approve themſelves ſo towards God. This is illuſtrated by two Similitudes.

1. They are compared to a Veſſel that's clean waſh'd on the outſide, but all Dirt within, v. 25, 26. The Phariſees plac'd Religion in that which at beſt was but a Point of Decency, the waſhing of Cups, Mark 7. 4. They were in care to eat their Meat in clean Cups and Platters, but made no Conſcience of getting their Meat by Extortion and uſing it to Exceſs. Now what a fooliſh thing would it be for a Man to waſh only the outſide of a Cup, which is to be look'd at, and to leave the inſide dirty, which is to be uſ'd; ſo they will only avoid ſcandalous Sins that would ſpoil their Reputation with Men, but allow themſelves in Heart-wickedneſs, which renders them odious to the pure and holy God. In reference to this, Obſerve,

(1) The Practice of the Phariſees, they made clean the out-ſide. In thoſe things which fell under the Obſervation of their Neighbours, they ſeem'd very exact, and carry'd on their wicked Intrigues with ſo much Artifice, that their Wickedneſs was not ſuſpected; People generally took them for very good Men: But within, in the Receſſes of their Hearts, and the cloſe Retirements of their Lives, they were full of Extortion, and Exceſs; of Violence, and Incontinence, ſo Dr. Hammond, that is, of Injuſtice and Intemperance. While they would ſeem to be Godly, they were neither Sober, nor Righteous. Their inward Part was very Wickedneſs, Pſal. 5. 9. and that we are really, that we are inwardly.

(2.) The Rule Chriſt gives in oppoſition to this Practice, v. 26. It is addreſs'd to the blind Phariſees. They thought themſelves the Seers of the Lord, John 9. 40. But Chriſt calls them blind. Note, Thoſe are blind in Chriſt's Account, who (how quick ſighted ſoever they are in other things) are ſtrangers, and no Enemies to the Wickedneſs of their own Hearts, that ſee not, and hate not the ſecret Sin that lodgeth there. Self-Ignorance is the moſt ſhameful and hurtful Ignorance, Rev. 3. 17. The Rule is, Cleanſe firſt that which is within. Note, The principal Care of every one of us ſhould be, to waſh our Hearts from Wickedneſs, Jer. 4. 14. The main Buſineſs of a Chriſtian lies within, to get cleanſed from the Filthineſs of the Spirit. Corrupt Affections and Inclinations, the ſecret Luſts that lurk in the Soul, unſeen, and unobſerv'd; thoſe muſt firſt be mortify'd and ſubdu'd. Thoſe Sins muſt be conſcientiouſly abſtain'd from, which the Eye of God only is a Witneſs to, who ſearcheth the Heart.

Obſerve, The Method preſcrib'd, cleanſe firſt that which is within; not that only, but that firſt; becauſe, if due Care be taken concerning that, the outſide will be clean alſo. External Motives and Inducements may keep the outſide clean, while the inſide is filthy; but if renewing, ſanctifying Grace make clean the inſide, that will have an influence upon the outſide: for the commanding Principle is within. If the Heart be well kept, all is well, for out of it are the Iſſues of Life. The Eruptions will vaniſh of courſe. If the Heart and Spirit be made new, there will be a newneſs of Life; here therefore we muſt begin with our ſelves: firſt cleanſe that which is within; we then make ſure work when this is our firſt work.

2. They are compar'd to whited Sepulchres, v. 27, 28.

1. They were fair without, like Sepulchres, which appear beautiful outward: Some make it to refer to the Cuſtom of the Jews to whiten Graves, only for the notifying of them, eſpecially if they were in unuſal Places, that People might avoid them, becauſe of the Ceremonial Pollution contracted by the touch of a Grave, Numb. 19. 16. And it was part of the Charge of the Overſeers of the High-ways, to repair that Whitening when 'twas decay'd. Sepulchres were thus made remarkable, 2 Kings 23. 16, 17. The Formality of Hypocrites, by which they ſtudy to recommend themſelves to the World, doth but make all wiſe and good Men the more careful to avoid them, for fear of being defil'd by them. Beware of the Scribes, Luke 20. 46. It rather alludes to the Cuſtom of whitening the Sepulchres of eminent Perſons for the beautifying of them: 'Tis ſaid here, v. 29. that they garniſhed the Sepulchres of the Righteous; as 'tis uſual with us to erect Monuments upon the Graves of great Perſons, and to ſtrew Flowers on the Graves of dear Friends: Now the Righteouſneſs of the Scribes and Phariſees, was like the Ornaments of a Grave, or the dreſſing up of a dead Body, only for Shew. The top of their Ambition was to appear Righteous before Men, and to be applauded, and had in admiration by them. But,

2. They were foul within, like Sepulchres, full of dead Men's Bones, and all Uncleanneſs: So vile are our Bodies when the Soul has deſerted them. Thus were they full of Hypocriſie and Iniquity. Hypocriſie is the worſt Iniquity of all other. Note, It is poſſible for thoſe that have their Hearts full of Sin, yet to have their Lives free from Blame, and to appear very good. But what will it avail us to have the good Word of our Fellow-ſervants, if our Maſter do not ſay, Well done? When all other Graves are open'd, theſe whited Sepulchres will be look'd into, and the dead Men's Bones, and all the Uncleanneſs ſhall be brought out, and be ſpread before all the Hoſt of Heaven, Jer. 8. 1, 2. For 'tis the Day when God ſhall judge, not the Shews, but the Secrets of Men. And it will then be ſmall comfort to them, who ſhall have their Portion with Hypocrites, to remember how creditably and plauſibly they went to Hell, applauded by all their Neighbours.

Seventhly, They pretended a deal of Kindneſs for the Memory of the Prophets that were dead and gone, while they Hated, and Perſecuted thoſe that were preſent with them. This is put laſt, becauſe it was the blackeſt part of their Character. God is jealous for his Honour in his Laws and Ordinances, and reſents it, if they be profan'd and abus'd; but he has oft expreſs'd a no leſs jealouſie for his Honour in his Prophets and Miniſters, and reſents it worſe, if they be Wrong'd and Perſecuted: And therefore when our Lord Jeſus comes to this Head, he ſpeaks more fully than upon any of the other, v. 29.---37. for he that toucheth his Miniſters, toucheth his Anointed, and toucheth the Apple of his Eye. Obſerve here,

1. The Reſpect which the Scribes and Phariſees pretended for the Prophets that were gone, v. 29, 30. This was the Varniſh, and that in which they outwardly appear'd Righteous.

(1.) They honour'd the Relicks of the Prophets, they built their Tombs, and garniſhed their Sepulchres: It ſeems the Places of their Burial were known, David's Sepulchre was with them, Acts 2. 29. There was a Title upon the Sepulchre of the Man of God, 2 Kings 23. 17. and Joſiah thought it Reſpect enough not to move his Bones, v. 18. But they would do more, Re-build, and Beautifie them. Now conſider this, (1.) as an Inſtance of Honour done to deceaſed Prophets, who, while they liv'd, were counted as the Off-ſcouring of all things, and had all manner of Evil ſpoken againſt them falſly. Note, God can extort, even from bad Men, an acknowledgment of the Honour of Piety and Holineſs. Them that honour God, he will honour, and ſometimes with thoſe from whom Contempt is expected, 2 Sam. 6. 27. The Memory of the Juſt is bleſſed, when the Names of thoſe that hated and perſecuted them ſhall be cover'd with Shame. The Honour of Conſtancy and Reſolution in the way of Duty, will be a laſting Honour, and thoſe that are manifeſt to God, will be manifeſt in the Conſciences of thoſe about them. (2.) As an Inſtance of the Hypocriſie of the Scribes and Phariſees, who paid their reſpect to them. Note, Carnal People can eaſily honour the Memories of faithful Miniſters that are dead and gone, becauſe they do not reprove them, nor diſturb them in their Sins. Dead Prophets are ſeers, that ſee not, and thoſe they can bear well enough; they do not torment them, as the living Witneſſes do, that bear their Teſtimony, vivâ voce, Rev. 11. 10. They can pay a Reſpect to the Writings of the dead Prophets, which tell them what they ſhould be; but not the Reproofs of the living Prophets, which tell them what they are. Sit Divus, modo non ſit vivus. The extravagant Reſpects which the Church of Rome pays to the Memory of Saints departed, eſpecially the Martyrs, dedicating Days and Places to their Names, enſhrining their Relicks, praying to them, and Offering to their Images, while they make themſelves drunk with the Blood of the Saints of their own Day, is a manifeſt Proof, that they not only ſucceed, but exceed the Scribes and Phariſees in a counterfeit hypocritical Religion, which builds the Prophets Tombs, but hates the Prophets Doctrine.

(2.) They proteſted againſt the Murther of them, v. 30. If we had been in the Days of our Fathers, we would not have been partakers with them. They would never have conſented to the Silencing of Amos, and the Impriſonment of Micajah, to the putting of Hanani in the Stocks, and Jeremiah in the Dungeon, to the Stoning of Zechariah, and the mocking of all the Meſſengers of the Lord, and the Abuſes put upon his Prophets; no, not they, they would ſooner have loſt their right Hands, than have done any ſuch thing. What! Is thy Servant a Dog? And yet they were at this time plotting to Murther Chriſt, to whom all the Prophets bare witneſs: They think, if they had liv'd in the Days of the Prophets, they would have heard them gladly, and obey'd, and yet rebell'd againſt the Light that Chriſt brought into the World. But it is certain a Herod, and an Herodias to John Baptiſt, would have been an Ahab, and a Jezebel to Elijah. Note, The Deceitfulneſs of Sinners Hearts appears very much in this, that while they go down the Stream of the Sins of their own Day, they fancy they ſhould have ſwam againſt the Stream of the Sins of the former Days: That if they had other People's Opportunities, they would have improv'd them more faithfully; had been in other People's Temptations, they would have reſiſted them more vigorouſly; when yet they improve not the Opportunities they have, nor reſiſt the Temptations they are in. We are ſometimes thinking, if we had liv'd when Chriſt was upon Earth, how conſtantly we would have follow'd him; we would not have deſpis'd and rejected him, as they then did; and yet Chriſt in his Spirit, in his Word, in his Miniſters, is ſtill no better treated.

3. Their Enmity and Oppoſition to Chriſt and his Goſpel, notwithſtanding, and the Ruin they were bringing upon themſelves, and upon that Generation thereby, v. 31, 32, 33. Obſerve here,

1. The Indictment prov'd, Ye be Witneſſes againſt your ſelves. Note, There is no hopes for Sinners eſcaping the Judgment of Chriſt, for want of Proof againſt them, when it is eaſie to find them Witneſſes againſt themſelves, and their very Pleas will not only be over-rul'd, but turn'd to their Conviction, and their own Tongues ſhall be made to fall upon them, Pſal. 64. 8.

(1.) By their own Confeſſion it was the great Wickedneſs of their Fore-fathers to kill the Prophets; ſo that they knew the Fault of it, and yet were themſelves guilty of the ſame Fact. Note, They who condemn Sin in others, and yet allow the ſame, or worſe in themſelves, are of all others moſt inexcuſable, Rom. 1. 32.—2. 1. They knew they ought not to have been Partakers with Perſecutors, and yet were the Followers of them. Such Self-contradictions now will amount to Self-condemnations in the great Day. Chriſt puts another Conſtruction upon their building of the Tombs of the Prophets, than what they intended; as if by beautifying their Graves, they juſtify'd their Murtherers, Luk. 11. 48. for they perſiſted in the Sin.

(2.) By their own Confeſſion theſe notorious Perſecutors were their Anceſtors, ye are the Children of them. They meant no more, but that they were their Children by Blood and Nature, but Chriſt turns it upon them, that they were ſo by Spirit and Diſpoſition. You are of thoſe Fathers, and their Luſts you will do. They are, as you ſay, your Fathers, and you do patrizare; 'tis the Sin that runs in the Blood among you. As your Fathers did, ſo do ye, Acts 7. 51. They came of a Perſecuting Breed, were a Seed of evil Doers, Iſa. 1. 4. riſen up in theirs Fathers ſtead, Numb. 32. 14. Malice, and Envy, and Cruelty were bred in the Bone with them, and they had formerly eſpous'd it for a Principle, to do as their Fathers did, Jer. 44. 17. And it is obſervable here, v. 30. How careful they are to mention the Relation; they were our Fathers that kill'd the Prophets, and they were Men in Honour and Power, whoſe Sons and Succeſſors we are. If they had deteſted the Wickedneſs of their Anceſtors, as they ought to have done, they would not have been ſo fond to call them their Fathers; for it's no Credit to be akin to Perſecutors, tho' they have never ſo much Dignity and Dominion.

2. The Sentence paſt upon them. Chriſt here proceeds,

(1.) To give them up to the Sin as irreclaimable, v. 32. Fill ye up then the Meaſure of your Fathers. If Ephraim be joyned to Idols, and hate to be reform'd, let him alone. He that is filthy, let him be filthy ſtill. Chriſt knew they were now contriving his Death, and in a few Days would accompliſh it; well, ſaith he, Go on with your Plot, take your courſe, walk in the way of your Heart, and in the ſight of your Eyes, and ſee what will come of it, What thou do'ſt do quickly. You will but fill up the Meaſure of Guilt, which will then overflow in a Deluge of Wrath. Note, 1. There is a meaſure of Sin to be filled up, before the utter Ruin comes upon Perſons and Families, Churches and Nations. God will bear long, but the time will come when he can no longer forbear, Jer. 44. 22. We read of the Meaſure of the Amorites that was to be fill'd, Gen. 15. 16. and the Harveſt of the Earth being ripe for the Sickle, Rev. 14. 15, 19. and of Sinners making an end to deal treacherouſly, arriving to a full Stature in Treachery, Iſa. 33. 1. (2.) Children fill up the Meaſure of their Fathers Sins when they are gone, if they perſiſt in the ſame, or the like. That National Guilt which brings National Ruin, is made up of the Sin of Many in ſeveral Ages, and in the Succeſſions of Societies there is a Score going on; for God juſtly viſits the Iniquity of the Fathers upon the Children that tread in the Steps of it. (3.) Perſecuting Chriſt, and his People, and Miniſters, is a Sin that fills the Meaſure of a Nations Guilt ſooner than any other. This was it that brought Wrath without Remedy upon the Fathers, 2 Chron. 36. 16. and Wrath to the utmoſt upon the Children too, 1. Theſ. 2. 16. This was that fourth Tranſgreſſion, which when added to the other three, the Lord would not turn away the Puniſhment, Amos 1. 3, 6, 9, 11, 13. (4.) It is juſt with God to give thoſe up to their own Hearts Luſts, that obſtinately perſiſt in the Gratification of them. Thoſe that will run headlong to Ruin, let their Reins be laid in their Neck; and 'tis the ſaddeſt condition a Man can be in on this ſide Hell.

(2.) He proceeds to give them up to the Ruin as irrecoverable, to a Perſonal Ruin in the other World, v. 33. Ye Serpents, ye Generation of Vipers, how can ye eſcape the Damnation of Hell? Theſe are ſtrange words to come from the Mouth of Chriſt, into whoſe Lips Grace was pour'd: But he can, and will ſpeak Terror, and in theſe words he explains and ſums up the eight Woes he had denounc'd againſt the Scribes and Phariſees.

Here's (1.) Their Deſcription; Ye Serpents. Doth Chriſt call Names? Yes, but this doth not warrant us to do ſo. He infallibly knew what was in Man, and knew them to be as ſubtile as Serpents, cleaving to the Earth, feeding on Duſt, they had a ſpecious outſide, but were within malignant, had Poiſon under their Tongues, the Seed of the old Serpent. They were a Generation of Vipers; they, and thoſe that went before them, they, and thoſe that joyned with them, were a Generation of envenom'd, enraged, ſpiteful Adverſaries to Chriſt and his Goſpel. They lov'd to be called of Men, Rabbi, Rabbi, but Chriſt calls them Serpents, and Vipers; for he gives Men their true Characters, and delights to put Contempt upon the Proud.

2. Their Doom. He repreſents their Condition as very ſad, and in a manner deſperate; how can ye eſcape the Damnation of Hell? Chriſt himſelf Preach'd Hell and Damnation, for which his Miniſters have often been reproach'd by thoſe that care not to hear of it. Note, (1.) The Damnation of Hell will be the fearful End of all impenitent Sinners. This Doom coming from Chriſt, was more terrible than coming from all the Prophets and Miniſters that ever were, for he is the Judge, into whoſe Hands the Keys of Hell and Death are put, and his ſaying they were Damn'd made them ſo. (2.) There is a way of eſcaping this Damnation, this is imply'd here; ſome are deliver'd from the Wrath to come. (3.) Of all Sinners, thoſe who are of the Spirit of the Scribes and Phariſees, are leaſt likely to eſcape, this Damnation; for Repentance and Faith are neceſſary to that eſcape, and how will they be brought to theſe, who are ſo conceited of themſelves and ſo prejudic'd againſt Chriſt and his Goſpel as they were? How could they be heal'd and ſaved, that would not bear to have their Wound ſearch'd, nor the Balm of Gilead apply'd to it? Publicans and Harlots, who were ſenſible of their Diſeaſe, and apply'd themſelves to the Phyſician, were more likely to eſcape the Damnation of Hell than thoſe; who tho' they were in the high Road to it, were confident they were in the way to Heaven.

34 Wherefore behold, I ſend unto you prophets, and wiſe men, and ſcribes; and ſome of them ye ſhall kill and crucifie, and ſome of them ſhall ye ſcourge in your ſynagogues, and perſecute them from city to city: 35 That upon you may come all the righteous blood ſhed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel, unto the blood of Zacharias, ſon of Barachias, whom ye ſlew between the temple and the altar. 36 Verily I ſay unto you, all theſe things ſhall come upon this generation. 37 O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, thou that killeſt the prophets, and ſtoneſt them which are ſent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not! 38 Behold, your houſe is left unto you deſolate. 39 For I ſay unto you, Ye ſhall not ſee me henceforth, till ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

We have left the blind Leaders fallen into the Ditch under Chriſt's Sentence, into the Damnation of Hell; let us ſee what will become of the blind Followers of the body of the Jewiſh Church, and particularly Jeruſalem.

Firſt, Jeſus Chriſt deſigns yet to try them with the Means of Grace, I ſend unto you Prophets, and wiſe Men, and Scribes. The Connexion is ſtrange, you are a Generation of Vipers, not likely to eſcape the Damnation of Hell; one would think it ſhould follow, therefore you ſhall never have a Prophet ſent to you any more; no, therefore I will ſend you Prophets, to ſee if you will yet at length be wrought upon, or elſe to leave you inexcuſable, and to juſtifie God in your Ruin. 'Tis therefore uſher'd in with a Note of Admiration, Behold! Obſerve,

1. 'Tis Chriſt that ſends them. I ſend. By this he avows himſelf to be God, having Power to Gift and Commiſſion Prophets. 'Tis an Act of Kingly Office; he ſends them as Embaſſadors, to treat with us about the Concerns of our Souls. After his Reſurrection he made this Word good, when he ſaid, So ſend I you, John 20. 21. Tho' now he appear'd mean, yet he was intruſted with this great Authority.

2. He ſends them to the Jews firſt, I ſend them to you. They began at Jeruſalem, and wherever they went they obſerv'd this Rule, to make the firſt tender of Goſpel-Grace to the Jews, Acts 13. 46.

3. Thoſe he ſends are called Prophets, wiſe Men, and Scribes, Old Teſtament Names for New Teſtament Officers; to ſhew that the Miniſters ſent to them now, ſhould not be inferior to the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, to Solomon the Wiſe, or Ezra the Scribe. The extraordinary Miniſters, which in the firſt Ages were Divinely Inſpir'd, were as the Prophets, Commiſſion'd immediately from Heaven; the ordinary ſettled Miniſters that were then, and continue in the Church ſtill, and will do to the end of Time, are as the wiſe Men, and Scribes, to guide and inſtruct the People in the Things of God. Or, we may take the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts for the Prophets and wiſe Men, and the Paſtors and Teachers for the Scribes, inſtructed to the Kingdom of Heaven, Matt. 13. 52. for the Office of a Scribe was honourabe, till the Men diſhonour'd it.

Secondly, He foreſees, and foretels the ill Uſage that his Meſſengers would meet with among them. Some of them ye ſhall Kill and Crucifie, and yet I'll ſend them. Chriſt knows before hand how ill his Servants will be treated, and yet ſends them, and appoints them their Meaſure of Sufferings; yet he loves them nevertheleſs for his thus expoſing them, for he deſigns to glorifie himſelf by their Sufferings, and them after them; and will balance them, tho' not prevent them. Obſerve,

1. The Cruelty of theſe Perſecutors; ye ſhall Kill, and Crucifie them. 'Tis no leſs than the Blood, the Life-blood that they thirſt after; their Luſt is not ſatisfied with any thing ſhort of their Deſtruction, Exod. 15. 9. They kill'd the two James's, Crucified Simon the Son of Cleophas, and Scourged Peter and John; thus did the Members partake of the Sufferings of the Head, he was Kill'd and Crucified, and ſo were they. Chriſtians muſt expect to reſiſt unto Blood.

2. Their unwearied Induſtry. Ye ſhall Perſecute them from City to City. As the Apoſtles went from City to City to Preach the Goſpel, the Jews dodg'd them, and haunted them, and ſtir'd up Perſecution againſt them, Acts 14. 19.—17. 13. They that did not believe in Judea, were more bitter Enemies to the Goſpel than any other Unbelievers, Rom. 15. 31.

3. The Pretence of Religion in this; they Scourged them in their Synagogues, their Places of Worſhip, where they kept their Eccleſiaſtical Courts; ſo that they did it as a piece of Service to the Church; caſt them out, and ſaid, Let the Lord be Glorified, Iſa. 66. 5. John 16. 2.

Thirdly, He imputes the Sin of their Fathers to them, becauſe they imitated it. That upon you may come all the righteous Blood ſhed upon the Earth, v. 35, 36. Tho' God bear long with a Perſecuting Generation, he will not bear always; and Patience abus'd turns into the greateſt Wrath. The longer Sinners have been heaping up Treaſures of Wickedneſs, the deeper and fuller will the Treaſures of Wrath be, and the breaking of them up will be like breaking up the Fountains of the great Deep.

Obſerve, 1. The Extent of this Imputation; it takes in all the righteous Blood ſhed upon the Earth, i. e. the Blood ſhed for Righteouſneſs ſake, which has all been laid up in God's Treaſury, and not a drop of it loſt, for it is precious, Pſal. 72. 14. He dates the Account from the Blood of righteous Abel; thence this Æra Martyrum doth commence; he is call'd Righteous Abel; for he obtain'd Witneſs from Heaven that he was Righteous, God teſtifying of his Gifts. How early did Martyrdom come into the World, the firſt that dy'd, dy'd for his Religion, and being dead, he yet ſpeaketh. His Blood not only cry'd againſt Cain, but continues to cry againſt all that walk in the way of Cain, and Hate, and Perſecute their Brother, becauſe their Works are Righteous. He extends it to the Blood of Zacharias, the Son of Barachias, v. 36. not Zacharias the Prophet, tho' he was the Son of Barachias, Zech. 1. 1. as ſome would have it; nor Zecharias the Father of John Baptiſt, as others ſay; but as is moſt probable, Zecharias the Son of Jehojadah, who was ſlain in the Court of the Lord's Houſe, 2 Chron. 24. 20, 21. His Father is call'd Barachias, which ſignifies much the ſame with Jehojadah, and it was uſual among the Jews for the ſame Perſon to have two Names; whom ye ſlew, ye of this Nation, tho' not of this Generation. This is inſtanc'd in, becauſe the requiring of that is particularly ſpoken of, 2 Chron. 24. 22. as that of Abel's is: The Jews imagin'd that the Captivity had ſufficiently atton'd for that Guilt, but Chriſt lets them know it was not yet fully accounted for, but remain'd upon the Score. And ſome think this is mention'd with a Prophetical Hint, for there was one Zecharias, the Son of Baruch, whom Joſephus ſpeaks of, De Bel. Judaic. Lib. 5. c. 1. That was a juſt and good Man, who was kill'd in the Temple a little before it was deſtroy'd by the Romans. Archbiſhop Tillotſon thinks Chriſt doth both allude to the Hiſtory of the former Zecharias in Chronicles, and foretel the Death of this latter in Joſephus: Tho' the latter was not yet ſlain, yet before this Deſtruction comes, it would be true that they had ſlain him; ſo that all ſhall be put together from firſt to laſt.

2. The effect of it. All theſe things ſhall come, all the Guilt of this Blood, all the Puniſhment of it, it ſhall all come upon this Generation. The Miſery and Ruin that is coming upon them ſhall be ſo very great, that tho' conſidering the Evil of their own Sins, it was leſs than even thoſe deſerv'd; yet comparing it with other Judgments, it would ſeem to be a general Reckoning for all the Wickedneſs of their Anceſtors, eſpecially their Perſecutions; to all which God declar'd this Ruin to have ſpecial reference and relation. The Deſtruction ſhall be ſo dreadful, as if God had once for all Arraign'd them for all the righteous Blood ſhed in the World. It ſhall come upon this Generation; which intimates, that it ſhall come quickly; ſome here ſhall live to ſee it. Note, The ſorer and nearer the Puniſhment of Sin is, the louder is the Call to Repentance and Reformation.

Fourthly, He laments the Wickedneſs of Jeruſalem, and juſtly upbraids them with the many kind Offers he had made them, v. 37. See with what Concern he ſpeaks of that City. O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem. The Repetition is emphatical, and ſpeaks abundance of Commiſeration; A Day or two before Chriſt had wept over Jeruſalem, now he ſigh'd and groan'd over it. Jeruſalem, the Viſion of Peace; ſo it ſignifies, muſt now be the Seat of War and Confuſion: Jeruſalem, that had been the Joy of the whole Earth, muſt now be a Hiſſing, and an Aſtoniſhment, and a By-word. Jeruſalem, that has been a City compact together, ſhall now be ſhatter'd and ruin'd by its own inteſtine Broils. Jeruſalem, the Place that God has choſen to put his Name there, ſhall now be abandon'd to the Spoil, and the Robbers, Lam. 1. 1.—4. 1. But wherefore will the Lord do all this to Jeruſalem? Why? Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinn'd. Lam. 1. 8.

1. She perſecuted God's Meſſengers. Thou that killeſt the Prophets, and Stoneſt them that are ſent unto thee. This Sin is eſpecially charg'd upon Jeruſalem, becauſe there the Sanhedrin, or great Council ſate, who took Cognizance of Church Matters, and therefore a Prophet could not periſh but in Jeruſalem, Luke 13. 33. 'Tis true, they had not now a Power to put any Man to Death, but they kill'd the Prophets in popular Tumults, Mobb'd them, as Stephen, and put the Roman Powers on to kill them. At Jeruſalem, where the Goſpel was firſt Preach'd, it was firſt Perſecuted, Acts 8. 1. and that Place was the head Quarters of the Perſecutors; thence Warrants were iſſued out to other Cities, and thither the Saints were brought bound, Acts 9. 2. Thou Stoneſt them. That was a capital Puniſhment, in uſe only among the Jews; by the Law falſe Prophets and Seducers were to be Stoned, Deut. 13. 10. Under colour of which Law they put the true Prophets to death. Note, It has oft been the Artifice of Satan, to turn that Artillery againſt the Church, which was originally planted in the defence of it. Brand the true Prophets as Seducers, and the true Profeſſors of Religion, as Hereticks and Schiſmaticks, and then it will be eaſie to perſecute them. There was abundance of other Wickedneſs in Jeruſalem, but this was the Sin that made the loudeſt Cry, and which God had an eye to, more than any other, in bringing that Ruin upon them. As 2 Kings 24. 4. 2 Chron. 36. 16. Obſerve. Chriſt ſpeaks in the preſent Tenſe; thou Killeſt, and Stoneſt; for all they had done, and all they would do, was preſent to Chriſt's Notice.

2. She refuſed, and rejected Chriſt and Goſpel-Offers. The former was a Sin without Remedy, this againſt the Remedy. Here's 1. The wonderful Grace and Favour of Jeſus Chriſt towards them; How often would I have gathered thy Children together, as an Hen gathers her Chickens under her Wings? Thus kind and condeſcending are the Offers of Goſpel-Grace, even to Jeruſalem's Children, as bad as ſhe is, the Inhabitants, the little ones not excepted. (1.) The Favour propos'd, was the gathering of them. Chriſt's Deſign is to gather poor Souls, gather them in from their Wanderings, gather them home to himſelf, as the Center of Unity; for to him muſt the gathering of the People be. He would have taken the whole Body of the Jewiſh Nation into the Church, and ſo gather'd them all, (as the Jews us'd to ſpeak of Proſelites) under the Wings of the Divine Majeſty. 'Tis here illuſtrated by a humble Similitude, as a Hen clock's her Chickens together. Chriſt would have gather'd them, (1.) With ſuch a Tenderneſs of Affection as the Hen doth, that has by inſtinct a ſtrange Concern for her young ones. Chriſt's gathering Souls comes from his Love, Jer. 31. 3. (2.) For the ſame End; the Hen gather'd her Chickens under her Wings, for Protection and Safety, and for Warmth and Comfort. Poor Souls have in Chriſt both Refuge and Refreſhment. The Chickens naturally run to the Hen for Shelter, when they are threaten'd by the Birds of Prey. Perhaps Chriſt refers to that Promiſe, Pſal. 91. 4. He ſhall cover thee with his Feathers. There is Healing under Chriſt's Wings, Mal. 4. 2. that's more than the Hen has for her Chickens.

(2.) The Forwardneſs of Chriſt to confer this Favour. His Offers are (1.) very free. I would have done it. Jeſus Chriſt is truly willing to receive and ſave poor Souls that come to him. He deſires not their Ruin; he delights in their Repentance. (2.) Very frequent, how often? Chriſt often came up to Jeruſalem, Preach'd, and wrought Miracles there, and the meaning of all this was, he would have gather'd them. He keeps account how oft his Calls have been repeated. As often as we have heard the Sound of the Goſpel, as oft as we have felt the Strivings of the Spirit; ſo oft Chriſt would have gather'd us.

2. Their wilful Refuſal of this Grace and Favour. Ye would not. How emphatically is their Obſtinacy oppos'd to Chriſt's Mercy? I would, and ye would not. He was willing to ſave them, but they were not willing to be ſaved by him. Note, It is wholly owing to the wicked Wills of Sinners, that they are not gather'd under the Wings of the Lord Jeſus. They did not like the Terms upon which Chriſt propos'd to gather them, and lov'd their Sins, and yet truſted to their Righteouſneſs; they would not ſubmit, either to the Grace of Chriſt, or to his Government, and ſo the Bargain broke off.

Fifthly, He reads Jeruſalem's Doom, v. 38, 39. Therefore behold your Houſe is left unto you deſolate: Both the City and the Temple, God's Houſe, and their own, all ſhall be laid waſte. But 'tis eſpecially meant of the Temple, which they boaſted of, and truſted to: That holy Mountain, becauſe of which they were ſo haughty. Note, They that will not be gather'd by the Love and Grace of Chriſt, ſhall be conſum'd and ſcatter'd by his Wrath. I would, and you would not, Iſrael would none of me, ſo I gave them up, Pſal. 81. 11, 12.

1. Their Houſe ſhall be deſerted. It is left unto you. Chriſt was now departing from the Temple, and never came into it again, but by this word abandon'd it to Ruin. They doted on it, would have it to themſelves; Chriſt muſt have no room or intereſt there: Well, ſaith Chriſt, It is left to you, take it, and make your beſt of it, I'll never have any thing more to do with it. They had made it a Houſe of Merchandize, and a Den of Thieves, and ſo it is left to them: Not long after this the Voice was heard in the Temple, Let us depart hence. When Chriſt went, Jehabod, the Glory departed. Their City alſo was left to them, deſtitute of God's Preſence and Grace. He was no longer a Wall of Fire about them, nor the Glory in the midſt of them.

2. It ſhall be deſolate. 'Tis left unto you deſolate. It is left ἔρημος, a Wilderneſs. (1.) It was immediately, when Chriſt left it in the Eyes of all that underſtood themſelves, a very diſmal, melancholy place; Chriſt's Departure makes the beſt furniſhed, beſt repleniſhed place a Wilderneſs; tho' it be the Temple, the chief place of Converſe; for what Comfort can there be where Chriſt is not? Tho' there may be a crowd of other Contentments; yet if Chriſt's ſpecial ſpiritual Preſence be withdrawn, that Soul, that Place is become a Wilderneſs, a Land of Darkneſs, a Darkneſs it ſelf: And this comes of Men's rejecting Chriſt, and driving him away from them. (2.) It was not long after deſtroy'd, and ruin'd, and not one Stone left upon another. The Lot of Jeruſalem's Enemies, will now become Jeruſalem's Lot to be made of a City, a Heap; of a defenced City, a Ruin, Iſa. 25. 2. A lofty City laid low, even to the Ground, Iſa. 26. 5. The Temple, that holy and beautiful Houſe became deſolate. When God goes out, all Enemies break in.

Laſtly, Here's the final Farewell that Chriſt took of them and their Temple: Ye ſhall not ſee me henceforth, till ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh. This ſpeaks,

1. His Departure from them. The time was at hand when he ſhould leave the World to go to his Father, and be ſeen no more: After his Reſurrection he was ſeen only by a few choſen Witneſſes, and they ſaw him not long, but he ſoon remov'd to the inviſible World, and there will be till the Time of the Reſtitution of all things; when his welcome at his firſt coming will be repeated with loud Acclamations: Bleſſed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord. Chriſt will not be ſeen again till he comes in the Clouds, and every Eye ſhall ſee him, Rev. 1. 7. and then, even they, who when time was, rejected, and pierced him, will be glad to come in among his Adorers. Then every Knee ſhall bow to him, even thoſe that had bow'd to Baal; and even the Workers of Iniquity will then cry, Lord, Lord, and will own, when his Wrath is kindled, that Bleſſed are all they that put their truſt in him. Would we have our Lot in that Day, with thoſe that ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh, let us be with them now, with them that truly worſhip, and truly welcome Jeſus Chriſt.

2. Their continued Blindneſs and Obſtinacy. Ye ſhall not ſee me, i. e. not ſee me to be the Meſſiah, (for otherwiſe they did ſee him upon the Croſs) not ſee the Light of the Truth concerning me, nor the things that belong to your Peace, till ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh. They will never be convinced till Chriſt's ſecond coming convinceth them, when it will be too late to make an Intereſt in him, and nothing will remain but a fearful looking for of Judgment. Note, (1.) Wilful Blindneſs is oft puniſh'd with judicial Blindneſs. If they will not ſee, they ſhall not ſee; with this word he concludes his publick Preaching. After his Reſurrection, which was the Sign of the Prophet Jonas, they ſhould have no other Sign given them, till they ſhould ſee the Sign of the Son of Man, Mat. 24. 30. (2.) When the Lord comes with ten thouſand of his Saints, he will convince all, and will force Acknowledgments from the proudeſt of his Enemies, of his being the Meſſiah, and even they ſhall be found Liars to him. They that would not now come at his Call, ſhall then be forc'd to depart with his Curſe. The Chief Prieſts and Scribes were diſpleas'd with the Children for crying Hoſanna to Chriſt; but the Day is coming, when proud Perſecutors would gladly be found in the Condition of the meaneſt and pooreſt they now trample upon. They who now reproach and ridicule the Hoſanna's of the Saints, will be of another Mind ſhortly; it were therefore better to be of that Mind now. Some make this to refer to the Converſion of the Jews to the Faith of Chriſt; then they ſhall ſee him, and own him, and ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh: But it ſeems rather to look further; for the compleat Manifeſtation of Chriſt, and Conviction of Sinners, is reſerv'd to be the Glory of the Laſt Day.

CHAP. XXIV.

Chriſt's Preaching was moſtly Practical; but in this Chapter we have a Prophetical Diſcourſe, a Prediction of Things to come; but ſuch as had a practical Tendency, and was intended, not to gratify the Curioſity of his Diſciples, but to guide their Conſciences and Converſations; and it is therefore concluded with a Practical Application. The Church has always had particular Prophecies, beſides general Promiſes, both for Direction, and for Encouragement to Believers: But it is obſervable, Chriſt preach'd this Prophetical Sermon in the Cloſe of his Miniſtry; as the Apocalypſe is the laſt Book of the New Teſtament, and the Prophetical Books of the Old Teſtament are plac'd laſt, to intimate to us, that we muſt be well grounded in plain Truths and Duties, and thoſe muſt firſt be well digeſted, before we dive into thoſe Things that are dark and difficult. Many run themſelves into Confuſion, by beginning their Bible at the wrong End. Now in this Chapter we have, (1.) The Occaſion of this Diſcourſe, v. 1, 2, 3. (2.) The Diſcourſe it ſelf: In which, (1.) The Prophecy of divers Events, eſpecially referring to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the utter Ruin of the Jewiſh Church and Nation, which was now haſtening on, and was compleated about Forty Years after; the Prefaces to that Deſtruction, the Concomitants, and Conſequences of it: Yet looking further to Chriſt's Coming at the End of Time, and the Conſummation of all Things, of which that was a Type and Figure, v. 4,—31. (2.) The Practical Application of this Prophecy, for the awakening and quickning of his Diſciples, to prepare for theſe great and awful Things, v. 32,—51.

AND Jeſus went out, and departed from the temple; and his diſciples came to him, for to ſhew him the buildings of the temple. 2 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, See ye not all theſe things? verily I ſay unto you, There ſhall not be left here one ſtone upon another, that ſhall not be thrown down. 3 And as he ſat upon the mount of Olives, the diſciples came unto him privately, ſaying, Tell us, when ſhall theſe things be? and what ſhall be the ſign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?

Here's, (1.) Chriſt's quitting the Temple, and his publick Work there. He had ſaid in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, Your Houſe is left unto you deſolate; and here he made his Words good, He went out and departed from the Temple. The Manner of Expreſſion is obſervable: He not only went out of the Temple, but departed from it, took his final Farewel of it: He departed from it, never to return to it any more; and then immediately follows a Prediction of its Ruin. Note, That Houſe is left deſolate indeed, which Chriſt leaves. Wo unto them when I depart, Hoſ. 9. 12. Jer. 6. 8. 'Twas now Time to groan out their Ichabod, The Glory is departed; their Defence is departed. Three Days after this, the Veil of the Temple was rent; when Chriſt left it, all became common and unclean. But Chriſt departed not, till they drove him away; did not reject them, till they firſt rejected him.

2. His private Diſcourſe with his Diſciples: He left the Temple, but he did not leave the Twelve, who were the Seed of the Goſpel-Church, which the Caſting off of the Jews was the Enriching of. When he left the Temple, his Diſciples left it too, and came to him. Note, 'Tis good being where Chriſt is, and leaving that which he leaves. They came to him to be inſtructed in private, when his publick Preaching was over; for the Secret of the Lord is with them that Fear him: He had ſpoken of the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Church to the Multitude, in Parables; which here, as uſual, he explains to his Diſciples. Obſerve,

1. His Diſciples came to him, to ſhew him the Buildings of the Temple. 'Twas a ſtately and beautiful Structure, one of the Wonders of the World: No Coſt was ſpar'd, no Art left untry'd, to make it ſumptuous. Tho' it came ſhort of Solomon's Temple, and its Beginning was ſmall, yet its latter End did greatly increaſe. It was richly furniſh'd with Gifts and Offerings, to which there were continual Additions made. They ſhew'd Chriſt theſe Things, and deſir'd him to take notice of them, either,

(1.) As being greatly pleas'd with them themſelves, and expecting he ſhould be ſo too. They had liv'd moſtly in Galilee, at a Diſtance from the Temple, had ſeldom ſeen it, and therefore were the more ſtruck with Admiration at it, and thought he ſhould admire as much as they did all this Glory, Gen. 31. 1. and would have him divert himſelf after his Preaching, and from his Sorrow which they ſaw him perhaps almoſt overwhelmed with, with looking about him. Note, Even good Men are apt to be too much enamour'd with outward Pomp and Gaiety, and to over-value it, even in the Things of God; whereas we ſhould be, as Chriſt was, dead to it, and look upon it with Contempt. The Temple was indeed glorious; but, (1.) Its Glory was ſully'd and ſtain'd with the Sin of the Prieſts and People. That wicked Doctrine of the Phariſees, which preferr'd the Gold before the Temple that ſanctified it, was enough to deface the Beauty of all the Ornaments of the Temple. (2.) Its Glory was eclips'd, and out-done by the Preſence of Chriſt in it, who was the Glory of this latter Houſe, Hag. 2. 9. So that the Buildings had no Glory, in Compariſon with that Glory which excelled.

Or, (2.) As pitying that this Houſe ſhould be left deſolate: They ſhew'd him the Buildings, as if they would move him to reverſe the Sentence: Lord, Let not this holy and beautiful Houſe, where our Fathers praiſed thee, be made a Deſolation. They forgot how many Providences concerning Solomon's Temple had been manifeſt, how little God car'd for that outward Glory which they had ſo much admir'd, when the People were wicked, 2 Chron. 7. 21. This Houſe which is High, Sin will bring low. Chriſt had lately look'd upon the precious Souls, and wept for them, Luk. 19. 41. The Diſciples look upon the pompous Buildings, and are ready to weep for them. In this, as in other Things, his Thoughts are not like ours. 'Twas Weakneſs, and Meanneſs of Spirit in the Diſciples, to be ſo fond of fine Buildings; 'twas a childiſh Thing. Animo magno nihil magnum. Seneca.

2. Chriſt hereupon foretels the utter Ruin and Deſtruction that was coming upon this Place, v. 2. Note, A believing Foreſight of the defacing of all worldly Glory, will help to take us off from admiring it, and over-valuing it. The moſt beautiful Body will be ſhortly Worms Meat, and the moſt beautiful Building a ruinous Heap. And ſhall we then ſet our Eyes upon that which ſo ſoon is not; and look upon that with ſo much Admiration, which e'er long we ſhall certainly look upon with ſo much Contempt? See ye not all theſe Things? They would have Chriſt look upon them, and be as much in Love with them as they were: He would have them look upon them, and be as dead to them as he was. There is ſuch a Sight of theſe Things, as will do us good; ſo to ſee them, as to ſee thro' them, and ſee to the End of them.

Chriſt, inſtead of reverſing the Decree, ratifies it; Verily, I ſay unto you, there ſhall not be left one Stone upon another.

He ſpeaks of it as a certain Ruin: I ſay unto you. I that know what I ſay, and know how to make good what I ſay; take my word for it, it ſhall be ſo: I, the Amen, the true Witneſs, ſay it to you. All Judgment being committed to the Son, the Threatnings as well as the Promiſes are all Yea and Amen in him, Heb. 6. 17, 18.

(2.) He ſpeaks of it as an utter Ruin. The Temple ſhall not only be ſtript, and plunder'd, and defac'd, but utterly demoliſh'd and laid waſte; not one Stone ſhall be left upon another. Notice is taken, in the building of the Second Temple, of the laying of one Stone upon another, Hag. 2. 15. and here, in the Ruin, of not leaving one Stone upon another. The Story tells us, that this was fulfill'd in the latter: For tho' Titus, when he took the City, did all he could to preſerve the Temple, yet he could not reſtrain the enraged Soldiers from deſtroying it utterly; and it was done to that degree, that Turnus Rufus plow'd up the Ground on which it had ſtood: And that Scripture was fulfill'd, Mic. 3. 12. Sion ſhall for your Sake be plow'd as a Field. And afterwards, in Julian the Apoſtate's Time, when the Jews were encourag'd by him to rebuild their Temple, in Oppoſition to the Chriſtian Religion, what remain'd of the Ruins was quite pull'd down, to level the Ground for a new Foundation; but the Attempt was defeated by the miraculous Eruption of Fire out of the Ground, which deſtroy'd the Foundation they laid, and frighten'd away the Builders. Now this Prediction of the final and irreparable Ruin of the Temple, includes a Prediction of the Period of the Levitical Prieſthood, and the Ceremonial Law.

3. The Diſciples, not diſputing either the Truth or the Equity of this Sentence, nor doubting of the Accompliſhment of it, enquire more particularly of the Time when it ſhould come to paſs, and the Signs of its Approach, v. 3. Obſerve,

1. Where they made this Enquiry; privately, as he ſat upon the Mount of Olives: Probably, he was returning to Bethany, and there ſat down by the way to reſt him. The Mount of Olives directly faced the Temple, and from thence he might have a full Proſpect of it at ſome Diſtance: There he ſat as Judge upon the Bench, the Temple and City before him, as at the Bar, and thus he paſs'd Sentence on them. We read, Ezek. 11. 23. of the removing of the Glory of the Lord from the Temple to the Mountain; ſo Chriſt, the great Shechinah, here removes to this Mountain.

2. What the Enquiry it ſelf was: When ſhall theſe Things be? And what ſhall be the Sign of thy Coming, and of the End of the World? Here are Three Queſtions which they put:

1. Some think theſe Queſtions do all point at one and the ſame Thing; the Deſtruction of the Temple, and the Period of the Jewiſh Church and Nation, which Chriſt had himſelf ſpoken of at his coming, Chap. 16. 28. and which would be the Conſummation of the Age; for ſo it may be read, the finiſhing of that Diſpenſation. Or, they thought the Deſtruction of the Temple muſt needs be the End of the World. If that Houſe be laid waſte, the World cannot ſtand: For the Rabbins us'd to ſay, that the Houſe of the Sanctuary was one of the Seven Things, for the Sake of which the World was made; and they think, if ſo, the World will not ſurvive the Temple.

2. Others think their Queſtion, When ſhall theſe things be? refers to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the other Two to the End of the World: Or, Chriſt's Coming may refer to his ſetting up his Goſpel-Kingdom, and the End of the World, to the Day of Judgment. I rather incline to think, that their Queſtion look'd no further than the Event Chriſt now foretold: But it appears by other Paſſages, they had very confuſed Thoughts of future Events; ſo that perhaps, it is not poſſible to put any certain Conſtruction upon this Queſtion of theirs.

But Chriſt, in his Anſwer, tho' he doth not expreſly rectify the Miſtake of his Diſciples, that muſt be done by the pouring out of the Spirit, yet looks further than their Queſtion, and inſtructs his Church, not only concerning the great Events of that Age, the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, but concerning his Second Coming at the End of Time, which here he inſenſibly ſlides into a Diſcourſe of; and of that, 'tis plain, he ſpeaks in the next Chapter, which is a Continuation of this Sermon.

4 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you. 5 For many ſhall come in my name, ſaying, I am Chriſt: and ſhall deceive many. 6 And ye ſhall hear of wars, and rumours of wars: ſee that ye be not troubled: for all theſe things muſt come to paſs, but the end is not yet. 7 For nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and kingdom againſt kingdom: and there ſhall be famines, and peſtilences, and earthquakes in divers places. 8 All theſe are the beginning of ſorrows. 9 Then ſhall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and ſhall kill you: and ye ſhall be hated of all nations for my names ſake. 10 And then ſhall many be offended, and ſhall betray one another, and ſhall hate one another. 11 And many falſe prophets ſhall riſe, and ſhall deceive many. 12 And becauſe iniquity ſhall abound, the love of many ſhall wax cold. 13 But he that ſhall endure unto the end, the ſame ſhall be ſaved. 14 And this goſpel of the kingdom ſhall be preached in all the world, for a witneſs unto all nations, and then ſhall the end come. 15 When ye therefore ſhall ſee the abomination of deſolation, ſpoken of by Daniel the prophet, ſtand in the holy place, (whoſo readeth, let him underſtand) 16 Then let them which be in Judea, flee into the mountains. 17 Let him which is on the houſe-top, not come down to take any thing out of his houſe: 18 Neither let him which is in the field, return back to take his clothes. 19 And wo unto them that are with child, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe days. 20 But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the ſabbath-day: 21 For then ſhall be great tribulation, ſuch as was not ſince the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever ſhall be. 22 And except thoſe days ſhould be ſhortned, there ſhould no fleſh be ſaved: but for the elects ſake thoſe days ſhall be ſhortned. 23 Then if any man ſhall ſay unto you, Lo, here is Chriſt, or there: believe it not. 24 For there ſhall ariſe falſe Chriſts, and falſe prophets, and ſhall ſhew great ſigns and wonders, inſomuch that (if it were poſſible) they ſhould deceive the very elect. 25 Behold, I have told you before. 26 Wherefore if they ſhall ſay unto you, Behold, he is in the deſert; go not forth: behold, he is in the ſecret chambers; believe it not. 27 For as the lightning cometh out of the eaſt, and ſhineth even unto the weſt: ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Son of man be. 28 For whereſoever the carcaſe is, there will the eagles be gathered together. 29 Immediately after the tribulation of thoſe days, ſhall the ſun be darkened, and the moon ſhall not give her light, and the ſtars ſhall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens ſhall be ſhaken. 30 And then ſhall appear the ſign of the Son of man in heaven: and then ſhall all the tribes of the earth mourn; and they ſhall ſee the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory. 31 And he ſhall ſend his angels with a great ſound of a trumpet, and they ſhall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.
